Now put the right hand on top of your head; stretch it and put it on the fontanelle bone area, the center part of your palm. Press it and move it seven times, press it and move it seven times. Now please take down your hand and slowly open your eyes and without thinking, watch Me. Now, put the right hand like this and the left hand on top of your head, little higher and see if there's a Cool Breeze coming out of your head, higher, higher. It's a subtle thing. Do not think. Yes, it's there. Should not be anxious.

Now put the left towards Me and see the right hand. See now if there's a Cool Breeze. All right? It's very subtle. Little higher you can feel it. Again put the right hand and see with the left hand, but don't think, don't think, you cannot think about it, you've gone beyond thinking. Keep your eyes open. Now there's one more thing, is to feel it, the All-pervading Power: is to put your hands up and your head like this. Now ask a question: `Is this the All-pervading Power of the Divine? Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the Brahma Shakti?' Ask the question three times. Now, take down your hands slowly.

See now if you feel it on your hands. All right? On your head. Head is all right; she has a Viśhuddhi, she won't feel so much in the hand, but in the head most of you will feel. There's one more thing we should try which is very simple, which will give you protection from evil. Now from your hand the vibrations are flowing. Now you move the hand from right to the left seven times, like this, with Me. One, this is your giving protection to your auras, is two, is three, is four, is five, all of you should do, is six and is seven.

Now I'll tell you how to raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. This hand has to move steadily upward and this one has to move round it from upward, forward, downward, back. And this moves straight. Now keep the hand in front of your Kuṇḍalinī. Is here, about here, sitting down. Now start raising it, we have to do it three times. Watch your left hand. Push back your head and give it a twist. And a knot. Again. Once more. It's very interesting how you raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. It has started. Yes, do it, slowly, watching your hand, watching your left hand. It's very simple. Now put your hand up onto the... and give it a twist and a knot. That is the Kuṇḍalinī is tied there. Now three times you have to give the knot, that's all. Now, start it again. Is it going up? There, there, now push back your head, give it a twist, one, two and three. Now see most of you might feel it in the hands as well. She's looking very different. All right.

This is how you have to raise. Are you feeling or not? Answer: Little.

Shri Mataji: Little? Of course, in the beginning it's little, doesn't matter. It doesn't matter.

Some may not feel, doesn't matter. But as you come to the follow-on and do it with assiduity, you'll establish it, you'll master it. I'm going back to London tomorrow and I'll come back again after a year and I want to see all of you as great masters, giving realisation to thousands, saving the lives of other people.

May God bless you all.

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

As I've told you before that these are special times and times when we are very confused. We are confused because so many things are in the atmosphere. Moreover there is a special urge to search the truth. This is a very special thing of the modern times that people want to search the truth. They think perhaps that there is something beyond that they have to seek. They feel they are not satisfied with whatever they have. They feel whatever is going on in this world is not all right. Perhaps they feel that human beings are not on the right track, that we have to take to something else, something different, something higher. But first of all when we are seeking we must understand that it should be based on the tradition of seeking. For example when you see these lights here you know that it was discovered gradually, first through principles then little more then little more, till they discovered these lights for us.

But in the seeking, today the problem is human being has become not independent, but arbitrary. He has no relationship with the whole and anybody who tries to find out a new method, a new idea, a new way, people jump at it. This is the character of the modern times.

Also media and everybody tries to support anything new comes up. In seeking also it has happened.

Whatever the ancient people, the scriptures have found out for us is not to be wasted. We have to base our findings, our path, on the same experiences that they have had and use them for our purpose, is a sensible thing. Like a boy gets a lot of money, say from his parents, he uses that and then builds up his own business, very rarely he'll throw away all that and start something new venture and end up into bankruptcy. This is one of the problems we are facing.

So I have seen that people suddenly take to new methods. Like I was in Pune the other day and I met some very learned Sanskrit scholars and I was amazed that they all were suffering from all kinds of diseases of a very serious nature. They said we have a Guru, another said he had a Guru.

I said, “How is it you are suffering from diseases? If you have a Guru at least your health should be all right, at least minimum of minimum." “Oh” they said, “no, this is something we are doing, very serious work." I said, “What is that?" They started giving Me names Urnopait, Turnopait, this, that. They said that our Guru gives us a Shaktipath.

I said, “What is all that I have never heard it. In what book have you found it? Is it in Vedas? Is it in Purānas? Is it in the Gītā? Or is it in the Bible or Koran, where is it? Did Lao Tze talk about it or Socrates? From where do you get this word Shaktipath suddenly? I've never heard about it." So they said about sixty, seventy years back there was a gentleman called Viṣhṇutirth, he has written a book, a book and all this is based on that Shaktipath business.

I said, “I have never heard of this Viṣhṇutirth." And he started a new fad and this fad you have accepted. Paying no attention to what Gītā has to say, no attention to what Vedas have to say, no attention to what other scriptures have to say about your ascent. You accepted this gentleman out of the blue. Last hundred years in India we have had such funny people, they produced books after books, even in English language. All these books were translated in English, German and all these languages which has no basis, no connection, no relevance whatsoever to the ancient books.

I read a book by one German fellow who must have taken some, I don't know, idea from half baked personalities in India, somebody who knows little bit of Sanskrit and lot of English or maybe something, he wrote such a funny book where he said the Kuṇḍalinī is in your stomach. And this fellow says when the Kuṇḍalinī is awakened then you start jumping like a frog, or you start making noises like a lion.

I said, “Now, are you going to become a frog and then an earthworm?" All these funny ideas are worked out. Maybe it is an ego trip or maybe it's some sort of a befooling going on. The other day only I met somebody in Germany there were thirty people in a group and their so-called teacher came to see Me and they all. And I said, “What are you teaching them?" He said, “I am teaching them Prāṇa moksha." In Sanskrit language this word means death. I was quite shocked, what is he teaching there? I said, “What sort of a Prāṇa moksha are you teaching them?" He said, “I circulate the air into my body and then I make the air go here and there." So I said, “What difference will it make if the air goes here or there or here or anywhere what difference is it going to make?" But he was quite confident about it. He said, “You must give me more time I'll talk to You about it." His Kuṇḍalinī was all frozen, absolutely, he had no realisation, nothing and he was boasting as if he knew every thing about it. I was amazed at his confidence, really and I said that these thirty people tomorrow will be suffering from horrible diseases or they might end up in a lunatic asylum. It may be some of the seekers might have reached a state that they are so frustrated with all this nonsense, that they might be wanting just to kill themselves. They might have joined him for this Prāṇa moksha. I can't understand why did they join this nonsensical thing? So, it is in India also we have such people who take to new things, even in Western countries we are finding all kinds of new things coming out. Like we have now, say Christ came in, now as soon as Christ came there was an attack on Christianity. As I told you last time, Paul. Paul came to attack Christianity, absolutely he is anti-Christ man. Because he just neutralised Christ in his writings. When I first saw him there I said, “Who is this Mister Paul here, what is he doing?" And he cannot understand the mystery of God. He cannot think what greatness God's powers are. How can he describe? He himself was epileptic, according to us that means he was a possessed man. Not only epileptic, he had other problems. He had killed many Christians and suddenly he becomes a very nice man. Same with Augustine, he was another attack. Now thank God that Paul is exposed and now we have two types of Christians, those who believe in Christ and those who believe in Paul. You cannot intellectualise. No, you cannot intellectualise Christ. You cannot intellectualise God, you cannot, He is beyond your intellect, you cannot understand Him through your intellect. If you have to understand him you have to become the spirit.

Christ has clearly said that you are to be born again and when Nicodemus asked, “How am I to be born again, I have to enter into the womb of my mother?" Christ said, “No, that what is flesh will produce flesh. You have to be born again by the Holy Ghost." If you remember Christ was killed in no time, if was given time He would have told you what Holy Ghost is. Holy Ghost is the Kuṇḍalinī within. She is going to give you the second birth. It's a living process and a living process that should take place spontaneously. All living processes take place spontaneously.

It is not that you can make a seed sprout by taking out, pulling out its primule. You cannot force it. You cannot put some sort of a Yoga system on that seed that it should sprout. It has to just be embedded in the Mother Earth and the Mother Earth has the capacity and it sprouts.

So all these new ideas come in and for an intellectual, he being a right-sided person, it's a great thing to see something new. And that's why sometimes people of My age group here in England are quite shocked to see how things have changed in this short time. How people have taken to absurd things. Why have they accepted this kind of absurdity and even the law goes in their favour, because law has to be democratic, it has to accept whatever people say. Tomorrow if many people decide to commit suicide the law will say all right, by law you are allowed to commit suicide. What can the law do? They allow all kinds of nonsensical perverted sexual behaviour and in '73 ['72] when I went to America I told them there will be a horrible disease coming in which will stop all this nonsense. And they were very angry with Me, nobody would listen to Me.

But other Gurus said, “It's all right, that's your culture, do what you like, we have nothing to say. Only thing as long as you give us money we are satisfied. Nothing more is wanted for you to do, you do, that's your culture, this is our culture." Even lamas say that, lamas when they come down all the way from there, they are only interested in taking money from here. They said that's your culture, this is our culture, as if Christians had a culture which was nothing to do with righteousness, nothing to do with virtue, nothing to do with purity? Was that a animal's culture that was preached here? But that's what people accepted because they just wanted your money.

It's a spontaneous process, you cannot pay for it. And once you understand this simple point that you cannot pay for it, is a spontaneous thing, it is your own, it is within your being, that this Kuṇḍalinī resides.

And it resides in such a way that it notes everything that you do, it's like a tape recorder. It's your mother and she is never going to harm you, but she knows about her child. She is your individual mother and she is the pure desire within you. All other desires are impure desires. It's an energy, an energy which is the reflection of the Holy Ghost, because Holy Ghost is the energy of God, which is all-pervading. This energy resides in the triangular bone and the Greeks knew about it because they called the bone as sacrum. This all your own, you don't have to go any where else to find God [Aside:] Let her have a chair, get her a chair here, she wants to come closer to Me this little child. All right please be seated.

She's a born realised person. How are you? So, these great things are available to you, at your command you have got it and the times have come, so many people have to get realisation. But not through your mental projections, not through your understanding you can understand the miracles of God, you cannot. Must understand very humbly that we have to go beyond, we have to become the spirit. As Kṛiṣhṇa has said, “Ātmāny evātmanā tusht.ah" [Bhagavad Gītā 2.55]. That is: through Ātmā only the Ātmā will know. That is: the spirit will know itself through the spirit. Is a simple thing to be understood that we are not yet the spirit and we have to become the spirit. That's what Christ has clearly said it. Because people did not become the spirit, now they are challenging Him. They are challenging His miracles. To see His miracles, one thing is that you have to be the spirit.

Now all that is within you, in your own power. It's all there, you have to just get it awakened and you become that. Once you become the spirit, you become the light and then you can give realisation to other people. Now the people when they are skeptical and they start doubting, I think there is nothing to doubt. You are doubting yourself. Because, you are not to pay anything here. You are not to do anything, but to get your realisation, that's all, very simple. Why should you doubt? Because your brain is such that you doubt the right and never the wrong.

So please tell your mind that just now wait for a while, let me become the spirit. Then the same mind, you'll be surprised, the same mind will communicate to you, what you have achieved and what you have got.

But as a result of spiritual ascent what do you get, that's the main point is, what should happen to us? So the first thing happens to us is that we become, again I say you become on your central nervous system, collectively conscious. That is on your fingertips you can feel the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost.

You can feel the centers of another person, on your fingertips you can feel it. You can know about your own centers, you can know about the center of others. That is one thing that happens to you, that you become collectively conscious. I say you become, it's no certificate by anybody else, but you yourself can find out that a new awareness has come on your Chakras and you can feel it. That you can feel what's wrong, particularly, in a particular place within your being, also you know how to cure it, how to put it right, how to make all right. This is the first thing you get as a knowledge of collective consciousness.

Your attention becomes enlightened because you become aware of yourself and of others.

Now this awareness is very good word in English language if you understand. Human beings are much more aware than the animals. Where? On the central nervous system. Whatever we have achieved in our evolution is on the central nervous system.

So whatever has to happen to you has to be on the central nervous system, so that you achieve the epitome of your evolution. From amoeba you have become the human being and now you have to become the higher being, not a frog or an earthworm, but a higher being who can feel another personality and your own personality. And then you have to know how to cure it.

What I do is nothing, is just like a light, which is enlightened, can enlighten another light, that's all.

You are all ready and the another light gets enlightened.

So your ego should not feel challenged at all.

There should be no fear that you are obliged to Me or there is some obligation on you, nothing of the kind. This is the first thing happens to you, then the second thing happens that you become aware that you are a part and parcel of the whole. Because you start feeling another person within you. You start understanding another person within you, not mentally, but on your vibrations.

So you understand which part of your being is not all right and which part is all right. For example, if somebody gets cured through Sahaja Yoga and he tries to thank Me for that, or thank anyone for that, there's nothing to thank. Because who is the other? Supposing this hand is feeling the pain, the another hand soothes it like that, it's doing no obligation on this hand. It's happening automatically because there is nobody who is the other.

So this is the second thing happens to you, that you feel conscious, aware that you are part and parcel of the whole.

Then you know the truth, what is the truth? The truth is that you are the light, that you are the spirit. Now many people see the light and they say we have seen the light now we have become the light.

If you become the light do you see the light? You see the light when you are away from the light. If you see the light, then it is not that you have become the light, but you are seeing the light, that means it is away from you.

So we must have a full idea as to what is the light within ourselves. When we have light within ourselves we see ourselves clearly and others clearly. And understand ourselves and understand others. And in that light, if you have the knowledge how to cure, how to improve, how to cleanse yourself and others then you are the light. And that's what exactly happens to you.

Then the spirit is the source of compassion and you become extremely compassionate and discreet, because you know which person is all right, which person is not all right. For example a person is there who may be a thug, he is cheating and he says, “I am a great saint." How are you to find out? Only through vibrations, because you become like a computer which is connected. If the computer is not connected then it cannot say, it is indiscreet, but once it is connected, all the programming is done in you, you start working it out and you know exactly what that sort of a person is. As soon as you know that person, you know what should be done about it. Even if the person is dead, even if he is far away you can find out about that person and also if he is a great saint, a great personality, you enjoy it. Even you enjoy the people who are around you, whom you have missed, you never knew about them.

So that first time the rapport is established between human beings of a very pure nature.

Normally there is some lust, some greed, some sort of a relationship that exists. Here is a pure relationship of enjoyment, every human being is a source of joy when he becomes the spirit. As soon as he becomes the spirit you start enjoying him as a spirit and he also enjoys you as a pure spirit. There is no lust, no greed, nothing of the kind. Nothing common, like two drunkards are great friendly people, one of them gives up alcohol then there is no friendship. Two nations will say we are brothers, brothers and when it comes to reality you'll find they are the ones fighting with each other. It can happen to two own brothers, born of the same parents, it can happen to anyone. But once you born of your spirit, you feel the oneness that all cells belong to one great being. Microcosm becomes the macrocosm and you do not feel that separateness from another personality as you all the time feel you have fear, you have apprehensions, you are bothered. But once you become that you trust and you know that another one is a great human being.

Only the human beings are the ones who have created atomic bombs to kill each other. No animals have done like this. Only the human beings have a great capacity to destroy each other. But all these ideas of destruction of others goes away and you think of constructing everyone into a beautiful way, without aggressing anyone, without torturing anybody, without trying to show off. It's just automatically works out and this compassion is the compassion which doesn't talk. It's a silent compassion which emits from such a personality and when it emits, it acts, it works, it doesn't talk. Such a person, even with a glance, can make a person peaceful, can bring joy to that person, can reconcile many broken hearts, can do wonders, can cure lepers, can cure people suffering from horrible diseases. Because joy, which we talk of, has got its own powers and one of the greatest powers of joy is that it is the truth and it is the compassion. Is the absolute, it is the absolute and that's how you do not have any more confusions in your minds because the relative world disappears and everything gets related to the absolute that is your spirit. And this is what you are. You are the spirit. Only thing you have to just become and that becoming is a very easy thing that should happen to you.

Some people must have read some books where they must have heard that it's not such a easy thing.

You have to do lots of cleansing yourself and you have to go to Himālayas or some sort of a Gobi desert to take your mokshas. In any case, if you go to Himālayas or to Gobi desert you get your mokshas all right.

There is nothing to try anymore. But, it is that whatever is vital, you have to get it easily. You breathe so easily, you digest your food so easily, you don't have to go to a Guru or to anyone to get it.

So whatever is vital has to happen easily and that's why you have to get it very easily. Now you may say, “Why you are there Mother, what are you doing there? If we have to get it why not we get it directly?" You cannot, because it cannot talk. It does not have words and somebody has to decode it for you. After decoding you must, like scientist, accept Me just as a hypothesis and then see for yourself if it is true or not. You should not just discard it because I am saying so or you should not accept it because I am saying so, but as scientist keep your mind open and see for yourself, if it works you must accept. If you are honest you will but if you are dishonest you will not.

Of course this is not meant for frivolous people who want to waste away their life, who want to go towards destruction. God is not going to fall at their feet. He selects, in a way He does select and you yourself were into this selection. You yourself are found out in this selection.

So it is for you to understand that it is meant for true seekers, seekers of truth who are really seeking God and not for people who are just doing it out of fashion. I used to get some people because they couldn't get admission into some other lecture so they would come to Me. But some of them would get realisation, despite that, just by chance also they got realisation. But such people are not serious people, they do not develop their realisation further and they end up with some problems. And after one year they'll appear saying that I have got this problem and that problem. But this is a science of complete understanding of the Divine laws, how they work out and once you know that you'll become a master, master of yourself.

So this source of joy, which is the spirit, must be achieved and must be enjoyed. If we do not become that, we have missed the real point. That's what it is.

Now there are many people who also come down with new ideas, this is so, that is so, but one should understand that why do you want represent anyone here. Why don't you become yourself? You need not represent some other cult, some other Gurus, better be yourself. What have you got so far? It just takes a second for you to get realisation, what is the need for you to represent some other people because you have paid some money there or because you are member of some organization. You cannot be a member of Sahaja Yoga, you have to become.

First you have to become a person with thoughtless awareness, which we call in Sanskrit Nirvichar Samādhi and after that you become a person endowed with doubtless awareness, which we call as Nirvichar Samādhi This must be achieved, otherwise no use coming to Sahaja Yoga. Because we do not want just majority, nobody is fighting elections here, it is for your gain. If you do not want to achieve that state, no use being here because it's just a waste of time for us and for you. You should just understand that this is your right to have it, you must get it and you must learn how to preserve it. And then you have to give it to others. You have to use it for helping others. For the emancipation of the whole humanity, for the saving of the whole humanity. There may be very few, doesn't matter, but they have to be genuine and truthful people.

If you are interested in money, by getting some money in Sahaja Yoga, there are some people before they came in Sahaja Yoga, wanted to make money out of it. Then we found some people who were having power games. All this is not going to help. What is going to help us is our genuine effort to know the truth, that's all. Otherwise all other things are of no avail and no help to us or to you. That's the only thing that we expect you to have, is a genuine understanding that it is what you have which we have to give you and which you have to take it and then give it to others, what they have. Is a very simple thing, like one light can enlighten many lights and all those many lights can enlighten innumerable lights. And the time has come and there is no need to waste any more time about it. I hope today again we'll have many people get their realisation.

But you should not get lost. After getting realisation people get lost and I think Christ has already described a parable where some seeds got sprouted and got lost.

So that sort of a thing should not happen, we should have the seeds which become the trees. And you can, you are quite capable of it because you have been seekers of ages, not of today.

So you must utilize what you have had today. You must cash it, it's your own and as your Mother I'm very anxious that I better deliver the goods to the right people, whatever belongs to you I must give you. That's how I'm travelling, today only I came from Austria and I will be again going to Italy. And I find in Italy specially people are extremely sensitive, extremely sensitive.

The municipality itself has come forward to help us and they are the ones who are paying for all our halls and for our advertisement. I don't know that is possible in English municipality.

I don't know if they'll have that much of awareness here. But doesn't matter, let's hope for the best, doesn't matter. Whatever it is we, I think if you all people get your realisation and establish it I am sure one day will come that we'll have to make this great country into Jerusalem. Is already prescribed by William Blake and He must have seen the future of England as something great, that's why He wrote it, because He was a very great seer. And we have lots of proof of that, that He was a great seer and whatever He has said has become the truth. I've been here in England for the last eleven years now and maybe some more years I may be here, but then I have to go back to India. Before that I hope in England we'll be able to establish something really substantial.

May God bless you all.

The question part we have decided not to have because it wastes your time, but if you have any questions you can write to Me and I'll answer them. That is much better because mostly these are individual questions, nothing collective, so is better not to disturb everyone by questions. If you have any problems you may write to Me, you have got address and I'll definitely answer you and I'll try to do whatever is possible. Thank you.

Now we will have the experience, which is a very simple thing, but we are not very simple we are quite complicated.

So in a simple place like I went to Himālayas, the foothills of Himālayas, very simple people from the village came and it was said that they call the Kuṇḍalinī as the Devī, is the Goddess. The Goddess will be awakened, they came from twenty miles, walking down and in a valley we had a program and thousands were there. And they all got realisation and they got established, I didn't have to do much about them. Very simple people. And traditionally they know what it is, waiting for this day.

So, because we are little complicated we have to help ourselves. And so it might take little more time, doesn't matter, we must have patience with ourselves. For this experience I have to say that those who do not want to do it should go away. Because they shouldn't disturb others. To be civil and kind to others, should go away and should not suddenly get up and walk out. Or suddenly open your eyes. If you want to go away, you can go away. But if you want to stay, you are welcome to stay, but you have to do the way we tell you.

Because it cannot be forced upon you.

Now, you will all have to close your eyes, so you need not have your spectacles, because it also helps your eyesight. And you have to take out your shoes because this Mother Earth helps us a lot, to suck out our problems due to the matter. Best is to take out your spectacles because your eyesight improves. Many a times it does help. And moreover, the attention has to be withdrawn inside. But if your eyes are open then the attention goes out.

So, best thing is to take out your shoes and your spectacles and any sort of a tight thing, which makes you, I would say, little uncomfortable. Anything tight anywhere, which makes you uncomfortable, should be loosened, that's all. Both the feet should be on the Mother Earth, straight, like that. In case you are sitting on the ground, it's all right, but if you are not sitting on the ground, the best thing is to put both the feet on the Mother Earth. And the shoes, please keep them at the back, would be better than to keep it on the sides. At the back. You should not touch them. And now put your feet away from each other a little bit, parallel on the ground.

At the very outset, I have to say that, we have to be very pleasantly placed within ourselves. Because we are going to enter into the Kingdom of God.

So, we should be very pleasant about it and we should forgive ourselves. We should not have guilt of any kind. Of any kind whatsoever. This is one of the biggest obstacles of the West that everybody has some sort of a nonsensical thing called guilt, which I do not understand. Even for a small thing, we build up a guilt, because the norms are so strong here that people who do not do some small thing like wearing a proper shoe, also feels guilty. It's very absurd to feel guilty.

When you are a human being, that means God has accepted you, chosen you to be a higher personality.

So, you should not have any guilt at all. Apart from that, Divine is the ocean of forgiveness and you cannot commit mistakes in such a way that Divine cannot forgive.

So, please first of all forgive yourself, have respect yourself, because you are the temple of God. Only the light has to be brought in, that's all.

So you must have respect for yourself.

Now, the left hand is the power of your desire and Kuṇḍalinī is the power of pure desire.

So you put your desire on your hand like this towards Me. That is the expression that you are desiring to have your realisation, all the time. And the right hand has to be put on different centers to help the Kuṇḍalinī to settle herself properly in these centers and to rise. And this, you have to do it. You have to raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. I'll just tell you how it is done, is very simple, where to put which hand. Now, in the beginning you just keep your eyes open and see that on the heart first, I'll tell you later on, just now see, that on the heart then on the upper part of the abdomen, then on the lower part of the abdomen, then going back in the upper part of the abdomen, then on your heart again. I will tell you one by one, everything.

And then here, this is the center which catches very much when you feel guilty. And it's still very bad today.

So just here, at the back. From the front you have to take the hand and put it on the left hand side. Like this between the angle of the neck and the shoulder and just press it a little bit behind, like that. This is very important center. And this is how I find people get spondylitis and angina, all kinds of diseases. Because they feel guilty all the time. There's nothing to feel guilty. Then you have to put your hand here, this is the center of Christ and another one, here at back. And then you have to stretch your hand and put this center of your hand on top of your head, here on the fontanelle bone area, which we call as the Brahmarandhra and press it hard. And move it clockwise like this, seven times.

So this all we will be doing after closing our eyes, which is a simple thing, only people make mistakes when they do not put their hands this way but this way and it pains, so best is to do it in this manner.

Now, all these centers we are trying on the left hand side. That, one should remember. Not on the right hand side. Every center I'll describe to you and I'm sure we'll all achieve our realisation. Now, the left hand towards Me and both the feet on the ground. You shouldn't watch others. This is the first time you are going to see yourself, so don't watch anybody else, only you have to watch yourself within. And please don't open your eyes. Keep your eyes shut till I tell you. Now, the right hand has to go on the heart.

Now, here resides the spirit. You have to now ask Me a very fundamental question. You can call Me Shri Mataji or you can call Me Mother, whatever you like, `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Ask this fundamental question with full confidence in yourself. `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Three times.

Now, after this, a very fundamental question again follows, just after this. That if you are the spirit, you are your own master.

So you put your hand please on the left hand side of your stomach, in the upper part. Here, you again ask Me a question three times, `Mother, am I my own master?' `Mother, am I my own guide?' `Mother, am I my own Guru?' Three times.

Now, please take this hand in the lower part of the abdomen on the left hand side and press it hard a little with your fingers. Lower part of the abdomen, lower part. Now, this is a center of the True Knowledge of the Divine, the laws of the Divine, the technique of the Divine. The Pure Knowledge resides in this center. Now, I cannot force you to ask this knowledge, so I would request you to say that you want this knowledge.

So please say, `Mother, may I have the Pure Knowledge, the True Knowledge?" You have to say this six times, because this center has got six petals. Six times. “May I have the True Knowledge, may I have the Pure Knowledge?" This will excite the Kuṇḍalinī.

Now raise your right hand on the upper part of the abdomen on the left hand side, press hard. Here again this being the center of a master, a Guru principle center, which is created by all the great masters of the world you have to assert, to make a seat for the Kuṇḍalinī to rise; with full confidence in yourself you have to say, `Mother I am my own master, Mother I am my own Guru,' ten times. `Mother I am my own guide.' Ten times, because there are ten principles of the mastery.

Now, please raise your hand to your heart and press it there, on the heart. Here resides the spirit. The truth is you are the spirit.

So now you have to assert again, twelve times. There are the twelve petals here. Twelve times you have to say, `Mother I am the spirit.' Have confidence in yourself. Please say it.

`Mother I am the spirit.' Believe in yourself. Have faith in yourself. You are the spirit.

Now please raise your right hand in the corner of your neck and the shoulder, on the left hand side and take it little backward and hold it tight. Here is the center which goes into problem when you feel guilty.

So please say sixteen times, `Mother I am not guilty at all.' Divine is the ocean of love, peace, graciousness but above all it is the ocean of forgiveness so please say it sixteen times, with full confidence that you are not guilty at all, `Mother I am not guilty at all, for anything.' Forget the past. Forget the past. Be in the present. Close your eyes in a way that there's no pressure on the eyes, close them fully. Sixteen times.

If you still, if you still feel that you are guilty you better punish yourself by saying it hundred and eight times. That would be better then for some people who just indulge into this kind of a pastime for nothing at all. `Mother I am not guilty at all.' Now, please put your right hand on your forehead, across and press it on both the sides. Here you have to say, how many times is not the point. Here you have to say from your heart, `Mother, I forgive everyone, Mother I forgive everyone.' From your heart. Those who say, “It is difficult to say” are under wrong impression because it's a myth. Whether you forgive or don't forgive, it's a myth. On your forehead please. Not on your head, but on your forehead. On your forehead. From your heart please say, `Mother, I forgive everyone.' Because if you don't forgive you are playing into the hands of wrong people. It's a myth in any case.

Now, take this hand on the back of your head. Just for your satisfaction you may say that `If I have done any mistakes oh Divine, please forgive me.' Just for your satisfaction you should say that because the Divine has already forgiven you. Now, please stretch your hand and put your palm on the fontanelle bone area, which is a soft bone in your childhood and press it hard and move it seven times. Press it hard; the center part you press it hard, the center part.

slowly open your eyes. Now, without thinking, you have to watch Me; just without thinking. You can do it. Without thinking. There's no thought. Now, you may put on your glasses if you want to and without thinking, you put your right hand like this; little higher and with the left hand just try to see if there's a Cool Breeze coming out; with the left hand. It's very subtle, it's sukshma; with the left hand. Put your right hand like this please. It's very, very subtle, very subtle. Little higher. Maybe about four inches, five inches. Here. Hmm.

Now, put the right hand on top again, left hand towards Me. There'll be some heat coming out. Doesn't matter. Let it come out. Is here. There's no thought in your mind. You can see there's no thought. Now raise both the hands and push back your head and ask a question, `Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost. Is this the All-pervading Power of God; is this the Brahma Shakti?' Ask the question. `Is this the power that does all living work?' Just push back your head and ask. Now, put down your hands. See if you feel it in your hands. Like this, like this. Opening out. There. And you are relaxed. There's a peace that is emitted. All right? Keep the neck straight. Straight neck.

One more thing I would like to tell you, how to raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. Because this is the only program we are having here so I'm sorry I have to tell you all in one program. But you all have to come to our centers. We have them in every corner of England and also in London where you can meet people and find out more about it and master it. That's what you have to do, on the follow-on. You must come and pay attention fully to it. It's not only when I come that you should come. They are all here who have known about it and they will just guide you. They are not going to dominate you. They are just here to guide you and once you know, when you become masters, then you can do the same because I'm alone and how many people can I meet? I have to travel, I have to go in other countries also.

So, there are people who are quite equipped and they will tell you all about it in a very sensible way. Just listen to them and they will guide you and you will reach your destination very soon. You need hardly a month to understand it, hardly a month.

Now, how to get yourself into a complete protection. You have to give protection to your aura.

So for that you have to raise your hand from this to this like that, seven times. Let's do it. One, two, three, this is a protection to our aura, four, five, six and seven. Now to raise your Kuṇḍalinī, put your hand, while sitting down, in front of you just like this. In front. And the movement of the left hand should be straight like that, watching the hand and the right hand should be upward, forward, downward, backward.

It's very simple, like that, clockwise and this hand should move straight till you reach the head. I'll tell you how. Now, let's start.

It's very simple. Even a child can do it. Push back your head, loosen your shoulders and give it a twist.

And now tie it up. Let's do it again. Three times. See now it's moving faster. Push back your head. Now.

The Kuṇḍalinī moves with it. Now, this is what the Christ's disciples did and people didn't understand.

And let's have it once more and this time three knots are needed on your head so you fix up the Kuṇḍalinī on top of your head. One, two and the three. Now, you feel it in your hands. See now the [UNCLEAR].

The face changes. Eyes start glistening. A different glint comes in and that's how you know you are a realised Soul; and that's how you know you are My children. But you have to establish it. You have to establish the experience. Even those who haven't got it, doesn't matter. Everyone can get it and you have to establish it and for establishing luckily today it's very easy because we have here so many people who can tell you all about it. They have understood it fully, they know it, they know everything and they will tell you all about it. There's no secret in Sahaja Yoga. Everything is going to be told to you.

May God bless you.

How many of you have felt the Cool Breeze on the head and as well as in the hands; if you have felt on the hands or in the head please raise both your hands. Both your hands. All of you felt it. Except for very few all of you have felt. Those of you who haven't felt it shouldn't mind. It will all work out. There are people who can help you out. Thank you very much. May God give you wisdom and strength to establish yourself as great yogis.

Contents: 1985-05-12 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Mothers's Day, Children, Parents, Schools, Seminar, Temple of All Faith, Hampstead, London, UK

As parents and would be parents and also the relations of the children, in Sahaja Yoga, we have a great importance of looking after children because mostly those who have been married in Sahaja way have got children who are realised Souls. That means they are children of a very high category and these children are to be looked after, with very great care and understanding.

First of all, all these children will not have so many problems, but gradually they may develop them.

Because when they come in contact with the society they will start feeling the different catches and they'll start expressing it by crying or by putting their fingers in their mouth or by shouting, screaming.

So many ways they will try to express the problems they have.

Mostly they feel the two Swādhiṣhṭhānas. Children feel this balance severely. When they have left and right Swādhiṣhṭhānas they try to show you by putting that finger in the mouth or by scratching that particular, specially the thumb as you know is the Swādhiṣhṭhāna, This is a particular type of catch. The mother should not neglect it at all. First of all she must see that she is not suffering from this one.

If she herself is suffering from the left side Swādhiṣhṭhāna or right side Swādhiṣhṭhāna, then it is very necessary for her to see that she corrects it. Mostly the right side Swādhiṣhṭhāna is weak because the women here are overactive, they do not know how to relax and even when they meditate they are quite agitated.

So it is for them to find out what's the problem in life and what are they suffering from.

The parent's behaviour is extremely important for the children. Before the children you should not shout, you should not hurry up, you should not get angry.

So the child becomes quieter. If the child is not a quiet child then understand something is wrong with you. Definitely with the parents, something wrong, maybe in the Nābhī, in the stomach, maybe on the Swādhiṣhṭhāna that the child is all the time restless.

Now the agitation around is also quite a lot, leave alone the parents. Today you must have heard about the news of forty persons killed in this death, you can call it a death valley of this soccer match. Then 130 persons were injured yesterday in another soccer match in Birmingham. Shows that people have no control over their anger, temper and they start behaving like hooligans when they combined together. And when they showed it, it is so horrifying that one can't understand what makes them go amuck. This is never in animal groups, you find, nor do you find amongst civilized people. But they are all civilized, well-dressed people and suddenly I don't know what happens to them that the anger reaches such a peak. As soon as one goal was made, they started getting angry and they are so much identified with that group which is playing the match. They are not playing the match. The parents are just watching and because they are identified, their ego is identified with that particular group, they get so agitated that they just go amuck and start throwing things and this and that, then the police comes forward. As soon as the police comes, instead of feeling afraid of it or controlling themselves, they go into another fury.

Now I would not so much blame them as I would blame their parents to begin with. Because parents have not been able to handle their children in a proper way. The child, if he is so agitated in childhood, he gets that thing built in within himself and that's why they behave in such a funny manner that they kill forty people on the spot. There is no war, there's no fight, nothing. Just anger and this anger comes from various reasons which we all should try to understand, why so much anger we get in the West. What is the reason? Why we are not quiet people? What makes us so agitated and angry? Simple thing is the ego. But in ego also, one should understand that why that it is so uncontrollable that your conscious mind itself cannot control it. Maybe they were wanting to control their temper but somehow or the other you find.

So from childhood one must notice the children what they are doing.

... In one Sahaja Yogini's case, she is the one responsible for getting her child like that. She knows that. Now everyday one has to clear out yourself. Now the child, poor thing, what can it do? It becomes a frantic child. When this child grows up, though a realised Soul, he cannot bear it, he becomes irritable and irritated, because the mother is a left-sided person. That's why I suggested that the mothers should not carry the children so much. Those mothers who are like this should not carry the child all the time.

Allow the children to play around, leave them alone, so that the mother's catches at least don't go to the children. When the mothers are like that, they must accept it. That we are like this, this is the problem with us, so let us not put all the time child on our lap, so that the child goes on catching on the Chakras, because poor child has done no wrong. The child is a realised Soul and why should the child suffer? He is fighting your catches.

So to be kind to the child, better to leave the child at a point where the children are left to themselves and are happy.

So this is what is the secret.

But another thing I wanted to mention to you as Sahaja Yogis, I cannot tell this to everyone but I can tell you, that too much accent is on sex life in the West, too much accent. I am not saying there should be abstinence and nonsense of what the Catholic church is doing and all that, but too much accent.

Marriage means sex is a very wrong idea. Mother is to receive the pregnancy and the father is to create it. But as far as possible try to abstain from all the time thinking about sex life. If you are that way, too much towards it, then what happens, that your mind starts building up and the children suffer because your atmosphere, your vibrations affect the children.

So when you are married it does not mean that all the time you should think of that. It is so common that people, for them as if it is a big achievement or some sort of a big entertainment. It is just a thing which should happen to you spontaneously. And the amount of attention we pay to this nonsense is so much and so frustrating sometimes that people get that frustration within themselves. Then the children also build up the same frustration, without knowing why they are so frustrated. When they become frustrated then suddenly, say, they'll see a football. The ego comes up and that suppressed, frustrated feeling of the parents start expressing. All the time thinking about it is one of the reasons why our brains go off. We cannot think about it. We should divert our attention if we think about it. But it's a spontaneous happening.

So in Sahaja Yoga we are not against sex life or anything. But this kind of life that you have led so far before must be cut down, that our mind should not have any sex ideas. Our mind should be clear-cut. It should be peaceful. There should be no such ideas about sex. But spontaneously it should happen and it should not bear any mark on the brain.

That is very important. Because the brain which indulges into these things suddenly gets heated up when they see a situation like this and they start bursting out with all tempers because whatever done through the brain is very limited and joyless. It is absolutely joyless. It's a joyless pursuit and when that joyless pursuit, you see, ends up into a kind of a brain damage we can call it, that damage works out. That's why it happens, I have not seen these things happen much in India like this.

Now see, you left him alone, he's happy. There was no need for you to keep him on your lap. Just trying to... he's a sensible boy. Alright. Now sit down, sit down. He's such a sweet thing. You were trying to push him down for nothing at all. Let them be alone, they are very good. They are all sitting nicely. Aren't you happy? They are very sweet children here. See, all of them are playing together. Let them be alone. There's no need all the time to grab them near. Come along, come along, come along, come here. You give Me hundred children and I can manage them. Alright, now let's see who is going to sit here nicely with the little little babies. You have to look after. You are big sisters, aren't you? So you have to look after the little babies. Ha, now how many big sisters there are? Let's see. One, two, three, four. No, no, no, no, no, no, it's alright. What happened? Nothing. The big sister is looking after.

You must allow them to play with each other and be together. See how they, come along, come along, let him come, let him come. He wants to join the line. Let them all join the line. Very sweet children. Now come along and sit down here. Let's see how you, come along, sit down, come along, come along. Now sit down. You also sit down, everybody should sit down. Alright? Look at that, everybody joining the line.

Sit down, sit down, please sit down. See now, who is crying? See all the children are so sweet. He's so much better. Isn't he? His Āgñyā is better now. Now that's it.

I told you if you people catch on Āgñyā, the poor children suffer. They suffer, you must understand.

Your behaviour is the most important thing of course. You are not, I would say that you are not people who are just some sort of a Sādhu Babas sitting somewhere, that kind of a thing. But you have to be normal people. Or abnormally excited people will have abnormal children despite the fact they are realised Souls, they are all realised Souls and big Johnnies, they are not small and they can manage things on their own and can entertain you all the time. You don't have to go anywhere for entertainment. But let them feel the confidence. But all the time, if the mothers are the brides, what will the children do? Forget it.

So on Mother's Day we must understand that we are mothers and mother have a special responsibility, to be so placed that they should not be irritated, hot tempered and also unkind. They can take up lots of things if they understand they are mothers. After all, look at the Mother Earth. How much she suffers. In the same way, all the mothers can take up a lot of things about them and the children remember all that, that how much our mother has done for us. How much patient she was. How kindly she was. How she looked after us. All these things they understand.

But also doesn't mean that you go and spoil your children. Specially when they are ill-treating other people. You must stop them. You should not allow the child to go about ill-treating other people, pulling their hair or doing something like that. You must say: `No, not to do that way.' So there's a way of handling by which you make your children good and sweet children. I tell you, it's not difficult to handle the children. It's a very easy thing. Only thing you must understand, what's the problem with them, what problems we are giving to them and what is troubling them. I'll tell you about one little girl. When I went to see her first, she was crying all the time. And I discovered that it was her bed. There was something wrong with the bed and as soon as we removed the bed, the child was alright.

So you must find out what is troubling the child to begin with. Let him be comfortable and happy and conveniently enjoying life.

Then you yourself should be thinking about noble things. Specially when people are pregnant they are supposed to read something very noble. Like you can read Gītā or Bible or Koran or something so that your thoughts are towards God and when the child is born, the child also thinks of the same things.

All the conditionings of the mother start the day she conceives the baby and since that day the child is conditioned.

So all the good conditionings you take upon yourself, all the good things you think about the baby, you work it out and that is how a child can be a very quiet, obedient, sensible, natural personality.

I have seen with My grandchildren themselves that they are so matured and so sensible that we don't have to tell them anything. Just they do it, whatever is the right thing to do, they behave in a manner whatever is good to do.

But it is the responsibility of the parents. I don't blame anybody. Now maybe the people who were so agitated, there must have had parents who must have done this, what you call, divorce business or maybe some sort of a perversions they might be having. All kinds of things you find these days. And it's so surprising when the people get perverted how hot-tempered they become.

So absurd they become.

Stupid they become and that, the children have to face. Children have to face unknowingly. Without knowing what is the reason they become like that and then the temper starts coming out. They start throwing things and misbehaving in such a manner that you don't know what is the reason, why the child is behaving like that. Even, there is no need for you to spend time away from child when the child is in the house. It's alright, the child is there. When the child is sleeping, it's alright you spend time together.

But many people also have this habit, that they keep the child in another room and the husband, wife are sitting in another room. All the time the child should not feel that the parents are separate. He should feel he's a part and parcel of the family all the time. When the child sleeps, then you go and talk to each other. But also some people fight and quarrel in the presence of children. That also is something horrible.

So the whole thing is depending on your behaviour.

As Sahaja Yogis I request you, you are special people. You have got special children as God has given.

He's been so kind to you that you've got special children. You've got special relations here who are very kind to your children, very nice people. But now even with all of this if you cannot give them that special life, which they deserve, for which they have come to you family, for which they have accepted you as their parents then I think it won't be fair, it won't be fair.

So you have to sacrifice a little bit, so called sacrifice, if you think its'a sacrifice, that your children should come up as very good citizens, as very good Sahaja Yogis, as very good babies. Everything you can do so, look at that!.....

How sensitive they are. They are all the time correcting you, carrying your catches. They are trying to clear them themselves as far as possible. But you are the people who should not give them problems.

As Sahaja Yogis you must try to keep yourself clean and your catches should not be there. This is the important thing.

And as mothers we have to sacrifice.....

it's a sacrifice, that your children should come up as very good citizens, as very good Sahaja Yogis, as very good babies. Everything you can do so, look at that! What's wrong with him? And look at this one.

Yes, good, good, good. Have you started walking? Just look at them. They are not fighting. They are not doing anything. All of them sitting nicely and quietly. Nobody is troubling anyone. You see that they are good children and all of them are playing together nicely, without any problem.

The most essential thing is that our children should feel our presence, which will soothe him down and make him a personality full of peace.

A peaceful atmosphere in the family, peaceful parents and peaceful relationships with others, will create people who will appreciate peace. Not by talking about peace or having organizations of peace.

So today is a day of our understanding and a promise to Me that you will try to be good mothers. It may be that sometimes, say, the husbands who come from outside are in a temper sometimes.

Tell them not to loose temper in the presence of children. Alright and you have to bear it up, doesn't matter. Because you can. As mothers you can. The Mother has a special personality that she can preserve the child, she can digest a lot of things. She has a special personality and that's why a mother must come up to that point.

Moreover, I would request the fathers and other relations, the male ones, to respect the mother.

Motherhood is the highest thing.

I tell you the race, any race which does not have superior mothers cannot exist, cannot exist. Any country which doesn't have mothers of a great quality cannot exist. It will perish no doubt about it. The mothers have to look after the preservation, not only of their own children, but of the whole race, of the whole nation. It is a very important thing.

Wherever the mothers have failed, the nations have failed.

So try to understand that it is the mothers duty to do this. If the mothers themselves are small minded, mothers themselves are selfish, the whole nation will be. Everything passes through the mother to the children. Father is just there to witness, he doesn't do much.

So it is for the mothers to look after the children. Every action of child must be seen properly, must be observed properly, must be appreciated properly and if you can develop that, I am sure you will give such a great asset to Sahaja Yoga.

Most of the children will grow up very soon, it's only a question of five, ten years more. They will be all grown up and you will see a army of great people coming up as Sahaja Yogis.

So it's a big responsibility in you and a trust, that you will look after them and render that what is needed, the peace, the joy, the bliss and enjoy their company as well... That's also an important thing. When they are young it is important that they should look after the children. They should manage the children, handle the children. It is their job. When they are grown up, of course, they will have much more time. As you know, I told you that till My daughters got married I did not start Sahaja Yoga. The reason was, it was a responsibility. Though it looks a tiny little bit, but it was very big responsibility. Once they were married I started Sahaja Yoga and the right time came also to work it out. That's what it is. But that does not mean that you give undue importance to children. Again I say, because you go to another extremes. If you give undue importance then they all the time want to have importance. And when they try to have undue importance, then again this ego comes.

So in these countries where people are already ego-oriented, when there are all kinds of other problems, everything, we should try to purify our minds, keep it clean, have the thoughts of higher visions, higher things, greater people who are able to come to Sahaja Yoga. Those numbers that we think of, let us have, how many we are going to have, how many we are going to receive. All these things, you see, they make you sublime and all this sublimation of the brain gives you that kind of a power by which you really help your children.

A father is a drunkard, supposing, but the son never remembers it, he doesn't want to remember. A father who is a murderer or a thief, no son feels very happy about it, though he may say he's my father.

But a father is the idealism, father who is sacrifice, a father who has something special about him, every child will remember him. A father who is hot-tempered, who is angry type, the child may agree or succumb to him, but he will not remember that father much. He will have no respect for such a father.

So it's such a mutual thing to have respect, to have anything, you must behave in a manner which is respectable and the idea of a mother is that she should be worshipable.

So you mothers, you will aspire to be something much more higher than the rest of the people.

May God bless you.

Now have you any problems or any questions, you ask Me, that's better.

Question: Could you say a word please about education and if possible the type of education that is likely to take place in the schools in India?

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see, that's very important question...

... The idea of the education is that to instill in them, first of all the sense of self respect to begin with.

That we'll have to teach them what is self-respect and how to understand the importance of self-respect.

And then they will be taught on those lines various things, like: `We must learn to keep our things properly, to keep the place clean and to respect it.' To respect your school, to respect your teachers, to respect all that is there, how to respect from the Mother Earth you should start. It is said that first you must touch the Mother Earth because you touch Her with the feet, on those lines. First of all the sense of respect must come in children, that's very important. Then once that starts, then it's easy to instill any other ideas into them.

So we are not going to get them completely, sort of deconditioned type, or we are not going to say that there's not going to be conditioning. But the conditioning will be on the path by which they become children of some unique qualities which are required today in the world. They might develop into very great leaders, they might develop into great orators, or they might develop into painters or artists, according to their aptitudes, which we will look after. But the first and foremost thing, a person must know how to respect himself. Once they develop the sense of respect.

..... Now the main thing about children is that they should feel completely secure in a place. Security is a very important thing for children. If they do not feel secure in that place then we won't be able to balance them much.....

Now I do not want to put too many restrictions on children in the name of discipline in the beginning, because children are themselves very much disciplined. But discipline has to be there.

So for certain things, I tell you, if you follow the practice, say of getting up in the morning time, slowly you will find children cannot sleep after that time. All these good habits can be done. To sleep earlier, to get up early, not to talk too much, not become also absolutely deaf and dumb sort, but to talk whatever is necessary.

What is not necessary, not to talk rubbish, not to be frivolous, not to be sarcastic. All these things can be watched very carefully if you have a small... And the small group should be watched how they behave, is that.

And then there is a way of correcting children. I mean, I don't like that punishment, you can never correct the children. But by telling them stories, by telling them, talking to them, by sorting out with them, you can work it out very well. Because they are all realised Souls, they are not ordinary children.

And if you talk with them, I tell you, these days the children are so wise, that they immediately take to wisdom, immediately. When they talk, they talk wisdom. I mean all of them sometimes, if you talk to them, you feel you are amongst grandparents or great-grandparents, the way they are talking about things.

So you have to understand that these are special children, they are to be treated with respect and to be brought up with respect and install in their mind that: `You are special children' that `You are children who have to change the world, you have come on this earth for a very great purpose and that's why you have to be brought up like that.' And then the disciplining also comes in children when they understand that they are [UNCLEAR] they themselves discipline.

So first thing is to instill in them the sense of security and a sense of self-respect.

I think this is the most important thing we have to do.

Now another thing is that about food and all that, children should be taught from childhood not to be very fussy about food because if you fuss about their food then children become fussy. But if you do not fuss, then children can eat whatever you give them. But of course the food should be good, on that I am very particular, that the food, taste and all that should be good. But it doesn't mean that the child should become so fussy that later he wants to have this kind of food or that kind food. All kinds of food the child should be able to enjoy and we should have very healthy way of doing it. And I am sure some doctors will help us. There's also that we'll give them food which is healthy for them.

But I am not for some sort of a like Gandhiji who used to give us just boiled food with the mustard oil on top of that to eat, because he said that's how you develop a non-taste, you see, `asswad'. He said: “You must not have a tasty thing." I can do it but I don't think everybody can do that way.

So we should not be hard on them. We should not be very hard. Because I have seen those people who have come out of Gandhi ashram are very hard people, you know, overstrict and sort of not so congenial with others. And they become absolutely so very strict with themselves that others, you see, don't understand them.

So they should be people because they have to do public works, they have to talk to the public. They have to be people who are congenial, who know how to deal with others. Not something sitting in Himālayas and sort of not touching anybody else.

So they have to be brought up in a way that they should be normal children, normal. Not that they have to eat all raw food and these health food and all kinds of things that are not needed. But normal good food so that their health improves. I tell you one of the reasons why the health improves, is if you keep the timing. Timing of the food. I've seen that when I used to go home I used to get sick, when I was in the hostel. Though the food was horrid, I used to keep better. The reason was, at home, everybody would spoil Me. “Now she's come from the hostel, so let her have this, let her have that." All kinds of food was served. And no timing was kept. But in the schools, strictly you have to keep to the timings. And that's how your health was better.

So, timing is one thing we'll improve there.

Then the education as such we'll give them about Sahaja Yoga education. Slowly, slowly they have to be trained in Sahaja Yoga and that is one of the most important thing.

Question: Would you then anticipate them going on to universities around the world, Shri Mataji?

Shri Mataji: Now the trouble is, you see, universities as they are, you know what the situation is.

According to some Sahaja Yogis, universities are the places where all the destructive is... Though I am sure the children who are brought up in that school, wherever they will go they cannot change. They will change others, but they will not change because they will be so well developed in their own personality that their personality will impress others. They will not change, even you people, Sahaja Yogis, you won't change, you will change others, but you won't change yourselves.

Contents: 1985-05-12 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Mother's Day, Seminar, Temple of All Faith, Hampstead, London, UK

[UNCLEAR]... But one thing, we must make it sure that those children who study there, they must pay for it, because, you see, what happens that it should just that the money be paid there, it's finished there.

That money can be recovered and can be used for some other purpose. Otherwise, sometimes in Sahaja Yoga it happens that people just send their children and do not pay for it; then it would be very difficult.

Because it's not much, but whatever is needed. Because that money must be recovered and we should be able to put another space also with that; so with one we can have another, like that we can cope. That's a very good idea for the... yes.

And you can also get get children of another place around, so the parents also know something about Sahaja Yoga there. Would be a good idea to make all the possible enquiries. Then from the same schools we can take children there when they're a little bit grown-up. I think we should get Ray. Ray is a very good organizer; he's running his school very well, in Australia and the government people came and they praised him very much. The children and he brought them up very well. They are, in a way, little strict with the children and also quite kind. It's a very good balance I think.

The children are so sweet, very sweet; so well-dressed and so good. When I was coming they had tears in their eyes; it's so sweet they were. And they look after even the leaves of the trees, you see; they even care for the leaves of the trees. It's so sweet of them. Everything is so nice to see them working like that; so involved with doing that; their own school, that's their own teacher; there's everything. And I think the strictness is only towards some children who become a little misbehaved. Then they separate the children, keep them separately and then if they improve then they put them back. That's a good idea. But they don't allow them to mix up with others.

This will go on increasing very fast if things work out. I'm sure it will really work very fast. Another idea of Mine was that there's land given to us for the education of the Western people who want to learn twenty-one arts in India [UNCLEAR]. And that will supplement for our Indian people in another place, very close by. That's another land for educating them how to do this lathe work, this work, that work.

But will be based on Sahaja Yoga. I mean, this is just a sort of a side issue; but will be based on Sahaja Yoga, because all the art is possible if you can concentrate your mind.

You see, the mind is such a funny thing, human mind is, that supposing he wants to study, what he will do? He will find out an excuse when to study. Then: “This time is not all right." Then he'll postpone.

Then he'll say: “All right, let me go and eat something." Then again postpone. Then he'll say: “All right, let me do that." Like that he'll be postponing; the mind will be postponing all the time and he'll not do the job. You see; that's the mind.

So now when the people, that means, you see, your mind is going all over; there's no concentration and without concentration you cannot do art very well.

So to get that concentration, what we have to do is to teach them how to concentrate; and concentration is only possible through Sahaja Yoga.

So, first of all, we'll teach them how to concentrate and then make them Sahaja Yogis. And with that concentration they will be able to do all this work very well; because, after a certain age, if you have to teach somebody an art, it's like making a horse out of a donkey; it's not easy.

So best thing is to make them at least realised Souls so their hand starts moving better and they do it.

So Sahaja Yoga has to come there; and we'll get people from all over the centers and all over the world for that and they will all be chatting. We'll see their vibrations, if they can come in and all that. That's how we'll have to put them. And they will have to learn any one of the twenty-one arts. First, of course, they'll jump for all the twenty-one. I know they can't do it.

So, gradually they will learn that they can't do it, so they'll take two or three; whatever they want to do.

Because Indian art is not easy, you know. Indian music, if people want to learn, is sufficient; Indian dancing is sufficient. There's no need to learn three or four things in India. And if you know Indian music, you can know any music, because it's all permutations and combinations of the throat or through the nose. Everything you learn in that music; so you know the music after that. Same with dancing, don't you think so? Such a difficult thing, Indian dancing; you have to really work hard; I mean then you can't do anything else, you see.

Then you need not play football. I think this football must be stopped; it's very unrhythmic. That's the reason it happens; it doesn't go with the rhythm of God, I think. That's why the people get so mad.

Can it not be stopped, this Soc? Cricket is sensible. In India people only see cricket; they love cricket. I mean, in India you can't get tickets; poor things, isn't it? We will tell you: “We are so fond of cricket." Why have soccer? It's a horrible new thing.

So that is our education part of it; and the art side of it, one more point I would like to say today, that we have acquired land for our agricultural development, on the basis of vibrations; and this Mr. Hamid, Doctor Hamid, who has been doing research, he now wants to do one more research, he has asked for that blessing, but when the acid rain falls on the forest it burns away.

In Germany it has happened the worst of all; the German thing.

So I said: “All right, if you do it you might be successful, but not the Germans. They must pay for their sins." They must pay, horrible people. They can't get away with it.

So the nature is showing. What can we do? But he might be successful; and then he should run away from there. If things are successful, then he should run away; because what's the use of being there? They cannot [UNCLEAR]. If they become Sahaja Yogis, well and good, but otherwise why should God bless such people who killed helpless people in the gas chamber? The whole thing is horrifying. Can't understand even this great man going down there like this. Supposing his parents were killed like this, he would have gone? No feelings, horrible race, they think no end of themselves. I have been to East Berlin Myself and I told C.P. that these people are really Rākshasas, they are devilish people. Even now, you see, they do not want to accept it as something we have done wrong. They say: “It was a political mistake." Imagine. What was political in that? To think that you are a superior race and all that. It's a horrible thing they have done and they should never be allowed to do it again, under any circumstances. It's very bad; it's so helpless method, such a helpless style of doing things, you see, with children dying like that. I can't even see it, it's so terrible.

So let them pay for it.

But this fellow, Doctor Hamid, who has done these experiments with our vibrations, he's going to come to India.

Now, the only thing was, they said that the canal is going to come up to our land, so we should wait for one year more; so that's why I have postponed; but that will work out also. Let him show the miracles on one plot of land about the forest. But in London I noticed also some forest; it's happening here also.

But you must stop this too much of industrialisation. For such a little country like this, so much of industrialisation. And that's why people are without jobs. If some industries stop and some hand-made things we start making, it would be better; people will have some jobs, you see; there will be some balance.

But I saw some trees really burnt, topside, that means it's having an effect here also.

Always nature, you see, balances. Not only that but teaches you a lesson. You cannot play havoc with nature; you have to be sensible about it. The way we have tried to exploit it has gone too far in every way and that's how one has to pay for it. Thank God underdeveloped countries are better off because they have no need to work. But now they're running the same race. I don't know what's going to happen to them, but they are running the same race. Australia is much better, I tell you, because there's not so much, so much of industries are not there. Canada is much better also. Raw material is going from Canada but Canada is much better.

So all these things are to be understood in the Light of Spirit; then only it goes into the minds of people. Say, you have a school and if you tell them all these things about the world problems, what are the Sahaja Yoga solutions for that, they will understand it better. This must be described; this must be told to them, that these are the problems. You cannot just solve them by some superficial methods. It has to come from within, to understand the implications of this kind of an imbalanced economy they have, imbalanced procedures they use; absolutely imbalanced. I think all our efforts, human efforts, we have their expressions in this manner, better, everything. All our theories of sociology, this, that; say, even take the system of political differences; everything can be very easily understood if you are a spiritual person.

And all these confusions will be solved. But let us see how you people are helpers there.

Indians are not bothered; because they don't have these problems, they don't have. But if you see the whole world as a big problem itself, then you have to help because you people know these problems better than they know. They don't know what is ecological balance and all that. If you talk to an Indian, he'll say: “What is this nonsense?" They have never heard of such a thing.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR] and so what happened with your interview?

Sahaja Yogi: Well, it was quite interesting, Mother. I think he really felt as though he'd had a good blasting and...

Shri Mataji: Really?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes and he said he couldn't understand how, when we met us, the Sahaja Yogis and we were all so congenial and so, sort of, sweet and kind and so on and then he saw You and You were telling everybody, you know.

So it's a little delicate, how to handle that.

So I had to explain, you know, how You were concerned and that's why You were telling these various things off, because you were concerned that people would get destroyed unless people knew. In so many things said I feel...

Shri Mataji: He felt better with that?

Sahaja Yogi: I think he felt a lot better towards the end, but his wife is very difficult. She was there...

Shri Mataji: You see, it is not any... I am not trying to please any political party or anything. It's a thing which concerns anyone who has sensitivity; one should have sensitivity about it. You see, if you want to be sweet and nice about it, it can't make you solve the problem. You have to just take it out; it's an operation; all right? You go and meet him again and talk to him. But today there was a miserable picture of this [UNCLEAR] thing in the newspaper. I don't know if you saw it. And if you read the newspaper interview, Did you see that? Oh you must see; he's very miserable. I thought: “Who is this miserable fellow?", so it was him. And the way he talks about everything, he is so funny that you cannot think he is anywhere near God. Very funny; you just read that interview and you'll be shocked.

So what does his wife say?

Sahaja Yogi: Oh his wife was just horrible, [UNCLEAR] all together.

Shri Mataji: You should just say that: `You are not sensitive enough'; that's what you should say.

Sahaja Yogi: She said that she could not see how this feeling of Cool Breeze could be the baptism of the Holy Spirit and I said: “Well, you don't know anything; you didn't even hold your hands out. You didn't feel it, so how do you know what it was or what it wasn't?" And that shut her up for a while.

Shri Mataji: You should say: `You can cure, with this, cancer; otherwise how could you cure if it was not so?' And according to her, what is it?

Sahaja Yogi: She didn't say, I mean, she had nothing positive to say at all really.

Shri Mataji: I mean, it's very easy to oppose everything, but why not show some results yourself? Like, any Guru person, if he comes to you, you should say: `What have you achieved yourself?' [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: I think that he was much better really. I think he likes Sahaja Yogis and he does know there is something special about it. He agreed that a big difference between us was Paul and you know because I said that is the thing that divides us more than anything else, is that we feel Christianity, to a large extent, was built on Paul's theories and not on Christ and His word; and he, sort of, defended Paul a bit.

Shri Mataji: And that's what they have to do, because they are paid by him. If you take up a job like that, what is going to happen to him? It's all right, it will work out now they have [UNCLEAR] of their own. You can see that. If you see this interview you'll know, miserable looking fellow, absolutely miserable. He's only sixty years of age, he looks like an old man of at least ninety years. Really; there's no joy on his face, nothing.

So now, may I take your leave? May God bless you.

I would like you to give Me some plans for making the hearts we are going to make for children; will be a good idea.

[The road is long and in the car Shri Mataji starts commenting on the landscape. She speaks about plants that were found only in Palestine, called `the blood of Christ' or something like that.]

Ruth Eleanore: Shri Mataji, have you been to Palestine?

Shri Mataji: No, but I remember what I was there at the time of Christ.

Contents: 1985-05-19 Śhrī Gaṇeśha Pūjā, You Should be Prepared to Change, Nirmalā House, San Angelo Romano (7 kms N of Guidonia), Italy

But everything works out when manifesting our love. By thinking we only create complications as I did yesterday. Because also we decided something beforehand and I could not take any present from Gaṇeśha.

One should not decide such a thing. Because there were three Pūjās only and if I take in two, if I don't take in the third one, I'll hurt Italians.

So your Mother also changes everything and you should be prepared to change also. Like I was telling him the example yesterday of only one Guru Pūjā we had, only one, in Bombay [Mumbai] in India. See how lucky you are, only one Guru Pūjā there. And for that Guru Pūjā they bought a shawl for Me, a shawl.

So I said, “Now, if you bought the shawl, then you don't give Me sarī. I won't take any sarī because that will be too much to Me." And I absolutely I was sure I'll not take and I said, “No, no, no” until they know that no is ten times, no, no, no, no, no, no, no. But you see these deities are completely one with you people more than with Me. Because all the Sahaja Yogis were feeling very sorry that they had bought the sarī. It was only one Guru Pūjā in India and I should have allowed. I said, “You must detach yourself when you are at Guru Pūjā. Don't worry our guest." But they would not. They were feeling all bad.

Then before Pūjā I went to wash My feet under a tap in India. You know how the taps are sometimes, at that height it was. And as soon as I opened the tap the whole thing, the water came on Me. I was completely drenched.

So I came out completely drenched. I said, “All right, give Me the sarī." So because I don't want that you should be taxed for Pūjā, because some money has to be given because that's the part, but should be little part.

So little part has to be given. That is important because you must learn to give in the sense that when you give little bit you get a lot, you see. It's another bribery corruption.

So I was telling Gregoire that “You should not tax people too much. Let it be a small contribution." And deities in him miscalculated and he asked for fifteen pounds. And you'll be surprised. These fifteen pounds I've got in all kinds of money. I don't know what to do with it, but it is there. Out of this money I always buy something of silver for your Pūjās because you can say that this belongs to Me. But you see, there is nothing wrong if I take away everything that you have. I know that. But I want to put a Maryādās to everything, for you must also have Maryādās, I am a maryād, means I have no boundaries, but you must move with Maryādās. I need not have any Maryādā whatsoever and I don't have. What can I do? But I deliberately put these Maryādās because you should have Maryādās.

Because when you take an incarnation, you come in a Maryādās. You come in an embodiment. And that's how one has to teach Maryādās, boundaries, to human beings because they can always say, “What's wrong? If they are giving me, why not I'll take them?" Anybody giving them anything, they will say, “Why not? I can exploit." Human beings are like that.

So always an incarnation by His own Maryādā life, creates the Maryādā for them.

Now, as you know I like generosity very much. I like to be so-called generous because it's all your own.

If I give you anything, the joy is Mine. Now by giving only you understand how joyous you are. Otherwise there is no way out.

So when I go to any other country but England, because in London I have no time for shopping, I go to shops. I leave My vibrations and everything there. Also I try to buy something which I can give away easily, in a good way and something of course for My family which I have to run on other side. But then the things accumulate too much and even if you spend the whole night distributing, it doesn't finish. This time in India, the whole night we were distributing presents. Nobody was tired, the givers neither the takers. And when we gave, all the Western Sahaja Yogis said, “Ha” as if they are getting it, you see and then they would give to the Indian Sahaja Yogis everything. I tell you I have seen it. I sometimes overspend things, money and all that, in sort of trying to express Myself even when it comes to tours, but I am never running short of money. You see there is somebody sitting, Kubera, who is filling up My purse all the time. I never run short.

He is a very interesting guy for Ādi Shakti as well as for you people. You just watch and see the whole thing.

Don't get worried. Don't get upset. You'll see that the whole thing is so beautifully managed like a drama.

[Aside:] Are you all right now? I was told you were rather worried. I have to talk to you about it. No, you are not worried, good. I don't know if we can do the thing now because it's time to do the lunch, this time [UNCLEAR]. Tell him do not worry, will let them have their lunch. My lunch is over. I am so full of joy and the Divine Love and then we'll have the [UNCLEAR]. Better finish. One hour eat. Are they hungry? It's a good idea. [Hindi.] Where have you arranged?

Sahaja Yogi: Not yet arranged, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Well, let them have that.

Sahaja Yogi: OK, Jeremy, OK, OK. It's OK. Leave it. We have lunch first.

Shri Mataji: I mean it is [UNCLEAR] you are seeking. Nothing should be binding. You are seeking, nothing should be binding. Maryādā is different but binding is different. Maryādā is different. Binding is different.

Binding, see now I am in Maryādā, My body is in Maryādā, but if I tie it up then it's binding. Make it into a bandhi and tell them. Bandhare, you say, bandhare? Bandhar? There is a song in Marathi when about Rāma when He was building the bridge for crossing over, Bandha re bandha re, yes, in Marathi Bandha re. Bandha re. Bandha re.

Translator: What does it mean?

Shri Mataji: Means build up, build up and bandhara in India, Indian language means bandh is a...

what you call that bandh, bandh, bandh... for the water to go, oh no, to stop the canal, bandhan, part bandhare, bandhare. That's it, bandhare. Italians must have had some Maharashtrians here, I am sure.

Otherwise, how can you say...

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, can we offer the other presents?

Shri Mataji: Just now. Had your lunch? Have backside, all right, have backside. All right. Now...

Sahaja Yogi: Just is this one. We couldn't open for Your Pūjā, Shri Mataji. It's from Alessandra.

[Chanting: Gaṇeśha atharva sheersha, one hundred eight names of Mother, Devī Sūktam (Ya Devī sarva bhooteshu).] [First fifteen minutes chanting of various mantras. Married ladies were asked to offer sarī to Shri Mataji.] This is another Rutumbhara Pragñyā. This one, you won't believe, we got them for sixty-five pounds.

Fifty-five pounds. In London, back in London, that too in London, another Rutumbhara Pragñyā. This one you bring in this side. We'll another one on right side. All right, this one is [UNCLEAR].

This is another Rutumbhara Pragñyā, under Gaṇeśha Pūjā. Another Rutumbhara Pragñyā works out.

You don't see the sarīs and after all... all with the Chakras.

This is also another Rutumbhara. They wanted to buy eleven sarīs with the real gold and these are very expensive sarīs.

So I was hesitating about it very much and we went to the shop to buy and they said the shop is burnt away and everything is stored up in another shop.

So I told them whether these international sarīs should not be more than two thousand rupees at any cost. And they were also not very happy with the proposition. And it so happened, we went in that shop and we asked them, “Have you got sarīs with real silk?" So they took out one bundle. They had only eleven. We needed eleven in a bundle of real... and they cost us on the average sixteen hundred rupees only! That is how it was done so, exactly eleven and at sixty percent discount. Have you heard of such a thing? But later on, they all, in the shop recognized Me and they wanted to have Realisation. And all of them got Realisation.

So much so that the Board of Handloom House wrote a nice letter to Me that “We'll always give you twenty percent discount." So in the marriages we all got twenty percent discount sarī.

So in buying this, how much money we have saved. Tremendous it was, really. The whole experience, the whole shop, all the laboring people, everybody came in the shop to get Realisation. They also came to our Pūjās and this and that and suddenly you got about thirty people there by these eleven sarīs. But when I wanted to buy for My daughter, I had to pay four times more because they are not Sahaja Yogis.

So this is your luck.

Look at the quality! You see this combination. And this is the one, the dress of Śhrī Gaṇeśha, Pitambara. He wears the yellow, Pitambara He wears, yellow. How many of them are wearing today yellow, see? So there is no end to this miraculous happening.

Now, unmarried girls, where are they? They all should come now. You allow them to come. The poor boys don't do anything.

[Devotional songs are sung.] [Aside:] See these mangalsutras the Italians have made themselves, are made by Italians. Good idea, these mangal sutras, like the Kuṇḍalinī is the, a mangalsutra. You have to get some little Italian boy to put it. An unmarried boy? Boy, boy...

[On listening to Gaṇeśha Mangalmurti Ār.ti]: Beautiful. You remembered by heart? You are, you are remarkable, really!

Contents: 1985-05-21*, Public Program, Day 2, Rome, Italy

The main thing is to get your Realisation. No one can guarantee it. As it is a living process so it has to work out. And that you should get that Realisation is the main point. To get the Realisation I would say if some people want to come on the stage can come also. If there are people sitting on the ground are in difficulties can come on the stage. If they want. Or those who want to go away can go away. But don't disturb others.

[Aside:] Come along. Those who are sitting down. Please, be seated. Please. Seat. It's cold, is it? there is nothing to spread for them. Is it very cold there? Must be. Seat, seat, seat. I'm sorry, it's very cold? Is it cold there? Is it cold? No, no. It's alright. All right.

Take out your shoes. All of you. All of you should seat down quietly. Or if the people in front can come, all of them can sit in front. It's better. As many can come on the stage. Now don't fight. Please, don't disturb. Please, keep quiet. These are very important times. Don't disturb others. We have to be very, very kind to others. I will stand up. You'll all be able to see Me. All right? [Aside:] It's all right. Better sit now. I'll tell you later on. [UNCLEAR Next time I will talk Italian].

I wish we had a bigger stage. All right. Now, it's very simple. You have to take out your shoes because this Mother Earth has the power to suck in our problems.

So please take out your shoes and put both the feet parallel to each other. You can take out also your spectacles. It helps your eye sight. If there is anything [UNCLEAR very] tight on your stomach or in the neck. You can loosen it a little bit. All the people should be seated. All the people should be seated properly and should not move about at all.

Now. With both the hands like this. You have to know that these hands and the fingers here are denoting the seven centers on the left hand side and the seven centers on the right hand side.

[Aside to someone]: [UNCLEAR].

Now, there are seven centers. Five, six and seven. These are five, six and seven which we learn very soon. This left hand is responsible for our desire. To get Realisation is our main desire. Today. With this desire you put your left hand forward like this, comfortably. You should not be uncomfortable. Sit in the way that you feel comfortable. You may sit [UNCLEAR as/yes] twisting both the legs on one side. Will be alright.

[Aside to someone:] No, the other way.

Now. Right hand we have to use for [UNCLEAR an] action. Now we have to use that, on the left hand side. And to use that on the left hand side we have to put this on different centers. Because you are going to raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. At that point I'm going to just tell you where to put your hand and later on when you close your eyes you will know. Just now I will just show you. The right hand should go first in the heart then in the upper portion of the stomach then in the lower portion of the stomach. Now, one must know it is all on the left hand side. Again should go back to the upper part of the stomach then to your heart and than to the corner between your shoulder and your neck. From the front. Many people put it like this is not good. This way. It's comfortable.

In the West this is the worst center. Always caught up. It is caught up because one feels guilt. Now you are not to feel guilty at all: [UNCLEAR I'll take off your guilt]. You have done nothing wrong whatsoever. The Divine is the Ocean of Forgiveness. And we can not do anything that could be such that can challenge the power of the Divine.

So nobody should count their wrongs and mistakes. If you feel not comfortable you can sit on the chair will be better. Not to make uncomfortable.

[To someone:] Are you alright? Now, it is your [UNCLEAR] that's your own. And you have right to get it.

So what is there to feel guilty about? There is no need at all to feel guilty.

[Aside to someone:] You can come here. There is a space. Or here. You can come here.

All right. Now...

[Something happened and the public laughs gently. Shri Mataji says to someone from the public:] All right. All right, doesn't mater. All right. As long as the feet are not towards Me is alright. You can put them this way. All right.

So now. What we do is to put the right hand after this here on the forehead then on the back then we have to stretch our hand and put it on top of the fontanelle bone area. Here on top of our head and press hard and move it seven times [UNCLEAR] the scalp. Seven times. That's all.

Now. Nobody should watch others. One should watch oneself. Now. Please close your eyes. And don't open your eyes till I'll tell you. Because attention has to go inside. Now. The left had towards Me and the right hand on the heart. Put it under the coat. Will be better. Towards Me means the palm should be towards the sky. Now. This left hand should be kept as it is [UNCLEAR]. [UNCLEAR After] after closing the eyes you ask Me a very fundamental question: `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Ask that question three times. Ask sincerely. Three times.

Now bring down your hand on the upper part of the stomach on the left hand side and press it. Please take out your glasses. [UNCLEAR]. Now, the second question, very fundamental follows by the first.

This is the center of the Masters. Created by all the great Masters. Here you ask Me another question.

Three times please ask Me: `Mother, am I my own master?'; `Mother am I my own guide?'; `Mother am I my own Guru?' Now, please put your right hand in the lower part of the stomach. Right hand. Left hand towards Me.

[Aside to someone from public:] [UNCLEAR]. You have to put your right. No. Right.

In the lower part of the stomach. This is the center which gives us the knowledge of the Divine.

Please close your eyes otherwise it can not work. Here you have to understand that I can not force you to know this knowledge.

So you have to say: `Mother may I have this True Knowledge?'; “May I have the Pure Lnowledge?" Please say six times because this center has got six petals. “Please, give me the True Knowledge"; “Please, give me the Divine knowledge, the Pure Knowledge.' Now. Raise your right hand in the upper part of your abdomen now. And press it. You shouldn't talk, please. Don't talk.

[Aside:] What's happening?

Sahaja Yogi: She is feeling bad, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: He?

Sahaja Yogi: She is feeling bad.

Shri Mataji: He?

Sahaja Yogi: She is feeling bad.

Shri Mataji: Bad?

Sahaja Yogi: Bad. She is in pain.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR]. All right. Once again [UNCLEAR].

Put your right hand on the upper part of the stomach. Now. At this point, as it is a center of the principle of mastery, you have to say: `Mother, I am my own master.' With full and [UNCLEAR unshattered] confidence. For the Kuṇḍalinī to come. Ten times you have to say: `Mother, I am my own master.' Please, stretch your left hand properly towards Me. Now, say it ten times, please.

Now raise your hand. Right hand. To your heart again. Here you say, with full faith in yourself: `Mother, I am the Spirit.' Say twelve times. With full faith in yourself. Now, put your right hand in the corner of your neck and the shoulder. This is the center what we call as the left Viśhuddhi. From the front. Right hand. As I've told you that the Divine is not only the Ocean of Love and Compassion but It is the Ocean of Forgiveness.

So please, do not feel guilty. And say sixteen times, with all your heart and faith: `Mother, I am not guilty at all.' [Aside to someone:] [UNCLEAR] `I'm not guilty at all.' Sixteen times.

This is the worst center. And if you say things like that you can say 108 times. To punish yourself.

You should be presently [UNCLEAR] towards yourself. You are entering into the Kingdom of God. And why should you feel guilty? Now. Raise your right hand on your forehead. Now, again with full compassion for everyone please say: `Mother, I forgive everyone.' How many times it's not the point. Forgive or not. Please say: `Mother, I forgive everyone.' To say that I forgive is a mythical thing because whether you forgive or not it's a myth but if you don't forgive then you play into the hands of wrong people.

Now. For your own satisfaction you can put your hand on the back and say that: `Mother, if I have done any mistake, please, forgive me.' And don't count your mistakes. Don't feel guilty. Now. Raise your hand. Stretch it. Put it on top of your head. And press it hard. And move it seven times, saying: `Mother I don't have Realisation. Please, give me.' I can not force you to do that.

[Shri Mataji blows into the microphone seven times.] Now please take down your hand. Slowly open the eyes. Watch Me without thinking. Now. Put your right hand towards Me. And left hand you put on top of your head and see if there's the Cool Breeze coming out. Here. Put it higher. Move it.

All right? Just see. It's coming out. Just see it, moving up and down. All right. Now. Put the right hand on top of your head and left hand towards Me. And see now if there's a Cool Breeze coming. All right.

Ha! You should just say: `Mother, I'm the Spirit now.' Just say in your heart. Now. Raise your right hand. [UNCLEAR] feel the experience. There is no air condition or anything. Just see. Don't doubt.

Don't doubt yourself and don't doubt the [UNCLEAR]. Now push back your head and push your hands up like this. And ask the question. Three times. `Mother is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost?'; `Is this the All-pervading Power of God?'; `Is this the Brahma Shakti?' All right. Now bring it down. See for yourself. If you feel the Cool Breeze in the hand or the head.

You got it.

Today I'll teach you how to protect yourself when you go home. Most of you have felt it. Those who have felt it please raise your hand. Either on the head or in the hand. Raise both the hands. Those who have felt it. Everybody practically has that.

May God bless you.

Now, some of you have not felt. Very few. Everybody is [UNCLEAR]. Not to feel bad about it. And you are absolutely relaxed. There is no thought. You can watch Me without thinking. Now I'm going to tell you how to protect yourself. Don't [UNCLEAR] your shoes just now. One minute. Every morning you must protect yourself. [This way of protecting is the old one.] You have to put your left hand towards Me like this. Now. And you have to move the hand on your auras. [The hand] which has got the vibrations. Like this. Now. We do it seven times. Let's do it. One.

Two. Three. Four. Five. Six. Seven. Now you all can raise your Kuṇḍalinī. Those who have not felt also can feel. You please put the hand in front of your Kuṇḍalinī where you are sitting. Left hand. And you have to watch the left hand going up like that. And the right hand has to move upward, forward, backward, like that. Clockwise, clockwise. Upward, forward, downward, backward.

Ha! Now. Let's start. You have to do it three times only. Watch your left hand. Push back you head.

And give it a twist. And tide up.

[Aside:] Sorry [as She pushed the microphone.] Again. Watch the left hand. Push back your head. Give it a twist. And tie up in your head. Once again, please. Now this time three knots. One. Two. Three. Now see. How much is flowing now. Much more. Your eyes are all sparkling. May God bless you.

I'm going away tomorrow to Venice. And next year I definitely come. But we have an ashram here.

Very good Sahaja Yogis. Please go and learn how to master it. Also we have a follow-up program. Please go. It is a free thing. Please attend it. All of you. Don't waste it. Respect your Realisation. And those who haven't got it will also get it. They must. Maybe something is wrong. Physically, mentally, emotionally.

So please get it checked up and enjoy yourself.

Thank you very much.

Oh! All of you have felt [UNCLEAR]. Yes! You can see the eyes! See your eyes are sparkling.

Contents: 1985-05-26 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Qualities of Śhrī Gaṇeśha, Hounslow (near Heathrow Airport), London, UK

Today's program, I am happy in a way we could manage, because you know, in Rome we have done wonders. We have really done wonders in Rome, no doubt about it. The press conference was just like a meeting of Sahaja Yogis and also the television was as if it was our own television, was a fine television.

But there's one credit must be given. To the Sahaja Yogis, they are very dedicated people. Not only that but they see to it that they keep themselves all right. And they work very hard, they get up everyday morning, clean themselves, live in a collective. England, I've worked very hard because it's the heart. But as the Sahaja Yogis go, I don't know. We have some very good ones, but we have some horrid ones too.

And that's what we have to look after ourselves and not after others. Now, one thing you must know, if you have red faces that means you have Viśhuddhi. That is the right Viśhuddhi and if you have white faces that means you have the left Viśhuddhi. Now, if we have a problem with our Viśhuddhis we cannot go further and it comes out of a simple thing, that we are not collective enough. We are still individualistic.

Then the habits will develop. Before coming to Sahaja Yoga. Now, the habits we develop, before coming to Sahaja Yoga, we have no will power to throw it out.

And the worst of all is the ego part, which is very, very strong in England. I don't know how to get rid of this ego when we know it is the worst enemy of human beings. It is the worst enemy of Sahaja Yogis. And suddenly, as I always said, people get onto the horse, means like John Gilpin, also you have already described a person in England as John Gilpin, nobody had this kind of a character described in any country. That means there must have been John Gilpins here. Because these Humpty Dumpties are still around and they just jump onto that part and they again go back to the same.

So this, ego has to be cleared out, has to be cleared out. It's very important and that only can work through Tapasya, through penance. We are not willing to sacrifice anything, we do not want to do any penance. We have been blessed by Sahaja Yoga in every way, in jobs, in getting everything, but we are still carrying on with all the nonsense that we had.

So you see, everybody can be stamped on you. It's a serious matter, which we should know about. It's a serious matter, so be very careful of that point. My own experience of the whole thing is that if the Sahaja Yogis are first class things work out in no time. It's you who are on the stage not Me. I cannot even stop the rain, the rain doesn't want to go away.

So, there are less Puṇyas. What Puṇyas have we got, what good have we done? And then talking ill about others. Judging others. All the time, this one is egoistical, that one is like this. I don't like it. Talking like that is a very bad habit.

Then talking about the organizations, this is wrong there, that is wrong there, what have you contributed yourself? Is the responsibility of all the Western Sahaja Yogis rests upon you people who are, I don't know what to say, I mean I would not say that you are near My expectation. There are very few, very, very few. And those who are there are attacked, are under attack. Is it good to do that way? Anybody who is a good leader, if I praise, say I say John is a good fellow, he's very good, they say no. He's like this.

Anybody says he is, it just goes on. They also want [UNCLEAR], I can't manage them. They think that as it is. Nobody listens to Me, nothing goes in the head so what's the use of Mother talking, wasting Her energy.

So it's not only for blessings that you come to Sahaja Yoga. Not at all, but for doing something substantial. Everybody's blessed, you know that how much you are blessed, but now don't go about so much. Work hard, improve yourself and don't talk ill of anyone, I don't like it at all. Judging others, please don't do it. Please don't judge others. In no way you should judge others, just yourself. There is no Tapasya, there is no idea that we have to improve ourselves. You have to do a lot. Nothing works out.

So today is the day we are celebrating Gaṇeśha. Now you must know that Gaṇeśha is a Tapasi. How many lectures I must have given to you. Suddenly people become so important, start doing things arbitrarily, talking big. I don't know why they do it and group formationing, there should be no group formation on any lines whatsoever. This is all Western ideas, to form groups. Or I would say also Eastern nowadays.

But not Sahaj, it's not a Sahaj idea. They won't listen, they are not very happy, [UNCLEAR] is not very happy, I can see that. One person does wrong and I suffer. Anyone of you do wrong and I suffer.

So don't put attention to others, think of you, what you have done.

He's not come, Paul has not come? I think better change name of Paul. Best thing is to change his name. Done now. All right? So now, we are going to have a hall here, a big hall for you. We'll never get drenched. Hall we are going to work out. But what about you people doing something sensible. Even now I see some people absolutely white and another some people absolutely red. All right, so may God bless you, because it's water all over. Sprinkle this water all over. We, no use worshipping Gaṇeśha, how long will he be awakened? Unless and until we develop the qualities of Gaṇeśha within he'll be there. That's it. Talking ill of others, it's very low thing. I mean it's really very, very low thing. Doesn't behoove a saint. Have you ever heard any saint talking like that? It's these modern times are really funny. I mean even the saints behave like low-bred things, how can they? I can't understand. In modern times, anything is possible under the sun these days. How can you behave like this? It's not proper. Talking ill of others, blaming others, finding faults with others. How will you rise, tell Me, how will you rise? Now I'm going to America, please pray that it is successful. They are even better than you. They don't do all these things, they don't do all these things. These are, this is a sign of our lethargy. Lethargic people only do this kind of a thing. But they do other things, they just don't listen. Pray for that. Now, they have a justification I have not worked with them. They have justification. But what about you people? I've worked with you for twelve years maximum I have worked with you, much more than India.

[Aside:] [Queries about socks.] And now today I want a promise from you, that you'll imbibe the quality of Śhrī Gaṇeśha within you.

We'll imbibe the qualities of Śhrī Gaṇeśha. The innocence, the simplicity, no more the cunning, no more talking ill about others, forming groups, nothing of the kind. Ascend. And you are so important because you are the foundation. You know without the heart you can't exist. Now Paris program has to be on Sunday morning, according to Doctor Manias. And tell Gregoire not to save on a, the amount of the, what we have to spend on the hall, he should do the proper thing. And all of you should be there for Guru Pūjā. Now don't save on that. Guru Pūjā, please come along. I don't know, Gregoire thinks he has found something. I can't listen to this big argument.

Whether you pay it or not is not the point but you come to Guru Pūjā, all of you. This is the last Pūjā you'll be having. And after that, Sunday morning there's going to be the opening ceremony of The Advent in French. And after Doctor Narayan Singh is going to come. If you people want to invite someone like that you can invite them. Also inform other people. This is Sunday morning, Doctor Narayan Singh will be very happy to have it on Sunday morning. And, you will call him also.

All right, now can I make a move? Now I've taken a promise from you and you are not going to break My promise. Because you don't know, unless and until you are Gaṇeśhas, I cannot bear you within Myself.

Anybody talking ill of anyone, tell them to shut up. Maria you don't listen to that stupid girl. Why did you listen to her? You know she is stupid, I have told you about it, one should not be naive about it. You have told, she's very stupid and she requires a real correction.

Maria: [answers].

Shri Mataji: Who told you that? Maria: [answers].

Shri Mataji: You and Tony should be on one frequency. Now how do you become in frequency with is wife? She's a stupid girl. Yes, but whatever she does, you cannot change your frequency Maria. I don't now how you people change your frequency. This is a thing I don't understand. You are a sensible woman, all right, now how can you be on the same frequency as her, she's a stupid girl. Unless and until she improves her frequency, she cannot be on your frequency. Instead of you improving her frequency, you go down to her frequency.

Maria: [answers].

Shri Mataji: I don't know, but why doesn't this action come in time, why so late? Delayed actions are no good. All right. Now, don't go down with others. Pull them up. You see, tell them noble things.

If they tell you, say, somebody says this is one is like this, just tell them, don't say like that. What I do, if somebody says, I say no, it's not true, the fellow was praising you. Don't talk like that. Must learn how to make others nobler.

Maria: [questions].

Shri Mataji: It's not so difficult Maria, you lost your frequency, I could see that. There's no argument on it. Now you'll please keep it back, there's no argument about it. You see, some people bring you down, all right, you must know where you stand. Stand still on that point. You see always I've seen, anybody else can come and influence you. We must have a personality. We must have our own personality. How can anybody bring you down. Nobody can bring Me down and I am your Mother, so you should be like Me. Anybody tells you about anyone, anything happens you see, you can never solve any problem like this. First thing is, you must have your personality. And let Me see who talks in a noble way. It's very easy to become ignoble, nonsensical, cheapish, isn't it? Make others noble, when they say something tell them no, no, no, it's not right your saying. This is not virtue, this is not good sense, let's not do it. I mean no more you are bhoots now. Are you still bhoots? Always, otherwise they blame the bhoots. What about your personality, bhoots are always had a greater personality than yours. How long? A bhoot or a ego, both have greater personalities than yourselves. How am I to talk to you? Your personality is that of the spirit. Which is eternal, which is pure above everything else of [UNCLEAR]. Remember that. How can you go down to these levels, stupid levels? [Aside:] [UNCLEAR].

I can control them better than I can control you people I can tell you. They never do anything wrong, they were just trying to trouble you for a while, but they have stopped. But you stop at some point. You people go like this, you see, like a yo-yo, up and down and up and, I don't know where you people are.

Now, next time when I see you, nobody's going to look red on the face or pale on the face.

So now, for all of us, you. Take [UNCLEAR] if you have cold. We are so many things, good [UNCLEAR], good health, good mind, good heart, that's what Gaṇeśha is. Everything so innocent, so beautiful. I want him to be awakened within your heart, within your heart. We have to establish Gaṇeśha here. All right? So today, I'll establish Śhrī Gaṇeśha in this place. May God bless you all. It should not be only on the Mother Earth but in your heart. In your heart, in the heart of the universe. Everyone must come to Guru Pūjā. We have informed them about it, all right, so bye bye. All the little children, thank you, I'm going to America, all right? [Saying goodbye to children.] May God bless you! How many Pūjās we have done? Let's see, you know the other India they told Me that in India I had only one Guru Pūjā, can you believe it? One so far. Can you believe it, one Guru Pūjā and very few of them have attended when they came here. One Guru Pūjā they had. They said Mother one Guru Pūjā must give us.

[Shri Mataji baptized the two month old child of David and Madhury Dunphy as Radhika and gave her a vigorous oiling and massage. Little Radhika was later seen on the floor asleep with one hand towards Shri Mataji. Shri Mataji said:] See how they know what to do, they know the protocol.

Contents: 1985-05-28 Talk to Sahaja Yogis (Kuṇḍalinī Power and Creation) and Conversations, Morning at Dr. VinodWorlikar's House, 17301 Maria Avenue, Cerritos (SE of Los Angeles), CA, U.S.A.

[Short talk and the first question on whether was an electromagnetic force or not are missing. The answer to the first question follows:] So we'll not go too far with the creation, but we have to start it from some point, that first it was just Parabrahma and when this energy Parabrahma was in silence, then nothing was there, just silence. From that [too] it was awakened that a human being can sleep, in the same way it was sleeping. Then the desire was awakened that there should be creation.

So the desire was emitted out, out of the being, all around and so we have two powers created. The first one is the power of God Almighty what we call, is the power of desire of God Almighty and God Almighty Himself.

So the first was the Ādi Shakti, power of God's desire. Now this Ādi Shakti who is the power of God, was, was the Ādi Māyā, is the first one.

So the Parabrahma became divided into two parts. One was the God Almighty, Sadāśhiva and the Ādi Shakti.

So the first power was created. Then the Ādi Shakti was asked to create. And so if you read My chapter on creation which I've written down, you'll see how Omkāra was created and all that. But we'll go further with it. That it took three shapes. Before becoming the three shapes, Ādi Shakti herself had to assume the ego, `cause She had to create. With human beings is the other way round. When they do something, they develop ego. But God has to have ego to develop something, because His ego is real.

So She then, in Her ego created three powers, we can say, in general, because to make it short.

So first She entered on this Universe as the desire power which we have on the left hand side. And then this desire power went into another power which we can call as the action power. The same desire power created out of Her the action power. Unless and until there is desire power, there cannot be action.

And with the interaction of these two the evolutionary power was created. Now the Ādi Shakti Itself is the residual power because it created all the powers and still it remained residual.

So the fourth power is the Kuṇḍalinī, which is the reflection of the Ādi Shakti in the human beings.

So the power which was the action power, the physical side, was created.

It's very interesting how the Mother Earth was created also. She, the power of Sun, created the Mother Earth, in the sense the gases around it moved in such a way that it formed a big ball of gases, because they have the circulatory action. And how the circulatory action came in is also very interesting thing. That when the Ādi Shakti started creating, She started from, say, this point. She went down, this is a [remblai] and She went back. Again She did like this. And at a point She used to turn round and create a center like this. Then the whole thing became a thick mass of energy. Then it would crack. When it would crack with the same inertia every particle would move like that. And when every particle would move like that, then all the angularities of that mass would be cut off and it will become round. That's how a Maṇḍala was created, or you can say a Sūrya Maṇḍala was created.

Then the Mother Earth which was very hot was taken nearer the moon which was very cool. First the moon was created. It was very cool.

So by putting the Sun and the moon very far away, they created the moon which had cooled down very much, had become absolutely cool.

So first the Mother Earth was taken towards the moon quite a lot. Now, see, in the Nāḍīs also it happens. Was taken too much to the left because of the desire power. And then it was cooled out. When it cooled out it flows. It all was covered with ice. Then it was brought back to the sun. That's how the water was created. And then it was brought back again in the center and placed at a point where life could be produced. It was all done. It's not just happened. It was all done. That's the point one must understand.

Now this energy on the right hand side which started creating universes, as I showed you how it created universes, it first produced the physical part of it and that is what is the electromagnetic force. But then out of all this the Mother Earth created carbon. As soon as she created the carbon through the effect of the electricity that is Viṣhṇumāyā, the carbon got attached to the hydrogen and the oxygen. These are, left side is the hydrogen, right side is the oxygen. And that's how amino acids were formed. First the amino acids were formed. That's how the Prāṇa started.

So first it was just the electromagnetic force which became Prāṇa.

So in the electromagnetic field you will find there are vibrations clearly shown asymmetric, symmetric vibrations are there. Say if you take a sulfur dioxide as one of the molecules, you'll find sulfur has got two oxygens vibrating it. But it is just the electromagnetic force. It's just one force, out of the one energy which is out of the three energies.

Now the second force started called as Prāṇa on the right hand side which ultimately created the mind, the brain.

So when you get realised then it becomes Praṇava.

So from electromagnetic to Prāṇa, from Prāṇa to Praṇava. Pra means enlightened.

The left side is the power of the emotions. Because, you see, English is a very funny language, it doesn't discriminate. I don't know how to say, because mind is the same as the Spirit and Spirit as the mind is a big confusion.

What it means that the Manasa, which is the mind according to Sanskrit language, Manasa is the left hand side. Is the Manasa which we call the superego. And the ego is ahaṁkāra.

So they have two things, ahaṁkāra.

So with the right side you produce ahaṁkāra; with the left side you produce mānasa.

So the left is the power of the Manasa, the emotional power on the left hand side. Now when you get realised then these two powers join together.

So Praṇava starts.

First is like this I would say, to give you a very, very gross example is this way. That I come from, say, India and I go to England.

So I carry a tape recorder, we could say. I go on taping everything, accumulating all the knowledge, understanding everything what has happened and all that. Then again I go back, carrying all the knowledge; is like that.

So the energy first was innocent energy, [UNCLEAR became/become] nascent, it became active, it carried the whole thing, the knowledge with it. And then it's relieved.

Like I can come to America, take a tape recorder, tape everything, whatever has happened, go back and reveal it.

So the revelation then comes to you. And now you can trace it back again. This is the play, this is the Māyā; that's all. Did you follow this point? No? This is Māyā again.

It's like this, you see. All the energy was, first of all was Mahāmāyā, all right? We can say, the Mahāmāyā, or we can say the Ādi Shakti. Now, She created out of Her, one thing [UNCLEAR is/as] the desire. She created another thing as the action and action had two things. One is just to produce first of all the matter through electromagnetic force and then second part is to, out of the same electromagnetic force with the help of the action and reaction, to create the higher force which is Prāṇa and with the action of these two, as I said, told you, that electricity acted to create the first amino acids. When the amino acids came into existence, the amino acids became later on the Prāṇa, in the sense that this higher part of electromagnetic exposure started as an integration.

And [Hindi] Viṣhṇumāyā [Hindi], carbon electricity [Hindi].

Carbon was created by Mother Earth and then through the carbon, you see, fire created the carbon and the carbon through the earth. The carbon came out and it got mixed up with hydrogen and oxygen.

Hydrogen comes from left and oxygen from the right. That's how then amino acids act. Then the Prāṇa started.

So the whole thing became the Prāṇa, right side. The lower portion is the electromagnetic; the higher portion is the Prāṇa.

Now this Prāṇa started and with this Prāṇa people, we can say that they tried to control Prāṇa and all those things. On the right hand side, they wrote Vedas, where they tried to control electromagnetic forces by [UNCLEAR shutis/srutis] mantras and all those things, you see. That was a right side movement, through fire and everything.

The left side people we are having these Manas Shaktis. Mānas Shakti is the power of emotions. They felt that they should pray to God and ask for God's help and devotion and dedication.

So two movements was started.

The third movement was in the center. The center movement was that it has become from carbon to amino acids, from amino acids to human beings. Now from human beings it has to become Brahma, last thing.

So how to do that? That was the last work to be done.

So as I was explaining to you, it is like this, that the Ādi Shakti first of all took a form of all these three powers Herself. She created this world. She created human beings. Through the human beings She created Sahaja Yogis. And through the Sahaja Yogis She is going to reveal the truth to the whole world. You follow the point now? Like I said, I take a cassette from London, bring it here. On My way I tape record everything and I sort of enlighten it. Then I take it back and play it in London.

So people listen to it and understand it.

So now, because it could not be communicated to the creation, She had to create Sahaja Yogis. Do you follow now? So you have to play a very important role. But if the cassette is defective nothing works out. Then there I fail. Because you have got freedom; the cassette doesn't have. The engineer can improve it. But human beings, difficult.

Sahaja Yogi: Lot of self-created problems.

Shri Mataji: Self-created. Nonsensical, absolutely nonsensical. Has no meaning to reality. Has no meaning. [Hindi.] And I cannot give reasons for why it has happen like this, that why human beings went to that limit.

But we can say that Adam and Eve started the joke. If they had not done all this nonsense you would have been long time being Sahaja Yogis. Long time back it could have been done.

Sahaja Yogi: That's right, yes.

Shri Mataji: But as soon as they got their freedom they went out. Same thing with Americans. I think they are abusing their freedom just like Adam and Eve. Or anyone, all those so-called free countries.

This is not freedom; this is abandonment.

And those countries which are oppressed, like Russia, are on the left hand side.

Sahaja Yogini: Please teach us that how to raise children in America, sometimes.

Shri Mataji: What is it?

Sahaja Yogini: Could you speak to us about the best ways to raise children in America? I have two teenage children and I'm... difficult [UNCLEAR]...

Shri Mataji: Now this school will solve all the problems. It's such an emergency that now starting the school, that's the only thing. I think I should start first of all a school for Sahaja Yogis' children. Because, you see, it's, it's [Hindi]. It's burning from all the sides, you see. The best thing is to take them out for the time being. Then we'll see what we can do about this place. But I think in America if you do lots of Pūjās all of you, your individual Pūjās, your group Pūjās, you'll work it out; you'll give the compensation.

Pūjās must be done. That's one thing is lacking.

You see, have a photograph, like a decoration should not be, there should be Pūjā, Ār.ti, some of [UNCLEAR]. That helps a lot. I think that will help to counterbalance the other power. This is the only way I can think of, that Pūjās must be done with full dedication and understanding. That will solve the problem of collectivity. And, say, we and Pūjā how to do it and all that, you know very well and not that is to be taught now. But you all should be prepared for a Pūjā and should think that that is a very important part you have to do in Sahaja Yoga. Because Italy it has worked out because of Pūjās.

[UNCLEAR Gustave/Hrustave] has worked it out even in [UNCLEAR] through Pūjās. You don't have to do Havanas. Havanas are not taken because it's right-sided, not so much. Once in a while, all right, but mostly Pūjās. That will work it out. And you clear your heart also. I mean, if the people are not very clear in the heart because of the ego, you see it covers the heart, you see and there is no surrender. That's why Mohamed Sāhab talked about surrender only. Islam means surrender. You must surrender this time; surrender your ego. What can you understand through your ego? Nothing, in such a small little thing.

And then you play games with yourself, with Sahaja Yoga, with this, that. I mean, it's so low level, low level sometimes. I can't understand. These are saints. That's, that's Kali Yuga. That's, that's what is the modern times. In Kali Yuga anything can be possible. I've seen realised Souls drinking, smoking. I can't understand. [You won't get] born-realised living like that. That's only in Kali Yuga.

And the other trend has also started very much, like they are showing Christ's Mother as a woman, like an ordinary woman. They make her nude and all that. There's a picture coming up. It's all happening from Hollywood, Hollywood. Kya ek Narak hai? [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: In San Francisco, Shri Mataji, there was some gay priest who said that Christ, he was trying to say that Christ was gay. [Of] gay church.

Shri Mataji: You see, if you tell this to Indians they don't know where to go. C.P. heard it and he telephoned to Me. He said, “Have you heard something like that? I'm coming home, I can't bear it." You see, I mean, he is not a Christian in the sense he never went to church and all that, but he was so hurt and he was so surprised. He said, “Where are they going? How can they say this to Christ?" There's no sense of sacredness. But now you have seen all the miracles of Sahaja Yoga. Like yesterday we saw that film, I was saying you, Star Man. There's nothing, no tremendous miracles. Like these we have had many miracles in Sahaja Yoga.

You have seen the light coming out of My head and light coming on My hand and everything you have seen. Despite that, despite that, ego is so strong that they try to go against Sahaja Yoga. The mind is allowed to. And then you feel guilty.

So that's even [worse, worst]. That's not the way to ascend. Is too one-sidedness, because of the wisdom lacking, I think, in the people.

So we must understand; reality also means we must understand what's the problem with us is. Also that is reality.

So that you correct your problems and then see what reality is and become one with that. But if you just see the reality, that Mother is such and such and She has this power, that power and you don't see yourself, then it won't work out. If you have to react Me you have to face Me, with a clean mirror. I know it's a difficult task.

I know it's a very difficult task in America. It's not easy. [I am leaving you]. But again and again I come back here. Every time I declare, “Next time no more."

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, Americans seem to, Americans tend to go to read books about someone and become disciples of people without ever having met the person.

Shri Mataji: That's, we are having a, this translation of now, we are trying to translate this new book which is going to be published now and we are inaugurating it by [UNCLEAR Dr./Mr.] Nagendra Singh is going to inaugurate the book in, in this Guru Pūjā. Just after the Guru Pūjā we are having inauguration.

So that book we want to sort of translate and publish it in U.S. also, because our whatever Advent we have is, Gregoire wrote it in a frenzy that he has found the truth and this and that, but this one is a calm and quiet thing.

So that can go to people and they can read it, because it's all mental, you see. It is mental; whole thing is mental. They read it. They like it, mentally. “Oh, I like him." How? That's very common. “I like him. He looks nice, nice." How? Then the choices are given you, what eyes are seeing that? There's no light in the eyes. “I like him. I don't like him. I see him like this. I see him like that." It's very common, you know.

We had, I must tell you, Mrs. [Grupal] was with Me and I studied her very well. She travelled with Me and I was shocked. She would always say, “I like him." I said, “For what?" “He looks nice." “Looks what?" I didn't understand what was he looking like up there. “What is it? You don't see the vibrations.

What are you seeing?" “He looks like this and he looks like that and I like him very much." And it's so stupid that ultimately we went to Delhi. She, of course, was very troubled some [UNCLEAR there/day]; doesn't matter. But whatever it is, she was sitting in the hall listening to Me and she said, “Oh, I met a very nice man today." She said, “Oh, one fellow was sitting next to me, with a big coat. Though he was wearing a big coat he was not smelling." You see. I said, “All right." She must be trying to smell him than to see his vibrations, perhaps.

So just imagine, such an old lady like her, you see, she is at least five, six years younger to Me but has no wisdom, I don't know.

So I said, “Who is this man?" So I found out that he is a tramp, is a beggar in India, who comes to My program, I don't know, sometimes and sits in the front and he was sitting next to her. She liked him very much.

So, how do you explain? Her likes and dislikes were so funny, you can't imagine. It's all mental, so mental, that I studied her well and then I told her, “It's all you mental ideas." We went to somebody's house, to stay, very nice, in Jaipur.

So as soon as she went there she said, “You haven't got a dressing room with this." I was quite amazed and I don't see whether there is dressing room or not and all that. Like that, you see. Then she went to a hotel. I told her, “My house must be at least five times bigger than yours and much more comfortable. If I can stay here why can't you stay?" “Oh, I felt I was uncomfortable." She didn't feel uncomfortable; she felt she was uncomfortable. Means she stayed in a hotel and she couldn't come to My Pūjā. What you say to that? That's the best part of it.

Then I studied the thing. You see, she was looking at everyone who looks nice, who looks bad, this thing, that thing. And she looks so old now. All the time [Odin] was saying, “Poor her, look at this old woman." I said, “Now she is six years younger to Me. All the time if you go on saying poor old woman, what about Me? You have no sympathies for My age? All the sympathies are gone for her?" Poor old woman, poor old... And for what? Because of this load unnecessary she's looking so older. [Bent down], unnecessarily.

Sahaja Yogi: It seems tragic, Shri Mataji. We went to, looking for some material the other day, to [advertise] as a Sahaja Yogi, in a book store. And there was a young lady there, such a scholar and they worship Śhrī Rāma and then Rāma Kṛiṣhṇa people, were his wife and his disciples.

Shri Mataji: And both were ignoramus. They couldn't talk a word of English, both of them. They didn't know anything. They could not explain anything. He used to dance like a mad man. That's all.

Sahaja Yogi: He dressed, he used to dress in a sarī.

Shri Mataji: He dressed in a sarī. He dressed like a Muslim. He dressed like he was a dramatist, big dramatist. And now his disciples are suffering from cancer. That's a very important thing.

Sahaja Yogi: Such a waste... Lot of noise [get people that].

Shri Mataji: And they think they it's traditional in which, which traditional [film] you have heard Rāma used to dance like frenzy or Kṛiṣhṇa used to dance... in rhythm. It's all right. Rāma used to dance, not dance, Kṛiṣhṇa, which is said, he would not dance himself but, you see, his image is like this, sort of rās, rās is this. If you see his dancing, his hands going like this, like a mad cap. He was a mad cap, no doubt. And all those who follow him are mad. Actually, in India when we went to a program in Solapur, an old man came. He said, “I hope your Sahaja Yoga is not going to make bad people." I said, “Why?" He said, “My, my son who is a doctor follow the Rām Kṛiṣhṇa and he has become mad."

Shri Mataji: Is a bhoot, nothing but a bhoot, what he is. And because Vivekananda was a right-sided, he was impressed by bhoots, you see. They are all impressed by bhoots. If I dress up like a bhoot your Americans will be very happy to see Me. To be like a beggar. I should be like a beggar, you know, all tattered and torn, walking like this. Then they will last accept, because egos like that kind of a thing. I mean, in New York I felt everybody walking like a beggar there. Torn clothes, you see, all these hanging there. You see, because they are right-sided they want to pretend that they are left-sided. It's a big joke, you see, from here to there, there to here, like that, left to the right, right to the left. First they took to hippyism, because they want to be anti-culture, this, that.

So they went to the other side. Now they are taking to the drugs which are right-sided, like cocaine, this thing, that thing.

So which, you see if you play with your being so much, what can you do? You are destroying it completely and collectively. I mean, cocaine I don't know how many, fifteen million people are taking cocaine in [England]. Fifteen million.

Gone cases. They came to Me in Rome and they were sitting before Me, these cocaine takers. They all going to do, “Oho, that happen." I said, “Doesn't matter. Just take it easy." But it was rather funny for Me. I'd never seen anybody with the cocaine. But next day they were all like normal. They have given up. But who is going to listen to as they will have military, they'll have everyone, but nobody is going to listen to Me that you can give up...

... The Anglo-Saxon's brain won't accept that you say you should not pay any money for Sahaja Yoga.

I said, “For this high-level people there is no Sahaja Yoga." They can't understand that you can give Sahaja Yoga without paying any money.

So I said, “Really? Then, you tell Me from your Anglo-Saxon's brain how much should I charge them?" He said, “Millions." I said, “Really? That's it. Then you think millions will do compensating for what I give them?" Then he started thinking of it. That's an ego trick going on, you see. They talk. I've seen them, in the other life of Mine, where I see in the parties and all that. “Oh, have you been to that Guru?" “No, it's rather expensive." “Try. It's good." It's like trying on a horse. Very superficial. Try something new, you see. New, new should be tried. A new wife, new clothes, new style, new everything, new cars, new things. You shouldn't have anything of permanent nature. Everything should be tried new. Everything should become a junk within one year's time.

Sahaja Yogi: It's terrible.

Shri Mataji: How will they like something that is eternal, that is the Spirit? Changeless. The houses are built in these days, buildings are built in these days in such a manner that it is easy to dismantle that.

That's the basic.

Sahaja Yogi: It's prefabricated everything they have. When they had the time, most of them do.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. Moreover, it is built deliberately like that you can dismantle it. Unscrew it and screw it up again. But why do all these monkey tricks? Why not have once for all something nice, sensible? That attitude is not there. Then how can you have eternal? How will you care for eternal life? These are all the problems. [Hindi.] So now what is the next plan for you people? [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] So will reach about four o'clock.

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: We can't say. [Hindi.] What time is the program? Sahaja Yogis: Seven p.m. Seven o'clock.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] You don't worry about the lunch part, ha? When I'll reach there by four o'clock, as he said, maybe earlier, maybe later, I don't know. Then I'll take some rest. Then we'll have the San Diego program and then the day after tomorrow again we can have.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] God has to just see it, not to eat. I must put in it.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, just put one of the hands on her Sahasrār and a hand opened towards you...

Shri Mataji: A?

Sahaja Yogi: Just the other hand on the Sahasrār and one pointed towards You...

Shri Mataji: Say now.

Sahaja Yogi: Asleep.

Shri Mataji: How [may be as it is]? Take her a photograph. They are very sensitive children but what happens in this atmosphere? They get all ruined. Even realised Souls I've seen, there are many realised Souls who get lost. The atmosphere is funny. But what happened to Ursula and all that are not coming to the program?

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: No, she never came?

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: Maybe I may not be there. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogini: But she wants to come Sunday night here. [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi about Guru Pūjā].

Sahaja Yogi: That's right.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi about Switzerland].

Sahaja Yogi: They're coming to the Pūjā, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Yes, you see. There are these Guru Pūjās. Now, only three Pūjās this time [to give].

See, I think it is a, actually they are starting on, for Me of course I am going there earlier, because I have to go to Spain and three days they have: Friday, that is the 28th of June, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

But Sunday morning is that opening ceremony, for which all the Sahaja Yogis will be there. And the Guru Pūjā is on the 29th morning. 29th morning and Thursday is the and the Friday, Friday you all are arriving there, Friday.

So the seminar will be like Friday, part of it and Saturday and Sunday morning is the opening of this thing.

So it's more for the Pūjā than for the seminar as such, but will be good idea. Pūjā itself, it's great. And I'm going to Spain on Tuesday, Wednesday; then to Paris. Whole week is locked on like that. Then, you wanted Me to go to Switzerland in July. But I don't know, for we have Switzerland earlier now, in June.

So first I will go to Switzerland. [Hindi.] I've brought such a lot of chocolates from India. They were all consumed.

Sahaja Yogini: And from London. They were all consumption.

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Style of Our Existence (or Sahaj Behavior), Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

That's a very [UNCLEAR], [you could read] stanza [UNCLEAR if you/if I] can remember by heart, I'll say it again. [Hindi.] Second part of it [Hindi]. The second part is...

So the first part, as I told you, is the spirit which we must bow to, which is the Sat-chit-ānanda, the one which gives you truth, the enlightened attention and the joy and which takes you beyond the fourth dimension, [Hindi] which is awake under the three conditions of our consciousness. There are three conditions of our state, of our consciousness.

The first is the sleeping condition, when we are [UNCLEAR sleeping/sleepy]. Another is the awakened and sushupti is beyond, beyond the sleep. In all these state, consciousness, it is awake. That Brahma, that All-pervading Power, I am that [prap] All-pervading Power that Brahma, not the combination of five elements. I'm not just the combination of five elements [Hindi] but I'm that All-pervading Power, that Ātmā which connects you to that All-pervading Power and I'm not just this reactor which is the combination of five elements.

Just when you think like that early in the morning you just rise above and then you do not start with mundane ideas about life, but you start your ideas and understanding, your behaviour, your whole lifestyle starts from that angle that, “I'm that; I'm not this." And the whole pattern changes. That doesn't mean you should be serious; that doesn't mean that. You are in joy, but the style of our existence has a very different pattern and a different tune and a different colour, which is very easy for Sahaja Yogis, not difficult, because you are already there. Only thing, you must feel your atmosphere around you, where are you.

Otherwise I'll go on giving lectures.

Only problem comes when you become a mother. Then you feel very concerned and worried; that's all.

Otherwise, it is quite self-explanatory, the situation that exists. What to do? You want to do something about it. But they think they are obliging us. But traditionally, Indians are lucky people, I think [Hindi].

Like Avdut we have there. Now he is married. He's going to France. I don't know, he's going to get a shock after shocks there.

So innocent, he is very simple-hearted fellow.

So he says to Me, Avdut [Pai], “Mother why do the", when he was very young, “why do the boys and girls leave their parents in the West?" So I said, “They think they should be independent." He said, “But then the bhoots of the parents, do they leave them or not? If you leave your parents will the bhoots leave you?" I said, “May be, may not be. Depends on the bhoots." “Nothing on us?" I said, “Yes, it also depends on you but it's nothing sure." Then he said, “No use leaving the parents also because the bhoots are not going to leave you." But with the parents there's one thing; new bhoots cannot come to you first of all. Supposing you want to smoke, then your father will tell you, “Don't smoke." But if you go away from your parents then the bhoots will tell you, “You smoke." You'll smoke. You'll do everything; so at least there's some [UNCLEAR Jake/check] in the house. That's an innocent thinking, you know, just innocent.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.] He went to [UNCLEAR] and drives here also.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: Ha.

Shri Mataji: All the way from Vancouver? All the way from Vancouver you've come?

Sahaja Yogini: [UNCLEAR Correct/It's all right/In the car].

Shri Mataji: How many days?

Sahaja Yogini: Two and a half.

Shri Mataji: It's our [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: Nothing is too far to travel to see You, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Ah?

Sahaja Yogi: No one thinks it's too far to come and travel to see You.

Shri Mataji: It's quite a lot, I must say, two and a half days [with children].

So what is happening in Vancouver now? Let's have it.

Sahaja Yogini: I have not been living in the center, Mother, but from what I've been told from talking with Lauren and Carrie, centers are looking very neat and more people are coming to meditations. It's becoming really heartening that the turnout and the response to You, it's becoming very positive, [I hear].

They have three or four regular people going now which has just started the last three or four months. It's just nothing else, I guess.

Shri Mataji: I'm very happy to hear that. Because she wrote Me a very desperate letter few months back. Here's the Pūjās have helped a lot, I think. [That's true]. They have to be serious about it. It's a, the thing is now or never. Question is like that: now or never. And the emergency is to be felt and if it is felt in the atmosphere people will turn to Sahaja Yoga, will turn. But first of all Sahaja Yogis have to be that proper, you see. They should be very proper people. That's the main point. They fight among themselves, they talk ill about each other, they play games, they plan against each other. Then how can Sahaja Yoga spread? [Hindi.] His father was one of the first Sahaja Yogis and both of them dedicated their life to Sahaja Yoga. Actually, when he died I was not there; I had gone to Australia where I came to know about it. But every Sahaja Yogi felt tremendously about it. And now when we will be having our school...

Sahaja Yogi: Right, yes.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Her contribution hai. [Hindi.] He's the one who had that experience. In his absence he said that I went and represented him in the court. Did you hear that miracle? Sahaja Yogis: Oh, yes. Yes, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: And mother was also [Hindi]. He is so dedicated; so dedicated he was. His sense of gratitude [Hindi].

Sahaja Yogi: Bara, bara.

Shri Mataji: I mean, he had such sense of gratitude for Me that I gave him Realisation that very few people I find with that depth, that they feel it. I mean, his life was completely dedicated to Sahaja Yoga, absolutely. And he understood Sahaja Yoga so well, very intelligent man. I'll miss him very much.

But it so happened when he was very sick, not very sick in the sense he was moving about, but I wanted to see him before going to Australia. And thrice I tried and I couldn't go. Then I was wondering why I can't reach him because there was a big crowd for a meeting once. One day, there was a strike; they wouldn't allow us to go. Third day something happened. Three times I just could not go and see him.

So I was wondering why it is, but I thought that maybe that the Divine does not want Me to see him like that, in that condition; doesn't want Me to see that because that could hurt Me very much. I'd seen him absolutely always very healthy. I never saw him sick.

Sahaja Yogi: No, no. He used to have good health, that's why, at that age.

Shri Mataji: Very good health [Hindi]. Mother was a composer. She used to make poems herself and then she used to compose them in melodies. And she was herself a musician. She's a very good housewife.

She suffered a lot in her life, I think, because of her, one of the sons was cursed by some horrible Gurus who came in the house, that all his life history should be written down for people to understand. They were very nice people, good people, husband and wife and this boy was very intelligent and some people came in their house, you see. They said, “We want to stay over for overnight. We are Sādhus." So they thought, “Sādhus are our guests, after all." So they allowed them to stay in the house. The stayed on for about eight days and these people looked after them, did this and that. And then the son discovered that they were very bad people and the father also. He took them out.

So they did something to the son.

So it's very dangerous.

So the father said to Me one thing which was really very important. He said that, “Without Self-realisation you cannot make out who is good and who is bad and there was no discretion on my part to allow these people to come in the house. I thought they are Sādhus and we should not say `no' to them." They talked so well because in India everybody knows about Spirit. Talking is very easy.

[Hindi.] “Don't part. We all know everything by heart." So to talk about God, it's very easy for them.

And there are so many like that. We had one fellow called as Gulab Baba. His father was working with My husband in Shipping Corporation and the father said that, “He's such a vagabond and he's such a horrible fellow that I don't know what to do with my son.

So you give him a job on the ship." He was given a job on the ship.

So he went on the ship to, to know, to all over the places he went. And he was the purser on the ship; they call it a purser. He tried to take away all the purse on the ship and he smuggled things, did all sorts of things that are possible under the sun.

So they had to ask him to get out of the job. [Hindi.] His name was Chotu. And when he came back My husband had to tell him, “I can't keep you on the job because, you see, this is the purser's job and in the way you have done the whole thing is just against any government rules and regulations.

So we can't keep you there." So he was driven out of the job. And the father died just after that.

So the son disappeared after some time from Bombay [Mumbai] and the mother came to see Me and she said that, “He told me that he would like to do some business.

So we have put our house on loan, we have mortgaged our house, we have given all our property, all our jewelry, everything to him. And he's gone for a business and we are left high and dry. We don't know what to do. Now the people have come and they want us to get out of the house." Because that time we had come to London. I said, “All right, I'll ask Shipping Corporation if they can give you temporary help or something." So they arranged for a house for her for a while. She was very upset about the whole thing. After a year I went back. She said that, “He has again purchased the house and he's given everything back to us and we got everything, all mortgages are over and he's sending us also money but I don't know what is he doing, what, what business he has done." She couldn't make it up for some time. Then after two, three years she told Me that he has become Gulab Baba. Oho. And he was working it out in Nagpur, of all the places.

So, some people came and told us that there's, there's one fellow called Gulab Baba who has come, is showing funny miracles and he is just trying to befool people. Like he went to one place and he said, “Now the water is going to come out of this place." And when he hit there the water started coming out. And there's was actually a municipal pipe down there. And he had arranged it in such a way that with a slightest hit the thing should come out. And then the people started beating him. He ran away and all that.

So I told this man, “You go and tell Gulab Baba that I'm coming to Nagpur and I want to meet you." He ran away from Nagpur forever. That's My place, Nagpur, [UNCLEAR and/all] My brothers are from that place.

So for Americans it is necessary to give bandhan to the Sikhs of America. It's very important.

Because of the misunderstandings they had or whatever happened politically, now the stay of foreigners in India is limited to only three months and going to India itself is rather difficult. You have to take a special permission and all that. You have to take a visa now to go to India. Formerly there was no visa required. Did you take a visa when you came last time?

Sahaja Yogi: To India?

Shri Mataji: India.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Mother.

Shri Mataji: See.

Sahaja Yogi: There I had a visa the first time.

Shri Mataji: First time. I mean, it was an open place to go. But also this Yogi Bhajan is the one who has created another problem because he converted them into Sikhism and they are the ones who carried lot of arms, ammunitions. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: That's right.

Shri Mataji: Both of them were realised Souls. They are in their joy, will take their birth again to help us out. But they are perfectly all right. They have no problems of any kind.

So I am just telling him that they have done their duty. They have really contributed so much that God is very much pleased with them and you will be blessed, children will be blessed for what good they have done for everybody else. And you should also follow their pattern, that they lived for others, never for themselves. Selfishness [Hindi]. Never, no selfishness at all. We lived for others. [Hindi.] So I would like to baptize the baby now. [Hindi.] Olive oil [Hindi] she is better. [UNCLEAR] rather cold. Aj birthday, that's it. Today she's all right. Today she's all right. Slept well? [Shri Mataji is speaking with Sahaja Yogis and with the baby in Hindi.] Normally they don't cry for nothing at all. They use to preserve their energies. We are also sending one gentleman there, in, where she got, [Mona]? Sahaja Yogis: Mona? Here...

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Ha. This Bala, Bala is coming to Montreal, but Montreal is more a French side, I think. He said that he will try to establish something there. He's quite powerful. But later on he's getting a job here.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: I spoke to him. [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi] got a job. She got him a job, this one is. And then they got one job who came forward and then the second one. But they said for emigration will take six months more.

So that's why he was going to... He was working with Rolls-Royce.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, are va.

Shri Mataji: Ha, Rolls-Royce. But in England they are paid very low, very low, very low.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, I see.

Shri Mataji: Even Rolls-Royce and all that paid so little that it is better to be a road builder or a garbage cleaner than to be an engineer there.

Sahaja Yogi: That's right.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR Money wised/Money-wise]. They have no respect for education, no respect. That way Australia is differently made. But this is coming everywhere. Even Sweden, Norway, they do not care for education much. For higher education, they do not care. Even in [UNCLEAR many type/maritime] activities they don't want to educate people in, on the higher level, just make them technicians, that's all. They want to make them technicians.

Sahaja Yogi: Trades require [in Australia].

Shri Mataji: Trade, later, trades, trades. I don't know what is the logic, but that's what they are going to do. Engineer [Hindi conversation with a Sahaja Yogi]. This computer is a very dangerous sign again. You see, it can become a monster itself.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, is that right?

Shri Mataji: Yes, it can. It can go out of your hands. If it starts acting, you see, you have to be very careful.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.] [Shri Mataji talking in Hindi with a Sahaja Yogi.]

Sahaja Yogi: That's why it is going to be out of control, they say, by mistake.

Shri Mataji: By mistake [Hindi]. One split second [Hindi]. Simple thing is, “Don't fight." Russians and Americans, there is no need for them to fight at all. I mean… This is a Kṛiṣhṇa bhumi. It's Rāma only, isn't it? And Russia was made by Luv and China was made by Kush.

So they are fighting against their father.

[Shri Mataji talking in Hindi with a Sahaja Yogi about Luv and Kush.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] The country is called as Kushar, Kushar country. [Hindi.] We have got lots of proofs. Already there are some families, Indian families called as Luv who are staying there in, in Caucasus. They came down. And there's a temple of the Goddess of Hindu [Leelā] there, in, on their way to Caucasus. And the whole, if you see, Chinese language has so much of Marathi words, that I was amazed. Like they say Mao Tse Dung, Tse is only Marathi. Have you heard `tse' anybody says? Only the Chinese and Indians speak that `tse' and so many words are Marathi, so many. And the Russians have one Marathi word, which is very common, is sakhar.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, is that right?

Shri Mataji: Sakhar, sakhar bolo.

Sahaja Yogi: Sakhar? Sakhar like that? Wow!

Shri Mataji: So many words are so common, that's surprising. And I could pronounce their words very clearly.

So they were surprised. They said, “How do I know Russian?" and then they became suspicious.

Same with Chinese. And in a way, you can see that wisdom in their heads, you see. Both are very wise people. They are not stupid, [UNCLEAR like/that] the Americans are. They are not stupid people, very clever. And I don't know if the cleverness is going to work out the things. Like see now, the one wisdom they have shown, Russians, that they had a barter system with India. They said, “All right, whatever we will send you, you instead give us rupees for that." All the machinery, that junk they had, they sold us and took the rupees. Out of that they bought our carpets, [UNCLEAR stipple layers/stabilizers] and also beautiful laces and then this and that. If you go into their houses you won't believe; they had all palaces.

They live so well. Very wise people. You see, to get it in rupees and get all the handmade things from India at a cheap rate and they also asked us to make very beautiful crockery for them.

So India is making these things. Crockery started because of them. Beautiful crockery.

So if you go to their houses you'll be amazed, how many things they have in so cheap rate, handmade things. They have got all kind of Leopard's coats, this coat, that coat, all kinds of things from India they have. Very clever people. The other wisdom these Chinese have shown that they developed [the village] I should say wiser than Indians, because they developed their villages first. They took all the ideas of Gandhiji. First they developed their villages and now they are developing their cities.

So they have done everything so fast. We were the other way round, see. We became British.

Sahaja Yogi: Developed the cities.

Shri Mataji: We pay for it. We developed the cities.

So we are paying for this. We thought Gandhiji was no good. But they were so wise.

So you see, they show the, that wisdom, or I say the Maharashtrian wisdom in them, because Sītājī lived in Maharashtra for so many years, you see.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi about Shivaji]. They are so fond of Shivaji; that's something surprising, Russians are.

So fond of Shivaji and also fond, of course, Mahatmaji very much. Surprising it is. How they picked up these things from Gandhiji, I don't understand. This Mao is the one who did everything.

So many plans that Gandhiji had, they have worked it out. Like in India they said, “He is stupid, this, that." Nobody would pay attention. We, we were all egoistical like English not to see the sense. One of the plans Gandhiji had was very sensible, that took the big canals along the roads and to put fishes in the canals and also to be used for extra transport, you see, through the boats and all that. Same thing they did it.

Every road has got canals on both the sides and the same canals when they are overflowing are also used for giving water to their plants, I mean fields. Same thing, so many things that Gandhiji has done it, they have used.

But, you see, our bureaucrats are all educated in English language and I don't know what they are to do. It's a big mess. And also they had no discretion. Like our telephone system in India is thanks to the French. French put that telephone system in India and you know how it is working. This is all done by French. Can you believe it? It's the French people who did this. Now we can't change it. The whole thing they have spoilt it. Such self-opinionated people like French. Why should you have asked the French to do it? Whatever they did, they made a mess.

And another wisdom Russians have, they have another very great wisdom, which Americans don't have. This is the trouble with them; they must learn this wisdom is, that whenever you give something to someone, have grace about it; otherwise, whatever you give it's lost. Russians are very clever. They'll give this little but they'll have such a grace you see with it that people feel attached to it. This is also a basic wisdom. While here, they have given help to us in India. Like they sent us the worst wheat possible because they dumped their wheat here.

So that wheat they sent us. Out of that wheat they mixed it up with some sort of an acacia. That acacia when they took it out, I mean, most of the women threw away that wheat.

And that acacia had a kind of a seed in it, God knows what was that, that it grew into huge big trees of thorns. [Hindi.] They call it a mad acacia. And the thorns are poisonous. And once we were having a program and Alan Nix who was the only American we had and the thorns went into him. Of course, we cured him but I mean it happened like that. And then they gave a kind of rice also. No, this happened in India, acacia thing came with the rice. And the and the, the wheat you see, wheat was so bad that Indians couldn't eat it.

So they threw it away and out of that wheat came out the monster called congress grass.

They call it a congress grass because you have a congress here.

So they call it congress grass. It started eating up all the fields, everything.

So when the people came to Me, they said, “Mother, do something about it. We don't know how to destroy it." “You cannot destroy it. You have to dig up the whole thing for ten feet; then you might be able to destroy it, so bad it is." Then it rained and rained and rained for seven days and the whole thing got completely finished. Otherwise, they didn't know what to do; it was eating every crop, everything in Maharashtra.

So they think by aggressiveness, by showing off, people are interested. They are not. And then you commit mistakes like this, that you go and visit the SS people to... [Hindi.] People don't like it even in America all that. They don't like it, I know. But this is the situation here. To do such a thing was very, very wrong, I think, because nobody liked it. An adamant [huh].

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: What's wrong? That has brought down the image of America verily.

Sahaja Yogi: They think they can buy anything with money.

Shri Mataji: Aā?

Sahaja Yogi: They think they can buy anything with money, including people also.

Shri Mataji: Including people. [Hindi.] Any self-respect nahin milega.

Sahaja Yogi: Self-esteem ekdam [completely] low.

Shri Mataji: Self respect nahin hai. You see, it's through tradition only one learns graciousness.

Those people who are not traditional cannot learn graciousness.

So at least take to certain traditions of being gracious. You see in India how people are gracious; you have been there now. They may be poor but how gracious they are. “It's bad manners to say this. It's bad manners to do that." Here it's very common. [Hindi.] “I have no mangos, nothing." She asked Me, “Have you got mangos? Have you got [masala]?" I said, “Nothing of the kind, I haven't got anything." [Hindi] diplomatic passport hai.

Sahaja Yogi: Barabar.

Shri Mataji: And they are not supposed to touch us. And she said, “No, but you are not here for diplomatic things." So first question she asked, she was with Me, she said, “Who is she to You? Why are you going together?" I said, “She is My friend." She said, “What is your relationship? Where did you meet?" I said, “You are not supposed to ask all these questions [UNCLEAR to/from] Me." She said, “Now you open everything." [Hindi.] I told her also. She would not listen.

[Shri Mataji talking in Hindi with Sahaja Yogis.]

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji I've been already instructing [UNCLEAR Masha/Marshal] from the State Department [that have been here] today.

Shri Mataji: No, no, what I am saying, let him write also.

Sahaja Yogi: As well...

Shri Mataji: It's very good. Because we can say she was My guest. She was coming...

Sahaja Yogi: And about that we want this person who spoke to You in such a way to be disciplined and this will be the end of the matter. This is just informing them that things would be happening from above as we are phoning upwards.

So then we'll be telling him that people will be contacted, You know, from the top downwards, just to let them know.

Shri Mataji: Should we do that much [UNCLEAR]?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Shri Mataji, yes.

Shri Mataji: Then she has no business to ask so many questions. When I said, “She is My friend." “Now what is your relationship? Where did You meet her?" I said, “You are not supposed to ask all that.

As long as I said she is My friend, all right." She said, “I'm supposed to." And she said, I said, “This is diplomatic." She said, “Yes, but You have not come for diplomatic thing.

So I can see everything." And she didn't. You see what you should put in, that see didn't see hers, so that racialism is a order to her head. She's a racist, she was. There was no need for her to behave like this. Even she knew little bit of Hindi, I think, because an Indian men said, “She is a mad woman, you see, pagal hai." She said “Pagal nahi hai."

Sahaja Yogi: Ah! She said that?

Shri Mataji: And in Argentina [Hindi] ambassador [Hindi] “I'll meet You outside as I'm going out." He thought I'll be just following him because he, too, had a passport and I had the same passport, diplomatic passport.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi speaking about Americans].

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.] The pilot came in. They harassed him right during the flight.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: For six cans of milk that were going for emergency to feed some child in India.

Shri Mataji: But why?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, they, they think, You know if he is, late it was, what do you call, two shoulder bags, you know, one shoulder bag, regular shoulder bag and this was additional bag which will inform them that there is an emergency.

Another Sahaja Yogi: Discretion [Hindi].

Shri Mataji: [Hindi] we have. That they cannot take over, you see. It's an international law. And drug is different. I mean, I don't look like a woman, a sixty-three-year-old woman, is she going carry drugs from London? I'm coming from London. Will I carry drugs from London to America? What is there to carry from London to America? Is going from America to London.

Sahaja Yogi: Right. You are right.

Shri Mataji: Nahin, nahin, aggression hai. [Hindi] she was very aggressive, that's all. I mean, there should be same case behind it. I was coming from London.

So why will I carry drug all the way from London to this place? From America, actually. America must be censured more. They are carrying AIDS all over.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, they are.

Shri Mataji: They are to be disinfected. Actually, they should be. In London, you know, AIDS has spread so much, so widely spread. [Hindi.] And they are all saying they went to America and that's how they've got it. One fellow who came to America got it here. He went to Australia. We cured him, but again he got it back from another American woman there.

So what are we to do now with these Americans also? They must be told that they should behave themselves. [Hindi.] We cured him, Crosby. He says that that fellow was suffering from the same trouble and I went to see him. “But why did you see him? What was the need?" He said, “Because he was doing TM. I was also doing TM. I wanted to tell him about Sahaja Yoga." Just imagine.

Sahaja Yogi: [Marathi.]

Shri Mataji: [Marathi.]

Sahaja Yogi: [Marathi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] “Mātājī You are lawyer of lawyers because, you see, whenever he had any problem I used to tell him [Hindi]." So I always said that I don't understand human laws. He said, “Then how do you know this?" [Hindi.] How to depend on anyone because she was so sincere and [he] would achieve everything. All their marriages, he got them registered, everything. Now I think we are going to also register our name as a religion in India, Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma [Hindi].

So would all the marriages that take place through this will be called [Hindi].

Sahaja Yogi: Instead of Arya Samajh Wedding.

Shri Mataji: Aā?

Sahaja Yogi: Instead of Arya Samajh weddings we have Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma weddings.

Shri Mataji: Vishwa Nirmalā weddings. That's it.

Shri Mataji: All right, ha.

So we call her Radhika. Here in the country of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa we should call her Radhika. [Hindi.] Sometimes she does look like mother little bit; then again she goes back to her father's face. But it was a miracle how Madhury got married, you see and then how she came here.

[Marathi.]

Shri Mataji: So you are working here as an architect now?

Sahaja Yogi: I have one more series of other exams before I'm licensed.

Shri Mataji: I see. But then you are not going to start a working with some firm or something?

Sahaja Yogi: I'm working with a firm now, Mother. I'm working as an architect but I don't have a license.

Shri Mataji: I see. You see, we are thinking of starting a combined firm of international architects.

So you could be a member of that international architects, you see.

Sahaja Yogis: Oh, that's nice.

Shri Mataji: So that all the architects, you see, exchange ideas among themselves about architecture and the beauty of international architecture because, you see, that's architecture is also weighing on the minds of people very much. Like in Germany this Bauhaus; you must have heard about it.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Mother.

Shri Mataji: This movement started and they tried to neutralise all the beautiful things.

Sahaja Yogi: It's awful.

Shri Mataji: And made it into very simple, drab houses, you see.

Sahaja Yogi: Stark.

Shri Mataji: Absolutely. And outside if you see, they look like prisons, absolutely like prisons.

Horrible. Bauhaus. And now in Germany it so happened that they find the houses are very much needed.

So they have put all these houses on all the children's parks and playgrounds and everything and the schools are made of ten storey schools and things like that.

So the children have no place to play.

So they are taking to drugs and very destructive and there's no, it's become horrid place now.

So we should do something about it, you see? We must know about the international architecture, how they work it out and then the ideas can be very helpful. We can integrate also. You haven't received yet the brochure?

Sahaja Yogi: No, not yet Mother, not yet. I'll phone Gavin and ask him.

Shri Mataji: Ha. What did he say?

Sahaja Yogi: No, no, I will, I'll phone him. It's just not been time.

Another Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Otherwise, she's quiet. [Hindi.] You must give them a good massage before sleeping and then put some powder, clean their body and then they sleep very well. But give a nice massage to the children and put some ghee in the nose little bit and...

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Again] misguidance.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: Because, you see, they all parents suffer from liver trouble.

So they have allergies and they think that the oil gives you the allergy. You must heat it up nicely, heat up the thing and then rub it. When it is rather cool then you can rub it. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Ah, now, now you are all right. Ha?

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] That's the system we have. [Hindi.] You see, we used to have a system that the mother also would be really rubbed off nicely with oil with very hefty women, you see, with very strong hands. But four, five women used to just rub the body. And then they would give you a dhuni from down below, you see, in a charcoal. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogini: Charcoal.

Sahaja Yogi: Stool. [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: No, charcoal hai. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: Stoolware.

Shri Mataji: Stool nahi.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Like a pot, you see, pot with holes and the lady was asked to sit on that one and the, on the charcoal they would put this ajwain that smoke could come out and the lady was covered with a black blanket like a tent holding tight to [share] to bear all that, you see. And it was very good and I've gone through all that.

Sahaja Yogini: They used to stand. I always volunteered.

Shri Mataji: You also gone through that?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes, marriages time. Those marriages in India. Here would be that time nothing.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] They experiment on children. They experiment on everyone. [Hindi.] So you like the name, Radhika.

Sahaja Yogini: [Hindi.] Radhika.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] So now ata kaya program hai?

Sahaja Yogi: Breakfast [UNCLEAR]. [Hindi] bhajan, Mother?

Shri Mataji: What is it? [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: and Sahaja Yogis are talking in Hindi.

Sahaja Yogi: Sab ko dua dena [Hindi].

Shri Mataji: Kaun? You play that?

Sahaja Yogi: Sab ko dua dena harmonium. Oh, yea.

Shri Mataji: On the harmonium?

Sahaja Yogi: Don as well has done the [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: Yaman Kalyan [Hindi].

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Yaman? Bhairavi, Anibhairava?

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, are va.

Shri Mataji: I taught them three ragas in Rome: Bhairavi and Bhairava and also Yaman. Let's see.

But we have got a Phil, Phil, in Maryla's husband you know. Maryla. You know Maryla? She is the sister of the Gregoire.

Sahaja Yogis: Mary Lou. Mary Lou.

Shri Mataji: Ha, Mary Lou. Her husband, he is now become the master of harmonium. See, you must all the time play harmonium, you see and try to find your own notes. Then it becomes automatically; you can play it. Not difficult. If you have one harmonium just go on playing on it. You see, you just try to find your tunes on the thing. You just learn it. Is very good. You can do it, isn't it? You're doing very well now. Did you hear Phil playing on the harmonium? Phil?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, lovely, yes.

Shri Mataji: It catches every tune. That's the sign. [Hindi.] [Shri Mataji and Sahaja Yogis are talking in Hindi.] [Sahaja Yogi playing the harmonium.]

Shri Mataji: This is Yaman rag. In this only the Sa, Re, Ga, Ma; Ma means the fourth note. Fourth note is only goes different. You see, that's how. [Hindi.] This is simple. [Hindi.] This is common. This is what we see. Now here only the Ma, the fourth note changes which you can see now. The Sa, Re, Ga, Ma [Hindi.] Sa, Re, Ga, Ma, Ni, Ma. Nahin.

Sahaja Yogi: This is dropped there.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Ma, see? Difference? The fourth note is only changed, only the fourth note.

[Shri Mataji and Sahaja Yogis are talking in Hindi. Shri Mataji's appreciation or commentary from time to time.]

Sahaja Yogi: And the meaning [Hindi] Guru daya sindhu is, Guru is all merciful.

Shri Mataji: Sindhu is the ocean. He's the brother of all those who are downtrodden. He is the mother who gives you the second birth.

Sahaja Yogi: Rebirth.

Shri Mataji: Rebirth.

Sahaja Yogi: After the Kuṇḍalinī is raised, soul realises the rebirth; same thing.

Shri Mataji: Dāta means the one who is the saviour. He's the only saviour. There's nobody greater relation than the Guru. That's the destination; Guru is the destination. You have to reach to the quality of the Guru and he's the one who gives you Moksha.

So arise the relation.

Sahaja Yogi: Once you get Guru charan you don't need anything else in the life.

Shri Mataji: Charan is the feet. Better tape it. [Hindi.] Ah! Beautiful. See the vibrations. Just like Pūjā it is. The vibrations [that soothe you]. But this has been misused very much. It's meant for the sat Gurus, the ones who give you Realisation.

Sahaja Yogi: That's right. Yes.

Shri Mataji: Who should talk of God, not those Gurus which have come out calling themselves Gurus. Sat Guru.

Sahaja Yogi: That's right, yes.

Shri Mataji: These should be the qualities in a Guru. If they are not there, just is a money-making proposition. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, [Marius's] mother sent through me some [poems] for the baby. This the good time for you to receive this?

Shri Mataji: She has sent something for the baby. [Hindi.] [UNCLEAR].

[Somebody is playing guitar, a Hindi or Marathi song.]

Shri Mataji: Hai, Madre, Ma dear.

Sahaja Yogis: Hai, Madre, Ma dear.

Shri Mataji [at the end of the song]: Wow, beautiful, very beautiful, very, very beautiful, beautiful.

A

Sahaja Yogi: Just [UNCLEAR], Mother.

Shri Mataji: Hmm, just tremendous. How did you do it? [Everybody laughs.]

Shri Mataji: Marathi kaha se ā gaya? Sahaja Yogi [who sang]: Ma, English main likha hoga, translation Madhury [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Marathi is difficult language to pronounce, but you did well.

Sahaja Yogi [who sang]: Yes... I made a lot of mistakes at first.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR You/We] have the most [UNCLEAR beautiful/typical] languages. Beautiful.

But I feel Marathi is very integrated language.

Sahaja Yogi [who sang]: Yes.

Shri Mataji: It's a very integrated [language]. It doesn't have only one style or one type of things.

It is very direct and very subtle, very, very integrated language. I mean, even the jokes and things, there is no vulgarity at all. Maharashtrians don't know vulgarity. All the time they are laughing. And people can't understand so why they are laughing. Every word, you see, has double meanings and this and that, very happy people. Very integrated language, I must say.

Like My husband who have come with Me, he used to come with Me to see some Marathi places and to translate it at that instant, instantaneously was so difficult for Me. I said, “This language has a big tradition behind it, history behind it. How to translate it, that part?" One day it happened one word like [Marathi] word came in. [Marathi.] He said, “What's that?" I said, “All right, I'll go and tell you at home, you see? It's a funny word. It cannot be explained in one minute." He said, “But what that does mean? Everybody laughs, you see." I said, “I'll tell you at home." So when we went home I told him, “Let's see, this man he said look like [Marathi].

So the meaning is that supposing a person dies, now he becomes the forefathers of someone who is on this earth. Now he is doing all kinds of sinful things.

So he is the [pāpi] who is doing all kinds of sinful things.

So how his forefather will feel helpless and how he will look, how he will [tend] down, you see, with the idea that he cannot throw this fellow, into his grave, grand grandson or whosoever, maybe. That it means that that man who is dead long time back and he is worried of his grand grandson who is committing sin.

So this fellow look like that fellow." He said, “That [pāp]." Just see. It's such a description of a man that he looks like a [UNCLEAR Pāpyasetitar] as if he was the great-grandfather of a sinner who died long time back. How will he feel in the [limbo], you see. I mean, this is one of the things; otherwise it is full of jokes. And every word, everything is so humorous. If you are in the company of My brother [Ranjeshwara] Baba, the stomach starts paining all the time; just can't help it. Hmm, [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: [Marathi.] Another Sahaja Yogi: No? I'm be able to play it with the words in and be very [rusty].

Shri Mataji: Your jazz music is somewhere near ours, jazz music. But there's no system in jazz. We have a system. But the creativity is the same style. It goes into ragas, only jazz, but there's no built-up system for that. Ours is melody, but it is very creative also, such as integrated all those things. One...

Sahaja Yogi: Sāi Baba ki Ār.ti [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Sāi Nāth. Shirdi Sāi Nāth. His Ār.ti.

Sahaja Yogi: Lalit Pañcham raga hai.

Shri Mataji: This is Lalit, is a very beautiful raga, Lalit Pañcham.

[The raga starts.]

Shri Mataji: He was a Muslim but how they respected him. He was a Muslim but in Maharashtra he's respected as a big saint. Vibrations started. [Hindi.] [End of raga.]

Shri Mataji: Ha, Sāi Nāth of Shirdi. Sāi Nāth, you see, was a, you know about Sāi Nāth in Shirdi, but he took a photograph of Sāi Baba, one photographer and his all folds were there and on the fold My face came, completely, with My round thing and face, eyes, everything; complete face came on it.

So the Sheeshya showed him, the one who had taken the photograph. He said, “Who is this?" He said, “This is my Mother. And She's going to come back one day." Now, this one, this photograph was then acquired by his son. And this, he saw My photograph, this happened in [Hindi] Ambarnath.

So this fellow, when he saw My photograph, he came to Me and he said that, “See, Mother Your photograph was in Sāi Nāth's clothes and all that. We wrote to him this thing, that and we got a book also. And this is Your photograph." I said, “It's true." “Were You his Mother?" I said, “It's true. I was his Mother." So then, you see, this man became very greedy himself, became very greedy. He enlarged the photograph, he wrote a book, you see, praising Me, saying all these things. There's a book written down, all these things. But, you see, the greed killed him completely. He made a big temple out of it and all that thing and he made money out of it. I mean, naturally I had nothing to do with him. I said, “This is, this is no good. How can you make money out of this saint place as Ambarnath?" [Sharayuh] can tell you many things about [Me].

There was another Guru who was staying there. His name was Jagannath Baba. And he had another, his Guru was in actually in the real Ambarnath. [It is] there, I have forgotten the name of that Guru, something like a, wait a bit.

So, this fellow came to see [Sharayuh]. He said, “When is Mātājī coming to see you?" She said, “Oh, She's coming on such and such day." He said, “She must come to my ashram. I must see Her, because my Guru has told me that Ādi Shakti has taken Her birth and She will come to Ambarnath. So you stay there and She will clear your Āgñyā." So Sharayuh was quite surprised, you see.

She said, “All right, when My Mother will come I'll ask Her."

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Rāja nahin rani?

Sahaja Yogi: Are va...

Shri Mataji: According to them, all the kings and queens in olden times were all saints or what?

Sahaja Yogi: They think that they, all Sahaja Yogis are royal descendants or something along that line. They, they believe that we both think, we the Sahaja Yogis, they do think, including themselves have taken birth again...

Shri Mataji: For what? For ruling others?

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, no, not for that. But they, they are attached to the idea that they were kings and queens in other lives, which is why she would give her a nice house and would be looked after very well so...

Shri Mataji: But that is because of “Yogakshemam vahāmyaham." Sahaja Yogis: Yes. Bara bara hai. Bara bara hai.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR] and that's why. You got it because you were kings and queens. Then why did you get it last life? Logic.

Sahaja Yogi: What she thinks was, no, what disturbed her, Shri Mataji, is the fact that she spoke to new people in the same, making it public. Not someone's thing is their business. When, when they speak it, have learned, then it becomes our business.

Shri Mataji: She should not speak. Here the women speak too much. It's a funny country, you know.

I've seen that if there's an interview going on with the husband and wife, the husband will keep quiet and the wife will speak, all the time. I can't understand. She'll tell everything to the television man; everything she will talk. The women should not speak. It's a funny thing that's happening in all these countries. Like, everywhere, like you see, this Chiang Kai-shek's wife, she takes over. Say, you see, Mao's wife, she takes over. It's something, is a very, low-grade thing if, if a woman, you see, does not know how to contain within herself, shows that she is very low-grade. You see, a woman of quality will never come up like that unwanted, shows her self-respect. But it is very common, you see. The Mao's wife was an ordinary woman. Chiang Kai-shek's was another ordinary woman, you see. And then, they once they get big positions they start talking so big. I mean, in India it is never done like that. Like C.P. now, in his office and all that, people think that I am just deaf and dumb. I don't talk, only whatever is needed to talk. But you just don't talk over your husband, talk more than your husband. It's absurd. What is the need? That doesn't mean in any way, the women are less, are respected more. And if you try to compete with men like that, you see, that is why men become homosexuals.

Sahaja Yogi: That's right, yes...

Shri Mataji: Really, I tell you I have had experience I must tell you now, that the aggressive women always make men, men, this thing, impotent. We have had the experiences in Sahaja Yoga. One man became impotent after marriage. I told the wife, of, I said, “You stop this nonsense of [aggression]." She talks, you see. When it comes to that, she's the one who is talking. And the man became all right. They don't behave like women and that's what happens. What's wrong in it? Why should you talk? I don't understand. A man, it's an extrovert; you are an introvert. Enjoy your introversion. It's great. Without talking, if I could do I would be very happy Myself. This country has really this problem the maximum, I think. Even when we were coming to LA [Los Angeles]...

Sahaja Yogi: Right...

Shri Mataji: You see, this is a, we had taken a small little bag saying that we have to get down fast.

So the gentleman at the counter said, “All right, you can take it. It's all right. It's not so big." But when we entered inside the airplane the lady there, she would not accept. She said, “No, no, this is big. This has to go down. This has to be this thing” and all that. But there was one gentleman, he came forward.

He said, “No, it's not so big. Why are you troubling her?" And he went all the way down and brought the bag back. “If they have to get down early, why should you trouble them?" And the men also here become peevish, absolutely, just like mice. [Hindi.] You see, you know, in Germany, we got lost with this. In Germany we had three hundred people in the first ad hoc [gathering]. Can you believe it? Three hundred people? So, see, you must see the perspective also. Three hundred people got Realisation. And hundred of them came back. Hundred. Can you imagine?

And this boy, Hugo, he's an Australian, but married a German lady. And German ladies are all like this, you see. And whatever he said, she tried to correct him, give ideas and he was absolutely sort of cut short by her, completely. And all of them we lost, one and all, all the hundred we lost.

And they said it, that, “Here the woman rules and we don't want to be ruled by a woman." Finished.

And she is a very ordinary person compared to Hugo. He was very well-educated and very accomplished Sahaja Yogi.

But she dominates him. Same thing happened in Austria, Australia. And there was one girl called Daina and her husband was this James, you see. When Warren came away, James said, “All right." She, she used to dominate him always.

So he said, “All right, you look after the ashram." And when I went there they were all crying and weeping and saying that this woman is so horrid, you can't imagine that. She said, “I will decide about Mother's room." She spent, I think, one thousand pounds developing that. Means that all kinds of things she has done.

So we had to send her away. Now she is back. She, she came to what place? We sent her to Strasbourg, near Ruth. And now she is better. And everybody has improved. Her children had become so weak, crying all the time and the children have improved. Everything is all right now. I mean, you must behave in a normal way.

Supposing you put left to the right and right to the left, what will happen? There will be confusion.

Even Indian women can be dominating if they take to Western life. They do. But all their family style is upset. There's no wisdom in it and no respect, nothing. They have no powers in them, nothing. They just talk, that's all. I mean, you must understand, American women must understand, one of the big problems is the American woman, I think, very big problem. You should not compete with men. What is there to compete with them? You are much better off. You are like the Mother Earth. You can bear anything.

You can do whatever. You are Shakti. What is there to dominate a man and to compete with a man? I mean, it would be like a horse competing with the man who rides the horse.

Better learn all these things. It's important. Sahaja Yogis must understand. Yes, she talks too much, this lady. I will talk to her and I'll tell her. In Sahaja Yoga also, when somebody comes in, let men talk and then women should talk. Big problem. Not that women are not intelligent, not that they are not that, they are much more. They are much more. They are the strength. They are the source. But why do you want to exhaust your source like this? Because in this country these women were treated like that also. I don't blame them. Because it's important to have an economic this thing and all that. Apart from that, they asked Me, in the BBC, “Do they respect you as a woman?" I said, “Why not?" They said, “No, here, if a woman is a Guru nobody is going to respect her." So I can't understand. In India they would respect a woman much more. They said that, “Do they think you to be so reliable?" In India a woman is much more reliable than the man is, is much more solid than the man is, is much more steady than a man is.

[Hindi.]

A law will believe a woman more than they will believe a man in India.

So they asked Me opposite questions. I was surprised. “But do they respect you as a woman?" I said, “Why not?" [This] woman is to be more respected. I don't know why it happens like this. Here the men must have dominated women very much. That's why women are like this. It's a reaction. But in India a married woman is very powerful. Most powerful thing is the married woman. Even Kṛiṣhṇa has said it, that the Satī is higher than the Yati. [Hindi.] Kṛiṣhṇa was killed by a Satī's curse; you know that? You know? Remember that, yes? Gandhari, you see, was a blind. Her husband was a blind fellow.

So she said, “If my husband is blind I'll also keep my eyes closed." And she tied something on her eyes. “If my husband has no eyes, why should I have eyes?" All her life she kept her eyes closed.

So her eyes were so powerful that her son, when he came to her, she said, “All right, you just become naked completely and I'll put my eyes on you and nobody can kill you." But he was shy to become naked, you see, because of the mother.

So he wear a little underwear. When she opened her eyes, her glance made all his body just like stone. But Kṛiṣhṇa knew about it.

So he was killed by tearing off the body from the center. That was a [mistake].

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, How to Speak to New Seekers, Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

... people act. That Sahaja Yogis must understand. Because you must have that knowledge, how to neutralise these images and projections that they have built. Because they are very formidable things and unless and until you learn how to do it they won't be able to understand you.

So you have to be always as you say that `one up'. Now the first thing was the idea of illusion. Very interesting it is. Now for them, you see, there is nothing like evil, nothing like bad; everything is an illusion for them.

So why talk of evil? Why talk anything against the Gurus? Everything is an illusion. All right. Now let Me see how will you answer that. Who can answer? To a person who [UNCLEAR tackle/may/look/ask] you, how will you answer? Tell Me.

Sahaja Yogi: I think [we can] feel on Your vibrations and your [UNCLEAR head/heels/feeling] is just not an illusion. Then it's real that you can measure things.

Shri Mataji: No, no. But you see this is different. First, I mean you should start from the point at they are, still on arguing point. Not yet they have feeling any vibrations, or anything.

So then, how will you tell them, if they say that is also an illusion? You can't talk to them about vibrations to begin with.

You all are at a very different level that you don't understand. Must know that your levels are changed completely. You are talking from a level where they are not.

So now, how will you tell them that the devils are there and the Satanic are there and there is negativity and all these things.

Sahaja Yogini: Get them to [UNCLEAR log on and see/lock and] how it's working in our lives.

Shri Mataji: Oh, then going into big discussion. They'll say that, “Oh, that we have seen." You see, they all think that they can take their own decisions, they can have their own ideas. Another idea is that they will say that, “It's all an illusion, you see. You talk about all these things, an illusion. It's finished." Now they will say, “Look at your lives. All right, we look at our lives as illusion." Then what do you say? [Hindi.] Ha, let's have it.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, supposing You can tell their vibrations to prove it.

Shri Mataji: No, no, they haven't felt the vibrations. They don't know what is vibrations is. You see, you just confront them as they are. Vibrations are different things. They haven't got it. They haven't felt it. They have not known what it is. Then how will you discuss? You see, even you meet them. [Hindi.] When you just meet them and you confront them, then what will you say?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR] what are the questions.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Here you see, Americans or anywhere, of course, Americans are the top-listed people in this [UNCLEAR and/that] they have their own images and they have their own conceptions.

Now one of the conception is that everything is an illusion. You see, so how can we say that somebody is a bad Guru or a good Guru or how can you say that there are evil forces? There's nothing like evil because it's all illusion.

Sahaja Yogini: Now I can say that this is my experience with it.

Shri Mataji: No, no that's very personal. Would be arbitrary. Because they never had any experience, nothing. They are on mental level. They...

Sahaja Yogi: Maybe we have to go to the physical level with these people and tell them that it's something like that they can quit your help. You can go down to their level and get their intention by help maybe, then peaceful, [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: No, no, they are not willing to go on to that point. They are not going to ask you to give you Realisation or anything. They will just, ha. Now let's see.

Sahaja Yogi: You tell them to look at any other Scriptures that are accepted. You tell them to look to any other Scriptures whether they are Christians.

Shri Mataji: But if they don't believe, say? Agnostic. I mean, we have all kinds of headstrong people [UNCLEAR everywhere].

Sahaja Yogi: What about the decorous, the way they [UNCLEAR lead/lived] their lives and the examples [UNCLEAR that/of] their disciples whatever they [UNCLEAR did/were doing].

Shri Mataji: No, no, for them evil is not there. Even they are leading that life, is an illusion.

Sahaja Yogi: You can only judge, Mātājī, from your experience, your own experience.

Shri Mataji: No, no, but supposing without that, [Hindi] without that on mental level, if somebody confronts you [then] what will you do? Supposing face to face you see somebody comes and says this to Me, “Oh, I think this is all illusion. Why should we worry about somebody's bad or somebody's? It's all an illusion."

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, can't You tell what is from within because Your vibrations?

Shri Mataji: But they don't want to listen to all that. They will say this is myth.

Sahaja Yogini: Who created the illusion?

Shri Mataji: Aāa?

Sahaja Yogini: You could ask them if it is illusion, the illusion has to be created. There's a Creator.

Shri Mataji: No, they will say, “Illusion exists because we are ignorant, but to me it's an illusion."

Sahaja Yogini: To become [more real]?

Shri Mataji: Aāa?

Sahaja Yogini: To become [more real]?

Shri Mataji: He becomes the, he has to become the reality. But to him, you see, that's also is an illusion.

Sahaja Yogi: Now You can please tell us, Mother.

Shri Mataji: No, no, you have already. I've told you now. You have to tell because I've spent so much time with you now. Will you please tell what I told you?

Sahaja Yogi: I don't know if I can repeat the same way You said to me, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: All right, I'll tell. See, when you are just discussing something on mental level you cannot talk of something of an experience and all that. Nobody is going to listen to you.

So you have to go on the mental level itself and there you have to convince a person.

So you should say that, say a man is in a boat. All right? And he sees the waves of the water, is the ocean.

So to him it's an illusion because it doesn't affect him. All right? But supposing you are in the water, then it's not an illusion.

So you have to achieve that state of mind where it becomes an illusion.

Another good example is, supposing you are watching the television, all right? Then there is a fire, you see. You are seeing the illusion. That fire doesn't burn you. But supposing you are, there is fire already, will you put your hand to that? You won't, because it's not an illusion for you.

So you have to achieve that state of mind where the thing is an illusion, which you do not have. That's what we are saying that you have to achieve that state of mind where it looks like an illusion. Then they will realise that their state of mind is at a lower level and they have to raise it to a higher level because it's not an illusion for them actually. You see the point now? How to explain it. Very simple is that for a person who is in a boat, for him it is an illusion. But not for the person who is in the water.

This is one question. What was the another question I've explained to you? It was a good question I explained to you, on mental level it was.

So I've said the second. The first one is not coming anymore.

Aā. Then which I explained to you, there's another thing. It's the idea of people is this, that you see I've asked somebody, “Why do you like Freud so much?" He said, “Because it was new." So to a Western mind anything new, “Oh, we should do it. Why not? It's a new thing. Let us do it. If anything it's new, then we should try. Why not try?" But trying whatever it's new.

So for this, what will you explain? You have to give a concrete example.

Sahaja Yogini: The example of a natural plant's growth. Plants grow the same way as they always do.

Human beings have the same natural way of growing. And...

Shri Mataji: No, no, but how will you say, “Don't try anything new?" How will you say that? This is the mistake of our Western society is they tried everything new. Hippy-ism came, hippies. Now this cocaine has come, cocaine. Tomorrow something else; we have that. Paint your hair, paint your hair, paint your nose, paint your nose. Anything new they want to try, “What's wrong?" [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: Power of discretion nahi hai.

Shri Mataji: Aāa?

Sahaja Yogi: Power of discretion...

Shri Mataji: No, no, but how can you say to them if? You can't be blunt with them. To say, “You have no discretion” they'll say, “You don't have." So you can't be blunt, but how cleverly you can tell them. Concrete example. As I told you the other day, I think you missed the point. You have to say, “All right, plastic is new. Try plastic. You make a plastic flower, all right? And you get this flower. Which is, which is the right thing? This one. Why? Because it has evolved from a tradition. It has evolved from a seed into a tree, into the and there you see a flower; it's a living process. All right. But plastic is new, but it's plastic; it's dead." They also tried plastic, used to have plastic everything, plastic this and plastic that. Now they are fed up with the plastic. They don't know what to do with them.

So everything new, when you try at least see that it has some traditions; it has some basis.

Now all these people you are trying Shaktipath, this, that, nonsense, you see, they have no basis. But it is never written in any Vedas, anywhere, in any Shāstras; this word it is not there. This arunupaya, tarunupaya, karunupaya, all that, it's not written anywhere. It comes suddenly from somewhere, from this Theosophical Society. This Theosophical Society is only hundred years old. All this nonsense is a hundred years old. We have never heard of such thing. Even Rām Kṛiṣhṇa, dancing like that, you see, wearing a sarī and all that, one has never heard of anybody doing like that.

So from, from where does it come? Suddenly a new thing and all that new thing is accepted by the West. It is not described anywhere, not talked about, take to any Vedas, take to any Purānas. Anywhere it is not described.

Nowhere it is written that Kuṇḍalinī it's a dangerous thing, nowhere. Even Kabīr who was, I think, about sixteen hundred years back has not said that. [Hindi.] Mohamed Sahib ke bād āye. [Hindi.] Eight hundred years back. Mohamed Sahib has not said it sixteen years [UNCLEAR] back, sixteen thousands years back, sixteen hundred years back. Eight hundred years back Kabīr never said it. Suddenly, I don't know how the idea that Kuṇḍalinī is very dangerous has come.

So all such new things have also come in India, like Tantrism, erotic these things and they went away. Because all such new things what people try go out of the circulation of your evolution. They are just thrown out. They are not accepted. In the same way, all these Gurus will be thrown out. In these twelve years you have seen all Gurus are exposed. You can see how wrong, what wrong they have done `cause also it has effects, because if you take to something which is just new you see the effects of that, like plastic. When, when they said that first bomb fell in Singapore people had never seen bombs. It was a new thing. So they came up to see and they died.

So one has to understand that whatever we call new, may not be good for us. So this is the second answer.

All right. Now, another, third question; let's see if you can answer this one.

Sahaja Yogis: We haven't done too well so far.

Shri Mataji: So trying everything new ventures, new things, one must have a traditional idea about that. Like a man who takes to new business suddenly, does not know anything about it, its tradition, its background, anything, suddenly takes to new. He is not going to be successful [Hindi]. In the same way, anybody comes out of the blue and says that you stand on your heads, why must you? You should ask, “Why should we? Why should we do this hassle? Why?" No, because it is new it's acceptable.

So the two questions are clear-cut, I hope, in your minds now, very clear-cut should be. Now the third question, let Me think. Trouble is, in your presence I also don't think. What is the third question you asked Me? Just trying to remember. You have forgotten all the questions. You only ask Me these questions.

Sahaja Yogis: Bad memory. It's very difficult the thing when You are missing, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Third question is, I don't remember what they did ask. No, I don't remember third question is. I'll remember later. Then I'll ask.

Sahaja Yogi: Was it about the destruction, Shri Mataji? About the collective manifestation of Śhrī Kalki or...

Shri Mataji: Beg your pardon?

Sahaja Yogi: About Śhrī Kalki. I asked in [UNCLEAR] about the big wok.

Shri Mataji: Ah, that one? That is only for Sahaja Yogis. We can't tell all these things to others but for Sahaja Yogis. Like he asked Me a question that, “If this is the last chance, then what's going to happen to the rest of them?" So I said, “In the beginning, of course, we'll try to get them to India, do whatever is possible, but even if they don't understand and they play games with themselves, then we have to cut off." Then another world for them is created. And in that world they'll live. They'll have all human awareness, but as described by many people [UNCLEAR and/that] it's true they'll have burning sensations in the body. Is described like this: a big wok will be there, there will be boiling oil and they'll be put in that and fried and they'll have their awareness there and they'll suffer all the pangs and this is one of them only.

There are thousand and one styles they'll be tortured. Horrible things they'll have. That's what you'd asked Me. Ha. Now, so the other question like that, that they will say that, “But, see we have advanced so much, you see." They all think, “We are very advanced people and we are so developed and this and that.

We are so much developed and all thanks to our psychologists and thanks to our scientists and thanks to other people that we have come up to this level” you see. Many people think that now they have achieved their freedom also because of Freud.

So-called freedom.

So what's wrong? What's the answer?

Sahaja Yogi: So today it's the question, do you feel free?

Shri Mataji: Do you?

Sahaja Yogi: Do I feel free? I feel free.

Shri Mataji: No, no, the question is this. No, no, the question is like this. I was just talking. The question, if somebody asks you, then what will you say?

Sahaja Yogi: I would say, “Do you feel free?" If they say that, “I feel free because Freud gave me my freedom” I can turn around and say, “Can you feel free?"

Shri Mataji: Then, they'll say, “Yes."

Sahaja Yogi: If they say, “Yes” oh then, it's wonderful because they have found a nice [UNCLEAR terminal]. But I don't believe it.

Shri Mataji: That's a, that's a different point. You see, that's not. But how to convince them? They will say that, you see, “We have advanced so much. India has not so much advanced. We are very well-to-do people. We have solved our material problem. We are developed people” this and that. I mean, they are quite cocksure about themselves. That's why they talk like that.

Sahaja Yogini: I would ask them how much peace and joy they experience in their own life.

Shri Mataji: Oh, you see that, they will say they do experience. Then what can you say? You see, these things cannot be proved you know, Ursula? You cannot prove it.

So you, “We will be joyous. You see, you have no fun in life. We have all the fun. We have all the pleasures; you have no pleasures." They say, “You dress up in a way that's very, sort of very cumbersome." Anything, I mean they, they have ideas about things, you know. They are sorted out, according to them. Their dress is very sensible and not to have the dress is even more sensible. Then, what will you give them, a concrete example?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR Then/Though], we can say if they are so free, how come they have to depend on a chair to sit on it?

Shri Mataji: It's all right. They say that chair is all right. We can make the chair for sitting on it.

What's the harm? I mean, that's why they are developed because they have comfort. They don't, should not live like primitive people sitting on the ground.

Sahaja Yogi: They're slaves to their cigarettes and...

Another Sahaja Yogi: If, if they are on an aircraft and and they, they are thinking that they are free to travel to Spain and they are there in that travelling and you are telling, “You are not travelling. You are just sitting there. The aircraft is not moving and I can prove it to you." So you, you can. They'll say, “Yes, in twenty-four hours I'll be there." Then you say, “No, you see in twenty-four hours I'll prove you that you will still be here." And they can; they can believe whatever they want. But the aircraft isn't still moving.

Shri Mataji: No, no, but, but it's a fact. They are richer people. They are much more comfortable.

They have much more yarns in the heads than the, these poor Indians, or any other person, you see. “Why should we be saints?" They can't understand. What is the advantage? You see, for them everything must be valued, in advantage and disadvantage.

Sahaja Yogini: I would say, “If you are so free, why can't you go for walk, for walk in a park at night?"

Shri Mataji: Why don't you?

Sahaja Yogini: Why can't you walk in the park at night if you are so free? Another Sahaja Yogini: For fear that you might be [attacked].

Shri Mataji: But they can say that...

Sahaja Yogini: They have no freedom, [though they think] to be free.

Shri Mataji: No, they'll say that even, you see that fear that one has, everybody can have, because in the park somebody can rob you.

Sahaja Yogi: No, independence and pleasure in [just playing with] some other objects not within.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] This is our theory that there is something within. But concrete proof you have to give this mental being. They don't believe supposing there is another life, or a better life.

Sahaja Yogi: Happiness is a state of mind. I, I believe happiness is a state of mind.

Shri Mataji: Then whatever you believe they will say, “I'm not [interested]."

Sahaja Yogi: No, no, I'm talking about people who are materialistic. They have, you know, I mean, what they want and if they are happy in that state of mind, that's their lifestyle. But it's the way we understood life that...

Shri Mataji: Yes, but how will you convince them that they should take to our life? How will you convince them that they should take to our life, that we have a higher life than theirs? How are we higher than them? Because they think they have fun, they have more pleasures and comfort. How do we have to tell them that how are we on a better part than they are? This is the point is. [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogi: Well, we have more senses than what a normal person has.

Shri Mataji: What? What do you have?

Sahaja Yogi: More senses we have developed.

Shri Mataji: No, that is, that is, supposing they don't know about it, that you cannot convince them.

Not [UNCLEAR related/relative] to you also, if you have to just tell them what has gone wrong. See, what you have to say that, supposing the way we have developed would have been all right, the human beings would have become better human beings. In these thirty years time, thirty years back human beings were much better than they are today. We are, we have become so violent. I mean, in this New York now city you can't go alone anywhere, with the purse in your hand, you see. But thirty years back it was possible. Thirty years back you could go in any park, into any park. Nobody would murder you.

So if this material life has given you any satisfaction, materially if you are better off, then why people are stealing? They are corrupt. They are trying to cheat. Why, if you were going the right way? We have to become better people in the sense we should be more compassionate, more understanding, of a nature that is congenial to everyone. We should become people of greater wisdom, but there is no wisdom in modern life; there's no logic. With the science, what have we achieved is an atom bomb. We have put there like a devil, sitting there, one atom bomb, carbon bomb, hydrogen bomb, this bomb, that bomb, to be blasted any day. People are just waiting to put their finger on the button.

So to say that we have advanced is a wrong idea. It's a myth, because human being has not ascended.

Primitive man was afraid, say for example, of a tiger. One can understand, but now modern man is afraid of another man.

So as human beings our quality has gone down.

So whatever we have developed, maybe the matter has improved in quality, but human beings have fallen down. Now we have to improve the quality of human beings. Now, what should we do? So for that Sahaja Yoga is there. [Hindi.] Concrete proof.

Sahaja Yogi: We have to become innocent again.

Shri Mataji: Beg your pardon?

Sahaja Yogi: We have to become innocent again.

Shri Mataji: Yes, we have to become but that, to get that innocence back you see, how to get, they will ask. Then you say, “There's a way. We have become ourselves. We have become better people. We were not so good." Then they will come to you. And our children are going to be much worse than what they are. They will start killing their own parents. I mean, they are already killing so many.

So what life we got, we are giving much worse life to our children.

So in every way, whatever advancement we have made, might have improved the conditions, comfort, or whatever it is, but human beings have not improved.

That means these things are not required to improve the conditions of the [human beings].

Human beings are very treacherous these days. You cannot trust anyone. I can tell you, thirty years back you could trust anyone. You had much better friends. You had much better people. Nowadays you can't even, I mean, a Sahaja Yogi may not be able to trust another Sahaja Yogi. The situation could be that bad. I mean, a saint, imagine saints, born-realised people can smoke, can drink. This is Kali Yuga.

So what have we achieved, this kind of a horrible atmosphere where only Satanic forces can rein. That's proved it, all right? So we are no more compassionate, we are not sharing, we are not enjoying each other, but after Sahaja Yoga you get back everything. All right?

Sahaja Yogi: [Many things.]

Shri Mataji: May God bless you.

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Another Lincoln, Gandhi, Shivaji, Gorki, Lenin, Shakespeare, Mozart, Michelangelo, Garibaldi, Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

Shri Mataji: Actually in the West, I must say, it was [UNCLEAR essential/unsolved] the another unfortunate thing that you never had good kings. All horrible kings were there. And also the people who came here, invaded Indians and all those people were very cruel people. And that time aggressiveness was regarded as very courageous thing.

So the aggression is still on. But we had people like Abraham Lincoln in this country. Think of it. And but for Abraham Lincoln you would not have been even knowing about freedom. But can we produce one Abraham Lincoln again? We can only have Reagan the actor.

Sahaja Yogis: Yes.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] So this is what we have to understand. We had Mahatma Gandhi in India.

Can we produce another Mahatma Gandhi? We had Shivaji in Maharashtra. Can we produce another Shivaji? As if they are all legendary people. We had Maxim Gorki. Can we produce another one like him in Russia? Or even Lenin. We have had in England people like Shakespeare. Can we have another one to replace him? Art. We had Michelangelo. Can we have another one nearer him? Music. We had Mozart.

Can you replace him today? Anybody can beat him? In the West, I am talking about. We had Garibaldi.

Can we have another Garibaldi? We cannot.

So the quality has gone down definitely. And no hope.

So this is the only hope we have, that we'll create out of Sahaja Yogis all these great people again. All right? [Hindi.] Let us go to something pleasant.

Sahaja Yogini: Really hungry.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.]

Sahaja Yogini: She cooked so much [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] Come here. There's a red sarī with a zāri border and that's a present [UNCLEAR we managed/you'll have this one] for cooking you must [wear every day].

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Miracles, Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

Please [UNCLEAR stop/talk]. That we had such miracles in India when I was doing up My house. I had made a staircase in India. We put up in the banisters that they call it banister, that's the place I've measured and think about it, entirely thought. And we have one Sahaja Yogi, [Pradhan] who is a carpenter, who was trying to put it up.

So I said all the time, “Just see now, here. Just try." And when I got up after half an hour it was still unfit. I said, “What happened?" “Mother, it cannot be fitted. It's too long. Otherwise how can I fit?" “It cannot be fitted?" “No. How to cut it? Because if we cut it the pattern is not. How we'll manage?" I said, “Very simple." I asked him, “Just hold it, [UNCLEAR]." I just told him, “Cut little bit. See the [UNCLEAR] how it has fitted." I've got it paid in India and measurement was not that I've taken like that, I've made up, you see.

Second thing that happened that we were, see, we had to put some marble on the ground floor, the basement and that can be of some sort of a style [that cannot be put by] anybody and three, four Sahaja Yogis had come from Rome. And they said, “Mother, you must tell us something to be done. After all, everybody has worked and we want to do something." I said, “Will you put the marble?" They said, “Marble we have never done." I said, “All right, let's try." So they took that thing. They said, “All right, we are putting the marble." The everything was upside down like that, you see, absolutely.

So I said, “Don't you worry. It will all fit into a very wonderful face." They said, “How?" I said, “Just stay out."

It was so badly off that nobody could walk, you see. It was so uneven, like, this way, that anybody walk this way, it will come out that way, it will.

So they sat down. I said, “You just sit here” and I walked round and round, three, four times, three and a half times, I should say. And everything we get cracked into one.

If you see the marble you won't believe. And, but the best part was that they said that all the cement is over. “There is no cement. Very little cement is left and these shops are closed now for two days. We can't get it." I said, “You just go on pouring water." There were needed two bags full of cement. But with that little cement, they did all the cement in. And it's perfect, absolutely perfect. And then they had a problem. They wanted to move a very big wardrobe, very heavy. Indian, you see; furniture is very heavy, rosewood. And they were all, “Hā” all of them, [doing].

So I said, “It's very simple." They said, “How?" I just put My finger like this. It just moved, you know. They were surprised.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes. Six of us trying to push this huge wardrobe, almost the length [of that carving].

Shri Mataji: More than [it].

Sahaja Yogi: Better than fifteen [UNCLEAR put/foot] long, huge and full of material, wasn't empty.

We, we couldn't move it. We wanted to get behind it because there was some path to [lick] in and we [have probably been there] for half an hour, couldn't move it and Shri Mataji came in and said, “What are you doing?"

We said, “We are trying to fix this [lately], Shri Mataji. We were trying to move this." As, as I saw She, She pushed Her [UNCLEAR middle/little] finger.

Shri Mataji: No, no, this one. That is too much. This is sufficient. Had it pushed and they were surprised, how it has moved.

So you see, it is nothing difficult. It's all possible. You all can do it also.

Not difficult. I want all of you to have all the powers that are possible. But first thing, heart. Clean your hearts. Dedication in the hearts should be complete. There should be no reservations. If you have reservations these things won't work out. They've got houses, they have got jobs, they have got money, everything like that. Then they start thinking, “We must be kings and queens to get it." Sahaja Yogis [laughing]: It's a joke. It's a joke whom I laugh.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] It is such.

So many miracles that you can't imagine. The best one is now, I think, among all of them, we got aid for forty-two acres of land in Vaitarna, forty-two acres of land, surrounded by three rivers. We can say one, one is a brook, another is a river, another is the big Vaitarna, for only eighty thousand rupees. This is the best I could say. I can't go any further with it. Like Rome, Rome, Rome, they wanted to have a place for ashram and they said, “Who will gives us an ashram place? Nobody gives on rent, you see. They have, they won't give it to so many people, this, that." I said, “Try.

You give an advertisement or something." They gave an advertisement. And one fellow appeared saying that his wife is dead and he doesn't want to stay in the suburbs. He wants to move to Rome city.

So he has a house. If they want they can have it.

So it was taken in, they said, only one person's name. This fellow never asked, “How many are going to stay there? How many are going to pay for it? How you are going to pay? What is your guarantee” nothing. He said, `Take the house." First he said a price and somehow or other I don't know what happened to him that he said, “All right, for half the price." And it's so cheaply they got it. It's a huge hall with eleven bedrooms on it and four bathrooms and I think two WC and outside house are at least, how many acres of land?

Sahaja Yogini: Two acres, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Extra.

Sahaja Yogi: Wow.

Shri Mataji: Same with Hounslow house. They got a house in Hounslow. They bought it. And other house which was semidetached you see, the neighbour's.

So they thought if they can get the neighbour's house, then they can get a land together and they can get a nice hall built there.

So Gavin said, “Mother, I have to sell this house and that house was donated to Me by the Mother." I said, “Baba, I don't want any house, anything to Me. You better use that money for some ashram." So he said, “Mother, but the house is not yet selling and the other neighbour is not willing to give us." I said, “Sell the house first." The day the house was sold the neighbour who had refused to sell the house to him, herself came to him and said, “Do you want to purchase the house?"

Contents: 1985-05-28*, 29 or 30 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, More Miracles, Los Angeles or San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

One day Cooley this Toni, the first Sahaja Yogi, he came to Me and he said, “Mother, I'm little running short of money." I said, “Should I give you?" He said, “No, no, I don't want any money from You." I said, “All right, you will get it." He went back to his at.

So there he found two thousand pounds in [base-drop]. And these were, these two thousand pounds were the notes of 1964 because they celebrated the anniversary of, hundred years anniversary of Shakespeare and they printed on Shakespeare's life, you see. All the notes were that. I didn't steal any money.

That's how it works out. If you are having any problem, then you must know there must be something wrong. Better meditate. Better do something to cleanse yourself and things will work out. Maybe your left Nābhī is catching, right Nābhī catching, maybe something catching.

So work it out. If you are clean in Sahaja Yoga it will work out. All right. And we have problems, we have solved problems of such a dimension that you can't believe. Rajesh's factory was on strike for one and a half year.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: Yes. And I went to India and Rajesh said, “Mother, what to do about this factory? I don't know what to do. I'm going mad with it." I said, “Doesn't matter. Is going to help you very much." He said, “How?" I said, “It is going to help Sahaja Yoga and it is going to help you." He said, “How?" I said, “You do one thing. You decide to have a Gaṇeśha's temple there built, Gaṇeśha's temple." In Maharashtra Gaṇeśha's temple means everybody is finished there.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] So he had a Gaṇeśha Pūjā arranged there. All the labor class people came for the Gaṇeśha Pūjā. Because for Maharashtrians you can't avoid Gaṇeśha Pūjā there. And the factory started. Factory started and when they saw Gaṇeśha Pūjā being done actually in the family, Rajesh thought that nobody would like to come because they are all Jains.

So the ladies in the house said, “Why didn't you call us for the Pūjā? Everybody is coming so we are coming." So they all came for Pūjā and in the Pūjā when these people came they said that, “We want to have our Realisation." So most of the labors, they have got Realisation.

Sahaja Yogi: Wow.

Shri Mataji: Now other factory people where the factories have closed now because of strikes, want to have Realisation.

So we'll solve the problem of Bombay [Mumbai] city of all the strikes and we'll restart all the machineries which have been stopped for years back.

Sahaja Yogi: [Hindi.]

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] See, Dutta Samanth was so powerful in his thing. Now these people from his factory don't want to see his face. He is finished. Next election he cannot win.

Sahaja Yogi: He's a goonda.

Shri Mataji: Ha?

Sahaja Yogi: Course Rajesh has given him Realisation, he's a goonda.

Shri Mataji: Ha? He's finished now. You see, some people are to be finished and some people are to be given Realisation. Everybody can. Best was Warren's experience. Did he tell you?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes the car run without the gas.

Shri Mataji: Ha. About that.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes.

Shri Mataji: So all these things are happening, there are blessings, but we must also be able to receive that blessing. As he was saying he got his Green Card without his wife.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Karan, really.

Shri Mataji: He's sitting there.

Sahaja Yogi: Is really a miracle.

Shri Mataji: [Hindi.] So now you should think, you see, about what questions these people are capable of asking and how will you answer them. That's how you'll be prepared. Because it's not sufficient to be realised, it's not sufficient to be established but you must have the complete know-how and you must have the complete knowledge about Sahaja Yoga.

Otherwise, you see, anybody comes in, “Go to Gavin." You should be able to explain. You should be able to talk about them. But if you are still busy with only your personal problems how will you do that? I must tell you another miracle because I remembered of Yogi Mahajan. Yogi, poor thing, you know, he'll plan and [UNCLEAR land/ran] in some sort of difficulties.

So he's told Me, “We have got these [Hindi] Mother, such good photographs of yours, is like a Madonna and I've put that thing around You." I said, “All right. Let's see what is done." So, when I saw the photograph I said, “What's this nonsensical photo you have? From where did you get it?" So he said, “You don't like?" I said, “See the vibrations. That's the main point. Is a horrible photograph. This is, this is not Me.

Somebody has taken the photograph.

So he's not all right." [He touched it]. He said, “Mother, but I'm all right." “I'll tell you just now, in one minute who must have taken it” I said. “Jane, Gavin's wife. Has she taken the photograph?" He looked at Me, so golly face [UNCLEAR]. “How do you know, Mother?" I said, “I can tell you." “This Jane brought it to Me and gave it to Me. It's My photograph with vibrations. See for yourself, how did I tell you."

Sahaja Yogini: This is the one in the center?

Shri Mataji: Beg your pardon?

Sahaja Yogini: The picture of the, the brisance [UNCLEAR] of Sahasrār?

Shri Mataji: Absolutely hopeless. Doesn't matter, [UNCLEAR sell it/Celine]. You see, for bhootish people may be all right. Like we went to Scotland and I saw My photograph. We went to have our lunch somewhere and I saw My photograph, was [next] to Me. “Who's done this one?"

They said, “This is the same as came from Australia." I said, “This is not the same. It's something else." So I said, “Now, I'll tell you who did this.

So it's a copy of the same." They said, “Yes, it's a copy." So I said, “I know who has done it." They said, “Who?" I said, “Hillary." We telephoned to Gavin. I said, “Did Hillary send you this photograph?" “Yes, Mother. And she wouldn't allow me to show You. She said, `Now, we are in a hurry.

Let us print it.' " But that, that photograph had such bhoots in it that all the bhoots of Scotland came for My program. I was fed up with them and everybody disappeared also with the same speed. He gets stuck with people who really give him a good experience also, Yogi Mahajan. Now he's improving.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR Little better].

Shri Mataji: Like we had this [UNCLEAR Harry/Hari]. Now this should not be on the tape. It's all personal. Mister Harry, the great [UNCLEAR]. [MISSING.] Now we are going to that. Otherwise then now what are you doing? “We are feeling guilty." I said, “Now please don't commit sin. I am already suffering on the left. [Hindi] then feel guilty. Why don't you come in the center? Why do you feel guilty about it? Cleanse it. This is what you should do." [Hindi.]

[Shri Mataji relates a story (from around the end of 1974) about one of Her grandchildren, whom She said never catches:] One day a lady came with a big bhoot you see, so she came down to see Me.

So My Aradhana was very small, hardly three, she went down and brought a broom and she opened the door a little bit and then she showed Me to give her `this', it will be better.

Contents: 1985-05-29, Public Program, Day 1, Mental Projections Give us Illusions, San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

I came to San Diego long time back and I'm very happy to come back here. When we talk of truth we have to understand that truth is not what we understand through our mental projections. Mostly the mental projections give us illusions. There is no reality behind them. Truth is an experience of the central nervous system. For example if this is cold I can feel it, it is cold. Even if a child touches this, it can feel it, it is cold. If it is hot we can feel it on central nervous system, that it is hot. In the same way the truth is to be known on central nervous system, not through mental projections. While we live on mental projections some people come and talk about truth, we think he is the man standing on truth.

He represents truth.

Somebody talks about compassion, we believe he's very compassionate he's very peaceful. But compassion does not speak, it is silent, it acts, it works.

So one has to understand that to get to truth, to get to reality one has to cross the barrier of mental activity. Unless and until you understand this simple point, is going to be difficult to give Realisation to people.

This is the basic trouble in the Western countries that they think that they can conceive truth through their mental projections and that's why they have many types of truths.

So how do we achieve it? How do we conceive it? What is the way? How did we become human beings from amoeba? Scientists must ask this question: `How did we become and why did we become? What was the purpose? Why the nature works so hard to make us human beings? Is there any purpose of our life?' We have not achieved our purpose. Is something in transition still. That's why there is confusion. There is confusion because we live on relative terminology, relative world. We are not in the absolute. Everything becomes absolute when you feel it on the central nervous system.

Now the confusion also comes because we always accept something that comes to us very new. Anything new we want to jump into it. Anything new we see, try it, why not? If you say: “Why do you do it?" they'll say: “What's wrong? We are seeking God, we are seeking the truth, we must go to hell even if it comes us to, maybe." Anything new we try, but not in our lives we don't do that way. When we have to discover something about anything, say about electricity, we do not just try something new, but what we try through the knowledge of the past, through the tradition of finding it out. We try to find out how far it has gone and where have we to reach.

But in spirituality we want to try everything that is new. And the shopping starts because we have not known what is the truth. Like somebody told Me in Poona that there are some people who are very sick, group of people, very learned people, very sick. They are suffering from high blood pressure, cancer; they are suffering from heart troubles and diabetes, very serious patients. And they are all seekers. I called them. I said: “What's the matter with you? Why should you suffer?" They said: “We have a Guru." I said: “If you have a Guru there's more reason you should not suffer at all. Why, why is it?" So they said: “The thing is, You see, the name of the Guru was one Mr. [UNCLEAR Guruvani]." Names are also very funny of these people, I must say. But he said, this gentleman, that [UNCLEAR that's/there's] something called [Shaktipat]. I said: “What is that? I've never heard." [UNCLEAR That's/There's] something called [UNCLEAR arunopay/tarunopay]. I said: “I've never heard of these things. From where does it come? It's not in the Vedas, it's not in any Purānas, even Ādi Shañkarāchārya has not described it, Nanaka has not talked about it, Kabīra has never said anything. And of all the persons Gñyāneśhwara, he never mentioned it. What are you talking about?" So they gave Me a book which was written seventy years back, by some mad cap I think, giving some new ideas. And all of them are mad after it without finding out. And they are saying that when the Kuṇḍalinī is awakened people get the heat, they become mad. In that book it was written that people start jumping like frogs. Imagine? Are you going to become now frogs? I don't know what happens to logic when it comes to religion. Is very surprising that those educated people in India should forget all that was written about Kuṇḍalinī, all that was said about Self-realisation from ancient times, one after another in an evolutionary way and suddenly take to something so stupid as that. Like a tree grows, a seed through the living process becomes the tree. And suddenly you jump on to a plastic flower, saying: “Oh, this is something new." It has no relevance whatsoever with the tree. You may tie it up to the tree and say: “Oh, that's the flower coming out of the tree." This is one of the biggest snags in the seeking of the seekers of modern times. I came that time, long time back and I warned people: “Be careful!" I didn't know this kind of madness was going to come out, but I felt there's something funny about that.

So somebody comes and turns your Āgñyā Chakra, you start seeing light. It's an experience, just a sensation it is. What have you become? If you can see the light then you are not the light, definitely. What have you become is the point. I feel very nice, good…

Is that the thing you were seeking? What do you expect to be? So first of all we must understand that your seeking must be relevant to what has been sought before in every seeking.

Let's take Christ. They don't like to take His name these days. It's become so funny. Thanks to all the religions that were created out of these great incarnations on this earth. Whether take it Hinduism, Christianity everything's just the same.

So what did He say? He said: “You are to be born again” all right? So they put a certificate “born again” self certified “born again" is walking around. And when I said that four, five of them got up with a Bible in their hand to hit Me. And I just felt like laughing and really laughing at them. By hitting Me are they going to become Self-realised? Are they going to be reborn? You must face the truth as it is. If you want to avoid it, it's very easy. But this is the last chance.

Human being has learnt many things but has forgotten one thing: that every time we have missed the truth. Let us not miss it again.

So Christ said you are to be born again. Nicodemus says: “That means should I enter into the womb of my mother?" Because after all Nicodemus was a Roman. Indians won't ask such a question, they know what it is to be born again but after all Roman gentleman, you see.

So Christ explains: “Whatever is born of flesh, is flesh. You have to be born again by the Holy Ghost." Who is the Holy Ghost? What did He mean? Christ was allowed to exist somehow or other for three and a half years only. What is three and a half years amongst ignorant people? What can you explain to them? What can you talk to them? I came here [in] seventy-two. Four years I was struggling with seven hippies in London. What could Christ do? How could He tell you what was the Holy Ghost? Kuṇḍalinī is the Holy Ghost, reflected within you. That's the Holy Ghost, which is to be awakened spontaneously as a living process and as a living process you have to become something just like a flower becoming a fruit. Transformation has to take place. In Sanskrit language they call a bird as Dvijaḥ and also a Brahmin, the one who has known the Brahma the one who has felt the All-pervading Power is also called as Dvijaḥ, meaning born twice.

But an egg becomes a bird, is not some self-certification like we are Christians, like we are Muslims, like we are Hindus or we are the twice born or whatever you may say. And we are quite satisfied with this self-certification and we accept: “All right, so I'm this, I'm that." You are nothing but you are the Spirit; that's what you have to become, becoming is the point. Is not a mental projection, an illusion but the becoming is important. And how do you become that? What do you do about it? Simple question. What did you do to become a human being? Did you cut your tails? No you did not. You become spontaneously with a living process. What is that power which has worked out this process of our evolution? And the same power is going to trigger that last happening where you become the Spirit.

Let us accept very humbly that this is what the nature has to do. But if you say it is effortless they can't believe it. How can it be? You must stand on your head; you must run for five miles before becoming a Spirit, or all kinds of other things. I don't know what other things people can do: jump like a frog, maybe. But the simple thing is to be understood that living process take place spontaneously. How? How does a seed grow? The Mother Earth has the capacity and the seed has the innate quality and when you put the seed in the Mother Earth it sprouts. You don't stand on your head for that. Or do you pay any money to the Mother Earth? Poor thing doesn't understand your money part. And then you say you cannot take any money, which is really irrelevant; it's a big joke, you know? You are paying for your Self-realisation just I can't understand. I'm too naive to understand this part of the marketing. Then they say: “No, how can that be?" You have to pay for everything and you have to pay for your Self-realisation.

By the way, how much did you pay to become human beings? And to whom? So one must first of all understand that it's a spontaneous living process, which has made us human beings and the same living process is going to make us the Spirit. And when that happens there has to be a transformation within us and the transformation of wiser people, saner people, normal people, healthier people and not stupid, nonsensical people. But what I find, the seekers are getting more and more stupid... Surprising. Since I have come these seekers have become drug addicts or another nonsense, some sort of a perversion or another nonsense... punks or I don't what to call them.

So for a Mother when She comes back, She sees Her children into these new phases, She doesn't understand. What to say, how to tell them that you are seekers you are seekers of ages. You are a special category of people. Even as late as hundred years back, William Blake, the great poet, has said very clearly that “Men of God will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophets." Is very clearly said. You all have to become prophets, the powers of divinity, not bestowed by any church or certified by any theological thing, but through the grace of the Divine. And then you have the power to make others prophets.

So then they will say William Blake was crazy. That's the best way to certify someone like that and be satisfied.

So let us understand first of all that truth is what it is. It will not compromise with you. If you have to accept the truth, you have to accept one thing: that it is beyond your mental projection, your mental personality. You have to go beyond your mental personality to perceive it and then the whole thing becomes logical.

Today you are born in the most important times when thousands of you have to get your Realisation.

Say San Diego I come all the way, how many we have here? I go to Rome, there are four thousand people.

I go to the foot hill of Himālayas, there are six thousand people, I go into Indian villages there are eight thousand people. But I must say that there are seekers born in America, no doubt. But they are lost into all these ideas, which are just mental projections, put forward by someone here and someone there. Now it's a happening that has to take place, the awakening of the Kuṇḍalinī. Traditionally it was accepted that the Holy Ghost has to give you your second birth. In the Bible it is called as the “tree of life" or “tree of fire" and is said that: “I will appear before you like tongues of flame” and that's how these Chakras look like. In the Koran it is called as “Assas” the Kuṇḍalinī and is said, I mean Mohamed Sahab talked more about Resurrection than about the doomsday. But to them the doomsday is much more important; you can frighten people and make them fanatics. Resurrection part everybody has tried to forget; better forget the Resurrection part.

So He has very clearly said that: “At the time of Resurrection your hands will speak." If He was the last why did He talk of the future? Every one of them has talked that you have to have your Self-realisation, your second birth to understand the Divine. Without that you cannot understand. Buddha went to this limit to say that: “Don't talk of God, don't talk of anything else just first get your Realisation, first thing first." Same with Mahāvīra. He didn't want to talk of God or anything else. “Better have your Realisation." They reached the conclusion the more you talk about these things the worse it becomes with human beings. But even if you see the Buddhists and the Jainists, you will be shocked.

So now with all this confusion let us face the fact that we have to become the Spirit. Now what you have seen here and you have been told about is the knowledge of the roots. We can say in the West the tree has grown too big. You are not bothered about the roots, that's why every time we get reports, it's shocking, the shocks of the future. We don't know what's going to happen, suddenly we are going to collapse, or God knows.

All kinds of shocks are expected in the future.

But one should find out that there must be something sustaining this tree, we must find out about our roots. But to find out about our roots we have to become subtler people. With gross development we cannot do it.

So we have to become subtler persons. But this could be also very misleading because we must understand also how our ascent is going to be worked out. As you see here, on the right side when we move, we move towards our future, what we call the supraconscious. By moving to the right, becoming futuristic, we loose all powers of the left, which is the emotional side, the past. If you move to the left you go to another area, which is called as subconscious. But beyond the subconscious lies the collective subconscious, which is the dead. Like your ideal `Parapsychology Foundation'. Unfortunately I did not to what they are up to. Actually they invited Me and I went there and I was shocked what they were doing with this parapsychology business; was collective subconscious. And to be very frank I told them the truth that they are playing with the dead spirits. Is very dangerous. Even Russians are doing that today. As a result, you know, all their presidents are dying suddenly, nobody knows how. Is thanks to parapsychology.

But in a way they are wiser people. Once they are told they will retreat. They will not find another type of a para... parapsychology.

So when I said they were very angry with Me, they wouldn't like it because they have started a foundation. But I had to tell them, I am sorry. I said: “I'm sorry, you are My children. I cannot allow you to go to hell. It's not proper." Now that phase is over; now I find another phase coming in, another phase coming in.

So if you go to the collective subconscious you are attacked by the collective subconscious. If you go to the collective supraconscious, that's what Hitler did. How did Hitler manage Germans who were quite sane people? How did he manage them? By supraconscious activities, like lamas, you see. They gave them the full ideas how to control the supraconscious spirits, the spirits which are very ambitious people and he mesmerized them. We should not call them regress but in supraconscious case we can say aggress. And that's how they all asked for nothing at all but for power to destroy. Imagine human beings destroying people in the gas chamber, seeing them being destroyed: children, women, all people, young people. Even in the film if you see one child being killed, you start crying. That's an illusion, we start crying. And there they watched it, thousands of them, millions. How could they do it? There must be some barrier, there must be some cover on their eyes that they had no feelings at all left in them, that they are kith and kin.

How it happens? Is the same supraconscious nonsense as you have many other institutions which are doing now, this E.S.T is doing that, E.S.T. If you have cancer you might get cured by E.S.T people. Like if you have cancer you get it because of the left movement so you can go to the right movement. But then you might end up with a heart attack. You may end up with a paralysis, or you may end up as Hitler.

So either you move to the left or to the right and you can say: “All right that is what we felt on our central nervous system." That's not the point. You have to feel The All-pervading Power, which exists, which does all the living work. We see every day these flowers becoming fruit. [But] we don't understand. At the right time these flowers coming, they have their own season, then they fade away at the right time. At the right time the autumn comes in. Who does all that? Which is this power who manages all kinds of choices and sorting out? Like an Indian will have an Indian child, a Chinese will have a Chinese child. Who does all that? That's the power, which is All-pervading Power, which is integration of all these three powers here, which are shown. On the left hand side, as I said, is the power that [UNCLEAR gets us/caters] to [UNCLEAR your/our] subconscious, is the power of desire. We call the channel as Iḍā Nāḍī. The right hand side is the power of action, which we call the channel as the Sūrya Nāḍī. Is the channel of the sun.

Left side is the channel of the moon. And in the center is the channel by which we have become human beings. How? By sustenance of our valances. Like carbon have four valances and human beings have ten valances. And when Moses talked of Ten Commandments He said: “If you are a human being, you better keep your ten valences intact." That's what it is, as simple as that.

So the sustenance within us, which has worked so far is of ten valences. But why the balance, why should we balance the left and right? Apart from the fear of getting into troubles, what's the purpose is that without balance you cannot ascend. If you have to ascend then you must have a balance. But thanks to Sahaja Yoga of today that you don't have to bother to balance or do anything of the kind because the seventh center is open now. With the opening of the seventh center it has been achieved that Kuṇḍalinī can rise, you can get your Realisation whatever you may have done in the past, whatever may be your mental level, whatever may be your emotional level, whatever you might have done to destroy yourselves, still you can get your Realisation. The reason is you have to see in the little light yourself. Even if there is a little light one can see what's wrong with you, with yourself. But if somebody says: `Don't do this,' supposing somebody's holding on to a snake. You say that: `You are holding on to a snake, throw it away.' But it's darkness, he says: `Why should I throw? It's not a snake.

I'm going to carry it.' But as soon as the light comes in, he throws away.

So let there be a little light at least so that they see for themselves, they guide themselves; they become their own Gurus. I don't have to tell them. And in that light they understand and grow wiser and wiser, more established in their Spirit, thus becoming the Spirit in the full way, seeing everything in the Divine light of the Spirit. That is what Sahaja Yoga is. I'm here only for two days, I'm sorry. I came to this side of America only for two days. And tomorrow I'll be here again and tomorrow I'll tell you what is the Spirit. You need not blindfolded believe Me. There's no need, because blind faith is also of no use. But like a scientist you have to see this as a hypothesis, with an open mind and if it is proved then you have to believe in yourself. Thank you very much.

May God bless you! Now if you have any questions, I would like to answer them.

Shri Mataji: Yes. What did he say? Question reported: He wants to know what are your impressions of the systems of meditation given by Maharishi Maheśh yogi.

Shri Mataji: What? Systems? Which one? You mean the flying squads? Horrible, horrible. The head of the Flying Squad Academy in [Ranak] he, his wife and child, three of them suffering from severe epilepsy came to Me. Thank God they are cured by Sahaja Yoga. But the husband become bankrupt. He has gone to... he's gone to South Africa; his wife is now in India and the child in the school. The less said, the better about them. I think you will not put Me into controversies now because, you see, I'm not afraid of them at all, but no use wasting time on such people. They have nicely collected their money. Let them sit down now; they have done whatever they wanted to do. Six thousand crores of rupees isn't it sufficient? With so many epileptic patients going round, jumping in their seats.

Question: How do you nurture the Spirit?

Shri Mataji: How do I know? Question repeated: How do you nurture the Spirit Mother?

Shri Mataji: Ah. That's a good idea. Actually the Spirit nurtures everything. The Spirit is the nurturing force.

So we don't have to nurture the Spirit but the Spirit has to nurture us. But first the Spirit has to come in our attention. Just now the Spirit is watching, is not in our attention. When it comes in attention we can feel it on our central nervous system. All right? And once that happens then it nourishes us. Tomorrow I'm going to tell you all about the Spirit.

Shri Mataji: I'm not very good at American English so I have to...

Question reported: He says he feels good every day and he wonders if a person who does feel good every day what is then to be done?

Shri Mataji: You see main thing is that you feel good, all right, but still you do not know what it is...

Answer: I know what it is. I think I know what it is [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Yes, now what I'm saying that supposing you feel very good you should exactly know what it is, why you are feeling good. Secondly you should be able to give this feeling to others. How do you do it? That also you must know. For this you don't have to pay, nothing of the kind. All right? So is better to have that knowledge. If you feel better and better, something good is happening to you. But let's see or maybe that your Kuṇḍalinī might have been awakened and it's rising in your Chakras. That's why you are feeling better. But to be very sure is better to know all about it. Isn't it? So that you have the absolute, no relative ideas.

Question: The more love you give, I find more pours out and in time it's difficult to express such an intense love for God that you feel unable to express it. It's beyond expression.

Shri Mataji: It's correct. You don't have to express in words; just sitting down you can do it; just thinking about someone you can do it; just looking at somebody you can do it. You need not say anything about it but I'll teach you all that. Those tricks are to be learnt. That's a very good thing to think of.

Yes? Question: Where do you live?

Shri Mataji: I? Just now? Question: Yes. Do you have any place to call home? Are you married?

Shri Mataji: Yes I'm married, I've grandchildren. These days I'm in London. My husband, rather embarrassing, He's Secretary General of the International Maritime Organization, one of the fourteen Secretary Generals you have in the U.E. And He's reelected four times. That's how we are planted in London.

So for the all-practical purposes I'm in London but I'm moving about.

Question: I want to ask You are You [considered] a prophet or what exactly are You?

Shri Mataji: That you better find out. You see... No, no, you will find out very easily, once you'll become the Spirit you'll find out. The reason is, you see anybody who tried to say, like Christ... He said: “I am the light, I am the path” which He was. He was the Son of God but when He said that, they crucified Him. I don't want to get crucified. I want to finish My job.

So you better find out. You'll find out very soon but for all practical purposes they call Me Mother, simple. Because I may be the eldest among all of you. I'm sixty-three years of age so you can call Me Mother or Grandmother, whatever you think proper.

Question: Do You have any special suggestion for your followers about what kind of food they should eat?

Shri Mataji: About what? Question repeated: What kind of food they should eat?

Shri Mataji: No, no, nothing of the kind. In the beginning nothing, you get your Realisation first.

Then if you are a liver patient, supposing you have liver problem, then we'll tell you what food you should have for some time, but then liver gets cured. Or if you have other problems, any other problem in the physical way then we tell you what is to be eaten. But there is no restriction of any kind to begin with.

Automatically you understand because [UNCLEAR once/whence] you get Realisation you start feeling the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost, [UNCLEAR what/that's] we call it and the vibrations, the Cool Breeze, vibrations in the hands and you know on your finger tips because these five centers, six and seven centers on left side and the same way on the right hand side. You know what is the problem, on what center and related to that whatever is to be done you do it.

So related to that we tell you what exercise you may have to do, related to that we tell you what mantras you have to say, related to that we tell you what sort of food will suit you and then you just do it because you enjoy the vibrations, you enjoy to be there.

So it just works out automatically.

So there's nothing general about anything, automatically you do. But so many things you drop out very fast, automatically. I don't tell anything. Once I just said that: “You can get cured of drug addiction" half of the hall was emptied.

So I stopped. It's very difficult these days, you just cannot say anything. Very funny, here. World is very funny these days.

Question: Can you please speak about the connection between the Holy Spirit and Resurrection?

Shri Mataji: Oh, Holy Spirit is the Holy Ghost, is the Power of God within us, the Primordial Mother reflected as the Kuṇḍalinī in the triangular bone called as Sacrum. That means the Greek knew that it was a sacred bone, that they called it sacrum. And Athens has got Athena as the Goddess. Atha means the Primordial Mother and She too had a snake like [UNCLEAR tee] in Her hand with the centers going round like that. But this Holy Spirit, the Holy Ghost is the power of pure desire, the power of pure desire, which gives you the ascent. She rises through these six Chakras, pierces through the last one and then She integrates all of them, enlightens them; as a result your health improves, your mind improves and ultimately it gives you what you call the state of the Spirit, that you become collectively conscious. But tomorrow I'll tell you more about the Spirit.

Question: Do You teach meditation as a meditate [UNCLEAR]?

Shri Mataji: There is nothing like teaching meditation, that's also a misnomer. You are in meditation there, you are in a state where you are in meditation, because you are absolutely in peace with yourself; you are beyond thought. If you want to think, you think, otherwise you don't think. It's a state, meditative state, you become. But how to establish it and how to retain it, that of course we tell you. But very simple actions are needed. Very, very simple actions, by which you give yourself a balance, by which you try to cure your centers and you maintain that state of tranquility. But it's nothing to do with physical exercises. You will know about it in no time, you are all just ready. Like this instrument is all right, I have to just plug in, isn't it? It works. It's fantastic. In the same way you are to be plugged in. But there is something wrong with the instrument so it becomes loose then again you have to fix it up. There what you have to learn a little bit about it. Once it is fixed you are all right.

Sounds very fantastic. But it is.

Like if you take your television to India to a village and tell them about it, that it's a fantastic thing and suddenly there will be a big show coming up in this television, people will start doubting. What sort of a thing it could be? But once you plug in, they'll see it is, already built in everything. In the same way you are all built in with it. Just you have to be plugged. It is very simple because you people have gone through circuitous ways, you see. One cannot believe it. I'd seen one film long time back. One gentleman got an aeroplane, you see and suddenly he lost control, went round and round and round. He thought he was on moon, he's reached moon. And he met with an accident. Then he's thought that he's just landing on the moon. When he opened his eyes he thought he may have to just be controlling the gravity and all that. Suddenly he heard a voice calling him and it was his wife. He had landed very near his house.

Because you have gone round and round quite a lot is very difficult to accept that Kuṇḍalinī has to rise only from the sacrum bone to the fontanelle area, that's all. That's the only journey you have to be. Very difficult to accept but it's true. Realisation is not difficult, but to maintain it one has to understand that it is to be learned.

Question: How and where did you receive the ability to awaken the Kuṇḍalinī in them?

Shri Mataji: Me? I had it born with it. One can be born with it. But I realised that to give en mass realisation seventh center has to be open, first of all. That I did on the fifth of May 1970 and then I realised that with this happening one can achieve en mass Realisation. But till that time I had to understand human beings so by My subtle methods I tried to understand what was their problem, what Chakras they had in trouble, how I have to work out the permutations and combinations in such a way that en mass Realisation can be achieved.

So this en mass Realisation I started from that day. Before that I did not speak about it because what's the use of another Bible or another Gītā? Better to achieve the results.

Unless and until human beings realise that there are higher stories of awareness within them, whatever you may tell them they are not going to understand.

So first it must be done. They have to realise that there are higher awareness states, which we have to achieve, which we have achieved and then they can go further. My Father Himself was a very great-evolved soul and He told Me that those who are born on the tenth story shouldn't talk about it. They should come down and try to raise the people at least to the first or second storey so they realise there are stories beyond because if they just talk about the tenth storey, people will think they are crazy or they'll crucify them. They'll never understand. That won't be practical. But it took some time to understand human beings. They are very complicated people, must say, not easy.

Question: Is there any good that can come out of delving into the collective subconscious?

Shri Mataji: No good; can never be. Whatever is dead is finished. Getting into collective subconscious at the [UNCLEAR might] you might know the number of the horrors or something like that if you are interested. Depends on your interest.

Question reported: She said Mother when you [are] to activate the Kuṇḍalinī do you have to go into a different state to do that?

Shri Mataji: Me, Me? Me I have to go into states? No, nothing of the kind. No, no, no; nothing of the kind. I don't have to do anything whatsoever I tell you I don't do anything. I'm just watching.

Question reported: He is saying is Kuṇḍalinī when You are in a crowd You can feel energy in certain people and not in others?

Shri Mataji: What sort? Do you feel heat? Question: [UNCLEAR] you are just aware that there's an energy beyond, well part of it [UNCLEAR seeking/is heat] and part of it is an energy that you are aware is going in different [UNCLEAR ones/parts] but it seems to be very definite with some and indefinite with others, but you are very aware that something is transpiring between you and them.

Shri Mataji: Actually you see it's...

The same person who asked the question: Along with the feeling of love...

Shri Mataji: Yes but still... one should first of all see it on Chakras to be definite. To be definite it's best is to feel it on the Chakras to know what sort of an energy it is, whether it is positive, negative, neutral.

One must have a definite understanding of it. It could be anything. Like I know of a lady who came from Texas to India. She came to My lecture and she said: “I liked the gentleman who was sitting next to me, he was very fine and I felt a kind of a energy about him and all that thing, you see." I said: “Really?" “Yes, he was wearing a very big coat” she described.

So I asked the boys because is very crowded India.

I said: “Who was the gentleman sitting next to this lady?" So they said: “He's a tramp, he's a drunkard and he's a beggar." So I couldn't understand.

So I said: “You better take your Realisation, then you will know. Best is to take your Realisation so your machinery is absolutely under your own control and you know what it is, isn't it?" That's what I'm trying to tell you that you must know the exact nature of it.

Question reported: He is saying it's totally impersonal and has nothing to do with sex or anything of that nature.

Shri Mataji: No, no, it is nothing to do with sex. Sex is below. This is the center of sex, below the Kuṇḍalinī. That's also another myth that by doing sex, it's another myth that by doing sex one goes to God. And I just don't understand. Animals are... they must go first, before us. It's so logical you know, it's so logical.

Question reported: Can Kuṇḍalinī be blocked and cause pain... Can it be blocked and cause pain?

Shri Mataji: Yes, in some people it does. But if you know how to remove the blocked then it's very soothing but doesn't cause much pain. It's the Chakras. Kuṇḍalinī is the One that relieves the pain, that's the One, which opens the Chakras, but if your Chakras are caught up you do feel the pain. I mean all diseases are because of the imbalances in the Chakras, physical, mental.

Question: May I ask you about this sign on Your forehead?

Shri Mataji: This is the sign that I'm married.

Question reported: She wants to know Mother, if You could explain the desires in a person when you know they are wrong, should [UNCLEAR we/you] subdue them, or, or what should be done?

Shri Mataji: No, no, you are not to subdue any desire but you become so powerful that nothing can subdue you. All right should we have it now the Experience? Better have it because otherwise half of them will go away. We have to use some gums sometimes in the Western countries for people to stick on.

Stickers! Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Yes, you must have your Experience, that's the main thing, otherwise talk, talk, talk, talk for what? I mean is like talking about food and no food coming forward. Here, now. You can't hear? Really? What's the matter? All right just put...

A voice: [UNCLEAR] voice [is] stopped.

Shri Mataji: Is it? I have to learn American English, I know. I pick it up but takes some time.

Somebody: You are doing well.

Shri Mataji: All right? Thank you thank you. Thank you very much. You are very kind. Thank you. All right so now it's very, very simple as I told you; you are in a very good happy mood. The first thing, first requirement in all the Western human beings I found one common problem, of course there are exceptions, is that they have this center very much in trouble, on the left hand side. Now this center is caught up when one starts feeling guilty and is a common feeling. I don't know why the Western people feel guilty… There is nothing to feel guilty. After all, to err is human. Why feel guilty about it? You are human beings; if you have done mistakes it's all right but to forgive, Divine.

So the Power of Divine is so great, the Ocean of Love it's so great that it can dissolve all that is so-called `the mistakes'.

So forget the past and remember one thing that you are the temple of God. Believe Me, you are. You are a special category of people who are seekers.

So we have to respect ourselves, we have to love ourselves. I'm not glorifying you just to please you but it's a fact.

So please do not have any guilt because as soon as you start talking about God people start counting you know: “The other mistake I committed was to put the fork on a wrong place" or “dropped something on the carpet." Nothing is important. The Divine is extremely anxious that you should get your Realisation, extremely anxious. And have faith in the Power of forgiveness of the Divine.

So first and foremost thing is that you forgive yourself fully, entirely and please do not feel guilty at all, that's the first thing. Whatever you might have done. In My lecture might be, might I've said something, which you might be upset about. Forget it just forget it please.

Though the Western people sound aggressive, I don't know why, they sound only, sound it's different, it's an illusion I think. They feel guilty for very, very small things. Indians will never feel guilty, very difficult to make them feel guilty for anything. I mean here the language starts with: “I am sorry, I am afraid." What is there to be afraid or what is there to be sorry all the time? So count your blessings, be in a very, very happy mood and pleasantly placed towards yourself. That's the first request. Secondly we have to use our own action power to raise our own Kuṇḍalinī.

So the left hand you have to put like this with the desire power. It's symbolic of expression of your desire to get Self-realisation. And the right hand you have to use on the left hand side, all the Chakras I'll tell you one by one, one on the heart, then you go down in the upper part of the stomach [on the left hand side all of them], then in the lower part of the stomach, then you come back in the upper part of the stomach then again on the heart, then here the center which I told you is always in trouble, then over here and then over here. Then you have to stretch your hand and put it on the top of the fontanelle bone area, which was the soft bone in your childhood and press it hard and move it seven times. One by one I'll tell you what it is to be done. Another thing is we have to close our eyes throughout this happening. It takes about five to seven minutes all together.

Please close your eyes and take out your spectacles. Be comfortable. Put both the feet straight parallel on the Mother Earth like this because you have to take the help of the Mother Earth. Left Swādhiṣhṭhān.

All right.

So please now put your left hand towards Me like this and close your eyes and don't open your eyes till I tell you, because attention has to be drawn inside, which you will not feel, but if your eyes are open Kuṇḍalinī may not rise.

So please keep your eyes closed. It's very relaxing, extremely relaxing. Now put your left hand on your lap very comfortably. If there's anything tight on your body, which makes you uncomfortable you can loosen it. Be comfortable, that's important. But that doesn't mean you should slouch or you should bend too much. You have to sit straight as much as is comfortable with your head straight.

Now, with the left hand towards Me, all the time, please put your right hand on your heart and close your eyes. Now, on the heart, on the heart. Here, you see, is the abode of the Spirit and you have to ask Me a very fundamental question because you are like a computer and when you ask this fundamental question the answer comes as Cool Breeze on your hands, that you will start feeling very soon.

So the first question you have to ask Me is: `Mother am I the Spirit?' You may call Me Mother, you may call Me Shri Mataji, whatever is convenient. `Mother am I the Spirit?' Slowly, within yourself, in your heart, ask this question: `Mother am I the Spirit?' three times please, just three times. Now the second question follows.

When you put your right hand in the upper part of the abdomen, stomach, on the left hand side, the second question is according to the center. This is the center of the Masters, of your mastery.

So you have to ask the second question: `Mother am I my own master?' Because if you are your Spirit, you are your own master.

So ask this question three times please: `Mother am I my own master, am I my own Guru, am I my own guide?' And please keep your eyes shut, please don't open them throughout, just keep them shut. Ask this question with full confidence in yourself. This center is created by all the great masters, real masters, sat Gurus. Three times.

Now, please take down this right hand on the lower part of the abdomen, lower part of the abdomen and press it, on the left hand side again. We are doing everything on the left hand side, lower part of the stomach and press it. Now this center is a center called Swādhiṣhṭhāna and is for the technique of the Divine Power, the knowledge, the Pure Knowledge. Here I must confess I cannot cross your freedom.

You have to say yourself that `Mother may I have the Pure Knowledge?' You have to say it six times because this center has got six petals. Please just say: `Mother may I have the True Knowledge, the Pure Knowledge of the Divine?' Now, raise this right hand again on the upper part of your abdomen, on the left hand side. Keep the left hand towards Me, stretched. Now here on this center as I said is the center of your mastery. With all confidence in yourself, without feeling guilty, please say ten times because there are ten valences as I said, ten times with full assertion because the Kuṇḍalinī has started moving now to create a seat for Her there. Please say: `Mother I am my own master,' ten times. `Mother I am my own Guru, Mother I am my own guide.' Ten times. Much better.

Now please raise your right hand onto your heart. Here you have to say again with full confidence, with full respect: `Mother, I am the Spirit.' Please say it twelve times. This center has got twelve petals.

`Mother I am the Spirit.' Proclaim it; assert it so the Kuṇḍalinī rises with your assertion. Now, you have to know that the Divine is not only the Ocean of Love and Grace but above all it is the Ocean of Forgiveness.

So as I told you that there can be no mistake which cannot be dissolved by the Power of forgiveness of the Divine.

So now raise your right hand on the left hand side of your neck, place it in the corner between the joint of the neck and the shoulder and press it hard. Now, here please with full confidence, again, very much with full confidence. You have to say sixteen times: `Mother I am not guilty,' sixteen times. `Mother I'm not guilty at all.' Sixteen times: `Mother I am not guilty at all.' Please! Sixteen times. If you still want to continue with it then better take a punishment of saying it hundred and eight times. Believe Me, forgive yourself.

[Aside:] Better? Still there? Better now? Better? Now please raise your hand onto your forehead. Press it on both the sides. When we have headache how we press our head, that's how. At this point, from your heart please say: `Mother I forgive everyone.' From your heart, how many times is not the point. Now some say that is difficult, it's a myth. When we say we don't forgive or when we forgive both are myths. But when you say: `I do not forgive' then we play into the hands of wrong people.

So please say from your heart: `Mother I forgive everyone.' Put the hand on your forehead across. You have to forgive otherwise the Kuṇḍalinī won't rise. Now for your satisfaction only, for your satisfaction only please put your right hand on the back side of your head, press it hard and here you have to say just for your satisfaction that: `Oh Divine, if we have done any mistakes please forgive us.' That's all. But don't feel guilty; not to feel guilty, without feeling guilty. Please keep your eyes shut and don't watch others. This is the time to watch yourself. Now, please stretch your hand, don't open your eyes; put it on top of the fontanelle bone area, the soft bone on top of your head and press it hard, press it hard. Stretch the fingers press it hard and move it seven times. At this time again I cannot cross your freedom so you have to say seven times: `Mother, please, may I have the Self-realisation? Mother I want the Self-realisation. Mother please give me the Realisation.' You have to say otherwise I cannot force it on you. You have to ask for it. Press it hard, stretch your fingers, press the palm, press the palm on the fontanelle bone area. Seven times move it clockwise. Move your scalp.

Now, now, slowly bring the hand down and open the eyes slowly, very slowly. Now you have to watch Me without thinking. You can do it because you have crossed without thinking. You all can do it. You can watch Me without thinking. You can put on your glasses. With the left hand towards Me and right hand towards Me, both the hands. Now with the left hand pay attention here and see for yourself if there's a Cool Breeze coming in. Pay attention here. With the left hand you see, please not with the right hand, left hand. With the left hand try to see. Yes, right hand towards Me, right hand towards Me and left hand here. It's very subtle. Move it about four inches or five inches; move it up and down. Like this, like this. Palm towards the head. Ha, all right? Good? All right.

Now change. Put the left hand towards Me. Don't think; don't think, that's the thing. Just now you don't think; left hand towards Me, with the right hand. See for yourself. Don't think is the point. All right? Now, again once more. Put the right hand towards Me. All right? Is it there? Right hand towards Me and left hand on your livers. You all have liver problems also. On the liver, [to a Sahaja Yogi:] show them the liver. Like this. Better? It will cool down. All right? Now, put the left hand like this. Right hand like this, towards Me, right hand towards Me. Is just I'm trying to balance you. Right hand towards Me, right hand; left hand like this. Is like that. At the back, back side. Like that backside. Yes that's all, that's all very simple. It's flowing out. Better? Don't be upset. It's going to work out. And not to be anxious. It's good. It's there. Now, turn it round. Left hand towards Me and right hand towards the Mother Earth. Not yet? All right? Good. Better. There's another way: it's to put your hands up and your head up backwards and ask a question: `Mother is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the All-pervading Power of God? Is this Brahma?' Ask three questions. `Is this the Brahma?' Put back your head. Now see for yourself how you feel it in your hands. Take down your hands. Very relaxed. Now last of all. We must know how to raise our own Kuṇḍalinī. That's important. We must know how to raise our Kuṇḍalinī. Is very, very simple. Is... put your left hand in front of your Kuṇḍalinī, just like this as he's showing you.

Now the right hand has to move clockwise like upward, forward, downward like that and the left hand has to move straight so the Kuṇḍalinī moves straight with us. You can watch him. Then you take it on top of your head and twist it and give a knot, first knot to establish it. That's it. Again, again. Watch the left hand. Now push back your head, give it a twist and tie: one, good. Now remember that you have to do it properly: up, forward, downward. That's important. Now let's do it again. Watch your left hand.

Now see it will move much faster now, your left hand. Take it upward, again give it a twist and tie it up nicely. All right? Third time three knots to fix it up once for all: one, two, three. Now see on your hands.

Are you feeling? Good? Good... it's there. Are you feeling there? Hot, cold? Good. Who's feeling hot? All right. Now put your left hand here, that's all for a while. If it is hot. Good, good, then right hand.

See now. This is what it is. I mean this is something we cannot do. It's not like jumping like a frog or anything, it's a happening. It's good, very peaceful. Now you have to give yourself a protection, that's the last, which you have to do. It's a very enjoyable thing, just learn how to give yourself a protection and then tomorrow again we'll meet. Bring more friends here, as many as possible, because tomorrow is the last day I'll be here. This is the highest thing that we can give to someone.

Now put your left hand like this, simple. Now you have to take right hand on your auras, just like this and give it a protection: one, again the second one, is two, again is three, again four, five, six, seven auras are there and seven, done. Now see, better you'll feel the vibrations. But don't think don't argue.

Someone who've not felt it in the hand or in the head? Raise your hands those you have not felt at all.

You didn't feel? Who else? You too have not. All right, three. Not at all? There's one gentleman there.

Some Sahaja Yogini sitting there, come and watch him. Which one did you say? There. Can you see that? Now this is what it is when the disciples of Christ, when they got their Realisation, when the Cool Breeze came, of the Holy Ghost, they started speaking in a strange language of Chakras and also they started moving their hands in such a way that people thought they were wild, they were mad. That's what it is because the power starts flowing through you. Is a question of Chakras. All right? So now... [Hindi.] Can you come out those who you have not got as it? Just come a bit. Just a minute. This is doctor Worlikar here? [Hindi.] I need that gentleman there. Please see him.

Now don't think, don't think, that's the point is, let's see. You didn't feel it? All right, little bit behind, just go little bit behind, they'll work it out. Can you, can you take them out? Yes, this side; this side. Yes, that's better. That's better, ha. And this lady also. If you don't mind Madam can you come this side? [Hindi.] Who is there? Somebody, Sahaja Yogini? Can you look after the lady, please? Yes, please. Sandra, can you look after this lady? Come here. This one. Now they have done it and they know it very well. Now you have to do it and you have to become masters. Is very simple, doesn't take much time. Now I think I should shake hands with all of you. Will that be a good idea? Do you mind coming up or should I go down? Whichever way you feel... [Hindi.] Can you come up please? Hello, come here, take out your shoes.

Contents: 1985-05-30*, Public Program, Day 2, Enjoying the Joy, San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

I'm really sorry for getting so late... It happens and whatever happens one has to accept. That's how the Divine works. Everything has some reasons. Now, they must been able to explain to you what centers we have within ourselves and he has told you what is the mechanism within ourselves. It is all built within us during the different periods of our evolution. Every center is built like that.

Now, all this is built, like a pathway. By left and right you create the central path of your ascent. And when this pure energy of your desire ascends, is awakened, then it pierces through the last center what we call as Sahasrāra, meaning the thousand petalled center, which is the brain, we can say, or part of the brain which covers the limbic area. The Spirit is the reflection of God Almighty and it resides in our heart. When the Kuṇḍalinī touches the Sahasrāra, the seat of the Spirit, which is reflected in the heart, gets enlightened. That doesn't mean the Spirit gets enlightened but the attention is like a sarī, which is pushed in like this, [and] when it touches, it pierces through and the Spirit in the heart, which has the seat here, starts entering into our central nervous system.

So the first feeling you get is a Cool Breeze on top of your head. That's the first feeling. Second feeling you get is All-pervading Power because now you have entered into the subtle area of your awareness.

Human awareness is gross first but when you touch the Spirit, you become thoughtlessly aware but there is no thought, the grossness goes away because thoughts disappear. And you become subtler. This subtleness gives you certain powers. The first power that you get is that you become, your awareness becomes collectively conscious. That you can feel another person on your fingertips, that means you become absolutely aware.

Like I went today to Mexico and I could feel the whole country, I knew about it before but My attention was not so deeply there. I could feel the whole country has a very bad left side problem and the left side problem is affecting even this area and the left side problem you can feel it very clearly that your left side becomes heavy and you feel the heat in all your centers.

So you start feeling the atmosphere, the country, the people and individual and yourself.

So you know the problem of a particular place. I mean you may not feel that much in the beginning, you may just feel yourself to begin with.

Then you start feeling others, so thus the awareness grows more and more. In the central nervous system you start feeling the problems of other people, your own problems. But it is not that you feel them as something, which is painful or troublesome, but you feel them as little heat or sometimes little pain, very little, as if you are recording it like a barometre. And when that happens you want to get rid of it as if they are your own problem and if you know how to get rid of it you can do it. That's what I was doing and that's how I'm late, something on the collective. If you are working on something you want to finish the job and then you want to attend to another. Don't want to leave something half done.

For human beings it is difficult in the beginning, because from human awareness you are rising to super human awareness or you can call it to super awareness, into a subtler awareness.

So first the awareness is gross and then your awareness becomes subtler. But with that you do not fell in any way uncomfortable or upset, because you become extremely powerful. Such power of compassion, that you don't feel anything, no pain, no problems, the illusions disappear completely. There's no more illusion in the mind.

Like people say that when you face something you are filled with the greed, or greed or lust. But when your eyes become pure, there is no greed or lust. But what happens that you start feeling the oneness with another thing, whatever it is, in a way that it is joy giving. Like you see someone, an attractive person, there is no sensation of [UNCLEAR berserk] feelings for that person but the sensation just disappears and you start feeling the joy of the creation of that person or the thing.

Like in Mexico, people have made so many things with hand. If you watch them you might think how much it will cost, what will be the price, who has made it. But if there is no thought then you see something, which looks very joyous, because you can feel the vibrations. And you know somebody has made it, who might have been a realised Soul, who might have been a very great devotee of God, might have been a person who must have thought that: `This is your creation, oh God.' Such a person might have made with that feeling which is to be gratified and you feel that we should take it. The matter has only one capacity that it gives joy in giving to others, so that you can express your happiness into it.

So you become very subtly aware of the matter, that you start understanding the matter, what it means and what is the use of a particular thing.

In the same way, when you meet people, new people, absolutely never known, you know what are their needs, what problems they have, on a wider scale, on a collective scale and also you know one simple thing that there are people in Mexico, who are seeking God, who are to be helped, who are to be given something that they want. They may not be so much aware of it but we become aware of them. And a kind of a rapport of a very subtle type is established and you get attracted towards other people not through any lust or greed or any purpose but in oneness with the joy that they have within themselves, the joy of the Spirit. You look at them and you feel: “This person is such a wonderful person." How do you know? You start feeling the cool vibrations in your hand from that person. And you just enjoy that person for that person's sake, not for anything, whether poor, rich, good looking, bad looking, doesn't matter. You approach the Spirit of another person because you have become the Spirit.

People talk of big things, of organizing peace missions, this mission, that mission, to create a better relationship.

All relationships, which are at a gross level create problems, because there is some sort of a lurking selfishness behind it. But once it becomes the spiritual relationship you just enjoy the other person without getting into any discussion about what is your gain, what is you are going to achieve through going nearer to that personality. Thus you become the receiver of the joy. Like a lake, which is rippleless, which is absolutely quiet and looks like a mirror. It reflects all that is created round it completely and emits complete joy of the creation.

In the same way the heart, which is filled with the light of the Spirit, reflects the complete joy of the creation of another person. Whatever it has in a subtle way you enjoyed. Then the time, you don't see, you go beyond time, you go beyond time, you are not bothered about time. Everything has got a proper timing and you start understanding that this is the time it was to be. You don't become a slave of time, you don't become slave of any habits, you don't become slave of any temptations, but you enjoy the complete freedom of enjoying the joy.

For example we are very tight thinking what is to be done next, what this has to be, but then you start seeing the purpose of your life. Like one day we had to have a Pūjā or a kind of a worship. They said: “We'll start at about 9 o'clock" as it is today something happened. And I said: “Alright, we'll start at 9:00." But I knew 9:00 was not all right so I reached the place at 11:00. Of course those who had to stay, would've stayed on. Because you need people who understand that time has no meaning when it is the Spirit. And I said: “Now, just see the Pañchanga, that book which we consult for timing." They said: “Today is the dark night Amāvāsyā." “And when does it end?" “Just now." I said: “That's it." So everything, the timing, everything has to be worked out according to the need of the Spirit and not need of the gross. When that happens you [UNCLEAR go/know] smoothly and understandingly the whole pattern of the Divine how it works out. And that is how you understand the dynamism of time, because you live in the present not in the future or in the past.

Actually the past doesn't exist and future has not come, we don't know what future is. To come in the present you have to be the Spirit. And when you are in the Spirit then you realise that this present is the reality, the rest is a myth. When the Kuṇḍalinī rises She passes attention into an area or She penetrates into an area where there is silence because a thought rises and falls off, another thought rises and falls off. In between these two thoughts this area exists, of the present. Now... But if I say you stop at this point, to be at this point, you cannot. Your mind is jumping either on the past or on the future. But the Kuṇḍalinī is the only thing that stops you at present moment so that you don't consider the past and the future but you enjoy the present, the complete dynamism of the present and you are effective, you are dynamic. You can do thousand and one thing, which normally you cannot do and you are surprised how it works out.

The Divine has Its own plans, has Its own understanding and we cannot make the Divine to work as we want. We have to accept whatever the Divine does and manages and then we see the miracles of the Divine and we are surprised how efficient It is, how beautiful It is, like a machine. We feel the efficiency of the Divine but above all we feel the compassion, the love, the understanding of the Divine. But first we must rise up to that. And for that one has to grow in the awareness of the Spirit. If we cannot develop the awareness of the Spirit, we loose that magnitude which we have to achieve.

So what is to be respected is the Spirit after Realisation, because it gives you the truth.

To understand the truth you have to be the Spirit, otherwise whatever you understand is falsehood, is not the truth. Because of your mental projection you think that that is the truth, is not so. For example now, if I am sitting on this chair you won't know anytime that I ever sat on this chair. But supposing there's a realised Soul who comes round, immediately he will know that there was someone like Me. For example I say that Mozart was a realised Soul. How do I know? He's dead now. Because you can feel it on vibrations that he was a realised Soul. I say: “Abraham Lincoln was a realised Soul." Not because the way he lived or what he did, that what just an expression or was the symptom of his greatness but because when you think of him you get Cool Breeze in your hands, tremendously Cool Breeze, soothing, which crawls over you: “Oh, that's Abraham Lincoln." We do not know where we spend our time, what people are important to us till we are the Spirit. We waste our time catering to something absolutely useless and then suddenly we discover: “Oh, God, what a waste of time, what a waste of energy, what a waste of money. This man was a cheat. He cheated me.

This work was all falsehood. Why did I waste my time there?" After Realisation you become the absolute.

There is no relative value, you do not judge anything relatively, you just know what is absolute and once you know the absolute you are quite sure about it, there's no wavering. Thus you become an extremely powerful person and you know the truth about everything.

Now the truth is very simple that you are the Spirit and you are not this body, you are not this mind and you are not this ego or your conditionings but you are the free Spirit, that's the truth is. But it is not just a mental truth but is actually so and has to be actualised. The third thing that happens to you apart from your awareness becoming the truth, the complete knowledge, you become the source of joy, not that you only receive the joy but you become the source of joy, the source of bliss and the source of peace.

Wherever such a person goes, it just soothes.

Yesterday you saw a lady, she had very stiff fingers, she couldn't move them... and as soon as I said: “What's wrong with your fingers?" she started moving them. She was amazed how she started moving.

Just My attention, just one question. I said: “What's wrong with your hands?" she just started moving.

She said: “Am I cured?" First she said is some nervous trouble and then she saw: “Oh, it's moving, it's all right, cured." How? Because you get that power within yourself of compassion, which doesn't expect any thing, it just works and acts silently. Just paying attention to that person itself, it's sufficient. Just one glance at that person can save that person from any kind of malady. It works but of course it is true also those who are not deserving at all, those who are crooked people, those who are cruel, say for example Hitler, you cannot give him Realisation, can you? He has to suffer.

So, also these illusions that we have about people, [UNCLEAR that oh], we should be kind to everyone, we should be nice. The kindness of the Divine to the crooks is not the way we look at it. The kindness to the crooks is punishment. It's a wrathful God. It punishes crooks. Many people feel that, I mean it's a [UNCLEAR merest] mental attitude to say that everything is illusion, so crookery is also an illusion. It is not. For you it is just a mental attitude, that's all. For the people who are in the boat is all right to say that the ocean is an illusion but not for the people who are in the water. That's just a mental problem that they think it's not an illusion or a illusion, it is not the fact with them, it's not actually with them.

But once you rise above that, to you it is an illusion but to the Divine it's a duty to correct it. And Divine looks after you. All the blessings of the Divine starts showering upon you and you are amazed how it has worked, how it has helped you, how it has done good to you. You are amazed how all the things that you desire you get, your desires change, you ask for something and you just get it. Because these desires that are there are based on something that Divine wants.

Like one we had a doctor who was working in Riyadh and he had a feeling that he should go to Abba, which is a place very much down trodden and where he thought Sahaja Yoga will work better.

So he was very anxious, he wrote a very anxious letter to Me, that: “Mother, please see that I go to Abba." That letter he had just posted, he tried his level best, he couldn't do it. Had just posted, I never received it, even then he got the appointment.

So, the whole attitude towards life changes. Like today if you ask Sahaja Yogis, they said: “Mother, we must go to Mexico." I said: “How far is?" “Fifteen, twenty minutes." “All right." The reason is they wanted Me to put My attention to Mexico. They are not limited to America only. Now, Mexico is important to them. Let's do how we work it out.

Otherwise people could have had some other desires, other things. Little desires like having a house, having a car, having a job, these are all fulfilled in no time. There's no problem on them. Kṛiṣhṇa has said: [Hindi], when you get Yoga, when you get Realisation, you get your well being, your health improves, your mind improves and last of all you become the giver of gifts to others, in the sense wherever you are, you are auspiciousness. You are so pure that your purity fills the atmosphere with auspiciousness and this auspiciousness when acts, you are amazed how people are helped and how people are granted these beautiful blessings through you. And you get aware of it, you understand it.

That's what we can learn from the lives of Christ and all other such great personalities who came on this earth, how they worked out things for others and how they granted them whatever they desired. You become absolutely dynamic as far as the creativity is concerned, you become great creators if your interest is in that, you become great healers as they call it, but not that you heal persons by charging them money or talking about money, but only being in the presence of these people you just heal them.

You become the source of all corrections, but the corrections are not mental that you give a lecture to them: `Now you don't do this any, don't do that any, you shouldn't do that.' Just works out. Just people just melt into that compassion which you are. You don't have to fight anyone, you don't have to struggle.

It just works out. It's so powerful. The most powerful power is of love, of pure love and this purity when emits through you, you are amazed that why people have not used this power of love. They have only used the power of hatred. All these problems drop out, your family problems, your city problems, your national problems, your world problems all drop out. Because all problems come from human beings who are yet very selfish, very secluded, very abnormally attached to limitations.

The whole thing works out so beautifully and we have to create such personalities. For that God has sent on this Earth great people. I see everywhere, they are very great people, very special category of people who understand that they have to play a role in the working of the Divine and they work it out in such a manner, that they contribute to the well-being of the whole Universe. America, I must say, has been the least concerned country about this, I must say. Is the poorest as far as evolution is concerned.

I'm sorry, but has been so. They have had all kinds of Gurus here, all kinds of things but in Sahaja Yoga I find them, they are not there. I'm quite surprised at it, that their interests are so funny, that they have such limited interest in life or what I don't understand.

I've been to this country many a times, of course not so much as I've been to other countries it was every time I have come, I felt that they have to still come up to a point to see that truth has to be accepted, is to be received. Because if the truth is exposed to people who are not yet ready, maybe it will be all lost. It's like the story of Christ where He describes the seeds, which fell on the rock, some fell on the right ground. This is what it is and I face it up. I feel sometimes that such a great country like India, which is now awakening very nicely to Sahaja Yoga, which was just a slave country for 300 years. Or we can say there are countries like Italy, which are very important but were sort of always neglected, treated as something useless, are coming up, because Spirit is higher than anything else. Politics, economics is nothing for Spirit.

Now, let us see what happens in America. Let us see what is going to awaken them. I don't know what is going to [stir] them. Because they are also placed in the Viśhuddhi Chakra. This is the center where America is placed. This is the most important center also. And if this center is not going to be awakened then one has to see to it that something happens. The Divine might rock and shock and tell you that better accept to your spiritual life, is important. Is very important that we should hold the Divine in our arms and try to accept that. People don't realise it, that it is not proper to live with mundane life, day to day life but should think of the wider repercussions that can have on the people who do not think of the calamities that can fall on upon them if they don't accept the truth. Truth must be accepted.

You see the countries, which have vanished, like Romans who were such great countries. They had a fall. Why? Because they took to a life which was destructive, to such a limit that I've heard some people saying: “We, we have a right to destroy ourselves." You have no right at all. You cannot create yourself and you cannot destroy yourself.

So one has to realise that if we have any right that is one to be the Spirit, to be that power, which can make others the Spirit, which can make others the source of joy, what they are. This is the epitome of our evolution.

This is the last judgment as I told you and the Kuṇḍalinī is going to judge you, Kuṇḍalinī is going to judge you. It is not anybody is going to weigh you and say: “You are such a weight so you are all right" or “Your brain has so much weight so you are all right." But the judgment will come to you when your Kuṇḍalinī will rise. You will judge yourself. And you will judge yourself by denying or accepting the Spirit-hood, the oneness with the Divine, that's a fact, I must declare it to you. Because that is what is very important to understand and as a Mother I feel very concerned, very concerned that such a big population should not go a waste, just a waste because they could not realise the importance of their being, of their own life, of their own role as spiritual beings.

May God bless you all.

The lecture can go on because on the Spirit I must have given at least, I don't know, about at least hundred lectures so far, only on the subject of Spirit.

So it's an endless job. And every time I say something people say: “Mother you have said something very new." So the knowledge is endless but you become the knowledge, you yourself become the knowledge and you start understanding it. Only thing is you must have as a duty, respect for yourself and the importance of responsibility that you have to be the Spirit.

That's why you have come on this earth as human beings, at this time. This time is very precious and it's not a fashion to be a seeker but it's something that has to happen to all of you.

Yesterday you people asked Me many questions and I think I answered most of them.

Some of them were very good questions but some of them were a little very simple I think, but nobody was aggressive...

But on the whole I think that maybe San Diego is a place from where we may be able to save America.

I didn't have any program anywhere in Los Angeles or anything, but I came to San Diego. But you have to know that if this is the place we have to get people who are of that quality. I don't know when are we going to get them but I hope we get those people of that quality. Even a small nail can hold a sarī. In the same way a little place looking like San Diego can save America. May God bless you all.

So we'll have the experience now. It will take about five minutes for you because if all the Chakras are discussed already the attention is on that. Is very simple to put your hands towards Me.

Sahaja Yogi: Everyone steps out his shoes, will you?

Shri Mataji: It's better. [To the Sahaja Yogi:] You've done a good job. Ah.

Just put your hands towards Me. Just like this.

You need not close your eyes just now, let's see. Put your right hand towards the Mother Earth. As I told you yesterday left side is our conditioning, conditioning, subconscious and collective subconscious, very much at work here. But also is an emotional side.

Now put your right hand towards Me and left hand towards the sky. Right hand towards Me, right hand towards Me like this.

Shri Mataji: Are you feeling the Cool Breeze in the hand? You are already thoughtless, there's no thought, but just see if you are feeling the Cool Breeze.

Sahaja Yogi: It's better [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Much better Are you? Let's see.

[Shri Mataji blows into the microphone.] All right? Are you feeling any Cool Breeze in the hand? All right, now put your left hand on top of your head, just here, fontanelle bone area. Are you feeling? It's a very subtle thing. Are you? Pay attention.

[To the Sahaja Yogi:] Working out; good? All right.

Now, change over. See the left hand, with the right hand. Just pay attention there, see. Believe that you are the Spirit.

So just you have to say in your heart: `I am the Spirit,' in your heart. Say it seven times, it will work out. Releasing. Is it all right? Are you feeling the heat coming out? Little heat. All right, now turn, change, see now. Right Swādhiṣhṭhān.

All right?

Sahaja Yogi: Right Swādhiṣhṭhān.

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR].

[Shri Mataji washes Her hands with water.] Now, just see, if it is working Cool Breeze...

[Shri Mataji blows in Her hands.] Feel it. Just put your hands like this. It's good. You are all thoughtless. If you see, there's no thought in your mind. And complete silence. Enjoy this. This moment is going to transform your life, take it from Me. You may not realise today but you'll realise it very soon.

Ah, stop [your thoughts]. Have faith in yourself, that's the main thing. It's beautiful. Now, all those who are feeling the Cool Breeze in the hand or in the head, from the head, please raise your hands, all, both the hands like this. Could you believe it? Most of you. May God bless you.

Except for one or two. Maybe you have come for the first time. Have you come for the first time? All right, maybe, we'll see you, it's not difficult. Today it's very powerful day, is worked out. Now know that you've found it but establish yourself. This is very important is to establish. Luckily you have a very good center here. And we have to work it out through San Diego, from this side and from New Jersey from the other side. We have to work it out.

All of you must remember that you have got your Realisation. I don't want to take any promises from you because I depend on your Spirit. Respect it. Respect your Realisation. Respect yourself. Now you will find you have a purpose in life and just understand how this Divine power works and how we can manage it and control it, how we can manoeuvre it and how it works in the larger interest, in the higher interest, in the nobler interest, in the righteous life. You become that and others also become. May God bless you.

It's a time that clicks and that's why one should understand why somebody's late, why somebody's early.

All right. These two gentlemen and there are some ladies here who haven't got the Realisation so I hope the Sahaja Yogis will help them but I'll come down to shake hands with you.

Those who haven't got Realisation please raise your hands and don't wear your shoes. Just they'll come down and see for yourself. Please be seated. Just five minutes more. Five minutes. Don't be in such a great hurry.

[Aside:] What she say? I'm sorry, I'm just saying that you wait for five minutes, I'm coming down and we'll see, those who haven't got Realisation will get it. Don't be in a hurry. What's the time now? I better ask because you all seem to be very much in a hurry. For what? Do you know I travel all over the world and I mean you know I don't earn anything out of it, as such money wise and tomorrow I go to New York, then to Switzerland, then to Spain, all over the places. But how do I do it? Because I'm paid in the way what we call is beyond human awareness: the joy. And that's what one has to achieve.

So don't be in a hurry. Nothing is going to run away from San Diego, I can tell you. Let's see.

[Aside:] They are not so speedy, they are not so speedy like New York...

[Shri Mataji gets down and meets all the people and tells them something in particular. It is not clear.]

Contents: 1985-05-31 Śhrī Devī Pūjā, Steady Yourself, San Diego, CA, U.S.A.

May God bless you. Please be seated.

[Aside:] Just to record, hmm? It's such a pleasure to be in the ashram in San Diego. And it's such a beautiful place, so much expressing the love of God, the Divine, the way it wants to help you at every step. If you want to have an ashram, if you want to have a proper place, you want to look after your children well, you want to do God's work, everything is looked after, everything has to be worked out. If it is not worked out, then how will you do your work? So it all works out. And it's so obvious, the way we have different ashrams, such comfortable places at a very reasonable amount that we can afford, that we can live happily together. This is the abode created by love for you.

So the first thing we have to remember, that among ourselves we should have complete love. [Marathi.] We should not trust people who try to divide us, who try to give us wrong ideas. It's very easy to make out a person who is a Sahaja Yogi from the heart. It's very easy to make out. You have to be a little more sensitive and you'll find out such a person very easily. Whatever may be the cunning, it can be discovered.

Nobody can act against God now, because everything will be discovered and will be found out.

But we have to have our attention fully on your Mother. But some people do get little more fanatic because they are so attached, doesn't matter, you'll come round. But is better to be fanatic than to be doubting.

So those people who do things little over, should commit to a life that whatever they see, whatever they understand in Sahaja Yoga, whatever happens, they will accept it without any anxiety about it.

This is the point, that we build up our images about Sahaja Yoga also. We cannot build up, it is what it is. We cannot build up our image that we think Sahaja Yoga should be like this, Sahaja Yoga should be like that, it cannot be. You cannot compromise, you just cannot compromise. It has to be what it is. It cannot be anything that you want it to be. You cannot mold it, because it is fixed long time back. Now it is what it is and that is why it is working out so well, so efficiently. But to make it more efficient you have to accept its working.

Like yesterday's timings, you see: I knew there must be something and the time was not yet ready.

The time I spent here would have been spent raising their Kuṇḍalinī, unnecessarily wasted. Instead of that, five minutes I took, it took Me to give them realisation.

So it's, everything has to be understood in that light. Gradually you will start seeing the Divine play, how things work out, how it helps you.

But supposing God has brought something before you. Doctor Worlikar told Me a nice story about this which is very interesting, that between the Goddess of wealth and the Goddess of education there was a little conflict. You can say education or the Saraswatī, which if neglected or if too much adored can make you egoistical, in the sense that if you become a person who is after learning, learning, learning, you can be thrown on the other side.

So this lady wanted to test the power of wealth.

So She said to the Lakṣhmī that “All right, let's see, on this person." This person was a beggar, he needed money and very much.

So Lakṣhmī put lot of money in a big utensils, what we call handa and put it in his way. This fellow was walking, so Saraswatī entered into his mind. As soon as Saraswatī enters into the mind he became egoistical and he didn't even look at that, he just walked off. That was his need, but he walked off.

So it suggests one thing, that when people become egoistical, start making their own plans, start making their own suggestions and images they form, then what happens that the Divine, which is trying to supply for your need, for your wants, for your solutions, disappears. This is what happens, that we do not allow the Divine to have its play. This is not only on material level; it is true also on emotional level, it is true also on our physical level, but the best of all that it is true about spiritual level also.

So we should not miss the point. Let the Divine play its role and we should be able to see.

Like Kṛiṣhṇa has said, “Karmanyevadikaraste", “It is our job to do the job." Now we've done the Pūjā, Ār.ti's done. I said, “All right, if we can do it, all right; if we cannot, I'll go by the evening plane." I am not bothered, whether I go by morning plane or evening plane doesn't matter. I'm absolutely relaxed.

We discussed certain important points had to be discussed, some time had to be spent; that has to be done, that's part of our life.

So I'm not anxious that I should go by one o'clock plane. All right, I'll go by the night plane, makes no difference to Me.

So just to have a very relaxed mind, to watch how things come forward. People unnecessarily, [Marathi.], So... Now when we understand that the Divine is having its complete play, its own working, the whole thing is working for us, for you, the Sahaja Yogis. Once you realise that, then you feel absolutely relaxed and you are in joy. But when you start, “Oh, this should have been like this, that should have been like this” then everything is against joy. Whichever way it comes is all right. Once you develop that attitude, then the joy will be complete.

I have seen in emotional life also you people suffer too much. The reason is, for everything you start thinking. Now in India, how we get married is very simple, you see. From childhood we are taught that “You'll be married, so you must learn how to live with your husband” and a man is always told how to treat your wife. But they don't know who is the wife and the husband. But the husband and wife is just a sort of a symbol. They don't know which one it is; just could be anyone.

So once you accept her as a Dharma, it comes as a surprise to you and just enjoy. And the whole thing is built up to a point, to a moment which has to be auspicious also.

Of course they consult the horoscopes, that's an important part, because horoscopes if you don't consult, could be quite disastrous.

So they consult the horoscopes. And if there are so many points, they say twenty-six points is ideal, then they get married, otherwise they don't. Now it's not necessary that we do not meet or we meet.

Sometimes the people meet, talk to each other for one year, may be that their marriages are postponed, there's no auspicious time. They get some time to be together, but never in private; they never go into privacy.

So that moment is kept as sacred moment, when you are going to meet your husband or wife, that's a very sacred moment, so you are concentrated on that point.

So suddenly it is decided. Now, you keep that moment as sacred moment. Even sometimes it happens that you get some time in between, quite a lot, after decision; could be that you have to continue as a feeling, seeing that person, this. But then you do not divert your attention, it's completely concentrated effort. It clicks, because you just accept it.

But here people live together for three years, then they marry and divorce. I mean I can't understand, even if three years you live, seven years you live, ten years they live, still they do the same.

So what's the use of knowing each other for so many years, still you divorce? But it just clicks if you understand that it's a concentrated movement where you have everything concentrated and you just meet the person and accept that person as your companion. Maybe one or two fail, but if you don't think about it, it won't fail so much. Because after marriage you start thinking, “Oh I expected this, I expected that. I thought this would be so; that's not so." And always trying to find fault with another, not with yourself, that's the best part of it; not seeing that how you are adjusting to that person. Once you start thinking about marriage, marriage is finished, already done with. As a child is born to you, without thinking what sort of a child is going to come, you love the child, in the same way in the marriage you'll have to develop that kind of a concentrated feeling. Then only marriages will be successful.

But here, you see, like when you purchase something, you buy something, all right, then you think, “Oh, it was not good, I should have bought something else, would have been better” this, that.

So you go to another thing. Things are different; things are things. Human beings are living things, they are not dead things that you can change one from another, “I could have got that one or that one." You cannot go on like this with human beings, you're playing with the Divine then.

And this is the main point where we feel that Sahaja Yogis have to learn to accept with joy, with happiness and not to project nonsensical ideas. Then only you will find your joy will be complete.

Otherwise it will not be.

Then if you come, say, to the physical side: like here it is, if a woman is very thin, she wants to have legs like this, hands like this, body like this. Why? I mean, imagine everybody to be regimented into certain patterns, so much of the waist, so much of the thing, horrible it will be. I mean you'll be tired and fed-up with that.

So you want to be like that.

Now the fashion comes in that physically we should be Mister America or whatever you may call it.

So everybody is doing jogging, everybody running like mad. But why? You have your own personality, keep it up. You need certain things for your body, the way you are. Of course, if your health is not all right then you try with your Chakras, cure it. But to appearances, to think that `I should look like this, I should be like that,' makes no difference at all.

So again another madness starts, so people are very unhappy. You see, you go to these very so-called elite classes where most of the men are very highly paid, educated, top class people, women are also educated, everything and what they talk is this only: how much calories you eat, this is that.

You don't understand, what's the matter with these people? Their level is so low. That's a decent talk and if they come to indecency they can go to any level also there.

So that shows that there has been no evolution in that person. They just think on those terms. And that's how they become very serious, very seriously they discuss all this thing. You feel like laughing at them, the way they are stupid.

So all these things are regarded as so important in a country like America or any other country, shows the kind of people they have.

I mean, in India nobody is so much bothered about the figure. At least in My age people never liked very thin girls, because they thought they must be very irritable, hot-tempered, all the time thinking.

They never liked very thin girls I really tell you; even now My husband doesn't like. He says, “You see, men have befooled women and that's why women are doing all these things." You see, he's a simple man, so he thinks that the men have befooled them.

So it's like that and then they make legs like this or teeth like this or nose like this and you take a plastic nose, put on, why? So physical also imbalances come in when we start thinking. Because when we think, we collide with another thinking, then we form a general thinking, then a general pattern is accepted. When that is accepted people say, “All right, let's have it." First they used to have very tight clothes, you see and one girl was boasting to Me that she wore it for eight days and she can't take it out now. I said, “How, how did you manage?" She said, “This is something that you can wear and jump into the tub and then it shrinks and you can't take it out.

You can have bath with this, you can do what you like with this." I said, “It's very filthy." “No, no, you can wash it nicely and wipe it." But I said, “Why, why do such a thing which will completely coagulate your blood inside?" Now they started suffering, so now they're having absolutely loose clothes, you see, lanky-pankies, casual, this thing.

So they jump from one to another when you go on thinking about it, trying to devise new methods.

But tradition is different. Tradition is that when people are traditional, what happens actually, those people who are sensible can only become traditional, because they understand whatever is to be discarded, whatever is not to be discarded. And they try to understand how we are going to ascend. Not by taking one side, but on both the sides we must weigh and balance ourselves and then go ahead. And whatever is to be discarded to be discarded, whatever is to be good is to be taken up. Like what you call the trial and error business. You see, you make the error, all right, give it up; then take another, all right, give it up.

Whatever is good, you keep it and go on with it and that's how you build up a proper tradition for other people to follow.

But those who think of the new things all the time, they want to have something new all the time, then they are very much mistaken, that when they do like this what we call is a tomfoolery. With the new things they can land themselves into terrible messes and that's what exactly has happened to most of the Western countries, that everything new they try.

Now the new craze is cocaine, all right, have cocaine. I mean, even I would not be surprised if Prince Philip takes to such a thing or somebody takes to thing like that. I mean, everybody wants to try new and if you say you cannot try then they say, “Why, why not?" This is a very big problem with the Western mind.

So you all people should also understand, don't try new things in Sahaja Yoga. Sahaja Yoga is a traditionally built thing. Don't try anything new in Sahaja Yoga. Whatever we have is more than sufficient, you don't try anything new. People who tried new things have jumped into problems, so do not try something new.

Like somebody said that nowadays, you see, I heard in London we had some people who started giving lectures and giving new methods of Sahaja Yoga, suddenly. And they all went mad. I mean, their vibrations were crazy, I didn't know what to do with them. I was quite surprised. I said, “Why did you try a new method like that? What was the need to try a new method?" “Oh” they said, “well we thought, better try this one." But I said, “I have already told you all the methods. Have you tried, have you perfected yourself? Better try those which I've told you and then you can ask Me and then start something new. But you must understand what you are doing." And also I've seen mediocre Sahaja Yogis always do like that, try some new method. And they'll come out with this thing, “Now I'll tell you how to circulate your breath." Why to circulate your breath? Suddenly they find out a new method. Is a common thing, but these are sometimes could be very sinister people also, so be careful. There is no need to try new methods. Now you have jumped on to that awareness where you have to just be steady.

So don't try at this point something new. Just steady yourself, steady yourself in balance, that's very important.

Second point is that everyone should be knowledgeable in Sahaja Yoga. But some people are so funnily knowledgeable that I'm sometimes surprised. Like there was a fellow who was homosexual or nonsensical thing and then he told some people that “Yes, you see, Mother says it's all right once in a while." I never said so. I can never say such a thing. Then somebody said, “Drinking, all right, Mother said." How could I say? There's no compromise.

Somebody says, “`It's all right, you can do some business." I never said so. No, you cannot do, these things are not, they are not meant for you. You don't have to do it at all.

Right? So anybody who comes out with such ideas, you tell them `nothing of the kind.' There's nothing like that, there's no compromise in Sahaja Yoga, no compromise. Whatever methods we have learned, let us practice them to establish ourselves and establish others. You must keep to your Maryādās, to your limits.

Do not try to fly.

Some people think that they are greater Sahaja Yogis and they will do this and they will do that. Then remember, that is wrong. You have to humble down yourself and remember that when you humble down you will realise that only the humble people are steady people.

So there should be complete humility. Try to acquire more knowledge about Sahaja Yoga. There are so many ways. I have got all My tapes done already, we have got all these Sahaja Yoga books out now and also your Nirmalā Yoga is there, so many ways by which you can understand Sahaja Yoga. If you don't understand, you can ask each other, try to analyze it the way you want to understand, that what Mother is saying, is this is what She's saying. Because My lectures are in very, very simple language. I use extremely simple language, avoiding all literary language as far as possible of course; sometimes I do have to use difficult words, but normally.

So, but beyond that is a very subtle knowledge flowing.

So to understand that sometimes may be difficult, you may try to sort of construct something else out of it, may try to sort of interpret something. If there's any such problem, better consult somebody whom you think is capable of advising you. But you must accept that. You should not put forward your viewpoint and it would be very wrong. Then you will be sort of like a derailed train which goes out of track.

We have a track in Sahaja Yoga, you must know that, whether you like it or not. It's no question of freedom, but the track to ascend. You cannot get out of that track. If you think you can just move about a little bit, have a nice time with all filth and then come back to Sahaja Yoga, you won't be acceptable.

If you do that then I'll have to work hard to cleanse you out, do this, do that. But to keep yourself clean you'd better keep to your tracks and don't get out of it. Don't try to find out new things of doing something which is not necessary; why do it? I mean, simple thing is to understand it's a waste of energy.

I've already found it for you, why do you want to do it again? Like this kind of a blouse I've been wearing now for the last, I think, fifty years or maybe more, this type of a blouse. Now My tailor knows that I wear this blouse, this is this, this is this. He has got My measurements.

So I have to just tell him that “You get Me a cloth of this kind and just make a blouse for Me." He makes it. For the last so many years I have had, about twenty-five years, I had one tailor who does My job. He has no headache, I have no headache, no problem.

Every day if I have to change this pattern, make a new sleeve and a new type of a blouse, I'll have a headache, I mean, I tell you.

So why, why do that? What's the use? Who sees, who is affected by that? So unnecessarily we are wasting our energy on these things. But I don't say that you should be regimented, by any means, but what I mean that wherever you can save your energy of thinking, you should do it.

For small, small things there's no need to have varieties and this country as I've told you before that every tap has to be different, every handle is to be different, every tile has to be different, what is the need? What has to be different is artistic things. Sarī has to be different because it is artistic. But what is in a stitching of a blouse, there's no art in it involved.

So whatever is artistic can be different, but whatever is mundane need not be. In the machinery why should you have different types of things, you'll go mad. You go to a shop, there's twenty types of things, you don't which one to buy, all made by machine only. This is good, that is good. Then another fellow he comes, he says, “Not good." Then you feel hurt.

But if you have for mundane things, few things is better, that you do not take too many headaches upon yourself.

So best thing to avoid all these problems is to use your new awareness of vibrations.

So you save your energies. Your energies must be saved and they can be saved if you do not pay attention to things which are not your style, where you don't have to go.

Just see vibrations. If I go for shopping, now I go shopping for various reasons, as you know. One is to put My vibrations there, another is to put also vibrations on the people who are in the market. Thirdly is to look at all the things, so My vibrations go onto them. Fourthly, to buy something to be given to others. But if I like something it is only through vibrations and I buy it somehow, because it is to be given to someone or something has to be done later. I just buy it, keep it, it comes very handy.

That is how your attitude should be. But on the contrary if you just go on, “I like this, I don't like it” about your wife, about your jobs, your everything, you'll be uncertain. These days in America people are very funny about their jobs also. I have to touch these points, because you'll face this problem. Today they're doing some job, “I don't like it, I don't like my boss", another job. Then they'll go to another job, they change it. Then third job, change it.

They like to change, you know, all the time, it's maddening, I tell you. Change their wives, change their house, change everything. Why? Have only one wife, is better. At the most have two jobs in life, is better. And at the most change three residences, is better. But more than that is a headache. I mean, to Me, I have changed forty houses because of My husband's temperament. But I'm different, because I'm absolutely a person who is not bothered whatever change comes. But you are not the same, so don't waste your energy.

So this is very important to understand, not to go on changing jobs, is very important.

Because that is also a craze, I tell you.

I'll tell you about Douglas. He used to do that. Every time he had financial problem because he was changing jobs.

So one day I told him off. I said, “Douglas, if you change this job", because I saw the vibrations are all right, “if you change this job, that you are not going to see Me again." And now today he has got a house, he's got a car, he's got money in the bank, he's doing well.

So that also is a headache for Me, “Mother, I have no job, I have no money. What am I to do?" Every time there are people who come to India, they say, “Mother, I have no money, I'm sorry I couldn't pay You." All right, doesn't matter. There are at least, this last time also there were five people. But before that I think there were about twenty people.

So every time it happens like this.

So now we must understand, we must have proper jobs. We have to be respectable people. We must have proper qualifications, if possible better to get some qualifications. You are all very intelligent people and you can get your qualifications.

You should have a respectability in the society. Otherwise they'll think that this Mother is the Mother of all the beggars.

So steady yourself in your jobs, in your houses. To steady yourself you must learn not to change. The change makes you unsteady, do you see the point? So there is no question of changing. “I'm going to go through it." Then if it is necessary, if it is not workable, then one can change. It applies to everything.

Now, Guru-shopping is nothing but change. The more Gurus you have, the greater headache I have.

If you have only one Guru, say horrible one, it's all right, easy to clear you out. But if you have been to twenty, whatever am I to do? One fellow who has been to Gurus so much that I couldn't understand his personality. I said, “What's the matter with this?" Every problem, you name it and it's there. I said, “What sort of a fellow is this?" So I said, “All right, write it down all the names of all the Gurus you have been to." He wrote three foolscap papers on both the sides. I said, “I'm sorry, sir, I can't help you." He said, “Mother, You have to, because there's a very immediate problem." I said, “What is the immediate problem?" “That now I am becoming a woman." I said, “Hah?" “The doctors have said that now I'm becoming a woman." I said, “That's really an immediate problem." I said, “That much I can stop, but you need lot of cleansing." And he used to sometimes look like Hanumāna, sometimes he looks like a madman, he used to look like anything, because so many Gurus in him were working it out. Ultimately that he got himself cleansed out and his problem was solved, but even now I would not say that he is a Sahaja Yogi; though he's very learned, knows all about Sanskrit because he have been to so many Gurus, every type of Guru he has been.

This has come by change, “what's wrong?" So once you come to Sahaja Yoga, then stop. Stop everything else.

Second point that I stressed was this, that in Sahaja Yoga once you come, focus yourself to Me and Sahaja Yoga first and then other things. Like Christians when they come to Sahaja Yoga, they can't accept Gaṇeśh. Indians who come to Sahaja Yoga cannot accept Christ. Muslims who come to Sahaja Yoga cannot take to Pūjā. Everybody is coming with a load behind them.

So better come and put them at My feet, finished. Now you see them through My prism, through Me, is better to understand that way.

And those who have understood Me that way, just understand Sahaja Yoga in a perfect manner. There's no fanaticism of the past, neither of Sahaja Yoga either.

So they understand that this is all the same as Mother is and there's nothing to be sticking onto one thing or to another. But it doesn't mean that if you call Me the Goddess Kālī you are insulting Me, or if you call Me Mātājī Nirmalā Devī you're elevating Me, it's all there.

So one has to understand that all this is related to our own compartments. God has no compartments like that. It is not that America exists in His mind, or it is not that anything exists in mind. Do we exist like `now I am only my Viśhuddhi', do we exist like that? Or `I'm only my nose', do we? We exist as the whole body.

So God exists, though He has a nose, He has His ears, say, everything is there; but He exists as God. He doesn't exist like a nose, separate, doesn't exist like only America separate, but He's existing as the whole, everything related to the whole.

And when such a thing happens to us that now we are related to the whole, the Primordial Being, we should not relate ourselves to something that will localise us because of our conditionings. No localisation should be there, we should be in circulation.

I find it difficult for people who have been Catholics to worship Śhrī Gaṇeśh with the same respect, because they are conditioned.

So try to leave it for a while, Christ, completely leave Him alone. Come to Sahaja Yoga, then you'll see Him in proper light. Because this is the problem is, that unless and until you come inside and see for yourself that all roads have come to this one thing, so they are just the same, there's no difference at all.

First come inside. Give up everything, come inside. Then you will know that it's all the same. And this is very important and once you see that, it's such a beautiful thing that you have no complications of any kind, belonging to any particular cult or particular Guru or a particular thing. Even so-called religions are like cults if you see to it, they are like cults, they have conditionings. They have not given you anything but conditioning and illusions.

So we are not to live with illusions, we have to live with reality. And the reality is that, that all these essences are one and we have to be inside them so that we can see them, all of them as one.

This is also very important thing in country like America, I feel, because there are such diverse ideas, such diverse ideas that I, I'm surprised at them. Everything you name it is in America. The other day I developed one thing called Mormon, Mormon or something. Mormon. Name it and it's in America. I don't know how all the varieties have gathered here. Every sort of a Guru, I mean, you discover them here.

I had never heard of so many names. Whenever I come I'd find a new Guru coming up. Why America is the place where all these prosper like this, like mushrooms, you see? A mushroom is growing, that is, is it a rottening thing? Only mushroom grows as fungus. Is it rottening, this country? What's happening? Why? It is the mind of human beings. The mind of human beings here always wants a new thing and that's why a supply comes. As a result of that they become unsteady.

So the main problem of American character is that they are very unsteady people.

You ask them, “How are you?" They also say... Understand whatever you like. They'll never say “How are you?"... What do you understand with that? I mean, an Indian person can't understand. If somebody says like that, an Indian, you see, if you ask him, “How are you?" and he says like this, they'll say, “Are you mad?" Then if you ask them, “Do you understand this?" “I'm confused." An Indian will never say such a thing, `I'm confused.' He's cocksure. “I'm confused" means, are you a lunatic or what? Why are you confused? Something wrong with your brain? So all these ideas, you see, are tending towards our unsteadiness, frivolousness, superficiality. You are really bombarded by superficiality, bombarded, I can see that. Absolutely from everywhere, you see, the media, this, that: it's nothing but superficial. It really kills the inner germ in the human being. And you want to live with it, then you want to think on those lines and really you lose yourself, all contact with yourself is lost.

Under all these circumstances one has to know one beautiful fact, that so many seekers are born in this country. It's America which I visited the first. And I'm sure San Diego is the place where it will start, I have a feeling. [Marathi.] So this is a place very important and I'm nice, I'm happy that you have arranged this wonderful Pūjā and we should do this Pūjā. And I am sure by this we will have a time, specially good time coming where we'll have on one side American evolution, on the other side, Mexican.

This we can work out from San Diego.

It's a beautiful day that you have asked for this Pūjā. I'm very happy about it. Today is the day of the Goddess, [Marathi], trayodashi. Trayodashi is the best, thirteenth day. [Marathi.] See the vibrations, you don't need any Pūjā! There's no need to have a Pūjā, really, it is so much today.

So today is a great day and I'm happy he's asked for this Pūjā here.

So, now to begin with... Now if you have any problems, any questions, you must let Me know. One thing, a Sahaja Yogi should not be a serious person, that's one thing. That doesn't behoove a Sahaja Yogi to be serious. You should be smiling, laughing, enjoying. If he's a serious person then he's not a Sahaja Yogi. I can't keep serious for more than five minutes, at the most five minutes. Even if I have to scold somebody I prepare Myself, then I come down and I shout and then after five minutes if I don't run away then you'll find Me again laughing. Can't, it's all a joke! So nobody should be serious, that's one thing. Nobody should be serious. You should be always smiling and happy people, because there is joy within you. What is there? Only by thinking `I'm miserable, I'm miserable,' you see, that's French style! French, you know, when I went there first time they told Me, “Mother, You look too happy", for French.

So I said, “What should I do?" Said, “Do You see, they are all very, they think they are very miserable people, this, that." So I said, “All right." So I went and said, “Now see, you are all `les miserables' ", you know Victor Hugo has written this `Les miserables', so I said, “All right, you `les miserables'. Now I am a person who is not miserable at all. And you will be miserable in any case if you have, every third house you have a pub, every tenth house you have a prostitute, so what will happen? I mean, you are in for it." That's what it is.

And even Yogi Mahajan told Me that “Mother, we want Your photograph which is very serious, it is hard to get one and we must put a face which is very serious." And ultimately he ended up with a photograph which was horrid. When he told Me, “It's a very nice photograph, You look so serene” this, that and all the descriptions.

When I saw the photograph I said, “It's horrid!" He said, “Really?" I said, “All right, let Me tell you who has done this." He said, “Who?" I told him the name and he was shocked.

I said, “That's the lady who has given you and you know where she is today." Was shocked how I told the name “Jane." I said, “This is the photograph you are sending to Americans." But I know Americans will be attracted by that photograph, because they are miserable themselves, you see. But such people who are attracted to that kind of a photograph will drop out in no time, they will not stick on, you don't understand that point. They are not the type who'll stick on.

Like in Scotland, I went there and there was a photograph I saw and I got a shock. We had gone to a restaurant where we were to have our food and I saw My photograph and I said, “Who has done this one?" They said, “This is the copy of one of the Australian ones." I said, “But who has done it? Because this is not good, very bad." So they said, “This is done by someone, suddenly." I said, “I'll name the person” and I told them who has done it: Hilary. They were all amazed at it.

I said, “This photograph is no good." But now they had put it everywhere. I said, “Let it be." So many people came to My program, all funny types, you know.

Some had one eye, some had one nose, some had something else wrong, everything missing. “Oh God” I said, “`This is the thing of the photograph." And not one person came back. We had at least about five, six hundred people for the program, all like this, you see. [Marathi.] And none of them came back, not one person.

All bhoots, attracted by the bhoot; and I could see on My photograph that it was just repelling it.

So those who take My photograph also reflect in the photograph. You must have seen Ray's photograph come out very well. I don't which one is Ray's here, but Ray's photographs used to be very good. And this time Ray, he has a funny wife, I think. He went to India and Indians told Me, “Mother, I don't know how this Ray is so ruined." In India it doesn't happen. Once a Sahaja Yogi, then they improve. But this fellow was just the opposite, now what to do? They said, “Mother, he's all gone down, what to do?" I said, “Must have been something wrong. What to do?" When I came back, you see, Ray brought three or four photographs of Mine. When he showed, everybody was shocked. “These are not Mother's photographs." And he had to withdraw them. This is what it is. Same Ray who made such beautiful photographs was having horrible photographs nowadays.

So in everything what you do, everything that you achieve, you can make it out. You suddenly become an extremely posh person, you can say, with a finesse, once you are a good Sahaja Yogi. Everything comes in proper stream. You can make it out, very simple ways of such a person are so pleasing and so soothing.

So on these points I have covered lots of things which I wanted to say and that end with it I would say that as Viśhuddhis you have to become the Sākshī, the witness. You have to become the witness. And to become the witness there has to be a detachment. That doesn't mean you live on a shoestring by any chance, but try to have a detachment.

Thank God this time the experience of the Sahaja Yogis from America was not so bad. They were very good people, they adjusted themselves well and they enjoyed themselves. It was fine. And I hope more and more will come and will enjoy themselves. And as you know the new programming has taken place. Is better you people tell us if you are coming or not. But also don't change last minute, it creates problems for us, for everyone.

So please don't change; if you're not coming, it's all right. You will have a certain date, by that time you decide, don't change. You see it's only Americans who did this, nobody else. And we told people, “Now no more, let's give more chance to Americans are coming, we should give them more chance; so no, you are not coming." So poor things, they came for ten days, five days, because we could not arrange for them.

So you should not change your ideas. If you are coming you can decide up to a point, if you are coming or not coming. If you are not coming you just say, “Yes, we are not coming” or if you are coming you just say, “Yes we are coming” and you do it. At least that much you should not change.

So again I request you to keep to your schedules and things, because it really upsets the whole thing. Because now we are working on the rhythm of the Divine and we have no business to upset the rhythm. You may be Americans, but as you know in Sahaja Yoga Americans are not placed very high up. You know that very well. And we think Italians are much better off; they take to Sahaja Yoga just like a fish takes to water.

So Americans have to work a little harder, they have to do little more to get to that adjustments.

What to do? Such a great a country, so many seekers, but they are already ruined, what am I to do? Trying My level best. You all should help and understand the difficulties and you have to be kind to the newcomers and see that you put them right.

So we have to think of our ascent from San Diego and from this corner we are going to enlighten the whole of America.

For practical purposes I've decided that Doctor Worlikar should be in charge in the Eastern side [Marathi], Western side. For us, New York is already Western, all right; and the Eastern side is, the New York side can be managed by him. Because there's a, like a two countries it is, two countries, two different types of thing.

So that is how it is to be managed.

Money matters: you should do deal with money matters with his consent.

So I told him how I do it is that the money is kept in the bank under the name of the registered name or whichever way it is and they have the check book, but I have to sign.

So you keep the check book but he has to sign, so he sees what you are spending.

So check is there. Or you do the same there, see, so that she keeps the check book but you sign, so you know how much is being spent.

So there's a check. Of course, as far as you people are concerned I know it's all right, but still...

Why I do so many things, just to make you understand. Like if you give Me Pūjā money I keep a packet of that. I keep an account of that. There's no need: who's going to ask Me what did I do with the Pūjā money? But I do, I do keep it. And then what do I do with the Pūjā money is that I want to use it for your Pūjā materials, Pūjā things, for presents and things.

So I keep. I need not do it, that's My money, at least that much is Mine, but My pleasure is such.

So that is how one must know that if Mother is so strict with it, why not we? You have to give money in Pūjā, no doubt, because that has to be. First we used to take one `p'. Then I went to two `p', then to five `p's', ten `p's', it has increased like that. And for these Pūjās then, for the main Pūjās that we are going to have, one on New York, they have decided certain amount. That is your decision, I never said anything, because I was only up to one pound, I was there. Then I don't know, I got lost with these people.

So whatever they decide, that is there, is the money that is collected under the name of Pūjā, which I have to take for the Nābhī Chakra. You have to do it with heart, just like the Shabari style and everything will fall in proper places.

So one can say that Sahaja Yoga is not an extreme thing. We do give money; only the Sahaja Yogis can donate money. Say, for food here you have to pay, for the house you have to pay. You do pay, you don't live here like parasites. We don't want parasites around us. But it doesn't also mean that you rob a Sahaja Yogi completely and make him a pauper and build your own Rolls-Royces! So it is not also the other way, that you people rob Me.

So one has to understand that Sahaja Yoga is give and take, in a proper certain manners and that has to be properly done with grace, with understanding, with a beautiful feeling that we are all part and parcel of the whole. And for which America is responsible, because America has to become the Virāt. The Viśhuddhi has to become the Virāt. What a responsibility! So don't quarrel among yourselves, don't quarrel among husband and wife. Try to be one in complete unison, enjoy each other. That's very important. All right.

So may God bless you.

[In Marathi:] This is Virāta's place.

[In English:] Even now the right Viśhuddhi is catching. All right.

[In Marathi:] [directions for Pūjā.] [In English:] Now, I want those people who have not washed My feet so far, should come forward. One by one. [Marathi.] Let them handle the situation. Danny can do it. Danny, you also come here. Now, two persons at a time will do it. [Marathi.] It's very cold water. [Marathi.] Very good, very good. Very, very good. Rub it. Rub My feet.

Now just see your vibrations. All right? Good? May God bless you. Now come along.

[Aside:] Should be warm.

[Marathi.] Come along, both of you. May God bless you. Rub it. Put it on this one. Rub it. [Marathi.] Done! Now, come along, see your vibrations. Now, keep smiling like that, it's all right, it's all right, the sarī can be dried. May God bless you. On the eyes and the head, wipe it. Come along. Very good. May God bless you. Hold it with one hand, tight and another hand, rub it hard. Ah, good. You can feel the vibrations well. Your right, left Heart, rub it, the last finger, pull it out. Last finger, pull it out. It's got it. Now, see your vibrations. May God bless you. On the eyes and the head. Come along. Your face has changed with this! All right? Good. May God bless. Perfect.

[Marathi.] That's all. Come along. That's better. Right, now hold it tight. Rub your full hand. You see, the hand, your hand is to be rubbed, not My feet. Pull that out. Pull it tight.

[Marathi.] Mm, good. I think we are all right. Now just sit, this side. All right? You can't keep it.

Put it on your head. On your head and then wipe your eyes also. May God bless you.

I think you come with him, that's all right. It's all right. A little water. Now, they can use the same water to do My feet. Come along. May God bless you.

Now,... Hold it. Rub it hard. Rub it hard. [Marathi.] Now see. Now. All right? See the left is, a little bit. All right. While sitting, just put the left hand towards Me, right hand on the Mother Earth.

Good? May God bless.

[Marathi.] Good. Now, just see yourselves. How are you? All right? Not yet, feeling? Good. Very good. May God bless you. [Marathi.] Put your left hand here. Rub it.

All right. Now see for yourself. All right? May God bless you. [Marathi.] Just put it on your head first and then on your eyes. Good, nice. Feeling fine? Shiny, eh? Little bit you can lift from this side, this one; this side, yes. That's all right. [Marathi.] Done! See yourself now. May God bless. Have you washed? Her husband? He's washed My feet? In 1981. You both? Both have washed? All right.

So, do you want to wash it again? [Aside:] Yes.

All right. Now come. Are you all right, Jeshua? Better. All right.

Let him play with the water. Close his hands. Ask him to play with the water, would be better. In the water. Ask him to immerse his feet in the water. Rub it on Mine. Wash My feet. Good, good, good.

Then touch My feet. Now put his hands on Mine. Good. Hallo! All right.

So may God bless you all. He's all right now. You have washed, both of you have washed. [Marathi.] Just put more water. Pour all that, I think. And more is needed. That is better. [Marathi.] [Ya Devī sarva Bhuteshu.] Hundred-and-eight names. You said hundred and eight names you have got. Hundred-and-eight names.

You showed Me thousand names you had. These are... hundred and eight. These are the hundred and eight names?... Of Mahākālī. Oh, take a hundred names. It starts with Śhrī Mātā? Take out that one, all right?... Sahasrānama. Yes, we have Śhrī Lalitā. [Marathi.] This is the praise, after the Goddess killed the two Rākshasas called Shumba, Nishumba. They're all again back on the seat.

So now the praise of the Gods, you have to do the same praise. Now, we'll start, you know that up to a point he will read it and then he will tell you that you have to put it “Ya Devī sarva bhooteshu", he'll tell you “Buddhi" so you should put it, “Ya Devī sarva bhooteshu Buddhi rupena samsthita." You know that, “Namas Tasyai namas Tasyai namas Tasyai namo namaḥ." [Marathi.] First he will say the beginning of it. This is how the Gods, you see, praised the Goddess, when She killed Shumba, Nishumba.

So... The first of all you have to give the, what you call, the ghee. But there is no spoon. For ghee at least you have some spoons. [Marathi.] Also the moon. She's like moon. Face is like moon... Just water.

`Sarva' is the essence. Sarva Karini: She's the one who's the ruler of everything. Ati Saumya, Ati Rudra Hai: Extremely gentle and extremely harsh. [UNCLEAR]. We are the intelligence. She's the intelligence in every human being. She's expressed as intelligence, pure intelligence in every human being.

So you just say `Shraddhā'. And now you repeat together. You say `Shraddhā', now say. Nidra.

Should be sugar and then water.

Unmarried girls now. [Marathi.] Unmarried. [Marathi.] She used to do it always in Bombay [Mumbai].

[Marathi.] You also do it the same way. [Marathi.] Now. [Marathi.] You should say, `sākṣhāt Shri Mataji Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ. Śhrī Mātā sākṣhāt Shrī...', what do you say? Just say, `Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Mātā', that's all, `namo namaḥ'. Yes, that's all. That's all.

Sahaja Yogi: These are hundred and eight out of the thousand names of Mahādevī given in the `Śhrī Lalitā Sahasrānama'.

Shri Mataji: First is `Śhrī Mātā'.

So now say it. [Marathi.] `Pataka nashini', killer of all the sins.

So that's why I said, don't feel guilty. She's the killer of all the sins. Mahā-pat: the greatest of, Mahā-pataka nashini.

`Nistulā', means `uncomparable'. [Marathi.] You should first of all touch here. First. [Marathi.] Go and wash your hands. Unmarried women.

Unmarried.

[Marathi.] With the ParaShakti, all the work which it looks at all happens.

`Yogadā'. [Marathi.] I have given you the Yoga, you see, the union.

`Labdha. Puṇya-labdha', by the Puṇyas. You see, if you have no Puṇyas, you cannot find any.

So if many people are lost, you shouldn't worry; they have no Puṇyas. What can you do? `Puṇya-labdhā'.

`Shobhanā-sulabhā-gati', `Shobhanā' means `gracious', `sulabhā' means `easy' and by that, `gati'...

`movement'. You get to the, your realisation through `Shobhanā-sulabhā-gati'. There is no disgraceful behaviour, or it is very beautifully done and also `sulabhā' is `easy'.

`Shubha-karini', Giver of auspiciousness. [Marathi.] Not the red. No, not the red. Now, two. [Marathi.] Unmarried women. [Marathi.] One, one person. All right, all of you! All of you have to hold it in the hand. Now, hold it in your hand, all of you, here. Now from top. Yes, just hold it, right hand. Hold it with the right. Here, one can hold it. Now, put it.

So thank you.

`Pasha-hantri, Pasha-hantri', [Marathi]. You see, they are under bondage. She's the one who kills all the bondages, pash.

May God bless you.

Pavana Krutih [Marathi].

`Vandaru-jana-vatsala', those who bow to Her, She is... She is kind to them like a Mother. She mothers them. Those who bow to Her, She mothers them.

May God bless you.

[Marathi.] Sorry. I'll tell you how it's to be done, you see.

Now all right? You have to go from forward backwards, otherwise the hairs start coming forward. Is it all right for you people? Just hold it. This is rather a big one, you see, just, just a minute, I'll take it.

Hold it, eh? I'll just put it right. Just hold it.

In Kṛiṣhṇa's, this is Kṛiṣhṇa's country, you see and it has to be everything upside-down. All right.

Big problem! Now let Me see. Now it's better. Yes, it's better idea. Put it that way. I look like a Red Indian lady; Inca, Inca-style. All right? Both hands.

Somebody should take a full photograph. I hope you get some miraculous photographs.

[Ār.ti.] [Marathi.] Just give a bandhan there. Kuṇḍalinī's just clear-cut. No, anticlockwise. No, no, there, at...

Just bow down. Let's see. Keep bowing down. We want to see your Kuṇḍalinī. It's all right. Now you try on him. Just move it. Swādhiṣhṭhān. Center Heart.

So hold it tight, hold it. He's all right. You just see his Kuṇḍalinī, at Nābhī.

Just bow down. Is he all right? Left Swādhiṣhṭhān and the Nābhī. You come now. Bandhan there.

Now you are all right. You are all right. Everybody. Let us see everybody. It's better to watch it.

You come along just one minute. I want to see everybody's Kuṇḍalinī. Now, it's good. Now Doug, you are all right. You are all right.

But in the Viśhuddhi, throat, little bit. All right, now, let's see, one by one. Now just put both the hands forward. Just see, his Kuṇḍalinī. Come along. See, his vibrations. Ah. All right? No, left, not all right. We'll see, now. Michael. Hold your breath. Hold your breath. Hmm. Leave it. Leave it. Ah.

Nābhī. All right? Are you all right? Let's see. Started now. You are perfectionists, all of you! He himself is a perfectionist. Heart.

Done! Been worried a bit too much. Nothing to worry. It's done now, all right? She's all right, now.

She's all right. Are you all right? Why? Hold it, hold it there. Hold your breath for a minute. Leave it now...

You come here. This lady. Yes, you come here. She's catching on the center Heart. Now, hold it....

Sit down, sit down. Now, bow. Hah! Leave it. Center Heart... Void... She's been to some Gurus? You have been?... I don't know what is it... What is it?

Sahaja Yogini: It's called Builders of the Adytum.

Shri Mataji: Builders of the? Answer: Adytum.

Shri Mataji: Atom? Answer: I think it's a Greek word...

Shri Mataji: Center Heart you are catching. Hold your breath, please.

You leave it. Again hold your breath. Hah! Leave it. Again hold your breath. Are you better now? Hah! Leave it. How are you? Left Āgñyā. You're all right. Is she all right? See her vibrations. She has to work it out on her left.

Left is problem, I think. Center Heart [Marathi.] Ah! Now it's good... Now. All right. Have you got one like that? Smaller one?... Are you all right now? You got caught up with others. Don't get worried. Nothing to worry. First class! Put your right hand towards that. That's right. And left hand towards Me. Now. Why do you hear so many things? Just now take it... Very good, excellent. Tell her how to do it. Little this side. You tell her, little this side. Put it, hah... Left Nābhī.

How is he?... left Swādhiṣhṭhān. Better? How many days you did that? Not for a long time? About how many years? Put it next to the light. Higher. Fixing the light there.

In between, you have to hold your breath.

[Marathi.] Ah! Good. You're all right now. All right? What happens in Vancouver? Must meditate regularly, that's the real way. Now, let's see... Patricia.

She's from a very strict ashram, of Bala the great! You are perfectly all right. You are all right. No problem.

Bala is coming here, like Hanumāna, to America very soon. But you see, when he starts all correcting and all that he's all right, but then sometimes he gets so tired, then he becomes a complaint master, you know, isn't he? So I have told him next time you don't complain to Me about anyone, otherwise he'll get...

... is done. All right, he's done. Excellent! You are right, all right, come along. You are perfectly all right. Yes, now come along. If you want Me to see you again... You are perfectly all right. Very good.

For trade [UNCLEAR] you have to now stick onto your job, all right? It goes from right to left, right to left, that's not good, eh? Just try My trick! May God bless you. I think, you'll be all right. But you see, your Heart catching, all that is because, if you start changing jobs, it works on your, put your hands towards Me.

You are all right, James and despite Santa Cruz! May God bless you. I'm really very happy about it.

I didn't know you worked there in Santa Cruz. That's something I'm very much worried about. May God bless you. I'm very happy that you are there.

Something is working out. It's good. You are very good.

Santa Cruz otherwise could be,

Sahaja Yogi: I should stay in Santa Cruz?

Shri Mataji: Yes, I think so, you can. Very few people can, without catching, so you'd better stay there.

So may God bless you.

Now, who else? So everybody has been? [Marathi.] Very good. Excellent... Now. Better take out the... if you can. It's mine, all right, take it out, doesn't matter. Better? That's how you can treat people, you see? Ah, now. Left...

Sahaja Yogini: Should I not wear the other rings?

Shri Mataji: Better not, because sometimes your Chakras are not all right. They give a pressure...

What? Yes, that's what is needed. Who else? Come along, come. Nābhī... Swādhiṣhṭhāna... artistic? Hah! It's all right. Working in the restaurant, so you can have...! She's all right. Come along now, who else? Ah, better, isn't it? I'm saying that you search a husband for her; because I searched yours in no time! It was such a fast thing, such a fast thing, wasn't it? Those who tie it up put their hands like that.

Wah, wah, wah, wah, wah! I think you just take a photograph.

So, Alex, everybody has got it? Come forward. Let's see. Are you all right now? Better? Better now. Let it work out. That's all right. Hah, now, is he? Left. Right to the left. Right to the left. Ah, that's it. Hah!... Hah! Done! All right? How is he? Bring him. Where's the other baby? Where is he? Shaun. Shaun, come here. I wanted you to come and make Me wear this. You have to make, good, you're all right now. God bless you, now, now, Shaun, you have to put this in My neck; she's feeling shy, you see. Now, this one is not feeling shy. Now, let Me have this one. This one doesn't feel shy. Ohoho! This one doesn't feel shy.

Oh! You are crying, so he's also crying! He's also... See now, they have done the Pūjā, they have done everything for Me, you have done nothing! Shaun, you have to put some, All right, let's, don't disturb her, they are all sleeping.

[Sahaja Yogini asks about a name given previously to her child.] You put it `Narasimha', who gave her the name?

Sahaja Yogini: You did.

Shri Mataji: Where was that?

Shri Mataji: Narasimhini. I gave you the name! She was born, when was she born?

Sahaja Yogini: On July the fifth.

Shri Mataji: Ah, that's why, because she's a Leo. You can give her another name also, a simple one.

That's a power of Goddess, you know. Oh! Somebody's coming up! Ah! You can call her Kesar. Kesar. `Kesar' means `the power of the lion'. Kesar. `Kesari' is the lion and the `Kesar' is the power of the lion; same thing as Narasimha. That's easier, Kesar.

Sahaja Yogini: [asks the name t be spelt].

Shri Mataji: What does she want? K-e-s-a-r. Kesar. All right. He wants to have something more.

Whatever you want, Shaun, what do you want? Shaun, what do you want to have? You want to have this? Which one do you want to eat? Which one you like? You're hungry. Whatever it is, have it.

Everybody has been? Hallo. Come along, come along. What do you want? All right, all right. Let him have something there. They all like grapes. There.

So let's see you. You have to bow. You, she has to still come, yes. What about you? You have, I see.

So sweet. He's shy, that's all. He's excellent, Shaun is excellent! Very beautiful, excellent, see now! Now slowly open the eyes. He's a bit shy.

Sahaja Yogis: Butter.

Shri Mataji: You made it? You made it here? Really? It's great! Now, take it, it's all right. Good.

May God bless you.

Come along, now let Me see. Are you all right now? Not yet? I think you sit more comfortably.

You're very tight. Be comfortable, that's important. And now let's see. What's the matter? His left side is so tight today. Left Āgñyā is still there. And right Swādhiṣhṭhāna, Heart... Chakras.

Now come along. David, you put this light on his back. Here. And now you put both your hands towards Me like this. The light you take it in your hand, that one, that one. The one that is before you.

Now, she's all right. She's all right. You're all right. May God bless you. You are all right. Now, who else is left? In Marathi also we say `I' is `me', `I'. Better? Now, it will work out.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Lalitā.

Shri Mataji: It's catching. Put right hand on the Mother Earth.

Hah! She's all right. You are all right. May God bless you. Come. Now you grow up fast; you have to give realisation! Hah! All right. She's all right. You are all right. You come along now. You have been. All of you? Now, right. Heart. Right Swādhiṣhṭhān. Left Swādhiṣhṭhān. Heart. Both sides. Heart.

Combination is funny, left, right Swādhiṣhṭhān and Heart; Center Heart now. [Marathi.] Hah! Hold your breath. Do like that, do like that. Hah! Better? Better now. Now better. Better, but she has to work. Hallo! Work it out, because a funny combination: left Swādhiṣhṭhān, right Swādhiṣhṭhān, Heart and Sahasrāra. E-g-o. As simple as that.

Rub My foot, right? Still. Now, what you do is to put your right hand towards Me, left hand up. Let's see, one by one. Are you better now? Still the left is catching.

Why don't you both get some lemon and chillies? Would be a good idea. What have you been doing? Have you been, I don't know what you have been doing. I just don't understand. You had right side, but this left you didn't have it. Left Nābhī. Very hectic liver. That way you're much better. Left Nābhī's all right, but left Swādhiṣhṭhāna. That is your psychology. Do you meditate? You see, I just thought that right-sidedness could be down in a place where it is quieter, so that your speed at least should come down first of all. And then it will be all right. Just put down your speed. `I don't do anything,' you should say. All right? Put it everything into the hands of God. Still there? Better now. It's very surprising. What's that? A gift? That's all right. Thank you. What's this, two? Two things not allowed! What's that? I did not see the gift! That is his trick, I tell you: I was buying it and he bought it! Oh, it's beautiful.

So we quarreled for quite some time. It's not easy to win over Mister Danny! But this one is a trick you played. This one is, this is not. This one was tricky. For the other two is all right, but this one was tricky. It's a beautiful piece, though, isn't it? These are magnets? Beautiful. Very good. We should get a suitcase where you can keep all these things, in several boxes.

You see, in that if you put this...

No, he was saying, doctor was saying he has got a box which he'll vacate it. But so far they have not telephoned, these people. Ah, he is worried on that. All right now. Better? Are you better? I think first the financial situation should improve, then you'll be all right. I think if you really go to Mexico, that would make some money also. And she is also very clever.

May God bless you.

But to establish, how will they do it, suddenly? They have to ask the government here to employ them, or something. But there is no job problem there. All right. That's a good idea. May God bless you. I don't know how also his boss is. Might be he's caught up with his boss, or something. How is he?

Sahaja Yogi: Terrible, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Ah, that's it.

Sahaja Yogi: Garam's uncle.

Shri Mataji: Because you are not so bad. I know. I heard. Must be, must be him.

So better change him now. As he says, they can find out something for you. Better try. Because that will bring down her speed also, I think, because your country is very, moving slowly, yes. It's a very speedy place also; America's extremely speedy. Those who have no speed can come here, but those who have speed should get out of this place.

At first I thought it would be nice if you go to New York, but New York is no less and that won't suit.

So if it could be arranged in Mexico, nothing like.

Once they are all right then there's no problem, once they are balanced; but both are caught up. And they are good people there, they're nice, they're not horrible people in that country. Except for this black magic they do, which can be corrected. Slowly they'll be all right. Things are so much cheaper there, so much cheaper... Handmade, yes, that's also a good thing, compared to machinery.

So all right, thank you very much. May God bless you. Thank you for the purse. May God bless you.

Now as you have given Me purse, you must have lots of money here! In this ashram you must get lots of money.

So far, nobody gave Me a purse, for your information. This is the first time.

Sahaja Yogi: For auspiciousness we should have put a dollar in.

Shri Mataji: Ah, it's a good idea, one dollar, then. Five dollar is too much. One dollar. No, no, no, no. This is the Pūjā money? So this you give it in the general Pūjā there, when they have it, eh? Now I have got this purse, that's all. You don't have one dollar, isn't it? All right. But he's given twenty-one now. He's another difficult person! All right. Now what I'm saying, that this Pūjā money whatever you've got, you count it and put it in a packet, give it to Me in the general Pūjā money, but from your side, all right? So for the real Pūjā it's going to be there.

It's of course a real Pūjā too, today, it was a great Pūjā, but the Kṛiṣhṇa Pūjā we are going to have there.

So thank you very much, it's rather smart for Me. Very good. This time, you know, four [UNCLEAR forces/purses] I have got, luckily.

We must give a bandhan to that gentleman.

[To Carolyn Vance who was next to Her in the back seat of Her car after a prolonged silence:] Don't feel so responsible for America. You weren't here for all your lives.

Contents: 1985-06-02 Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa Pūjā, Ashram, Englewood, NJ, U.S.A.

Today we are going to do the worship of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa came at a time on this earth when in India the people were very much ritualistic. They had become slaves of the so-called Brahmins who had no idea about God at all, because they started a theme that a Brahmin can have a Brahmin son.

So the birth determined the caste of a person. Before that it was not that a Brahmin would have a Brahmin as a son. It's also true that if you are a realised Soul in the real sense, if you are a really realised Soul, then you must have a child which is a realised Soul.

And that is how also if it was said that if the father is a Brahmin, is a realised Soul, his son also becomes a Brahmin.

Because you are a Sahaja Yogi now you can understand that a Sahaja Yogi's son normally becomes a Sahaja Yogi.

So it was agreed that children of a Brahmin will be called as a Brahmin. Gradually it amounted to this that any child born out of a Brahmin was called as Brahmin.

Now we have seen that many Sahaja Yogis also don't have realised Souls as their children. Maybe their own Karmas, maybe the child, anything it is, but even I have seen some Sahaja Yogis having horribly devilish children.

So it shows that it is not through your birth you can claim that you are a Brahmin or the one who has known the Brahma. Brahma is the All-pervading Power.

So you have to be a Brahmin by your Karma, by what you do.

That is how we have got Valmiki who was just a fisherman. He wrote Rāmāyaṇa, he was a great Brahmin. Then you have got Vyāsa who wrote Gītā. He was an illegitimate son of a fisherwoman and he wrote Gītā.

So this idea was outed by Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's incarnation. He wanted to out this idea that Brahmins are the ones who can only worship God.

So to put another extreme to what Rāma has created, to bring people into the center, because through Rāma they went to another rigid form and rigidity of ritualism and too much of fundamentalism.

So to put an end to that he wanted to bring the society to another extreme. Of course Śhrī Rāma himself incarnated as Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

So he started a new theme of, which was absolutely eventual, it was just absolutely evolutionary that such a new theme should come up. And this new theme was that the whole thing is nothing but a Leelā.

It's just a play, it's a Leelā.

So not to be taken that seriously, not to be so rigid, not to be fundamental, not to be so particular about something.

So the whole thing is a Leelā. And on this theme he worked out everything to establish that it is a play.

And that is what you see in America, very common that for people it has become a joke, life has become a joke. And they think that life is not to be taken seriously, there is more fun in doing all kinds of things than in getting into any kind of inhibitions, as they call it, or maybe some sort of forms or patterns.

But it is a myth with Americans now because for that you have to have Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, you have to have realisation. Like if you are standing in the water, the waves of the water are there absolutely real for you and you, if you think it's a illusion you'll be completely finished. The illusion will prove that it's not an illusion by asserting itself. But if you're in the boat then the water that is around is an illusion.

So it's the state at which you are. If you are in the state of Self-realised mind, then everything is an illusion, but otherwise it is not. It is a reality.

So what they forgot this point, that you are not in that state to call it an illusion.

So to call everything an illusion is just to delude yourself, thinking that it's an illusion and doesn't matter, what's wrong, so what.

It's quite symbolic that in Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's place this thing should be so commonly accepted that everything is an illusion.

So who is wrong, who is bad, nothing is wrong. There is nothing like evil, nothing like good. And some people go to that limit to say that there's nothing like a bhoot, nothing like a Rākshasa, nothing like a evil force.

Now for Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa how did he look at things was this way that for him even to kill a Rākshasa was a play. To destroy a Rākshasa was also a play. In that play he was to be destroyed.

So he discriminated in a way that what play is to be destroyed, what not to be destroyed.

The play of the evil he destroyed by his own play.

So to say there was nothing evil is also wrong. Like even if you think everything is a play, what happens that your attitude towards it is like a spectator. You see the whole thing as a spectator, like in a drama you sit down and you watch everything as a spectator, but you know what is depicting tragedy and what is depicting comedy. You are not inert to that then you are good for nothing. That doesn't mean that you become inert to that.

You have a sense of discretion to know what is a comedy and what is a tragedy. But if you are an actor, then to you it is not, it is not a comedy or a tragedy, it is a work for you. If you're acting then you're acting and you're an actor, you're involved in it.

So it is not, for you do not know the discretion between the tragedy and the comedy. For you, you're just an actor as long as you're paid well, you should do your job well then it's a comedy, otherwise it's a tragedy.

So there are two types of awareness, now of one of a spectator, another of the one who is in it.

So one has to understand in that light, that when Kṛiṣhṇa said the whole thing is a play, he was meaning for him, not for others. For him it is a play. And that's why when they talk to you about the play and the illusion you must tell them then why did he kill Kamsa. Why did he kill Jarasandha? Why did he kill all the people who were following Kamsa? So to him it was a play, everything was a play and he did it in his own attitude of a play.

So the first thing if you are awakened by Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's powers, then the first thing that should happen to you is wisdom. Now the wisdom is something you cannot describe. You cannot say what is wisdom.

It's very difficult to describe it or to delimit it. Wisdom is a temperament, is a quality of a personality which comes to you by balancing yourself, by trial and error method. All traditional countries innately have much more wisdom than people who are not traditional. But Kṛiṣhṇa broke all the traditions. That's why you people are here without much tradition. He broke all the traditions, but he was Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, so he did not need any tradition at all. But for you, you have to understand from the people who have tradition what is wisdom.

So we do trial and error. We make mistakes, from that we learn.

But when the ego is so strong in a country like America, when we do wrong, we do not want to accept it was wrong, it was against our ascent, it was against our higher goals. We get satisfied with the lower goals, like I've seen people who do some funny things in Sahaja Yoga. They don't realise that this is absolutely against them, whatever they are doing is against them, they should not do this, it was wrong to do it. On the contrary, they catch on the left Viśhuddhi that is another catch they have on the Viśhuddhi Chakra.

So because you're indiscreet, you do wrong things.

To develop discretion, outcome of all this is discretion, you make mistakes. When you make mistakes, instead of developing the discretion about it that this was a mistake, next time we should not do it, facing up to it, what we do is to feel guilty about it, so you escape it, spoiling the other Chakra also.

That is how people get a problem on the left Viśhuddhi and left Viśhuddhi is that you feel guilty. It's very good to feel guilty than to do anything about it. That's the best way to escape it. Actually we have seen that mostly left Viśhuddhi comes from ego. When ego is too much, you can't bear your ego, so you put it in the guilty side of it and you say, “I'm very guilty, I should not have done it." Now the another side which is also very dangerous is the right Viśhuddhi. Right Viśhuddhi is the one by which we try to justify all our indiscreet behaviour.

So, “What's wrong?" “What is wrong in this?" “So what!" All these things are right Viśhuddhi problems.

So it's very common you tell somebody that it is wrong to do, for example they paint their hair. You tell them, “Don't do this, it will spoil your eyes." they will say, `So what, we have a right to spoil ourselves, we have a right to destroy ourselves” as if they are Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, that they can destroy themselves, can they? They cannot even create a little ant, leave alone ant, they can't even create a stone. And how do they have right to destroy themselves? So this is the right thing where we think that we have the right to destroy.

As I told you about eyes yesterday, it's very important that eyes are the ones which gives you the play of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, the power of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. Even a glance, a little glance of a person who has Kṛiṣhṇa consciousness, as they call it, if he has Kṛiṣhṇa consciousness, then should be able to awaken the Kuṇḍalinī, should be able to redeem, should be able to comfort, should be able to cure anyone.

Even a glance, a side glance can do it, if it has Kṛiṣhṇa consciousness, but not self-certified ones who say, “We are Kṛiṣhṇa consciousness” all the time taking the name of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa or any mantra.

So on the left hand side the escape is feeling guilty. When you feel guilty, they try to find out some method of expression.

So they say they go to some Guru and then the Guru gives them some sort of a mantra and they accept that mantra, they go on saying. As a result of that they catch more on the left Viśhuddhi.

Because if you go on saying mantra without the connection, you get completely caught-up.

So the left Viśhuddhi is again gone and your mantras are absolutely useless, they're destroying them.

Actually many people I've seen who get to heart attacks, who get anginas and also who get cancer are the people who have been doing mantras like this, without the connection with the Divine. If you're not connected, say for example this is not connected and I start using it too much, it will get spoilt. In the same way the center on the left hand side gets spoilt when you start saying any mantra without being connected, without feeling the power of that mantra.

So in Sahaja Yoga we've got mantras to neutralise these mantras on the left hand side.

Right hand side comes when we talk big. It's a common thing with your politicians, they talk very big.

They think they're very responsible people and do all irresponsible things.

So when you want to spoil that Chakra, one has to do some irresponsible talk.

So like that we can say, “I will do this for you, I will do that. I like it, I can find this, I can manage this” finished. When you start saying in the ego form that, “I have to do this, I will do this” then our ego shows up. But on the contrary, if you say, “I have to do for you, Father; I have to do for you, Mother, it's your work I'm doing” then the whole thing disappears and you get that beautiful thing called surrender which is Islam. Islam is nothing but surrender.

So you surrender yourself by saying, `This is your work, Father; I'm working for you, I'm your instrument, I'm your flute.' So you play the melody of God.

But for that also the central point of discretion has to be used. Every time you go back to discretion.

Like some people do all kinds of wrong things and they say, “Mother, we did it for you." How can it be? Like somebody wants to drink. He says, “I got drunk because Mother I wanted to help you." Or Hitler can say that, “I killed so many people because I wanted to remove all the Jews who killed Christ." So this right Viśhuddhi gives you a kind of a mind which tries to justify everything and tries to explain everything. Every action can be explained. “Why did you murder?" “Because this." “Why did you do that?" “Because of this." Once you start justifying your wrong deeds, right Viśhuddhi goes up to your brain. And then whatever you do has a justification.

Like, if I say that the Americans came to this country, they actually robbed the other people of their land and now very nicely settled down. Now, when I say that, immediately most of them will go to the left Viśhuddhi. “Oh, we are very guilty, we did this, we did that." But a real Sahaja Yogi won't do that. A real Sahaja Yogi, what he will do, he'll say, “Alright, this is done by my forefathers, I did not do it. But I can try to rectify it, I'll try to be beyond racialism; I'll look after these people who have been robbed, I'll try to give them whatever is possible." This is the way you face and not just to say, “Oh, I'm so guilty that my forefathers did this and all that." But what are you doing about it? Like I went to Switzerland and I said, “Don't feel guilty." So one lady said that “I'm feeling guilty for Vietnam." I said, “What did you do there? Why are you feeling guilty for Vietnam, of all the things, at least you did not go to fight there. Why did you feel guilty about it." So she says, “I'm feeling just guilty because I think we have done a wrong thing." I said, “But how do call yourself `we'?" So this is also another point which comes out of indiscretion that we suddenly become a personality which is a part and parcel of the whole.

So we think that `Oh, we Americans are of the world.' Alright, how? The day you become the world most of the problems will be solved. They're the greatest headaches, like Russians are. Both are headaches to the whole world.

If they become the whole world, there's no problem, there's no problem, because then they become the love.

But just assuming a situation where we think, we are, we. Who are the `we'? Husband and wife can't live together. Children and father cannot live together. Mother cannot live with the children. What are `we'? Where are `we'? Such fragmentations. They'll fight over small things like a penknife or something, which penknife to be bought. For that they will fight. How are they `we'? There's no unison, there is no concord.

Just the opposite of all that is the Viśhuddhi Chakra.

So from the very beginning, if you see that a person who is a realised Soul should see everything as a play. Even the destruction of evil is important, even the killing of the evil is important. If you do not kill the evil, the evil will rule. Do you think Hitler should have been saved and should have been put in charge of God? He's saved by killing him. Because he was destroyed, because everything was destroyed, he's saved.

This is to be understood in his life, Kṛiṣhṇa's life, that this is first thing happens, so that for you people, evil is to be finished.

So what you have to pray that, `O Lord, finish all the evil of the world, all the destruction of the world, all the minds which build up our destruction, please try to neutralise it.' This is what a Sahaja Yogi should ask for. Instead of that, they try to sometimes identify themselves with these ideas. That's not correct. You have to stand up and you have to say that it's wrong, `We are not to destroy anyone, we are not to kill anybody, we have no right.' So when Kṛiṣhṇa told Arjuna that “You kill everyone who are related to you, who are your friends and who look like your Gurus, but they're already dead." It was Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa who said, it was the incarnation of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa said it. That doesn't that you start killing everybody, becoming Arjuna, you're not Arjuna.

That is how Anand Marg, this thing organization came up, which started killing everyone, thinking that they have a right to kill. How? You have no sense of right and wrong. How can you kill anyone or how can you save any. First of all try to save instead of killing. Supposing you are faced with a boat which is in danger, people are getting drowned and you find that you have to save the people. Will you kill the people there or you try to salvage them? There is no occasion for killing now. You don't have to worry about killing, let God do that job. What you have to do is to save people, you have to save as many as possible all the time. And those who are wrong type of people, you just forget about them. You just move them out. Take them away. Have nothing to do with them. Do what you like, but do not kill them.

So that is one thing one has to understand as Sahaja Yogis, that you are not here to kill anyone, to destroy anyone, to trouble anyone or to do something that is not proper. Even there is no need to say harsh words. God is going to look after. He's so anxious today, you are on the stage and He's so anxious to help you in every way because you're doing His work. But doing His work you don't take up His sword into your hands and start killing everyone. That's a very common thing we do it, in Sahaja Yoga, I've seen people become very aggressive, they talk very aggressively. Specially the newcomers who come in, in a program. Instead of being kind, nice, compassionate, good to them, immediately they'll say, “You're a bhoot!" Very common. You won't find Me doing that anytime, do I? Then you start aggressing each other also, which is against the principle of Viśhuddhi. You're not to aggress. You see, because whole thing becomes discretion.

What is discretion is diplomacy. The Divine diplomacy is expressed through your discretion. If you have a sense of discretion, now you know, this man is dangerous, he is troubling you, now if you have a proper sense, you will remove that person in such a way from amidst yourself that there won't be any more discussion, or destruction. But on the contrary, what you do is to challenge that person and a big fight starts. And Sahaja Yogis can fight, I tell you sometimes I don't know what to say about their fights.

So must have discretion, must understand. A situation develops, for example, a situation develops where you find somebody is telling you, “You see, this person has said this about you." Then the same person goes and tells another person, “That person has said this about you." Then you start quarreling. Instead of finding out the basic reason, instead of finding out, `Why, why this is happening, why such a situation has come between ourselves. We were friends, what has happened?' Instead of that, one starts fighting, getting angry.

That's not the sign of any realised Soul expression. Realised souls expressions have to be extremely discreet, delicate, beautiful.

Nobody should notice that you have been in any way effective and that's how you'll work it out.

So the incarnation of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa as we say is the incarnation of the Divine diplomacy.

So he plays.

Give you an example how he plays. There was a Rākshasa, a devil, who had a blessing from Shiva that nobody can kill him. And only a saint who has never opened his eyes all his life, if he puts his eyes on him, he will be killed.

So there was a saint who had a blessing that you go into your Yoga, Yoga nidra, sleep in your Yoga sleep and once you open your eyes on whomsoever it will fall, such a person will die.

Alright, so Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa was very clever. He was fighting this devil and this devil was about to kill Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. And Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa knew all about this, his background.

So he started running away from the field, so he's got a name called Ranchordas, the one who runs away from the battle field, is regarded as something really derogatory, because it's not something great to run away from the battle field.

So he didn't mind, he ran away and then this devil started following him. And he went into the cave where this great saint was sleeping in his Yoga nidra. And he removed his shawl and put it slowly, delicately, on that saint and hid himself.

So this Rākshasa came behind him. He saw him lying down there. He thought this was Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

He said, “Ah so now you're tired, you're lying down here. Come along now, open your eyes!" And as soon as he pulled the shawl with little strength, this fellow got up and his eyes looked at him and he just was burnt. And he did not mind getting the bad name of Ranchordas. That is the sign of diplomacy.

So the whole discretion of his is plain throughout his life, the whole discretion, what he should do, what is right, what is wrong, is he doesn't have this problem.

Then he had to have his powers, all of them brought on this earth.

So he played a trick. He got all those powers in the form of women, young women. And he made one king drag these women into his own court for him to use them. But he could never touch them.

So Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa went and defeated this man.

He has to have justification also, he has to have a religious justification for doing something.

So he killed this king, brought all these women and they all became his wives, so-called.

All kinds of tricks he used to play. I'll tell you the Rādhā's trick that he played. Today I'm wearing a dress like Rādhā because she's Virāt-āñgana, she's the one who protects our Suṣhumnā Nāḍī. She's the Mahālakṣhmī and she wears the sarī like this to protect. She wears this way, while she leaves her left hand open because this is the Shakti of Mahākālī and the right hand she closes because the right hand is the Shakti of Mahāsaraswatī, meaning the power of creation, because creation has been done already. She's created the earth and she's created human beings, everything is done. Now that is stopped.

And in India, Brahmadeva is not worshipped except there's one temple where they worship Brahmadeva, otherwise Brahmadeva has no temple or anything.

So she closes this side, she preserves it within herself and she opens her left side. And in front of her is the complete protection made for all her disciples.

This is the whole big `archal' she makes, normally the `archal' is other side of it, where the child is kept inside, hidden in other sarī. But in this one, the one that they have here is the child is kept underneath this, so the whole ascent takes place of Mahālakṣhmī. And that's why this is the Rādhā's powers is shown.

So I'll tell you the last story about her which will conclude this talk about Rādhā and Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

That one day, one of the wives of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa was befooled by Nārada and Nārada said, “See, Kṛiṣhṇa doesn't love you, he only loves Rādhā. He's just telling you stories that he loves you, that you are his wives but he is not. He is only attached to Rādhā." So the rumour, you see, went into the women. All of them started feeling that, “O really, it is so." So they went and told Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa that “You don't love us, you just love Rādhā." He said, “Who told you?" They said, “Nārada." “No, no, who told you this." They said, “Nārada." He said, “Nārada is just telling you lies, you see, he is just trying to make some quarrel between you and me, so don't listen to him." They said, “No, no, it's true, we can prove it." He said, “Alright. I don't know that, but just now I got terrible pain in the stomach, terrible pain, I can't get over it." So they got all worried. They said, “What's the matter, what sort of a pain it is, what can we do to overcome this pain." He said, “There's very simple thing that you'll have to give me the dust of your feet to drink. If you can take out the dust of your feet and give me to drink, then I'll be saved." So these ladies used their brains. They said that “Already he doesn't love us and then if we give him the dust of our feet we'll be committing sins and then it is going to be much worse.

So what's the use of playing into his hands, he's very diplomatic, it's better to forget about it." They said, “No, no, no we don't want to do such a sinful thing, is to give you the dust of our feet, it's non-protocolish, we have nothing to do like that, you don't teach us all bad things." So they stopped it.

So Nārada came, he said, “Now what to do, how to get rid of your pain in the stomach." He said, “There's only way out, you go to Rādhā and tell her that I've got a pain in the stomach and this is the medicine." So he went to Rādhāji and he said to her that, “You see, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is very sick, he's got pain in the stomach and what you have to do is to give the dust of your feet." She said, “Yes, why not, take it, for that pain, of course, why not?" So he said, “Aren't you worried about your Puṇyas, aren't you worried that you're committing sin." She said, “You don't know this Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, he has no sense of sin at all. He makes me do sin morning till evening, what am I to worry about sins. I'm not going to worry about that, you better take this for him, this is his worry." So he took the dust of Rādhā's feet and took it down to Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa: “Did she give you." He said, “Did she give you?" He said, “Yes, she has, I'm surprised, but she's not worried about her sins, she's not worried." He said, “That I know." So he said, “But how do you explain it?" He said, “You'll understand just now." He took the dust of Rādhā's feet, you see Rādhā's feet were dusted or were full of dust of Vrindavan and Vrindavan has got yellow kind of clay, you see, the soil is yellowish and the whole yellow thing was on her feet which she removed and took it.

So when Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa drank that dust, Nārada saw in the heart of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, Rādhā was lying down and playing with her feet on the lotus of his heart. The lotus had the pollen, the pollen of the lotus was touching her feet and was making it yellow. That's what she said that “What is it when I'm in his heart, my feet are in his heart, so what is the sin I can commit?" And when the ladies heard this, they realised that their idea about Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is still not sufficient. They have to be Rādhā to understand him. And this is how he plays diplomacy, simple tricks here and there by which he did it.

And to introduce the beauty of Leelā, he started Ras; Ra is energy, Sa means `with'.

So he made Rādhā dance, stand there with him, give him the power and everybody danced. And they looked like as if Rādhā and Kṛiṣhṇa dancing. And this is what he started and then to make it, culminate it, he made a festival of Holi in which he said, “Abandon everything! For a minute you abandon everything." And that abandonment has now become a, that's for only one day you have to abandon, here it has become a year-long Holi.

So people are busy with a year-long Holi without Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa and Rādhā.

So what will be the situation of such a place? And that's why I think, what happens that when you try to attract others by all these stupid things, only the bhoots are attracted and they get into you. And once they get into you, you get funny, you don't know why you behave like this, why things work out that way.

This is why we have to understand that we have to be attractive to God. And you'll be only attractive to God if you have got your spirit. If the spirit is shining, then only can get it.

So May God bless you.

[As the Pūjā protocol progressed, Sahaja Yogis noticed a few things going wrong: like the Swastika was up-side down on Her Feet. They were wondering what was happening. Shri Mataji then laughed while crossing Her feet, as Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa and said:] It is Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's leelā, so things are going upside down!

Contents: 1985-06-11 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Arrival, Founex, Switzerland

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

Today we have a new generation of people what we call the people who are seekers. These are some special category who are seeking something beyond. They are seeking the truth as they say. But what is the truth? What are you seeking? As I told yesterday in Geneva that whatever you are seeking has to be something sensible. It cannot be something nonsensical, that something new comes to you and you just accept it because it is new, but must evolve through that traditional understanding of seeking. Then we are on the right path.

As I told you yesterday only one hundred years back new methods of seeking started, which has no relationship whatsoever to the old methods, to the tried out methods, to be traditionally practiced, no relationship at all. And so I have read books where it says that Kuṇḍalinī awakening gives you problems, it gives you heat, you start jumping like a frog. Now, we are not going to now become frogs, are we? What urge we have of seeking is coming through our evolutionary process. It is a living process, which is within us, which has made us amoeba. Now if you have to become something higher, then we are not going to be like frogs by any chance.

So we should see how in the scriptures, ancient scriptures of every religion it is described and you can bring down or boil it down to one main problem. Christ also has said that you are to be born again. But it is not a mental process. By mental process you cannot create anything that is living.

So it has to be something living process, which should happen to us by which we become the Spirit.

To become the Spirit is not something that you can pay for because it is a living process. You do not pay anything for any living process like sprouting of the seed. The seed has the germinating power and the Mother Earth has the sufficient energy to manifest it. You don't have to pay to Mother Earth or to the seed for this germination. And no effort; it has to be effortless. These are two things our ego is not willing to accept. We think we can purchase God. Any Guru who says that He can be purchased, you must know he's fake. If he puts you into some sort of an effort also, you must know he's fake.

It should happen spontaneously, easily; that is what Sahaja is. `Saha' means with, `ja' means born.

You can pay for this hall but you cannot pay for your realisation. When we are conditioned by our ego, we do not see it. On the contrary we enjoy it. And when the ego is not pampered we feel unhappy.

Now as we know that we have to become a super human being, what should happen to us really? When we become the Spirit the quality of Spirit must manifest through us. Not that we change our dress, hair styles, all outward thing, but from inside something has to happen to us to be the Spirit. The first quality of the Spirit as described is that you know the truth. Now the truth first is that you are the Spirit. You are not this body, you are not this ego, you are not this superego, you are the Spirit.

So the second part of it is that when you are the Spirit your attention has to be different from what it is today.

So the first thing happens to you that your attention becomes very aware and has what we call the collective consciousness. The attention is expressed or manifested through our central nervous system.

So our central nervous system itself expresses our evolutionary ascent. Like a dog, if you want you can make him go through any dirty lanes, but a human being cannot go through it.

Human awareness is much higher than that of the dog.

So the awareness that you are going to have now has to be something higher than what you have already.

So this awareness is the awareness of the collective. That means macrocosm, which is the big thing you get it into your awareness that you are a part and parcel of that macrocosm; the microcosm becomes aware of the macrocosm. Now this awareness when it comes to you...

Like this finger has awareness that it is the part and parcel of the whole but supposing if it is numb, it has no awareness. But when it is awakened, it can feel the awareness that it is the part and parcel of the whole. In the same way you become, you become, again I say, you become collectively conscious.

It is not just a mental conception but it is a thing that happens to your central nervous system. But when we go for seeking, if we have to understand that unless and until we know the reality, we cannot be benefited. With artificial things, man-made theories we cannot be satisfied, but something that happens to our central nervous system that we know that we are now empowered.

As this machine is connected with the mains, when you are connected with the mains, the energy which is all-pervading, starts flowing through it. And you start feeling the All-pervading Power, which does all the living work, is flowing through your hands. Then you realise that you have become an instrument of the Divine Power. When the energy starts flowing, you feel the Cool Breeze, on the hand, of the Holy Ghost. The Kuṇḍalinī is the Holy Ghost reflected in your sacrum bone. And then She passes and pierces through the six centers from here, then She gets the Spirit enter into your attention. Our attention is, say, like this cloth spread on the stomach. When the Kuṇḍalinī rises through it, the attention is pierced from here. Now when that happens, the All-pervading Power starts trickling down on to the attention all over.

This All-pervading Power is the power of Divine Love. It thinks, it organizes, it plans, it loves. It is the one which is the subtle of the ether you can call it. It is the subtle of the matter. It is the subtle of your emotions. It is the subtle of your mental power. It is the subtle of your evolutionary power. But all integrated and coordinated in complete synchronization.

So efficient it is that you are amazed how it works. Now you see these flowers, how beautiful they are. And they appear on the trees or on the shrubs where they are supposed to be. [UNCLEAR There's a big choice]. At the right time these flowers become the fruits. A mango tree will give you a mango, an apple tree gives you an apple. Who does this choice? Is this great power which is all-pervading. But we have never felt its existence. We have taken it for granted that it exists and we don't want to know about it. We don't want to know why we have become human beings from amoeba. What is the purpose of this life? Why nature has taken so much trouble to make us human beings? There must be some purpose for it. We never think of the purpose and we lead a purposeless life. We are not here to just live like animals. But we have to do something much more because why should we have this human body and this human awareness. This human awareness when it reaches a state where it starts thinking why are we here, that time you become a seeker. But you have to know that you have to become the Spirit, which is a collective being within ourselves.

This is the knowledge of our roots. We have grown too much outside but what about our roots, if you do not look after your roots what's going to happen to us? And to know about the roots you have to be subtler; with your gross attention you cannot know yourself.

So it has to be pierced through your Kuṇḍalinī. Kuṇḍalinī is the pure desire. That's the power of that pure desire because after getting your realisation you don't need anything, you don't want anything, there is no more desire left; that's the ultimate. All other desires are impure because even if you get them you are not satisfied. Now you see people think that if you take to drugs or to alcohol, alcoholism or to any jobs or to money or to any kind of such fascinations, you will be happy, but you are not. On the contrary you become a slave.

But the second thing that should happen to you that you become the master of yourself. You are not slave to anything. Nothing should dominate you and you should not dominate anyone. If that happens to you then you should know that that is what is the Spirit. Now as a result of this happening what other things should happen to you is that you should know about yourself. That how will you know? You have to go to a doctor to find out if you are physically unfit. They say you are all right and after one year they say you are suffering from cancer. You feel all right and suddenly doctors tell you, you are about to get lunatic. You don't know what has happened and why should I suffer like this. Because you have no knowledge about yourself, what's happening within. But when you get connected with the mains, then you can feel your Chakras very well on your fingertips as they say and you know what's happening, where we are going wrong.

So you get corrected.

As the Kuṇḍalinī ascends, the first blessing that you get good health, that you get a proper mind, that even your material problems are solved. You don't get very rich because it is a headache to be very rich.

But you get a blessing by which you feel very satisfied. In London now we have, London city, at least thousand Sahaja Yogis and it is hard to find one without a job when there is so much unemployment in England. I don't tell them, `Don't take drugs.' I don't tell them, `Don't smoke.' I don't tell them anything. But it just happens overnight to people: they become so powerful that they are not tempted any more to anything like that. We have seen many incurable diseases, like cancer, AIDS, being cured by Kuṇḍalinī awakening. It's your Kuṇḍalinī, it is your power of repairing that works it out. You have to awaken it. That's the only little work that has to be done and then you have to establish it.

When this happens to you then you become first, as the Zen has said, thoughtlessly aware. Jung has said that you become thoughtlessly aware. There is no thought. One thought arises, falls off. Another thought arises, falls off and we jump on the cusp of the thoughts. Now, what we have to do is to jump in between the thoughts. We think of the past, which is finished and think of the future, which doesn't exist.

But as a result of Kuṇḍalinī awakening you stand in the present without any thoughts. If you want, you can think but if you don't want, you need not think.

So you become your own master. And when this thing happens you get completely peaceful and blissful.

Now when you become, then people are amazed to see your transformation. You feel completely redeemed and resurrected into another being. You become so joyous. You see the whole thing as a play, as a drama and all the worries and all the mythical ideas just drop out. That is now imminent. You have to have it now. We are standing on the verge of destruction because the tree that has grown has not looked after the roots. Destruction is not going to come from atom bomb, it is going to come from within yourself. But before destruction there has to be resurrection. Even Koran has said that resurrection is so important that at the time of resurrection your hands will speak. That has to happen to all of us. That is what we are seeking.

In the Sanskrit language you call a bird as Dvijaḥ and a realised Soul also as a Dvijaḥ, or a brahmin they say because he knows the All-pervading Power, which is called as Brahma. Because the bird is like an egg first and then it becomes a bird. In the same way a human being is like an egg with his ego and superego. But then he becomes the realised Soul, the free bird of the Spirit. This is the complete freedom.

Now whatever I have said to you because I have come for the first time to Neustadt, may be a new thing altogether. For example those who have never heard about electricity, if you tell them about electricity they will be quite surprised. It is not new, it is thousands of years of knowledge. But as scientists you must keep your mind open. It is like a hypothesis for you. And once it is proved, it becomes a law for you.

That should happen. And once that happens you start seeing it clearly as an experience of the Divine Power that is surrounding us. But it is not meant for people who have no respect for themselves, for their own being. Those people who do not understand why are they here on this earth, that their potential is so great. It's not meant for frivolous people, who want to waste their life in frivolous things.

This is the time of Last Judgment and the Kuṇḍalinī is going to judge you. If you miss the point, you have missed it forever. As the Mother I have to warn you. But I don't want to frighten you at all. Because Kuṇḍalinī awakening is a very easy thing, I mean for Me and later on for you also. You can also do the same way.

Now we have many Sahaja Yogis in Geneva and I would like to have lots of them even in Neustadt, who can awaken the Kuṇḍalinī of others and give this experience. You, yourself become the light. You do not see the light but you become the light, the quality of the light.

In this short lecture in one day I won't be able to talk about everything. This was just they wanted to find out if there are seekers in Neustadt of genuine things. How many genuine people there are or just a fashion of seeking. But then you can listen to many tapes of Mine and know all about it free, absolutely free. You can become the master of all this knowledge. All this knowledge is within you. You have to just enter into the kingdom of God and you get all the knowledge yourself. The experience is very simple and you don't have to do anything about it and immediately you start feeling extremely relaxed. You start feeling the Cool Breeze around you and on top of your head. But then you must establish and you don't waste your realisation. Like a seed is just sprouted, delicately you have to look after it and try to establish it. For that you don't have to pay. Very simple methods are to be adopted for keeping up the Kuṇḍalinī up there.

So you reach the second state, which we call as Nirvikalpa Samādhi, which is actually the doubtless awareness. Then you can give realisations to many. This is what is today's Sahaja Yoga. Only the speciality of this, in this age is that the seventh Chakra is opened. Because the seventh Chakra is opened you can get your realisation easily. And it can be worked out en masse. Till the sixth Chakra it was the life of Christ, which He opened. And the last job was to open the seventh Chakra, which is done now. And that is how it is working out. It is for the emancipation of all the human beings. You are the ones who are going to save them. Today there is no time to tell you about all the prophecies made about this time but when we'll meet again I will tell you all about it. Thank you very much. If you have any questions, you can ask Me.

They have become thoughtlessly aware.

Translator: This lady would like to know the method to meditate.

Shri Mataji: That's it. That's just like a seeker. All right. That's what I am going to tell you just now. But apart from that? Translator: This lady says it seems to her that that it was said that it is dangerous to have the Kuṇḍalinī raising without...

Shri Mataji: I have already explained to you that it is not knowledge; it's some sort of a sinister statement. I think it's a negative attack.

Translator: What is the Kuṇḍalinī?

Shri Mataji: I told you that She is the power of your pure desire. She is the representation or the reflection of the Holy Ghost. Holy Ghost is the Primordial Mother.

When we talk of God Almighty and His Son and a Holy Ghost, one must know that you cannot have a son without a mother. Holy Ghost is the Primordial Mother. She is your Mother. She gives you your second birth. When you were born your mother took all the trouble, you don't even remember how you were born. In the same way you get your second birth without any trouble. She does everything very sweetly.

All the ladies are only asking questions.

Translator: You spoke about the prophecies that you are going to tell another time, is it from the Bible or any other?

Shri Mataji: From everywhere. They have all said the same thing.

Translator: Gentleman asking question?

Shri Mataji: All the ladies here talk.

Translator: Do we have to forget?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no. You become extremely intelligent and you remember many things which you would never remember normally. But you have to forgive. That's different. The attitude changes. You start seeing the whole thing as a drama, out of it. And then only you can improve it. If you are involved into it, you cannot.

All right.

So let's have it now, it's very simple. Only one thing you have to help Me. I don't know what sort of floor you have, is it cement? Translator: No, it's a wood, stone.

Shri Mataji: Stone? Translator: Tiles.

Shri Mataji: It's all right. You see, you have to take the help of the Mother Earth. But I hope it's not very cold. You have to take out your shoes, I am sorry and put them on the Mother Earth. Thank you. It's simple, it's very simple. Just to take out, just take the help of the Mother Earth. It will take hardly four, five, ten minutes, not much. It won't take much time. Actually it happens that moment but as we are little complicated people, it takes little time. But don't feel guilty. The common disease is that you feel guilty for nothing at all. And you become very serious. You have done nothing wrong. Please don't feel guilty. That stops the Kuṇḍalinī from rising.

So now, I'm sorry, we had to do this hurried up thing today and... because situations, with the situations one has to adjust. That is what is the situation is today. I may not be able to come down for Navarātri Pūjā, may not be, may be, I can't say. But whatever it is we should have a little Pūjā that's what is the desire.

So we will do it. Now, only you have not much time, but you can say the mantras and somebody can just wash My feet and [UNCLEAR]. It takes about five minutes to wash the feet.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, should we say your 108 names with the translation in English?

Shri Mataji: That we will. All right, you think so. But I think better is to say mantras. It's better.

The mantras of the Chakras, you see, it's better to say because that also is very important to say the mantras of the Chakras.

Sahaja Yogi: From the beginning to end.

Shri Mataji: To the end.

So you say one and then they will repeat. From one to another. Start.

Sahaja Yogi: We can start with Śhrī Gaṇeśha?

Shri Mataji: Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

Sahaja Yogi: Three times Śhrī Gaṇeśha?

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Now Ādi Kuṇḍalinī three times. Now Brahmadeva Saraswatī once. Now Guru, Ādi Guru. Now Lakṣhmī Viṣhṇu. Then Jagadambā. Now Kṛiṣhṇa, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. Now Śhrī Rāma. Now Shiva. Now Jesus.

Śhrī Virāt. Omkāra. Now Kalki. Shri Mataji Nirmalā Devī.

Now say the Sahasrāras mantras, three, Sahasrāra Swāminī, Moksha Pradāyinī, Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Sahasrāra Swāminī Moksha Pradāyinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ..

Shri Mataji: Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ..

Shri Mataji: Now after saying all these mantras you have reached up to Sahasrāra and you have also pierced through the Sahasrāra. The most effective mantra you know is Mātājī Nirmalā Devī and that works the best for Sahasrāra. Now one thing we must know if somebody's Sahasrāra is catching, then such a person should be avoided. It is very easy to find out a person who catches Sahasrāra. We are not here to denounce anyone or to say `no' to anyone. But you will be amazed if you come in contact with some of these people, if you are not fully matured you do and you start changing your temperaments, your nature, everything. Now for that we must understand anybody who is catching Sahasrāra must be avoided. There is nothing to feel bad, just tell that person that your Sahasrāra is catching and the best thing is that you clear out your Sahasrāra. If your Sahasrāra is catching that means there is a barrier between you and our Mother and we don't want to know about you.

So for the time being till you clear your Sahasrāra you better not come to the ashram, better not come to the program. Clear out yourself, let us see if your Sahasrāra is cleared out.

I did not feel it much, but if you can pass a thing that both of them were catching on their Sahasrāra when they came to the program in India and they informed Me that their Sahasrāra is very badly catching.

Actually I did not know what they were doing here and what was the problem till her letter came to Me.

But this is the main thing. And not to feel bad because if your Sahasrāra is catching and you come here, then what happens, you cannot improve because the bhoots won't leave you and also the people who are here will be affected.

So one thing one should remember. Even her daughter-in-law, I must say you must avoid her. Like, I know I shouldn't say this, but her daughter-in-law was very much catching on the Sahasrāra the other day, I saw.

So she has to be kept away. You should not tell her in a way that she should feel hurt, in any way, nothing. I mean not that she's bad, she's a good person, all of them are good. But if the Sahasrāra is catching, she might be catching for Martha, she can be. She must clear it out by getting out of Martha because this is one thing we have to remember that ashram must be kept pure. Ashram must be kept pure.

Then I would say that, also Brigitte, your son, elder son has a problem. You better look after him and be completely in charge.

See how he behaves, because he has got some thing from his father, which must be taken out.

So you look after him. What we have to do, everybody has to improve and improve. Another is Andre. Andre, you still you are not all right.

So you have to put your left hand towards the photograph with the light and put your right hand on the Mother Earth. You see, if there are people who do not improve they should give up because we cannot work it out.

So you please put your left hand towards the photograph and right hand on the Mother Earth.

They should all improve and no use talking to other people because they catch and they get into trouble.

So what's the use of troubling others, it's best is that you cure yourself, you should be all right.

There is no hatred-ness, no anger, there is nothing. It is just a simple understanding that just now there is an infection within us; we should keep out from others.

In Japan if you go, even you may be the president of any place, you see, one president of this Akai, fellow, he came to see Me. He had a big bandage just like a, I don't know like Hanumāna, you see, big thing here. I said, “What's this?", I felt very funny. You see, came to see Me all the way, you see and VIP, this, that and here you come with that. He said, “I'm sorry, I have got cold I don't want to be here." Very sensible.

So, in a way it is to be understood that we have been catching, we have been doing wrong in the sense that we are meeting people when we are catching.

So see that your Sahasrāras are kept clear. For that is very simple, you see, I have seen miracles happening to people when they know how to surrender entirely.

But if there is barrier in the heart, the heart is not clean, you see, then Sahasrāra catches, because you know it is Heart Chakra. It is so made that it is the Heart Chakra. From the heart you must get to it, so that put Me in your heart, put Me in heart, it will work out.

But these people who are just on the periphery catch very much from others.

So be careful not to catch.

If you catch try to beat yourself with shoes or do something to keep yourself all right. And everybody should work it out that way so that you are safe. If your quality improves a lot, then there will be no problem.

Then another thing I'm told here that there are many old people who come to program.

So I've told Arno, I've told all of you that let Kathleen and our [UNCLEAR Jinway] and [UNCLEAR] and all these people, elderly people, should all join together. All join together to look after them, talk to them. Also elderly men should join together to talk to them because they like to talk, come around and this thing.

They don't trust young people.

So you be careful on that and it will be very helpful, if you can first let them talk, let them take charge and then gradually come to this. And there will be some very good news coming to you about the ashram I'm sure. I bless you. May God bless you.

Try to be in the ashram at least for two three weeks so that you learn certain disciplines and disciplines must be maintained. Do not challenge Arno for that. You must discipline yourself. There is an emergency and your disciplined life is to tell everybody else that it is going to work out. You should not side with your sister, brother or anyone. You must side with the Divine so that you can cure brother, sister, everyone.

So try to work it out this way that the whole thing cleanses. Mother is cleaning all the time morning till evening I am doing nothing but cleansing. You also should do some cleansing, isn't it? That's very important.

So now I take your leave and there's this vibrated water. You can use it for whatever you like. I will vibrate that with My hand.

You be careful with mixing up with people, you shouldn't come. She's not all right. Get somebody else. All right. I'm sorry, but it is so. Don't get angry with us. You see, it's a fraternity of bhoots. If there is a slightest bhoot in you, it will combine another bhoot: she will go down and you will go down. Try to keep it positively.

[UNCLEAR] you are not all right? What's the matter with you? Why? May be [UNCLEAR] Then what? I don't know why it is so. You should improve, you should see your vibrations, work it out. You see, so many years you have been with Me, what will people think? Now next time I am not going to see such faces, all right? Everybody like a flower. What makes you look like that? Work it out, see your vibrations, you know it very well, work it out. Marie has improved so much, you see. What about you? You should improve also. You are such a nice husband. Are you quarreling with him? Are you? All right.

Perpetual work.

You go on the right side too much, you think too much. Think too much.

So just say Nirvichar, it's the mantra for it, Nirvichara. And for her, Vivian, Vivian, you must say the mantra of Sahasrāra, all right.

Twameva sākṣhāt, Sahasrāra Swāminī, work out. Still it is catching little bit, it will work out, you are much better, no doubt. All right.

Everybody has improved. You see [UNCLEAR] from where she's improved to what. Tremendous people you have here, who have improved themselves with full confidence in themselves. Maiti has improved so much, everybody has improved, even she has improved so much. And Antionette, I'm very happy to see you this way, she's so much confident, she's so sensible now. Everybody must improve. All right.

I'll try to arrange for your children, if they can be looked after in some place in India, then those who have children can also travel. I'll try. I don't promise but I'll try.

So now, where is the garland? Beautiful, very beautiful. May God bless you. Now take a photograph.

Everything to order, in this short time what to do? You cannot do much, you see, [UNCLEAR much justice]. That's the problem.

[UNCLEAR] the photograph of Sahasrāra. Another thing I found out if you can get the photograph of My feet which are nicely exposed, you put it on the ground, bow to it and look at it without thinking.

That's a very good way of [UNCLEAR protection], that's a surrender, all right.

Sahaja Yogi: Complete Pūjā Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Fast, you see, you are very speedy people. For India they take four and a half hours, while in Switzerland only ten, fifteen minutes, very speedy, you see, telescopic.

Sahaja Yogi: If you say that Shri Mataji to the Indian Sahaja Yogis who will be scold when you [we] come to India.

Shri Mataji: They know that things can be very much complete. Effect is there. That's the main point. This is the flower of the [UNCLEAR purav], we call it, is a, like that which is used little away so that the feet can be seen. The feet must be seen.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, we put the photograph is good, we could enlarge it because it is on the green, green colour your feet. It's tremendous with the flowers, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Should be nice. All right. Take it one more. Let it be, need not be there flowers, need not be. All right, doesn't matter. Show as long as My feet show. Look at them, there is no swelling, see.

No swelling at all.

All right. May God bless you all! It was very enjoyable, intense and beautiful. I don't know how the time passed. You all enjoyed.

So be kind to everyone, be nice to everyone and don't say harsh words when you are with other people. And Munna, what about you? Are you all right? You still go up and down. Now you steady yourself. You have to become into Nirvikalpa, you see, the boat is leaving. The boat is leaving. You have to come to Nirvikalpa.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, we all the Sahaja Yogis here, we pray to You and we promise You that we will be one, just one flower so that when You can see us, You will see only one flower, one colour, one perfume and one flower offered at Your Divine Lotus Feet. And we pray Shri Mataji in our heart that Your Divine Lotus Feet will dwell forever in our being. Amen. Jai Shri Mataji! All Sahaja Yogis: Jai Shri Mataji!

Shri Mataji: I want to thank you all very much for the gifts, [UNCLEAR in way for the gift] and others, all those who have given Me gifts. Thank you very much for all that. May God bless you!

Contents: 1985-06-11*, Public Program, Day 1, The Truth Has Two Sides, Geneva, Switzerland

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

But the truth has two sides: the illusion that we see can look like truth and the essence of the illusion also may appear to be truth. But the other side is absolute and has to be felt, has to be experienced on your central nervous system. It's not a mental projection that we can think of, nor emotional imagination, but truth is what it is, it cannot be changed. It cannot compromise. We have to humble down ourselves to know the truth. Now we have discovered so many things in the science, by humility that we have not known so far. But whatever is known outside, like the tree must have roots and these roots are not known if you are just looking at the tree. And when somebody talks about the roots, we get shaken up because we have had no knowledge of it before. Thus we are conditioned to only see the tree and we cannot make our mind understand that there must be some roots to it.

So we can say that people have advanced in science quite a lot and have progressed and have become developed countries. But they do not know, if they do not seek their roots they will be completely destroyed.

Now when I'm before you, one should not in any way feel that I'm here to offend you, but I've come here to tell you about the roots, the great properties you have within yourself. We know about so many energies around us like electricity, gravity, in the scientific field of knowledge. But there are subtler energies within us which we should try to understand with the same humility of a scientist and the open-mindedness.

Now what problems are facing us here in the West, we should try to understand. As somebody in America asked Me, “What's wrong with the West?" We have to see what has happened to us in our evolution. When we evolved through the industrial development, we developed certain temperaments and certain value system. Industrialisation was a good idea, but there is no discretion where to stop it. And that's how when we go to very industrialised countries we think we are just eating chemicals and not food.

Now the balance has to be maintained, but how? By knowing about the roots.

Now the first problem I feel about the Western mind is that it is a mental being; it has developed this mental capacity beyond balance. Like in the industries we have to have new things made all the time; every time we have to sell some goods we must have new fashions, otherwise the machines will be starving.

In the same way our brain starts producing new things, that's how these things are man-made. With mental projection we start thinking of all the time new things and we appreciate whatever comes new to us. We have to take to new things, but not to something that is absolutely devoid of any traditional value. Like the other day I said that “What's so special about Freud, why did you accept him and why not Jung?" The reason was given that he gave us very new ideas. Anything new is not always good; for example plastic was new once upon a time, you know what are the results of plastic development. If that is true about matter, what about the spirit? So when we seek also the truth, we try to get to a new method all the time. And I think the evil that came in forms of wrong type of Gurus are the product of this kind of demand. Only seventy to hundred years back, I should say, in India, suddenly a new wave of some new ideas about the knowledge of the roots started.

Some things that they talk of are not written in the Vedas nor in the Purānas, nor in any books of oriental knowledge; nor in any books that are written after Christ like the Bible, or Koran after Mohammed Sahib and also the writings of Zoroaster. It has no relationship whatsoever to the ancient findings about the roots.

So we had a problem about the religion in the same manner.

For example, let us take Christianity: Christ came on this Earth, as you will know later on, to create a special awareness within us of the spirit. He resides inside within us in a special center, what we call the Āgñyā Chakra and described in the Indian scriptures as Mahāviṣhṇu. And in the purest form He exists as the Omkāra, as the Logos.

So much is described about Him in the West, in the Western knowledge in the mental way, but actually it is very much discovered in the Indian philosophy. You cannot understand Christ by mental projection, because He is beyond mind. He has Himself said, “You are to be born again." When Nicodemus said, “What do you mean `to be born again'? Am I to enter into the womb of my mother?" “No” He said, “whatever is born of flesh is flesh and you are to be born of the Holy Ghost." And what is the Holy Ghost? The bishop of Canterbury was asked this question, I saw it on the television and he says, “I am agnostic." So the interviewer asked him, “What are you doing here, then?" He said, “I am doing my job." So the interviewer said, “All right, I am also doing my job", mutual understanding between two mental projections.

The Holy Ghost is the reflection within you, is this Kuṇḍalinī.

[To translator:] No, the Kuṇḍalinī you just show them. The lower, no, no, Kuṇḍalinī you show, in the sacrum, now.

Now this Kuṇḍalinī has been described very clearly in so many scriptures in India. It is said in the Bible that “I will appear before you like the tongues of flames." These are the centers and this is the Tree of Life which is described. Now in the Koran it is described as “Assas." Nowhere in any one of these ancient scriptures, or up to the time of Kabīra which was hardly four, five hundred years back, nobody said that this Kuṇḍalinī gives you any trouble. But I have seen many people writing books about Kuṇḍalinī later on and there is a very thick book like that, I was amazed to see the description they have given by a German writer about the Kuṇḍalinī, that it can give you heat, it can give you diseases, it can make you dance, it can make you jump.

So this is how they have tried to condition you against your evolutionary process. And the religions which came after the great incarnations also tried the same trick. Paul is the person who started this kind of conditioning in the Bible. Actually Paul had nothing to do with Christ. How is he in the Bible, I could not understand from My very childhood. And then he was born as Augustine who again made the religion, organized it and conditioned it. And today, surprisingly, people are challenging Christ's birth, His Divine Powers of creating miracles. Now with their mental projection they are trying to prove that He was just like us. And also dirty filthy things are said about Him and His Mother. This is hell that we have created with our mental projections. How dare we say these things about such a great personality like Christ! It is our ego which has made us so bold and so arrogant, that we are preparing our own destruction by challenging such personalities, which can really protect us and guide us to our ascent.

This is again the result of this newness, because the mind wants to find something new all the time, develops this ego. Like in America if you go, you better ask them how to open the bathroom taps, because every tap is different. You may just press onto something and you may get drenched, because they want to have every place new. And they take hours together to decide what kind of taps they are going to have.

Getting into the car, American car, better ask them what, how to open the door, because if there is an accident you may not know, it may be something new. This power to decide has gone so far that people really appear to be just like stupid children.

Ego stops the maturity of a person. The conditioning of the ego is the worst of all, which cannot be removed. If you are conditioned by your superego you get your pains, you get your troubles, but when you have got your ego you trouble others, you aggress others. Then to overcome the ego they try again some mental processes, that they try to dress up like primitive people. By dressing up like primitive people this brain is not going to become primitive. I mean, you know that it has reached its maximum now; it should stop behaving in that stupid manner.

Like in England if you go you'll find people are using funny colours, to dress funny colours on their hair and they call themselves punks.

So I asked some of them who came to our program, “Why do you do these kinds of things to yourself?" So they said that this makes people very attractive. To Me they look like clowns, but to them they thought that everybody feels attracted by that.

So the second curse I find is that we want everybody should feel attracted towards us. But what's the use? It's a joyless pursuit.

If everyone is attracted towards us, what does he get or what do you get out of that person?, I fail to understand. But on the contrary, you get into trouble. I mean, of course, if you become like punks you can develop horrible blindness. Or maybe you might develop some problems of your skin in the head.

But the way you move your eyes all the time to see how many are attracted by you, you know what you can get? This Altmiser's [Alzheimer's] disease that is coming up now is the early lunatic behaviour. Now in America they have discovered that before the age of thirty-five, one out of the five becomes insane, out of five, can you imagine? Out of five; that's what I today I read it in Reader's Digest. Can become, can become. Altmiser's [Alzheimer's] disease they call it. Altmiser's [Alzheimer's] disease; a new disease they said. It's a name of the scientist, Altmiser [Alzheimer] or something. And they blame that if you lived after thirty-five these things start propagating. But in a simple country like India or other countries where they are not so developed to flirt around, they don't have this disease. That's why Christ has said, “Thou shalt not have adulterous eyes." And it is so difficult to understand that the people who go to church just want this.

I'm sorry I have to talk about this, because I notice it everywhere I go in the West. This is a terrible disease that is crawling up now. It is to look at very frivolous, but it is not, it has very deep implications.

The eyes have to be so innocent that there should be no greed and lust expressed through them. The only solution I find is the Kuṇḍalinī awakening and realisation, through which Christ is awakened within you in your central nervous system. In the Āgñyā Chakra He resides, which is on the Optic Chiasma, which is in the Optic Chiasma. If there is no innocence in a person, then this Āgñyā Chakra catches. And this is the greatest purification that we need today. Imagine, the people who say they are Christians, these are Christian nations, are the people going just against Christ, it is very surprising. Whatever is preached by someone, like in India it is said that in everyone resides the spirit; but the stupid intellectuals of India are very busy with the caste system. Such intellectuals must understand that they cannot intellectualise God.

People don't like it when I tell them that you have to purify yourself to become the innocent personality.

The problem of the West today is, it has lost its value as far as the purification is concerned. The purification is not of the body, is not how you live clean outside, it is not how you represent yourself, but it is within. The destruction is not going to work out from without, it is within ourselves we are building up our destruction every moment. In 1972 when I first went to America, I told them that “You do not take to Freudian theories and don't indulge into nonsensical perversions. If you do that, you may develop a disease which will kill the whole nation and nations." And you know the epidemic of AIDS has started.

You'll be happy to know that through your Kuṇḍalinī awakening you can cure all these diseases; because when the Kuṇḍalinī is awakened, the greatest thing that happens is that whatever you have done so far is completely finished. It happens in every Chakra, but specially at the Āgñyā. At Āgñyā Chakra, when she opens out the Āgñyā Chakra, the deity of Christ is awakened. And the ego and superego which have made us into a egg-like structure are just sucked in spontaneously, because Kuṇḍalinī is a living force and that cleanses you completely. Then you believe that Christ died for our cleansing and purification. He suffered and He was crucified for that, so that He could come into that little space between the ego and superego.

Now the time has come to prove all these great incarnations and all the great scriptures. Now, when we talk of deities, people get quite stunned because they have never heard about it. Deities are the milestones, like the people who came to save us, the leaders. They had Divine force within them and every time they came on this earth they tried to give us a new awareness. Like we can start from the first Chakra, is nothing but where the carbon was formed in the chemical periodical law. By the formation of carbon only we could have organic chemistry and by that later on we had amino acids and then amino acids formed the life. Then from the life came, as you know, amoeba and from amoeba today we are human beings.

But why don't we think about the reason, the cause, why we have become human beings? Have we got something special about it, that only we people should become human beings? And what is the purpose of our lives? Is it only to look at your watches and waste your time in gambling? Is it for that we are born, not to have any respect for ourself? To be frivolous is a crime in the eyes of the Divine. You must know that you are very deep personalities. See the seven stories you are built into. You are the epitome of all the instruments that you could think of. Now only, what has to happen to you is the last triggering.

And once that happens you just get completely purified, you become then the real instrument. As every instrument has to be connected to the mains, in the same way you are to be connected. And then you realise how fantastic you are, how dynamic you are, what great powers you have. But it is not meant for the frivolous or for the people who have no respect for their own beings. It only happens to people who are true and honestly seeking, truly and honestly seeking.

So it is important for us to know that if we are going to be the citizens of God's domain, we have to get our realisation, our Self.

Buddha went to this limit that He said, “Don't talk of God, just talk of Self." Even Mahāvīra said the same thing. The Zen went even further, that it said only talk of thoughtless awareness. That is the first awareness one achieves as a Kuṇḍalinī awakening, that you become completely aware without any thoughts. Like when you see a beautiful lake which has no ripples on it, you see the complete creation around it reflected into it, giving complete joy.

So far we have not known the joy, which has no duality.

We know happiness which is nothing but ego pampering and when ego collapses a little, then we become unhappy, that is the illusion we have.

To get to reality we have to be the Self and Self is beyond ego and superego. Then you no more live on relative terminology, but you live with absolute. Like you just feel the Cool Breeze in the hand as if it is the computer that has started and you are having a rapport with the Divine. Even when you place your hand towards any question, you can get the answer as Cool Breeze, meaning `yes, very good' and as hot breeze, meaning `bad'; but you might even get blisters if you try to go near somebody who is a possessed personality. All the information comes to you from the unconscious, which has now become conscious on the central nervous system. This is what one has to understand, that your unconscious has become, has to become the conscious.

So whatever information you have been getting so far from the unconscious is completely clearly understood by logic.

So the first thing that happens to your central nervous system, that you become, again I say you become, collectively conscious. It is not a mental projection, but you just become. Also you know about yourself because you know about your own centers and if you know how to cure these centers then you are perfect, in perfect health, in perfect joy.

This was for the introduction of Sahaja Yoga: saha means `with', ja means `born', it's spontaneous.

And `union' means, `union' is the meaning of the word `Yoga'. Also it has another meaning, which means yukti, means `the trick'. Yukti. And also the, it means the deftness, how to handle this power when it starts flowing through you, to know everything about it; so it is to be decoded.

All this is your own. One enlightened light enlightens another light. There is no obligation. It's all your own, which you have to get it and then establish it. All this has to be free because it is nature's gift, it is living process, you cannot pay for it. You cannot pay to the Mother Earth for sprouting a seed, do you pay anything? How much do we pay to the flowers for becoming fruits? Nature doesn't understand money; in the same way God doesn't understand money. But the way we have lived so far, we have paid always money for God's work. Specially in Switzerland people believe that if you give money to some countries, then you are doing God's work. Poverty is created by human beings, not by God. A country like India, ruled for three hundred years, if it becomes poor what's so surprising? So that shows that by giving money you are not doing God's work. That's a human problem, created by human beings, solved by human beings.

God's work is pure compassion: compassion which doesn't speak, which cannot be valued in money. It just flows, emits and acts. It doesn't expect anything, it cannot be controlled, it cannot be killed, it does not need any protection, this is what it is, God's work. Because who is the other, for God? We are all part and parcel of His being. If this hand is helping another hand, what obligation there is? So one must understand the difference between the reality of doing a God's work and the illusion.

It's the quality of Divine is such that it quenches your thirst as the water does. It gives you the light that guides you, it gives you the strength that makes you stand up on the right, it gives you the compassion that makes you enjoy your virtues, it gives you that attraction which takes you to higher planes of the spirit. It discovers all the pearls in the ocean of illusion. It gives you that peace within and without and you are always drenched in the showers of the bliss of the joy. It is your right to have it, you have to have it. This is what you are meant to be here, but with humility. That is important, as a gesture of grace.

When somebody gives you a medal, how you bend your head. In the same way when you are adorned with this, you have to bend your head before the Divine. When the audience claps for you, gives you a ovation, standing ovation, the actor bends before it, he salutes to the audience.

[To translator:] He salutes to the audience, all right? Now, in the same way we have to salute to the Divine. What we surrender is automatically our ego and our conditioning.

I hope today you all will receive your realisation. And day after tomorrow when I speak on the spirit itself, I hope you'll make it convenient to come down. You have to later on establish it completely.

Otherwise it will be like the parable of Christ, that the seeds which sprouted also did not take to roots.

May God bless you all.

[Aside:] Should we ask for questions? No questions. Or should...

You want Me, to ask some questions?... Good. Let's have now the experience.

Question: How to protect oneself from somebody from whom you feel on the Chakras something not nice? Shri Mataji [aside]: Ego problem. Ah, ah, all right.

That is what you have to learn. Before realisation also you catch from others, but you don't feel it.

But after realisation you feel, but temporarily, just like an indicator.

So you have to learn how to protect and when you come to our center they will tell you everything elaborately.

Whenever I have come to Switzerland or any other place I've seen the houses are always full, people like to listen to Me; but they don't listen to one thing, that they have to make it a practice, a complete understanding, a complete happening. There is no course, there's no course for it, but you have to yourself understand from others who have achieved and you can be masters yourself. Only thing, you have to give some time. Swiss are very good at making good watches and they want people to save their time; but they have no time for God. Same with Japanese who are very good at watches, they have no time for God.

They make watches for others, not for themselves. They are busy making watches. Now you have to be selfish also, you must look at yourself. Better save some time for God and for yourself.

So now we'll have the, if you have any questions, you can always know that we have a regular center in Switzerland and you can always go and meet those people, get all the answers from them.

Now, first of all I have to request you all to forgive yourself and to forget whatever I've said, because I do not want that you should feel guilty about anything. This is the biggest hurdle in the West, that people feel guilty for everything. I mean even if you wear a something which is not matching, people start feeling guilty. It is too much, the way we feel guilty, so I have to make very humble request that you don't feel guilty at all. With whatever you have been doing, whatever has been there, one must know that you are the temple of God Almighty and your Kuṇḍalinī is quite capable of giving you realisation, purifying you completely; but don't feel guilty about anything. That is a first condition: we have to be pleasantly placed towards ourselves because we are going to enter into the Kingdom of God.

Second thing I have to request is that we have to take the advantage of the Mother Earth, though I know it is a little cool, but doesn't matter, you can take out your shoes and put your feet on the ground; because the shoes also sometimes are a little bit tight and keep you out of touch with the Mother Earth.

It's a very, very simple method, extremely simple, because we are just ready. It's extremely simple because you are just ready. Now first of all we'll have to see that we try to feel our own Chakras and clear them out ourselves, because if there are any complications, they can be removed. For that I will tell you how to place your right hand, but the left hand should be towards Me like this, symbolizing your desire to get your realisation.

Now the right hand should be used for touching centers on the left hand side. And it's very simple: first we'll put our hand on the heart, when I tell you. Then we have to put it in the upper part of the abdomen, then in the lower part of the abdomen, then again on the upper part of the abdomen, then on the heart again. Now one has to place the hand here, in the corner of the neck and the shoulder, from the front, like this, not from back. This is the center which is the worst always, which catches when you feel guilty. Look at it as if you are looking at something jocular. What is there to feel guilty? Another mental projection; it's an illusion. All right. Now, then you have to place your hand on top of your forehead across like this and then on the back. Then you have to stretch your palm and put this part on the fontanelle bone area. Press it hard and you have to move it seven times clockwise when I tell you. Now, do not try to stop your thoughts or anything, it will all work out spontaneously. If there are too much thoughts, then you can put your attention here on the fontanelle bone.

So let us start now. All of you must do it. If those who do not want to do it should go out, don't trouble others, because others become self-conscious. It is not civil. Now, everyone has to close the eyes.

Take out your spectacles because you don't have to see anything, you have to keep your eyes shut.

Now. Now, put your left hand towards Me just like this and have faith in yourself. Now, forgive yourself and close your eyes, keep your eyes shut. Close your eyes, put your right hand on your heart and left hand towards Me. On your heart. Left hand towards Me and right hand to be used for the action.

[To translator:] Tell them.

Now, please put your right hand on the heart, right hand on the heart.

So the left hand has to be kept on your lap, upward. Be comfortable, you have to be comfortable. Now, you have to ask Me a very fundamental question. In the heart resides the spirit, so please ask Me a question three times, `Mother, am I the spirit?' If you can call Me `Shri Mataji' it's all right, or `Mother', whichever suits you. You must really have faith in yourself.

Now, take down this right hand on your stomach, on the upper part on the left hand side and press it. This is the center of the mastery, which is created by prophets who came on this earth.

So here, you have to ask Me another question. If you are your spirit, then you have to be your own guide.

So you have to say, `Mother, am I my own guide? Am I the prophet? Am I my own Guru, am I my own master?' Hah!... Three times. Now, please take down your hand in the lower part of the abdomen and press it. This is the center of the knowledge about the Divine. This knowledge is not mental, but the technique that builds into your central nervous system.

So here you have to say something, because I cannot force you to accept the procedure of Kuṇḍalinī awakening. Now, you have to yourself ask that you want to know about the True Knowledge, about the Pure Knowledge.

So please say six times, `Mother, may I have the True Knowledge? May I have the Pure Knowledge?' With this saying the Kuṇḍalinī will start moving.

Six times, please ask the question, `Mother, please may I have the True Knowledge, the Pure Knowledge?' Now we have to make way for the Kuṇḍalinī, which is awakened. Please keep your eyes shut. Raise your right hand and put it in the upper part of the abdomen. Now, please keep your eyes shut, don't open in between, because attention has to go inside. At this point, as I told you, is the center of your mastery.

Now here you have to say with full faith in yourself, asserting, `Mother, I am my own master. I am my own guide, I am my own prophet.' Please say it ten times.

Please do not feel guilty when you say that, please do not feel guilty. You are the prophet. William Blake has said that “Men of God” meaning seekers, “will become prophets and they'll have powers to make others prophets." You are the men of God and you will become prophets. Ah, now, better. William Blake helped! Now, please raise your hand to your heart. You should not say things speedily, but with understanding and with depth. Now at this point you have to again assert with full confidence in yourself and say, `Mother, I am the spirit.' Say it twelve times, please... Now, now better. Working out.

Now, raise your hand onto the corner between your neck and the shoulder. Take it quite back so that you can press on the bone. Here you have to say, with full faith in yourself, `Mother, I'm not guilty at all.' You have to know that apart from God who is the ocean of love and compassion, above all He is the ocean of forgiveness. Whatever your guilt may be, compared to the power of the Divine to forgive, you cannot have any guilt.

So please say sixteen times, `Mother, I'm not guilty at all.' Even some people feel that they cannot believe that they are not guilty, so to punish themselves they can say it 108 times!... That's better. Nobody wants to have the punishment, is a good idea... Better? Now, raise your hand to your forehead, please and, with the palm towards your forehead and press it on both the sides. Put it across, across. I mean, place it horizontally. And now press it hard. Here you have to say, not how many times but from your heart, `Mother, I forgive everyone.' Some people think that it's difficult, but it is a myth when you believe that you forgive or you don't forgive. But if you forgive everyone, then you do not play into the hands of wrong people, in a mythical way, of course. Now, raise your hand and take it backwards to your back side of your head and hold it tight. Press your hand little backward and hold it tight. Now here you have to say, for your own satisfaction maybe, that `Oh Divine, please forgive me if I have done anything wrong against You.' Now... Now stretch your hand and put your palm on top of your head on the fontanelle bone area and press it hard, very hard, in a clockwise manner, saying one thing, that you want your realisation; because I cannot cross your freedom here again.

So please say, `Mother, I want my realisation. Please give me my realisation,' seven times. Press it with the palm only, not with the fingers.

[Shri Mataji blows into the microphone several times.] Now take down your hand slowly, open your eyes slowly. Place your right hand towards Me and with the left hand you place it on your top of your head. Don't think, don't think, see if there's a Cool Breeze coming out. Change your hand, please. Put your right hand and see for yourself if there's a Cool Breeze coming out. Don't be nervous; it is subtle, it is very subtle. Now, change over again.

Now, put your hands up like this and push back your head and ask a question.

[To translator:] On the mike, come nearer to the mike.

Now ask a question, `Mother, is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the Brahma Shakti? Is this the All-pervading God's Love?' Now, bring down your hands, please. See for yourself. Don't think.

Are you feeling it on your hand? Those who are feeling Cool Breeze on their hand, it's very subtle, or out of their head, please raise your both the hands.

Most of you have felt it. But I will now tell you how to protect yourself, all of you should know how to protect; because some have not felt because they have a problem here, in the Viśhuddhi Chakra. Or maybe they have not forgiven others.

Try this. Put your right hand towards Me and your left hand like this, for balancing, to the sky. This is now we use the ether. If you are feeling the cool or something down below, put it back like that, if you are feeling down below.

These people are very speedy and they are very right-sided, so this is the problem they have. Doesn't matter, it will work out. Think too much! Futuristic, they are futuristic. Facing your problems only, you solve them. Not mental projection but facing, just seeing them as they are. You are the spirit, you are not the problem; you are beyond all this. After realisation the word `problem' goes out of your dictionary! Now, put the left hand like this and the right hand towards the Mother Earth... Better, much better.

Hmm! Don't think. You can do it now.

Now, I will tell you how to protect. It's very simple. You have to give protection to your auras. You can wear your glasses if you want to. That you must all do, whether you have felt the Cool Breeze or not.

You give protection to your auras in this manner, that you put left hand like this and right hand around the auras, you take over your head and bring it down like that. Left hand towards Me. All right, let's do it seven times, for seven auras. One, don't think. Don't think... Three, four, five, six and seven. It's important.

Now, how to raise your own Kuṇḍalinī, that's very simple again. Now put your left hand in front of your Kuṇḍalinī, you yourself can do it. And it should be moved from up, forward, down, like that clockwise, right hand. Left hand should be steady, left hand should be straight. And then down. And this hand should move straight. Attention should be on the left hand. Now, try to move the hand properly.

On top of your head you have to take it, take it on top of your head. Bend back your head and give it a twist and give it a twist, big twist and tie it up like a knot.

Again let's do, to fix it up properly. Again do it, please. Second time, let's just do it. Now push back your head and give it a big twist and give it a knot. Now, third time same way, but three knots. Again.

Now it's moving fast. Put it, now one, again give a twist; two, again a twist; and a three. Now see your hands.

You feel much lighter. Feel it on your head also, Cool Breeze coming out. You'll be absolutely relaxed.

You cannot think now; but if you want, you can. But don't think about it, you can't think about it. Just feel it, all of you have got it. Good! You'll see, your eyes will be sparkling. There will be light in your eye.

Now, you don't think. Otherwise next time when I come, you'll say, “Mother, I have lost my vibrations." If you think about it you cannot reach there.

All right. Now if you want to shake hands with Me, I will sit here for you for a while. You can come round to shake hands. But Sahaja Yogis, you need not, otherwise there's just no end to it! Ah, ah. You can come here and see. Did you feel the Cool Breeze? Did you? Now that I can see.

Philip, just help him, just see, the gentleman didn't feel the Cool Breeze. He's on the, more on the right. Give him a right to the... All right, all right. Just a minute, please, just a minute. Hallo, how are you? Felt it? You've enjoyed it... Hallo, how are you?... May God bless you...

Yes, I'll be there... When will he be back?... Yes, I'll be there, yes... No, I'll be, when will he be back?... Oh, I see and then London, he won't be there?... He got his realisation?... Oh, I know, yes, I know. All right, so he can come to London? I'll be in London. All right... All right, all right. Thank you. Thank you very much, thank you. You got your realisation. Good... Yes. May God bless you. I'm so very happy. Now you're all right. Now you must, you must completely become Sahaja Yogis so that you have full confidence. You must have full confidence, all right?... I'm very happy it should happen.

May God bless you.

... What happened to you? All right.

So it has happened to you? Good. She is a born-realised, a great person. Now look at your eyes. Can you see the eyes of each other?... Now, but she says somebody talked to her. Who talked?...

No, no. She cannot do it. There is a science about it. This is a born-realised child. He's wrong. He's wrong. That will not. You must have the full knowledge, all right?... You call the lady who's got asthma, he'll cure her, but just tell him to get the lady with the asthma.

[Hindi.] How are you? Glad you got it. [Hindi.] You have to establish yourself, that's important, then you have to give it to everybody...

I will tell that. But you see once we... Yes, the thing is, you see, that in one lecture that you can't speak about everyone. But I've spoken about all of them, Jesus, because the more here they worship Jesus. But all of them are spiritual, they're all our own, there's no difference... That's it. Yes, that's it, that's it.

So now you learn it and you will listen to My other lectures where I've talked about everyone, all right? May God bless you.

... He's the brother of... You are getting a nice sister-in-law!... That's your brother? They'll be all right, you see, because people are so recently here and when I came, I had a diplomatic passport, but only they examined Me on the sense of the passport and then they saw My ticket and all that, nobody else.

They are like that, very... people, what to do? You don't know, you must get some more Indians to...

He'll be all right, no doubt about that. And you also get them in Bombay [Mumbai]! Hallo, how are you?... Confidence. All right, that's what I feel, that you people lack in confidence.

Now what you think is shaken by all kinds of nonsensical doubts people have sown in you. You are the spirit and you have to become that. I'm guiding you to become completely confident, all right? So you have to come and see these people also, these are... but I'm coming after... I'll come day after tomorrow, all right? Call your friends already. I must make you all very, very confident. But definitely come, because...

Cambodia? Ah! How are you? Just enjoy, enjoy yourself! But you have to be confident and let it work out. Again and again... You have to follow up, then you should see... Absolutely confident about it, all right? May God bless you.

So how are you? May God bless you. Now come along, you have become very brave, all right?... Tell her that I said that you should come and come very soon. Thank you very much.

Are you all right?... That's not going to help... That's all right, but you must know everything about it also and this is fine. You see, you should not do it indiscriminately... I'll leave that to them, they're all here. You stay here? Yes? The day after tomorrow I am coming and they'll give you addresses. Yes and day after tomorrow you have to bring your friends also. You are from what country? Peru? All right, bring all of them. All right? I must see them.

How are you? How did you feel? What country you come from? Puerto Rico! Oh, nice country. I have to go to all these places sometime. I must go. I haven't been there yet, but I will go. Let's see...

Are you here? Oh, great! How are you?... Come along! And get your friends! Just tell them, they must come! All right? May God bless you.

Now, how are you?... No, haven't you met?... You are not Bolivian?...

So, how are you?... Now, but you have to forgive. You must say it. You have to forgive. You must forgive everyone... You have to forgive. Just say it, `I forgive.' Just say that, `Mother, I forgive.' Just say it, from your heart... Ah, now, see?... Now, establish yourself. That's very important. Otherwise you will not have confidence. Must establish. The aspect more I'm telling, watch your... also... And then you have to see these people.

Ah, so nice! Ah, great!... I've been to that side. I've been to that side. And I've given realisation to people in Russia. I'm going to... They're the first who will get it. They're very good. They're very good people. People are very good in Russia, very good... Great souls!... In fourteen weeks we'll teach them from India. But they're very friendly, nice people. We can have a rapport with them very easily. We'll manage that. I'll try on the government level. We can do it. May God bless you.

Come now... Establish yourself. Just say, `Mother, come in my head.' That's all.

Contents: 1985-06-12 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, (before, Public Program in Neuchatel), Ashram, Founex, Switzerland

Sahaja Yogi: Flowers, I am sure the weddings of last year worked out such tremendous...

Shri Mataji: Effects.

Sahaja Yogi: Size of flowers.

Shri Mataji: I have been very anxious to meet you all together, all the Sahaja Yogis of Switzerland.

Now the reason for that is, this time when I came I found so many beautiful people at the airport and some of them I've not met, I felt, before. Now those who I've not met I would like them to stand up and tell Me their names.

Sahaja Yogi: Hello. [French.]

Shri Mataji: What's the name?

Sahaja Yogini: Renata.

Sahaja Yogi: She was going to the United States in Washington.

Shri Mataji: Really?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes.

Shri Mataji: We have already got there someone, somebody. Linda is her name and her husband's name is [Curly]. He is going there and he is an engineer.

Sahaja Yogi: She has a very high position in the work so...

Shri Mataji: What, what is she doing there?

Sahaja Yogi: She is speaking in English.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see.

Sahaja Yogi: I am a General Manager for an American company that is involved in the beauty business.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see. I see.

Sahaja Yogi: And I have just received a promotion as a senior vice-president of a very important division in America with the same company.

Shri Mataji: Very good.

Sahaja Yogi: And I will be based in Washington.

Shri Mataji: It's very good.

So that's it.

So Linda is going there. She is a very intelligent, efficient girl and also [Curly] is there.

So you make contacts with Danny. It will be a good idea. But what's the name you said?

Sahaja Yogi: Renata.

Shri Mataji: Renata.

Sahaja Yogini: Renata.

Shri Mataji: Renata, Renata. All right. You may sit. You are a U.S. citizen?

Sahaja Yogini: No, I am German-born but my son was born in America [UNCLEAR]. He is also a Sahaja Yogi, my son.

Shri Mataji: Really?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes, he is twelve years old. He studies in England now.

Shri Mataji: Studying in England? Renata: Yes.

Shri Mataji: I've never met him but...

Renata: No, you haven't met him but you met my mother, Shri Mataji, in Munich. She got her realisation in Munich.

Shri Mataji: Really? Renata: Yes.

Shri Mataji: What's her name?

Sahaja Yogini: Francesca.

Shri Mataji: Francesca.

Renata: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Oh.

Sahaja Yogi: You met her.

Shri Mataji: I know, I know, I know, yes.

Renata: She was the lady with the hat that she took off.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, yes, I remember. Oh, very fair lady.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, yes.

Shri Mataji: All right. Now who's next, please?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR Franca].

Shri Mataji: What's her name?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR Franca].

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR Franca].

Sahaja Yogi: She is from the Italian side of Switzerland.

Shri Mataji: That's all right. What is she doing there?

Sahaja Yogi: She is living down in Switzerland, in Geneva.

Shri Mataji: But what is she doing? She's studying?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, she has just finished and accomplished law studies.

Shri Mataji: Law studies? Good. Now.

Sahaja Yogi: Roger.

Shri Mataji: Roger. This is Rogers, is it? From the word, Rogers? Shri Mataji [to a child who is crying]: I'll put it right. It's all right, didn't hit it that hard. It's all right. One minute, one minute. Better now. Now.

Sahaja Yogi: Is from France? [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: I can't hear.

Sahaja Yogi: He is from Geneva. He's Swiss. I was not sure if he is Spanish or Swiss.

Shri Mataji: You see, he was saying that, Mother, most of the people are not French, Swiss. They are mostly other countries.

So he was rather unhappy.

So now he's a Swiss. I am very happy. You see, Swiss people look, you see there are three nationalities here.

So you can't make out who is Swiss because they have a very international face.

Sahaja Yogi: This is something that I didn't expect. C'est trfies international.

Shri Mataji: All right. May God bless you. Thank you. What does he do?

Sahaja Yogi: Interior decorator.

Sahaja Yogi: Decorator. He is a decorator. He decorated your chairs, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see. Thank you very much.

Sahaja Yogini: Monique.

Sahaja Yogi: Monique, his wife.

Shri Mataji: His wife?

Sahaja Yogi: His wife.

Shri Mataji: Where do you live? In Geneva?

Sahaja Yogi: In Geneva.

Shri Mataji: That is good.

Sahaja Yogini: Michelle.

Sahaja Yogi: Michelle from [La France].

Michelle: From La France.

Sahaja Yogi: From near Neuchatel.

Shri Mataji: All right. You have two children, Michelle? Michelle: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Good. Beautiful, they are. Now, who's that?

Sahaja Yogini: Maxine.

Shri Mataji: Maxine?

Sahaja Yogini: Maxine.

Shri Mataji: Maxine, very good name. And what's her name? Maxine: Gabrielle.

Sahaja Yogi: Gabrielle.

Shri Mataji: Gabrielle?

Sahaja Yogi: Gabriel is Hanumāna.

Shri Mataji: Of course, but that's a girl. Yes, Hanumāna had nine powers.

So she could be the power of Hanumāna, we can say. You can call her as Shakti. That would be better. Now, what about her? What's your name, please?

Sahaja Yogi: Magdalena.

Shri Mataji: Magdalena. That's a good name.

Sahaja Yogi: German, German name.

Shri Mataji: She's German. Is it German? Magdalena is an old biblical name.

Sahaja Yogi: I don't know.

Shri Mataji: Magdalena was the disciple of Christ. What's the name of your child, Magdalena?

Sahaja Yogi: Estelle.

Shri Mataji: Estelle. That's also a biblical. May God bless you. What are you? Where do you live?

Sahaja Yogi: I live in Lausanne, Shri Mataji, in Lausanne.

Shri Mataji: Lausanne. Oh, so we have some people in Lausanne. How many there are in Lausanne? Let's see. Raise your hands, all those who are from Lausanne. One, two, three, four, five, six, [UNCLEAR] again, again one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, good number. It's a great number, I must say. Seven to begin with. Yes, very good. It will work out now. Now, what's your name?

Sahaja Yogini: My name is Mary, Shri Mataji. [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: She is Mary.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, they are just living across the border in [UNCLEAR Grenchen].

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR Grenchen]?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR Grenchen] is just a place where Geneviffeve lives. You have been there.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see, I see.

Sahaja Yogi: They are neighbours of Geneviffeve.

Shri Mataji: I see. And the child?

Sahaja Yogi: And the child is Celine.

Shri Mataji: Celine. That's your child?

Sahaja Yogi: Grandchild.

Shri Mataji: Grandchild.

Sahaja Yogi: This is Babette, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: I know. This is the child of your son.

Sahaja Yogi: It's the child of Babette's.

Mary: Babette's daughter.

Shri Mataji: Babette's daughter? Mary: Babette's sister's daughter.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see. Babette's sister's child. Babette is such a find, I tell you. Very good girl.

She's a very sensible, wise, very good girl. She brought her husband also. A very good man also, but she's really great, I must say. Such an asset. Very good person, so she is. Thank you very much for giving us Babette and for coming down. And the little one. How are you? Are you all right now? So they are what and they are Swiss or French?

Sahaja Yogi: This is American.

Shri Mataji: She's French.

Mary: American.

Shri Mataji: You are American. Oh, I see. Your husband is American.

Mary: No, my husband is Norwegian.

Sahaja Yogi: No, he is Norwegian.

Shri Mataji: Oh, that's what he is. He told Me Norway. Oh, that's great. May God bless.

Sahaja Yogi: There is one more.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, I met him. It's all right. I know he so, what are you doing now? Studying?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes.

Shri Mataji: What?

Sahaja Yogi: Economy.

Shri Mataji: Economy. All right. That's nice to know the new people.

Now today I have to say that you, when I stayed over in the night I felt that the collectivity is very much reduced in this place and the Virāta was very badly off and just I couldn't sleep with that, with the idea that something is going wrong in this place.

Now I have a feeling that in the West as it is everywhere people are very individualistic and they like to have their own little house and their garden. My house, my garden, my family, my this, ah mama. In Sanskrit it is called `mama' and from this comes `mamatā' [Sanskrit] meaning attachment.

Now, this is all right. But the individuality must come after maturity. Like a tree which develops and evolves and bares flowers, becomes the fruit. Until the fruit is not matured it is sticking on to the tree but when it is matured then it leaves the tree, not before. And if it leaves before that then it never all right.

It won't have the quality of a mature fruit.

Now as you know in India we had a system of the joint family before. Even now in India in the villages and in the smaller cities you find people have joint families and till the Western influence came to us very deeply we were a joint family. Like with My husband's family there, when I was married there were hundred people living together under one roof, with one kitchen. And the house had grown like an octopus, you see, from one to another end in one day at a time and they had one kitchen [UNCLEAR] but one kitchen and so I think in those grand families, you see, we matured. Even My father's family, they were brothers, four brothers and three sisters and they lived together in the beginning. And they had to come, My father had to come to Nagpur for his practice.

So we had a house in Nagpur, My father's house, we could say, at the most. And everybody from the village from the smaller cities used to come down and sometimes we used to have more than a hundred people in the house. And I remember the boys and girls had a huge big dormitory about five times bigger than this; one dormitory for the boys, one for the girls.

And in winter time, you see, the blankets may not be sufficient.

Some may have two and some may have none.

So there was a big fight, you see, the whole night through. The blanket passing through the... just like passing the buck, you see. The thing was passing around just like a musical chair and there was so much joy in that.

So in our childhood and young age we lived like that, sharing everything and sharing the joy. I must say that has made all of us very extremely adjustable and not at all fussy. We were eleven brothers and sisters, ultimately. We had more but ultimately we were eleven brothers and sisters. Ourselves and other cousins and relations and quite a lot of that and servants and maid servants and big household and I don't remember even, even one day when we had less than thirty people to eat food in our house. At least thirty people excluding servants.

After that My family, My father said we all had to separate in a way because we had different houses and things and everybody [UNCLEAR knows/was] very high in life, despite all the sacrifices of My father for the movement of Independence. And as you have seen My brother's house and all that, they are quite well-to-do people. They are very adjustable. They can share their bedroom, they can share their house with anyone. They are very happy to share with everything. But My father, though he was a great realised Soul, he was very anxious that as children we should be first disciplined to live and share with others. We had cars and we had, what you call them, pretorians and horses, everything, in the house but he would make us walk every day to school about four miles. And for lunch he would send a big barrow for the servants with food and in the evening he would send us the car but not in the morning time. And we had lots of fun because so many of us walking together to school, it was enjoyable early in the morning in the fresh air.

All of us used to get up about four o'clock in the morning in the family and finish our bath everything, be ready by about five. And My father was very fond of swimming.

So he used to walk about six miles [abode] for swimming. Swim for long distance. He used to swim and come back by that time and we used to sit down after that for our meal. After five o'clock we were all for our meal and then go for our prayers in the family. And after that we would come out and sit down for our [service] and then have our breakfast about nine o'clock and then go to school walking. And our schools would be about ten thirty so we had to walk little fast. But that disciplining has helped us so much, all of us, all brothers and sisters.

We have made, all of us have made something out of our lives.

He used to teach us that never allow your body to sit on your head. We had comfortable beds but he used to say sometimes we must sleep on the palliasse, what we call it the mats. And we were very rich people but he would see that we don't learn comfortable ways of life.

So any day anybody who said my body was paining on the mattress mat, then he would say, “All right, then there you sleep. Then your body will be all right." And he used to say that, “Your body is for you. You are not for your body.

So make your body your slave." Luckily My first sister-in-law came, she was also a very nice lady and she also joined hands with all of us.

So we had no sort of bad examples. My sisters, elder sisters, though they were M.A.'s and everything, very good at all this disciplining, very good.

My mother very innocent but extremely strict lady, she never told lie in her lifetime. And if you go and tell her that, “This gentleman is coming and you better tell him that we are not in the house” she would say, “You don't tell me to tell him lies. I will tell him you told me to tell a lie." Then, you see, she was mathematics honours and also had done law. You know, My father was a plain scholar. He knew, master of fourteen languages, he knew twenty-six languages. He only told Me that French is a most absurd language. They have made it so exclusive because they want to be exclusive people. He told Me lots of things about human beings, but his own style was that whatever he said he practiced. When they joined Congress and they sacrificed everything, his suits were, he used to wear state [UNCLEAR coats/clothes] and all that, a real Englishman he was and everything he has burnt on the square. He said, “The suits were made in England [Exclusive Lord], some company was there, I don't know. It's not no more. I don't find it there” and he burnt all his clothes, all his Western clothes, on the square and then he started wearing khadi. Then both My mother and father used to spin their own yarn, spin their own yarn, you see, with the Chakra and only wear clothes made out of those yarns, only wear that.

He was a very respectable, very highly placed man. He was Mayor of India. And he was a very wellknown lawyer of Nagpur and he was a member of Constitute Assembly which meant the Constitution.

He was the Member of Parliament. My mother was the president of the Provincial Congress committee herself. And they used to spin their own yarn and My father told Me this is very meditative.

So he had many hobbies like fishing. He used to say fishing is very meditative.

On the whole I have to say they made their body in such a manner, that they used it to its maximum.

Till they died they had all their teeth intact, like Mine. They never went to the dentist like Me. Till they died they were walking very nicely, but their discipline made such an impression on our mind. And we liked it very much because it has helped us to mould our lives, that we never take, took to luxurious life.

If you are surrounded by luxuries it is all right; if you are not it's all right.

That's what I feel, that we received our maturity in the house, that we had such a huge house with so many people living there. The contact with the aunts and uncle and we were supposed to go and see all of them when they were sick and such contacts that we met very beautiful people in our lifetime. But this exclusiveness has created problems for you because you stagnate, there is no circulation and that's how people become very stagnated. I feel during the war the people who lived in the West also developed a greater sense of insecurity. And after that those people who lived or existed after that continued with that sense of insecurity.

But luckily we are the people who had parents who had fought for the freedom of India. Very brave people. I'll give you an example of My father's bravery. He had so many children, he had his family, everybody depending on him, but one day he went and climbed quite late in age, it must have been at that time about fifty years of age, climbed over the High Court to remove the Union Jack. And British soldiers shot at him but he removed the Union Jack and came down and then they arrested him. They arrested him many times, but once he was in jail for two and a half years. That was in forty two.

I was also very busy fighting for the freedom of My country. My mother had become very nervous because I was very young and My father was in jail. All our properties were confiscated, our cars, everything confiscated. We had nothing except for mother had a very big large [UNCLEAR regent malay/mangala] of gold which she pawned and got the money for us. And one day people came and told us that My father and other prisoners from Nagpur jail are transferred to [UNCLEAR] jail, very great leaders all of them, were transferred to Gwalior jail and there on the platform because people used to help us a lot. Now when we went to the platform, you see, already My mother had written letters to My father and to Vinobe Bhave, a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, very old, quite old.

So [UNCLEAR] called Me. He said, “You are very young and your mother is worried and they give you electric shocks and they make you [UNCLEAR] on the ice, they make you sleep on the ice and they are torturing your life, they are beating you and you shouldn't do anything like that because your mother is so much worried." My father just took Me on one side. He told Me, “I am very proud of You and even if all my children are killed and I am killed I don't mind because we have to get this independence. This is our responsibility. I am angry with your mother because she is worried: she should not be worried about You." I think My father knew, of course he knew, that I was Shakti.

So he wanted Me to be there.

So he told Me, “Don't listen to this old man." Such a character we have seen in our family and many like these we have seen, such people of principles. What sacrifices, for this struggle of independence, living in the palaces and then living in the huts, but we never felt.

Now today we have the freedom struggle of our Spirit. It entails no sacrifice on your part. You are blessed all the time with all the bounties of God.

So much is for you. You have done nothing. You have sacrificed nothing. When Hitler came you fought with him. Of course, Swiss never fought, anywhere.

That's why they don't lack certain things. As a result, you see, of this war one must understand this is another war we have started. We have done no sacrifices whatsoever. We still believe in [UNCLEAR my/mine] and also we want to be individualistic, selfish and miserly. And the worst thing is, I'm surprised that the Sahaja Yogis on the periphery start gossiping. What made us so collective in those days we had nothing to look forward. In 1857 when we had the first War of Independence everybody was lost. It could have been another war and we could have been lost, when these English having their cannons at us.

But now what I find that the sense of sacrifice is zero and sharing is missing. The reason is we are not yet mature and that's why our conditionings are still dragging us down. Unless and until a pot is fired well, you cannot contain water in that earthen pot.

So this lacking of maturity has created Sahaja Yogis who are, some of them are murmuring souls, some are pleasure-loving, some of them are still carrying on with their horrible weaknesses.

Some of them go to India and create a problem for Me because they have very bad vibrations. It's a very funny thing that is happening to Sahaja Yoga sometimes in the West.

If you have to ascend, all of us have to get together, share and learn to sacrifice. Your country is giving so much money to, say, other countries or maybe Red Cross and all that, but it's very hypocritical, I think.

You cannot afford to be materialistic if you are a Sahaja Yogi: neither can you be selfish and conceited.

You have to understand that it's a very great fight I have started with the Satanic forces and negativity and My children have to be brave, have to be noble, have to be generous and above all have to be wise and mature. I personally think all the Western Sahaja Yogis must stay in the ashram for some time to mature and instead of finding faults with the organization or with the leaders, find faults with themselves.

We could not challenge our father or mother. For example, on the table and it was a big table, so many used to sit down and if there was no salt in the food My father would not say that because he didn't want to upset My mother and he had to keep quiet and eat that food without salt. Such delicate culture comes out of maturity. The fruit which is not mature is bitter. You cannot eat it, it is so hard, it has no taste, it has no colour, it has no flavour, though it looks nice on the tree, not outside. In the same way I feel that you should have very good ashrams. I bless you for that a hundred times and you all should try to stay in the ashram at least for some short time. As it is, our house was an ashram, I must say, but My parents were not satisfied with that. They used to send us to Gandhi ashram. And in Gandhi ashram we all used to sleep on the mats, no question. Whether you are Jawaharlal Nehru or anyone, all sleeping on the mats. Only when they were about sixty years or fifty years they would get a little mattress; that's all. They were supposed to get up in the morning, all of them were to take their bath, to be ready for the prayers same way. But they had to walk with Gandhiji. He used to walk very fast for one hour, but the worst part of it was you had to clean your latrines and you had to clean the latrines of the guests.

You had to wash your clothes, you had to wash your utensils, you had to cook, you had to do gardening.

No servants, no servants were there. This was terrible training. We had to eat food which was so funny because now I know what it was like, you see. I don't know how to describe it, but now I can eat any food, French, English, any kind. We used to boil vegetables and put in that raw mustard oil and in Indian cooking we never boiled the food or vegetables never boiled. First we season it and then boil it. We season it with oil or something and then boil it.

So it was too much for us to eat boiled food and when My husband has to sometimes eat Western food he says, “How do you eat this fodder?" I said, “If you had stayed in Gandhi's ashram you can eat anything." So that disciplining is very, very important. You may be old but you don't have the discipline of sharing.

And I have seen people in the West when they stay together there are always complaints. “This is not good. That is not good." But you have visited India. Have you ever seen all of these Indians complaining? Some of them are multi-millionaires. You would never see them sleeping. You would never see them sitting down. You would always see them working and God knows when do they take their food. They serve you because they think you are saints. They don't take a single paisa from Me. When they travel they pay for their own food. Only it is last time I could give some money to our center to buy the land for your school, but so far I could not even save any money out of what you were, when you were there. And they are so loving and so affectionate. If you remember the case one night you did not eat, you see and how upset they were. And they said, “I think Mathias was very angry." So I called him, Mathias and he said, “No, Mother. I was not angry." Actually, all of them came to explain, “No, we were not angry. Only thing was that we were all very full.

So we wanted to sleep." But one of them still said, “Still it will be recorded that our guests did not take their food for one night. It will be recorded still." So I said, “Where will it be recorded?" They said, “In our hearts” and, I mean, Mathias and all these people and Gregoire was also there I think, was he?, they all were filled with tears. They couldn't understand their affection. All this comes, all this comes through proper disciplining in childhood, in a collective living. That enjoyment, that loving compassion, that fondness to do for others. I mean, if you tell them you are coming they will start think immediately, “Now what are we going to cook for them? What are we going to do for them?" without knowing who they are or from where are they coming. No, the guests are coming; so they are very happy. I mean, even if a thief comes in the house they'll say, “First have your food. Then you can do the thieving." I'll end up this story with a story of Alexander. I don't know if I have told you about him. Did I? I must tell you that. How we are matured in tradition.

So many attacks came like Tantrism, this, that, but because of such a traditional movement of our revolution that evolved into very mature people, because we cannot take to anything stupid, you know, but still it's very delicate. Maybe it sounds stupid to a rational mind, Western rational mind, but I will tell you the story of Alexander the Great. He came to India and he invaded us and he had won many provinces. But once he was defeated by a King called Puru and he was imprisoned and put into jail. He had married an Indian lady. One princess he had married. This princess, of course they say Indians talk very mature. And when Alexander was arrested that was the day, when after some time the day of the Rakhi came.

So what she did was to put a Rakhi, you know what a Rakhi is, in a plate and covered it with a beautiful cloth and sent it to this King Puru. Now that was a Rakhi day.

So you cannot refuse a Rakhi.

So he said, “All right, tie the Rakhi to me." Then he said, “Who is this? Who has sent it? Who is my sister?" They said “That is the wife of Alexander." “Oh God!" he said, “I have arrested my own brother-in-law! It's very, very wrong. It's sinful." He went to the jail and he fell at the feet of Alexander. Alexander was shocked at his behaviour, very confused. He brought him from there very nicely and told him, “You sit on my throne. Take everything. I didn't know you had married my sister. Forgive me. Forgive me for what I have done and somehow or other try to understand that I didn't do it knowingly." With all these apologies he made a big procession of people with lots of jewelry and foodstuff and sweets and all that and he sent him home with big pomp and show.

So he went inside his house where his wife was smiling.

So he said, “What is this?" She said it is the [charisma]. [Charisma] is the magic, of a thread. For a Greek that gross, you see, gross, big, always making money and thinking about money, Greeks are, like the Greek ship owners. You see their ships are falling out, even the keel is left, they'll carry on with their business. They are like that, Greeks are, very business-minded.

So this one he could not understand what is the thread. She said, “Today do you know is the Rakhi day and this day I send to my, him a Rakhi.

So he becomes my brother with a thread." She showed him and she explained to him the auspiciousness of this relationship. And Alexander said, “That settles it. I am going home." He said, “These people have such a delicate culture that they give up a person who can destroy the whole country on a thread? The symbolism is so strong in their lives. How can I rule these people? I am too gross." And he said, “All right, give me two poets from your country and I will go away." He thought he would learn some from Indian poetry. We call Alexander the Great because he was a man who saw the truth who faced it. Only after that he was called as Alexander the Great. And he sent his artist to India to teach us how to [Hume] the rocks. And those artist have made Buddha also with mustache and with shoes and a rendition of their hair like Greeks, you see, round, round, round. And nose straight from the forehead, you see, like Greeks have. Buddha was a Mongolian.

So, you see, he had a different type of a nose, but they made him into a Greek fellow.

So that's how a report started on a thread. But this thing one can only achieve the subtlety to reach the subtler side of life through maturity. And that maturity is to be achieved and attained through collectivity.

For example, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa here, he's sixteen petals. He's called as [Purnankalar]. When Chandrama the moon is complete in the sixteenth phase is called as [Poorna], complete. Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, is complete, is complete maturity of the incarnations of Śhrī Viṣhṇu, is Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. And the Viśhuddhi Chakra when it is complete, your nose, eyes, your teeth your tongue, your throat, your ears, everything matures. And this can be achieved through collectivity because Kṛiṣhṇa stands for collectivity. If you don't have a collective temperament you'll have funny faces and you may have to go to the dentist. You might have very bad eyes, you might have eye troubles, you may have throat troubles as I have because you people have not got a good Viśhuddhi. I have to get it because you are all inside here. If you are not collective you cannot know whether you are pure or not. In collective only you will know yourself.

So one has to learn to be collective in an ashram. You don't have to sacrifice anything in Sahaja Yoga but you have to become joyous with your brothers and sisters in purity and then the subtle sense of beauty Sahaja Yoga will come into you. Otherwise you always go on complaining about some ugly mess which doesn't exist because your eyes are upside down, I think.

So as these flowers understand the importance of being in the ashram, you also should understand. They can feel the purity of the place. You should also. Why not exploit it? Have a permanent picnic. That's all. It is going to be very enjoyable and I think, I hope, I bless you that you develop beautiful ashrams in Switzerland. And may you mature and become beautiful people and move as one personality, deep, dignified, joyous and then you will say, “See, Sahaja Yoga will work out." The example is Rome. That way Italian are very collective by temperament, but they had an attack from other people who went and stayed there. Now, thank God, they have all disappeared and it's very collective, they are living very happily and as soon as it has happened the whole atmosphere is changed and the government is with us. Even the Vatican itself sent car for Me at the airport and they arranged My program in the television. And the lady at the television said, “My daughter is not baptized and they will drive me out of the job and they don't know. And I am happy you have come now to correct them." You see, there is a competition now between the Socialist government and the Vatican, both trying to please Me to get the majority and they all remarked that, “Your disciples are all scholars and wonderful people and they are very much united and never talk ill of each other and they are very pure." This is something unique. You cannot find such disciples anywhere. Once that happens in Switzerland then we can get the Swiss banks. All right.

So may God bless. Thank you very much.

So tonight will be all at Neuchatel. Then we'll see. I've been there once. Just I saw the place.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, It is one hour's drive. Is that too much for you?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no. It's all right. One hour is nothing. In America if you go, everything is two hours' drive minimum and you are all the way on the freeway, you know? Freeway, half of your life is spent on the freeway in America.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, just one thing we would like to show you before You go. We have done a little thing. The Sahaja Yoginis here would like to present something they did themselves.

Sahaja Yogini: You once, last year you mentioned something, Shri Mataji, like painting porcelain has been something typical for Switzerland.

So the collectivity has to present you some painting or some paintings painted by the Sahaja Yogis.

Shri Mataji: Present Me for what? I would like to see, but why present?

Sahaja Yogini: It is because you came to Switzerland, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: No, no, no.

Sahaja Yogi: They did it. It was absolutely, we have to say that it was extremely cheap because we only, they did it themselves.

Shri Mataji: But such labor. The peonies are beautiful, aren't they? The peonies are. What's this, other flowers are beautiful.

Sahaja Yogini: It's a style from old new style, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: It's old new style. Good idea. Beautiful, but peony is a very traditional style, I must say.

It's beautiful. Oh, wow, that's too much. I mean, there is no occasion. How beautiful it is, so beautiful.

You see, it's so beautiful that I don't know if I can use that.

Sahaja Yogini: Oh no, it's all done by the Sahaja Yoginis.

Shri Mataji: It's too much, [UNCLEAR] it's too much. Such a beautiful thing. It's a real beauty, I tell you. They will ask Me from where did you get it and then I will tell them that Sahaja Yogis have made.

So they will say you are also making money. It's beautiful. See, this is so beautiful. It's beautiful, it's bone China and the shape is so beautiful. Is it a typical Swiss shape?

Sahaja Yogi: I don't know, Shri Mataji.

Sahaja Yogini: It is German, Shri Mataji. The porcelain is German.

Shri Mataji: German. All right, that's a good thing, German's having flowers.

Sahaja Yogi: It is collective.

Shri Mataji: All right. Now you have made it I have to say yes, but I think it is too much. How many pots you have put there?

Sahaja Yogi: Seven, I think.

Shri Mataji: Really? Oh, that's very sweet of you. Thank you ever so much. Thank you very much.

What is this now? This is what?

Sahaja Yogi: We'd like to open them to tear up...

Sahaja Yogini: Some more porcelain, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: With that? To match?

Sahaja Yogi: Not exactly.

Shri Mataji: Was it made by you people?

Sahaja Yogi: Can we open it for Shri Mataji?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Who all have made it? Raise your hands. All of you high, high up. I want to see. High up. One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, good number. Nine Shaktis. I told you Hanumāna has nine Shaktis.

What a beauty! Just look at that, eh? Oh, what a beauty! It is beautiful. Oh, I didn't say you make it for Me.

Sahaja Yogi: Occasion.

Sahaja Yogini: Shri Mataji, we had to show You how Your Saraswatī's blessings work.

Shri Mataji: Oh, may God bless you. Oh, beautiful. Very good. I didn't know you were such a great artist. You must take to paintings. We can start an industry. It is really beautiful, you know. It's very beautiful, very delicate. It's very delicate work. I think by this there will be a revival in the delicate art that you used to produce in this country. Once upon a time I remember My husband bought a frock and a dress, a warm dress for My daughter Kalpana from Switzerland, just when she was one year old, you see.

Beautiful frock and beautifully done. She has got it even now, that frock, beautiful. Oh, so many things.

That is too much, isn't it? It is very beautiful. Is this one of the plates the prisoner of Chillon? Is this the prisoner of Chillon? No, no, no, where the prisoner was kept and they wrote the story, Byron.

Sahaja Yogi: It could be. Maybe. I don't know.

Shri Mataji: Could be. Looks like that. It's beautiful. What has upset you, Danny? What I said about English? Danny: What, Shri Mataji?

Shri Mataji: You are no more English now. Forget it. You should all forget. You are no more English.

You are your forefathers. They are finished now. Why do you take their load up on your heads? They are very different people. Thank you. Same about Philip. Both are very serious. I could make out easily you are English. You shouldn't think like that. You have nothing to do with that. That's all finished, gone, finished. Now the bankers, you see, the bankers are here doing what they want to do. You are not connected with that. Now if your children start taking the load, the load of the bankers who gave money for the war, it's wrong, because you have nothing to do with that and your children will have nothing to do either.

Sahaja Yogi: But you have to fight that but without being connected with this load.

Shri Mataji: Yes, you have to fight. This is what it is. That it is wrong. You are the ones who have opposed it. You are the ones who didn't like it.

So one should never take the load of some wrong people.

Beautiful is the word, beautiful. All right.

Sahaja Yogini: Mother, this is from Bulgaria.

Shri Mataji: What is that?

Sahaja Yogini: This is a little symbol.

Shri Mataji: What is it?

Sahaja Yogi: It is a plate from Bulgaria.

Shri Mataji: Bulgaria?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Good. It is beautiful.

Sahaja Yogini: It symbolizes the health.

Shri Mataji: It's interesting, isn't it?

Sahaja Yogini: It is a symbol of health, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: The vase [UNCLEAR] very beautiful.

Sahaja Yogini: And there are also flowers [some kind of roses]. They are only from Bulgaria. The little...

Sahaja Yogi: They are only coming from Bulgaria, these kind of flowers.

Shri Mataji: There are flowers to it?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes.

Shri Mataji: And they have to be kept inside the house?

Sahaja Yogini: And you can put in the ground.

Shri Mataji: Outside?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Now one thing I must say is that I don't know if they will allow this to be taken to London or not. We'll have to smuggle it. When you come for Guru Pūjā bring it. Then they can do it.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, that's a good idea, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: You'll have to smuggle it. This also, better to bring it for Guru Pūjā.

Sahaja Yogi: It will be safer.

Shri Mataji: Safer, yes. Now what is that? See that piece that is there, that plate. Very beautiful art. Is it Chinese?

Sahaja Yogini: I think it comes from English, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: English?

Sahaja Yogini: Excuse me, Mother. I think it's from India. Indian stone China. India?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, India they never made so good. No, that what they never made so good in India.

Sahaja Yogini: Looks like an old Chinese one.

Shri Mataji: Must be English. I am surprised. Since when Indians started making such nice things? No, unfortunately we are no good. I must say, we are good in something we make the blue pottery we are good but this is Indian, is it? Do you think it is Indian?

Sahaja Yogi: Looks like it. Perfect or something.

Shri Mataji: No, but it's the work which is so delicate. Might be Chinese. It is written `Indian', no doubt. This is a remarkable piece. Only thing there are lotuses, I think.

Sahaja Yogi: Possibly Mongolia?

Shri Mataji: No, it's written Indian. Surprising.

So beautiful. It's surprising that it's India, I don't know, I mean why, if you give Me that one I'll enquire to find out where do they make. In India you see, sometimes you don't know. Like once I went to Brussels and the person in the car he told Me that at the Ambassador's place, Indian Ambassador, we were going for lunch, so he said, “You will find beautiful Indian furniture." I said, “What?"

“Yes” and he said, “it is made of ebony." I said, “Made of ebony?" “Yes, from India." So I said, “All right” and I went and I asked this Mister Ambassador, I said, “From where does this furniture comes?" He said, “I don't know. They say it comes from India but I don't know from where it comes." And it was beautifully made in ebony with ivory. I went back to India and tried to find out. They said, the fellow you see the one driver was eighty years of age, the gentleman that took us. He said “Did you see the furniture?" I said, “Yes, it was beautiful." He said, “We all know about it." I said, “But from where does it come?" So he told Me the name of the place. [Bamina] or something like that. I said, “Really? I don't know this place, where it is." He said, “It must be somewhere. You find out." So I went to India. I asked many people. I said, “Have you heard of this place?" They said, “No, we have never heard." And one day a relation of Mine came and I told him. He's from [Manavadar]. He said, “It's very close to [Manavadar]." I said, “Really? I must go. Do they make ebony?" He said, “Yes, yes, they make things there." I went there and I was amazed at the store houses they had of this beautiful black furniture and they said, “We have made the chair for the Queen of England, Victoria and this and that." And so many things that beautiful things made in Ebony and label with ivory and they gave it for no price to Me and one of the boxes, that of that ebony, I have given as a present. Murray has got it. Have you seen the box? I think you must have seen. It is a beautiful ebony box, for no price and that's what it is, surprising, you see. You must find out these place. It must be somewhere, near [UNCLEAR] some place. That country is really quite mysterious.

Sahaja Yogi: Because of the potential.

Shri Mataji: Yes and nobody knows about it. That, you see, tremendous valuable things they have there, so much. And then Shastriji was there; he was the Prime Minister. I went and told him. He was shocked. I said, “Now you do something about it." So Shastriji said, “All right. Call that man and I would like to see him." So this fellow came to see him, Lal Bahadur Shastri. And Shastriji said, “Something should be done about it” and he wrote to the industry department and all that, but the Shastriji died.

So nothing came up. The people are still there and still willing to do a lot of work. It's there, beautiful things. But I tried to show your box to people. They are not interested. You see, they want insipid things.

What to do? Handmade and insipid things. Now why make it with the hand? Make it with machine. Very sad. Americans appreciate, though. I will send it to America and find out. Americans are better, much better people, that way. I don't know how. There's something good about them is this, though they are very childish but they like to have artistic pieces. They like art. They like very decorative places. They like old houses, you see. They don't like modern things.

How are you? What happens? Martha was very bad, I didn't know she was such a Protestant but yesterday I saw that written on her face. And he had not even told Me about her, nothing of the kind.

And just I told her because I know what Protestants are because I was born in that horrible cult. Very mental, sophisticated. You see, Catholics are left-sided. They are left-sided people, Catholics are. They are very emotional and these are mental people and they have made a science out of God.

Where are they catching? But you must clear it out. It's very simple. I have found out one method.

Try it; it helps. Today only I have found it out. If you use My feet, the photograph of My feet and put your attention to it with your hands towards it, it works out very well. Try that. Worth trying. Today it worked out very well with people. I think it will work out with you people. If you can have a nice photograph of the feet, just put there, clean it properly. You may watch it, put your hands on that like this and watch it and see it. Sit in the same light and after that you can put some flowers or something or some kumkum on that, but before that you just watch it and see. Maybe it might help.

Sahaja Yogi: Specially for Āgñyā, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Specially for Āgñyā. You are looking very miserable [I couldn't know]. How are you? Are you all right now? And [Clintar] are you all right? Are you better? We have to work hard, you see. We have to work very hard to understand that Sahaja Yoga has to spread, but first is collectivity for which is spontaneous, for which you [UNCLEAR don't work hard it is less work]. You work hard not to be collective. French have the same problem. French are the worst, worse than anybody else. French are very quarrelsome people, very difficult. Poor Alexander has given up. Now let's see another one has come in the field. It's Patrick. Already he looks quite flabbergasted. Very quarrelsome people. Quarrel all the time, talk ill, this, that, I don't know but let's see what happens and when the people come in the ashram, they see people like this and they run away. They run away. I am giving them a big lecture this time about collectivity, everything. We are going to have Guru Pūjā also. I hope it works out. I have been to France so many times, so many. I have worked very hard with them.

Something funny about them.

They like to quarrel. They like it. That's the problem with them. Like we had one gentleman was French [Regis] and Marie used to always support him, I said, “Marie, he is very quarrelsome." She said, “Yes, we like to quarrel." I said, “No, you don't like it. Nobody would like it. It's joyless." So when Marie left the program I sent [Regis] to him. He stayed with them. After that Marie said, “Mother, please forgive me. I will never, never support him." So this is the trouble with them. You see, they are non-collective by temperament and they have to really be spontaneous to enjoy each other. But they go on sometimes like that and even if you ask them, “How are you?" they say like this. I say, “When are you going to be like this, all the time like this, like this, because if you quarrel”, they are all the time on quarreling basis, “you can never enjoy each other." The day may come when all the Sahaja Yogis from France will disappear into other countries and you'll be all right. I don't know what to say. I hope and pray this time when we go there we will find the French united together. Only they need Napoleon to unite them, I think.

So this is what it is. That's one of the worries I have about the French. I hope you share My worries and pray for their unity, their complete unity and collectivity.

Sahaja Yogi: One thing, Shri Mataji, that the link between them and us is very much there. The link is very much there because of the language, because of the French language which is in itself very, very exclusive.

Shri Mataji: No, that's not the thing. I think you are wrong. The link that they have is drinking.

Unless and until they drink they can't talk to each other. That's it. The French must drink to talk to each other. Otherwise they cannot be sweet. They start with sweet talks after drinks and then they come to fists. That's what it is. Like this. This link or whatever you may say doesn't work out. And we are going to have an inauguration now of the French book, Advent and all of you are going to be there for Guru Pūjā, I am sure and that is on Sunday morning. We are going to have 10 o'clock this program.

Doctor Narend Singh is going to inaugurate. His wife is also coming and all of us should be there and I hope the French will present themselves as one united beautiful people and will bring good name to Me.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, In this sense Patrick has phoned and he asked you when Doctor Singh would come because he does not know yet the time.

Shri Mataji: You should let him talk to Doctor Singh himself. He doesn't have his phone number?

Sahaja Yogi: I don't know, because he just told me.

Shri Mataji: No, no I will tell him the phone number from My husband. He must be having his phone number. I will tell him. Tell him to telephone to Me in England and I will tell him. Oh yes, but you must do it fast, you see. Gregoire knows his phone number, Doctor Narend Singh.

So you should ask him about the details and everything. All things can be done properly and his ticket must be booked, his wife's ticket must be booked, both of them are coming and their return and their stay. Gregoire knows all about it. You tell Gregoire. He was going to go to Paris himself.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Patrick phoned to Gregoire and Gregoire didn't know the details of the coming of Doctor Singh.

Shri Mataji: No, no, you see, you have to decide with him, not Me.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh yes, yes.

Shri Mataji: I will tell Patrick to contact Doctor Narend Singh and ask him for his details when is he coming, what is happening and you have somebody there. You can telephone to him. Find out his number and if you don't have you can ask Mr. Srivastava in the office. Gregoire can ask him or Patrick can ask him and then tell him to find out.

Sahaja Yogi: And in France would you like to stay in Paris or Bordeaux where Patrick is having his house? He is asking this question, too.

Shri Mataji: I don't mind. Anywhere, as long as, I don't know if Sir C.P.'s coming, then I don't know what his position would be, but his house is always available. The second alternative is if C.P. would like to stay in a hotel or something. I don't know.

Sahaja Yogi: Maybe Paris, or...

Shri Mataji: If he comes. If he comes [UNCLEAR].

So let's see what happens. The hall is good, that hall is good and it's sensible, respectable? I've told Gregoire to go and see [Dianne] who's there, who is now there till October. Now can I take leave?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Who has given Me this?

Sahaja Yogini: I did, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Thank you very much. What's that? It's French, is it?

Sahaja Yogini: Chinese, Shri Mataji, from China.

Shri Mataji: From China, is it? French are good at that, at making beautiful scents, you know, which I use. China, what is it from China? Let's see. Oh, look at that. Isn't she nice? So beautiful. That's the lotus to support her. Just see the way she is sitting, it's beautiful. In meditation, very beautiful piece.

Where did you get it?

Sahaja Yogi: It's a shop not far from here, Śhrī Mother and they have very beautiful Chinese export.

Shri Mataji: It's a real beauty, I tell you. Look at that, the details that are worked out and see the Kuṇḍalinī coming up there. A real beauty. Do you see the Kuṇḍalinī? What a pose, eh? It's beautiful.

Thank you very much. May God bless you. Thank you. Thank you.

So beautifully done.

Contents: 1985-06-13*, Public Program, Day 2, All Great Incarnations Are Just One, Salle Centrale, Geneva, Switzerland

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

We are here to know about the truth. First through our mental understanding and then through our experience, to prove everything that you have heard so far. But the minds are very conditioned. Like in India, when you talk about Christ to Hindus, say that Christ is based and placed in the Āgñyā Chakra, they think that I'm trying to spread Christianity, because I was born in a Christian family. But when people talk about the deities on the Chakras, which is a fact, people in the West start thinking they are talking about Hindu philosophy. But one must know that are all related to each other. Christ Himself has said in the Bible that: “Those who are not against us are with us." Who are those? Actually the most unfortunate thing is that Christ was not allowed to speak more than three and a half years.

I've been coming to Switzerland for four years and I have been telling [UNCLEAR] before talking about the deities. Because I know the conditioning of the Western mind. They will never try to understand that there is something beyond what they know from the missionaries. It is a very difficult situation but I think the Sahaja Yogis feel the emergency. They feel that it is now necessary to start talking about the truth plainly to everyone. If they do not want to come in, all right. But at least we'll not be blamed that we didn't tell the truth.

There are some Christian people who came to Sahaja Yoga and they refused to give up alcoholism and smoking. But the reason they gave was very funny. They said that: “Christ has not said you `should not smoke,' `you should not drink.' " I said: “But did He say that you must become alcoholic and you should smoke? Did He say that: `You must do it!' Did He say that?" In that short time of three and a half years with all mad people around, what could He say? Whatever it was possible He said and they crucified Him.

And in Australia we had a program in a Jew hall, it was owned by Jews and I talked about Christ and they were very angry that I talked about Christ. But they were told that: “Today, Mother is going to talk about Moses and Abraham." But they said: “Why did She talk about Christ? She has spoilt our temple." I tell you all of them must be laughing the way we fight for them. They were like beautiful flowers on a living tree of life. You can see the tree of life where they came and established themselves within ourselves.

They are completely synchronized in one personality. They have no problem. They don't quarrel among themselves. It is we who have plucked those flowers and say: “This is mine, this is mine, this is mine” and are fighting. The fanaticism is expressed these days in the worse possible way. In the beginning, Christians were very fanatic. When they came to India, they came with one pistol in their hand, or gun in their hand and a Bible in the other.

And one could never imagine that it was Christ who was described as Mahāviṣhṇu in the ancient books of 14,000 years back written, because He was shown to be a very mild personality. And they combined the religion with the ruling people who were very, very cruel. As if Christ was like a Roman ruler. And they would really take advantage of people and do all kinds of tricks, to make them Christians. When I was born in a Christian religion, I knew that I have to be born in the most fanatic people. Because others are very gross. You can see the Muslims, you can see the Jews, you can see the Sikhs, you can see the Hindus, you can see them as gross fanatics. But in modern times, Christians have become very subtle fanatics, very subtle, very sophisticated. It's not easy to find out [UNCLEAR the/a] false with them. In the name of doing social work, doing good to others, they are using Christianity. Christ never did social work. He was the source of compassion. He never went and built hospitals, did He? This is human work. And it is so sophisticated that people get confused.

It's a big problem this conversion business also. They converted people in India by putting a loaf, bread of loaf in the well saying that: “We put some meat of the cow." And the whole village became Christians because Hindus are, also, another type of fanatics. They believe in driving out as many as possible so they said: “Now you have taken the water which was filled with cow's meat, so you are finished now. You can't have here, you can't be Hindus." They drank the water where the cow's meat has been put, so they are no more Hindus.

So they were thrown out.

This is the conditioning, which we have to speak about God. There are people who just don't believe in God, they don't want to know about God, like Russians and there are people who believe in God, are all mixed up.

I went to Russia, I've been there twice or trice, trice. And I told them I want to go and see some church.

So they took Me to a church where it was the Greek Orthodox church. We were VIP so the priest, the chief priest came in and he invited just for a lunch and he said that: “These are our fasting days.

So we cannot eat meat, but we can eat vegetable." I said: “Very well." But he said: “We can drink, drinking is all right." And the chief priest drank so much, so much that he forgot that he has to see us off. And he was saying: “When I don't eat meat, I at least take some nice drinks, you see." Vodka and all that, very strong things. And My husband and Me, we don't drink at all, so the officers who were with us never drank. Because it says the protocol. They could not drink. The VIP are not drinking, how can they drink, you see? And when we came out, you see, all these officers started laughing aloud, you see, they couldn't help it. And I was very embarrassed because I thought he is a man of God, he should behave himself better.

So the Russians told us: “That's why we don't believe in God. This fellow believes in God, preaches about God, look at him how stupid he is!" Then they told us a story, which is one should understand how things work out. They said some tsar and tsarina told that they must have some religion for Russia.

So they sent for Christians. The Catholics came out.

So the Catholic said that: “You can drink as much as you like, but you cannot marry many times. You can have keeps but you cannot marry" so tsar said: “This won't suit us." So then they called the Muslim. The Muslim said:

“You can marry four, five times, but you cannot drink." Then they said: “This won't suit us either." But the so-called Orthodox religion said: “No, no, you can marry as many as you like, you can drink as much as you want, do what you like.

The only thing is you have to give us sufficient money to run our organization. Then you are certified to go to Heaven." So they were very happy that they should take to this Orthodox religion. And that's how they have this Orthodox religion there, but they all make fun of that.

Now the time has come to tell you that all these great Prophets and all these great Incarnations, are all on this Earth, came on this Earth with a particular purpose, with a singular purpose to establish within us different dimensions of our awareness. They were like the leaders of our evolutionary process in different periods. Like Mohamed Sāb came, when Mohamed Sāb came, they were not smoking, they did not know what smoking was.

So He said: “All right, don't drink” but He didn't say: `Don't smoke,' because they were not smoking. But when they started smoking He had to come back again as Nanaka, to say that: “Don't smoke." So now the people who take drugs say that: “Nanaka never said `Don't take drugs.' " This is the trouble with the human mind: they want to find out loopholes by which they can justify their adherence to these prophets, as well as their existence as people who are doing wrong to themselves. But Truth cannot compromise. Truth is what it is. When you become the Spirit, then you will be surprised that you become so powerful yourself that you don't have to read any book; you don't have to understand anything.

Automatically you give up things, which you are not supposed to take. In the light of the Spirit you understand immediately what is good for you.

All kind of mental processes, which have made us stupid, drop. For example, a person who is not realised does not know who is right person, who's the wrong person. If he's a futuristic man, he will say: “All right. I have to buy this house. But maybe, it may not be available, maybe available, maybe this problem, that problem." He will think about the problems first, waste all his energy before is facing the things, situation. All the alternatives he'll give a problem. As a result of that mental activity you really create problems. Because whatever is in the mind, takes the form. This hall was in somebody's mind, then it took a form. But after Realisation you decide: “All right. I have to do this, because it is inspiration." You just do it. And once you do it, if there's a problem, all right, he tries to surmount it. It is the intelligence of the Divine that works through such a personality. Like a tip of the root is a small little cell which penetrates in the earth and [seize] a stone, an obstruction. It goes around that stone and ties it up and uses it for later support. That little cell has got the pure intelligence of the Divine. That is how a spiritual being faces any problem that comes to him and makes advantage out of this disadvantage. But he is not involved.

So, if it does not work about, he says: “All right. Let's take the other course because, maybe, it's not all right." So any obstruction comes to him, any obstruction comes to him, becomes kind of a understanding. And that is the attitude comes spontaneously. Then, on the other side of the physical level, as I told you, one gets above comfort. The Spirit doesn't seek comfort because it is above all bodily comforts. If you have to live in a palace, all right, if you don't have to live in a palace, all right, you can live in a jungle. It's all right. Nothing dominates. You become so free.

Thirdly, when it comes to the emotional side, a spiritual being sees other people as relations in spirituality.

Like you say: “We are all brothers and sisters” but we are not when it comes to selfishness. Before Realisation, you are not brothers and sisters at all. There's only three types of relationships: lust, greed or emotional. Like a husband and wife. They marry. After, see, living together for so many years, then they marry and after marriage, secondly they are there for a divorce. Because you find out that they hate each other. I mean, sometimes it is shocking, when they describe the husband or a wife, you think you are living with some Satanic people, or what. They think themselves are really perfect and the other person is absolutely Satanic. And so the marriages fail. In Russia, you'll be surprised, there's a big area, kept like this, the bride and bridegroom have to first walk all the way, not in the church, before entering the church, in a big area like that. And I asked them: “Why do you have to make them walk, because, after all, they are wearing such nice dresses and all that." You see, whether it is raining or snowing, they have to walk.

So they told us: “It is more practical that if they decide not to marry till the church comes in, it is better they go away." Because they said: “Half of the time we are marrying them and half of the time we are divorcing." It's all our energy is wasted in this kind of a nonsense.

Now you are attached to your children and children are not yours. Now, there's also tremendous hatred for children among parents. Now they have to weigh within this and that relationship, if the husband is important, if the child is important and the child suffers. I was shocked, really shocked when I came to London to discover that people make the child sleep in another room and the dog sleeps with them. And they said: “This is our culture." I said: “What is this culture?" and so many children die without the knowledge of the parents. You'll be surprised that in England two children are killed every week by their parents, two children are killed. That's what I learned. But then somebody told Me that it's not England, it's only London. While in our country, in India, people will sell their nation for their children and this is another absurd stuff.

So there are two extremes of this emotional relationships. But when you are a spiritual being, you are not attached to anyone. It's like the sap in the tree, rises, goes to all the leaves, goes to all the branches, all the flowers and goes back. It's not attached. It does not get lost into any flower. Otherwise the flower will die ultimately and the tree will die.

So all these kinds of attachment that one has with another person is mythical. There is no pure relationship. In the West also I have seen another very dangerous thing that happens. In India, if you invite somebody in the house, maybe he may run away with your things, something maybe. But in the West, if you invite somebody, he may run away with your wife.

So, I mean it is very dangerous. And there is no law to protect you. This is what it is, that when our ideas about devotions are not clear-cut, when we are mythical about it. It only creates problems. Never gives you joy.

Now the kind of spiritual being we know of these Gurus, the fake Gurus and all that, you must know that it is not at all possible for a spiritual being to be like that. If he is a real Guru he will increase, enhance your freedom. He'll make you powerful. He will not try to show off his powers, but he'll make you powerful. He would not care if you are a governor, or if you are a laborer. If you are a spiritually highly evolved personality, he'll respect you. Spiritually you can evolve so much that even your glance can cure a person. Your compassion could be so strong that even just an attention on a person can cure. You can cure, you can release. And such a person will council you, without being afraid of you, of pleasing you.

He will not pamper your ego. Like in England I was surprised, now they want to have pubs inside the churches.

So I said: “Why?" “Because they want to make it interesting." If the people have no interest in such a person, he doesn't care. He is not going to compromise. Because he lives much higher than the rest. His compassion pulls out people from their troubles and miseries, but he doesn't jump into that.

He's responsible to God and not to human beings. He's doing God's work and appointed by God, by the Divine and he is not working for people to please them.

He is not a politician to tell lies and get wars, to give false assurances. And such a person is not afraid of anyone. In 1972 I went to America and openly, on the stage I told them the names of the horrible Gurus that are going to come and that are there. In 1970 double the hall of this, or maybe triple the hall, before Indians, thousands were there and I told them that: “These are horrible people born again and these are going to bring all the shame to God and they are Satanic." I told them about all these cults and these branches of religion which have made people fanatics. Openly I criticised all of them. Throughout in all My lectures I have been criticising them. But nobody so far has been able to prosecute Me or to do anything to Me bodily. Only the other day, when we had in your Geneva a program, Calvinistic Church, some people came to disturb us and one lady brought Bible to hit Me. Instead of getting afraid of her I've started laughing so much that she couldn't understand what was happening [on the other day]. They are very weak people, they are very weak. They have weaknesses in them.

Such a person has to be very decent and decorous and very dignified. He doesn't move the way the fashions move, the way the masses move. He is an individual of a character. But he is not cynical. He has to be one of the others. Like in America I started taking Coca-Cola so that they were quite surprised that: “How can Mātājī take Coca-Cola?" I said: “If you take, I will also take. What's the harm? Let Me see." But not the... not the whisky, not the alcohol. In a very sweet way one can avoid. But the higher side of such a personality is this, that such a personality does not depend on you for money or for anything what's so ever. It is a completely a free personality, but he [UNCLEAR] doesn't have, not have a licensee, a license of doing things. It's extremely Dharmic. It's extremely religious. But it's completely free and it does not in any way you trouble you or hamper your road in spirituality by any chance. Because the only concern it has, such a person has with others, is that: “How to emancipate them?" Spiritual personality is can be only understood once you are a realised Soul. Without Realisation you will not know. Because you haven't got the sensitivity on your central nervous system to know what is real and what is unreal.

And this personality may be living in the turmoil of the world, but inside he's completely peaceful.

Such a personality emits peace and confidence and security. And being very active, extremely active, such a personality is never tired. And so dynamic and knows so much that you are sometimes surprised that these people who have not even learnt how to read and write, how they have got so much of knowledge.

Such people you can find in any strata of life. Say, in our country we have people, a butcher. There was a gentleman called [UNCLEAR], a butcher. He was a great soul. Kabīra who was just a weaver and he was such a great soul. If you read his knowledge you'll be amazed at his knowledge.

So many poets like William Blake, Wordsworth, Milton and also your poets, so many here who were realised Souls. Even in other countries, who were realised Souls, never went to any college, never went to any university but wrote such great things. If they are born realised, like Mozart, from childhood they are geniuses. Like Michelangelo, you can say, is a great personality. He has shown Christ in a real way, if you see the Sistine Chapel, that is the Judgment he's shown so well, which is happening today. Christ standing like a strong man there and not like bones that they show in the Catholic Church. I feel they are sadists, always talking of cross and putting Christ just like a bone structure, making I really feel like crying when I see these things.

Can they carry that cross, anyone of them? Like Christ, with that skinny body, could He carry that cross? He is the one who died for our sins and our miseries and you want to show Him such a miserable person? And the other side, the shameful side is this that they want to call Him homosexual. This is a new type of crucifixion of Christ. They have no respect for themselves, how can they respect others. How can you judge Christ? You have no powers to judge Him. First become the Spirit then you'll know what He was. But nobody wants to talk about that and they want people to suffer. Why suffer when Christ has suffered for us? Why should we suffer anymore? Only He is to be awaken within us and He sucks in everything. He is so powerful! That's why Christ has said in the second verse of Mathew, [He said] in the second chapter that: “You'll be calling Me `Christ, Christ,' and I will not know you." These are the people. And you don't become one of them. You know Him, you see Him, you will find Him here within yourself awaken, He resides. Be sensible! By saying: `There is no God,' God doesn't disappear. He's very much there. Sahaja Yoga is the only way you can prove the existence of God and all that is said so far about all these Incarnations.

Because the seventh center is now open, you get your Realisation and you become the Spirit.

It is so eminent that the seventh Chakra was to be opened.

So that you pass from one level to another level. Otherwise, if you tell something: `Don't do,' they will do it again. That's human nature. They'll do it more.

So it is better they have a little light within themselves and they see their own lamp and cure it because they become their own guides.

When the seventh Chakra was opened, it was possible to give en masse Realisation. But that is more in India, not here. Because they know what it is. They are educated that way. For them, to get Selfrealisation is the only aim in life. I'm not talking about the Indians who are westernized or who are here to make money. The other day I went to the footing of Himālayas where they announced that I was coming and they said: “The Goddess will be awakened." Goddess they know as Kuṇḍalinī Devī [UNCLEAR].

About more than 3,000 people gathered from all the villages around, from miles together they walked [UNCLEAR down/on], came down for their Kuṇḍalinī to be awakened. As soon as I stepped into that valley, they all got Realisation. No questioning, nothing. I did not even talk to them. I talked for about ten minutes, it was all right. And the wall, there was a wall behind Me, because there was a road going up and the wall was struck by their vibrations so much that I was feeling extreme cool on My back from them. And around us were all these trees, everything, but not a single leaf was moving. But only where I was sitting, the pandal, it had all these decorations, they were just moving beautifully in a rhythmic way.

Because they know one thing: “No use knowing the whole thing without knowing the Spirit." So we must think about so-called development of ours. Spiritually, where are we? Now, when the speaker talked to you, he has been to India. He has seen in every village I go there are at least seven to eight thousand people. And they get all Realisation and they are changing so fast, in the Maharashtra state.

Now My husband was elected to his post and we had to come to England and that's how I'm before you here today. But once I go back, I know India will be just in few months we can transform. But not in the West. I don't know why. He feels the emergency so much that he wants to tell you everything so fast, but I don't know how far it is going to be successful in the West. All the [UNCLEAR thugs/tucks] who came from India know how to mesmerize and under mesmerism they have controlled so many people.

In your Switzerland we have all these [UNCLEAR thugs/tucks] coming every time. This Transcendental Meditation had people sent, when they came to Me they were all suffering from epilepsy. The head of their `Flying Academy' in [UNCLEAR] Scotland, his wife, his child, all they came to Me, stayed in My house.

I cured them of their epilepsy. Another one comes here who has got 59 Rolls-Royces now. He has got 50,000 people in your country who are supporting him. He had 58 Rolls-Royces and he wrote to England saying that: “If you can give me one more Rolls-Royce, I'll come." So people starved for one year and got him a Rolls-Royce. There is another one, who males everybody nude, makes them dance and takes money.

Now there is drug epidemy [epidemic] coming. Then there are AIDS and cancers, everything is coming down.

Some comes to them and some comes to our abandonment. It is an emergency in the West. It is an emergency. If the older people in this country realise what they are doing now by neglecting their children, they will be shocked. Everybody must know that the time has come and that you all should get your Realisation and see that you establish it. This is the most important role you have to play. In the history of evolution, this is the last phase where you are to be triggered and this is what you have to now do because you are born in this era. There is beauty within you, there is bliss within you, there is peace within you. But you have to get it. It is to be exposed. You must feel it. This is what you are here for.

Don't waste your precious human life. Otherwise the whole intelligence is wasted. With humility you will get it and with working it out, you'll establish. I think you have to play this role.

May God bless you all.

Now, if there are any questions, you may ask Me. For only one or two persons because I think we are in a mood to get our Realisation. Moreover, in this short time you cannot explain everything. But I...

There are thousands and thousands of lectures of Mine which you can listen to, if you like only listening to lectures and know all the knowledge. But that may not give you Realisation. I cannot guarantee that thing. Even by asking question, answering it may not work out. It is a living process which has to act. If it does not act, I can't help. It is like a sprouting of the seed. You cannot argue. It has to happen.

So now, if you have any question, you can ask Me.

Question: Shri Mataji, they ask why your photo, he says that why people are using your photo to get Realisation? Why are they not strong enough to get their Realisation?

Shri Mataji: You are not. What can I do? I wish you were that strong. My photo gives Realisation, curing, everything. What can I do about? That's a fact. I must accept. I'll be very happy if your photo can do that. I will retire. As I am a happily married woman, I got My children, My grandchildren, I don't need anything. If you can do it, I'll be very happy. Can you do it? You haven't seen My some of My photographs which you should see. There is one photograph which, seven scenes, where the light is coming. As you have seen Christ praying, there's a light coming on Him. Like that.

Translator: There is one here.

Shri Mataji: One is here. You can see that. This is in a village. Absolutely in a remote village.

It's only one. There is one photograph in which My hand, the whole sun is shining. Can you do that? There are some photographs which have got lights coming out of My [throat]. There are some photographs where the light is coming from My head, like that, from My toes, there are flames. This is all in a village where we do not want to manipulate. For what? In Hong Kong... While in Rome on the television I gave Realisation to so many people. But though people in Italy are very different. They are very sensitive and an Italian Mayor of Rome he just saw My photograph and he said: “This is Divine personality. One see it clearly." And he printed My photographs and put them on different places officially. They sent Me a car, they reserved a hotel for Me. Of course I don't use those all. I don't need it. But that's how they looked at Me.

But here in Switzerland when I came, I must tell you, that the custom officers talked Me, I am a diplomatic passport, he didn't stop anyone, he stopped Me, he took My ticket, tried to find out what ticket I got and then he allowed. America's even worse. You're better than Americans.

I mean, you see, Americans are egoistical and childish. Both the things put together.

Some funny mixture. Even their old people behave so stupidly that you don't know where to go. Even old people become punks. Now you are laughing at them but they don't think that way. This is the trouble, you see. You have to face people like that who are clunks. What to do? And I asked one gentleman: “Why do you do this?" So he said: “What's wrong?" I just told him: “But I cannot laugh anymore. That's the only problem. But when you put all these things on your head, you get your eyes spoiled, your brain spoiled, everything is affected." For ascent you need really deep people of special category, of special sensitivity. Such people are humble and are not egoistical, because ego can make you racist, can make you any nonsensical thing. I mean you can find it everywhere, this ego. But you have to leave it to Christ to correct you. I think of Americans and I just know how to laugh. That's all I enjoy. In America I was laughing all the time. Even 80 year old people go and do shake dance. They are already shaking and they're doing shake dance for [UNCLEAR]. How can you give Realisation to [help Me]? Now, but is nice to be on a very pleasant mood. Those who are not in a pleasant mood also are difficult people. There's nothing to be serious. It's all a play. And they said that, in America, if... My most of My photographs, they smile. They said: “You should not be smiling, you should be very serious, you see." I should be like Christ, to see, bones.

So that's what it is. You see, the people demand an image, you see, it's built up.

And that image you must be. Otherwise they don't want to come to you. Because they have no proper image in the head. They don't know is what a Divine personality is. Indians recognize Me just like this.

Even the president of India could not stand before Me. Make Me sit first of all. He has that much sense.

They know Me.

So, let us now have our Realisation. And I hope something goes in the head of people, that they establish themselves. Please, put your left hand towards Me like this. Those who do not want to do it, please, go away. Please, put your left hand towards Me. The left hand is symbolically expressing your desire power to know...

Who is sitting behind Me? Please, they are talking all the time. What are you talking? Was he translating? Were you translating? You want to have Realisation or not? Otherwise you can go. All right? It's all right. They might be translating. It's all right. You see, sometimes you have someone like that. They just get up and disturb everyone. They are very negative people. Because we are all meditating, suddenly some people will get up and walk through ten people sitting down disturbing others.

They have no idea as to what they are doing. Because they are so weak, maybe they are so negative that they cannot stand anything that is spirit, that is good, that is Divine.

So those who don't want to do it should go out. We have to do these things because we are little complicated. That's all. You have to put your left hand towards Me, which is symbolic of your desire to get Realisation. And forget about whatever I've said about Americans or anyone.

So don't feel guilty for anything, please. I didn't mean that.

So just to make it pleasantly placed towards yourself I told these things, but don't feel guilty, for anything whatsoever. Because that is one of the biggest hurdles we have in the West. Before starting you must forgive yourself, respect yourself because you are the temple of God, no doubt. Inside yourself you are all pure Spirit.

So doesn't matter, whatever it may be, maybe you're egoistical, maybe there is conditioning, whatever it is the Spirit will show Itself out. You do not, please, condemn yourself or judge yourself. The manifestation of the Spirit is imminent and will work out. As I love you, you have to love yourself.

So forgive yourself. Now put the left hand towards Me, with the desire to be one with the Divine. Desire is to be united, one with the Divine.

Now, we have to place our hands on different centers, one by one, on the left hand side. And you have to put both the hands parallel on the Mother Earth. Now the first is on the heart, second is on the upper part of the abdomen, third one is in the lower part of the abdomen, then again on the upper part of the abdomen and then on the heart. Then here, in the corner of your neck and the shoulder, here. Right hand. Now this is very important because this is the center most of you catch because of feeling guilty.

This portion is. And this causes other problems like angina and spondylitis. Spondylitis, angina.

So many diseases. Spondylitis is the… is the…, this bone. They must be knowing spondylitis, it's a common word.

This one is to be done from the front like this, not at the back like that. You'll all can feel a lump, there, see. Just see the lump. Feeling guilty, that's why. No, no. With the right hand. Go to the left side, right hand. Right hand to the left. Now it's better. See, you feel the lump there? Press it a little bit. Better now. Then you have to put your hand here and hand there and then you stretch your hand and put this part, which is the last breaking point here, just on top of this and press it hard. And move it clockwise seven times. Stretch, stretch. This is not on the forehead, but on top of your head. The last one. Stretch your hand. Stretch. All right. I'm sure it will work out.

Now just put your left hand towards Me. You can take out your spectacles, because you have to keep your eyes shut throughout. Please, don't open your eyes. Please, don't open your eyes. Now, please, put your right hand on your heart. Keep your eyes shut. Here now you ask Me a very fundamental question.

You can call Me Shri Mataji or Mother. `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Ask this question three times. With full confidence. Now put your right hand in the upper part of your abdomen on the left hand side and press it. This is the most important center for our sustenance. And it gives you the power to guide yourself.

So you become your own master, your own Guru. This is created by the great Prophets.

So you are also a prophet and you are to become that.

So now here you say: `Mother, am I my own guide? Am I my own Guru? Am I my own master?' Please, say it three times. `Am I the prophet?' Then now, please take your hand down, on the lower part, on the left hand side, lower part of your abdomen. Now press it hard. This is the center of the Divine technique, the Pure Knowledge. Now here I cannot cross your freedom.

So you have to ask that your Kuṇḍalinī should be awakened.

So you have to say: `Mother, please, I want the Pure Knowledge. Give me the Pure Knowledge. Make my pure desire fulfilled.' Say it six times, please.

Contents: 1985-06-14 Farewell Small Pūjā, Founex, Switzerland

What's it? Now, who is going to play that? That's great.

Sit down. Sit down.

Ah, the roses are growing in sizes. Do you see that?

Sahaja Yogi: Huge, Mātājī. They are huge.

Shri Mataji: But they are growing in size. Your vibrations I think.

All right.

So now.

I'm sorry we we had to do this hurried-up thing today. And because situations ah... with the situations one has tadjust, that is what is the situation is today. I may not be able to come back for Kṛiṣhṇa Pūjā.

Sahaja Yogi: The Navarātri.

Shri Mataji: But... Navarātri, sorry, Navarātri, may not be, may be, I can't say. But whatever it is.

We should have a little Pūjā. That's what was the desire.

So, we'll do it now; only, you, you have not much time. But you can say the mantras and somebody can just wash My Feet and then My hands.

You see it takes about five minutes to wash the Feet.

Sahaja Yogi: Should we say Your hundred and eight names? There's a translation in English.

Shri Mataji: That we will.

Sahaja Yogi: It is.

So it's not...

Shri Mataji: All right.

If you think so, but I think better is to say mantras, it's better, the mantras of the Chakras, you see.

It is better to say because that also is very important, to say the mantras of the Chakras.

Sahaja Yogi: From the beginning?

Shri Mataji:... from the end, yes.

So you say one and then repeat, from one to another.

Now, it started. We can start with Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

Sahaja Yogi: Gaṇeśha, Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

Shri Mataji: Three times.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Gaṇeśha, three times?

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. Just start pouring the water.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Gaṇeśha sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Is it all right? Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Gaṇeśha sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ. Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Gaṇeśha sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Ādi Kuṇḍalinī. Ādi Kuṇḍalinī. Three times.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Kuṇḍalinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Kuṇḍalinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Kuṇḍalinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Brahmadeva Saraswatī, once.

Sahaja Yogi: Brahmadeva Saraswatī, une fois.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Brahmadeva Saraswatī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now, Guru, Ādi Guru.

Sahaja Yogi: Ādi Guru.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Guru sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Lakṣhmī Viṣhṇu.

Sahaja Yogi: Lakṣhmī Viṣhṇu. Une fois. Once.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Lakṣhmī Viṣhṇu sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Then Jagadambā.

Sahāj Yogi: Śhrī Jagadambā, une fois.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Jagadambā sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Hm. Now Kṛiṣhṇa, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, une fois.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Śhrī Rāma.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Rāma.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Rāma sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Shiva.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Shiva.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Shiva sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now... Jesus.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Jesus.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Jesus sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Virāta.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Virāta, une fois.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Virāta sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Omkāra.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Omkāra.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Omkāra sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Kalki.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Kalki sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now Mātājī Nirmalā Devī.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Shri Mataji Nirmalā Devī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Now say the Sahasrāra's mantras, three. Sahasrāra Swāminī Moksha Pradāyinī Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Sahasrāra Swāminī Moksha Pradāyinī Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Sahaja Yoga Dāyinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Now, after saying all these mantras you have reached up to Sahasrāra and you have also pierced through the Sahasrāra. The most effective mantra you know is `Nirmalā' and that works the best for Sahasrāra.

Now, one thing we must know, if somebody's Sahasrāra is catching, then such a person should be avoided.

It is very easy to find out a person who catches Sahasrāra. We are not here to denounce anyone or to say `no' to anyone, but you'll be amazed, if you come in contact with some of these people, if you are not fully matured, you do catch. And you start changing your temperament, your nature, everything.

Now, for that we must understand anybody who is catching Sahasrāra, must be avoided. There is nothing to feel bad, just tell that person, that `your Sahasrāra is catching and the best thing is that you clear out your Sahasrāra. If your Sahasrāra is catching that means, there is a barrier between you and our Mother and we don't want to know about you.

So for the time being till you clear your Sahasrāra you better not come to the ashram, better not come to the program. Clear out yourself. Let us see if your Sahasrāra it's cleared out.' I did not meet Martha but if you can pass her the thing, that both of them were catching on their Sahasrāra, when they came to the program in India. And they informed Me, that their Sahasrāra is very badly catching. Actually I did not know what they were doing here, what was the problem till her letter came to Me.

But this is the main thing and not to feel bad, because if your Sahasrāra is catching and you come here, then what happens: you cannot improve, because the bhoots won't leave you. And also the people who are here will be affected.

So one thing one should remember, even her daughter-in-law, I must say you must avoid her. Like, I know I shouldn't say this, but her daughter-in-law was very much catching on the Sahasrāra the other day I saw her.

So she has to be careful. You should not tell her in a way that she should feel hurt, in any way, nothing. I mean not that she's bad, she's a good person, all of them are good. But if the Sahasrāra is catching she might be catching for Martha, can be. But she must clear it out by getting out of Martha, because this is one thing we have to remember, that ashram must be kept pure.

Ashram must be kept pure. Then I would say that also Briggite, your son, elder son, has a problem.

You better look after him and be, completely be in charge. See how he behaves, because he has got something from his father, which must be taken out.

So you look after him.

There is, what we have to do, everybody has to improve and improve. Another is Andre. Andre you still you are not all right.

So you have to put your left hand towards the photograph with the light and put your right hand to the Mother Earth. You see, if there are people who do not improve they should give up because we cannot work it out.

So you please put your left hand towards the photograph and right hand on the Mother Earth.

They should all improve. And no use talking to other people because they catch and they get into trouble.

So what's the use of troubling others? The best is that you cure yourself, you should be all right.

There is no hatred, there is no anger, there's nothing. It is just a simple understanding that just now there is an infection within u, we should keep out from others.

In Japan, if you go, even you may be the president of any place, you see, one president of this Akai fellow, he came to see Me. He had a big bandage just like a, I don't know, like Hanumāna, you see, big thing here. I said, “What is this?" I felt very funny. You see, he came to see Me all the way you see, a VIP, this that and here you come with that. He said, “I'm sorry, I've got cold. I don't want to give you."

Sahaja Yogi: Sensitive.

Shri Mataji: Very sensible.

Sahaja Yogi: Sensible.

Shri Mataji: So in a way it is to be understood that we have been catching, we have been doing wrong, in the sense that we are meeting people when we are catching.

So see that your Sahasrāras are kept clear. For that is very simple, you see I've seen miracles happening to people when they know how to surrender entirely. But if there is barrier in the heart, the heart is not clean, you see, then Sahasrāra catches. Because you know, it is Heart Chakra. It is so made that is the Heart Chakra. From the heart you must get to it.

So that put Me in your heart, put Me in your heart. It will work out. But these people who are just on the periphery catch very much from others.

So be careful not to catch. If you catch try to beat yourself with shoes or do something to get yourself all right. And everybody should work it out that way so that you ascend. If your quality improves a lot, then there will be no problem.

Then another I've told here, that there are many old people who come to program.

So I've told Arneau, I've told all of you that let Jaqueline and yeah, our Genevieve and Madeleine and all these people, elderly people should all join together. All join together, you look after them, talk to them. Also elderly men should join together to talk to them, because they like to talk, come round and this thing. They don't trust young people.

So you be careful on that. And it will be very helpful, if you can first let them talk, let them take charge and then gradually come to this. And there will be some very good news coming to you about the ashram, I'm sure.

I bless you. May God bless you.

Try to be in the ashram at least for two-three weeks, so that you learn certain disciplines. And disciplines must be maintained. Do not challenge Arneau for that. You must discipline yourself, there is an emergency and your disciplined life will tell everybody else, that it is going to work [out]. You should not side with your sister, brother or anyone. You must side with the Divine, so that you can cure brother, sister, everyone.

So try to work it out this way, that the whole thing cleanses. Mother is cleaning you all the time. Morning till evening I'm doing nothing but cleansing. But you also should do some cleansing, isn't it? That's very important.

So now I take your leave.

And there's this is vibrated water. You can use it for whatever you like, I will vibrate that with My hand. I won't be able to wash it I think. My hands with that.

And this one here, yes, this one you put it here. Just put it.

No, no, you put all that in here.

Sahaja Yogi: In the, in the big one? Yes.

No, no, no, no. This, all this.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, if we just...

Shri Mataji: This water can be removed.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji can we just put a garland on You? Just...

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, while going I'll take it.

Can you bring some pot like this? Something to wash My hands.

Now some ladies should open the sarī and give it to Me. This sarī has put a bondage on Me.

Some seven ladies. Married ladies.

You give a sarī to them and you take a fruit in that.

First let Me wash this you see, that is important. Did you bring a pot? That's too small. That's it...

Just open. Look at this.

This is also, you people are so lucky to get it. You got it so cheap, do you know? We paid eight hundred rupees for this sarī.

Sahaja Yogi: It's tremendous, Shri Mataji. It's just the colour of the sarī You have today.

Shri Mataji: You can't believe it, you can't believe it, you see. You can't get it for less than three thousand.

You are people so lucky, you have no idea how lucky you are. Just imagine. Can you get such a sarī? The other way round. Just show them.

Now put it on Me. Put everything on My hands.

Ghee a little. Little bit ghee. Little. Just a bit. Just a bit. That's all.

Now put all the...

Sahaja Yogi: Curd? All of it?

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. Now put that.

[In Hindi/Marathi:] What you call? Honey.

[In English:] You have more curd, na?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Let it have more curd with this. Yes, it's all right. Now you pour it, the other.

Sahaja Yogi: Milk?

Shri Mataji: Milk. The other should be this side. Now water.

See the sarī. This is your luck I tell you. I mean your wedding sarīs you bought, compared to that, look at this. You be careful with mixing up with people.

You shouldn't come. This is not all right. Get somebody else. All right? I'm sorry but it is so. Don't get friendly with her. You see, it's a fraternity of bhoots. If there is a slightest bhoot in you, it will combine another bhoot. She will go down, you will go down. Try to keep with positive people.

Annie, how are you? You are not all right. What's the matter with you? Why? `Les miserables'? Well, then what? I don't know why it is so. You should improve, you should see your vibrations, work it out. You see so many years you have been with Me. What will people think? Now next time I'm not going to see such faces, all right? Everybody like a flower. What makes you look like that? Work it out, see your vibrations, you know it very well. Work it out.

Marie has improved so much, you see. What about you? You should improve also. You have such a nice husband. Or you are quarreling with him? Are you? All right. It should work out I think. You go on the right side too much, you think too much. You think too much.

So just say `Nirvichara', it's the mantra for you, `Nirvichara'. And for her, Vivian, Vivian, you must say the mantra of Sahasrāra, all right? Om Twameva sākṣhāt Sahasrāra Swāminī. It will work out. Still it is catching little bit, but it will work out. You are much better, no doubt. All right.

Bring it slowly.

You have to put some rice.

No, I think you have to put it this way.

Ha, good.

Sahaja Yogi: The rice, if You want to put it now, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Ah?

Sahaja Yogi: They went for rice, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Beg pardon?

Sahaja Yogi: They went for rice. They are coming with the rice.

Shri Mataji: Put the garland now.

But then rice should be fast because I take that, Everybody has improved, you see. Marie Martine, ask her, from where she has improved to what.

There are people, tremendous people you have here, who have improved themselves with full confidence in themselves. Martin has improved so much. Everybody has improved. Even she has improved so.

And Antoinette I'm very happy to see you this way. She's so much confident, she's so sensible now.

Everybody must improve. All right.

I'll try to arrange for your children, if they can be looked after in some place in India, then those who have children can also travel. I'll try. Although I don't promise but I'll try.

Hello, Shakti. May God bless you.

So now, where is the garland? Beautiful. It's very beautiful.

May God bless you.

Now take a photograph. Everything to order. In this short time what to do? You cannot do much, you see, do much justice. That's the problem.

Give her the photograph of Sahasrāra. Another thing I found out, if you can get the photograph of My feet, which are nicely exposed, you put it on the ground, bow to it and look at it without thinking. That's a very good way of progressing, that's a surrender, all right?

Sahaja Yogi: Complete Pūjā, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Ha? Fast. You see, you are very speedy people. For India, they take four and a half hours. And Switzerland only ten-fifteen minutes, finished! They are very speedy, you see. Telescopic.

Sahaja Yogi: If You say that, Shri Mataji, to the Indian Sahaja Yogis who will be scold[ed] when You come to India, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: No, no. They know that things can be very much, complete effect is there. That's the main point. Oh, let it be, let it be. Don't you worry.

This is the flower of dathura we call it. Is a, like that, which is used for, little away, so that for Feet can be seen, you see. The Feet must be seen.

That sarī, did you keep or not for the background? I've put it inside, the one he liked.

Sahaja Yogi: Oh, it's in the bag Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: I will take it out. You should use it for a background, good idea.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, we could, if the photograph is good, we could enlarge it because it is on the green, green colour Your Feet. It's tremendous with the flowers, Shri Mataji. Should be nice.

Shri Mataji: All right, take it one more. Good one. Let it be, need not be there flowers, need not be.

All right, doesn't matter they show, as long as My Feet show.

It's all right. Ask him. Paul, pull this out a little. Good.

If you look at Them there's no swelling, you see? There's no swelling at all. All right. Take it here.

Sahaja Yogi: I don't know if I can, Shri Mataji, pushing them.

Shri Mataji: All right. May God bless you all.

It was very enjoyable, intense and beautiful and I don't know how the time passed. You all enjoyed.

So be kind to everyone, be nice to everyone and don't say harsh words, when you are with other people.

And Mona what about you? Are you all right? You still go up and down.

Sahaja Yogini: Yes, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Now you study yourself. You have to become into Nirvikalpa. You see the boat is leaving. The boat is leaving. You have to come to Nirvikalpa.

What's that?

Sahaja Yogi: From Mite, Shri Mataji, to match with the tea set.

Shri Mataji: Ha?

Sahaja Yogi: From Mite, handmade, to match with the tea set.

Shri Mataji: So you bring it with the tea set, all right? So sweet of you to have given Me that tea set, really.

So sweet, it's so precious. I don't think I'll ever use it. Is too [cozy], too cute to be used, you know. It's too sweet.

So beautiful. I mean what an idea. What an idea.

And the sarī?

Sahaja Yogi: We put in your bag Shri Mataji?

Shri Mataji: All right. And take out that another sarī, all right?

Sahaja Yogi: Very well, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: You feel very sad, isn't it? I'll feel very sad, leaving you all here. But we are going to meet for Guru Pūjā. At least make it for Guru Pūjā. All of you should be there for Guru Pūjā, all right?

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, could we sing Your Ār.ti while you are leaving? Could we sing Your Ār.ti while You are leaving?

Shri Mataji: All right, sing.

All Sahaja Yogis and Yoginis: Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, Mahāsaraswatī, Mahākālī, Trigunātmika Kuṇḍalinī sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Kalki sākṣhāt Śhrī Ādi Shakti Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Om Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Kalki sākṣhāt Śhrī Sahasrāra Swāminī Moksha Pradāyinī Mātājī Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Śhrī Nirmalā Devī namo namaḥ.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, we all the Sahaja Yogis here, we pray to You and we promise You, that we will be one, just one flower, so that when You can see us, You will see only one flower, one colour, one perfume and one flower offered at Your Divine Lotus Feet. And we pray Shri Mataji in our heart, that Your Divine Lotus Feet will dwell forever in our beings. Amen. Jay Shri Mataji. Jay Shri Mataji.

I want to thank you all very much for the gifts, for your gift and others, all those who have given Me gifts thank you very much for all that. May God bless you.

Now enjoy yourself. Hope to see you all very soon. I'm going with a heavy heart, but I hope at Guru Pūjā it will be all cleared out.

May God bless you.

Thank you very much.

Javier [Valderamma], I'm having a very strong discussion with Jesus Christ, who refuses to open the Āgñyā Chakra of the Spanish people in the program of tomorrow. He is angry with them because in His name they exterminated over six million Indians in America.

Contents: 1985-06-26, Public Program, Day 1, Colegio Mayor Chaminade, Madrid, Spain

[Once at the venue, just before the, Public Program:] Javier, do not worry, last time I came to terms with Jesus. He agreed to open the Āgñyā Chakra today provided I publicly denounce all the atrocities they have done in His name.

I bow to all the seekers of Truth. When we say we are seeking the Truth, we have to know that it is not a mental projection that we are seeking. Nor it is the emotional projection. But the Truth exists beyond emotional and mental projections.....

Just rub on My Feet. Rub with both the hands. Rub your hands; rub your hands. Now, see yourself. Now see your vibrations, now see. Got it? All right! Now, let's have the third, second, three persons. May God bless you!

Sahaja Yogi: The restaurant belongs to this lady.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, I know. She came to Me, she was weeping.

Rub it now; rub it; rub it. See, just rub your hands, all right? Rub your hands. Rub it. Hard. Both the hands. Done. They are all right. They have got it. Now see. All right? Good. May God bless you! You did wash? You did wash, ah? All right. Those who are..., he here, he and you come along. Who else?

Sahaja Yogi: He already washed Your feet before.

Shri Mataji: Doesn't matter, once more. Rub it, rub it, just rub it. Rub your hands that's all. All right. Rub, rub your hands. Rub your hands, rub your hands now. Rub your hands, not the feet. Rub it hard. Hard, hard. I don't feel bad. I don't feel anything if you rub Me hard. Now rub your hands. See now. All right? Here! Rub it hard, hard. He's married or not? He's married? Ah! Rub hard. Rub it hard, here. You are all right. You got it. You are all right? Are you all right? Good. May God bless you! Rub it hard. Is better now, see. Now see. Ha! Better? Good. Who else is left? Come along, those who have not yet got it.

Jasraj is he? Jasraj singing? Are you all right? Take it like that. Good, you are all right. All right now? Better? Rub it.

Rub it more, rub it. Who else is? Call more people. Now, hot water not needed, cold is all right. Good. Now see. Better? Who else? All right? Just rub it hard. Hard, hard You are all right? You are all right? He's all right. Rub it hard. Rub it hard, hard, hard. You are all right. Rub it hard here, you are catching here.

Hard, hard, hard. Ah better! Better now. Better now. See now. See now. Better now? It's better. What about you? Mother come in my Sahasrāra, Mother come in my Sahasrāra! Ah! Better. Now all right? May God bless you! Now who else is left? Come here. Sit down. May God bless you! Now rub! Now let him, let him there and then you can? Two persons can come. Any other person with you? Two is better than three. Two is better than three. Rub it hard Rub it hard, rub, rub hard! Second two. Rub it hard. Rub your hands.

Rub, rub like this. Rub your hands. Ah, nice! Rub it hard, hard.

He's saying: “Oh Mother, Shakti give me dedication at Your Lotus Feet." Now see. Now see your vibrations. All right? Good? May God bless you! Now don't think about it. It's just here on top of your head. He's... as a little hard. You just say: `Mother, are You the Shakti of Shiva?' Just ask the question. Three times. Aah! Who else? Now you and somebody else. Great! All of them are! Who else is with you? Two persons are better. All of you have been? All the rest have been? Rub it. Rub it hard. Bus [enough]. Now see. Done? All of you or there is somebody else left now? Jose you've washed My feet sometimes? He did very well. Both the hands.

What's he saying?

Sahaja Yogi: We're not allowed to lie and say no.

Shri Mataji: These lies are allowed. These are sweet lies.

You felt it, Cool Breeze? She is from? She is from Como.

Sahaja Yogi: She is a Sahaja Yogini from Italy.

Shri Mataji: She's washed My feet?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes. She was there at the beginning.

Shri Mataji: Done, done, here; rub it here a little bit? Nābhī, Viśhuddhi. Ha! Now all right. See.

The cheeks are becoming like nice reddish stuff, you see. Very sweet. May God bless you.

Spill this out! Slowly, slowly take this out. Just slowly. Slowly, both of you should do because it may fall. This water is important because you can use it for your gardens and things, all right? We have to thank Don, because he's the one who came to Spain and who did the? May God bless you! Now if you could just bring all these things you know, here and just you can go on saying the mantra of the names you can't say, twenty-one names you don't have here anything, so say the mantras of the seven Chakras, that's all. And I'll wash My hands in something like that. Warren you can do that. Seven Chakras. You can start it. Just keep it here. I'll tell you one by one; you pour it in My hand Little bit of ghee, little one spoon. Come along, you have to say the mantras of the seven Chakras. All right? All of you should say.

Make it little slower.

Gaṇeśha Gaurī Mātā. This a... what you call, Madhu [honey] You got lot of milk in it? Put more, I think. Put more of that. All of them can come. Dahi [yoghurt]. You have more dahi? You have more dahi there? Yoghurt? You have more yoghurt? Don't use, don't use this brass for yoghurt. Just pour it direct. Just direct. This is also brass [UNCLEAR]. Milk now. That water, you put it in there. We want that pot. We want that pot that she had brought. Can I have little bit to wash My hands, little water? No, no, come along, sit down.

Get seven ladies to put it on.

Sahaja Yogi: Married women?

Shri Mataji: Seven married women.

Sahaja Yogini: Spanish ones, Shri Mataji?

Shri Mataji: You have the Spanish one, isn't it? Or you have... Spanish ladies, from Spain. How many there are?

Sahaja Yogini: Just three, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: It's all right.

So very lucky! Open it. You have to take the photographs now. Get the photographer. Spanish photographer you should that.

Sahaja Yogini: There is a crown for You, a crown there.

Shri Mataji: Ha? It's a crown? Got daisies first time! Let Me have a mirror. They look nice on Me, the daisies, with the white sarī; first time I am in Pūjā in white sarī. Have you noticed that? First time in a white sarī, isn't it surprising? Coming for the program. Just take the photograph now. I think, I think miracles may take place today, with the white sarī, I don't know, may be.

Sahaja Yogi: It's the ninth day of the moon, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Yes, very nice day. Eighth day is very good, Ashtami, is the best day for the Pūjā. I seldom have a white, except for the Shiva Pūjā.

Take of the Feet also, take it nicely of the Feet. Specially for the Spanish. All right? First time the daisy, first time the white. It's surprising. You take it without the blue sarī then, isn't it, the white looks nice, this combination looks nice. May God bless you! May God bless today all the Spanish Sahaja Yogis. Let Spain take to Sahaja Yoga very fast and transform themselves.

And all those today who have been in the program and yesterday, should all take to Sahaja Yoga seriously and work it out. They must respect their Realisation? and must pay full attention and importance to their lives. May God bless them all with wisdom. May God bless you all.

You see the Kuṇḍalinī. You take out your coat, otherwise I can't see. Can you take out his coat? I can't see your Kuṇḍalinī. Ask him also, take out his coat. I want to see your back. Bend down full; bend down full. May God bless you all! Now the only Chakra which I feel is the right Nābhī, that means you all have little bit of a problem of food.

So look after it. May God bless you! May God bless you! May God bless you! You look after your livers, that's important. Heat, ah... say and the food, I think your food here is very oily, I think. Try to reduce fats, you see. It's very oily food you have.

Sahaja Yogi: There's a gift for you, Mother.

Shri Mataji: What is that? Thank you. What is that? Fan? Aah! I brought two fans when I was coming to Spain, I brought two fans. I knew it will be hot. In India we have fans everywhere. Can you open this for Me? What is that?

Sahaja Yogi: This is the bhajans translated into Spanish.

Shri Mataji: Oh I see! Ah! Good idea.

Sahaja Yogi: The book is made by Sahaja Yogis.

Shri Mataji: This one? Oh beautiful! So this is in Spanish language? I'll have to learn at least Spanish.

Sahaja Yogi: Here are some presents for the Swiss and English.

Shri Mataji: All right.

Sahaja Yogi: Swiss Brothers.

Shri Mataji: For Swiss brothers. Arnaud? Now you have brothers and sisters all over the world. This is for English, English brothers.

Sahaja Yogi: And this is for each of our brothers.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see! This one is good for The Advent.

So, you have to go on distributing it to all of them, one each. Thank you very much. Now you have friends in, brothers and sisters in America, Spain, France, Switzerland, Italy ... And now we will be going to Greece also, in Germany, in Austria and after this program, as you know, after the Paris program we are going to, first to, what is the country?, yes, to Belgium. But what is the capital there?

Sahaja Yogi: Brussels.

Shri Mataji: Brussels which is the capital of Belgium and then Holland. In Holland we are going where? Den Hāg, or?

Sahaja Yogi: Den Hāg, yes, yes, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Hāg, all right. We are going to Hāg and there is going to be seminar. You are going to meet all your brothers and sisters for this Guru Pūjā especially. They all are looking forward. Christine also is coming from America and I think Danny has come from America... and I don't know, maybe one or two might come.

So you will meet lots of people. May God bless you! Next time I will come for more time to Spain.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, I just would like to thank all the Spanish Sahaja Yogis the way they welcome us, it remind us very much India and the Indians how they welcome us with warmth and love and affection.

Even if it would have been 1,000 miles more... we would have been very happy to meet them. It was very beautiful.

Shri Mataji: You have to learn from them. One has to learn from this.

Sahaja Yogi: We have been to the seaside Shri Mataji, we got sea here in this country, we have got mountains so to remind them that we are still surrounded by mountains in our country, we have a poster for all the Sahaja Yogis just to see that Shri Mataji is crowned not only by he sea, but by the mountains, too. It's the mountain of Śhrī Ganaraj.

Shri Mataji: Just open it.

Sahaja Yogi: It is a colour photograph they can give to people, from you Shri Mataji.

All of you can have one. This is the one, really remarkable, isn't it? Just My Hand. You might say I was holding a light or something. Very remarkable, it's very remarkable. Slowly, slowly one can expose oneself. Isn't it? And this one is?

Sahaja Yogi: This is one of your pictures, too, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: One of My pictures?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, for the Spanish Sahaja Yogis. I really look a Spanish. Distribute that. This one at, in Austria.

Somebody gave Me this and they took the photograph. In Paris, in Paris, sorry. You, you gave Me! He gave, he gave it. I've got it at home. May God bless you! So now we can have our food and then tomorrow?

Sahaja Yogi: Prasad perhaps for Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Prasad I have to eat, ya. You see Gods and Goddesses are just, are supposed to just see it, not to eat. Now which one is Spanish in this? Spanish? Really? Looks like Indian. Just like Indian! Spanish cake? What is it called?

Sahaja Yogi: Made with almonds.

Shri Mataji: So what is all the white things? This one I know, Mr. Srivastava likes this. This is very famous, very famous. Hmm! I know. What is it called? What is it called in Spanish language?

Sahaja Yogi: Turron.

Shri Mataji: Curon. Curan, is Curan from Koran? It makes the sound `kur kur,' that's why. Thank you very much.

Contents: 1985-06-29 Guru Pūjā, Ch^ateau de Chamarande, Paris, France

[Gavin Brown reads out prayer to Śhrī Gaṇeśha in English at beginning of Pūjā.] I believe you all say these things and you listen to it and you say it from your heart.

Only the one who are united with God can worship Śhrī Gaṇeśha. And Śhrī Gaṇeśh worships your Mother.

First of all, one must understand that there's a combination of a Mother and a Guru. Because Guru is a very hard task master. He doesn't allow any liberties to be taken and Mother is very kindly. Well, you don't have feelings for the Mother, do you? Is it all a lip service, that you listen, goes into your head and you think you have become the surrendered Sahaja Yogis? Like all Islam, people believe they're surrendered to God, like Christians believe they're surrendered to God. It's just a lip service that you are this, you are that. How do you know what is said is a fact? Have you not seen the Sun in My hands? What more proof you want? Anybody who misleads you is of course is sinful, no doubt, but to fall a trap to such a person! If you had told a child that The Mother is coming, he would have fought, `I'm going!' Would have cried and wept. What about your vibrations? You don't use your vibrations? You have come all the way from Guru Pūjā here, who is your Guru? Whom are you going to worship? Anybody who comes from anywhere becomes suddenly important. How? It was never done before.

First time, I see such a horrible thing. In My living time if you are doing like this, after My death so many Gurus will rise to mislead you, are you going to accept all that? All the Deities refused for Me to do this [Pūjā], They tortured My life, They would not accept to allow you to have the Pūjā, absolutely. Nothing doing! Because They love Me, They respect Me. They have the proper protocols. They don't want to become Gurus Themselves and misbehave in this manner.

Last time when I came I really was very strong with the French. I have told so many times that French is the hell of the universe. And you should fall a trap to something like that! It's very supraconscious, extremely supraconscious and arrogant. I've never known of such a Guru Pūjā, never! Indians had only one Guru Pūjā and they are praying that they should have at least one more Guru Pūjā. With all these Guru Pūjās if you have achieved this kind of surrendering it's better you don't have any more Guru Pūjās at all. Don't deserve it. You cannot become Gurus, I can see that clearly. Without surrender how will you? All the blessings of the Divine have been showered upon you. And what have you given back? Such ego, that you act to somebody because he has greater egos. It is a very bad example! You have to wash the feet of the Indians and drink that water, maybe then you might realise where you are. You may be very developed and all that. And the Indians who are of your type, all of them have to do that.

Why didn't you see your vibrations? When a blind gets his eyes, he doesn't close his eyes to see things, does he? And what has happened to your leaders also? All of them put together could not say that we'll not have this nonsense at this time? Just coming to the airport, so many people have risen higher in life. What were you doing here? You should have protested. I would like to know how many wanted to go to the airport and asked for it. Raise your hands, honestly, honestly. These are the only people who love Me. May God bless you.

Tomorrow somebody tells you to insult Me, will you do that? You know that if a king arrives from a small little place somewhere, or a Prime Minister from a very small island, from Lakshadweep and Maldives Island, Prime Minister came and the Prime Minister of England had to go and receive him! And if your Guru has come all the Gurus have to come to receive Me? Or to listen to something nonsensical here? I felt like going back from the airport only, the kind of vibrations I felt. How do you get into this kind of a mind? How you join hands, except for few.

Your quality will be known [by] how much you are surrendered to Me, Christ has said that. And today I say to you that. On all other things Sahaja Yogis will protest. “This was not good, that was not good, this was done” against each other, against everything they protest. “Sahaja Yogi took this much money from us and this should not have happened." They always tell Me, complaints and complaints and complaints and complaints.

And for this kind of a nonsense they have no protest, nothing. You are all ego-oriented people and you like egoistical supraconscious nonsense. That's what it is. You all have come for Guru Pūjā or what have you come for? Be honest.

This I'm talking to you as your Mother and not as your Guru. As a Guru I do what I have to do. I'm talking to you as a Mother. Is this the way to respect Her? I had told you this is the last Guru Pūjā you will be having, last Guru Pūjā you'll be having! perhaps, maybe. It's shocking! You have to respect your Guru, surrender to your Guru. It is said that Guru is the Param-Chaitanya but it is the Param-Chaitanya itself is your Guru.

“Aagatah Param-Chaitanyam, dhanyo aham tav darshan", “When the Param-Chaitanya itself will come on this earth I'll feel Myself so gratified Myself to see the darshan of that, My Guru." In what world are you living?

Where are you? You take it for granted. I know Mother has a right to punish you, very well, even Kṛiṣhṇa could be punished by His Mother, but I'm not interested.

The children who wanted to disrespect Me and insult Me I have nothing to do with them. If they have no love for Me I have nothing to do. Only those who protested and wanted to go to the airport should come forward to do My Pūjā. Honestly.

You should be ashamed of yourselves! You have insulted your Mother who has given you realisation, Who has done so much for you. selflessly I've been working, day in and day out, neglecting My own children, My own family, My grandchildren. For you? Only those people, who wanted to go to the airport and said and did not go, please come forward, please. Come.

He's meeting Me after so many years. When did you come?

Sahaja Yogi: Two months ago.

Shri Mataji: Just imagine, they've come all the way from here and there and nicely you are telling them to listen to some nonsense. They have not come to listen to anybody's nonsense! Come forward, this side.

[Someone asks a question.] Oh yes of course those who could not come because they arrived late. I told you them there's no program in the evening. All the Spanish, how sweet they were. Those that were here and did not come are the ones.

Gupta, when did you come? [Marathi.] Yes you can come up. [Someone speaking.] Those who were here and did not come should understand that you are living in the Kingdom of God and when the Goddess of that kingdom arrives you have to be there. I'm sorry I have to do that, this [is] the promise I had to give to all the Deities.

Know that you have to evolve more. You have to work hard. You have to meditate. It shows that there is no discipline! I would also forgive Austrians because their leader wanted to go. Austrians should be forgiven because their leader wanted to go. They could come up too.

One man can save and one man can destroy you. Your leader is all right till it comes to Mother's point, but when you reach that point, then you have to protest against your leader. Come along, come and sit here.

All the rest should go at the back. Just go at the back. Please go back. All others go back and sit down.

I had to promise this, I had to promise this to the Deities. They would not accept!, They would not accept! You must know there are Deities and Ganas in everyone sitting here, They came forward before Me, to France. Twenty four hours They are working, you know that very well. You know it is not a story, you know that, They're working for you helping you in every way, solving all your problems. Don't They? Gavin also should not do My Pūjā because he should have said. Gavin should go back. And all the English who came here early just to attend to everything, attend to what a nonsense? Gavin said he did not know there was going to be a lecture otherwise he would have objected, but what about coming to the airport? English know how much I have worked with them.

All the leaders who did not protest should also go back. All should go. Those who have not protested? Guido, you protested? Guido: Yes, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Italians should be there.

Guido: Italiani possono venire al Pūjā [Italians can be at the Pūjā].

Shri Mataji: Ya! Guido protested. He could not understand what was happening. Where is our Mother? Come this side. All the rest go at the back. What courage is needed for that kind of a thing? Spanish Sahaja Yogi: Spanish people can come forward?

Shri Mataji: Of course.

Otherwise there is protest for everything. Every day I am receiving letters from people. “This is not good, that is not working out in Australia. It is not working out here, that is not happening." Everybody has a right to criticise everyone! [Somebody announces in French that Spanish can come forward!] French has been stupid in the past and they are stupid even now. That's what they are. Think no end of themselves. Spanish people were once upon a time very aggressive but in Sahaja Yoga they are not like that. You must learn how to respect. You've had no good training, very bad breeding, that's what God is going to say about it. I've done My level best to tell you how to behave. No protocol, any sense of protocol you have! Just like beggars! Today you have to resolve and ask the forgiveness of all the Deities, that you are going to use your vibrations all the time. Resolve it! And that no more such a thing you are going to repeat again. This is the last. Never like this. I am really surprised that English, they have come even in sleet in snow, this, that and here, what happened, as soon as they came to hell they became hellish. What has happened to the English? They have no personality of their own? Always they followed the French and now go with them to the ditch! Is that the principle now maintained? “French Sahaja Yogi said... French Sahaja Yogi said..." Tomorrow [if a] French Sahaja Yogi says “Go and kill your Mother!" You will kill Her, is it? Because French Sahaja Yogis have said! No individuality, no understanding of anything, stupid! [Marathi.] [Talking to a Sahaja Yogi and Sahaja Yogini. Shri Mataji asks for the name of someone but gets no reply.]

Shri Mataji: Hmm? Don't know? This Yashi has come to Me from her childhood and as children they used to come all the way. Do you know where this Old Delhi is and where the father was working in the university? Whether I came at six o'clock or eight o'clock or ten o'clock or in the night about twelve o'clock the father with all his three daughters used to be there and so much bubbling with joy that Mother has come.

[Hindi.] Many people have not seen Me for months together. Whether you have seen Me or not. As I am angry with you and also I am pleased with some people. Those who have love for Me and as a symbol of that I want to give this ring to Guido.

What surprises Me is the Gurus who leech you! The one who wanted this Rolls-Royce, they starved themselves for one year, bought a Rolls-Royce and went to receive him and such a crowd that people could not get to the airport. That sort of a Guru you need who will take you to hell! You don't want to go to heaven, you don't want to be the citizen of Gods' realm.

Now whatever mantra you say, please listen! Put it in your heads what you are talking! What you're saying from your lips, listen! Put it in your hearts, what you are saying! Don't be hypocrites! No explanation is needed `I've been to a Guru, I've done this, I've done that.' Nothing of the kind! Even at this stage after so many days if you have not realised that whatever we believe into should be part and parcel of ourselves.

I mean these wretched people like Christians these other people Hindus Muslims they not seen God, they have not got their realisation, nothing, but to them it becomes a faith, they fight for it. And for you people who have seen the reality it is not. What's wrong with Me? People are afraid of a Police, afraid of this. You have entered into the Kingdom of God, you have seen what has happened with people who have tried to trouble Me! Aren't you afraid of that? Don't become frivolous. `What was there to go to the airport after all doesn't matter.' All the Ganas are there with Me, they have all noted down and they are here too.

I'm so consciously taking you [UNCLEAR] because you don't see them. Well you'll see them very soon. It's not easy to control them also you must know that. I do not control you neither do I control them.

So now I don't want to be unkind to people who have been desiring to come and see Me, who love Me so much. And I want to forgive you all, all of you, because this was the first mistake.

Nobody should fix My program, without asking Me. Nobody should take such liberties. From next time I will not do anything of the kind. I am telling you very clearly. You fix My program and I'll let you down. Without asking Me you are not to fix Me anywhere. Without taking My permission, written permission. If you ever try to do such tricks with Me I'll put you right! You know I have all the powers to correct you.

Don't take liberties with Me anymore. I'm telling you, I'm warning you. Try to understand you're facing someone who has all the powers. You know that. Know well within yourself! It's not even like Mohammed. Mohammed just talked. He never gave Realisation. He warned you.

None of them, None of them. But after seeing, none of them have photographs as you have seen of Mine.

Have they? What more proof do you want to know what I am? Now behave yourself! I'm warning you.

Mahāmāyā, the other side of it is horrible, be careful! Only for those who are My children I'll come on this Earth. Not for those who are not, I have nothing to do with them. I did try to save you as a prodigal son has to be saved, that's different, that's very different. But don't take liberties with Me, I must tell you and warn you.

I feel like a Mother who is insulted, abused, ill-treated by Her own children. You can take it just others but not from your own children, you cannot, very difficult.

If you don't understand any protocol because you are so naive, you have never known anything, you don't know how to respect, then you better learn it. There's no Śhraddhā because it was never there. You don't know how to respect anyone. You won't respect yourselves perhaps may not be that [UNCLEAR].

Now today is the day, of a very great event and Guru is the word, as I told you, comes from the word `gravity', the gravity. And the gravity that's what I felt, that I have no gravity to attract you people, or you people have no weight at all in you, that I should gravitate you. Anything that has weight gravitates automatically. It does not gravitate towards itself, but it gravitates. There is also gravity between the matter. But what it has towards the Mother Earth is incomparable. You throw any stone out it comes back! Impossible to fight the gravity! And that gravity is integration of your Śhraddhā, of your dedication and your surrender. Without that gravity you cannot nourish yourself, you cannot grow. Just imagine the roots go towards the gravity and when they are nourished then only the tree rises above. If your roots are not deep, if your roots are so imsy, you cannot go down. Unless and until you go down in that gravity, you cannot come up, you cannot nourish yourself.

Now My talk should not be a waste again, please listen to Me! I'm addressing to you all of you! Remember that. Do not think I am addressing to someone else, it is to you all.

So the only way one can ascend in Sahaja Yoga is through putting the roots down. Allow the roots to grow. Unless and until the roots grow the tree cannot grow. I have seen many Sahaja Yogis who talk big about Sahaja Yoga they can write books, they can write things. The other day I saw someone writing a big pamphlet about Sahaja Yoga, nothing inside the person! That's not the sign of a Sahaja Yogi. A Sahaja Yogi has to gravitate inside.

How do we do it? In the year 1982 I told you the eight fold ways of doing it and I said I'll tell you later and I was about to tell you but not now, the other eight ways by which you can rise, because you are not yet grounded in Sahaja Yoga, you are not yet grounded. I thought you would be grounded, but you are not. You have to nourish, the other way around, the roots are in the head. By becoming thoughtless, by not making the cells to think, by resting them, by peace within. Is not a show of a peace, or just, some people look very peaceful for a show! You have to work it out here in your head. The grounding it has to go into your awareness. How? Meditation! There is no discipline I am told. [In] Hounslow [ashram in London] I am told, there is no discipline of any kind. I am surprised [that] Hounslow people have no discipline getting up early in the morning and doing meditation. What are you doing? How are you going to grow? How does a tree grow? It does not grow in the daytime, it grows in the morning, early in the morning. You never see that. How these roots are going to grow into the head, into your brain, into that jaḍa [roots in Hindi]? You have to meditate. That's the only way you can do it [grow]. Those who do not meditate will become superficial, they'll not achieve anything, they'll create problems. If they are right-sided they'll become supraconscious they'll become bhoots. If they are left-sided they will become left-sided and will be thrown out. You have seen it in the Sistine Chapel You see Christ throwing them out, one by one. And then you should not blame Me! Just listening to Me is not sufficient. It must grow, actualisation of the growth, of the thing is needed. Do you follow that? You have read all kinds of nonsensical things before, all kinds of horrid things, I know what you have read. You have had in this horrible French country all kinds of sadists, like Sade [Marquis de Sade], or Sad-e, whatever you call him. And there were many like this who wrote horrible books for you which you have read but they have not read Advent. There are many Sahaja Yogis who have not read Advent. But only reading is not going to help, it must go into your brain! And brain means what? Into your central nervous system.

Brain doesn't mean into the thinking. Into the central nervous system, into the cells of your central nervous system. That light has to come into the cells. You have to grow and grow and grow. There's only [one] way left out for you is to go to the Himālayas and not to any Ashram or any place, but settle down somewhere where you don't eat anything or do anything and take another birth. That's the only way I think.

They can work it out, not difficult. If you have the seeking within your heart and if you have understanding, sense, intelligence to understand that you have achieved something in life, you can do it.

You all can do it. We don't forgive others, we forgive ourselves, this is the worst thing that we do. You all the time try to forgive others, that's the best way to work it out. But no! We try to forgive ourselves all the time and not to forgive others. Everything we do the other way round. We are Sahaja Yogis, we are yogis, saints.

So, you have to be the Guru. I am a Guru Myself. And what is the conveyance of a Guru? What is the animal he keeps? The dog. Do you know what is a dog is? Do you know the qualities of a dog? He loves his master, he'll give his life for his master, he'll not sleep till he sees his master return back. Any time! We had a dog and every time I went out, every time, he would come and sit on the door waiting for Me. And some people tried a very hard thing on him, some vegetarians and he was about to die, we put him in the hospital. When I went there and I sat before him, he just pulled all his body put his head on My feet and died. It's a dog, an animal. When I went away, say out of My house, he would not eat food till I came back. To any other country I went, he would not eat food. For all these days he would not eat his food till I came. He would not disturb Me but would sit outside waiting for Me to get him. That's a disciple! Unless and until you become good disciples, how are you going to become the Gurus? What's the use of My telling you anything about it? You don't have any discipline of your own, how are you going to give discipline to others? You yourself you are tempted into all kinds of things. How can you work? Are you going to make others understand you? What have you got to become the Gurus? What can you give? All the saints themselves have spent their own money all over the world anywhere it is. To spread Sahaja Yoga how much money have you spent of your own? How much money have you spent of your own to spread Sahaja Yoga? They used to starve themselves to get some. I have spent thousands you know that very well. You know it for definite how many thousands I have spent on you people. Even the Pūjā money that I get, you know each and every money, I use it for buying some silver things for you. It should not be for you, it's for Me, I should say, but I do it.

Every saint used to spend money. Christ had to spend money to spread His Christianity. He never spread Christianity, His own message. Tukārām had to do it. Gñyāneśhwara had to do it. Whatever they had they used that money whatever they had to spread Sahaja Yoga by himself.

The greatest thing I notice is that everyone is so blessed. They have nice houses, nice ashrams, all conveniences, everything is so well done. They are so blessed. God looks after them, all their problems get solved, they want marriages the good marriages are done, everything is done well, everything gets sorted out. Only blessings are there, no duties.

How much money have you spent for Sahaja Yoga first of all should ask that question? How much time have you given for Sahaja Yoga? How many people I have given realisation to? How much righteous and virtuous I have been. What have I done to bring the good name to Sahaja Yoga? What about my personal behaviour how I have lived.

Arnaud has spent lot of money I know, he and his wife. I know about everyone. You have to give time, money, everything. Your job, everything you have to give up. People have given up jobs. I've told you the stories how people have sacrificed for ordinary things like freedom fighting and all that.

So today, as I told you, you have to resolve that, we are going to have the growth within ourselves through our Śhraddhā and through our surrender. Only through meditation you can do it. “We are all going to grow Mother into this." This you have to promise Me as I stand before you as a Guru. All right? We will have the Guru Pūjā now, not Mother's Pūjā. I don't feel like having it. Just start the Guru Pūjā. Come along.

When I say something you smile and talk to Me, giggle, laugh, in the program also. In the church you keep quiet. When there is a bhoot of a pope you all keep quiet. No breeding at all, ill-mannered, badly brought up.

It's like a dog becomes mad you know and such dogs are killed. They are not kept in the public. Such sweets dogs, see, one by one. Italians have brought such beautiful dogs for you to see.

Guido: Those are the dogs chosen by Shri Mataji herself!

Shri Mataji: Ya! I chose you also. I have chosen you also. But look at them, so sweet they are.

So pleasure giving, so joy giving. They are so timely they will absorb all the anger of the Deities I am sure.

Sitting down here like deities, beautifully.

[Applause.] Somebody: Is it alright for a German dogs? [Shri Mataji and audience laugh.]

Shri Mataji: That's the one you keep it here has to bark at people, for those who do not behave, turn him round. German dog! So sweet they are, beautiful.

Do not forgive yourself, forgive others, then you will become Gurus.

Your life should be such, that those who come in close contact with you should feel respect for you, that you are so disciplined, you are very disciplined. I have seen this. My husband is coming tomorrow, we'll be having program and I have seen one thing about his life, one thing, which I have to tell you, which has made him such a great man. He's an extremely disciplined man, extremely disciplined. The one who does not have discipline is like a dog which is amuck, which has got rabies. After realisation you have to be disciplined people. Discipline yourself. This is what I said, in '82 again I am repeating it. Not now, the second half of it which I said I'll tell in India, which I hope they will send it over to you.

You may say the mantras of `Ya Devī Sarva Bhuteshu'. Just forget about it, it's alright.

[Recitation of Ya Devī Sarva bhooteshu starts.] Say the Sahasrāra mantras. 108 names of the Guru are to be said.

[Recitation of mantras.] That is we surrender everything to You.

When you give everything after that you have to put a tulsi leaf and put the water.

Everything, all our health, all our wealth, everything that we have we surrender everything to You.

It's symbolic like that, everything. Our body, our mana, our mind, our speech, our talk, our thinking, everything we surrender.

All our work, our jobs, responsibilities everything we surrender to You.

All our estates, our wealth, our money, everything we surrender to You.

All our relations, all our connections, all our friends, all our nations, the whole world we surrender to You.

All our education, all our reading, all our books, all that we have done so far, we, everything, surrender to You.

I hope you have heard it and put it in your head again. Meditate on this point, to surrender everything.

Nothing belongs to us.

Now the mantras, first name you say, all right and then we have to repeat it. One mantra is said then you have to repeat it. You have to complete it. Just give the first name of the Guru. Now listen and understand what that means.

[Recitation of mantras.] Now the symbol of this, is like this. You must understand the symbol. That is just a leaf. The last thing left with us is this leaf. Of course tulsi represents the left Viśhuddhi, but also an attachment.

So now when you have it in the hand it sticks it doesn't fall.

So you put water to see that it goes away even its smell everything goes away from the hand. It is significant of that. Now, what's that? [Recitation of mantras continue.] Loudly, chitti vibhushanaya, that's the ornament of the attention. Is the Guru. In your attention, who is the ornament, who is the beauty? Is your Guru.

[Recitation of mantras continue.] These are all My qualifications and not yours so far. They have to be your qualifications.

[Recitation of mantras continue. During some of the 108 names Shri Mataji made comments:]... Now this is all the description of the Guru who on human level is like this. Whatever I am, I am on the Divine level. It's much more than this. But on human level you have to have all this. These are the signs of a Guru who is a human being. Do you follow that point? This is not the Divine Mother they are describing. Is the Guru who is a human being. If I am that, it's nothing great, because I'm much more than that. But you have to become that, that's the point.

Sahaja Yogi: Chitkirtibhooshaniāya.

Shri Mataji: That's the ornament of the attention, is the Guru. In your attention, who is the ornament Who is the beauty, is the Guru...

Sahaja Yogi: Guṇāntakaya [Remover of the Guṇas].

Shri Mataji: Now think of it, that if you are in the Guṇas how can you do that, If you are on the right or on the left, in the supraconscious or the subconscious, how can you do that. You have to be beyond it yourself, then only you can remove it...

Sahaja Yogi: Pratyāhāraniyojakāya [who causes one to become attached to withdrawal of senses].

Shri Mataji: Through Pratyāhāra you develop your discipline. And the one who himself is not disciplined, how can he do it? [Shri Mataji distributes gifts: carpets to the Rome and Austrian Ashrams and pink crystal vases to each country.] You have to be transparent, beautiful and dignified like these crystals.

[Normally a Guru is not supposed to give gifts during a Guru Pūjā. Laughing:] But I am a Mother out and out.

Contents: 1985-06-30 Inauguration of The Advent, Palais des Congres, Versailles, France [Talk by Sir C.P:] My dear Sahaja Yogis, Sahaja Yoginis, my very dear friends. First of all I would like to express my profound gratitude by the great honour you have done me today by allowing me to participate in this beautiful function. [Excuses-moi. Je ne parle pas le Francais. Je parle l'Anglais]. It's [UNCLEAR totally/wholly] wrong to come to France and not to speak French but I do apologize. This is a very important occasion; very important occasion from many points of view. I look upon the function today in a certain historical perspective.

First of all about the book itself, The Advent and the author I have had the privilege of knowing the author, the very distinguished author, the very learned author, Mister Gregoire, for a number of years now. Well, I tell you, I have known many young men but his sparkling brilliance, his mastery of history, history of ideas, history of movements, his analysis of the past, his comprehension of the present and his vision of the future, these are unique and I admire them and I respect them. His book has a message for the world, a message which is so needed today, a very important message. The inspirer of the message is sitting to his right but the one who has used his strong pen, beautiful pen, powerful pen to convey the message to the world is sitting here, Mister Gregoire. I am very happy that this book is now being, has been published in French language after the English language and it's my hope that other languages will follow. And may I thank and congratulate the distinguished publisher who is here with us for the contribution he is making in this glorious enterprise.

I mentioned a short while ago that I've viewed Sahaja Yoga and this book in a historical perspective and I'd like to explain to you very briefly why I do so. You know I serve the United Nations' system and I believe very deeply in that system. I believe that this world is one, that we are all members of one human family. The very phrase, `United Nations', means we have to be united together. We have to feel from the heart, not merely from the lip, that we are all regardless of borders, regardless of languages; we are all part of one single human family.

Now, my dear friends, look at the world as it is. There is on the one hand tremendous development in technology, in science, in means of production, in the availability of goods and services. There is a total revolution in communications: sitting in one place you can talk to anyone anywhere in the world in a moment. And with all this available to us one should normally expect the world to be happy, satisfied.

But what do we see in the world? You take the daily newspaper in any country in any language and the first pages full of disasters, full of violence, full of things that none would like to hear. And what is the reason? If, if we are to ask ourselves honestly, sincerely what is the reason for this malice today, this great disturbance from the world, lack of peace, lack of harmony, lack of good will? What is the central reason? Within the United Nations system all of us who have this great honour, great privilege, we all heads of various organizations sit together and talk about this: “What can we do to create peace in the world, to create harmony in the world, somehow to reduce if we can help it to reduce tension? Is there anything that we can do?" The economists of the world, the scientists of the world, the politicians of the world, they are all baffled by the situation today. But those who would like to know what the reason is, they can find the reason and the main reason is the human being. The human being has not received the attention that he should have, that he has not advanced ahead of science and technology; he has been left behind. You are all seekers; you are looking for something that will bring harmony and peace inside. What we need throughout the world is the kind of transformation which you have already gone through. This message of Sahaja Yoga needs to be spread around the world because we need a better world if we have to survive as human beings. When I am in the midst of yourselves I see a world which is far and away a glorious world, a wonderful world, a beautiful world, the world as it ought to be.

We human beings have the image of God in us. We need much more than mere material goods. Material goods are necessary; I don't say they are not necessary. It's very important to be able to live well. But that is not all. We have enough of that and yet the more we have the less happy we are inside, aren't we? It is within you; it is within you to realise yourself. The Kuṇḍalinī is within you. The message is before you, is before the world. I frankly do not believe that the efforts that politicians, statesmen are making today will succeed unless attention is focused on the basic human problem, the problem of inner transformation in human beings so that they can live together collectively as brothers and sisters. And the transformation has to be very, very genuine; it's not a transformation merely for the sake of saying it from the lips. It has to be totally from inside, from the heart.

What I saw yesterday evening, what a beautiful, glorious evening it was, absolutely beautiful. But what I saw in front of Me, were faces, radiant, pure, chaste, honest, feeling together! Not artificially, but totally, really, genuinely. Now, this is the kind of thing which is needed by the world.

So what you are doing is something historical. One should not be odd by the fact that you are a group small in relation to four billion people of the world. Good things begin only with small numbers. The important thing is that it has begun, that is moving. And I want to wish you the very, very best of success in this. And it's for this reason that I greatly welcome the publication of this book in the French language and, as I said, I hope the mission will spread further.

Just a few words more and I would have finished. You've seen, I've talked about the author, I've told about the book, about Sahaja Yoga but I haven't so far talked about the source, the inspiration and for obvious reasons. When I talk about this lady whom you call `Shri Mataji', well I, I can go on talking for hours and days and I don't think I would do that, [I mean] in short. But we have been together now for very nearly forty years and I have seen Her when She was very young, I have seen her as She has grown up. She looks still very young; I have grown terribly old. But, well, the reason is obvious. She is ageless.

She could have both in Her early childhood, youth or as She has grown up, She could have lived a very easy, comfortable life. Her father was a rich person, rich lawyer and all the amenities were available to Her. But when it was the time for the country to fight for independence She went into the battle. And later on when She grew up and we got married, great privilege for me, She could still have lived a very, very easy life. By God's grace, I belong to my country's foremost public service; I've belonged. And so, things were available. We could have lived reasonably. But She was not the person to be content with just living. There has been that spark, the Divinity in Her from the very beginning. And wherever I was posted I was doing my official work and She was doing Her own work. And of course today She is even busier than I am. selflessly and regardless of Her health, regardless of other things and perhaps even regardless of the family, we, we now are both of us travelling all the time, I think the most travelled couple in the world perhaps today. But what She's doing is so vital. And I am [UNCLEAR here/right] talking just because She is my wife and I am Her husband. I have enough objectivity to be able to look at things the way they are. I feel sad, as a human being, someone who is involved in affairs of the world. I am a sad person, because no matter which way you go, no matter what you do within this system or that system, the world doesn't seem to be able to get out of the morass in which it finds itself.

Well, She is looking for the revival of the hope of mankind. And what mission is there which is better than this? On this note, on this note I want to say how happy I am to inaugurate this new volume, how happy I am to wish it a great success, how happy I am to thank the distinguished publisher and how happy I am that you gave me the very great honour, the great privilege of being with you today. Thank you very much.

Translator: Let us thank you one more time, Mister C.P. Srivastava. Everybody is in a hurry to listen to you, Shri Mataji. But, which is a very pure French word, let me just told you what happened a few weeks ago. It was here in Paris. Her Excellency, Mister Gandhi, Prime Minister of India, came to inaugurate the `Year of India' in France. We hopeful expect that this year will understand, us French people, about the real culture and the richness of Indian people, coming from their heart and not through what we can see from the bad side who are travelling. And it gave a symbol.

Sorry, it gave two symbols.

The first one, Mister Gandhi came with some water of the Ganga and he let this water go into the Seine.

As far as we know with our little knowledge what the Ganga means for Indian people, as for his action a blessing of God. The second symbol happened with the Eiffel Tower. After fireworks to close the `mela' which happened with your Prime Minister and our President the organizers showed with light spots the right side and the left side of the Eiffel Tower and the spots' lights crossed at the seventh Chakra at the third floor of the Eiffel Tower. Then it gave the third light spot coming from the first floor of the Eiffel Tower. And this light spot rise three times up to the third floor and the third time it went through the third floor and enlightened the sky. It's a symbol. I hope more and more French people will understand through Your knowledge. And please, Shri Mataji, let us have the honour to listen to You one more time.

[Shri Mataji Talks in English:] Please be seated. Honored ladies and gentlemen, Sahaja Yogis and Sahaja Yoginis, I bow to all of you for you stand for the truth. I must congratulate Gregoire for taking this step to write this book in French language, which I think is a very important thing. I read about the French people long time back, but specially Emile Zola and also, I would say, Maupassant. Both of them impressed Me very much because they tried to bring the truth out of something that is ugliness. When I first came to France I was warned that, “Mother, you are always smiling and a very joyous person. French won't like that, because it means You are not sensitive, that You are not knowledgeable, You don't know under what shock we are living." I remember the book, `Les miserables', I had read before. All these miseries have a remedy. But our approach is not correct. For example on a tree if there's some disease on some leaf, we do not treat the leaf. We treat the roots. The advancement in the West is that of the tree. In this book is the knowledge of the roots. If you have to enter into the root you have to be subtler personality. And so you have to have transformation to become that subtler being. All the religions, all the great prophets, all the philosophers, have said this. Because they missed the point, that's why religions have become quite controversial. But there is no controversy in the essence of them. But first you have to become a subtler being to enter into your roots.

So now the second question comes in, how? As we have become human beings we have to become higher beings also. It is a natural consequence of our evolutionary process. And as scientists you must keep your minds open.

Sometimes scientists also get conditioned by science. But if you are open-minded you can see that there is something beyond which is told to us by so many people. And that we are to be transformed and the transformation has to come true. It's all written in all the prophecies. Even Mohammed Sahib has clearly said about the Resurrection Day, so clearly. He has described Resurrection Day at length, Doomsday very little. And He has said that when the Resurrection Day will come, when you'll be resurrected, then your hands will speak. That's what exactly happens to you when you get awakened. Any branch of knowledge, what we know is through our mental processes, is from outside.

Same with medicine. Medicine, whatever we know, is from outside. We do not know the inner sources which make us sick. Now the knowledge of the tree has grown quite a lot in the West. That's why they are miserable and they are waiting for a shock. But in India people have been searching the roots and the roots are much important to them than the tree.

So if the root and the tree is not separated and is understood as one thing, then we must look to the roots with open mind. Now why our Prime Minister put the water of the Ganges in the river Seine? We believe that the River Ganges has been specially blessed and is like the vibrated water, as Sahaja Yogis know. And to distribute that sacredness, that holiness, that auspiciousness for the well being of the France, he did it. The second symbolic thing that you saw was also very interesting, that the left side and the right side. The left side of the emotions and the right side of the mind, combined together and through which pierced the light of the Kuṇḍalinī which has given you the complete integration.

In the continent of Europe, I should say, whole of Europe, French are regarded as the people who have always provided thought for food. And this book in French, I am sure will attract their attention to see to the remedy for the malady. It is so much needed today. If you go to America, you go to the highest developed countries and you realise that there's something really very much horrible awaiting their future.

Despite the affluence, people are committing suicide out of sheer frustration.

So many drug addicts who came to Sahaja Yoga and got cured told Me that it was out of frustration that they took to drugs.

As described by William Blake about hundred years back there's a special category of human beings born, thanks to the luck of this world. They are called as the seekers but he calls them “the men of God." He says that men of God at this time will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophets. These special category people are today everywhere in the world but more so in the West.

So many are misled, I agree.

But there are three criterias to be applied to your seeking. First, that your seeking has to work out through the natural process of evolution living process. It is not how you dress up or what you eat, or what you talk or what you think. It is not a mental process by which you can achieve that. Secondly, you cannot achieve it through an emotional process by running after somebody and saying that, “He is my guide. He is my Guru." But it is the process which happens spontaneously, Sahaj. Like seed, it becomes the tree and the flower, ultimately the fruit. In the same way the flowers have to become fruit naturally.

First and foremost thing is you cannot pay for it. How much do we pay to this Mother Earth who gives us fruits and all kinds of things throughout our lives? What did we pay to become human beings from amoeba state? Secondly, you cannot put in a human effort for it. It has to be the Divine effort. Here the ego works. The person thinks, `I can do it.' You cannot.

Divine personality is a person who is enlightened. Like one candle is enlightened, it can enlighten another candle. What is there to feel that your ego is challenged? Once the another light is enlightened, can enlighten another light. But when it happens to you, you become, you become. You will know that it's a becoming. You become collectively conscious, that is on your central nervous system, not only in your heart or brain but on your central nervous system you know that you are a collective being. You can feel the another person on your fingertips and yourself also. This is something so simple. And when you give Me tributes I really don't know where to look, because I don't think I have achieved anything. I was just born like this; the credit goes to the people who achieved something.

The function today has been very gratifying and the book has given Me great hopes that French people will read it and understand that there is a remedy for all these maladies which lies within yourself. We had another book, Advent, written in English and was declared opened by our ex-Prime Minister, Mister Nanda, in India. But this is the edited book for the French and I hope it will be a very interesting, entertaining, enjoyable book for you. But only reading it is not sufficient; you'll have to get the fruit.

Talking about the French cuisine is not sufficient; you have to eat it.

I am very much thankful to our publisher; the gentleman has really ventured to do this in such a big way. May God bless him. From My heart I bless you. I thank My husband now, because you know he is a very busy man and he is having a council meeting in which he doesn't come home also. When Doctor Nagan Singh who is himself is a realised Soul could not do it, he requested him that, “Why don't you go in my place? I won't be able to do it." And I was surprised that he agreed. He has seen Sahaja Yoga working out. He's seen how Sahaja Yogis have been transformed. But today I realised he has such tremendous faith and such tremendous understanding about Sahaja Yoga. Of course, he has been of great assistance to Me throughout, but still this kind of a thing has given Me such a great faith in our bureaucracy. Because I always felt that they are so busy solving the problems that they don't want to see to the other side of it. And this is the beginning of a very big era, I feel, today. And I hope with this, I hope with this the French people will take a new turn into their understanding about life.

Till the sixteenth century they were all connected with God; they were devoted to God. But then it divided into, I think, two or three types of people that some were fundamentalists, some were agnostics and some were nowhere. That you can see very clearly in the expression of your art also. Once you left God, the art became so funny. The art should not make you think. It should stop your thinking. Then it is real art. You cannot enjoy through mental efforts any art. This is what Zen has said. Thank God all of them have said everything for Me. And also I thank the modern times, whatever it has evolved socially, it cannot crucify Me.

So today's occasion should be a great milestone for the inner growth of man in such a way that he solves all his problems and remains in the domain of God's kingdom in complete bliss, peace, joy and harmony.

I thank you all very much for making this function such a success. Mother's job is to thank everyone.

In these modern times, who listens to Mother? Because I am not an intellectual, nor am I a bureaucrat.

I'm a simple mother. But perhaps it's the mother only who can solve the problem for us, for the family.

So only I have to say, I've done the cooking and you have it. If you are hungry you'll have it fast, but if you want to discuss before it, also we can discuss but have the food first. And then I'll tell you everything, everything. All this knowledge has to be exposed.

I have to thank again Gregoire and Mister publisher, My husband specially and other people who are here to organize it with Mister Aychala. And also My husband wants to thank the interpreter. Yes, that's true. But the language of love, everyone understands. The Divine Love doesn't speak. It is silent. It knows everything. It acts. It organizes. It works out everything for our good, for our betterment, for our peace, for our joy, for our emancipation. You cannot see it. You can feel it as Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost. Even a glance of such a person can fill you up with that. You don't need language there, only the heart to feel it, desire to know it. May God bless you all.

Translator: Shri Mataji, Mister Srivastava, I've been speaking too much between your different lectures.

And it's a coincidence that we ask Mister Said Aychala who is an advocate in Algeria and is the same nationality as the publisher.

Mister Aychala: Secretary General, Shri Mataji, distinguished guests, friends, it's an honour for me to participate, to all these ceremonies organized by our Mother. And today I am going to be extremely short for three reasons: talking after Mother, words have no sense at all. But with Her permission and I have been permitted to say a few words of thanks, then I will proceed. The second reason is that usually when the last speaker appears, there is nothing to say. Everything has been said already. The third one, I think Mother has mentioned it, lunch time is here.

So I'm going to be extremely short.

I would like only to express regrets to not having Mister Singh who is the president of the International Court of Justice. He was supposed to be with us today but unfortunately health reasons have prevented him from being with us in this very nice and important ceremony. However, it is my pleasure to notice that Mister Secretary-General is here. I don't think I will have to present him; he has been presented. I only say that we are very glad to have with us the man who is the husband of Shri Mataji, Her companion and a distinguished diplomat. For this reason and on behalf of all our brothers in Sahaja Yoga I would like to thank him very heartily for his presence, yesterday and today. And we enjoy it very much always his presence and I think people who know him have as many times as possible expressed their consideration, esteem and love. Thank you very much, Sir.

Well, today we all assembled here for the ceremony of the lancing the book which has already [been] published in English, The Advent and translated in French as L'avenement. Gregoire doesn't like congratulations but in passing I would like to present all my thanks for the good job that he did and the big efforts that he put in bringing out this beautiful edition in French which was timely anyway. I think the French should get to know what is Sahaja Yoga. Of course, as it has been said, without Mother this kind of book cannot be even thought about.

And that's the reason that on behalf of yourself and my person I would thank our Mother, for the permission that She gave to at first write to book and publish it in English and in French and I hope in other languages of the world. This is a beautiful book. Most of you have certainly read it in English and it helps. And anyway it helped me in understanding many things in life. Sahaja Yoga is a thing which is maybe new but very pugnacious, very effective and so far people who came in contact with Sahaja Yoga had beautiful results and they felt completely, their life completely changed. And I think by understanding the ideas of Shri Mataji and the techniques of Sahaja Yoga which are public, contrary to other Yogas whose techniques are more or less completely enveloped in secrecy and, because certainly they are not authentic. That's the reason people are trying to, you know, to cover-up the whole thing. And as far as I am concerned, I know that Sahaja Yoga, when I came in contact with it, the ideal which we find our Mother that has been expressed a little while ago, is to change the individual in order to change the society, a group and not the reverse. And of course, it helps understand the origin, the real sense and origin of all the religions which are not at all opposite or contradictory. On the contrary, it's because people do not understand the substance of these religions that we get so many miseries in the, around the world.

So as I said I'll be very short. This book is going to be sold and I'm sure in France it will [UNCLEAR have/held] a success because, as I said, it's a very timely book, a necessary book that will be helpful for so many French.

And I think it would have a very good impact and on French society. Talking about the book, of course, we cannot omit to talk about the publisher. And thus it has been noted the publisher.

I'm very pleased to us is a duty to join all the congratulations that have been extended to him. I went through the book; it is a very nice book, very clear, very well-presented. And personally I know that in Algeria we'll try to have it in, on all stalls in libraries and for this reason I join again in complimenting him for this good work and I am sure that he will help us later on to publish pamphlets and other books that will come in Sahaja Yoga. Of course, I would not finish without thanking our French friends who was, France who have organized the whole ceremony who has, who have given us a very beautiful...

Sahaja Yogini: [UNCLEAR].

Mister Aychala: Yes...

Sahaja Yogini: You must thank the Sahaja Yogis, say, to Patrick.

Mister Aychala: Yes, that's what I'm saying. Sure. Patrick [Longtuare] and all his friends who have given us a very beautiful opportunity to meet, to improve our knowledge and, of course, being with our Mother it's always very satisfying and our emotion is just risen to a point where words would certainly be lacking. And for that reason I thank you all very much for this nice ceremony and we hope we'll meet in all [UNCLEAR Her/other] ceremonies like this one. Thank you very much.

Sahaja Yogi: I just want to close this ceremony singing You a few songs. We dedicate to You as You are giving us so much.

[Some Sahaj bhajans are sung.]

Sahaja Yogi: In the name of all the people we desire the publication of this book even in French or other languages. It has been published in English, it is not published in French and now very soon in Italian, in Spanish, in Dutch and all the languages of the world. Please, Mister Srivastava, thanks very much from our hearts of all the seekers.

[Introduction by Dr. Bohdan.] Please ask them to come down, all of them can... it [UNCLEAR could/would] be better.

Sahaja Yogini [softly]: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji [to a Sahaja Yogini supposed to translate:] You better do it, you can.

Sahaja Yogini: In two languages? Oh...

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Sahaja Yogini: Mother please.

Shri Mataji: Ah?

Sahaja Yogini: In two languages.

Shri Mataji: One language. Flemish you know. Do it in Flemish.

Sahaja Yogini: I am so nervous Mother, please.

Shri Mataji: No, no, you won't be. Just try, you are very good at it.

I bow to all the seekers of Truth. When we talk of the Truth, we have to ask few questions to ourselves.

First question should be `Why are we on this Earth? Have we found out the meaning of our life? Is there anything beyond the human awareness? Is there any arrangement or a technique, lies within us, that can reveal us the Truth?' When you start thinking on those lines then a thought comes to you.....

I have come down [below sea level] to pull you out. If you do not drag Me down, I can pull you up very fast.

So please don't drag Me down [as it happened on 1985-06-28].

I bow to all the seekers of truth.

I'm very sorry for being late today because they miscalculated the time that it will take to reach this place.

We are talking about truth. Truth that we know of cannot be conceptualised, cannot be mentally understood. We have to know that truth is beyond mental conception. If we believe that this piece is hot, or this piece is cold [pointing to the microphone], it's just our mental idea. But we have to feel it, experience it. The truth has to be known on your central nervous system. It should not be just a conception that; `I'm very happy. I'm very joyous. I'm very blissful. I have found the truth,' because truth can only be found out through our evolutionary process. We cannot achieve it through our human awareness. Human awareness is limited and whatever we do through our human awareness is also limited.

If we have to ascend higher, we have to have a higher awareness, a superior awareness.

This has been described thousands of years back in India and all over the world. Many great incarnations, prophets, all over the world have been talking about this awareness; this new awareness that we call Self-realisation. In the name of these prophets and incarnations many religions were formed, organized, but I think they all missed the point. They missed the point that you have to be something higher; you have to be Self-realised; you are to be born again. It's the actualisation of the experience that must be asked for. On the contrary, artificially we have certified ourselves as realised Souls. Supposing I certify Myself as the governor of this place, do I become that? If I proclaim something, then I must have the powers of that particular position. When people say that they are realised Souls, they are chosen people, they are special, people of God; we find they're just like everybody else. They talk big about God, religion, everything, they can talk about everything! It's only talk, talk and talk, all imagination.

There is a story about the punishment of Shah Abesh. This fellow was a cheat and he went and told the king that “I'll build you a very big palace; you have to give me some land." And after two years he came back; he had taken a lot of money from the king; and said “I've built a very big palace for you." So the king went to that place and found nothing. He could not believe his eyes; “What is this?" But Shah Abesh said: “No, just see, there is a house. You can see; this is the place you arrive; now this is the big palace and this is the courtroom and this is the big throne for you to sit down." So the king closed his eyes, tried to feel everything. He opened his eyes to see anything. Nothing, he could not see anything but open land. He was quite amazed.

So he thought of a punishment. He asked Shah Abesh: “All right, it is very great. Now this is the throne. You'd better go and sit on the throne." So Shah Abesh went and took the pose as if he was sitting.

So he said: “All right, go on sitting like this!" and his legs started paining and he admitted that; “Yes it was wrong. I'm sorry I told you all lies." Now this story tells you how we have been all misled into a very wrong land, that we are amazed and shocked, that how these people are following God or some demons? So now, one has to know that there must be something that is absolute; to find out the truth. We live in the relative world. We do not know what is right, what is wrong. We should not have gone to extremes into anything and followed something blindly or through our ego. The time has today come for us to become the Spirit. This is the special time. We are born in this great blossom time, when all of us have to become the fruit. But it is a living process. How did we become human beings? We became without doing any work, without paying for it, like a seed becomes the flower. How much do we pay to the Mother Earth for sprouting a seed? She doesn't understand money. Money is the human headache, not of the nature.

So in the process of this natural ascent today one has to become the Spirit.

Now when I'm talking to you about the mechanism that is built within us for our last breakthrough, you need not believe Me. In our country also, this knowledge was kept a secret for thousands of years.

Though we can say people like Mārkandeya, whose dates could be 14,000, or later on up to Ādi Shañkarāchārya; people did write about the Kuṇḍalinī. And at the time of Ādi Shañkarāchārya, he very clearly talked about it. That was the tradition of evolution described in all these great scriptures. Even in the Bible you find the tree of fire. It says: “I will appear before you as tongues of flames." Even Mohammed Sāb, who came much later, very clearly, very, very clearly and elaborately, at length talked about the resurrection day. He said: “At the time of resurrection your hands will speak." But everybody missed the point. Zoroaster talked about it thousands of years back. Confucius, Lao Tze; everyone talked about it; that we have to be the spirit. Christ clearly said: “You are to be born again." Then Nicodemus asked him: “Do you mean to say, I should enter into the womb of my mother?" “No” he said, “whatever is born of the flesh is the flesh. You are to be born of the Holy Ghost." But they don't know what the Holy Ghost is. If you ask them, “What is the Holy Ghost?" they say, “We are agnostic. That is a mystery." If that is the mystery, what are you doing there? They say: “We're doing our jobs." Under these buildings of Shah Abesh you don't know what to do with all the religions. These artificial concepts have misled us quite a lot because we have gone into extremes.

Now logically we should also understand that if there is the God who is the father and the God that is the son, there has to be some mother somewhere. I've not heard of any father producing a son so far.

So who is this mother? She is the primordial mother. In Greece, Athens... you know `Atha' in the Sanskrit language means primordial. [Translator doesn't understand.] Atha, Athens, Athena; Athena is the primordial, Atha. And if you see her statue, they have shown a snake-like thing on her hand with all the centers, just like a Kuṇḍalinī.

In the triangular bone this Holy Ghost resides within us. This is the mother who is going to give you your rebirth. In Latin it is called the `sacrum bone'. That means they knew it was a sacred bone. I don't know..., the whole knowledge was lost there perhaps, that nobody continued with it. In India, later on, it became very, very open to the public when, I would say, Ādi Shañkarāchārya talked about it; and Guru Nanaka and Kabīra very clearly talked about Kuṇḍalinī. Gñyāneśhwara also very clearly talked about it in Maharashtra. This power resides within every one of us. If this power could be awakened then we can get our Self-realisation. No one has described that when this Kuṇḍalinī awakens you get all kinds of complications.

But about a hundred years back in India, some people became aware that there is a market of lots of seekers coming up. And they wrote some books which have no relevance whatsoever to the traditional knowledge of Kuṇḍalinī. These English books were later on published and were accepted as authentic in the Western market. I've seen a book, so big, written by a German, so big, where he says that the Kuṇḍalinī is in the stomach! Also they have coined lots of words, which have no relevance whatsoever.

Like the words like `Shaktipat'. There is no word like that `Shaktipat' anywhere in the Vedas, if you see, or in any one of the Purānas or in any Kuṇḍalinī text. There are so many such books that are in the market that I find it difficult to explain to people that they have no relevance whatsoever to reality. By reading these books, we can be misled in the modern times. It was all perhaps done with the idea of creating a market, a money-making proposition.

This Kuṇḍalinī resides in the sacrum bone and she is the power of pure desire within us. All other desires are not pure, because even when we get our desire fulfilled, we are not fully satisfied. The principle of economics is that desires in general cannot be satisfied. They're not satiable, in general. One desire is satisfied, then you want to have another, then you want to have another.

So this is the only desire, which is dormant within us; the desire to be united with the Divine is the pure desire.

When the person realises that, `I've been running after some sort of a mirage for joy,' then he comes up as a special personality, called a seeker. Now, the seeker is described as a Sādhaka, but only a hundred years back William Blake in England described them as “men of God"; “The men of God will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophets." But for all practical purposes they cancelled him as a crazy man.

So once we cancel all of them as crazy what do we become? Now the time as come to prove that you are the Spirit and whatever they have said is the truth.

[Translator misses part of it.] You are not translating it fully. [Laughing.] I understand a thought because if you can know something before the thought, you can understand.

Alright, now, the rising of the Kuṇḍalinī, awakening of the Kuṇḍalinī is a natural process. Like a candle is enlightened and that candle can enlighten another candle. How can any candle be obliged to the other? The other candle was just ready and this candle was enlightened; it has enlightened another candle, that's all. I would say, the seekers are the ready candles and someone like Me can just enlighten them. And once you are enlightened, you can enlighten others also. In India we had one farmer who got realisation and he has given realisation to forty thousand people so far. To begin with it was ten thousand and now I find it's about forty thousand. Out of them, not all of them have come up, but most of them are very much there.

So this Kuṇḍalinī passes through all these centers, vitalizing, nourishing them one by one. And when it nourishes them, they get back to their normal condition and later on to their higher condition. These subtle centers on one side look after the plexuses that we have on the physical areas and also the ductless glands and on the other side it looks after the emotional side.

So the evolution takes place in such a manner as a spacecraft goes into space. In a spacecraft you must know that the containers are placed within each other. [Translator doesn't understand.] In a space craft the containers are contained in each other, like one into another, telescopically. Now the first container goes to a certain point; an explosion takes place; another goes with a much greater speed, then another again is exploded and then the velocity increases, then again an explosion takes place. Like that it goes on till in the end the body of the spacecraft is thrown into space.

That's how we had first our physical, then our mental, emotional and spiritual evolution. And now it is the time for us to get into the space where all these four dimensions get integrated and we become one with our Spirit which represents the peace, the bliss within us.

But as a result of that we become, again I say we become, on our central nervous system, collectively conscious. It's a consciousness, a new dimension in our awareness where we can feel on our fingertips the Chakras, the centers of others and our own centers. Now if you just know the knowledge about how to cure the centers, you are all right. You can treat others also in the same manner with the power of this compassion which is silent; which is silent and which acts. Without any payment, without any idea of getting anything out of you; in Sanskrit it is called as Nirvaj. Nirvaj; without any interest.

So this is the energy that is all pervading. In the Patanjal Shāstra it is called Ṛitambhara Pragñyā.

[Translator hesitates over word.] You know that. He knows that, Ṛitambhara Pragñyā. That is very close to Sanskrit. This power, this all-pervading power is the power of compassion and love of God, which does all the living work, like these flowers becoming the fruits. What do we do? We can't even create a stone of our own. This power is a subtle power, which you start feeling after your realisation. If you know how to manipulate this power, you are there and this is what one should know as truth. That you should feel this all pervading power, this subtle power, on your finger tips.

Now maybe when I talk of God in these modern times, people don't like it. But you accept this as scientists with an open mind, as a hypothesis. If it is proved then you have to be honest. You must have courage to be honest these days. That is very important. And you must have humility to fight your ego, which is a big barrier. On one side we have the problem of conditioning and you require courage to fight it. On the other side is the ego, which can be a big barrier; we must have honesty to fight it.

So you are born at a time which is the most precious time and the opportune time. You have been seekers in your previous lives and you are special people. Now if you have the courage and the honesty, no problem. In this short time of two days, I do not think I can cover this big subject. But it is much easier to give you realisation. It takes hardly any time. It's like in this room if you have to put on the lights, you say all right, press the button and you get it. But to explain about the history of electricity then the organization of electricity, will be a headache and days together I'll have to speak. It's not necessary also to know. You just press the button and you get it! It's all built in! And once the light has come into you, you yourself will start seeing it; I won't have to tell you anything. You'll become your own master. Then it's much easier to talk about anything. Because if you tell anything to human beings they will do just the opposite. It is better that they see for themselves and correct themselves. It's much more helpful and quicker.

So we will have the experience now, but if you have any questions, I would like to answer them. Only thing, please don't ask controversial questions or aggressive questions. You cannot give Me anything; I do not want anything from you. I have come here to give you whatever you have, your own. It is your own, for which you don't have to pay anything or do anything.

So I would request you not to be unnecessarily aggressive with Me.

Thank you very much.

Now please ask Me a few questions and then we'll have the experience.

Question: He has read in a book that the Kuṇḍalinī can burn the central nervous system.

Shri Mataji: That's what I told you already.

Some people, I don't know from where, must be from the lunatic asylum, wrote such a nonsense. I mean, it doesn't burn! I haven't seen it burning anyone.

It must be some people who are unauthorized. Supposing you put your fingers into that or something [pointing to the electric socket], I don't know what they did. I mean it's something very naive, they must have done something and they must be funny people. I don't know. I can't understand.

On the contrary it soothes you. It cools you down. Not only that, it cures incurable diseases. It cures mental problems. It cures spiritual problems of this kind of burning as you said. I know of someone who came to Me saying, “My Kuṇḍalinī is awakened and I am burning as if many wasps are biting me." And he had become like a mad man. You don't become mad when you ascend, do you? You become extremely normal. But in one of these books... you see the source of all these books was one Viṣhṇutirta's book; I read that, “When the Kuṇḍalinī awakens, you'll start jumping like a frog." Now logically, are we going to become frogs and earthworms? Whatever is written is not the scripture. How much does it takes to write a book in modern times. People who come out of the prison, have nothing else to do, they write all the books so many times! Rather unreliable, modern books are very unreliable. [Laughing.] Question: When you eat meat, does it stop the Kuṇḍalinī?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no. Not at all. This is another... This has nothing to do with it, what you eat. Actually, I know there should be balance within us. We shouldn't eat too much meat or too many carbohydrates, too much of this. But I don't know from where this idea has come, even Buddha ate the meat of a wild boar and got sick and died. We have a community in India which is very much abroad, because they are very money-minded people; they believe that we must save mosquitoes, bugs and all parasites; better than human beings. Kuṇḍalinī is a subtle thing.

Question: There was a question that Kuṇḍalinī can burn your nervous system, but would it be possible that Kuṇḍalinī can go in certain Chakras and you are not ready for it and you get very emotional and then vibrations from outside can disturb you and from that you can get a physical...

Shri Mataji: No, sometimes, you know, some seekers who have been seeking and seeking and seeking are fed up of life and their Kuṇḍalinī rises and they meet their Spirit then, of course, out of joy their eyes are filled with tears. There's no harm in that. We are not machines, are we? That we should not have any tears in our eyes sometimes, to express our joy. When we are very joyous also there could be tears in our eyes. But you don't get involved into it, you become a witness. You see it, you see yourself. You become a witness of the whole drama. You see yourself feeling that joy.

Question: The word extreme was mentioned in the discussion before a lot of times, but we have gone to extremes. Which is the power in our body, which brings us to that point?

Shri Mataji: I can't hear him Translator: He asked; the word extreme was used quite a lot, but what is it that drives us to extremes?

Shri Mataji: Extremes are all kinds, you see. Now some people must have read a few words say about physical Yoga; they end up with heart attacks! Now a person who is very temperate, moderate in life, is balanced! The prophets tried to give balance to us. Like when people became too much attached to the deities and the rituals, they came to teach us; “No, there is nothing like that.

You'd better take to your Self." Like Buddha did. Buddha said that “Better not talk about God at all, because if you talk about God everybody thinks they are God." So he just talked about Self-realisation, that's all. First you have your first connection.

It's like this; we swing from the left to the right. Means we become too attached to something, blindfolded; then we discard it. Then we go to the right, we start rationalizing everything. Like in Christianity, for example, on one side is Catholicism; another extreme blind faith in someone, who is not a realised Soul perhaps, maybe. And the Protestants are another extreme, they are still protesting. They have rationalised everything, even Christ, everyone Divine, everything rationalised, scientifically proved! You cannot rationalise Christ. Now they are saying he was not Divine, he was a human being. How do they know? They are not even realised Souls. What are they talking about? Now this is going to another extreme. Like this in every walk of our life we go to extremes.

Some people are alcoholics and others are work alcoholics [laughing]. Both are just the same.

Question: You said it is the same... [UNCLEAR] but I was confused because, I work until now with heavy psychos and bad people and also one who had...

Shri Mataji: He is giving a lecture. What is it? Translator: Can you make your question short please?

Shri Mataji: Did you follow anything out of it? Translator: He was telling about some cases of people who are very clairvoyant or paranormal and they got possessed.

Shri Mataji: Alright. About that I will tell you tomorrow; everything, clairvoyance, ESP, all right? I'll tell you all that tomorrow. Tomorrow I'll come earlier. Alright. Anything else? I think you'd better have your realisation first. Questions will not give you realisation. Better take your realisation if possible.

Let's start. I can't guarantee it though.

Question: Can I ask a question?

Shri Mataji: Yes, please.

Man: Why would a Self-realised Soul eat meat?

Shri Mataji: Eat meat? Is that such an important thing? What's the use of saving the... Why are you worried about the chickens? [Laughing.] I can't give realisation to chickens, alright? Our attention is more on animals than on human beings. That's the trouble you see. I don't want you to put your attention to animals please. Put attention on human beings, who are the epitome. One human being has come out of thousands and thousands of chickens. Moreover, I cannot prove it, but it is a fact that when you eat the chicken, the chicken gets its evolution. Otherwise how does the muscle of the chicken improve? But I don't say you'll eat it, I am not saying you eat. I think the Western people should not eat so much, I agree, but we should not try to put our attention onto something that is not important. Buddha did it because there is no sense in saving the wild boars, is there? On the contrary I have seen, the vegetarians, some of the vegetarians... I know of a Guru in America who converted people to vegetarianism and Sikhism and these are the people who carried guns to India, to create all the problems for us, do you know that? Yes he said so. Yes it is true. I mean it's a fact. Yes and the murder of Sanjeeva Gandhi was arranged by them! Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: No because they thought that by becoming vegetarian now they can kill anybody else, human beings. If they cannot kill the animals, they are killing human beings. I don't know how it is explained psychologically, but I have not known people who are vegetarian to be extremely kind people, I have not known. That's how we want to discard everyone; because Nanaka ate meat, Kabīra ate, Mohammad Sāb ate, Christ ate. Don't divert your attention. You have to talk of something higher. It's not important.

Ah, he can't help it! Question: What is the relationship between astrology and the Kuṇḍalinī?

Shri Mataji: Very much! But I'll tell you later, it's quite complicated, all right? It is, very much.

Astrology, all the cosmology, everything is within us! It has, no doubt. But you go beyond astrology. You go beyond cosmology. You go beyond all your Guṇas. You go beyond everything, time and space when you become the Spirit because it is not attached to anything. By studying astrology you cannot become Self-realised. But in India, say any child is born, the first thing they will tell you, the most important thing, whether that person will have a `sat Guru', a good Guru, or will that person get realisation, in India, Indian astrology. And we have a special type of astrology in India by which you can make out an incarnation, because the whole attention is towards God. And the most important thing is to get Self-realisation.

All right, now should we have... yes madam? Question: Can you tell me about Karma?

Shri Mataji: Karmas? Question: What you can do about them.

Shri Mataji: All right. The Karmas are within us, are expressed in our two..., this I am going to tell tomorrow. But today if you want to know, there are two institutions within us, which are built through our Karmas. One is through our conditionings and through our ego. Through our ego, the one which is built is called as ego, but we call it `ahaṁkāra'. And through our conditionings whatever is built is called as superego by you, we call it `Manasa'. Both things get sucked in when the Kuṇḍalinī passes through the Āgñyā. And you go beyond it. That's the magic.

Lady: I hope so.

Shri Mataji: Yes of course. Now don't think of your past. Forget the past. One thing is important, forget the past. It is finished. And the future doesn't exist.

Now one humble request I have to make to you, very humble, because I have seen it's very common in the West that people feel guilty for nothing at all. I don't know why but in the West everybody feels guilty. If you feel guilty you catch this centre on the left hand side here, terrible. I mean as long as I am in the Western countries, I get terrible pains here, all the time, in collective consciousness. Now this is a myth we are working with. Even I mean... if a lady wears say a blue coat and carries a red purse, she feels guilty. I mean for small, small things, how you hold your fork and knives, Indians abroad feel guilty; abroad, not in India. It's a special characteristic of the Western atmosphere is to feel guilty for everything.

I don't know about the Dutch or Flemish language but in English every time they'll say, “I am afraid." So now one thing you have to know, you are seekers, you are at the epitome of all the creation.

And please do not feel guilty for anything. You have to tell yourself clearly that I am not guilty at all.

Maybe here because you have the World High Court you might be feeling even more guilty, I don't know.

[Translator doesn't understand.] The World High Court is here, then they might be feeling more guilty.

Please don't feel guilty. You should not feel guilty at all.

Now, it is a very simple method, by which you yourself can raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. You'll have to touch the different centers on the left hand side with your right hand. And the left hand you will place towards Me. Those who do not want to be the Spirit should leave the hall. And please you have to join in. All of you have to keep your eyes closed; and not to open your eyes at all, because the attention should be inside. It hardly takes five to ten minutes.

Now bring it down and see for yourself, in the hands now. Don't doubt, don't doubt yourself; both the feet on the ground. To give it a balance put your left hand towards Me and the right hand towards the Mother Earth. Now, put the right towards Me and left hand like this. I will tell you why we did it tomorrow; like this backwards, the backside.

Now see in both the hands.

Some people do not feel it in the head or in the hands. You have to say; Mother, that's for the Kuṇḍalinī, please come in my head, seven times. Or come in my hands, seven times.

Ask your Mother Kuṇḍalinī. Keep your eyes open and watch Me without thinking.

All those who have felt the Cool Breeze on the head or in their hands please raise both your hands.

So many of you! May God bless you.

Those who have not felt will feel tomorrow and those who have felt today, will establish it tomorrow.

Thank you very much.

Contents: 1985-07-04 Newspaper Interview for Het Binnenhof, The Hague, Netherlands

Shri Mataji: The man who was here. He has been to all these fake Gurus. He has seen all that nonsense.

He has seen everything. It is very easy for him to see Me now, because you see if you have not been to all these then you start... you cannot understand it so well.

So that's a very big point about it.

G: He said there is a book called Spiritual Superman.

Shri Mataji: [Laughing.] Yes, he himself told Me.

G: We have to find out.

[Short discussion about a book.]

Shri Mataji: So...

Journalist: So well I may resemble a little bit to this colleague journalist of mine in this sense that I have also been searching and I have had a little bit of practice with transcendental meditation and I went to “Baghwan" in the United States and read the books of Kṛiṣhṇa Murti and so on.

Shri Mataji: So you are also alright! [Laughing.] Ah, I saw it. That's better. Then you can see the contrast. The reality is very different.

Journalist: But I, up till now, I find some beauty in all of these movements.

Shri Mataji: It's a camouflage. Of course they have to beautify otherwise they can't attract; very clever, very professional. Like in India, they wanted to smuggle whisky and they used Gītā books. They made Gītā books, you see, beautiful Gītā books and inside the Gītā books it was all hollow.

So they put the whisky bottles inside, you see and naturally no customs is going to open the Gītā book to see what is inside.

So they have to have a very good cover to hide something like that.

Journalist: But you don't see any value in any of these movements?

Shri Mataji: It's minus, it has a minus value.

Journalist: It has a minus value? Can you explain this?

Shri Mataji: Yes, but you need not write the names, all right, because I don't want to be in trouble with these horrible people. You see now, anything that you do... whatever I have seen of the disciples who come from there. You must see; the proof of the pudding is in the eating of it, isn't it. Now if something, a cake, looks very nice and then a person eats that and he dies, then there is poison in it, logically. What happens, those people who have been to these Gurus, it is very difficult to raise their Kuṇḍalinī. They catch on the voids... [Silence.] Journalist: So in your experience it is more difficult to raise the Kuṇḍalinī with people who have been to...

Shri Mataji:... to these kinds of Gurus. I mean to a real Guru is different. But to these money-making Gurus, you see, we can call them money-making Gurus. Very difficult!

Journalist: But how can you see the difference between a fake Guru and a real Guru?

Shri Mataji: First criteria you cannot pay for it. Ninety nine percent will drop out. [Silence.]...

Secondly, the lifestyle of the person. He is a Guru, you see, [looking in a book] lifestyle; if they are hankering after Rolls-Royces and things... I mean they call themselves `Sādhus' and `Sannyāsīs' and they take from you all your diamonds, all, everything that you have, all your property. Their interest is only how to grab your money. They have no household of their own, so-called. On the contrary, the saint himself spends money, normally. A real saint will spend his own money.

Journalist: As you do for example?

Shri Mataji: I beg your pardon?

Journalist: As you do for example?

Shri Mataji: Of course I do. I do it. I used to do much more, now not so much. But I used to do much more before. And also that such a person works on... Now, for example, this boy got hurt so I treated him. Supposing your Kuṇḍalinī doesn't come up, I'll have to work on you. The Guru works and not the disciple. They make the disciples do everything like; you say this mantra for so many years, do this thing and do that. All the effort is made by the disciple and not by the Guru. It is on the contrary.

Journalist: So you do the work?

Shri Mataji: I do the work and they do the enjoyment! [Laughing.] Journalist: And yesterday we didn't, we didn't work also?

Shri Mataji: No, not. No, no. I just, you see... Because if I say I am doing it, they will not like it.

So I said; you are doing it, you see. Otherwise they feel hurt. In the beginning you shouldn't say that I am doing it for you. Who are you to do? They are all children after all. By putting these hands, can you raise the Kuṇḍalinī? You cannot. You know that. I was raising it, but they were putting and helping Me.

That's all.

Journalist: Yes, so it is just your presence that works.

Shri Mataji: No, I have to work hard. I was burning My fingers. I was raising My Kuṇḍalinī. I was trying to break it through, but which you could not see. Also some who had their eyes open could have seen.

Journalist: Well, I didn't open my eyes.

Shri Mataji: Ah yes, that's why. But I was putting water in My hand, pulling it down, My feet were heated up. You see, I was absorbing all the heat. I was doing everything... Myself. I have to work. Not only that, but now supposing the Kuṇḍalinī is not stationed, is not established then I have to work. I work for hours, day in and day out.

Sometimes I have only two hours sleep.

Journalist: Only two hours [of] sleep?

Shri Mataji: Sometimes.

Journalist: And you work hours and hours to raise the Kuṇḍalinī in yourself?

Shri Mataji: Yes, I mean somebody... You see now, somebody is suffering, there is a problem, somebody has this, that, they come to Me; I work on them, individually as well as en masse; and I travel; and I am a 63 year old woman.

Journalist: And you do it out of love?

Shri Mataji: Of course. Love is so binding.

So compelling... That's My job.

Journalist: Yes. And you started not so long ago.

Shri Mataji: No, not much. I had to do one thing, was to break the seventh Chakra. That was important because that seventh Chakra was not broken.

Journalist: Was not broken with you? G: On the cosmic level.

Shri Mataji: Cosmically, cosmically.

Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Because the sixth Chakra was established by Christ, it was all right; but the seventh was to be established; and when I did that, on 5th May in 1970, then I started. Because...

Journalist: The 5th May 1970.

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Because, you see, `en masse' realisation could not be done without that. That's why.

Journalist: I repeat in order not to make mistakes. The sixth Chakra was broken by Christ. You said...

Shri Mataji:... was established...

Journalist:... was established by Christ. And you yourself established the seventh Chakra?

Shri Mataji: If you put in that it may hurt their ego, so don't put it that way. You can say in the third person that the seventh Chakra was to be established.

Journalist: Yes. And this happened in 1970.

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Journalist: And since then...?

Shri Mataji: Since then I started My work in the public.

Journalist: There is this term enlightenment. Do you use this term also?

Shri Mataji: Yes, enlightenment is the same.

Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: You see this term is ancient. It comes from tradition. And this is used by everyone.

Isn't it? Journalist: So I can describe you as an enlightened person?

Shri Mataji: Of course, minimum... I have to be that. But enlightenment is also, can be just a myth.

From where do you know if a person is enlightened or not, is the point? Journalist: I don't know.

Shri Mataji: From the people who have got it, because you may not understand Me, but you can understand them. They are like you. They are seekers and they have got it now. They have got the knowledge. They know what it is. They can raise the Kuṇḍalinī. That's the point.

And in modern times there are many signs by which you can make it out. For example, there are some photographs. [To someone else:] Bring the book, I think...

There are many photographs of Mine which the camera has taken, not Me, the camera has taken, where there are lights on top of My head, shafts of light; shafts of light completely covering My body. There is light, a complete sun in My hand, a complete sun in My hand; the light is going round Me.

Also our astrology, in Indian astrology, the... what do you call... the system I told you yesterday; it's called as `Kṛiṣhṇa Murti Pandati'. It is a style of one Kṛiṣhṇa Murti, a great astrologer, who found out this method. They have found out what I am.

So there are many ways, but the fake Gurus have changed all their birth dates, because most of them are anti-Christ.

Journalist: Are anti-Christ?

Shri Mataji: They are mostly anti-Christ.

Journalist: They are the anti-Christ?

Shri Mataji: They are the anti-Christ.

Journalist: Are the anti-Christ.

Shri Mataji: The anti-Christ.

Journalist: Yes.

So the examples of Gurus I have visited, I gave, you think they are the anti-Christ?

Shri Mataji: They are the anti-Christ.

Journalist: Well, that is frightening, isn't it?

Shri Mataji: It is. I don't want to say, that's why. That's why I said “mostly” you see, I use softer words, but it is frightening.

So far, from Rajneesh, we have not been able to save many people and he has an effect on the brain. Maheśh yogi makes people epileptic.

Journalist: Maheśh yogi makes people...?

Shri Mataji:... epileptic, epilepsy. You need not say Maheśh yogi, but I have known people who have epilepsy; many people who have epilepsy. The man who was running this organization in Runnock in Scotland, `Flying Scot Business', he himself was epileptic; Peter Pearce. His wife was the granddaughter of a duke, epileptic; her daughter, epileptic. They became paupers. They came to Me. I have cured them of course, but because the husband became insolvent he was sent away to South Africa. He was no more... but the wife is there, now she is in India. And she published papers that this fellow raped her when she was in. But nobody listens to it, nothing. They are so mesmerized. And they frighten... actually such people become frightened, very frightened people. They mesmerize them. We call it in our country; this `knowledge of the dead', we can say, the `science of the dead', science of the dead; `preta Vidyā', `Shmashāna Vidyā', `bhoota Vidyā' we call it, by which they put something in you or in the disciple or in anyone, they can do it and possess you.

Journalist: And you call this the `science of the dead', the fake Gurus...

Shri Mataji: The `science of the dead', I mean, I am just translating it, but it is called Preta Vidyā, Shmashāna Vidyā. Shmashāna means... what do you say to `Shmashāna' in English? It's where you burn the bodies of the dead, Shmashāna.

G: Cremation.

Shri Mataji: Cremation, cremation, that's it.

Journalist: May I ask, since you started to work in 1970, have you succeeded in giving enlightenment to other persons?

Shri Mataji: Of course! Thousands! Journalist: Thousands. I remember you said yesterday there was a farmer in India.

Shri Mataji: Yes. He has done it to ten thousand very good people, but recently I received a message that it's all together forty-thousand people.

Journalist: And this farmer, he got his enlightenment from you?

Shri Mataji: From Me.

Journalist: So you must have given enlightenment to ten thousand people, may be a hundred thousand.

Shri Mataji: Yes, I have. Yes, yes. But now out of this forty thousand, only ten thousand have established.

Journalist: This I don't understand.

Shri Mataji: You see, awakening I have given; awakening is possible. To establish it, to master it, you have to spend some time.

So some people quickly take to it, some people linger on.

So it takes time.

So the other people, who have not yet realised to that extent, will have to come back. And they'll come back again.

So like yesterday now for example, say, we got about two hundred people realised, they felt it, but the Kuṇḍalinī will go back and attend to all other problems, everything. Now such a person if he doesn't come to us and try to understand himself fully and to master the whole thing; what we call the deftness of it; then he will go down again. Not to the same state but quite low. He has to come back and do it and establish it.

Journalist: Yes, yes.

Shri Mataji: It is like that.

So Yoga means union with the Divine; one. But also has another meaning, `yukti', meaning the trick, or you can say the deftness, to know how to handle this power. That's very important, so that you are established fully. In the first state, like yesterday, they all became a state we call as Nirvichar Samādhi, meaning thoughtless awareness, aware but thoughtless. That's the first stage when you cross this. When you cross this and establish there fully, then we call it Nirvikalpa Samādhi.

That is the state where you become doubtlessly aware. Then you can give realisation to people, you can cure people, you become just a master.

Journalist: But the state we arrived in yesterday, how do you call that?

Shri Mataji: What, what's that? Nirvichara. It is called thoughtless awareness. What Zen wanted to do; Zen tried to do that.

Journalist: But it seems so unbelievable that it's as simple as that?

Shri Mataji: Yes it is! Journalist: Yes?

Shri Mataji: Because it is so vital.

Journalist: Ha?

Shri Mataji: It is so vital. Vital. What do you say in your language for vital? It is so important.

Vital means that which is important for life. Vital. Vital. It is so vital and anything that is vital has to be simple. For example our breathing is so simple.

Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: If you had to go to a Guru, pay money for our breathing, how many would exist? Journalist: Sorry?

Shri Mataji: How many would exist, if we had to pay for our breathing.

Journalist: How many? R: Exist on the earth. If you had to pay for your breathing, for your heartbeat not many people would be able to live.

Shri Mataji: Whatever is vital; whatever is important for life has to be easy.

Journalist: Yes Yes. Sure.

Shri Mataji: And this is so important, it has to be easy.

Journalist: So what happened yesterday was a state of thoughtless awareness.

Shri Mataji: And now it will be doubtless awareness.

Journalist: This will be the next.

Shri Mataji: You can achieve it in a month's time.

Journalist: But don't we need your presence then for this.

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, nothing.

Journalist: Only for the first.

Shri Mataji: Even for the first you don't need. Even My photograph can do the job. My photograph has also got vibrations. They all use My photograph. You can do it yourself.

Journalist: And then after this stage of doubtless awareness there is another stage?

Shri Mataji: Then you go to doubtless awareness. Then you become the light yourself.

Journalist: After that, another state, another stage?

Shri Mataji: No. After that you become the light, you start giving it to others.

Journalist: That means that you arrive in the same state as you are in?

Shri Mataji: That I can't say [laughing]... I won't say that. All right keep it that way. [Laughing.] It is not the same though, but you rise very high.

Journalist: And there is some technique, I understood, that your disciples... we may call them your disciples?

Shri Mataji: Yes, children, My children.

Journalist: Your children.

Shri Mataji: All right.

Journalist: And they call you Mother.

Shri Mataji: They call Me Mother. That is much easier.

Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: That's what I am. I am not a Guru.

G: All the journalists in Italy recognize Shri Mataji as the Great Mother, the Grande Madre.

Shri Mataji: And all the television. Yes in Italy they did. In Italy they did.

R: He has got a copy of the Corriere della Sera [Italian newspaper].

Journalist: And I read in these articles also that you cure people of physical illnesses and mental illnesses.

Shri Mataji: Of course, that's the minimum. You yourself can cure yourself. Your Kuṇḍalinī does that and you can cure others once you are a master of that.

Journalist: But I suppose you cannot cure anybody.

Shri Mataji: Yes you can. Why not? [Laughing.] Journalist: Yes?

Shri Mataji: You should see Me curing! Yes, you can. Cancer, all these things are curable. After all what are these centers? They are the subtle centers, looking after all other gross centers in the body. And once you awaken those centers, it works out. It is very simple. It is like, say, a tree is now sick, or a leaf is sick, what do you do? Pour something on the roots. This is the knowledge of the roots. And once the roots are nourished, the tree becomes all right. Isn't it simple? Journalist: Yes. But, so for example a person has cancer and you cure him or her by raising the Kuṇḍalinī in this person.

Shri Mataji: Yes, that's all. That's all. Even My photograph may be able to cure. You must know the technique, how to manoeuvre this power, that's all. Then you can do it even if I am not there, doesn't matter, you can use My photograph. And nowadays I am not curing, all these people are curing. I am not curing people; just they are using My photograph.

Journalist: Yes. And this technique has always existed, for ten thousand years, you said yesterday.

Shri Mataji: Much more but for very few people because the seventh Chakra was not broken. This was the big problem. There was no en masse realisation, one or two persons; and it was secretive.

R: Strasbourg was a good example of you not giving the realisation to people. In Strasbourg, was an example... Shri Mataji was supposed to be there but she couldn't. She had to go to America and some other yogis, Sahaja Yogis, they did the program and ten people stuck to Sahaja Yoga.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, yes. Two hundred people in Strasbourg. Yes it is true. I mean everywhere.

R: Ten new people came out of it

Shri Mataji: They have come now. Yes. Good. And they'll come up very well, I am sure. And once ten are established then you can establish many more.

Journalist: This means that you are a great person like Christ.

Shri Mataji: Must be something. Christ has promised he will send somebody. Didn't he? Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: We don't look for that. It's like that; has to be. He has to keep his promise.

Journalist: But up till now you are not recognized by many people yet!

Shri Mataji: Because I didn't say that. I don't want to say it. Its better you find it out. Because it's no use saying; Christ said only” I am the light, I am the path", which he is. That he's the Son of God, which he is. They crucified Him! I don't want to get crucified. I have to get the work done. What does it matter whatever I am? It makes no difference to Me. Whatever I am, I am. And on the contrary by telling that, what I am, if it is going to harm your ascent, its better not to tell, you see, keep it a secret.

Let them find out.

Journalist: But surely this movement around you is going to grow and grow in the coming years.

Shri Mataji: Of course, it is growing very fast. It is growing, of course. But reality takes time you see. To produce plastic flowers is very easy, but to produce a real flower is difficult.

So it takes time and should take time, to mature. I have all the patience. It's not cheap popularity. It's not cheap popularity.

It's not that you want to make some money out of many disciples. We want real flowers. And that will take time no doubt.

Journalist: And your family, your husband and your children and grandchildren, who know you for a very long time already, how do they react?

Shri Mataji: They are very good. My husband came this time to Paris. My husband said that transformation is the only way. And he said people must be transformed. That's what he said, openly.

Journalist: He said it to... When?

Shri Mataji: This time he came to Paris and he addressed some Sahaja Yogis because there was a book that was inaugurated there.

Journalist: And your children and grandchildren.

Shri Mataji: My grandchildren are great. They know all about it already. They are very great souls.

Journalist: How old are your grandchildren?

Shri Mataji: The eldest grandchild is about fourteen years. Fourteen then thirteen, I think then ten and eight. They are all great people, already.

So many children are there. Like a little boy, yesterday, Michael, was there when I came from the train and when I got down, he said “Mother, why don't you kill all the demons?" He was at the program, he didn't come inside.

So I said “Why didn't you come in?" He said “I was looking after the demons. I was trying to keep them out." They don't think about themselves, they think about the world all the time.

Journalist: At the moment in the world there is a great fear of destruction and world wars and disasters...

Shri Mataji: This is our mental projection. Through our mental projection... it's a linear movement, you see and it recoils. In a way it's good because people will look into themselves; why? That's how the seeking has started also in a big way. And the time has come also. But the destruction will be from within. I don't think from without, from within. As in America it has started, people are getting diseases, this, that, people are getting mad, because in freedom we have become abandoned people, absolutely abandoned.

Journalist: But don't you think that your presence in the world is too late, I mean that you won't be able to stop the...

Shri Mataji: That I will, I think I may be able to stop it. You have to make it mature. You see people have to go to the brink because a human being is not an easy thing, you see, to control. They have made a mess of all the prophets, all the incarnations; already made a mess.

So we have to make them mature, you see. Supposing I tell you: `Don't go to this Guru' you won't listen.

So it is better, all right you go there, get hit, come back and then get it. You see, because a human being is not easy. They have to mature themselves. The first thing I did was to go to America in 1973 [1972]. They wouldn't accept it.

They said, “No you must take some money, otherwise nobody is going to accept it." Journalist: You were not accepted by the immigration?

Shri Mataji: In the beginning, they did not. Now, of course, because now they are hit by all the Gurus, they have been lynched completely, they have no money left with them, they are in a big mess, they are all sick. Now it's all right.

Journalist: And you have a lot of popularity there also.

Shri Mataji: That's quite a lot, but I would say not so much, because they are still very immature, I think. But in Italy I am very good. India of course is the maximum and England. In Brussels we had so many people, I was surprised. Australia. Australians are...

Journalist: Are you able to see in the future also, to predict?

Shri Mataji: You see, about human beings, how can you predict? Journalist: You cannot.

Shri Mataji: They have freedom. If they want to destroy themselves you can't stop them, they have got the freedom. But I can see now that it is now working out. Now people are coming to their senses.

I can see that, it's much better. The situation is much better. India is very easy because they know all about it. It's very easy to deal with Indians. But in the West people have to still learn through mistakes, otherwise they do not learn.

Journalist: How many children do you think you have in the world at the moment?

Shri Mataji: I can't say.

Journalist: Millions?

Shri Mataji: In thousands, I can't say.

G: Thousands and thousands.

Shri Mataji: Thousands. I can't say.

Journalist: But not millions yet.

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, no. Not in millions. A million would be a hundred thousand? All: One thousand, thousand.

Shri Mataji: No, no. According to John already the number is over, according to John in the Bible.

[Laughing.] He has made a very small number [laughing]. But I don't think so. There are many more who should get it. But I don't think everybody will, I don't think so.

Journalist: Could you tell me something about myself?

Shri Mataji: About you? Alright. You take off your shoes. It would be better if you sit there facing Me. Now, put your hands towards Me. G., you go at the back and see. Alright; both the feet on the ground.

[Short conversation with a yogini about a miracle photograph.] Shri Mataji [to Sahaja Yogi working on journalist]: Ah. Better? G: It is cooler but still. Left Heart is the worst.

Shri Mataji: See on his head. No thought, gone beyond thoughts. No thought. Tie him up. Just tie him up...

Left Āgñyā. Give him a bandhan. Right Āgñyā; left Āgñyā. You have to forgive; you have to forgive every one. Forgive all... Put your left hand like this. Left like that, let's see.

Better. Feeling the Cool Breeze? Journalist: Yes...

Shri Mataji: The left hand? Journalist: I think so.

Shri Mataji: And the right hand? Journalist: No, it's rather warm.

Shri Mataji: Not so much. All right, so you put your right hand like this and say; right hand towards Me, right hand; in the way you were putting and left hand like this. Like this, a little higher. Ask him to raise the hand, right hand. And left hand like this. Now, now you have to say `Mother I forgive every one.' Just say.

Journalist: I forgive every one.

Shri Mataji: Again. Mother I forgive every one, three times.

Journalist: Mother, I forgive every one.

Shri Mataji: Again Journalist: Mother, I forgive every one.

Shri Mataji: From your heart you have to say, all right, again, say it.

Journalist: Mother, I forgive every one.

Shri Mataji: All right? It just works. Ah! And you'll feel the joy also. [Laughing.] It is so simple.

But in this world people don't even recognize the category of seeker. They don't recognize even that part, you see. This is the problem. Ah! Now! All these cults, all these sects, all these Gurus, all these, they have really harmed every one. All the seekers they have attacked, that's the main point. Ah! Now! Got it! Well. Good? May God bless you. You've got it. May God bless you. You've got it now.

Journalist: Yes, well I may not be able to recognize it myself? But...

Shri Mataji: Yes that's it! You have to recognize yourself, to feel it yourself. It's the all-pervading power. Now only you have to master it, that's all. Now just... [pointing to a local Sahaja Yogi] he is here. He'll help you. They are so many. Now we are sending some people, Dr W, Dr B, they'll be coming next Saturday, Sunday. [To a local Sahaja Yogi:] So you can all make them masters, you see. Get the other fellow also, he is very good. Both of them are seekers. They are seekers, out and out, I tell you, out and out seekers. Nothing! It's a category, it's a special category. They are called as the “men of God" by Blake. Blake said, “Men of God will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophets." Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: He was very precise, in everything. Even he has described My house. He has described the ashrams.

So many things he has described, you can't imagine. He was here, like Mārkandeya. Talking about him, see the vibrations! Talking about him, just see the vibrations.

G: You can feel it.

Shri Mataji: You can see it! Talking about William Blake, you see. Just see what a great... He was Mārkandeya! Great! Ha! Saint Michael.

Journalist: William Blake was a poet, I think?

Shri Mataji: I beg your pardon? Journalist: Wasn't he a poet, William Blake?

Shri Mataji: What did he say? All: A poet.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. He was Saint Michael who took birth as William Blake.

Journalist: He was Saint Michael? G: An incarnation of...

Shri Mataji: Saint Michael, Bhairava.

Journalist: Of Saint Michael? And Saint Michael?

Shri Mataji: Re-reincarnated.

Journalist: Who lived?

Shri Mataji: Who lives in the heavens, we can say.

Journalist: Yes, but who lived on earth in which period? Saint Michael.

G: One hundred years ago. William Blake.

Journalist: Yes but. When he lived on earth as Saint Michael it was...?

Shri Mataji: He is a `chiranjīva', he never dies, an eternal being.

Guido: He was William Blake.

Journalist: Yes but before, the first time he was on earth...? R: Mārkandeya was also...

Shri Mataji: Mārkandeya.

Guido: Fourteen thousand years back.

Shri Mataji: Mārkandeya.

Journalist: Can you say it in Dutch? R: Saint Michael is an eternal being who incarnates sometimes in a form, a human form, like Mārkandeya, William Blake. But it is an eternal figure.

Shri Mataji: He is the saint of England. [Laughing.] Imagine. Saint Michael is the Saint of England.

Shri Mataji: See? And he really lashed them one by one. They said he is crazy, I mean, Saint Michael talked in his own language, naturally. It is difficult to talk in the human language, isn't it? I have learned it.

Ah! Very good! Such silence! Journalist: Silence?

Shri Mataji: Silence inside.

Journalist: In me also?

Shri Mataji: Yes, of course, there is silence. There is no thought. Watch Me without thinking... No thought... Good...

I must congratulate you for getting such good journalists, I tell you. [Laughing.] Normally journalists are headaches, I tell you. No seekers come to Me. You see, journalists if they are seekers you can talk to them, otherwise what do you talk to these materialistic people? Done! It is very good. May God bless you.

So I'll give you this photograph. One of them is like this, but there is one with a whole column like that, you see.

Journalist: Yes, yes.

Shri Mataji: The whole column.

Journalist: And in this photograph you can see light coming out from you?

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Journalist: Must I describe it like that?

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. Now let Me see. Here it is.

R: They have investigated the films and you can see that nothing has been done to the films. These things have appeared

Shri Mataji: This is light coming from the top. There are seven photographs like that. All right I'll give you. What's his name? What's the name? Journalist: Willem.

Shri Mataji: William. William Blake! [Laughing.] Ah! Good.

G: Do you write in a newspaper or magazine? Journalist: In a daily newspaper.

G: A daily newspaper, in the Hague? Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: You must really point it out to them about these anti-Christs, you see and paying them money. You must warn them, on your own. Because you see, they won't like it from Me. But if you say they will. It's a fact. You see these people are lynching and torturing, one by one. There's one fellow, Ramdas; now yesterday somebody talked about Ramdas, you see, what a funny mantra he has given him.

And his Kuṇḍalinī could not come out.

Journalist: But to try to get it clear for me. Kuṇḍalinī is a, you may say, a life power?

Shri Mataji: It is the power of desire, pure desire; the power of pure desire.

Journalist: Power of pure desire to the Divine?

Shri Mataji: To the Divine. Power of pure desire; and the desire, the pure desire is to be one with the Divine.

Journalist: Yes

Shri Mataji: That's the seekers desire.

Journalist: Yes. And what you do is awaken...

Shri Mataji:... that Kuṇḍalinī.

Journalist: That desire

Shri Mataji: That is desire, to manifest itself.

Journalist: Yes. And you did it last night?

Shri Mataji: Last night.

Journalist: And you did it with me again?

Shri Mataji: Again. And today I'll do again and establish it.

Journalist: Yes. Now I must be completely honest of course.

Shri Mataji: Yes, of course.

Journalist: Of course. Now, when I am with you and I talk with you I feel you are a very nice and sweet person but when I was in this chair and you did these things with me, I did not recognize the silence or the joy or the bliss you were talking about. What... How does that happen?

Shri Mataji: See it always happens with the Western people mostly, because first they get it in the brain. First you understand through your brains, because your brains are over developed. While in India they understand through the heart. See now you are understanding through your brain and it will also be expressed in your heart. The heart has to be opened up a little bit. It will open out.

Journalist: And it will open out when I continue to...

Shri Mataji: Yes, you should understand how to open the heart. You have to say, `I am the Spirit.' `I am the Spirit.' `I am the Spirit.' Journalist: May I write a little bit? [GAP]

Shri Mataji: Put your hand towards the photograph, you will be all right. The photograph also has vibrations. I am the Spirit. Mother, I am the Spirit. Assure yourself.

Journalist: Yes. Mother I am the Spirit.

Shri Mataji: Mother, I am the Spirit. I am the joy.

Journalist: I am the joy.

Shri Mataji: I am the Spirit.

Journalist: I am the Spirit. You feel something now? Shri Mataji [laughing]: You see, it is... I am doing it but whatever is in you is also working it, isn't it? I can't do this to this sofa, can I? [Laughing:] I cannot do it to another person; I can only do it to a seeker.

So you have done something to yourself also.

G: Shri Mataji can see your Kuṇḍalinī.

Shri Mataji: That's how.

Journalist: Is that true?

Shri Mataji: Yes. I can, but you need not see it, you should become, is the point. Seeing is not the point. Don't see. You should become. When you become you have the powers, you don't have to see. Just work it out.

Journalist: Yes.

So but I have to do this technique that you did yesterday?

Shri Mataji: No they will tell you. You come and ask him, because now that's over.

Journalist: No but just shortly to point it out to my readers.

Shri Mataji: They can take it from My photograph. Very simple is... the photograph has got vibrations. Alright? So you have to put... depending on what sort of a personality you are. You have to come and ask them of course, that is very important. It is a collective happening. It's not a single person working at home. It's not. But on the photograph, if you come and ask him, he'll tell you if you are a left-sided or a right-sided person. What sort of a balance you have to take. It takes hardly any time, you see. And then they'll explain. Then you become an expert. Then you can tell also. Once you become an expert, we call you a Sahaja Yogi. Then you can tell others.

Journalist: But to state it shortly, it is a technique...

Shri Mataji: You see, first of all it's spontaneous.

Journalist:... which works by your grace.

Shri Mataji: Yes. Supposing you take My photograph and publish it, you ask them to put their hands towards My photograph...

Journalist: In the newspaper.

Shri Mataji: Any news, even in the newspaper. And see if they get the Cool Breeze. They might.

Journalist: They might get the Cool Breeze?

Shri Mataji: If they don't get it, they should put the left hand towards it and right hand on the Mother Earth.

Journalist: If they don't get Cool Breeze, well, suppose we put this photograph in the newspaper, how do...?

Shri Mataji: You have to put your hands towards the photograph.

Journalist: So you put it like this?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, this way, towards.

Journalist: And both of them?

Shri Mataji: One. I mean, you should put both first of all. If you get the Cool Breeze, then it's all right. Then you have to come and ask him, what is to be done further.

Journalist: So I might advise my readers to...

Shri Mataji:... put their hands...

Journalist:... to open their hands? And put it towards your photograph and see if they get a Cool Breeze.

Shri Mataji: All right. And if they don't get it, then what they have to do is to put a light before it.

Journalist: A candle or...?

Shri Mataji: A candle.

Journalist: Before your photograph?

Shri Mataji: The photograph, yes, shining.

G: Can you publish the address of the centre as well? Journalist: Yes, sure.

G: It would be the best thing, if they can come to the centre.

Shri Mataji: Yes, the address of the centre is the best. And see if they get the Cool Breeze. Alright? If they get it or they don't get it, they should come to the centre.

So they will give in any case realisation.

That's all. They have to come to the centre, they can get realisation. But they should not be satisfied with the Cool Breeze; they must know what it is. That's very important.

Journalist: This is the very first sign of...

Shri Mataji:... first sign...

Journalist:... first sign of Kuṇḍalinī

Shri Mataji:... sign that you have felt the Cool Breeze. It is the sign. It is the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost. It's described in the Bible.

Journalist: This is the first sign of the Kuṇḍalinī working?

Shri Mataji: Awakening, piercing. You can also feel it on top of your head.

E: D.P. just phoned and he wants to make an appointment with the Minister of Health of England.

Shri Mataji: Is he there? E: No, he'll phone back at twelve o'clock...

Shri Mataji: You see, I can meet him on Monday. Monday, I'll be in London in My house, Brompton Square.

E: OK. I'll tell him.

Shri Mataji: All right? Thank you. Any time, morning or evening, whatever suits the Minister. All right? Please. Thank you.

Journalist: Yes well, OK Mother, I think I have some information to make a little article about it.

Shri Mataji: Yes, you should help because there are so many seekers, everywhere, must guide them.

It's God's job, you see. It's God's job. It gives you blessings and blessings and blessings. And then they should come to the centre, that's very important. Because, you see, My attention is on the centre and through the centre the attention works.

So you also should come and master it. You can master it in no time.

Journalist: Well, that would be nice. Thank you very much.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you. May God bless you.

Journalist: Thank you.

Shri Mataji: I think, get some sugar if there is some. I'll vibrate it for him. He has a little liver problem. You have a little liver problem.

Journalist: A little liver problem? R: You could use this picture. You have it.

Shri Mataji: Which picture is that? Take the full picture R: From Australia. He has got it.

Shri Mataji: No, no, no. This is not sufficient.

R: This one?

Shri Mataji: This one. All right, on the walls also there, they can see it on the walls. It's all spread.

But I think My, that another one is the best, like this, is the best. Have you got it?

Sahaja Yogi: They have the first black and white one, they have...

Shri Mataji: Ah, have you got?

Sahaja Yogi: You have here, don't you.

R: We have a whole pile.

Shri Mataji: You have? All right you give it to him, that's the best. But give it to him soon otherwise he'll be publishing...

Sahaja Yogi: You have it here with you? R: Er, no not here.

Shri Mataji [to the Sahaja Yogis who have just come in]: You all have been sleeping, I think. Aāhh! They all rest a lot, you see! I don't get any chance to rest! This is the one.

Journalist: I should publish this photograph rather than the other one?

Shri Mataji: Yes, this is better. You keep it, yours. He will give his own. Why, why do you want to...?

Sahaja Yogi: I am quite attached.

Shri Mataji: Yes, I know, you looked that way.

Sahaja Yogi: It's better black and white for the newspaper.

Shri Mataji: [Laughing.] How do I know, eh? It's love. Love tells you.

This is a photograph for you and this is a book for you, in French. Do you read French? Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Then it's all right, no problem. Now, I have to have a bath and then...

E: Er, Shri Mataji there's H. from Austria...

Contents: 1985-07-04 Newspaper Interview with Theologian Dr. Kranenborg for Trouw, The Hague, Netherlands

Journalist: I received some books and papers from you and I heard you yesterday evening in that congress hall.

Shri Mataji: Did you? Journalist: I was there yes.

Shri Mataji: I hope I didn't hurt anyone.

Journalist: And I liked to read it and to see what it is because I am interested in such things.

Shri Mataji: Yes, one should be. Very important! Journalist: And I sometimes write about it in the newspapers and...

Shri Mataji: That's it.

Journalist: And they asked me to think about it first...

[GAP] I have many questions, I hope you... They are different kinds.

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes I don't mind. I don't mind.

Journalist: But first I was speaking here with some of your friends and I asked; what is the difference between your method and other methods...?

Shri Mataji: Of Yogas? Journalist: Yes.

Shri Mataji: No, there is no difference at all. But I don't think anybody has studied the entire thing in modern times. I mean, it's just a wee bit of it here and there, you see.

So it shows no integration but it's all integrated, something that Patanjali wrote himself. Patanjali wrote.

Journalist: Patanjali.

Shri Mataji: Now, I don't know how many have read the real Patanjali. Maybe, it's such a big book, Patanjali's `Yoga Shāstra'. And Yoga means to be one with the Divine. There is no other meaning to it.

Also it means another word, it's a Sanskrit word, means `yukti'. Yukti means the... not trick, is not...

deftness, deftness to handle this power, we can say. Or the trick of the technique, trick of the technique, Yukti, yukti is the word.

Journalist: Yukti, yes.

Shri Mataji: Now, if you read Patanjali, you see, he has talked of nothing but Self-realisation and three fourths of the book deals only with what happens after realisation; how to establish it, how to do it, this, that. Now Patanjali existed thousands of years back and we had another system of society which was called `Chaturwar'. Like we had four ashramas, four styles of life.

In the first style of life you had to be about from twenty to twenty-five years in complete `Brahmacharia', celibate and with a teacher, Guru, who was a realised Soul. And his Guru, the Ādi Guru, the one who was the principal Guru, was also a realised Soul.

Now in India, even today, supposing my family has been to some Guru; that is a university. Now that university is called a Gotra. Even today we can not marry in the same Gotra, even today. Like I am from Shandilya Gotra so I cannot marry in the Shandilya Gotra.

So the celibacy is still up to now, because we are all brothers and sisters in the university. Such pure relationships are kept there.

And if your attention is not taken to these things, you remain celibate without any trouble until that age. But if the attention is all the time driven into it, like by the media, this, that, then you cannot be. I mean you cannot protect yourself against these temptations then. I mean, you are made to be tempted.

So then at that time whatever he taught, I mean it is..., you can say he himself didn't teach every one but the people who adopted the method was this that they used to cleanse the different centers. By also yaman, yamas and all those things we need, pratjaha... All those things, you see, the methods by which they used to cleanse the Chakras of people. But they were knowledgeable people. Not anybody can do it. Just that you stand on your head, do this; they were very knowledgeable. Because they thought that if they cleanse all these Chakras like that, you see, the force of the Kuṇḍalinī would be much more and it can push it through. But very few people were taken for Self-realisation, very few. Like they say that Nachiketa is the only one they had, who went to Janaka, Rāja Janaka; one person, at the time of Rāma.

Journalist: Yes, that is long ago. [Laughs.]

Shri Mataji: But then thousands of years back, you see. Now people have evolved in their spirituality.

My main problem when I was born was that I knew what I had to do. And was that... till the time of Christ,... the sixth centre is established now. The sixth centre is very well established.

Journalist: In the time of Christ it's the sixth centre?

Shri Mataji: Yes, the sixth centre, Āgñyā Chakra, a very important centre; very, very important.

Christ plays a very big role because there is a very small little gate, you see, through which you have to pass, into the limbic area. And then the Kuṇḍalinī rises and would cross up to Āgñyā, but it was difficult to break through.

So I said if I could establish the seventh centre and open it, then things would be much easier. If there is an outlet, then Kuṇḍalinī will move much faster.

Journalist: So this is a special time in which we are living because now we can have the unity between...

Shri Mataji: Very special. This is the judgement, this is the judgement time; this is the judgement time. And Kuṇḍalinī is going to judge and you are going to judge yourself through your Kuṇḍalinī.

Nobody needs judging.

Journalist: Yesterday you were speaking about the authors of the last century who wrote books about Kuṇḍalinī that it was so dangerous to...

Shri Mataji: This is a false thing.

Journalist: But which book...

Shri Mataji: This is a book Viṣhṇutit wrote, the first book, Viṣhṇutit. From there everybody...

Viṣhṇutit was translated, you see.

Journalist: Also writers as Avalon and Woodruff are not...

Shri Mataji: You see, I tell you, the trouble is, without realisation you cannot understand anything.

In the Vedas also, `vida', now the word vida itself can be very dangerous. Vida doesn't know by mind, it means on your central nervous system, vida. That you should feel it on your central nervous system, it should be inbuilt. But vida can be said, a person who knows by their brain, you see something... Now supposing, you know something about India, supposing, take an example, you have not been there, you have no experience. What's the use? But up to... I would say that Kamildas was only about 300, 400 years back. Rāmdāsa was at the time of the English, Rāmdās Swāmī in Maharashtra, was just when the English were there. He wrote all these things.

Journalist: Rāmdās Swāmī?

Shri Mataji: Rāmdās Swāmī, he was the Guru of Shivaji.

Journalist: Of Shivaji?

Shri Mataji: Maharashtra has got the purest knowledge of Kuṇḍalinī somehow because it's the land of the saints, Maharashtra. And he wrote also, I mean it is hardly 300 years he was.

So you cannot say that these books have come before, because this Viṣhṇutit book was written about 70 years back they say.

I don't know the exact dates of that. But about Kuṇḍalinī, even if you have read Bhrigu muni, Bhrigu was one of the great scholars, originator of Indian astrology, Bhrigu. He is the one. Bhrigu muni. Now he has written one book, the Bhrigu Sangeeta which is the astrology, Sangeeta. One book and another is the NĀdi Granth. Now this Nad Granth has described these types and he has said about Kuṇḍalinī awakening.

That it will take place and thousands will get it. And he has described all these things. A hundred years back, I would say, William Blake has described it.

Journalist: But he didn't know the Kuṇḍalinī. He didn't hear about the word.

Shri Mataji: No he did, he did.

Journalist: He did?

Shri Mataji: He did. But you see the thing is he has used not straight forward words for anything.

You see for everything he has used another of his own words, you see, because people wouldn't understand him. And Kuṇḍalinī, to talk about Kuṇḍalinī was not even possible for Christ, I can tell you, but that's why he said I'll send you someone; the Holy Ghost.

Journalist: The Holy Ghost.

Shri Mataji: Three things; will redeem, will council and will comfort. But nobody is looking out for that. And the Holy Ghost is the Kuṇḍalinī. He was allowed to speak only for three and a half years, if you see. And in that mad world, three and an half years is nothing. In London for four years I was struggling with seven Sahaja Yogis, four years continuously.

So you can imagine what could he have said? For that also he was crucified.

Journalist: But it is not common in Christianity that the Holy Ghost is the Kuṇḍalinī.

Shri Mataji: Because of this problem, they don't want to know anything from anyone. Christianity is governing itself, you see. Why not see outside, where Christ was an eternal being? He didn't belong much to that area. He might have existed before also; as something great. He is described in the books of the Devī as Mahāviṣhṇu, as Mahāviṣhṇu; absolutely.

Journalist: Christ as Mahāviṣhṇu?

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes. Clear cut, you can see the signs. He is called the `adhara', the support of the whole universe. But you see the missionaries, supposing, came to India with a gun in one hand and the Bible in the other one. It's called as the Baoutha. Baoutha is the one incarnation of Viṣhṇu which is very mild.

Journalist: The Boudha?

Shri Mataji: Baoutha, not Buddha, Baoutha. Buddha means enlightened and Baoutha, the one who enlightens you; who is the light, who is the light. He is the light. He said I am the light, I am the path, he did say. Didn't he?
Journalist: I read you were born in a Christian family.

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Journalist: In a Methodist family?

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, it was..., I tell you it was quite hectic because I would say, it was... I was baptized by the Lutherans.

Journalist: By the Lutherans? Yes.

Shri Mataji: [Laughing] My father joined the Church of Scotland, Presbyterian; but My brother was with the Methodists. But I found they were very sophisticatedly fanatic people. Very sophisticatedly, because they had made everything into a mental stuff, you could not penetrate into them. And My father was a very learned man himself, a very evolved soul. He knew fourteen languages. He was a master of knowledge of human beings; and he told Me that “You establish Sahaja Yoga and then talk to them. Before that, you don't tell them anything, because nobody will listen to you." Especially Indian Christians are the worst of all.

Journalist: So you first spoke about Sahaja Yoga already?

Shri Mataji: After breaking this seventh Chakra on the 5th of May 1970, I started talking. But Indian Christians are not there yet in Sahaja Yoga; very few. Of course, My family people are, because they know Me, I am like this; but otherwise very few.

Journalist: They are still Christian?

Shri Mataji: Oh, they are. Indian Christians means what? They are just given some money... or with some fear. Very, very funny things they did. Like they put a loaf in the well and said that this was the meat of a cow and they were discarded from Hinduism. Hinduism is another madness because they send away people from there.

So they became Christian. I mean which kind of Christianity is that? While in My family; My family is a sort of a... what you call a royal family, which is a dynasty. And in their family there was a mishap and that's how they got converted. But they have built lots of temples and things.

A mishap of a lady becoming a widow and she suffered a lot so they had to become Christian. But not out of any conviction or any understanding, because Christ sounded very violent to us. Because, I mean followed by guns and canons and breaking our temples, you know. I always say, thank God Columbus did not come there; otherwise there would have been no Sahaja Yoga. Because he went to America and you can't find one Red Indian there. It's horrible! It is something I can't... in the name of God, in the name of Christ, I mean it is just the opposite of that. You see it so clearly! Journalist: But Christians in India don't agree with you I think.

Shri Mataji: Not Indian Christians; but Indians are thousands; Hindus, Muslims...

Journalist: Also Muslims?

Shri Mataji: Oh yes, Muslims. Oh yes, many Muslims; Sikhs, Parses; Muslims from Algeria, lots of Muslims from Algeria. In Paris we have Muslims, we have Muslims in every place; Austria we have. Do you have in Italy? Guido: In Italy, yes.

Shri Mataji: In Italy also. We have also Muslims in England. There is a very great scientist, Mr.

Hamid, who is an agricultural scientist; he is also a Sahaja Yogi. He is an Iranian and he is has done an experiment with vibrated water and he found that you don't have to use hybrid seeds anymore.

Journalist: You don't?

Shri Mataji: Hybrid seeds; hybrid seeds.

Journalist: Oh yes, yes, I understand.

Shri Mataji: But ordinary seeds which are supposed to be no good, if you vibrate them with the vibrated water... vibrations are nothing, just I have to put My hand in it like that; if you vibrate that then these seeds act like beautiful, rich seeds and produce better results. Because they can be reproduced also; hybrid seeds you cannot. And the food is very good. And to eat hybrid food is not very good because it creates problems in the brain I think.

Journalist: It was said in the papers that you have the power to give it, the energy to give it...

Shri Mataji: I have to? Journalist: You have the power, the energy. You have the power in you, the power; you can give to other people.

Shri Mataji: Yes, but you can also have.

Journalist: Yes, but the power was already from the beginning in you is that true? You always felt it.

So you didn't have to discover it.

Shri Mataji: No.

Journalist: Other people have to discover it.

Shri Mataji: Yes, the power I had always with Me, but I had to discover the method in the human beings how to work it out.

Journalist: You always felt the power?

Shri Mataji: Yes of course, of course. But I wanted to give an `en masse' realisation; en masse. And for en masse realisation I had to study human beings. What their problems are, the permutations and combinations. Because this seventh Chakra was to be broken; that was the problem.

Journalist: So you also gave it to people...

Shri Mataji: Thousands; thousands can get it. In India, I mean, I get at least... I go to the villages, the country side because our cities are very few and, of course, in Bombay also I have at least two, three thousand people, good Sahaja Yogis. But we have to work it in the villages because people are very simple, not complicated and in thousands... They have seen it [indicating the Sahaja Yogis present]. In one place six thousand people came. They come. They get realisation. But one more advantage that we have in India, they know about it and specially in Maharashtra, they know what Kuṇḍalinī is. That it is the Kuṇḍalinī awakening that gives... They are waiting for it. Even in the Himālayas, I went to one place called Dharamshala, three thousand people came. It was written that there will be a “Devī Jāgra." Devī means the Goddess, Jāgra; that means the Kuṇḍalinī. They all came; no questions, nothing; they just sat down. All of them got realisation.

Journalist: In Dharamshala? Where the Dalai Lama lives?

Shri Mataji: Yes, but that's all different.

Journalist: It is also Dharamshala, yes.

Shri Mataji: You see this Dalai Lama business is the same as any other.

Journalist: That's a Guru business. Yes?

Shri Mataji: It's of no use, you see. It's a money-making proposition. What is it? Why should we beg for money? Why should we ask for money? That's not our job. God's people don't have to do all this. It's a very funny idea. You see this is the human problem. You have created poverty, you have created problems; you solve it. It's a social problem; it's not a religious problem. It's a big confusion.

Now supposing somebody is suffering from any cancer or any trouble, now he can go to the hospital. The hospital can be built by the social organizations. Why bring God in between? But if God is there...

supposing I have to cure a person, I'll just do it; just like that, without any medicine, without anything, it will just work out.

So how can I charge? Journalist: Speaking again about Kuṇḍalinī, some time ago I read a book from Gopi Kṛiṣhṇa. Do you know it? And he also writes about his experiences.

Shri Mataji: It's such a naive fellow; he had no business to write it. It's absurd, but you don't write it! Otherwise he will get after My life, you know.

There is one fellow [laughing] Eugene, who is following him all over. This Eugene fellow was affected by that Maheśh yogi.

Journalist: UG?

Shri Mataji: Eugene. His name is Eugene. He is from America. He is a New York fellow. He is assisting him; he is going round with him all over.

So first of all, he got ideas that he must kill his parents.

He came to Me in India. I could not meet him so he came to London.

Journalist: Eugene?

Shri Mataji: This Eugene fellow. Now, but don't give his name. [Laughs.] Journalist: No, No, no.

Shri Mataji: You know these people are horrible.

So this one person came to Me; and then he told Me that the second idea he got was to kill himself. And then he said, “This is not good. Why is it happening?" So his parents actually brought him to India, but they could not see Me so they left him in London. Then I cured him. And when I cured him, he went to New York and this Mr. Gopi Kṛiṣhṇa caught hold of him.

He caught hold of him; and this Eugene is now working with him! Now what do you say to that? Now from one to another! And this Gopi Kṛiṣhṇa also got hold of our minister. What was his name? Some minister from Kashmir.

And he has got 65 lacks of Rupees from our government for the Kuṇḍalinī Foundation. There is nothing like that. It's all a money-making proposition. I don't know, what is this all going on? Kuṇḍalinī doesn't understand money. How can she? I mean nothing in your body understands money, does it? Say, you show money to your eyes, do they understand? Nose, nothing; so how can Kuṇḍalinī understand? Nothing natural understands money, does it? Only we human beings do; because it is man-made.

Journalist: But they have written about it that it was... you know the book of course; that raising the Kuṇḍalinī, it was very terrible. He wrote about that.

Shri Mataji: I don't want to say but...

Journalist: Did you read the book of Gopi?

Shri Mataji: Yes, I have heard all about it. Actually, if it happens to anyone, that means that person is not a good man. It simply means that. Or something has gone wrong with his Guru, or something has gone wrong with him. It means as simple as that, especially if the Mūlādhāra Chakra is out. I mean it must be that the person is not virtuous, or not religious, that it has happened. Otherwise it should not.

Or some wrong person has touched him in the wrong place and something wrong. This is like, just as I told you yesterday, putting your hands into the plug.

Journalist: Yes I understand.

Shri Mataji: Now I have given realisation to thousands; and these people have given realisation; and it has not happened to anyone. And then when you like blind people...

Somebody wants to do something and gets a shock and tells people, then it is actually an anti-God activity. He should not have written it when he doesn't know anything. Because if it is the only way to get to God; one should not write such horrible things because everybody gets frightened. Yesterday, see, two persons asked Me a question; and everybody is frightened about Kuṇḍalinī; you mention the word. And Kuṇḍalinī is your mother. How can she give you trouble? First of all, logically? Journalist:

Well, it is because it is written so about Kuṇḍalinī most of it...

Shri Mataji: Ah this is all a money-making proposition, I tell you. A hundred years back, I should say, at the most. It has no traditional relevance. Kabīra never said it.

Journalist: Pardon?

Shri Mataji: Kabīra, was about only three hundred years back. Rāmdās Swāmī was three hundred years back. Tukārām was about two hundred and fifty years back. All... they never said it. How is it? Gñyāneśhwara, never said it. Ādi Shañkarāchārya never said it. I mean he described it, but he never said that it burns you or anything. She is your mother, she is this; he said all this. Saundarya Lahari, the whole thing is about Kuṇḍalinī only.

Journalist: Not all people speak about it like that. For instance, I read something from Muktananda and he also says it is very easy to raise it.

Shri Mataji: I am told he's got six thousand `crores' worth of diamonds. That's all; six thousand crores.

Journalist: What?

Shri Mataji: Crore is how much? It is... one `lack' is a hundred thousand and a hundred of that; a hundred, hundred, thousand Rupees worth of diamonds.

Journalist: Ten million. But he is an exception that he says that it is also easy to raise the Kuṇḍalinī.

Shri Mataji: Now he's started talking. But if you ask people who have been to him earlier, they used to jump, dance...

But one thing is, you see, when they say this one must see: The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

You must see what has... Now look at these people they are so knowledgeable [indicating the Sahaja Yogis]. They can raise Kuṇḍalinī. They can cure people. Now supposing we want to buy this furniture, you see. Now we will find out how it works. I mean, we'll go to people and find out how the people are using it. Supposing they say, `Oh it's no good!' you won't buy it.

But I must tell you, there is another point, a very funny one which I never realised. But one gentleman came to Me in England, I think he is a BBC interviewer or something; and he said that an Anglo-Saxon brain cannot understand anything for which you do not pay. Can you imagine? Journalist: He did say that?

Shri Mataji: He said. Really I must tell you. On this My experiences have been horrifying. Then another one in Toronto said, “How many Rolls-Royces does she have?" So they said, “She has none because she doesn't take money." So they said that, “If she has no Rolls-Royces we are not interested." In Toronto! But if this is the level...

Journalist: Well, yes.

Sometimes also people say that if something doesn't cost anything, then it has no value. Do you meet people who are saying that, yes?

Shri Mataji: But we don't... think of so many things we do not pay for! I mean ninety-nine percent of things we do not pay for. To be a human being we never paid. To be born we never paid. Nothing we paid for. It's only the human beings have created this economic want, you see, everything was free. We have made it economic; it's our own brain wave. What can you do? Journalist: So most people are speaking; you are right? And if they speak like that, then people from India say, “I have a technique you have to pay for." Then they believe it.

Shri Mataji: They believe them more. They believe them much more, you see, because they take money; because they believe in money. Also I think in all organized religions people pay money, don't they? People thrive on that, in all organized religions. If you want to organize a religion, you have to pay money. And that's how the whole thing comes down to that stuff, to that thing, that you have to pay money for God. I mean, supposing now they have to take a hall, all right? Now they have to pay for the hall. Not for God, not for Me. This discrimination is not there. There should be discrimination. You can pay for, say, a hall. At the most they may pay for My travel, at the most. But they are paying for the travel, not to Me.

Guido: Also it's just a spontaneous collection, it's not...

Shri Mataji: Yes it is spontaneous, yes this is it.

Journalist: May I put a question on another theme, about feeling guilty. You spoke quite a lot yesterday about it.

Shri Mataji: That's a big problem for Me I must tell you.

Journalist: It was interesting to hear that you saw that as a typically Western thing.

Shri Mataji: Very much. You see they themselves have created it.

Journalist: In the whole of Europe, America? Europe...

Shri Mataji: Oh terrible! I think the people who feel the most guilty are the English. They are the worst of all.

Journalist: The English?

Shri Mataji: Very... I don't know what they feel guilty about! First I used to think it may be Catholicism. But the English are not Catholics. They are not Catholics at all! I don't know why, but for small things, you see. The English are, I think, very formal. And formal people always feel guilty. That may be another way; very formal. If you speak one wrong word in English they feel guilty. They are too formal.

The Americans are absolutely abandoned. They are too abandoned, they are also gone cases, you see.

Two extremes! [Laughing.] The English language is... I don't know what they have done to the English language! The Americans are... they'll `fix' your breakfast, they'll fix your brain, they'll fix your eyes; they fix everything like a machine. The Americans are another extreme and I think too much formality of the English. And in between all of them feel guilty; for small things I tell you; very small things, they feel. I mean it's surprising how they feel guilty for all these things. Like one lady said that she is feeling very guilty for what is happening in Vietnam. I said: “Are you responsible? Why are you feeling guilty for Vietnam?" Or for your forefathers; The English would say we feel very guilty for what we did. You never did anything in India. That's your forefathers, they are finished, gone; you are not the same. It creates very serious problems, physically also. Angina, all heart troubles, spondylitis. It's a very serious thing to feel guilty.

Journalist: Also in Holland you can feel that people...

Shri Mataji: Oh terrible.

Journalist: Terrible also in Holland?

Shri Mataji: Holland is the second. I think in Holland also people are very formal. Don't you think so? They have been... now they are better. The younger people are better. But I think older people were very formal.

Journalist: Maybe. There's difference with...

Shri Mataji: The Dutch character was very formal. I think the protocol and all that was a bit too much.

Journalist: I always had the impression that the Germans are much more formal than the Dutch.

Shri Mataji: They have another problem. [Laughing.] They are never guilty, not guilty as such. I tell you they are not as guilty as they should be; but very aggressive; very self-opinionated. Actually Germans have no respect for anyone, no respect. They don't feel so guilty. I mean they should be the first to feel guilty but they are..., I mean, their generation has done all this nonsense, isn't it? But they say it's a political mistake, can you imagine. To say it's a political mistake; it was an accident. That's how they justify it. Everybody has a different character like I say Sweden, Norway, Denmark, they have another problem. They feel guilty and they think they must be charitable. And they will borrow money and be charitable. And mostly charitable to wrong people; always; like this Dalai Lama. There is no need to be that charitable to this Dalai Lama. You know there is a pocket of all kinds of smugglers, this, that and the Indians don't see the point also; what they are up to. Because I get disciples from there also and they tell Me what they are doing there; and I am amazed! In the name of religion, in the name of Buddha! The things they are doing in Dharamshala is something I can't understand. Now I get all this information from people who come hit from there, sick from there.

Journalist: Do you feel if you are in a country that there are differences between the countries?

Shri Mataji: Yes I do.

Journalist: You feel that very, very well.

Shri Mataji: On the being you feel it. Also I think people in the West have lost their morality, their sense of chastity completely; their sense of innocence and chastity. You see there are two kinds of sins we have. One is, I call it the sin against the Father, that the Indians do, or that we do not feel secure about money and secure about our well being. That's the sin against the Father. And the sin against the Mother is immorality.

But in that America will beat anyone hollow, I can tell you. The Americans are the worst in sin against the Mother, the Americans. Because I went to San Francisco and they said that... it was in the communiqu that it cures homosexuality tendencies. They said we don't want it. The gentleman said, “I am a homosexual, my editor is a homosexual, my mayor is a homosexual, the governor is a homosexual; sixty-five percent of people in San Francisco are homosexual." So I told them that you will get a disease, don't go ahead with it. Now they have got AIDS. Now they have gone further, now they are saying, “Who are you to tell us? We want to destroy ourselves. We can destroy ourselves." Now you tell them that you have no right to destroy because you cannot create yourself. He said, “Who cares!" So what should we do now, everybody should sympathize with them? Sixty-five percent of the people are homosexual and they don't want to hear about it. I mean it's a simple physical understanding, any doctor can understand, if you don't use your private parts in a proper way, filth and dirt, you will get into trouble! It is infectious, but for that you don't have to go to God to understand. It's common sense.

Journalist: But the Americans do not believe in a Mother. They have the Father maybe, God the Father, but not the Mother, they don't have.

Shri Mataji: I don't know, you see, we cured one fellow of AIDS in Australia. His name is Crosby.

And again he did the same. He came out of the jaws of death and he did the same. It's a kind of a possession or I don't know what it is! It is a possession. It is definitely a possession, I think a woman must be possessing a man and a man must be possessing a woman; because it is so unnatural. But it is not legal; and they said if I say anything about it they'll arrest Me.

Journalist: But in America you are not welcome then if you are saying such things.

Shri Mataji: No, no, that way, you see there are many sane people everywhere. [Laughing.] I mean they cannot crucify Me, that's one thing for sure. [Laughing.] Thank God our society has evolved that much that they cannot crucify Me. But there are many sensible people everywhere.

Journalist: Do you meet very much criticism about you, very much aggressiveness?

Shri Mataji: Yes, they are aggressive, it's now becoming less and less, but we have ways of reducing the aggression. You see, while talking to a person if you raise the Kuṇḍalinī, the person becomes very relaxed. And then he finds it difficult to aggress also. Then things go into his head, he understands better. Or you can raise his Kuṇḍalinī, he might become a realised Soul and his Spirit shines and the transformation takes place.

Guido: In Italy they came by thousands. Shri Mataji has been on all the television stations.

Shri Mataji: Yes on the television. Yes that's true in Italy. Italians are very sensitive. I tell you, they are very sensitive to serenity, to auspiciousness... just seeing My photograph. The Italians are the best people, perhaps maybe they are traditional. Through tradition they have learnt what is good and what is bad. Very good people in Italy and thousands, I mean... in Milano last year we had I don't know how many thousands. And a priest came up and he said, “Thank God I have got the experience of the Spirit." Like that, very good people, very sensitive and very open-hearted, you see. And the television themselves sent Me... Six televisions, their cars and hotels and they said we... Well, I said I don't take any money, so they arranged a hotel for Me to stay, because I was outside Rome. And on the television I gave realisation, on television.

Journalist: On television?

Shri Mataji: Yes, I gave realisation to people on television and then we went shopping; shoes and all that I wanted to buy and we met people in the market who said, “Mother you have given us realisation on the television."
Guido: And the director of the presidency of all the ministers in Italy came to us because he felt the vibrations through the television.

Shri Mataji: Really? Guido: Yes he is coming regularly to our programs.

Shri Mataji: Can you imagine! But the television people, the worst are in America. Worst! Very funny people they are, very funny. Then you just don't know what to do with them, very superficial. And I think the Americans are still very immature, on the whole. Very immature, they are just like children.

You see they are maybe good at money-making and all that, but as far as God is concerned I think they are still very immature people. Very superficial, on the whole; on the whole, I am saying. But they are good-hearted but Russian people are very good. I must say, solid. Not the administrators I am not saying, whatever they may be, but the people are all right; Russians; very good. Chinese; first class, wonderful people the Chinese, maybe tradition.

Journalist: What do you expect from your tour here in Holland? Do you expect in Holland it will go...

Shri Mataji: It is more than expectation! Journalist: More than expectation. It is going also here in Holland?

Shri Mataji: More than expectation. I think people have sorted it out. I think they have reached the point. You see affluence has one good point; that you can see through affluence that it doesn't give you what you want. For a while it does hypnotize, for a while, but then you get out of the hypnosis.

Journalist: And they are seeking.

Shri Mataji: And you start seeking. What we call as the principle of Lakṣhmī becomes the principle of Mahālakṣhmī. It is the principle of seeking. After all money is also a seeking, power is a seeking. But that's like a mirage.

Contents: 1985-07-04*, Public Program, Day 2, The Guru Supermarket, Garden of the Ashram, Overvoorde, The Hague, Netherlands

Shri Mataji: Hello, please be seated. [To Sahaja Yogi giving the introduction:] Have you finished?

Sahaja Yogi: Shall I continue a little bit?

Shri Mataji: You finish it, yes.

[Sahaja Yogi finishes the introduction in Dutch.]

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

Yesterday in My lecture and afterwards, the impression I got about Holland, I must tell you very frankly. And you shouldn't mind, because I am a Holy Mother. I am your Mother and I will not tell you any lies, nor will I support anything wrong that you have been doing. If you are a mother, you will understand Me better. If the mother sees the child is doing wrong she will tell, whether the child likes it or not, because the child is yet not matured, is not grown up, he doesn't understand. There is nothing to gain for Me; I have to just give you.

So those who are real Gurus, I'll praise them; but who are not, I will say they're `anti-Christ'. But if you are honest and if you understand My earnestness to save you, you must not mind that. You get identified with a person, for nothing at all. What did you get yourself? You must think, did you get your realisation? Did you feel your collective consciousness? Can you talk like this, the way he's talking? Do you know all that, what he knows? Or like sheep, you are following somebody like blind. Do you understand what your Guru is doing? I feel in Holland there has been a `Guru supermarket' and because you are so naive that you followed it blindly and you are adhering to it. I mean, people are so mad in this respect that they leave their rationality, their logic behind and just follow like sheep, just like a fashion or a fad, I don't know what to call you people who run after individuality so much. Like in America people will have a different clock, a different tile, a different bathroom, you don't know, everything must be different. But as far as the understanding is concerned, they are just like sheep.

Now, there's a letter, I have seen this letter now of somebody who gave Me. Now about this Yogi Bhajan I have to say that you know already, but I knew about it much before. Two boys from this Yogi Bhajan came to India. I had gone to his ashram in '70 and told him, “Don't do this. You don't know what is Kuṇḍalinī, you are not a realised Soul” I told him on his face. I know who supported him, why he supported him; there's one gentleman called B. P. Jain, he was just a custom officer. There's one fellow called B. P. Jain who is a Jain, who save, Jains, you know as they are, they want to save even mosquitoes.

So he paid him money to go to America to create vegetarianism.

So he went there and his wife. He was just a custom officer.

Now what Indian papers are printing for him today, I knew this long time back, Myself. And about, I think three years back, two boys who had met Me before, came to Delhi and they told Me they have delivered guns in the temple. They told Me and I told the Head of the C.I.D. in India, because I know him very well.

There is another one, the one is Anand Marg. This fellow had spread out so much and people had become mad after him. He was killing people, still people did not know that he was doing something wrong. In... there, in the eyes they could see it clearly, but nothing went into the head to see that he was killing some his disciples. He's also a vegetarian, for your information and all his disciples have to be vegetarian. This fellow killed twenty-eight people in the presence of one gentleman called Doctor, he's now a Sahaja Yogi, Doctor Prasad. And this Doctor Prasad went to Colourado, everywhere; even now there are people who are anand margis. I mean, even if they find somebody is a snake, still they hold on to it like that. I don't know what sort of brains Western people have, I can't understand.

Now this man, this Mister Prasad, Doctor Prasad went to Calcutta and he saw. He went to the Kālī's temple, Devī's temple. There suddenly he saw, you see, something in Kālī's eyes and the whole thing came into his head, “What am I doing? It's madness, I am sticking onto this man." So he got collected many people around him and told them about this. He took... If you tell about Gurus they run away, they don't want to hear. When they will go mad, where will they go? Now they went down, he just ran away from there to Lucknow. From there he came to Delhi. And there's an income tax commissioner who is My son there, who brought him to the hotel. We were staying in Ashoka Hotel, Myself and My husband, under the police guard, can you imagine? My husband says, “What's this going on?" He came in and he told Me that “This fellow has murdered twenty-eight people and I want to go and tell the police. But I wanted to see You before that." Because he saw My face on Kālī's face! I said, “All right, you go and tell them. Everything you tell them." Then they arrested this fellow.

Still people were mad after him. Not only, but his Western disciple tried to kill the High Commissioner of UK and Deputy High Commissioner was killed. The Australian High Commissioner was killed. They assaulted Canadian High Commissioner, Canadian High Commissioner. To such an extent that government had to release him and put him under house arrest. He's under house arrest. His wife and his son have now come to Sahaja Yoga, imagine and so many of his so-called disciples, Indians, have come. But Westerners, foreigners are still for him, he's the greatest Guru. What is the slander? Should I praise such people who tried to kill our prime minister, madam? Nothing, what has he done to you, I can see clearly your Kuṇḍalinī cannot rise. It's all right, if you want to go with him you can go, but your Kuṇḍalinī I cannot rise because he's frozen it. She's catching on four Chakras. What is she talking? She doesn't know anything about herself. Even to give realisation to his disciple is a difficult thing, you don't know how difficult it is. But you want to stick on to your crocodile and want to come on a boat. How I will do it? I will have to say this is a crocodile; if you like it or not I don't care.

In 1970 I told about every cult, sect and every Guru that they all are anti-Christ, openly. Nobody came forward; they could not sue Me, nothing. With all their money they could not, they know that they were.

You people are getting lost in cults, you don't know what's happening to you, they are exploiting you. I am Myself an Indian, I feel ashamed about it. This is a new fashion they have started. It never existed in India like this.

So now one must under, see, he's made so much money, this fellow. Not all of them. Everybody has made in crores of rupees, why don't you understand? We Indians have better brains in this. And the mantras they gave you are horrid mantras. One fellow gave a mantra, `tinga'. Now, tell any Indian and they'll laugh at it. Tell any Indian, but you are not supposed to tell. Six thousand pounds they took for that `tinga'. What does `tinga' means this! There is nothing, no mantra can be given. It's a wrong idea.

Only the Chakra which is wrong, there is something wrong with the Chakra, that mantra you must know.

There is a logic. There's a science. Try to understand.

Do not follow anyone just like a sheep. Everything has to be logical. You have human brains. You shouldn't follow anything which you don't understand logically, just like a blind person. Then why don't you follow your pope only? If you have to do blind things, why don't you go to pope? He's the best, easy to get him! You have to have your eyes open and you must know everything. You are seekers. You are under attack. I am not here for election or voting or for anything. I do not want to be harsh with you, but with your Gurus I am. And I say they, most of them are anti-Christ, believe Me and I can prove it to you.

And this is the reason, because you are attached to something like that, you cannot get your realisation.

So unless and until you get your realisation, I have no interest. Otherwise you should get your realisation, that's all My interest is in you. And you should only have that much interest in you, what other interest can you have? Supporting anyone: what is the need to support anyone? I don't need any support and you should not support anyone like that. You have to just discover yourself, simple thing, you must know that. You are that; you have to just become that, that's all. It is so simple, it's so easy, because it is so vital, it is so vital, so important at this time. If you miss it now, you'll miss it forever.

But sometimes you have paid a lot of money so you think, “Now we have paid the money, now what to, how to get out of it?" Like you go to see some play, it's horrid, absolutely it's boring, but you have paid the money so you want to go through it. Forget it! Forget, whatever has happened has happened.

Now you yourself become a Guru.

Vincent, when did you come to Sahaja Yog?

Sahaja Yogi: Two years back, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: See now. He's a master! Only two years back! How much money he paid Me? And so many are sitting behind you. They are raising your Kuṇḍalinī, you are dancing like mad! You don't know anything: where is Kuṇḍalinī, who's Kuṇḍalinī, what, nothing of the kind and you want to believe? Today a journalist told Me that there's already a book called as, what did he say?, `Guru Supermarket'.

I've been saying that and I will say that all throughout, because I love you very much and I won't allow you to be drowned, as far as possible. But if you want to get destroyed, what can I do? All right.

So we come now to another thing you were asking Me for, about yesterday.

Somebody asked Me about, what did he say?, about clairvoyance. Is it this, that gentleman here? Good, good.

Now when you see this, can you bring it forward a little. I should see a little, a little bit, little behind I think'll be all right; I ask. Can you see, madam? All right. You can come this side. Here there's a chair, all right? Please take a proper chair. What about you? What is he sitting in there? Come along, join here! Christ has said, you have to be like children to enter into the Kingdom of God.

All right.

So now, I will first tell you about the three energies which are working within us. Come along. Give them a chair. Let Me explain this, all right? Let Me tell, then I will see to you.

The first energy, that is on the left hand side in blue colour, you see, a deep blue colour, is the energy of our desires. Now it caters to our past and it's called as the moon energy, chandra Nāḍī: moon channel.

Now, this energy is the one we use when we think of our past, our emotions and we also use it when we get conditioned.

So this energy creates within us an institution which we call as conditioning, or we can call it as superego. In Sanskrit it's the mana Shakti, on the left hand side. It goes, crosses over and goes to the right side.

Now the another one is the energy which is on the right hand side. This is the energy that we use for our mental and physical work, is the energy of action, kriya Shakti, or Prāṇa Shakti. You can call it Prāṇa Shakti. This caters for our future, also, for the futuristic thing: futuristic thinking, planning.

Now we have in the center, third energy. This energy has given us human awareness, is the evolutionary energy. This energy is the one which is represented in the gross as parasympathetic nervous system; and the other two energies are left sympathetic and right sympathetic, expressed as, manifested as. Now both these energies meet to form a Chakra, like this.

Now you see the last Chakra is below the Kuṇḍalinī, this is a very important point. [Mūlādhāra, I'm saying: “last" means here last.] Now we have, see, all of them know. Only thing, by reading these books you have become frightened of Kuṇḍalinī, that's all. That's all the knowledge you have. All right.

Now the fourth energy is the Kuṇḍalinī, the Holy Ghost, which is coiled up within us in three and a half coils. In the Koran it is called as “Assas." In the Bible it is said, “I will appear before you like tongues of flames." These are the centers. These are the centers. But about the Holy Ghost not much has been said, because Christ did not have time sufficient. He was crucified much before His time.

As I told you, four years I was working with seven horrible English Sahaja Yogis: very demanding, egoistical and argumentative. Argumentative. But because in Sahaja Yoga you are free to argue. With other Gurus you cannot say anything, you have to accept what are they saying with the stick on your head.

And you have to pay for that stick also. But they are today the foundation stones in the West, of Sahaja Yoga, I must say. They were all very well-educated, Cambridge and Oxford and this and that; but had become hippies, taken drugs, done every sort of thing: have been to every Guru, done all kinds of nonsense.

When they told Me, I told them, “How many Gurus you have been to?" they wrote it down. Everybody had written three pages foolscap on both the sides. It was so difficult. But doesn't matter.

So because I tried on them for four years, you can understand Christ in three and a half years, what could He have done except for talking, that's all. But His disciples got their realisation and they felt the Cool Breeze on their hands. And they felt the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost. They started talking the language of Chakras: “Mūlādhāra” then as we say, “Iḍā, Piñgalā, Suṣhumnā", all this language they started talking. And they started moving their hands, you see, in all directions because we too do that way, because the energy moves in our hands.

So people thought they were mad. You see, in the mad world if sane people come in, the mad people think they're mad.

[To the translator:] What is it? You don't agree with Me?

Sahaja Yogi: I missed something.

Shri Mataji: No, no, no. I am saying... Yea... Now I'll tell you a story. I'll tell you a story. Our prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru went to a lunatic asylum and there were some mad people there talking sanely, for a change.

So they asked him, “Who are you?" He said, “I am Jawaharlal." They said, `You are Jawaharlal Nehru?" He said, “Yes." He said, “Are you the Prime Minister of India?" He said, “Yes, I am." “See, it's all right. I used to say the same thing till I came here." So that's what happens. When the sages come on this earth they are crucified, but if some cheat and a thug comes in, they are worshipped. Everybody runs after them, because he's very clever, he puts a camouflage. He pleases you, he pampers your ego and everyone likes such a person. But a real person will tell you the truth, because he is your well-wisher. He's not going to tell lies. Why? For what? So then we have these energies within us, which are four energies I have told you about; and whatever we gain in our evolution, we feel it on our central nervous system. Like you should know, supposing you ask a dog or a horse to go in a dirty lane, he will just pass through, he will not worry about anything.

But if you ask a human being to pass through, he cannot.

So human beings are much more evolved and they can feel it on their central nervous system. In the same way, manifestation of the spirit is to be felt on your central nervous system and you should be master of that. You should know what it is.

Now as you asked Me the question about the clairvoyance, what happens, I'll tell you. When we try too much to do something in our seeking, without our connection, like this machine is not connected and I try to work it out, it will get spoilt, we say. As a result of that, only thing that takes place is the activity of the sympathetic nervous system: of these, either the right or the left. Now supposing you think you should call God, you go on calling `Rām, Rām, Rām, Rām' like that. Now He gets tired of you really, to be very frank. There is a protocol even to call someone. Supposing you come and call someone like that, people will say, “Now get out of here, we are fed up." So what happens, you start moving from your central path to the sympathetic, either to the left or to the right. But if you move to the left side, supposing, take one concrete, you go into the subconscious, to the collective subconscious. Now in the collective, now in the collective subconscious, all that is dead is since our creation resides and that attacks us and we get possessed. And some people you will find suddenly start jumping, epileptic; they have all kinds of funny gestures without their knowledge, without their control. They are all possessed people.

I had a disciple called Mister Rao. He is still there. He came from Pakistan on his way from war. And hiding himself, he went into a burial place of some Hindus there, perhaps, maybe some so-called Haṭha yogis, he hid himself in a burial place. But he did not know what had happened to him but when he came to Delhi, he found suddenly he used to get up and do all kinds of Haṭha Yoga exercises continuously. And his wife got a fright and she didn't understand what's going on with this fellow, continuously going into this or that kind of a thing, he had never learnt Haṭha Yoga.

So she brought her to Me. Again he went into the same nonsense. I thought his intestines will come out now, I was so frightened of him! So I told him, “This is all nonsense. You've got some Haṭha yogi on your head who is making you do all this nonsense." He could not believe it. His wife told Me he vomits blood. He is not in the job, he's doing nothing; only time, all the time whenever he's awake he's in this kind of a pose. He sits in this pose or that pose. And he could not hear Me also. He did not understand Me what I was saying, he was so mad. Thank God he's cured now, he's a normal man. The Haṭha yogi has left him, I think, in peace now, through Sahaja Yoga.

But recently I saw one very good television show by doctors, who are doing a research on cancer. And they admitted that when the body is vulnerable for cancer, it is some sort of a protein which they called protein 52 or protein 58, they gave it a name. You see, doctors don't know anything so they give it a name like that: 52, 58.

Sorry, there are doctors sitting here! I am sorry. But they said, these proteins exist in the area which is built within us since our creation. This is collective subconscious! Like doctors have a name, `autonomous nervous system'. Autonomous, what is auto? Automobile has a driver; what about this body which has an autonomous nervous system, where is the auto? So this is what happens to a person when he goes to the left, he starts doing all kinds of things: he might become ESP, he might become clairvoyant, he might become a cancer patient, or he might become like a Haṭha yogi this way, or he'll do all kinds of funny things. But he's not in control of himself. But the interest of clairvoyant and other people is absolutely material. They will tell you the number of the horse! And it's very dangerous, because you go to the area where you get exposed to diseases like cancer. Alcohol also drives you towards subconscious and there are some drugs that drive you towards subconscious.

But there are some drugs which drive you towards the right side, like LSD, or the recent one, what is it that they smoke in the nose, they sniff?, cocaine, cocaine, cocaine. I'm sorry, I am not very good at it! But I have seen the patients. This cocaine also makes you right-sided.

So you go to the supraconscious, to the collective supraconscious on the right side. Now Hitler used this method from Mister Lama. This method, by this you can put supraconscious proteins into human beings who are very ambitious and who are self-opiniated, think no end of themselves. Very egoistical people become supraconscious. And any idea that you are a particular race, you are something great, like this idea is put too much into your head, one can become supraconscious. And then you move to the collective supraconscious. Such people can become extremely cruel, violent, without feeling anything about it.

Some of the Gurus who have made their disciples cruel, they have tried this trick. And some of the Gurus who have enslaved their disciples have tried the other trick of taking them to the left.

You have to go to the super-consciousness on top of your head, not on the sides. There are so many other attacks also, like Freud. Freud was another attack, I think. He's made human beings into nothing but sexpoints.

Another extreme. Jung talked about it, but he made one mistake, Jung, Jung, that he described the conscious mind, subconscious mind in a layer like this, horizontal. But it is placed vertical and the central path which is the conscious mind, which is the present, has to be kept open for the Kuṇḍalinī to move. And because of that mistake, many people believe that you have to go to subconscious to go higher.

You don't have to go to subconscious or to supraconscious. It's a straightforward march upward like this and you come out of your fontanelle bone area, your attention just comes out, just like this. Like this tent, you see how it is inside, in the same way your attention is put outside. And then the whole thing breaks and it starts penetrating into subtle, subtle areas of your attention.

So this is what I have to tell you about the supraconscious and about the subconscious.

We don't allow people to tape us, I'm sorry. You take it away, that one. No, we can't and we are sorry. We don't allow people to tape, all right? Sorry. If you are Sahaja Yogi you give us the tape, we'll return you another one. Yes, thank you. We don't allow people to tape us because of certain reasons we have found and now it has been decided that we should not allow others to tape till they become complete Sahaja Yogis, for certain reasons which you will agree later on. Because once you become a Sahaja Yogi, you have a right to do what you like; but before that I have seen people, I have found certain problems and that's why they do not allow, so you don't mind. I am sorry.

So now we have come to these four energies that we have. And we know the fourth one is the Kuṇḍalinī which is the Holy Ghost within us, which has to be awakened, which has to pierce through all these six centers which he has described to you. Not the seventh one, which is below the Kuṇḍalinī.

Now the last center that you see here is looking after your pelvic plexus on the physical side, which has got four petals you see there, Mūlādhāra Chakra; and in the same way we have got four sub-plexuses for the pelvic plexus. Now the very important point is this, that sex does not play part in the ascent. At the time of ascent you become like a child, your innocence is awakened at the time of ascent. You have sex activity, all right, but sex activity which is sane sex activity, not perverted. But I don't want to say anything just now because as soon as you'll become the spirit, every sort of sanity will come into you.

You'll become absolutely sane person and absolutely liberated.

But the most important thing is that sex does not play part in the ascent. That time you are a very pure person. This one point is very important to understand, because we are misled. But Brahmacharia is not to be done and none such austerities are needed. Gradually as you become a realised Soul you mature and you understand what is good and what is bad. Whatever is suitable to you, you do it and whatever is not suitable, you just don't do it. Yourself, you have the power now. You have no temptation of any kind, you are above all temptations. Nothing can dominate you, but you become a wise person.

You become discreet, you become dignified, you become compassionate and you become dynamic. The attention becomes collectively conscious and effective.

Like sitting down here if I think of someone, I can correct. It's a very wonderful telecommunication, hundred percent efficient. You will be amazed how things work out. This world has to be known, but it's a fantastic world in which you enter in. Then, that is what you know is the truth and untruth. Untruth.

You can feel the vibrations of Cool Breeze in the hands from a person who is a realised Soul; and from a wrong person you might get hot, or you might even get a little blister with horrible people. That is how you find out.

Now one may say that how this is the absolute knowledge? Like if you get a madman, he is a certified mad, say, take a certified madman. Put your hands towards him and you will get this center catching and this center catching, minimum, but maybe the whole left hand may be burning. If somebody has been to a wrong Guru, he also catches this hand and this finger and sometime he catches this also. If you have eaten something wrong, you catch on this one from that Guru. Left side. If you have eaten something wrong from that Guru like the vibhooti and all that, then you catch on left Nābhī. This is the left Nābhī center and this is the Āgñyā at the back here, this one. This is Swādhiṣhṭhāna, on the left side.

So that's how we discover.

Now supposing somebody has a father's problem, so where do you get the catch? Right Heart. This is Rāma's center. Now if you go on taking Rāma's name, you catch on this finger. But if you go on taking Shiva's name, you catch on this finger only. That's how it is to be decoded and to be verified. Even small children can tell you, if they are realised Souls, because knowledge of the spirit has nothing to do with age. It is ageless.

So you become a source of truth and you become the joy. You become the source of joy. Such a person comforts another person, because such a person is peaceful. He gives peace, not by talking about peace but just by the presence. And thus you become what you call `Sat-chit-ānanda'. `Sat' is the truth, `chit' is the enlightened attention and `ānand' is absolute joy. You don't live in a relative world any more. This is just very close to you. You don't have to go anywhere, it's within you. You have no idea what you are and how fantastic you are! Just you have to get it and work it out and know it, that's all. In one month you could be experts, giving realisation.

Now any questions any more? No? You are thoughtlessly aware now! All right.

So I would suggest now for certain people who have a left side problem, I will tell you a very simple method which we should teach you, a very simple method of getting rid of your left side. For that I think we'll have to go inside now to tell them how to put the candle in front of you and how to work it out. You will immediately see the results.

Now put your left hand towards Me as it is and right hand on the Mother Earth. This Mother Earth takes away the left side. Sit down. Sit down. It will be helpful to you, madam. Please sit down. Better get your realisation, that's more important than anything else, all right? Nobody's important than yourself.

Now put your left hand and pass it to the right hand. Now the energy is passing through this hand, going through you and throwing away all that is the left-sided, jaḍa. Now do you feel Cool Breeze in your hand? Just see, on the left hand.

Feeling? Like this: towards Me, the fingers should be towards Me. Good. Feeling it? You are very good, I would say. Now you'll become a real master, I must say that. We need people in Holland.

So many seekers are lost, you must save them.

So many seekers in Holland. I came here first in sixty-five and that time you were celebrating a very international festival of flowers here, of gardens. And then I felt there are lots of seekers, still very young though.

Now, you put your right hand towards Me, it's very simple method, you can try every day, right hand towards Me like this and left hand like this to the sky. This is the right side you are clearing out, to the sky. Clears out your brain completely. Don't think. You watch Me, but don't think. You just watch Me without thinking. Just watch Me without thinking.

Take out your shoes, eh? It's rather cold, but doesn't matter. Better. Good. Feeling it? Good. Now feel it on top of your head. No, left hand, left hand. Ha, it's there! It's very peaceful.

Lady: Feels like snow falling.

Shri Mataji: Yes, it is! Of course, it is! You know, you will be amazed, in the other building there's a picture of Kuṇḍalinī just shooting out, I saw it there, absolutely a big picture of that, Sahaja! Now put this one, left one towards Me and with the right hand you see now. All right? Good! All of you are feeling it now? Are you feeling? That's the mantra is wrong, all right? That's why you're not feeling. Yes. Ha, better, it's there! All right.

Now again we'll give ourselves a protection. Like this: one. Again, let's start. One. Is two. Is three, nicely. Four, on top of your head, four.

So, five. Six and seven.

Now, to raise your Kuṇḍalinī. This much is good. Let's start. We have to go like this: up, forward, backward, like this. Let's start. Look at your left hand, watch your left hand. Now push back your head and give it a twist. One. Now, so the second. It's two. Now the third one. One, two, three.

Now place your hands up in the sky and ask the question, `Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the All-pervading Power of God? Is this the Brahma Shakti?' Now take down your hands. See, all the trees are quiet and silent. Nothing is moving, but you feel the breeze. Good! Now the breeze also has started here, out of joy, only here. It's the nature is so much with us. You'll be amazed, wherever I went there was always a big rain, everywhere. As soon as I went there, sunshine! Now I've been travelling for the last three months: it has happened in Italy, Spain, in France, in Geneva, I mean Switzerland and here. It's beautiful. All right? So I would request you, all of you to keep contact with our center here, take the address and you become masters. Also we have a group that goes to India when I travel in India, for which then you see if you are all right. If the leaders say, then you can travel also to India. But we don't allow like that people to travel to India, because they're all travelling for deeper development.

So those who are settled down little bit, they can travel and we have beautiful time together.

We have no ashrams and we do not go to tourist places, but we go to the nature and to the very powerful centers in Maharashtra. Of course you cannot have great conveniences, but you enjoy it very much. You can have bath in the rivers. And food is good. They all have been and people are good. You'll like them very much. But we go in the villages and not in the cities. The vibrations are very nice. But only the leaders have to certify, that is important.

So there's hardly I have now about two months more; I think two, three months more. In that, I'm sure all of you can be perfect.

Now we are importing people, one doctor from Australia, another Russian doctor from England, to come down for the follow-on for you, this Friday, Saturday, Sunday.

So please make it convenient to be here and in this time I will be going away but they are having seminars, when you people should come and know all about it. They will tell you everything. But you should not feel hurt, because they know a lot. If they say something you should not mind it; they are like your brothers and sisters. They are not here to please you but tell you all about it and you become masters yourself. For all this you don't have to pay anything and enjoy your spirit.

May God bless you all.

Now anybody who has problems like this, you see, they have already made the candles and they will take you inside, they will help you out. You can go and talk to them if you have time and discuss with them. They will give you the candles which you'll work it out; how to work out the candles they'll tell you. Will be a good idea, talk to them. They will check you and tell you. Better is that they should tell you what sort of a personality you are and what you have to do. It's better. There's nothing wrong in it.

So they are here and there are I think, about, how many are travelling, Sahaja Yogis? Sixty Sahaja Yogis are in Holland today.

So and you are thirty, I think, new ones or maybe forty, whatever it is.

So you please check yourself out and see what's wrong with you. They will tell you what are the Chakras catching, how to correct it, what is to be done; and face it and just correct it, that's all. And feel all right and enjoy yourself, isn't it? As simple as that. In Sahaja Yog we don't tell everything, specially about Me. Gradually you yourself will understand Me better. Because truth can be quite bright, too bright for the eyes.

So take it easy with yourself.

Thank you very much.

You have to respect your realisation, that's main thing. You must respect and love yourself. Now you can talk to these people who are here and if they want to tell you what is to be done, you can go inside and correct yourself. Maybe some of you may need their help and should work out because I want you to be cleared out today, completely.

May God bless you.

Contents: 1985-07-05 Śhrī Trigunātmika Pūjā, Holland is the Holy Land, Overvoorde, Den Hāg, Netherlands

Shri Mataji: [about takings photographs] you must take the right angle at right time. I find some people take exactly the wrong angle and the wrong time.

Sahaja Yogi: Ah?

Shri Mataji: Yes. When you get the vibrations, that's the point you must click.

That's it [laughs]. And because you just take it at the wrong time, photographs do not come out well for some people. Vibrations will tell you when to take. I took photographs of some people and vibrations started flowing. [Laughs]. It's all related. Ah, come along, we have been waiting for you!...

If you want to take, take the photograph now. You see the thing is, in between you should not. You must take the photograph at a particular time, you see? Now, say supposing I'm talking, that time you should not. Or I am treating somebody, then you should not.

So we are in Holland, which is the Holy land of Europe and the Holy Land of Europe has got lots of water in it, flowing. It's at a lower level than the Mother Earth and the sea flows through it, so it's a good combination of the sea and the earth here.

So sea cleanses and the Mother Earth blesses the people of Holland, but if they have lost their moorings and they are flying in the wrong direction, then the same Holy Land can become a Hell-land.

So we have to be very careful to see that we create more and more Sahaja Yogis in this place.

In My reading of the character of the Western people I find they are extremely aggressive by nature and very egoistical on the whole. One should not feel that I am saying about you, but I'm saying, you are Sahaja Yogis, you belong to the Kingdom of God but I'm telling about in general now. While I'm talking keep your eyes open. I don't know why people close the eyes, I can't understand.

Now when we are in the Holy land we find that the Mother Earth has allowed the sea to flow in and it is a very good place for Me to say something to you. Here the sea has taken refuge in the Mother.

The Guru has bound itself with the Motherly qualities. A person feels more safe on the ground than on the sea or in the air.

So today is the best opportunity for Me to say that after the Guru Pūjā we have to understand that to be Holy means you must allow the Guru Tattwa to circulate in the Mother principle or the Guru Tattwa is to be controlled and guided and beautified by the Mother principle.

It's only the Mother Earth that is beautiful because it can create so many varieties, so many dramas, so many place, any other element, if you see, has nothing in it.

So it is She who can create.

So we should take to the Motherly quality more and try to bind our Guru principle through that Motherly, beautiful, creative power so that we make our presence very agreeable, very congenial, very beautiful, full of interest and varieties; every time new flowers, every time new fruits, every time a new, new design.

As Kuṇḍalinī is made of Mother Earth, we are quite capable of doing that. There are Gurus and Gurus and Gurus but no one so far is such a master as you are of the Kuṇḍalinī. If they were they would have given realisation to thousands. Why, because your Mother has penetrated into your Guru principle and has risen your Kuṇḍalinī, has given you powers to raise Kuṇḍalinī, breaking your seventh Chakra, so clearly.

That never happened with anyone, even incarnations could not do that to the masses as you are doing.

The Kuṇḍalinī is flowing from your hands; the Gaṇeśha is active in you, but it should never give you the ego or the sternness or the heaviness of the sea but it should give you the beauty of the Mother Earth.

Mother Earth is always bigger than the sea because She has to contain the sea. Sea can never be bigger than the Mother Earth.

Sometimes it looks, sea, bigger but sea is contained in the Mother Earth. It cannot go beyond.

So the Mother Earth is always greater, bigger, wider than the sea.

So one has to understand that when Kuṇḍalinī has risen, you have become all of the seven Chakras and not only the Guru Chakra and when you have become the Guru Chakra it is also bounded on all sides by the Mother Earth.

Under these circumstances, when we are so capable, we are giving realisation to so many people when we are achieving so many things. If we could just become humble, congenial, beautiful, we can master the whole world but I find in the style of Sahaja Yogis, especially in the West and westernized Indians, there is so much of ego still expressed in their talks, in their behaviour. They are not capable of it, to see I think sometimes; but better see it. First you may have to act as sweetly, maybe, but you must learn that way. If you do not understand that all your leadership, all your Guru Tattwa depends entirely on the loving capacity of your Mother, Her patience. I get angry but perhaps once in a ten years or twelve years, something like that, seldom. That's better, then the anger has some meaning but all the time if you are in a temper or you try to show off or if you have so much of ego that you go on asserting on wrong things, then you cannot be effective. Another thing I've seen that ego has no discretion, ego has no discretion of any kind. If you are egoistical first thing you lose is discretion, then what's the use of having this nonsense of a ego which doesn't give you discretion? And people who have greater ego always then assert and you have to agree to that. You are more impressed by the people who have greater ego than yours and you like the people who are without any ego so you can oppress on them, but the discretion part is very poor.

That you can see, the other day one Guru had, or the one gentleman, had come and he was given some mantra by his Guru, but he can't hear anything against his Guru. Why? Because his ego has chosen that Guru; because the ego has chosen how can the ego be wrong? And ego is always wrong, invariably wrong.

Everything is upside down with the ego-orientation. Gradually you will learn that in the West people lack common sense completely, they lack common sense in everything. I mean if they had common sense there would have been much less problems, but common sense is lacking and also I find the same thing in Sahaja Yogis. They lack common sense. You have to become so wise that common sense should be your nature but common sense we lack.

Like today, today I was discussing about say, the labor problems, which is a very general problem, which is a very general problem. You have a labor problem. For example you have unemployment. Now the whole system that is built in here and we too have adopted some of it but not to that extent, of working hours, is very absurd. For example, supposing you get up at four. I mean that's very big supposition, of course, but supposing we get up at four and we take our bath. Morning time is very peaceful, we can meditate, we can do what we like. Then we finish all the other work we have to do, get yourself ready, have yourself ready, have your breakfast or tea or whatever you want to have.

Then by eight o'clock you are ready for work. Supposing you go at eight o'clock for your work.

So you can work from eight up to one o'clock very easily, very easily, no problem. Then one o'clock you come back home, have your lunch and have a siesta. If you can have siesta for about two hours till three, four o'clock, by five o'clock you again go to work. Then you can work from five to eleven without feeling tired at all, after eleven you might be.

So you put in much more work, much less sleep and you keep fresh and young but it is, requires, common sense.

Now the, how unemployment can be solved; some people can work in the morning, some can work in the evening. Now those who are working in the morning, the ladies could be in the house, men could be outside. Then the men come out in the evening; they can do the household work. Ladies can do in their house or when they are in the house, men can do creative work like making statutes, hand work, hand-made things.

So everybody gets employment; they became more creative, much happier people and so easy to solve the problem. But there is unemployment; because of unemployment there are so many problems. Very easy to solve the problem of unemployment, you don't give any social security or anything.

You give them their pay and let them work for shorter time.

If you make them create things and sell them, they'll have more money or they can have nice things around them. Otherwise you can have horrid things like that.

So you can have lots of things which are hand-made, plus machine-made things, whatever you want to have. There should be a balance. With common sense we should know how far to go, how far to have balance. Like machine goes on like mad, we cannot control machines because we think we get money, we do not. After some time machines have to stop.

So you have to go up to, this, I'm trying to put the Guru Tattwa into the Mother Earth, that's practical.

So common sense should be applied and that can only come when there is no ego. It's ego that cannot be common sense “Because I like it, I do it." But this `I' is the ego who is blind, who is indiscreet, who is stupid.

So ultimately we do stupid things. There should be common sense, which one can learn by getting rid of this ego. Now people say “Mother, how to get rid of ego?" It's very simple, you have to move left to the right 108 times, in Sahaja Yoga. You have to forgive people, in Sahaja Yoga. And you can watch yourself. First of all see, do you watch others or you watch yourself? First of all. Like there was a lady travelling with Me, very old lady and she said “This man is handsome, this man is not handsome, this woman is good looking, she is pretty" that way. I was just looking at her. I said “This mad woman, she will go really crazy by the time we get down. She goes on looking into every person, judging everyone, who is handsome, who is not." And everybody whom she called handsome I found him ugly.

So I gave up. I said “You better decide, I never tried these things." Then “That man is not good, he is very hot tempered, he is this thing, he is that, he talks like that, he walks like that, he shouldn't do, look, like that" worried about other people. You tell them anything, they'll go on shaking their neck like that, "Oh, how could you do it?" But you do it yourselves. If you have to say yes, then you do it ten times, yes, yes, yes, yes.

If you have to say no, they'll go on. There is no common sense. Why to move your neck so many times.

If somebody is saying that you need not react all the time.

So this is another thing, internal reaction. First is external, seeing everyone, judging everyone, "Oh, I don't like this station; this is too much dusty, this bathroom is not good, that room is not good, that thing is not good" like that, as if you are the Queen of England. Even that could be even more than that because she is not even allowed to choose her dress; Parliament has to decide. Poor thing cannot have any ego at all, poor thing. She has to choose what dress she has to wear for a particular occasion; if the Parliament says yes, she wears. If she says no, no, big problem, for them. But for us, who are free people, we must have common sense to understand what to do, where to do, what to talk, how to talk, but when there is ego, you cannot have common sense.

And this is the reason I think the Western people have become so stupid in so many things. Whatever I see, I see it upside down. Indians, we may be poor people, in the villages, they are not so educated. You are all very well educated people, everything is there but all has come out of ego, so the common sense is lacking.

So those who deal with the Mother Earth, like farmers are, have tremendous common sense.

Now in Holland I used to think people will have a lot of common sense because they are farmers you see.

When I had come in '65, they are better off, much better, not so nonsensical. They were well dressed, nice, sensible, solid people. Of course I met quite elderly people also, I should say, but I was surprised that in the market you could not get a transistor made in Holland, could not get anything made in Holland.

So I said “How is it you don't make anything, machines?" You said “Why should we? For our twenty five bulbs of tulips, in those days, we get one transistor from Japan, so why should we make a transistor?" Common sense. “We sent from here twenty-five bulbs" and they had fields and fields of all kinds of tulips, all over, I mean when I came here.

So they said “For twenty-five bulbs we get one transistor so why should we. We export our bulbs to them and get their transistors. Why should we make transistors?" Then they said “We export our cheese to a particular country, our eggs to Italy, our chicken to this country and we get all that we need." I was amazed you see, they are so, so proud of their agriculture and so much doing like that way, which was a very sensible thing and because they were dealing with the land I thought I'll find Holland people to be the best but then I got reports that people are absolutely gone off their heads. They have become like bullocks now, working with the land they have become like bullocks who plough the land, you see. I was surprised “How have they become like bulls?" They were very sensible people, very sensible, farmers sensibly dealing with things and working out things in such a beautiful manner; very innocent and simple people and naive, up to a point of sweetness, very sweet.

When we came here they wanted to please us so they wanted to put a flag for us, of our country and they put Pakistan flag in front of us.

So I was very happy to see that and they were talking vegetarianism, but when we came My daughter had suddenly become vegetarian because she had developed a funny nausea in the, in the ship, you see. So she was not eating any meat or anything.

So she said “I am vegetarian." So they said “Alright, then will you have chicken?" They were that simple you know, very simple and now they are talking about vegetarianism. I am surprised. Since '65 and '85 only, these twenty years, how much they have changed. Very nice and they were, not busy doing all these exercises and reducing weight or increasing weight and jogging on the road. Just now, yesterday, I was walking, everybody was jogging like mad, very funny, but they have lost their common sense because perhaps they do not come in contact with Mother Earth, they are using machines too much. Maybe that is one of the reasons and must be the air from other outside countries coming and they think `they are rustic,' so they must accept that is all that is modern, sophisticated, perhaps.

There is a story about a farmer who was travelling by train and there were some naughty boys who came from the city so they wanted to pull the legs of the farmer.

So one of the boys asked him that “If the eggs are selling here in this station for 20p and in the next station the chicken is selling for one pound, what is my age?" Just to tease him.

So immediately the fellow says “You must be 22." He said “How do you know exactly I am 22?" He said “Because my brother, my brother who is full mad, is 44." You see, they are so practical. You know, you see, as they call it in America, as `brass tacks', you see they know what is it. He looked at him and said “22"; “How? Why?" “My brother, who is 44, is full mad." And these boys didn't know where to look you see, because they wanted to tease him. And the farmers have great sense. Like we had one minister who had developed a bad neck, you see, [UNCLEAR] in Viśhuddhi. He was Chief Minister. He used to go on like this, his head used to go like this.

So some farmers came to see, saw him and they looked at him. They said “He's saying no already, what's the use of telling him anything?" We have lots of stories of farmers in India which shows how much they understand life.

I had a very nice gardener, he was from a village.

So there was one fellow, old fellow, another gardener.

He said “No use talking to this old fellow." I said “Why?" He said “If he is a Hindu, then an old man is a gone case." I said “Why?" “Because in young age they live like ascetics and in old age they become like bhoots, but if he is a Muslim, they don't live like ascetics in young age. They enjoy life and in old age they are satisfied souls.

So you better talk to a Muslim old man than to an Hindu old man." I mean the reading is so correct about things, you know. Everything that he said was so practical and so sensible. I was really surprised how he could say these things with such sweetness and with such goodness and how he understood so many things so well. And he was a very young fellow; about I would say thirty to thirty two years of age.

So he came to Bombay [Mumbai] to see us. He didn't know our full address, he only knew Marine Drive so he told the fellow, his taxi fellow, “You drive me at Marine Drive." He said “Marine Drive is a big place." He said “You drive me anywhere in Marine Drive” so he drove.

So he went and asked “Is there a very tall gentleman staying in Marine Drive somewhere?" And you see, My husband is one of the tallest in Indians, you see.

So he went to the servants, asked “Have you seen any tall Sahib anywhere?" He said “Just one tall is staying there, you see." So that's how he came to our house. And he showed them his shoes, “This shoe is given to me by my Sahib, he is also very tall, you see." So he said “This shoe he has given me and he wears the same style of shoes." So servants notice all these things, they are very practical people.

So another gardener who met him, he said “Yes, there's a tall fellow and he wears the same type of shoes." And so he came to our house.

How they are sharp and how their eyes are so penetrating, how they know everything about everything.

It is remarkable, very remarkable and that is what we have to be. We have to be Gurus with the Mother's influence on us, all the time the Mother controlling us, the Mother guiding us, the Mother making our [UNCLEAR bans], the Mother making our Maryādās.

So the Motherliness is your blessing. Today you are raising your Kuṇḍalinī because your Guru is a Mother; otherwise you could never have done and that is why Motherliness is so important. One of the reasons, perhaps, why the Sahaja Yogis run away from the leaders and sometimes from the people who want to have follow-on, maybe, that we do not know that they are just entering in, just opening out.

So try to be kind, just hatching, the little chicks, you see, will die very fast. You have to handle them very, very carefully. I am saying this after so many years of not saying this and I am requesting all of you, try to develop. Sit before the mirror and try to act like a Mother. Better see, practice it, try to be nice, kindly, gentle, patient. If you want to spread Sahaja Yoga in the West we have to do that, not in Maharashtra, Maharashtra's mothers are quite strict and they are straightforward and children are used to it. You might find that I will say “My Mother was a very strict lady but I think I like her very much because she taught Me so many things; all My sisters are expert cooks; we are very good in the life; we are doing so well in life; we don't trouble anyone." All these things have come from our Mother. She was a strict lady as she would not tolerate any nonsense. She would never tell a lie herself and if you tell her “Alright, if this gentleman is coming, you tell that I am not in the house” “Don't tell me to tell lies; I'll tell him that you told me to tell the lie." That's how she was and that's how she treated us and we lived with that but we didn't mind it because what she did was for our good. We knew that she was doing it for our good. Not in this country, people don't understand this fact. They have ego, they never understand that this is for your good. They will always understand this is aggressiveness because they themselves are aggressed or they are aggressive. If they are aggressed, they are even worse.

So try to understand what is the situation in this country. I have adjusted Myself; you also should adjust yourself here to the way it is and that's how I should not hear any more any complaints about, now, again the Guru Tattwa has to go inside the Mother Tattwa.

So next time I will not have any complaints but they should all say “Oh, Mother, what a nice man, he's so kind, very gentle, so very sweet." It doesn't take at all, anything, to be that. Now in this good atmosphere when the nature is so abundant and the sun also is hiding its own sharpness, where everything is so beautiful, we should decide that we will behave in a manner that will behoove our Mother and not fight, not quarrel, not say things.

Like somebody in the train now, supposing going, will go and quarrel with the ticket collector. “This is my seat, that is mine." Sahaja Yogi does not do that. Sahaj, “Alright you want, alright, I'll sit here.

Alright, whatever is legal, I'll do that, whatever is proper, I'll do. You want, alright, doesn't matter, you don't allow, alright." Immediately the person melts away. But if you “No, this is my seat. I have booked it, this, that." And then your Mother plays tricks there, on top of that.

So ultimately you find that the seat was not yours and you are looking very upset about it, how a Sahaja Yogi is insulted.

So that is how it is going to work out in this beautiful manner if we understand the beauty of sweetness and beauty of your Mother Earth, how She beautifully creates everything and even She is so sweet, I tell you that if you are sleeping under a coconut tree. Can you imagine now? A coconut is so big, if it falls on anybody's head, finished; stomach, also, terrible. It can break your bones but it will never fall on any human being or any animals. Can you believe it? It's a fact. That is the [UNCLEAR ritambhara]. That is the quality of the Mother Earth. It never falls on any human being or animal. How does She manage that? And you have seen how the flowers also form, you'll never see the flowers growing, how the Mother does that; otherwise we'll have problems, you see. Suddenly, you'll see a flower [UNCLEAR].

So She, slowly, She does it and suddenly, oh! She makes the leaves so beautifully arranged that they all get the sun. How She manages! Then She creates a beautiful shade for you, the colour scheme, everything so beautiful and then how She nourishes that because all the leaves drop down and they give nitrogen again to the Mother Earth and then She again nourishes them. But the leaves have to fall down if the Sun has to come to the Mother Earth. It is all Her doing but She does it so beautifully that we are not even aware of what She is doing to us. We don't know. If you notice it, the one thing about the Mother Earth, beauty that She creates and how sweetly She does it, you would say that even one billionth of that, if we have, we could be somewhere, already, ruling, in the Kingdom of heaven, is what it is.

So as you have got your Kuṇḍalinī, you must develop that sweetness in you, in such a manner that people see you and think you are great Mothers, but as you know in the West the mothers are so horrible, the women are so dominating that people do not have a proper image of a mother also. Women are extremely dominating. Women must learn to dominate, it's so easy, a bull can dominate anyone but can they be like Mother Earth which can bear up all kinds of troubles, all kinds of problems, can we do that way? Especially that's why I request women of this country to develop those beautiful qualities and not of domination. Domination, it doesn't behoove a woman, it doesn't look nice on her. It's like a bull, she is wearing as a diamond piece around her neck, it's not beautifying.

So we must give up that idea of dominating or trying to oppress the husband. He says something, we say “no" to children, we say “no", to everyone we try to dominate. That's not our character.

Even, I think Roosevelt once said that, of course he must have met real Indian women, that an Indian woman she is like a magnolia in an Indian forest. Of course, here the magnolias are useless but in Indian forest, even one flower in the forest, it is hidden, you can't see it, but you can smell it. The whole forest is fragrant, you can't see it anywhere, it is one flower, you can know this magnolia and this is the greatest quality because love is the most attractive thing in the world. Why do you hang around Me? Because My vibrations, My photograph has got. No. You feel that you are loved, that I love you. It's a very great quality but I have that innate within Me, I don't have to have it from anywhere and you, too, have it.

Just expose it and manifest it.

May God bless you.

So today we should do actually the Pūjās of the Bhūmi, would be a better idea. We'll do the Gaṇeśha's Pūjās and then you worship Me as the Mother Earth, as the Ṛitambhara Pragñyā, which we have not done so far in the Holy land, alright. And we have to thank all these Sahaja Yogis who are so few here who have arranged all this and have done such good work.

Our compassion has to flow to others. It's a simple business. In this respect one has to understand that the source cannot flow unless and until it expands the flow of it, like the River Thames. We went to see the place from where it starts. It is a small, little stream from seven streams... little, little, very little, little we can say trickling down... it has become the River Thames. Supposing it does not widen, that will stop at the beginning only. It cannot come out, it cannot flow. It is not because it is angry or upset, or anything like that, but because of the nature of its flow only, it cannot flow, what to do? So that is what it is, that one has to give compassion to others. It should not be formal compassion, or the affected one, but it should be a natural one, very natural, spontaneous feeling from within. It is not an expression of your ego, superego or over sentimentality, but is a kind of an understanding that he is a Sahaja Yogi, you are a Sahaja Yogi, you are brothers. Not the way brothers have been, but a different type of brothers who are spiritual brothers. You are spiritual people.

Contents: 1985-08-04 Śhrī Gaṇeśha Pūjā, The Importance of Chastity, Brighton, UK

Today we have gathered here on the right occasion and very auspicious day to worship Śhrī Gaṇeśha. Śhrī Gaṇeśha is the first Deity that was created so that the whole Universe is filled with auspiciousness, with peace, bliss and spirituality. He is the source. He's the source of spirituality. As a result of that all other things follow. Like when it rains and is windy you feel a coolness in the atmosphere. In the same way when Śhrī Gaṇeśha emits His Power we feel all these three things within and without. But it has been so unfortunate, specially in the West, that the most important fundamental Deity has been completely not only neglected, but insulted and crucified.

So today though I did not want to say anything to upset you people, but I must tell you that worshiping Śhrī Gaṇeśha means there has to be a thorough cleansing within you. When you worship Śhrī Gaṇeśha keep your mind clean, keep your heart clean, keep your being clean, no thoughts of lust and greed should come up. Actually when the Kuṇḍalinī rises Gaṇeśha had to be awakened within us, the innocence has to come up, which obliterates all such degrading ideas within us. If ascent has to be achieved, we have to understand that we have to mature.

People are sick now. All over the Western life one feels they are sick. Sick because they have never recognized Śhrī Gaṇeśha. If one Freud came that doesn't mean that you should accept him. But you did, as if it was such an important thing to be done; there was nothing more important than that.

So today we are faced with our power of ascent and the power of conditionings we have had. When Freud talks of conditioning he didn't know he was putting another type of horrid conditionings on you, terrible.

Sex is not important for human beings at all, is not at all important. It is only when you want to have children actually a human being who is of the highest level will indulge into a sex. The lure, the romance, this nonsense and all that doesn't exist in a pure mind; it's all a human creation. And this servility one has to that is so much surprising, it comes from a very low grading within us. It comes from the low-graded human beings that one becomes servile to it. You should be the master of that. And today when I see around Myself, in the West, which is also part and parcel of the same creation, so much of sickness that has come, I am really aghast, how to turn your attention now to the maturity of sex.

When the sex matures you become a father, a mother and a pure personality. When you hear about a ninety-year old woman marrying a nineteen-year old boy, I mean, you just don't understand, this is, what sort of a society it has been created in this world, this kind of a stupid behaviour? We have to mature ourselves. That doesn't mean I'm saying austerity at young age, that doesn't mean that. Another absurdity is that. But of course you must mature; you need a tapasya [penance] for that. Unimportant thing when become important and such unimportant thing that they're just like anything that we have, like we have hair. Even if you lose hair it means something. But if you lose sex, what's wrong with it? It's very good. Good riddance of bad rubbish. Such a waste of energy.

So much interest, so much of a precious attention, so much of auspiciousness is spent in this kind of a nonsensical thing.

So to worship Gaṇeśha one has to understand we have to mature. Maturity has to come within us. We have to go deeper within ourselves; our attention has to go deeper within ourselves, spontaneously. How do we achieve the depth if we are still like worms? Otherwise it's a great sort of a sacrifice or a pressure on people. These tags and these pressures have been very costly for you people, very costly. You have paid through so much; you have gone through so much. For what? So the priorities have to change if Śhrī Gaṇeśha is to be worshipped. What are we worshipping today is the innocence within us. We are worshipping that is auspicious, which is innocent. Innocence, which is deep down within us, that's our character, that's our nature, that's what we are born with, is the basic of this whole Creation; is the essence of this Creation.

So when matter becomes active, all right, reproduction starts, animal stage comes in, then comes the stage of human beings who are primitive, then comes the stage where human beings are developed. Not the way what we understand of the developed world, horrible. I'll never call them developed by any chance at all. What is development is not outside. What is the within development one has to see. What have we grown inside? What have we got inside ourselves? Anything that gross, big, is plastic, of that kind.

The one which hasn't got any inner power grown, say, for example, I give you a mango.

I said, “All right, now you eat it." And you see it just has the cover and nothing inside it, what will you eat? Will you eat that plastic? Anything that grown like that is plastic, is dead. What is the substance inside, let's see. What is our substance within ourselves? This is what Christ preached, morality point.

So important for Him it was. Because after Dharma, which was a balance, where of course morality is very important, but it was necessary for Christ to talk of the innate, deeper morality, which is a part and parcel of a being, it is not just taught, or told, or frightened because there's a fear of God and wrath of God. But it should be your own innate light, that's why Christ talked about it. And the same Christ was used to demolish innocence.

And I would not say that people were not warned. Freud was not the only person who was born. The other day I went to Prado in Spain and I saw paintings after paintings of the hell. And all these modern times we see those lanky pankies going around without clothes, sort of people were shown with all kind of funny things, stupid things they were doing. This was Bosch. I was surprised, a German, Bosch, who showed all this nonsense there, very clearly, way to hell, then the attack of the death, all these things. I mean he was quite a recent person. If you call Blake as a madcap, so what about Bosch? Everybody's a madcap, except for the stupid useless people.

So much warning has come for us. For example, we can say, since long we know about hell. Mahāvīra of all the persons wrote so clearly about hell. This is hell.

But in the West the priorities are absolutely upside down. What is your power? Just think of it. Think within yourself. Is it mental power that's important? I have told you mental power has nothing to do, because it is just linear, it moves in one direction, falls off, comes back to you. It has no substance in it. It's just a mind projection, plastic. What is your emotional power? Emotions that you have takes you where? See you have emotions for, even good emotions you have. Say, you love your wife very much.

Where does it take you? There was a poet called Tulsidasa who loved his wife very much and she had gone to her mother's place.

So he couldn't bear it and went to see her and he climbed over to her balcony and she got a fright.

She said, “How did you climb?" He said, “You had put a rope there." She said, “No." And they saw it was a big snake hanging.

So she said, “The amount of love you have for me, if you have that for God, where will you be?" So where does these emotions take you, to frustration, to unhappiness, to our destruction. The mental power gives you a horrible thing called ego, which destroys others. And the emotional power gives you nothing but crying, weeping and always feeling unhappy, “Oh, I have done so much of emotional investment on such and such person and what did I get?" So it is not absolute, it's relative. And mentally you are zero if you cannot destroy others. Emotionally you are zero because you cannot overpower people with your emotions.

So what is your power? Where does your power lie? It lies in the Spirit. But even before the Spirit is achieved, what is your power? Is Kuṇḍalinī? She's sleeping. Then what is your power? Is your chastity. If a man is chaste, chaste temperament he has and he stands up in his chastity, it acts, it works.

But first of all chastity pays dividend in your good health. From the face of a person you can say that this person is a chaste man. Like in our Shāstras used to say a Saint or a Brahmachari, the one who has never had sex in life, always shining on his face. And as we say that the greatest Brahmachari was Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa who has so many wives. Because no wastage of energy, no wastage of attention is on that.

So the whole energy is inside. I will say today as I was coming by car it was raining, it was windy, it was very cold, but we were in the car, nothing affected us, because we were quite warm inside the car, ourselves.

We passed through everything, nothing touched us, nothing bothered us, we came away, everything fine.

How? Because we kept to our own vehicle and the vehicle we have is our chastity.

We are so particular that others must respect us, other must give us homage, otherwise we get into tempers. Did you respect yourself? Do you respect yourself? It sounds sometimes to people in the West that Mother is trying to preach about Indian culture. Many people think that way. But I say that one has to learn science from the West. All right. One has to learn other things from the West, aesthetics, of course. Paintings and art, maybe, colour schemes. But culture you better learn from Indians. There's dearth of culture, no culture at all, I find. What is this culture where a woman is supposed to expose her body? Is a prostitute's culture, simple as that. Face it up. Where a woman is not supposed to respect her private parts is no culture whatsoever in the aesthetics of the Divine.

So much so today that they are making a film showing Mary to be a prostitute. I mean, this is where you have ended up. In India even if you say this they'll beat you nicely, anyone, whether Muslim, Hindu, Christian. I mean, shocking to hear that the way they talk about Christ. I mean, to an Indian it gives a shock. How can you talk because once you give up your chastity you can not understand that there can be someone who is absolutely chaste.

For a thief everybody is a thief. Because you don't have that respect for your chastity you can not imagine what Christ could have been. You can not imagine, you can not accept. Unbearable things are said about Christ. I tell you, unbearable, I don't know. I've faced His crucifixion, which was unbearable as it was. But this kind of a thing you say about somebody; to an Indian woman if you pass such a remark, to an Indian ordinary woman, she would commit suicide. Is never said that anybody comes and says, `You [are] looking very beautiful.' It's all right, you can say to your mother, `You're looking nice,' is all right, that's different. But you don't say to any woman like that. You have to turn yourself out. And this is one of the reasons why people are very hot-tempered.

The magnet within you is Śhrī Gaṇeśha. Many people know that I have a great sense of direction.

That comes through this magnet which is perfect. This magnet is the one which keeps you sticking or adjusted or all the time pointed towards Spirit. If you don't have the sense of chastity you will dangle this way, that way. Suddenly you become a very good Sahaja Yogi, tomorrow you become a devil, because there's nothing that keeps you binding to the great idea of the Spirit. Let us face it up. Now the time has come for all of us, all the Sahaja Yogis, that the greatest thing within us is not sex, but is chastity. And that's what will mature you.

It's very amazing how some people were behaving in Bordi, I came to know about it, I was amazed, how could they behave like this before the villagers of Bordi, who are innocent, simple people? But the best part of it that when you indulge into frivolous and nonsensical behaviour, insulting your chastity, you really lag in the action of it. Like, if you fritter away your petrol, your car can't move, it's like that, something happens to you. All the time you go on pinching people and frivolously talking to each other and to, what is the need to do all these, I just don't understand. And then end up in the divorce case.

Once I had gone to a Selfridges, I must tell you a very interesting story. And in such a crowd there were two people, man and woman, kissing each other all the time, least bothered there are other people who are also going on the same escalator. Escalator they were kissing, in the thing they were kissing, I mean, torturing all the Indians who were there or maybe the other people, Chinese, for example, Egyptians. Such an exhibition going on. And I saw them next time. They were not kissing. I said, “What happened?" “We are divorced." I said, “Why were you kissing that day so much?" So they said, “Because we were going to be divorced, so wanted to have the last bit of it." What a level it is. Imagine what a level. What love, what feeling you have for anyone, nothing of the kind. All the time quarreling with each other, ending up in the divorce cases and showing off all this. Any deep personality doesn't show these things outside. Of course, I'm told here that here in the public school it is said that you should never show your emotions outside. But otherwise you can show anything else, ridiculous or shameless. But not your emotions. What an absurd place it is. You have accepted all these values just like sheep, without thinking about it.

Like I was in France, one girl came and she was crying. She said, “I will, horrid, horrid, I will never go to these psychologists." So I said, “Why?" “They were saying dirty things about my father." Imagine. And people accepted those ideas of this horrible Freud. Is basically wrong. Whether it is historically they are, or whatever it is, you better give it up. Whatever wrong is wrong, in the Divine.

But there's a real objection now, that people when they go abroad, husband and wife and this and that, they kiss each other and tease each other. What is the need? You kiss the person and come and tell Me against that person, I've seen it. If there has to be some self-preservation, this has to be your chastity, your privacy. That's why you have no willpower to do anything, no willpower. Let some stupid fellow come and tell you something, you'll say, “All right. We accept." What is the essence of your personality, is your chastity. And in Sahaja Yoga you can re-establish everything whatever you have lost, you can.

That's why the depth is lacking. And this is the reason there is no consistency in the temperament of people, no consistency. Now you'll get twelve hundred people for My lecture and next day not even one, all lost. Because there's no base, you know. Like a loose connection. There's no connection, connection point is your chastity.

So there is no consistency, `sthāpayati' [nature of being established] is not there. If you tell them, `You have to get up in the morning, have a bath, do some Pūjā,' it's too much for them. But if you tell, say an Indian ladies or Me, if you say that `that you wear such and such dress,' I just can't, I just can't, no, not possible. Is not possible. I can keep the whole night awake, but that thing I can not do, just cannot do it.

So the priorities are changed because where is your attention. You have everything within you. You are the storehouse of chastity, which is your power. Everything within you, nothing has gone out, it's all there. All that fragrance is within you. Is all preserved, don't condemn yourself. And you are so fortunate I'm here to tell you all about it. You are so fortunate I am with you. Do you understand that point? You don't have to go to Himālayas; you don't have to stand on your heads. You don't have to do anything like that. You see, formerly these saints used to sit, you know, you won't believe, in the cold frozen water or on the Himālayas in the open they used to sit for hours together to freeze their nonsensical ideas. Now that's not necessary. It's all made very easy. But change your priorities now. The whole attention once goes to your own Spirit you'll be surprised the whole chart will change.

What's the most important thing? To meditate every day. I have seen people who want to do some course, say, for example, I told that “You better do some course." Every day they will go for that course and join that class and they will work it out and they'll pass that course and do it up and finish it. But meditation they cannot do regularly. But now there's a little gap you should understand, that once we get the inkling of that joy which is eternal, we start moving towards that more and more, more and more and establishing ourselves in the ocean of that joy. A little. You see, when somebody wants you to swim, you are frightened, you don't want to do it, you are very happy on the gross shore, you don't want to swim.

Somebody pushes you, again you are back, “No, Baba, I can not do it." But once you learn to swim you enjoy that swimming. And when you like it then you want to do it every day, regularly, religiously.

So there's a little gap, which has to be achieved.

Second point is that as I've been always saying, you are lotuses, but under a mire. And you know what mire is, while India is the ocean, so it's very easy for the lotuses to come out of the water. But to come out of the mire is very difficult. Say, somebody falls in the mire. If you kick it, you go deeper. If you try to do anything you go deeper. Best thing is to keep watching it and still. And that's the best way, is to witness yourself. But your attention is not all right, how will you witness? Attention is: somebody's going that side, that person you'll see. Another person going that, that person you'll see, must see every person. But you don't see the flowers, you don't see the trees, you don't see the Mother Earth, you don't see anything. What you see is something hopelessly bad, worse than you.

Today is the day they say one should not see the moon. If you see the moon it becomes inauspicious and you get a bad name. They say Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa saw the moon and then He got a bad name; He was ranchordas [Indian], means He had to run away from the battlefield. But that was His trick, He had to run away.

So you are not supposed to see the moon. The reason is, why it is said, that today we have to see Śhrī Gaṇeśh, who is the Mother Earth, who acts through Mother Earth. Most of the things that we have are from the Mother Earth.

So this time you must see the Mother Earth, the Kuṇḍalinī and Śhrī Gaṇeśh, today. The Mother Earth has created Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

So you don't see anything outside, you don't even see the moon. Just see the Mother Earth. Because the Mother Earth in Her love and compassion has done so much for us, your Kuṇḍalinī has done so much for you. And Her Son, Who is the innocence within us, is to be worshipped today because He has done the maximum. Despite all the insults we have put on Him, all the ridicule, all the filth, all kinds of nonsense, still He stands up like a little child to amuse us.

If Śhrī Gaṇeśha is within you become like a child, childlike innocence, you don't get angry with somebody like a dog barks; there are some Sahaja Yogis I know who all the time barking, just like dogs or beggars in India. But you become like a child who is very sweet, who always tries to amuse you, always tries to say nice things, always tries to make you feel happy. The source of such joy. And that's how you become a source of joy, source of happiness, source of fulfilment. All the time bubbling with laughter and happiness, bubbling with beautiful things. How the children amuse you, just see and watch. How they come round with little-little hands, how they work it out. How they know what is the right thing. A child who is a realised Soul is much more sensible than a grown up person, I've seen that.

Like My youngest granddaughter was about, I think, three years of age and the maid was folding My sarī and by mistake she put it on the ground. This child just couldn't bear it. She just lifted the sarī, put it to her head and put it on the sofa. She said, “What you mean by putting this sarī on the ground, what you do know about my Grandmother? She is the Goddess of Goddesses and you put Her sarī on the ground. The dogs are going to bite you now” she said, “be careful." And she again went and put the sarī, kissed it and kissed it and said, “Mother, forgive her, Grandmother, please, forgive this woman, she doesn't know what she's done to You." But that sensitivity comes from the depth of your chastity. You listen to the children and you'll be amazed how they talk and what they say, how they behave, how they try to amuse you. I mean, in the West children are very much spoiled, I must say, they do not amuse you so much, they trouble you quite a lot. Because again, again the same thing. If the father and mother don't have chastity, the children don't feel all right, they don't feel peaceful, they'll become restless and then they develop the same restlessness within themselves. A chaste man can never get possessed, take it from Me, can never get possessed. You might be very intelligent, you might be anything, you might be a great writer, but you can get possessed.

But a chaste man, an ordinary chaste person can never get possessed. Bhūts are afraid of chaste people.

If one chaste person is going on the road, all the bhoots run away. They just run away. At least I've known many cases but some of them I can tell you, that there were three of them, who used to go by motorcycle in the night about twelve o'clock on a road. And some people who were possessed wrote letters to Me, saying that “Please don't allow them to go there in the night, because where should we go and stay?" I was amazed. These are the people who were possessed by some sort of horrible bhoots who used to go and rest on these trees in the night where these three persons used to go on the motorcycle and they actually wrote letters to Me. Very possessed people, I knew them, saying that, “Ask them not to go that way, because where are we to live?" And they were like mad, mad people themselves. I said, “Why did you write like this?" They said, “These people go that way and they trouble us." And the negative within us disappears with the light of Śhrī Gaṇeśha. You can see it so clearly in another person. If you don't have chastity you can never see who is unchaste or chaste, you can not.

Everybody just the same, “Very good, very good, very nice person, very nice person." I mean real possessed people are certified as `very good people', in Sahaja Yoga also sometimes and I start wondering, “What's happening, what is it? How is it these people are certified as that? Can't they feel it?" There's no light.

Even if you get your Realisation, even if your Spirit is working out your collective consciousness, even if you are giving Self-realisation to others, you are nowhere if you have no chastity. That's like a broken glass which is trying to reflect something; it can never give the right picture.

It's so important. And I have to tell you this now. The time has come for Me to tell you, this is the snag in our life. First thing people will ask, “Whom I'm going to marry?" What is such a hurry? Of course, marriage I call it an auspicious thing, marriage should be there, there should be a collective sanction, everything, but for what? To adore the chastity within us. Then they are married, then they have children. Then they want to have a house, then they want to have this. There's whole such an insular business goes on and on and on and the light of your life doesn't spread. But I've known people who were just in the hell and have come out and have spread light, beautiful meteoric heights they have achieved. I've seen people like that.

So today you have come to worship Śhrī Gaṇeśha, within yourself. What is Me to worship as Gaṇeśha I don't understand. Because I'm That. When you are worshiping Me you want to have that Śhrī Gaṇeśh within you awakened. Let that be awakened within you. Let what I say becomes the mantra to awaken that within you, so that as My children you enjoy the bliss of chastity as I have enjoyed all My human life and all My Divine lives. You enjoy the same quantity, that's what I want. At least you should have the taste of it.

I'm telling you about something which you may not have heard before. But you never heard about Kuṇḍalinī also. You had never heard about Self-realisation like this. But today I think by chance, absolutely in a Sahaja way, this Pūjā was arranged. I was to have this Pūjā in Bombay [Mumbai]. It was all organized; people were all willing to come there to do this Pūjā. I mean, a Gaṇeśha Pūjā in England or in the West is so important that I thought better have it one, without the right time in Rome, which is one of the basic things which has ruined the chastity of human beings. Romans started it and others carried on. But it was to be here in Brighton at the Lotus Feet of Sadāśhiva. But the English must know that they have got such a golden land and they don't deserve it. They have to deserve it.

Imagine, you are living in the land of Sadāśhiva where even water beads also the snow, means like distilled water, clean, clear, white. Where Śhrī Gaṇeśha is the One Who washes the feet of His Father.

Where the chastity itself resides as your Mother. And you have to deserve that coveted position. English Sahaja Yogis have to come up very much. Just the opposite English were. Coming from Sadāśhiva's land just the opposite. Tremendous arrogance, arrogance so horrible, which one can not think in Shiva's place.

All unchaste people are arrogant. Otherwise, how can they forgive themselves? You talk to any prostitute, in two minutes you'll find out she's a prostitute because she's extremely arrogant, “What's wrong? I'm a prostitute, so what?" Arrogance is a sign of unchaste personality. And such a person also becomes insular because he's ashamed, ashamed to face others. But a chaste personality is open, why should he be afraid of anyone? Talks to everyone nicely, kind to everyone in all innocence and simplicity without falling in love in every third person you come across. And that, one has to realise that this country is given to you with a purpose and if you do not come up to that level, you'll be thrown away.

So respecting your chastity is real respecting Me, because I reside within you as chastity. If Śhrī Gaṇeśha is the auspiciousness, I reside within you as chastity. Chastity is never aggressive, is never harsh, because there's no need, you know. No need, you are so powerful, you are so powerful, that there is no need to aggress anyone. Why should you aggress, you are not frightened of anyone. It's so generous, it's so kind, it's so beautiful, always fresh and young, yet so sublime and so dignified.

Now twelve years have passed since I've been here. Two more years, very intense work is needed, within and without. Within we have to work very hard for these two years, very hard, real tapasya we have to go into, all of us, whether men or women. And then we'll see.

[MISSING 37 seconds.] I can say that, we have done good job, with little jump, courage and faith we can achieve a lot. Have faith in yourself. Not mental faith but actual chastity is faith. Chastity is the consolidation of your faith.

When you have faith in God, you are chaste. When you have faith in yourself you are chaste. You have faith in your wife, you are chaste. Why should you have faith in your wife? Because you are a chaste person, how can she be unchaste? Your faith in your child, is chastity, because you are chaste, how can your child be anything else? Crystalline form of faith is chastity. And that you can have even before Realisation. Many have. Actually like the camphor, which, you see, is volatile and evaporates into the fragrance, in the same way we can say chastity acts into faith.

If you don't have chastity you cannot have faith, in anything. Because either you are dealing with your emotions that you are emotionally attached to Me or maybe you are mentally attached to Me. But if you have sense of chastity faith will be apparent. Within yourself you don't have to have faith, `Now Mother I will have faith within myself.' You cannot. Faith is something, which is volatile and the volatile fragrance comes from chastity.

So from today we are not going to look at the stars or the moon, [UNCLEAR] but you are going to look at the Mother Earth. In the Universe She represents the Kuṇḍalinī, is nothing but chastity. She's just chastity. Can you believe it? What a power. Motherhood, everything is chastity. Fatherhood, any relationship is chastity. Purity is again the fragrance of chastity. Goodness, compassion, everything comes from chastity, a sense of chastity, which is not mental. If you are mentally chaste, you can be horrid. Like some of the nuns are or some of those people who are austere, not that. Chastity is an innate built-in Kuṇḍalinī within you, which acts because it understands Me. She understands Me. She knows Me, She's part and parcel of Me, It's My reflection.

So make your Kuṇḍalinī strong by being chaste. People try to do things to look very attractive and this and that. Don't waste your energy like this; you are saints, live like saints. Traditionally as we live, we have to live that way and evolve out of the tradition; don't do something new, something absurd, nonsensical. We don't have to attract anyone. Chastity is the fragrance in the flower, which attracts the bees, is the honey of the flower, is the essence of our existence.

So this time you are all coming to India, I have to request you to respect Me by not misbehaving.

Not childishly behaving in the manner you see in the pictures and the films and all that nonsense. You are above all that. Attention, achievements are to be seen from the seat of your chastity. We can't leave our seats, whether we are acclaimed or not makes no difference. We can't leave our seat. Like all these Avadhūtas they'll say, takiya sodā sana, means we'll not leave our seats. We are in our seats. This is our seat, in the lotus. We can't leave the lotus. We are sitting in the lotus. That's our seat. Then all these nonsensical things that you have acquired will drop out. You'll see you'll become beautiful being.

All bhoots will run away, all catches will run away. But is not austerity, again and again I'm telling you. It is respect of your Being. As you respect Me outside, you respect Me within. As simple as that.

Today is a great day for us to be worshipping Śhrī Gaṇeśh. He is the first and the foremost to be worshipped. And when you worship Him, you must realise that you are worshipping His manifestation as well, that is of Christ. Anybody who talks cheaply about Christ, you should abhor such a person. You cannot intellectualise Christ. Anybody who does it, just have nothing to do with that person. Christ is innocence. If you don't have the depth of your chastity you can't understand Him. You cannot worship Him. That's the best they could do, is to finish your chastity so that you never recognize Him. All that comes to you through your meditative efforts. Now the effort is to be just that you have to be meditative.

That's all. Keep your meditation on. Try to be meditative. See things. What is witness state is nothing but that you are meditative.

So I have decided also that I'll meet the Brighton people here tomorrow morning and I will meet all the English people if possible day after tomorrow evening to tell them how important it is for them to achieve that state of purity. I think it's working out. I really work very hard, you have no idea how much I work hard. But this is also they said that, is an idea that people think that others should do all their work. This is like pound saving, this saving, that saving and also labour saving. Let Mother do all the job for us. Mother is looking after us. She should get up in the morning. She should do meditation. There is no saving. You can save everything else if you just know how to save your Spirit. Only your ascent is important. Once you ascend, everything is saved. But first save yourself. For that you have to put in effort. You have to work hard. You have to go deep into you, evolve yourself. You are quite capable of it. Do not blame anyone; do not blame your wife, mother, father, country anything. Everyone can work it out. Don't see other people, see yourself, `How far I have gone? What have I contributed? Let me go ahead with it.' Every one of you.

I am thankful that all the people have come from all over [UNCLEAR] England. It was right thing to do it in a way, but this country must be created of that level that it becomes pilgrimage for everybody to come here. On the contrary it should not happen that once they come to England, after that they never come to Sahaja Yoga. Could happen, could happen with the arrogance that people have may be that it might become like that, that once they come here they'll say, `No more Sahaja Yoga, had enough of it.' The other way round in India, once they go to India they stick on it. I have known some people that they came to England and the way they, some of the Sahaja Yogis behaved and some of the ashrams run, they just ran away. ` Mother nothing doing, we are not going to be in Sahaja Yoga anymore after seeing your developed Sahaja Yogis in England where you have worked for twelve years." So today we are sitting on this beautiful land of England and we have certain debts to be paid, to be born in this country and the debt is that we have to be great Sahaja Yogis. You can make out, very easily, who is a great Sahaja Yogi. When you say that, “Shut that window” you'll find most of them will be sitting looking at others. I don't say they are all English but could be. Make others work is not the way. You have to be really very dedicated. You are not of that level, believe Me you are not of that level.

Don't look at other people who are here. You are very different type of people. You are special people.

Try to be alert, respect yourself because you are English and that you have a special responsibility.

So may God bless you.

All the way he has brought the water of River Godavari which flows in the Nasik, in the river, Nasik.

You see you know that where Śhrī Rāma and Śhrī Sītā and Lakshmana all lived there in Nasik. And this river is called as the Ganges of the south. Godavari. He got the water from Godavari. See the vibrations flowing. In the country where the rivers even are mantras, their names are mantras, the whole credit goes to the Saints, to the people who lived so religiously and so much full of purity that the rivers, even if you take their names the vibration comes. See? Why not one day Thames becomes like that? Through your Puṇyas it should be. Every particle of this earth should become vibrated through your Puṇyas only.

Now we have to see that Śhrī Gaṇeśha state. The people who have to worship, we have to see who are the people who have to worship. Very difficult situation. Get the small children, that's the best. Come along. Nira. Come along. Yes, yes you both come along. Very good. Great. Below ten years. All right.

Sit down. All of them should be below ten years. Not below two but below ten. All right. Come, come, come, all of you. Come along, sit down, all of you. Sit down, very good. Very good children, must say.

Tremendous they are. Aren't they? What we are going to do is to wash Mātājī's Feet. Alright? How do we wash, she is putting water on My Feet and you just have to rub. Alright. Come along, four at the time.

Now who are the four? She will put the water, you rub, now you rub it, you rub My Foot.

[Text not on the tape: “Were it not for a mother's desire I would have stripped me of the swaddling-clothes and escaped back to space."] “And were it not for sorrow in all of you I would not have stayed to weep. “Who are you and what are you, Judas Iscariot? And why do you tempt me?" Have you in truth weighed me in the scale and found me one to lead legions of pygmies and to direct chariots of the shapeless against an enemy that encamps only in your hatred and marches nowhere but in your fear?" Means you have enemies within yourself.

“Too many are the worms that crawl about me feet and I will give them no battle. I am weary of the jest and weary of pitying the creepers who deem me coward because I will not move among their guarded walls and towers.

Pity it is that I must needs pity to the very end. Would that I could turn my steps towards a larger world where larger men dwell. But how shall I?" And then he said about the future, OK? “Your priest and your emperor would have my blood. They shall be satisfied ere I go hence. I would not change the course of the law. And I would not govern folly." It was because of the law that He was crucified.

“Let ignorance reproduce itself until it is weary of its own offspring.

Let the blind lead the blind to the pitfall.

And let the dead bury the dead till the earth be choked with its own bitter fruit.

My kingdom is not of the earth. My kingdom shall be where two or three of you shall meet in love and in wonder at the loveliness of life and in good cheer and in remembrance of me." This is collectivity. Just understand “My kingdom is not of the earth. My kingdom shall be where two or three of you shall meet in love and in wonder at the loveliness of life and in good cheer and in remembrance of me." “Then of a sudden He turned to Judas and He said, “Get you behind me, man. Your kingdoms shall never be in my kingdom." " That's Kahlil Gibran, it's tremendous.

May God Bless you All.

There are so many things written already to encourage us to be walking the right path of our spirit, we should never get desperate or discouraged, there is so much already said about it.

May God Bless you.

Contents: 1985-08-05 Śhrī Gṛuhalakṣhmī Pūjā, Brompton Square, London, UK

So, this is to thank you all for helping in building this house and making it so beautiful. All the thankfulness is from us, both of us [including Sir C.P.].

Today is a very interesting day when you are worshipping the Gṛuhalakṣhmī here. Means the Gṛuhalakṣhmī of this house. In the same way in your family also, in your houses you must do Gṛuhalakṣhmīs' Pūjā. The woman has to be the Gṛuhalakṣhmī herself and then she should be worshipped. [Saying from `Manusmriti':] “Yatra narya[stu] pujyante, tatra bhramante Devatā." Where the women are respected and worshipped there reside all the Deities, but they should be respectable also. If they are not respectable then the deities won't reside. This is a big responsibility on a Gṛuhalakṣhmī to be the spirit so that all the deities are happy in the family and once she is respected she will try to be respectable also.

So the respect of the Gṛuhalakṣhmī is very important.

Today we are having this little Pūjā from all the builders who have helped us here with the blessing of Vishnu Dharma and Brahmadeva. Those who have tried to make this house so beautiful. Also as you know, Blake has described this house which has a special significance and we have to now hand it over to somebody else to the one who will appreciate and respect this house. Who will understand the value and worth of this house and for that we have to pray that it will be sold to such a person who is a person who will be a cognizer, a person who will understand the depth and the aesthetics of this place and the one who will be paying for that, valuing that, so we have to ask for such a blessing.

Of course one should not get attached to anything whatever is created is created. One should never be attached, because we have done this so we should be attached to it. It is not the way it is aSahaja.

You should think about, one should think about that we have created something beautiful we can recreate another thing and we can produce other better things that is how an artist can go on producing and producing. Of course there is one thing that is there is within us, the joy, then only you produce joy. If there is no joy you cannot.

So first of all before doing any work creating anything one must measure up the amount of joy one has received, the blessings one has received from the Deva and then recreate with that consciousness with that awareness you will find your creation will be very beautiful and we have to bring the work to a new method of creativity where there is exuberance, exuberance of joy and of Divine aesthetics because the world is going from bad to worse. I find nowadays people may just like to have some sort of a white cloth hanging and calling it a painting. That is not a painting because there is nothing inside. It is [UNCLEAR absolutely] hollow, empty, there is nothing inside so that there is no exuberance.

So to recreate that you people have to desire and ask for it and we have people of that kind. It is just to be desired and you all should desire for such things, that people of exuberance should come forward to value such things which are full of joy.

May God Bless you.

[Unclear additional sentence.] Gaṇeśha Pūjā we will do.

Contents: 1985-08-06 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, The Priorities Are to be Changed, Chelsham Road, London, UK

Now My staying in England is completing its twelfth year and that is the reason I wanted to talk to you people about Sahaja Yoga. How far it has gone and where are we lacking.

The greatest thing that has happened is that we have established our religion: Nirmalā Dharma as we call it, the Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma. And you know the meanings of the words, `Viṣhwa' means universal, `Nirmalā' means pure and `Dharma' means religion. This has been established in America. And we have to register it here in England.

Now it is very important that, when we belong to a religion, we have to know what are the commandments of that religion is. And so far we have not drafted anything. It cannot be a thing made suitable to people or suitable to human beings, it cannot be. And it cannot compromise with your suitability.

Like in Russia, as I told you the story, I went there and I said, “I would like to see a church." So they took Me down to a church, which was the Orthodox Greek Church and My husband was also there where we were VIPs, so the head of the church came down and took us to lunch; and he said that today, these days, they are fasting so he cannot take any meat. We said, “Alright." We all sat down, but he went on drinking, drinking, drinking.

So much so, that he forgot that he had guests or anything! He never even came to see us off! So the officers who were with us started all laughing when we came out. And he didn't know where he was! Because he was fasting you know! So when we came out these officers said that, “See, this is religion." Then they told Me the story that Tsar had an idea that everybody has got a religion, why not Russia also should have some religion.

So they sent for the Catholic people to come down and tell them about Catholicism.

So the Catholics came, that time there was only Catholicism, so they came and they said, “Alright, Catholicism is very simple that you can drink, do what you like, only thing, you cannot marry again." Tsar said, “This won't work out in Russia, is difficult, not for us." So he said, “Alright, now let's have another one." So they sent for the Muslims, Islam.

So the Muslims came in and they said that, “You can marry any number of wives, doesn't matter, but you can't drink." They said, “This won't suit us!" So they had another third religion that was this supposed to be orthodox, you see. Orthodox religion, the most liberal one! Was this orthodox, Greek religion and they said, “Oh, you can drink and you can have as many wives as you like as long as you give us sufficient money." Only their interest was money. They said, “This is alright, very good religion! We have to give them money and only thing they have to do is to call us religious so that we are religious people; nobody should say that they have no religion!" That's how the religion came into this country, Russia. And with this kind of a religion, who is going to believe in it? It's correct! After coming to Sahaja Yoga you can see that all these so-called religious bodies have ruined the name of religion completely. All those people, who talked of religion this, that and one theory to another theory, one incarnation to another incarnation they used, have ended up into a nonsensical stuff. And everybody is seeing so clearly now that it does not give you any, any idea whatsoever as to what is God, as to the experience of God.

So this religion that was established, was to give balance to people, has made them very imbalanced.

They are fanatics, every one! Protestants, as I told you, are the greatest fanatics because they are very subtle and they are very sophisticated, so nobody can't find out their fanatic ideas.

With this, now we have Sahaja Yoga. And Sahaja Yoga has given you Realisation, the real experience of the Divine. For the first time now you can feel that you are the Spirit, you can feel the powers of Spirit.

There are so many ways, in these twelve years you must have seen, that you should be convinced that there is an All-pervading Power, which is active, which is helping you, through which you have come up to this stage and that It has empowered you to do miraculous things. We have got My photographs to give you a proof. The other day someone took a photograph in Jordan at the time of Sahasrār Pūjā thinking that, “Mother give a bandhan to Jordan." And the photograph has got the light, the bandhan light in it! So the Unconscious is working, very strongly and It is trying to help people to understand God's ways, so we cannot change His ways, His styles, His rituals, His methods. That's why I'm here to tell you, I am like the mouthpiece of the Unconscious to tell you what is to be done, what is right, what is wrong, what is not to be done.

Now in this religion you yourself are awakened into religion yourself! You become sensitive to religion yourself! The coding and everything is within yourself. You have to yourself feel it. How you feel vibrations, when you feel vibrations? How do you lose vibrations? What happens? All those things are just within yourself. Of course after some time we might be able to say what behavioural changes one should take. But you can find out yourself, if you want to find out: what is right and what is wrong and what is to be done to keep up the vibrations.

But vibrations are, one way, extremely charitable. Very charitable things. Even if you do little wrong they may not disappear that moment, but you'll get a feeling within yourself that this wrong. After some time you'll find, it will show, that you have no vibrations and you wouldn't know that you have no vibrations! So the first principle of Sahaj Dharma is, or what you call Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma, is that you should be able to keep up your vibrations going as they are, or increase them or improve on their sensitivity. The more sensitive you are the better you are. If the sensitivity is lacking then one must say that Sahaja Yoga has failed in you, so far and you have to work it out.

But the problem of human being is very different. That is that, when they're ascending, when they are trying to get out of the Bhava-sāgara, there are so many human things which are with them and those things try to bring them down again back to the place from where they started. For example, say, you are a person, who has had no power at all in life and also you are a person, who has enjoyed some powers.

Both are just the same, both are power drunk or power hungry or whatever you may call them. A starving is a same as a man who aspires for food all the time; both are starving. In the same way, the one, who aspires for power in both ways is the same person. When he comes to Sahaja Yoga, instead of becoming humble and understanding that there's something lacking in me, myself, he starts forming groups. He starts saying, “Alright, this is not good, this fellow is not good, you better correct yourself, you do that, you do this” in others. He does not want to become a perfect person himself. The one, who has attention towards anything like that or falls into any group whatsoever, goes into trouble and I immediately know from his face there's something wrong with this person.

So to form into groups itself is a sign of our deterioration. Like in our cells in the body now, say, for example say, there are blood cells which are flowing: suddenly, when they are harmed or sick or anything, they coagulate together and it forms a lumpish thing in it.

So when you are moving you are free; then one must understand that you are healthy. But as soon as there's a barrier made that, “This man is bad, this woman is bad” so, now a barrier exists. The whole group, you see, forms. One group here and a one group there and a one group there. But as Sahaj Yoga is complete discretion, which is to be developed by the people who practice it, discretion, they have to also know that there are some people who are not to be dealt with, to be discarded, individually. Like there's somebody, one person, `X' person is there, who is caught up very much and he's got lots of badhas, this, that. Now if he's badhik or anything, everybody must individually drop him. Not to discuss him or talk about him collectively, but just drop him, if they were sensitive. If you are sensitive, immediately you know this person has a badha. Nobody will go close to him. But invariably I've seen in groups, when we meet, always five bhoots, if there are, they will all sit together. Immediately you know the bhoot is there, localised. And the five good people will never sit together. That means we are not yet developed ourselves, individually, within ourselves.

So, the first attitude to develop this Dharma within us, the Dharma here means the one that is going to develop in our central nervous system. Our own new dimension we have to develop within ourselves. In a deeper way it is what we call the subtler being that is within us. Is to be awakened [so] that it lies in the nerves we can say, itself, in the central nervous system. To develop that we have not worked out. Why? Because our attention is still outside. We are worried about another person, we are worried about third person, we are worried about this, “He shouldn't say this” “He shouldn't do." But the person who is really trying to improve himself will always go inward. Now supposing this is a person, who has a badha, he'll just shun that person, will be away from that person, will not say anything collectively, will not discuss it, will not talk about it, just finish it. “[He's] not alright." But then you may say, “Mother, then at least 50% Sahaja Yogis would be like that." I don't think so. If you can scan it out yourself, you'll find there are about four or five like that, who are badhiks, which I know. The rest of you are alright. But when you come in contact with them, then you get it because you have not developed that powerful personality within you.

And that's how I get sick Myself, because you are within Myself.

So all of you must individually look after yourself, so collectively, that's Me, I am looked after. But we do not look after ourselves that's the main point is. There are so many methods by which we can just become perfect. How much time do we spend in that? Now, in the ashrams whatever I have heard about England: that it's the greatest place where one can become absolutely lost! If you want to lose your vibration, go to an English ashram! Especially in London.

The vibrations in the ashram are the worst of all. Can you imagine such a thing? I mean. Why it happens? One lazybones comes in the ashram. He's got a bhoot in him. He's a lazy person. Normally a person should be active! So what he does? He does not want to get up in the morning. Another one tries to follow him.

How are you going to ascend? Let us think about this. This lecture should not be just listened to, is to be practiced, is to be understood, you have to be serious about it. How are we going to ascend? Are we going to ascend by reading the book Ascent or by listening to Mother's tapes, which is very interesting? How are we going to improve? By taking the medicine. What is the medicine? Is nothing but meditation itself is the medicine. Now when do you do meditation? You have to do meditation in the morning time; that's the best time, because you are not yet busy. Early in the morning you get up and do it. But you just can't get up! “I can't get up." Why not? That day you just don't eat your food the whole day. Next day you'll get up! You have to treat your body in such a way that it becomes your slave. You have to use this body for enslavement and not this body for your enslavement, your Spirit's enslavement.

So if you could just understand that the only way to ascend is through meditation and not through all kinds of politics talking, jabbering, mental feats, nothing of the kind! But I have seen people, they cannot steadily do it, what we call `satatya' [constancy] means `consistently'.

They will do it today and do it tomorrow. But in the ashram it should be a rule! Every morning there should be some nice music to be played. In India the radio starts at about 6 o'clock, in Bombay. I don't know if you have seen to that? And six o'clock the first thing is the one, what we call the awakening of the Gods, Bhupali [raga] they start it. They start singing that. From 6 to 8 nothing but bhajans and God's songs are there, nothing else. The whole of Bombay has to listen to that, there's nothing else, no news.

So, early in the morning when you get up, you can start with some sort of a conch or anything that you want to, or with the bells or maybe what we call the ghanta that thing we have like that. Or you can start with a bhajan so that everybody gets up. Go and have your baths. Keep the room hot. Come and sit down for your meditation.

Now those, who are householders, could be even worse than this because that's also another, `My house, my child, my family." This `my' business. I have to struggle through all this, because everybody [says] “I am marrying this person” “Now that person is running away, so I have to marry another person." “That is about to run, then I have to get the third!" Problem of the children. Then, “How to get the children?" All the time this problem is there. Everybody is bothering Me with this problem: “What to do with the wife?" “Where to keep her?" “She's so horrid!" This, that and everything! Now all these problems can be solved on one point, if you are a strong person, you can solve the problem like that.

So, instead of wasting your energy in solving these side matters why not you become something great yourself and get the problem solved by itself? It's logical. But what I have seen about people is this, that they do not understand their own value and worth.

Now as I have said, this is Shiva's country, Sadāśhiva's country, is the Kailāśha itself. And where you are born, where you are Sahaja Yogis, what is your position here? Into what position have you come? Where are you? Think of your position in the land of Sadāśhiva.

The other day only I told them that in the land of Sadāśhiva, ganas are there. And as the Americans got the idea of The Smurfs, they are the ganas. You won't find any Smurf sitting down, he is so active.

Not one Smurf you'll find who is sitting down. Either he'll be a barber or he'll be a washerman or he'll be a beginner, or he'll be a fiddler or he'll be some thing doing! So to become that you have to be active in your body. The activity in the body has to come. But from where to get the energy for the activity? From the Spirit. And if you do not meditate how will you get to that? You just tell Me, is there any way out? This is the basic problem that people do not have regular habits. They do not. They are very hectic people, extremely hectic. In the West people are extremely hectic. Indians are that way quite regularized because of a very strong parenthood. Parents themselves are sensible and regular. We have to be regular too. There are no regular habits: somebody will get up at 6 o'clock, somebody will get up at 9 o'clock, somebody will get up at 10 o'clock. And if you are to wake up an Englishman, they say, “Use a bargepole!" Of course, that's the greatest sin! That's the greatest sin! But even if you have to commit the sin, use a bargepole! So, sleep is such an important thing for them and they are always tired.

Now why this tiredness comes in, we must understand, is due to heart. Because the heart is weak that's why you become tired. If you raise the heart you'll be alright.

So, one by one we see why. Why is it, heart weak? Because we have done anti-God things. We have done things which we should not have done, so our heart is weak. They are always tired and they are not ashamed of saying, “I am tired!" Anybody who listens to the television will be surprised, they'll have, “Huuuhhh!" Within five minutes at least you must hear 6-7 times “Huuuhhh!" coming out. Young people! They'll come and sit on the chair “Huuuhhh!" First I used to think it is a fashion, that you must do like this, otherwise you are not impressive. Because, you know, the fashions here to impress people are so funny! I don't understand, I thought it was a fashion.

But why you are tired? Let's see why are you tired? Your heart, heart is catching. Why is heart catching? In the very subtlest of subtlest, is that you have done anti-God things. Now how do you cure that? Now let Me have answers.

Vicki Halperin: We will put You, Mother, in our heart.

Shri Mataji: Good idea. You have to put Me in your heart. Now see how the cosmos of the whole Sahaja Yoga system since long has been built in, in you. Heart is the most important part, from [which] everything circulates. This heart is the one, when it fails, you are dead, no more there. The Spirit resides in the heart, alright. Now you are made like this even in your head that the heart center comes up exactly on the Brahmarandhra, where it has to break.

So, if your heart is weak, you cannot pierce through.

So, putting Me in your heart and raising Me to your Sahasrāra, that's the best way you can cure your heart.

But that's not so! You also put some theological concepts on that. I've seen people do.

So, “Mother, I put You in my heart, I love You very much” this, that, everything. But I see there's not Mother there at all! Just lip service! “I'm putting You in my heart, of course you are there!" But where am I? I try to find. I can't see Myself there. No, I am not there.

So from where do I see you? Through your eyes. If I am there I can see through your eyes, I can penetrate up to that. Such eyes are very different. Your eyes have to change through your heart. There's no deception in between. If your heart changes your eyes will change. You don't have to tell Me. I know that.

So this, “I love You” why? “Because I wanted to have a job” finished! “I love You Mother, because I thought my marriage problem will be solved." “I give You this, because I'll get money!" “I pray for you, because I must have a child” or something like that. It's so much below.

But the state [you] must reach, where `I just love You for nothing at all. Just love You because I enjoy it. I enjoy that love for My own enjoyment. Just for My own enjoyment I love You. Not even for the ascent or anything but I just enjoy that love within Myself. For nothing at all, just for Myself I love You.' As long as you live on relative terminology you cannot work it out. Now, “Why do I live in the ashram? It's cheap to live there, it's easy, children are looked after you know, quite nice, you are safe. Mother also comes sometimes. If you are sick She'll look after us, so She treats us. Otherwise, I leave it to Mother to do everything." Still you are in duality. You have to just love Me because you enjoy it. Otherwise, I'm not asking you to love Me am I? How can you ask anyone, `You, love me! Come along!' And you put a pistol, `Come along, love me!' Can you do it? You can't. You can demand money, you can demand anything, but can you say, `Alright, now hands up, give me your love!'? So it cannot be forced.

So the depth of the heart must be brought in. Now heart is covered with funny ideas. The thought, which is in the mind, as we say. Actually the thoughts are covering the brain and those thoughts ultimately cover the heart. I have told you what is the connection between heart and the brain is. Now, so if these thoughts are covering our heart, how can we open out? For example, a thought is there that, “I love Mother, because She has to sell my house." Alright, now the house doesn't sell. “How is it? Mother I said it will be sold, then why is it not sold?" This is not the level of Divine Love. You are going to love the Divine. It has to be pure love of simple purity. And that depth you all have, that's the special thing you have. All of you have that within you, that heart within you. If you understand this very small thing is actually the seed of all the mantras.

Now when you say that you love Me very much, I do not think you do love. But you ask yourselves, “Do I really love Mother?" Now face [it]. “No, I do not." “Still there are so many other foolish ideas into my head. Still I am an intellectual, still I'm seeing Mother from an intellectual point of view or from an emotional side." It's a state, it's a state of nirānanda, is a state. And such a person is never challenged and, even if he is challenged, is never affected. Such a person suddenly stands out and you see a lotus before your eyes.

Now you are sitting in the city which is governed by Sadāśhiva. Here you are born. You are all the great Spirits who are born [here]. Now you are the ones who have to give fragrance to the whole world. It has nothing to do with any other thing like status, money, position, nothing. What was the status of Christ? He was a carpenter's son. How much did he earn? Nothing. Did He go to any university? Never. Did He study any Greek mythology or something like that? Never. Did He bother

His head about libraries? Never. But, He was Christ. In the same way, it does not matter to what level you go, to what extent you go in your material side, it is your spiritual side which is important. And for that it is important you must face it. That's only possible in meditation. Honestly to face it! But the trouble is as soon as Mother gives the lecture, it's finished there. Nobody thinks? [Aside related to a baby crying:] What has happened? Why are you crying? You want to go to mummy? Don't cry, don't cry! Mummy is there. Don't cry, don't cry, it's alright.

Now, as I said, twelve years of My tapasya is over. I have really worked very hard, I must say. England is not easy and London is even worse. And you get terrible pain from your liver it starts moving towards your heart, just like a dagger, in this country. The liver is bad, the heart is dark. It's not easy to live here. Moreover I have put all you in My heart and you are circulating in My body [so] you have to be kind to Me. The level has to be much better. But as soon as somebody achieves some level, people start criticising him, saying things against that person, forming groups, forming things.

As I told you before, you are also very fortunate that I am here in England. I have spent much more time than I have spent anywhere else. And still I cannot say definitely about anyone of you, I mean of course some of them are perfect, but otherwise, that any day you'll become [like] John Gilpin [riding the horse of ego]. You can't say. Suddenly I find somebody is just suddenly jumping on a horse.

So this character that we have within us, of becoming John Gilpin must be watched. Humility is needed. We have to be humble and see within ourselves: `Why do we become John Gilpins suddenly? What happens to us?' This is a very, very common character. The example I'll give [you]: I went to a hotel with My husband, stayed overnight. It was in England and next morning, I think there was a wedding or something or whatever it was. And two ladies, young girls, I would say about twenty-five years of age, wearing a nice dress and a hat and all that, talking to their boyfriends, who were also very dandily dressed, talking as if they were some sort of, you see, dukes or duchesses or something like that, you see, talking so big with their hats and this and that. My husband looked at Me, “By the way don't use spectacle, these are the girls, who come to clean in our office." I said, “Really? Look at them! Just putting the hat, they feel they have become duchess or what?" And as soon as they saw him, they became very peevish you see. [Laughter.] But I was very amazed that how could they suddenly take up a role of a some sort of royal family stuff, you know, the way they were walking! [Laughter.] And we couldn't help laughing both of us, but, I mean, he laughed much more because he said, “I can't believe it they are?" and he could not believe it for a while, but when they became peevish, you see, the reaction, their reaction really proved that they have just become a duchess. They had some hats on. If they wear a hat and talk big, finished, now they are big. In the same [way] in spirituality: just because you have been to Sahaja Yoga, finished, then now you are a yogi of Yogeshwara, more than Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, yourself.

So one thing is this John Gilpin business, which is stupid, which makes a mockery out of ourselves. There are stories and stories I can tell you of this mockery: how ego makes you a stupid fool.

So this is biggest hurdle I think we have, here, is the ego. But then you tell somebody they'll say, “It was my ego. It did it!" as if the ego hangs somewhere like a monkey and the monkey came and did the job and again went back on its hanging mood! [Laughter.] Otherwise, “It's my bhoot which did it!" [Laughter.] But when do you do something? Why should we deceive ourselves? This is a very serious type of deception of ourselves. Why? We are Sahaja Yogis, we are born in the Sadāśhiva's land; why not we be that beautiful being which is truthful, which is real, which is within us, which is the Spirit? So the greatest hurdle is of our ego. Which can be shown in many ways. Because you see your reflection there. The first is, as I told you, wearing a hat: means then the upper lip goes up suddenly [a reference to `stiff upper lip' of British]. I think the hat sucks [it] in I think! [Laughter.] Then they start saying sentences which are funny! I told you about, we had in our family a person, who had epilepsy and he was a mentally-off fellow! And, you see, sometimes he used to get into ego trip. Then he would wear very good socks and he would polish his shoes nicely, shine them, wear a nice shoes, wear a good suit, maybe three-piece or something and sit down on the bridge of our house where we had a, sort of, an entrance to the gate and would sit there. And he would call someone, “I say big Bott” “I say, big Bott” “I say, big Bott" I mean in English he knew only, “big Bott." So he thought he was, he's, an Englishman now! He used to call everyone like this, you see. And we would wonder why does he do like that? What is the thing that makes him say these words like, “I say, big Bott"? You see, he had seen some English people, you see, talking like that.

So he used to call all the people going on the road like this, “I say big Bott” “I say, big Bott." So then in our family, if somebody becomes John Gilpin, we say he's become big Bott.

So this, “big Bott" business is horrid. Should be avoided completely.

But the second thing that happens to us is very good, is when we do not, I mean if you are sophisticated, well-educated, then it is not “big Bott” it is “bot bit." Then we say sarcastic things! Say something in a sarcastic way, never in a direct way. In a sarcastic way we enjoy. I mean, you see on the television you get really surprised how people talk to each other sarcastically. “So what, Hoh, hoh, hoh, hoh!" goes on. And such sarcasm. And according to them sarcasm perhaps is the intense intelligence or something like that.

I don't know, whatever it is certified, as what. But whatever may be the certificate for it, it's the most gruesome act.

These days we do not kill people, do we? If we kill, we'll be handcuffed. We do not beat children, we do not beat anyone, because we'll be handcuffed. But to say a sarcastic thing is in modern times the most gruesome act which is not punishable under law. But not under the law of Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma. This sarcasm is the essence of English character. Take it from Me. Never say the things straightforward. And that's the sign of intelligence and been to a big training of it.

First of all they'll not say anything they will sulk, keep quiet. Not to say anything. But if they say, they must say like this.

Something that is sort of a stagnated, dirty, filthy water that smells. They'll not open their mouth, but once they open their mouth, God save you! God knows what will come out of that mouth, maybe some snakes, maybe some scorpions. And nobody feels hurt about it! That's the best part of it.

So this is one thing one has to guard against, our Viśhuddhi, not to use sarcasm. Comes from left Viśhuddhi very much. [Not] at all! Because that's against Me. I'm never sarcastic with you, am I? I tell you straightforward on your face, “You have a bhoot on your head that's all." Or if you have ego I said, “It's ego." Why be sarcastic? So we have to learn how to be straightforward and sweet.

Let's first decide today we are going to say nice things to others. But no! Nice things will be like this.

If somebody supposing is a person, who, say, is a dwarf.

So to say nice things, they will say, “Oh what a tall man is coming!" Or is there's a blind man coming, they will say something, “Oh what eyes, beautiful!" So they start from physical to mental level to anything. They go on describing a person. Why do you describe others? Why don't you describe yourself? The whole energy's spent in describing others. What about yourself? So this is another character that we have; we hurt others through our tongues.

This tongue is meant for giving the taste of Divine to others. To say things that will make people feel comforted. For saying mantras. See, if you go on telling lies, your mantras will never be fruitful, never activate. But if you are sarcastic, they will never act. Say it thousand times, say it two thousand times, say it million times. To make your mantras effective you should stop talking in that manner. If you have to talk, talk something that will be pleasing to another person. Now somebody might say, “Then if you say pleasing, it may not be the truth” alright, then don't say it, not necessary to say. Just keep quiet.

But you decide now to turn your head upside down, which is all the time upside down already, so you put it right, now and say that, within yourself that, `Now no more of harshness from my tongue will flow,' because it will never give you the power of mantras. Mantra powers are lost. If you have to say something, say it pleasingly. Always. Moreover if you have to correct someone, if you are in a position, if you are the leader, if you have to say. Also say it in such a way that you neutralise it. But no sarcasm at all! This is one of the very big snags we have on our Viśhuddhi.

Now what is the other snag we have, let us see. I'm talking to you, because just now I'm a Britisher Myself. The another snag I find is saving pounds, saving labour, saving everything else but your Spirit.

Like I'll tell you, if you want to find an Englishman, that's what Indian Sahaja Yogis tell Me, very easy to find out an Englishman. You ask somebody to close the window; everybody will try to do it except for the Englishman, who'll be sitting down, he'll never get up; saving labour. And if you tell any work to an Englishman, then he'll stare at you like this; like this, “How dare you tell me [to] work?" As it is, I must tell you about Australians: I used to think they are very healthy people. They are hardworking, no doubt, they are very hardworking they come forward. But I went there and we had decided to cook food for them in two centers for about, once for about 250 and again about 500 people.

I mean, I go in to such ideas! So, in the first place, you see, all the boys, who came to help Me, were all Indians. They were the ones, Who were lifting the thing and all that. I said, “Tell these boys also, they are Australians, after all they have eaten so much a meat, they must be having good muscles, why are you doing it?" They said, “No, they are delicate people Mother, don't tell them." I said “Delicate? How?" “They are very delicate, though they eat meat they are very delicate, we know how to do, let us do it." And both the places the same people acted! You were there? Last time?

Sahaja Yogi: No Mother, no.

Shri Mataji: Who was there in Australia? Anybody?

Sahaja Yogini: I was there Mother.

Shri Mataji: You were there? Isn't it?

Sahaja Yogini: Yes Mother.

Isn't it? They were all Indians, who were working there, mainly. Isn't it true?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes true.

Shri Mataji: Because they said that, “They are delicate. At the slightest thing their waist line will go out." [Laughter.] “They can't lift these big things. They just can't!" And they would not allow, they said, “No, no let us do it. We know they are delicate people." I was really surprised that for Australians there were thinking like that. Then what about English? Because of avoiding labour, saving yourself from labour, you have become weak people. If you don't use one finger, you don't work, that will become a weak finger, always. Say, if your hand is in plaster for say, say about a week or two weeks, you take out the hand out of the plaster, the hand cannot hold itself. It becomes weak. Isn't it doctor? It becomes weak, if you don't use your hand, it becomes weak. If you don't use your body, your body becomes weak. If you laze out, if you become lazy, you cannot do any work, you don't want to do any work, all your muscles will become useless. Till the age of at least sixty years you have to use your body very much more than what you are using.

So now they will do jogging. They'll do jogging. After jogging it's an out of proportion thing that they do. They are so exhausted. But do your exercises, or whatever it is, in normal way. But, actually, do your work! But they cannot. They cannot get up fast, they [Americans] can, “I'll get it." Americans, that way Americans, if you tell them, they'll say “I'll get it." Telephone comes, “I'll get it” ten persons will run and you'll know they are all Americans! That's why they have improved. They are so industrious. Very industrious people. Japanese are extremely industrious. You see, they had the problem, because the cars could not move out in the streets, were all full with the cars.

So they wanted to build these yovers and within one year, within one year, within, they built the yovers all over Tokyo, all over Tokyo, which is a very large city. These small, little things, you know, they walk like this. Little, little things with little, little legs. [Laughter.] Hiroshima, which was bombed, if you go and see that place, you won't believe it was bombed! Except for the museum. And they have kept one building to show that this is the place that was bombed. Otherwise you won't believe that, that was Hiroshima! Same with Nagasaki, I have seen it Myself with both. I mean I can't imagine how these people have worked it out! So industrious! So industrious! So one is lethargy. Kṛiṣhṇa has said, the first thing he's put it, the worst of all is lethargy. To Him the worst thing that can happen to human being is lethargy. That is, “Alasyo bījayate" everything comes out of alasya, laziness. Keep active! Do some work! But in Indian life, I tell you, even My mother was like that, at anyone, if you are standing, “Why are you standing?", if you are sitting, “Why are you sitting?", if you are walking, “Where are you walking?" You should be doing something all the time. You haven't seen anyone in India. You have seen villages, even small children are doing something. Such a hot country. In the day they might have a little siesta.

It's a very, very hot country. But all otherwise, they are working. That's what, only the industriousness will help you and will keep your mind out of mischief.

Everything comes after you have decided not to be lethargic. Tell your mind not to be lethargic.

Lethargic minds brings you all these nonsensical ideas. For that you must have regular habits, which you do not have. I'm told that those who have been to colleges and universities have been through some regular this thing or to some good schools. But once they went to drugs everything is washed off.

So drugs is one thing that kills all your discipline, your proper training of satatya, of consistency.

So to overcome that, you must make it a routineous thing, certain thing. Absolutely routineous. [Then] you'll get over it. I mean, it should be; because routine also helps you in one way that you do not waste much energy about, say for example, I know I have to give five strokes to My hair just to make it alright, so I give five strokes, finished. One, two, three, four, five, done. But supposing I say, “No, sometimes five, sometimes eight, sometimes seven” then I waste My time in brushing My hair.

So five strokes for the hair is alright. One wash, for one wash, three times just to wash it off. If you can fix up things like that, you'll be surprised you'll be saving lot of time.

So this is another thing we do not have is a definite number of things we have to do. I'll tell you the story of Gandhiji, which you will be surprised. Such a great man like him.

To go to his bathroom, so-called hut of his bathroom was there. In between his hut and that hut, was, there were, he had put, seven stones. I don't why he had put them seven. Seven stones one after another.

While going there he used to count them, seven, coming back he used to count them, seven. Alright. And somebody once put one more there. Because thinking they are too far away from each other, whatever it is. Immediately he said “Why the eighth one? Remove it!" Again he put seven! I mean, you would say such a great man to waste energy on counting these stones. Was that he was saving his time: `One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, I'm there. Then I do next thing then.' So as far as this material world is concerned, you have to be like a machine. As far as the spiritual life is concerned, you have to be like an ocean. Or like the energy. The machine has to be fixed and the energy then flows better. Do you see the two things? The ocean of energy is at work and the machine is perfect because it has consistent things. Supposing now the machine is made of two wires here: supposing you suddenly take out one, it won't work! All these are fixed things as you understand machines very well. And all these fixed things can give you a lot of saving of time. While we try to save time, “I have no time." Why? “Because I was standing before the mirror for about one hour." Meditation we have no time. Standing before a mirror for one hour! “What were you doing before the mirror?" “Trying to comb my hair” for one hour! So where you spend so much time [it] could be saved, so save time. For that you must know your priorities and you must know your importance, that saving time means saving time for our ascent. But in our daily life we do that, supposing there's, say, there's a man, who has to manage some aeroplanes, what does he do? He takes up his time in dressing up, sometimes if he's late, he just gets up, hurries up, somehow or other gets into his cab or car whatever it is, takes the fastest run and jumps to the aeroplane, because he has to carry the aeroplane, that's his job.

So his priority is not how many times he stands before the mirror, combs his hair, but the priority is he must get to the aeroplane. That's what should be with us also that: how much time do we take to do all these nonsensical things? And how much time for the right things? So priorities have to change and then you will be surprised, you will have lots of time to do many things. What is your priority? That is to be decided. And in your wisdom you must know your priority is your ascent because this chance you are never going to get [again]. This a special chance, specially for you, specially you are going to get it and you have every possibility of going very high in case you put your priorities right.

So what is your priority? Firstly. Saving time, now saving money. I have seen people, I shouldn't say, but having horrible experiences I've had about people how they waste their money. We have been going to India many a times and every time people come, they come just like traders. And once it happened like this, to this extent it went, that in Delhi I had reserved lot of area for My chandeliers to come with the Air India. I had paid for it and I told them that let them come with the Sahaja Yogis. Because they can carry in the hand, I don't want it to be thrown away by your people if I send it. They said, “Alright we'll put them with the Sahaja Yogis." But I didn't tell them chandeliers or anything, but My things.

The Sahaja Yogis had so much of weight that they covered all My area, everything and still there was overweight, which was excused by Air India. And all My chandeliers were left there high and dry on the airport, nobody to even to pick them up. And they came here with all these loaded things; I don't know where it has disappeared all the things that they brought from there. This is one of the things. But this, many a times has happened, things like that.

So where do you save your money? Why can't you save your money? I have seen two persons like that, I'll say, one person who lived in My house. He had food, he had shelter, he had everything with him.

He didn't have to spend anything. I was also paying him some money. He's never had money all his life.

There's another one who came and stayed, who was same way. I never paid a money to him, he always had money with him. He saved. I said, “How do you save?" He said, “Mother, where do I spend? You spend for me, I eat my food here, I have everything, I don't have to pay rent, nothing, I'm very nicely placed here. Where do I spend all the money that comes to me as a dole becomes a sort of a saving for me?" One person never had money and another person saved lot of money. What is the reason for that? Again the priorities.

So these bad habits that you have had before for which you are spending money and all that, must be saved. Now, alright, when we travel of course we must pay for your travelling and staying and food and all that, that's a different point. But you must know we are going to have very big problems of our own projects we are going to have. I mean, we will need money for that. I'm not going to ask you people, but I know money will come to Me. But first of all you don't even have money at all, because there's no accounting, there's no proper understanding as to how much you have, how much to spend, where to spend, what to do. And the money is just spent away like that.

You must make a compartment of that money also, because as a Mother I must tell you everything.

See now, you give Me money supposing for something, I make a compartment. You gave Me money in Pūjā, I made a compartment, this is Pūjā money. Alright, now this I have decided on My own, I need not do, but I've decided that I'll buy silver out of it for you people because silver is there and all this silver that I gave you and also more I have to give you, because you can't have Pūjā with a plastic, alright, I have to give that silver.

So that Pūjā money can be used.

So I have a compartment, I've written it down.

Each and every pai [paisa] I have written it down. I have made a compartment, this one for this one for this one for this one. But you are so haphazard! You will never have money, because God knows where you spend your money! So to understand that you must have proper priorities, you have to do away with things, which are not needed. Like I know of one Sahaja Yogi, who used to spend lot of money and I said, “Where do you spend your money?" He was very fond of Indian food, he used to go to Indian restaurant every day. Can you imagine? One day it happened that we went to that Indian restaurant and the fellow recognized that fellow, because he was driving us and, “Oh, how are you here today?" he said, “Why, you didn't come for the last five days?" I said, “Do you mean he comes here every day?" He said, “Yes, practically." We can't afford to go to Indian restaurant. Every month maybe once in a while we have to take some guests and all that and C.P. gets money for that. I don't know how you can go to an Indian restaurant, eat food in the restaurant.

So, priorities are such that we waste our money here, there, so we have no money. Then we try save money: we become ridiculous sometimes about certain things, which are something I can't believe that Sahaja Yogis could be like that.

So how can, they all are like beggars. Then how can beggars be generous, can they be generous? They cannot. When you go to India, how Indians look after you. You have seen that. They work so hard. You go to somebody's house. They'll give there best that they have in the house to eat. Last time, when it was the wedding thing, Warren is another great, what should I say, a kingly person; he wanted to give very expensive presents to the people, who got married. Very expensive.

Amounting to about 2,000 rupees each, about.

So and also the hand things and all that would have been about 25,000. I mean 2,500.

So I told Warren, I said, “Warren, it's going to be too much” alright, so I took away 600 part out of it. 600 I paid each. Each person who got married I've paid 600 for each of them. He asked all the Sahaja Yogis, who were there to pay 108 rupees, means $8. For 54 marriages one rupee each. On that also I had complaints when I came to London! And Indian Sahaja Yogis on their own collected and gave 10,000 rupees to cover up the expenses. What is 108? And then they grudged! That's the worst part of it! When I came back, they grudged about it. I just, you see, from sublime to ridiculous I just felt, what am I to say? They sent a big delegation! “Oh, that we were lynched!" and this and that.

So what, are you going to give 1 p [$0:01] to them or what? And if you are going for a wedding, won't you give some present to them? Why? Because you have to buy things for somebody who is a relations of relations of relations of relations. What is the need to oblige such a distant personality? What is your relationship? Your relationship is with Sahaja Yogis. They are your brothers and sisters.

Really they are your own, whom you should give presents at least on their wedding day, if not otherwise.

I don't know otherwise if Sahaja Yogis give to anyone. But “My uncle's mother's brother's somebody's somebody's somebody, he has asked me to buy this for him.

So I'm taking." So again the priorities are to be changed. Who are your brothers and who are your sisters? Who is your family, who is your Mother? It's a matriarchal society. We have a Mother and we have Her children and we are all related to each other. Others are all others; we are one. But I have seen, even in discussions, people have told Me, that Sahaja Yogis will take the side of the new Sahaja Yogis and fight. You all should support each other instead of your taking the side of somebody third person coming in. Suddenly you get attached to that person, why? So this is one of the special characteristics, if we have got, we should try to understand. If you cannot go, don't go. But if you go then you have to behave yourself. If you cannot afford, you should not do it. But if you can afford it and if you have to go there, then go, but don't behave like beggars that when we come back here, what shocked Me that for these hundred and eight rupees I had to talk to people, I mean really it shocked Me completely! And I could pay that back, hundred and eight is not much, to all of you. But it was so and the discussion was about this. Alright, so one should not discuss this. For your information, you know your Mother has spent lot of money but I've never said that and no one knows how much I have spent. Even if you ask Gavin, he won't be able to say. Nobody. They know little bit here and little bit there and Warren knows little bit there and somebody knows here. But not to be said. When you spend something you are not to tell. Just to be done quietly, sweetly, beautifully. But here it is, little thing like that and to talk like that. I mean, I was really, you are saints, you know you are saints, you are great people, you are evolved people, you are religious leaders of tomorrow. What are you saying? What are you talking? Just think of that: what is your position in life? So saving labour, saving money and last of all that we try to save everything for ourselves, selfishness.

Tremendous selfishness and we don't see it sometimes.

So please try to understand that all this material selfishness must end up into spiritual selfishness. If you are really selfish, then know the Self, which is the source of everything, if you are really sensibly selfish. Are you? Then know that Self. It gives you everything. And now you have opened the way, you have come inside, now you are there, you are sitting here. What more do you want? I don't understand.

So, there are some good people, I'm not saying there are not, there are many good people, but those who are not, bring forth all these things and they create, generate a situation. In such a thing, supposing in a discussion, somebody starts, you should just say, `Shut up! We are saints. We are not to talk these things.' Say, if you meet some saints together, they are sitting down. Will they discuss these things? Will they discuss these things? Will they talk about these things? Think of it. You are saints. First of all know that you are all saints. Now, you are all saints now. What should you discuss? How we'll spread Sahaja Yoga, how to talk about God, how to work it out, how to release our energies for God's work. This should be our main concern, isn't it? I went to see Gagan Gadh Mahārāj. First of all, so he said, “I want to talk to You only." He didn't want to talk to Sahaja Yogis.

So he asked Me, “So You came on the earth, alright, but do You find us alright, are we capable enough to receive You?" I mean, see the questions he asked Me. And then he says that, “What should we do on this earth to make You comfortable? What is needed to be done, because all the way You have taken your incarnation here?" He talked to Me like this! I was amazed. Then he told his disciples, “Now this is the Goddess sitting before you. What are you doing? Do Her Pūjā. You do my Pūjā. What's the use of doing my Pūjā? Do Her Pūjā. Every bit of it." I was amazed at his reaction.

That's what we have to understand that we are today... what's it?

Sahaja Yogi: No, I didn't want the lamp to pass smoke if the oil burned out.

Shri Mataji: They are all burning alright?

Sahaja Yogi: Can someone pass me some oil?

Shri Mataji: No, no, it's burning alright. It will go on burning.

Sahaja Yogi: it's going to burn out.

Shri Mataji: Burn out? But still they are burning. Do you know how long it has been burning without oil? [Laughter.] I have seen it long time back! [Laughing.] So! Now we come to a point, where we understand ourselves from the ridiculous to the sublime point.

That we should not oscillate anymore. Let us fix our sublime thoughts one after another. How we climb a mountain, fix one, then another sublime thought. Let some sublime thought come into your mind, `Oh that's such a beautiful thought, alright, fix that up.' Like that. Then another sublime thought, you are a source of that! Now another sublime thought, `Aāhhh that's great! Hold on to that.' Like that you climb up. Through sublimity, sublime. Not degrading thoughts. But immediately if there is some degrading argument or suggestion or some sort of... and a big argument will start [with] everybody sitting there. It's even worse than what I find about these BBC people now discussing on the table.

Sometimes, can be very bad.

So one has to understand that our priorities are going to be very different from all others. For them ridiculous is important, for us sublime is important. If anybody suggests anything like that, you should say, `No that's not sublime. No we can't have it. Can't talk with it. Just stop it!' Let us see ourselves fully competing in achieving sublime within us.

You have assets, as I told you, that you are born in this country of Sadāśhiva. You are the heart of the Universe. That you are special people to be born here. You had people like William Blake before you. See the vibrations! Did he talk of anything ridiculous? Did he talk of anything nonsensical? Did he grudge about money? Did he say anything about it? How he stood up and how he said and what he propounded.

He wants to create Jerusalem. Do we think like that? We have to create Jerusalem? Then how do we think all these ridiculous things: talking, gossiping and saying things and not working out through meditation our ascent.

I do not know how many more Sahaja Yogis we are going to get. Because maybe that after this might get only donkeys, maybe I can't say. Let us hope we get better people, let us hope. But whatever you are, you are going to determine the image of the people who are going to come. That's why I wanted to talk to you, today specially, for this purpose that, we have to learn that so much is still to be done and Mother is going away now. If I go now, I'll come back of course for a short time but at the most two years more and then what? We have to work hard to come up. These two years we have to all work very hard. Specially in the ashrams. I've told you about chastity, that's the first part of it. And there should be absolutely brothers and sisters relationships among yourselves. Like a brother and sister never go and try to please each other, do they? I mean this thing called flirt, what you call flirting. That, do they do? And that should go on in the ashrams and things. It's very wrong, I think it is very, very wrong to do that way.

This is an ashram of sages, sages, who have taken their birth after ages.

So sages must we worshipped like sages. You cannot dress up like a punk and become a sage. You cannot be like other people. A sage has a face, has an expression, has eyes, his whole gait is different from others. He has confidence, as well as compassion. We have to see those images in you.

Now so far is alright that we came to Sahaja Yoga for our gain. We are here now for the gain of others.

We have gained whatever is possible, we don't want to gain any more. Now let us give this to others. For that we have to have an image, we have to dress up in that way. For example I was the other day telling the... I don't think it maybe too much for you people to believe that, but it's a fact that it's the brain that is upset here. Heart is of course is frozen, but brain is responsible. And I told them that every Saturday you must rub your head with so much of oil, nicely. Every Saturday, Sunday you wash it off. But on the whole, the system that existed before this, about twenty years back: all the English men used to have very nice combed hair, I mean, they never had uffy hair or anything. But I think since this hairdressing started, people took to this kind of a thing and it's very disheveled and funny.

For a saint it should be properly dressed. There should be neatness about him. Untidiness is not a sign of a saint. You come and see My house, it's very big, I can not live with untidiness. If it's temporarily, you are somewhere is alright, but if you have to live somewhere you should be neat and tidy. But it is not so.

I have seen people grudging; supposing you have gone to Brighton, Brighton people say they came here and went away even without even putting the beds right. When they come, the same Brighton people, when they come here to London, the London people tell Me that they came here, spoiled everything, did not put anything right and went away.

So the attitude of spoiling others' things and not your own is wrong. You have to change that. On the whole one has to understand the appearance, the living system is to be systematized, is to be systematized: so that you do not waste your energy in establishing that system, which is not so important. And the unsystematic, which is the energy, then works out better if you are systematized.

So a kind of neatness, a kind of a system in your life you should be there. I mean, I know of Gandhiji, he used to go out for a walk and people could put their watches right by the time he used to walk, the way he used to come and go and I... of course, you don't need to be slave of the watches, of course, that's not the point I'm saying, again I have to say the other thing, because you can go to the other extreme.

Is that. As in the whole the Western mind is very self-opinionated, very self-opinionated, they don't want to learn anything from anyone, they think they are the best. Like they will go to somebody's house, “I don't like it” is not good. Or even an artist, say, say a person, who is well-educated in art, they have not seen the other world.

So for them anything is a bit, sort of a funny thing. As I told you the other day, when I went to Brighton these people I talked to Brighton that in Brighton you have got such a beautiful piece of art where Rajput art and Mughal art is combined together in that royal pavilion outside, inside, they say, I have not seen the inside. But the description of that when I saw in the tourist book was that, “It is bizarre, it's absurd." [If] any one of them can make even one arch like that, then I can understand.

But you see, to criticise, why? Because you can't do it yourself. Because you can't do it, then it is `bizarre', then it is bad. And this is much more in an English character than anywhere else. They make everybody look very low compared to them, always. Like some Sahaja Yoginis from abroad, I wanted them to come to England, to be married, they said, “Not in England Mother, we can't live there” because they all look down upon them. Italians are frightened of you people, if you ask Argentineans, they are frightened of you, Spanish are frightened of you. French, they say, “We are just the same as they are, you see, can't go." Austrians don't want to come.

Though you may not have vibrations, though you may not be very good at realisation, you may not be anything, but you just put on a hat and you become “say Big Bot." You look down upon everyone, showing them down. The best way to exist in this world, have nothing, just try to show down a person, “You are no good." It's very surprising in Sahaja Yoga people say that about English people that they don't want to come to England, because everyone looks down upon you. You have developed a method of looking down upon others, but what do you do, what do you have. Let's [UNCLEAR]. Come to the brass tacks as they say in America. Let's see. Can you sing as good as that [UNCLEAR] that fellow played the other day, can you do it? Anyone of you in your generations? Can you build Taj Mahal, leave alone Ajanta? Can you make these rugs which Persians can make? What have you shown of your merit that you are boasting of? You cannot make the embroidery, the women here cannot. You cannot cook like us, can you? You cannot even make embroidery like the Spanish. You cannot make the furniture like the Italians, can you? What can you do? What is the art you have produced? Constable? Turner? Alright, I respect them as artists, but are they the topmost? Are they? Derek, you tell Me. You don't think so. Alright.

So now, what have we achieved so much that we think no end of ourselves? Put the question to yourselves first of all. That we look down upon everyone like that and think everybody is a stupid fool and you are the only cleverest person and even in Sahaja Yoga you do the same thing. It's not only ego, it's the stupidity, which tries to show off.

So this is the worst thing that has happened to us, to our character, I tell you. We have no humility of any kind. Anybody, who does not know the job, will always behave like that. We don't know Sahaja Yoga, we don't know how to give Realisation, we cannot understand anything what's happening to another person, but we are great Sahaja Yogis playing around: “I say Big Bot” again. That's the way, is a serious matter. We have no business to look down upon anybody else, but ourselves. What have we achieved? In Sahaja Yoga I must admit, with all due respect to all of you: of all the people, of all the people, Australians are the best, I must say. I'm sorry to say, but it is so. Practically every Australian is much more sensitive, you can say. They were the criminals, sent as criminals, they are the children of criminals or whatever you may call them. Then the second are Austrians. French are the last, I agree. But there is competition between English and French, who is the last. They also look down upon everyone, the French.

So now for you, I know we are very fond of horse racing, so I'm putting you onto a race. You have to come up all of you. You can, because you have the greatest asset, which no one has: that you are born in England, where people like William Blake was born. It was Bhairava himself who took birth. He could not take birth anywhere else, but here He took birth, who described this house, who described My house, who has said everything about Sahaja Yoga. And He said that, “Men of God will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophets." Have you become prophets now? The powers are not there. You can prophesize, [but] powers are not there because you are lost in all these frivolous, stupid, nonsensical things. Mantras are not working, your prophetic powers are not there. Your Kuṇḍalinī powers are not there. Powers are not working. Weak, weak instrument. Make it alright! Systematize it.

You have the greatest advantage, I tell you, you have the greatest advantage and that's why I called this meeting now. I've been to this ashram so many times, I have never been to any such ashram, I've lived here the most of My time. Nowhere, nowhere in the world I've lived like this. Australia, I've been there only thrice, I think. And now things should not be taken for granted. Of course, spreading of Sahaja Yoga is important but ascent is also very important.

Let us now take a tapasya, a vow of tapasya, let us do it as a tapasya, as a penance, all of you.

Whether you are in the ashram or in the house. Those, who are in the house are also lost. They don't drink, but they sleep.

So what's the use? So now let us all take it up as a tapasya. And don't indulge into internal, nonsensical politics. There are others, who are doing it for you, don't you worry! Just develop your Self-awareness. And when I'm out in India, dedicate yourself. When I'm away from you, so-called `away', dedicate yourself to spread Sahaja Yoga and to ascend. Ascend in a way that constructs the whole Universe, construction. Construction power has to start from you. It's a Chakra of construction, which has to work out through you. Anything that I have said should be taken just as an advice to you for your betterment. Work it out! Just listen to it and forget it. It's a medicine.

So please listen to it again and again. Try to follow it in your own life, in your own life, not in others's! Mostly others think, “Oh She's talking of somebody else!" There's a little hint, which Gavin wanted Me to tell that you should not play about and they don't do normally, but still he wanted Me to tell you that the money part of it, you shouldn't try to cheat Me, in any way because we have seen some bad results very recently.

So be careful on that. He wanted Me to tell you that one has to be careful not to cheat Me.

So may God bless you all.

Shri Mataji: So what's the problem of Cambridge? Where is Jim? What's the problem?

Sahaja Yogi: Collectivity.

Shri Mataji: Now, you are the collective or your wife? Tell Me, who is the collective?

Sahaja Yogi: All the people in Cambridge, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Derek [Lee], what do you have to say?

Shri Mataji: But why? What happened? It plays both ways. Alright, I say it plays both ways.

Because you are the leader and they are there. It is your responsibility to see that you do not try to correct them all the time! Alright? Now it is your responsibility to see that you get yourselves corrected and see for yourselves that you are collective. It's the way you handle. You see the art of a leader is the way he handles situations.

You being an American [Jim] should know better how to handle. What's the problem? And I tell you, your wife, she still catches on [UNCLEAR]. Do you meditate every day? Hilary: Yes.

Shri Mataji: Do you? Sure? It is there, still catching, I can feel it. Let us shift her from there, from Cambridge, to some other place, to get herself corrected. Isn't she catching very badly? You see, you have a problem that you feel that you must take charge. All the wives of the leaders are not like that, but some of them are like that. Like madam [UNCLEAR Cahndbai] you can say, or Mrs. [UNCLEAR Mannar] or Mrs. Kennedy or we had another one, what's her name, this Indonesian one, horrible! You see they want to assert themselves as people, who should control. Is it true Derek? Not direct, indirect. You should try to correct her first. Because maybe it is having an effect on you Jim, possibly. Do you understand My point? You see she is catching. I can tell you. She is catching, ask anyone. Right Heart she has, left Heart. Anybody, who is sensitive, will say that. Now best thing is, you must see her vibrations first. You correct your wives, you correct your husbands in a way to see the vibrations. Otherwise, unless and until you go all out about it, you cannot work it out. They have a wife, they have a husband, all this nonsense is there. Just see to it that you clear it out completely. I think she should shift to some other ashram that would be better and keep quiet. You are not in charge, he's in charge. It's a very common thing they are having this kind thing: the wife controlling. You know it happened in Australia and we had to send the wife away to Stratford, where she changed. Should we send her to Stratford. You know how to cook or not as an American? Well it's alright. Send her somewhere. You must get alright because you influence him and the whole thing goes out.

Now Dennis, what's your problem? You try to find faults with him, do you? He tries to find faults with him. What's the problem? What is the problem, you have to tell Me.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Alright, what is it? I mean, I say such a straightforward thing I'm not such an intelligent woman, to say double-edged things. Now what is it, in what point? Let Me see.

Sahaja Yogi: Some of us, I understand Mother that you say that we should win people through love and tolerance.

Shri Mataji: Alright.

Sahaja Yogi: And others understand that we should make people see that there are certain standards that they have to live up to and most people seem incompatible to us.

Shri Mataji: It can be understood very well. See, first supposing I give you a car and you say, “Mother, you have said I have to drive, so I start driving." I don't know how to drive, what's the use. See, people come to you in stages. Both the things are correct. First: “Come on, come on, come on!" Give them food, give them this, that, “Come on, come on, come on." Be very nice.

So-called protocol is to be done to them because they are newcomers. Alright? Need not immediately tell them the whole thing! Alright? Let them come.

When they are nicely settled down then you let them experience the joy, so they hanker after you.

Now I have said so many things today to you, which I didn't say before twelve years back. Say, if I had said twelve years back, do you think Gavin would have stuck onto Me? Ask Gavin, how they troubled Me, seven of them; all troubled Me such a lot. I was very patient and kind and affectionate and nice. And then, when they became Sahaja Yogis, now I said, “Come along now." Then they started asking, “What should we do to improve ourselves Mother, how should we clarify?" So now, which side are you, on the love side or on the correction side? How do you interpret it? How do you interpret Me? What do you think? What did I say? Derek? Derek: We have to be both.

Shri Mataji: No! Not simultaneously! Imagine you call somebody for food and hit at the same time! First with love. Let them come in, you see and then. It took Me four years, you see, to make these seven great English Sahaja Yogis to settle down. There's one sitting there, ask him. They used to come into My house, I would cook for them, I would do this and I started an ashram and did that and gave them everything.

Matt, what do you say? So, in the beginning you have to do that. I told Gregoire very recently, you see, with Germans he went and he just told them off! You see and was upset that, because Gregoire said something, they all ran away! So of course I took the side of Gregoire, because I didn't want to let him down, but I said that, “Alright, such runaways are there, what can you do?" But with Germans I don't have much hopes! I have great hopes from English.

Actually that's why, to My program I have not seen there was any problem, if it is Mātājī's program, the whole hall will be filled and then next day all the birds run away. What's the matter? So we have to use, first of all, very gentle methods, very, very gentle. That's the style your Mother has. When you came first to Me, how did I talk to you? Did I say all these things to you? If I had said that, `An Englishman, you see, you could be sarcastic,' you would have gone away the next day! Today I can say, because you know that, because no more Englishman exists there, it is finished now, you are a Sahaja Yogi.

And you would like to improve yourselves, so If I say anything you wouldn't mind, isn't it? That's what it is.

So one should not do both the things. First, just love: affection, give them food to eat, vibrated food, vibrated salt, this, that, try to look after them even physical side. Then, then gradually you have to tell them, `Yes I don't feel vibrations, you see, you feel left Mūlādhāra, what does that mean, how to tell.

Very difficult, you know, it's a funny thing. But you better grow a little bit then we tell you.' Keep the curiosity on.

Left Mūlādhāra is a dangerous thing, it's a very bad thing to happen to anyone, left Mūlādhāra and on top of that now you are catching on left Swādhiṣhṭhāna! So what is that? It's another one, it's very difficult. You see now, among yourselves you should say, `What to do with his left Mūlādhāra? Alright let us see, let us see the mantra, ourselves.' You form a group yourselves and show complete attention to him that you are concerned, `Now where is it, oh it's on the way.' Talk in the third person. `Where is the Kuṇḍalinī now? On the left Nābhī.' Now immediately you'll go and ask, `Are you alright with your wife?' finished! Why should you ask? I say because it's a common thing.

Like one fellow came and asked Me, “Mother, what's wrong with these people, they are all saying, `What's wrong with your father?' " I said, “Really? Nothing wrong with your father?" “No Mother.

There is problem between me and him, but I would not like to discuss it openly." I said, “Correct. Alright, but they should not say, see they know everything that's what I tell you, but you better know also about it." Like that I talked to him. But you need not say, “What about your father?" I've seen people, when they gave Realisation, suddenly they'll ask a question like this. No! You should just talk on Kuṇḍalinī, `It's not here, It has to move, It has to go, It has to do.' Then you come down, gradually, alright.

We have to be tricky people, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. Otherwise, how are you going to tame these great Englishmen into your fold? They are not fishermen which Christ caught. They are Englishmen, you must know, this also shakes with that name.

So be careful when you handle them. I said the art lies in that, alright James? So now I tell also as a leader that you should see that you combine them beforehand, you must have a meeting before they come in, `How we are going to handle them, how we are going to make them come inside.' Let us have a proper net spread, so you say something and I say something. Let them feel that we are understanding it. That somebody can say like this, `Oh,' and then another one should say, `Left Viśhuddhi.' No, no, no. You don't ask a person, `You feel guilty?' you should say, `One should not feel guilty much in this,' you see, in a third person talking. Then the person might say, `Yea, I feel very guilty,' you say, `What is there to feel guilty?' Then it's alright. But if you just say, `You feel guilty?', they say, `Yes, I feel guilty.' People are very funny, I must say. Like in San Francisco they said that, “We want to destroy ourselves, why do you want to save us?" Now what do you say after that? I say, “Alright, I'm sorry." People are very queer all over, they have become strange people. All possessed, all up side down. See, like

I feel two belts are moving, one is moving upward, one is moving downward with a great, tremendous people. We are on this one, which is going upward. We have to pull out people from the other belt. You see, they are moving together, trying to pull them. But what is happening? They are moving downward, we are moving upward.

So what we have to do, is to somehow or the other to station ourselves in such a way that they feel we are stationary and we pull them. Otherwise, if you think that this is [UNCLEAR], then they think that, `Oh, these think no end of themselves, they are pressurizing.' You see here they have mentally found out many things, like, you see, nobody should pressurize you, nobody should condition you, nobody should give you ideas.

So just talk on Kuṇḍalinī, in a third person, then you will get them.

Always I had a big group coming to see Me. But the second one will be less and second will be less, because as soon as they see the Sahaja Yogis, half of them drop out. Not that they are very good people, they drop out, because they have to be dropped out, doesn't matter, but we should try. They cannot not be of your quality, naturally, you see. Alright, so let us develop a very logical, sensible discretion about it.

Alright.

Sahaja Yogi: Things will get better in Cambridge, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Of course. You have to be good salesmen. There are few words like this, you must say “thank you, sir, of course." “Of course” we'll say, “Is it so?", “Of course” or something. “Of course" in a good way. If they say, “Can we get cured?", “Of course, why not." Like that.

Anything like that if you say, positiveness of yours, they will be happy.

Alright, so now what is another problem; now you, please, see that you go somewhere and work it out.

Cambridge must grow, Cambridge must grow, it's very important. This is no discussion needed, nothing, to understand Me is the easiest thing. You don't sit down and take out every hair of Mine and split it.

Develop your own discretion. I'm a Mahāmāyā, you know, if you go into that kind of a trip, you'll never end it. Don't analyze Me at all, be gross about it. Whatever you hear, “Alright, this is, Mother has said it. Alright." Do it! Finished! Don't analyze. If you go to analysis, you lose the synthesis that has been created. You should not analyze anything. Whatever I say, “Alright, this is what Mother has said.

Alright." I'm not contradictory. I don't contradict Myself, do I? Then it's alright.

But listen to My lecture; every word and word if you try to split it, you will get nowhere. They are mantras. Every word is a mantra, whatever I say is a mantra. In fact. I won't use a particular word at a particular time, if it doesn't fit into the mantra. Even My movements; you know, the whole Universe moves with this, you know that very well.

So, everything has a great meaning.

So you just don't go and try to split Me and to understand Me intelligently. You cannot! Nobody can understand. I have no intelligence, to such an extent that I am beyond your intelligence. I am beyond. You don't try to split Me into words, into thing. That's not... you can't do it. Whatever I've said it, you take it, put it down. Alright. Now, any other problem, any other thing you have, you tell Me. Yes, doctor?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR] without the outcome coming arrogant, as You have described the English as being. Could You explain what the sense of real word involves?

Shri Mataji: Now let's see from where the word comes. First of all let's see the origin of the word.

Origin of the word is paravāṇi, that's called as paravāṇi, is beyond the sound, beyond the sound, paravāṇi, the energy. Energy of sound is called as paravāṇi, alright? This paravāṇi is represented within us in our stomach, is there. It is in the stomach first of all. And then it ascends gradually from stomach. It is the part where it starts throbbing, supposing somebody has a cancer for the stomach, then you can feel the throbbing in that area. You want to find out if somebody has a cancer in the stomach, you put your finger in this and you find a throbbing coming away. Of course it is not vice versa also that if there is throbbing there is cancer! But if there is cancer invariably there has to be throbbing. There has to be no throbbing in the stomach. If there is throbbing then that means: there is something wrong with us.

So first the obstruction takes place through that paravāṇi in the stomach and that is how this obstruction there makes the sound, “lap, dap lap, dap, lap, dap." Alright. Then it rises higher into the heart. Into the heart the same sound becomes audible. When it becomes audible, when you start hearing it. That happens because that energy makes the heart pump and that pumping makes the sound. But is Anāhat, is the one, which is without the percussion. Then the same sound, energy, goes in the Viśhuddhi Chakra.

When it goes to the Viśhuddhi Chakra, then it is pashyanti, it is the one that sees, [UNCLEAR] here [UNCLEAR] here it is [UNCLEAR]. Pashyanti means `it sees'. It sees that sound. Just sees. Means: if there is any sound anywhere, it sees that, it knows, it sees. It's the witness state of the sound here. And on this sound only you have seen how animals, everybody lives with that sound, act with that sound. Say, an animal, supposing there's one type of a sound, is going on, “tap, tap, tap” continuously, it knows everything is fine. But if there's any change, it knows there's a change.

So the sound at Viśhuddhi, it becomes a pashyanti, means the one that sees. Any sound comes, we immediately start seeing. It acts [UNCLEAR]. Any sound, so it is in the pashyanti state. But then it becomes vaikharī, in the sound box.

Vaikharī means it speaks.

So now, it comes from paravāṇi, madhyama, here, then it becomes pashyanti and then it becomes vaikharī, which speaks. Alright.

So when it speaks, then it is modulated by many things that is, it is all connected with brains. We are connected to the brain. The brain has two sides: one is the conditioning and other is the ego. And these two sides act on the Viśhuddhi as you know that here first crossing takes place at this [UNCLEAR].

So at Viśhuddhi, if you have a right side Viśhuddhi, you are arrogant, you are blunt, you say things just like that without feeling what another person is going to feel about it, how he is going to react or anything. Why? I ask the question. In the center resides Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa and Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is madhurya, is sweetness. Because you have diverted yourself from there, you become harsh. On the left hand side is the Viṣhṇumāyā, is the power. Right side is Viṭṭhala, “tha, tha” like they say in [UNCLEAR] speech, what we use in the most of Sanskrit language they'll say that when you have to describe the [UNCLEAR] of war, if you have to describe the war, you have to use `tha, tha, tha'. These are the things, `tha, tha'. The Viṭṭhala, Viṭṭhala, Viṭṭhala as you say here. This `tha', you see, is the sign that [UNCLEAR] also Indian language or even Sanskrit language is like we say, have to [UNCLEAR] hit somebody, “thakkar" all these words we use.

So the language is phonetic as well as expressive.

So what happens that on the right side you become “tha, tha, dha, na” speak like that.

Left side is Viṣhṇumāyā. Viṣhṇumāyā is the one is the accumulation of the clouds and when they rock, you get the Viṣhṇumāyā, is the electricity.

So it comes like a electrical thing, so [UNCLEAR] what you call the sarcasm. It is accumulation of all these conditionings within us that will suddenly come up.

So these two reactions take place of this energy, which is here as `dha', `dha'. Can you say it? Is a mild `tha'.

So this `dha' that is within us is to be used as an indication of our sweetness, gentleness. But some people who are gentle by force, you see, they are forced to be gentle, then suddenly they come up as with Viṣhṇumāyā. You see, they have be normally gentle, alright and very kind, very nice this and that. Then you crack at a point. When you crack, then you say something sarcastic or you may use right side also, but mostly it's sarcastic, because that's how you give an outlet to your conditionings.

So that's how these two things happen, alright. But in the center is [UNCLEAR], think of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, of His childhood, what pranks He used to play. How sweet He was, how He used to play with the mother, how He stole the butter. And that's why He said butter is the solution, ghee is the solution for making your sound sweet, your talking sweet you have to be like butter.

There's a Sanskrit couplet, beautiful, not really Sanskrit, but it translates like this, “Some people say that a saint's heart is like butter, but butter melts when it is heated, but a saint's heart melts when others are heated." So you are saints.

So to be in the center here that's the best way. And I must say Viśhuddhi is a big, big, big problem in England. Especially left Viśhuddhi is so much. You know I get such terrible pains all over with left Viśhuddhi.

So one should talk very sweetly. Now, who promises Me that? Let Me see the hands. You are promising Me, alright? You are promising Ādi Shakti! Remember that. Be careful! Right hand, better put up right hand.

Thank you.

May God bless you.

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

[UNCLEAR May I] no intentions of having a Public Programs in England. But somehow mister Gavin Brown hopes against hopes……

[`Jerusalem' is sung.] May God bless all those who desired that Jerusalem should be built here in England.

Contents: 1985-08-31 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Spreading Sahaja Yoga, Wimbledon, London, UK

… where example of the dearth of seeking in this country or may be there is some sort of lacking on the part of English Sahaja Yogis also. The way that, because I am here, people take things for granted or may be that there are few like Gavin and others are very anxious, trying to do their level best to do this.

And I think on two points My being here failed. One point is that we all must know `What have we done for Sahaja Yoga?' Some people take two or three posters and post them then they think they have done everything. No. You have to do much more than anywhere else because you are placed in this important thing called the heart. Everybody has had an advantage of Sahaja Yoga, has been helped a lot. We have to think what have we done for Sahaja Yoga. It has done so much for us; what have we done for Sahaja Yoga. That's very important.

So then there should be, I think I was expressing that anxiety which the people, who are your leaders and those who are worried about Sahaja Yoga in England. And My lecture, the whole lecture has that tremendous concern; and then we have to think what have we done. We have houses, we have places, we have ashrams, we have families, we have wives, we have every thing and the Sahaja Yoga still if it is `by the way' then this is the result. You get twenty nonsensical arrogant people who don't get realisation and some of them get it and get out.

So I think this is on one side. Is this that what have we done for Sahaja Yoga? We should be, in other countries I am not there, so it's for them when I go there even for four five days, the whole place is filled with My posters, the whole place. It has to be done every time I speak.

The whole of London should have been today filled with My posters. I mean anybody who goes to, say, Switzerland or to Rome or to Paris they tell Me, Indians, that we saw your posters all over the place. But never has happened in London. Now I hope this is not the last program,, Public Program in England. But still one has to work very hard. All of you should think what you can do, because every body has taken things in their own style.

Like the leaders are worried, they're working hard and they are all trying to do things and arrange things, all that. But what have you done, is the point. Now some people have had failures. Say for example some people had failures with the officials and with the government or with the TV. Doesn't matter. We know we have failed there, but advertising, postering, talking about it, going round it, all that can be done. This one part is very good in this respect is that outside London things are working out better. But how many of you have been doing that? Very few. The same party goes here; same party has to do it all the time. Now, now this is one side of the picture, is that the advertising and all that has to be done more intensely, extensively and everybody must offer their full support and services. On the seminar side you are all very good, everything is done well. I agree.

So many things are, because we have to do so many things [UNCLEAR together], but still you being the heart you have to be like that. What can you do? That's one part of it.

And, second part of it I feel, is like we had in Hampstead about three hundred people and they came and what I have learnt is that when they came to the program nobody was sort of open hearted, sort of talked to them in that way as they should have.

Some of you did, but not all. Most of you were just sitting down, like if they come to My house, they will just sit down with hands like this. You cannot. You cannot just do that, this is not done. Come to My house, sit down like this. Always they will come and sit down and put hands like this. Can't do like that. That shows you are very insular, very selfish. And also in a way arrogant. You can not take My vibrations without My permission. Can you? So, this is suggestive of one thing that what we do is to take things for granted and we, when we talk to others also, it takes time for an Englishman to get [UNCLEAR it]. That's the thing is. The quality of this is, this that in [UNCLEAR in may not be needed] English do not want to interfere with any one.

They want to leave them alone. It's not the bad thing. They want that why should we interfere, aggress.

That's the point. But that's not the point now, we have to aggress. This is the thing I am giving you.

That means you don't mean that. Now what you mean is that not to interfere. See they don't discuss religion in England. No, they are not supposed to say these things. You are not to discuss whether you are a Miss or a Mrs. You are not to say whether you have children or not. If you ask somebody a question `Have you got children?' that means the most offensive thing. You are not to discuss anybody's family.

There are so many `don'ts' in this country so that we do not also sort of get up worried that this may be taken as interference. But just opposite are Americans. They will go up to the great grandfather and up to the whole progeny to find out.

So interference should be forgotten; there should be no fear about them.

But open your heart and talk to them openly with an open heart. But people recede back. Once they recede back others also somehow or other get frightened. Because they think you are just like them. You have to be different to attract.

So amongst English Sahaja Yogis there are some who are very anxious, very much worried that you so much working it out.

Some of them are really indifferent and the middle part is, those who are still trying to see how far to go, how far not to go. You have to be aggressive about it. I mean, as if now I feel, the English have aggressed so much that now they are so fed-up with the aggressiveness. That's the thing I want you to have today. To be aggressed. Aggressiveness is the only way that you can reach these people otherwise they won't understand. And you have to talk to them on their faces. I have seen how people talk. If you talk to them like that, they are all right unless and until you work out that way. When the people come, you talk to them in an aggressively loving manner. Do you understand that? Exuberance. Just open out your heart.

“How?", “Come along, come along” “Where are you going?" “Sit down” “What do you want?", “Come along", one minute English will look like this. Second minute. You must understand your own character that is existing in those, these people also. The language starts, “I am afraid." So aggressively compassionate, aggressively loving, aggressively open hearted. Non interference and all those ideas are out of date now. Finished. Now openness, no arrogance, no anger, but openness. Aggressive in a sense, like children are. Children are so aggressively innocent that you like it. I mean, they catch hold of you. They all will come and jump on your body and sleep on top of you, kissing you all over. That's how. You have to be aggressively loving and aggressively good. “What you want?", “You want something to eat?", “You want this, that, that”, they will be surprised how these English people have become like this.

So, on these two things we fail. And this anguish and this anxiety that I have is, is one of the expressions of the modern times and also because of modern times. Because modern times are so funny that if you click it, you click it and if you don't click it, missed. It's so important, so precarious, is the word, so precarious, at this time if you don't click it, it's finished.

So I find everyone is capable of doing lots of things for Sahaja Yoga. But what have we done for Sahaja Yoga? Nice seminar, you come and enjoy it.

Good idea. Enjoy Sahaj Yogis. Mother is collecting them. One of the examples is that from the other countries people come. They are sick, they have problems, this, that. Immediately telephone will ring Me up saying, “Mother, somebody has come with ten bhoots and fifteen babhoots." So what?

Sahaja Yogi: When should that person see you?

Shri Mataji: I said, “The person or the bhoots?" And the bhoots only come. The person is missing. At least you can reduce some numbers and then send such a person.

Now I have started using the hearth of My house instead of the candle. Now will you please look after the bhoots of the people, when they come? And among you there are many like that. Your children are caught up.

Some of the wives are caught up.

Some of the husbands are caught up. But nobody pays attention. Carrying on with them; some times even support it. And just I see them, even staying in ashrams, I must say, some of them are really bhootish and troublesome. And you think that you have to tolerate this. No crucifixion needed any more. If somebody has a bhoot better tell that person, `You are catching.' I do not want to tell. But you know what happens to Me. My hands and My feet they all go crazy, if there is the bhootish person around.

So I just run away.

In the same way it should happen to you. And you should try to correct that person but nobody much bothers. You see because you think correction will be too much. May be he might feel hurt and run away.

Let him run away. Take two running jumps and go to hell. But the whole thing should be a concern and anxiety and loving way, then you will attract that person. Today I was really so full of vibrations nothing would be sucking. These horrible twenty people or so, whosoever they were, they were stopping you also from sucking Me. I mean they were more powerful than you are in suction, I think.

So, now there is some thing wrong with this. What is that wrong is that, `What have we done for Sahaja Yoga?', first question. Second is, `What am I doing about myself? Where am I?' Nice to ask the question, `What's the difference between a God-realised and a Self-realised?' God-realised never catches, just knows. Now why do I feel horrible, only with Sahaja Yogis and not with non Sahaja Yogis? Even Narakasura comes before Me I can kill him. But Sahaja Yogis are inside My body. What am I to do? They are part and parcel of Me, they are not foreigners.

So when they get sick I get sick Myself, because they are inside Myself. No deity has done that. No incarnation has done that job. Nobody has injected Sahaja Yogis inside their body. Has anyone done that way? You are all inside My body, part and parcel.

When something goes wrong with you, it goes wrong with Me inside naturally. It's indiscriminate you can say. But if I were not indiscriminate how many would have gone inside My body? That's how I can cleanse you. I can look after you. I can now work out things very well.

Some thing happens to someone in Australia I can work it out here because he is in My body. That's why I get sick. I can say, “I get caught up, because I have got some bhoots within me." So you must keep out your bhoots. This is the third point, very important, `How can I have bhoots in me? How can I have left side, or right side or any thing? I am in the body of Mother, who is the Ādi Shakti. What a privilege? What a honour? So now I can't have any bhoots within myself. It has to be something very pure.' So try to purify yourself. Keep yourself pure. What I am saying now is for English, is for all of you.

English being always the leaders for starting something good, I have to talk to them more. They have done it, because they were the ones who fought the war, won it and that's how we started turning the tides. But now the instruments that we are going to use have to be that powerful. If Europeans among them say [UNCLEAR Brussels] people come up very well then I will shift My attention. We can shift heart these days. Transplant is possible. Have you heard of heart from right goes to the left or left to the right. God can do it. There are people born with the heart on the right hand side also.

So, to be very precise I think that this seminar should be used for also having a inner insight. See what have we done for Sahaja Yoga. That will help. Secondly, very important is, `Are we open hearted?' Now for example we can say like this, that supposing I am in the house and the bell rings up. If there is an American, he will say, “I will get it” and he will the first to see, to run and English would be looking this side that side, because of a kind of lethargy, that is certainly. Because that's the idea of the negative to freeze the heart and that freezing is to be avoided. `I'll get it. I'll do it. I will work it out. I have to do it,' that must be told. All the English Sahaja Yogis must know that they have to be the most active people. Do you know even when we sleep the heart is beating all the time till we exist.

So I have to tell you that you bear a very big responsibility to Sahaja Yoga. That's why I have been here. I have been with you. That does not mean that you should take the things for granted. You can do a lot. You have to circulate. May be English Sahaja Yogis will have to travel a lot.

But first of all, first and foremost, open your heart. Talk openly and sweetly. You have children learn from them. How they talk, how sweetly they move. Really open your heart. Unless and until you open you heart, how can you do anything for anybody else? And that's what one has to achieve. I am sure next program I can see Myself all over London. All right.

[Sahaja Yogis do the Jaikara of Shri Mataji.] Now don't feel guilty, I am getting terrible pain. Don't feel guilty. Face it. Yes, it's true. Don't feel guilty about it. For heaven's sake don't feel guilty, because I am now getting a terrible pain again. All right.

So, you can have some music. All right. Then I will go, because tomorrow I have to come for your Pūjā.

So, if you don't mind, tomorrow about 11 o'clock we start the Pūjā. But those who have to cancel their things, I hope they manage that tomorrow. I bless you with that.

May God bless you.

[UNCLEAR].

We can start at 10 o'clock. We can start Pūjā at 10. I mean for Me it's all right; I can even start at 9.

What about you people? I can start at 6 or just now.

[UNCLEAR].

... What about others? You see, actually I don't know what sort of Pūjā it is going to be. Because you see that it's Viṣhṇumāyā's Pūjā, so we can have a short Pūjā. It's all right. It has to be done in the night, no doubt. In the sense that [UNCLEAR]. But doesn't matter. We can call it a global Pūjā, some sort of a general Pūjā, you can call it. I don't know. Viṣhṇumāyā is some thing so powerful. All right, so let's have some music. Then I will go back home. [UNCLEAR].

So let's see now. What is the contribution? Now you have seen the music that has come from Nasik.

What a professional music it was. Did you hear that? Now what have you to produce? Just look at that.

It was a real professional thing they have done.

So we should try to find out some thing better. All right.

Now let's have some music.

[Long pause.] Now for India tour. You see, this may be there as I told you. I didn't know, this year or may be next year, may be the last year, I can't say. The reason is once we have established our Ashrams in India, I don't think I will be able to take all this. Go round all the villages and all that. Once we have Ashrams they will all come down to see us there. In India for them it's a pilgrimage and they go out of the way to do it.

So when you people are coming there, after that once we have established our Ashrams, there won't be any of these India tours much, which you now have enjoyed very much. May be this might be the last year or next year, I don't know, depends on as soon as we establish the Ashrams.

Now I see that people could not understand the value of Indian tour also. It does lot of good to you because its' a country which is heavenly, I should say, as far as vibrations are concerned. In fact we are living in hell here because I see the TV and horrible things and I mean it's really terrible. There are so many Indians who come here and they say they loose their vibrations, not only here, America and England.

So the Indian tour, though apart from anything else itself, is visiting India, is still a clearer country, especially Maharashtra. Now this time to make it convenient, we have made it for three weeks.

So you are there only for three weeks; two weeks around and one week around the sea shore. Now actually we'll not have many, Public Programs. But that is something every year. If you can not do it, at least alternate years should have been done. I find that people don't understand the importance of Indian tour.

99% people who have been to India settled down in Sahaja Yoga. There must be something about it.

So, those who are going to, now we have made it the minimum possible. Though everybody warned us, Warren said that it's going to be very expensive, it is ten times more. Everything was there. But whatever minimum we have got [UNCLEAR]. Luckily also Air India, because it has so many accidents, it has gone very cheap. And, you people should know that if you have to go, pay the money in time. You are still waiting for last minute. I am going to be here for a month, I know that. But that doesn't mean that you should take so much time. It's like a pilgrimage and everybody should cooperate, everybody should try. I can not manage many, but quite a lot we can manage now. Because we have made two tours now, in case you cannot buy the first tour you come for the second tour. Must not be so difficult.

But if you see, I have now noticed people quite closely and people waste their money a lot. Just the other way round Indians are. You know they keep all the money just for My tour there. Keep all their holidays, all their money for the tours. Though they do not gain so much as you people gain because it's a new world you go.

So those who are coming should decide, but those who are not coming also must think it over. It's not difficult. It's better. I hope this is not the last time, or may be, I can't say. Because, once we have an Ashram then I need not go all over. The Indians will all come; from all over India they will come. People are already coming from Madras [Chennai]. Even if I have a small little room they come down. Because we have no place to make them stay, that's why, otherwise you will be surprised they will be all there. You won't be able to see or script it. There will be so many.

Before that starts you must understand that you have to work in India somehow or other. At least once.

Next year or this year, you have to. But I can't even promise next year. I really tell you. I must say that 90% next year we will have the program, because it's becoming very difficult. Very difficult money-wise also. Another wise it's becoming unwieldy.

So I would request you to think it over and those who want to come should give your names. Even if you have not paid the money you can do it because I am here for this month.

So those who have not yet given your names also can give your names to Gavin. We will adjust it. But I can not make it cheaper. I wanted to make it much cheaper but it is not the food that is expensive it is the travelling. Now travelling has become much cheaper.

But everything is `by the way', that's the trouble is. By the way. You see, if you want to save money and people will save money to buy Rolls-Royce which costs, I do not know how much for that horrible fellow, in one year. Sahaja Yogis can't have money to go to India. Unbelievable. At least once everybody should go, I think. Because it helps. Helps them such a lot. I Myself never knew that it would help so much, but now I believe that it does help.

So those who have not yet given money also can give their names to Gavin or to their leaders. We will be saving staying for seven days on the sea shore, beautiful, one of the best in the whole world, where Śhrī Gaṇeśha is there. And the water of the sea comes out of His Nābhī and only His lower body you can see. The Head is the mountain itself. You can see the lights coming out of it. Only the Sahaja Yogis can see.

I don't know about the next year also. But it should not be a thing that is a sort of a `by the way'.

That's important.

So let us see what's happening because Australians have quite a lot coming and we have to see about the others also. All right.

May God bless you.

Let's have nice music. Look at the music they have produced! The quality! Try to compete with them.

[Long pause.] [UNCLEAR].

Ranu! He got his realisation only last year. [Last year Jale na]. Last year this fellow got his realisation.

In one year, we have made copies of that music for you people to be given you as presents, only to the leaders.

[Pause.] You must try for perfection. Perfect it. All right? All of you should try to perfect it. Make it absolutely professional. Otherwise it is a waste. Because you see that, we can not go the public, without it being professional. You see. It has to be made professional, that level I mean.

[Music.] [Pause.] [Music.] [UNCLEAR].

At a meeting like this of course. But just, it's a inner, inner feeling of vibrations. The main thing, inner feeling. You feel it inside.

Sahaja Yogi: We would like to sing two songs for you.

Shri Mataji: All right. Please.

[Music.] Very good. It's like waves. And when they come to the shore, then the shore reacts. Then there is two ways and four ways and ten ways. It's beautiful. Well done, thank you. [Music.] I have forgotten all My troubles. After meeting you all, I have really forgotten all the past, just enjoying the present. I have forgotten.

[Pause.] [Music.] Beautiful, very nice, but you see some of the words I can not catch. I can feel the vibrations.

You should have more books, I think. Or they disappear, I think. You see the books should be collected back, that is the best way and should be carried again for the seminars.

[Aside in some other context:] That would be better.

If you want I will love to hear. It's a very good one. You should take a fast number.

[Music.] Chris you have sent Me some very beautiful poems. Have you brought them with you, from Bristol? Where is he? Where is Chris Wekfield? You sent Me? You know I told them it was Chris Wekfield who wrote. But they said, “No, this Chris Wekfield is not a writer, another Chris is the writer." But I tell you there is a poet. Poets are not writers that's trouble. Very much. But what about them? Where are they? You haven't brought? Oh! I will bring them tomorrow, I think. Beautiful! And he is a real poet, real poet, seeking, poetry is so great.

You see now I will tell you one thing about poetry. In the poetry, poetry means there has to be magic in the words. When you say something it must have a magic. If there is no magic then it's not poetry.

Then the second thing is that it's precise, it has to be precise. It has to be small sentences. Like many propositions and all that are to be dropped out. Adjectives to be dropped, but you are allowed.

So many adverbs can be dropped out. But mainly what you can drop out are articles, absolutely.

Third is that it must have Rasa. Rasa means the essence. It must have the essence. And the essence are according to Indian science are nine types. Must have an essence. Now this is the essence today is the Bhakti . When you are singing of Bhakti and devotion then you have to use words, extremely gentle words, gentle words, beautiful words, words that are delicate, the words that express devotion through humility, words of humility.

Now, what I see now with your compositions. They are two types. One is addressed to others and one addressed to Me. In the others, you have addressed some to the other people, who are not Sahaja Yogis; some your own Sahaja Yogis together and some are addressed to Me.

So there are three types of compositions you have done. Now when you are addressing to others, it need not be that delicate. And as it is, `Come and see,' `Listen,' `Look', this is what you should do. In a general way they wouldn't understand.

So you have to use words which are a sort of forcing them, pushing into it. `What are you doing?' This is the poem same way written down and a very good poem, no doubt. But in this poem whatever you have written, this one is good, nice and everything fine, but what I find is still a little bit diplomacy.

Now, if it is say how many of you want to be saved today. They say all of us. How do you count? How do you find out? So, the question should be asked the way in really [UNCLEAR reality], in totality, actually, honestly. Put these adjectives in between so that then people understand honestly. Are we honest? They will all say, “We all want to be." They are all seekers. You are seekers. We are seekers.

Why should we run after Mātājī? All right.

So honestly and all those things sort of, you see, make it look more objective. You fix them. You have to hem them up otherwise they will slip out. In whatever you sing it should be such that they are pushed into a point they have no escapes left.

So when you write now, next time, its' going to be a poetry, no doubt but correct it, when you address to others, see that they have no escape. That they can not budge out. All right, Gregoire. You are a scholar so I must ask your permission.

Now second one is, when we are singing among ourselves. Now the thing that is joy, joy is very good one. But we are not addressing to folk people, that's the point. We are addressing to intellectuals.

So that's a good one between ourselves when we sing. We have to adjust to the intellectuals, so we can challenge relatively. `What have they got? With the intellect what did I get? With this, what did I get? All these barren things, useless things, good for nothing, not a single friend,' and then come down, `What I got in Sahaja Yoga?' This relative description should be given.

So, I hope, some of you will write poetry on that.

Now third one is what Wekfield has done. Is My description and devotion come out very well? I must say. I think that's the highest, one can do. That's the best but still we need all this, we have to have, otherwise we can not manage.

So that's a part of it. But the essence of it, the praise, where many great poets, many great writers, many great saints and incarnations have aspired to sing the praise of the Mother. Great aspirations. Like Mārkandeya did that. Today also we read it after fourteen thousand years. Then Ādi Shañkarāchārya did that. Poetry of that level should come out. I would request you to read those poems, poetry of those people to compose such high class poetry. Not a word can be changed, not to be added and that's how we try to perfect it. Try to perfect it. When you have written it down, sit down, think over it again. Try to bring in better words. Try to put better words, so you actually make it a perfect poetry, a perfect setting, that's it. But a poet is a poet, born poet. It's a thing that is born and even after Sahaja Yoga many people suddenly become poets.

Like Damle, they used to tease, he was an engineer, never used to write but wrote very well, very beautiful. His poems are very good. Even now I think he is very good. But there is another fellow Khade who did beautiful writing. I don't know where are his poems lost, but they are somewhere. And such tremendous things he has written, I was amazed. But says “I don't write, but Saraswatī is writing in me." So for that you see the spontaneity is all right, but you have to have the technique to write. The technique must be there, the spontaneity I will look after.

So you also have to develop a little bit of technique. How to write it up? In these three categories you write up differently.

So when you write about your Mother, you have to be absolutely sure, absolutely one and absolutely surrendered.

So the whole thing can be an epic. Absolutely the topmost thing that one can do in poetry is to write the praise of the Mother. That's the highest.

So all the poetry is very nice, comes out of very generous heart and also very great hearts.

But it has to have a technique. The technique is to be little bit understood in a Divine way. That, what makes it a thing that throbs in your heart.

So that you will see yourself that will throb in your heart. If you are detached about it you will do it. You do it very well. I was so happy about Chris's. I told them, it is Chris Wekfield who has written to Me. They thought that it is Chris [UNCLEAR] from Bristol. I said all right, let Me ask first of all with Chris from Bristol. Beautiful poetry, beautifully done. All right.

So best of luck to you for all these good poems and poetries that you have done. And, all these pieces are extremely beautiful, but we have to perfect it. Make it better and better and in tune with Divine vibrations. We should see vibrations also. What gives you the best vibrations? Tunes could be simple, could be complicated, could be magical, could be any thing. But the poetry must not narrate, but create magic. Sanskrit it is said any thing there is Chamatkar and there is magic.

Chamatkar is the light of the magic. Means there is light of the magic then we should call it poetry.

Rasatmaka wakyam kavyam. When there is Rasa then there is Kavya, there is poetry, otherwise no, without Rasa there is no poetry. Now this is the part where composer is concerned.

Now for the part of the present work is to sing. To sing from your heart, knowing, before whom you are sitting. From your heart. You are not singing for yourself, you are singing for Me, singing for the whole universe. Say it from your heart, knowing that I am before you, understanding. Secondly you must have the technique of singing it. It's very important. All these techniques are built-in through tradition; understanding. Whatever is not proper is thrown away. It should not be that, one line flows long and another line go short. No. There should be a proper technique for how to do it. See, like a free verse business is no good for Sahaja Yoga.

So that technique you have to know, how to sing it with that the music. But the drum is an essential part of every music. Because that is the part where Anāhata is played.

So in sound, drum has to be there. When you are singing there has to be drum as well as other accompaniments. Any accompaniments you have, but drum is an essential part, that has to be there. And the whole thing should be on a rhythmic understanding. That is you have seen how Indians have rhythmic understanding. You see, they cut it into three halves, four halves and they bring it back. And, how they cut it, how they go off beat, it's really too much. But you can compose to a great extent on those lines and that technique has to come properly understood. Like singing in parts itself is a big technique and one has to understand how you do it.

But there are so many other things which you have is [UNCLEAR tremor/Tremolo], you have yodeling; I do not know if you have used those things or not at all but you should use it. And there are so many things you have enjoyed, all of these things you should use, which helps a lot in music. I don't know much about Western music. Whatever I know and these things if you use it will help a lot to bring out the music in it's proper way. And I don't know, if you have any soprano singers also. And the way they sing, beautifully. You have to have some of them.

So, in between the soprano singers, can sing a tune but should be made a proper, sensible, organized thing. Because to the public, they can't understand this.

And another could be hippy style of music, I don't mind even that. It's all right. But if it is sung with the heart, with the devotion, like a folklore. It will be very good. But should be so fast and so accurate and so clear-cut that people should feel this is something so great.

So you can have all varieties. You can have classical, Sahaja style, you can have this yodeling style and then you can have, you have many styles, you can sing like that.

And we too have [UNCLEAR many styles], like for the tapes you have heard now. We have two tapes which are absolutely folk. I don't know if you have noticed this, very fast number, the first one is. And the first one is about how abstract, without form, the formless has become, has appeared now into form.

The first one. It's such a fast number.

So I hope you have heard it. Have you heard it clearly? I would like to hear it once again. Just play the first one, Nirguni Nirguni, is without any this thing.

Contents: 1985-09-01 Śhrī Viṣhṇumāyā Pūjā, Southalands College, Wimbledon, London, UK

Today's Pūjā of Viṣhṇumāyā, who was the sister of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, was not scheduled as such in an international Pūjās that we do. But they say for the love of God when all the devotees assemble, God also has to break many rules and that's how this Pūjā has been accepted to be done. At least once it should be done, I think, was a good idea. By your love and your devotion it was desired and so this Pūjā is going to be performed.

It's just spontaneous that I happened to be in England at this time, because this Pūjā if ever had happened, would have happened in India. Because this is a Pūjā of a deity, Viṣhṇumāyā, the seed of which is not easy to plant in the Western countries.

Now the whole Shakti programming has been done in such a way that we have Mother as a Shakti first, the Primordial Mother. Then we have three Shaktis coming out of Her, as you know, Mahākālī, Mahālakṣhmī, Mahāsaraswatī. And then we have children from them: brothers and sisters.

So before the power of what we call the wife or the spouse was created, is the power of the sister is created.

So, as you know that Brahmā, Viṣhṇu, Maheśha were born to these three Shaktis and they all had sisters. And their sisters were married, like Viṣhṇu's sister is Pārvatī and She was married to Shiva. Is very important to understand that these three types of powers always play on the Chakras. And if you understand these three powers, how they play, then you will understand what is the importance of Viṣhṇumāyā is. Viṣhṇumāyā is the power of a sister in a family.

So the female is the power and the male is the kinetic power which asserts the powers of these three powers which surround him.

So when the male power comes in, all these powers become helpful acting associates with that power.

Now Viṣhṇumāyā's power is very important to understand, because Mother power is to protect your innocence, because that is the most important thing. To protect your innocence is the Mother's power.

Now, Viṣhṇumāyā's power is to protect your chastity. You don't understand sometimes what is chastity and what is innocence. Innocence is a power which is not acted upon. Like we have electricity in our house, the electricity exists like innocence exists within us; but enactment of that is done through chastity.

A person can say, “I did this very innocently", no, he cannot. Because whatever you do if it is innocent, cannot be harmful to your character, to your innocence or to your righteousness.

So those people who say like this, that “I did it innocently" are wrong, because innocently if you do anything it becomes chastity.

So when innocence is practiced it becomes chastity. You must have respect of your chastity. Chastity is the one which is Viṣhṇumāyā's power within us, Gaurī's power, is the pure virgin. She doesn't marry. As you know that Viṣhṇumāyā was created, just after Her birth She was killed by Kamsa.

Now to understand the significance of chastity within us, we have to know that chastity is the foundation of all Dharmas. Unless and until you have sense of chastity you cannot have Dharma. Dharma is not possible because that's the foundation. It will be a house of cards; if you do not have the foundation of chastity it will just collapse in no time.

So is a very important thing is chastity which has been challenged in the West throughout and that's why I'm saying is difficult to sow the seed of chastity in this country. And that it should happen, there must be some Divine plan I think, that it has happened that this great Pūjā should be performed here. It's not a easy Pūjā to do, is to be done by people who are innocent, done by people who have lead a very religious life; those who have been very chaste, have respected their chastity.

But now as you are saints, before you everything is pure and good, because now you have been leading a saintly life. That's why chastity has become awakened in you and chastity works in you as Gaurī, as your Kuṇḍalinī.

So if you come to the essence of religious life, of righteous life, of Sahaja Yoga life, is chastity. You cannot diversify it. Now this chastity gives you the Maryādās, means delimits you.

Why are you sitting here? Go further, it's better to be in front. This is, you are not doing the Pūjā.

If you are doing the Pūjā, then you sit here. Otherwise, better sit down. Better get My vibrations there, in front. Here, come along.

So the chastity is the one that gives you Maryādās, gives you the limits. How does it give you the limits? Like the, in the sky is the lightning. When the two clouds, who are like Sahaja Yogis we can say, came out of the sea and pure water is there in the, those clouds and they have to be poured out; when they come closer together and cross their limits of their ego, or fight with each other or in any way clash, is, there is this chastity, this lightning that takes place. This lightning which says that `You are wrong.

Why are you fighting among yourself? Why are you crossing each other's ego?' That's the sister's job.

Yesterday we have had many sisters. Now the sister's job is not to take sides, but to show that if you cross your limits of your brotherliness, then there will be a lightning.

Now this power of lightning is a part of the power of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa which He took it out from Himself.

That's why He became such a sweet, gentle incarnation. He took it out. He said, “Now you've become My sister and every time they try to misbehave you better work it out." And that's how Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa became such a gentle and a very, as they call it, romantic incarnation; because He took out the sisterly part away and He worked it out. But She was always with Him and She worked with Him; because the sister in the family has to see that the brothers don't fight, they are all looked after well, that they are not challenged by others, that she gives them the Maryādās how far to go, how far to go.

Now it's very important, very, very important for all of us to understand that Freud and all these nonsensical people brought forth the theories to challenge Viṣhṇumāyā, so that we should have all kinds of funny relationships, which is an impossibility, is a wrong thing. Now if there is any relationship like that between brothers and sisters, for seven generations the family suffers from terrible diseases, seven generations. But if there's another like Freud-style relationship, then fourteen generations the family has to suffer.

So the limiting forces of Viṣhṇumāyā are such that your ego is controlled, your superego is controlled, your family is controlled. Everybody is under control, under the guidance of this pure power of Viṣhṇumāyā which exists within all of us.

And the saddest part is that in all the Western countries Viṣhṇumāyā is sick, absolutely sick. I mean, I have lost My hearing even, up to that point it has come, on the left hand side, because the sense of chastity is completely lacking. We have to forget about the people now who have no sense at all, but now we are Sahaja Yogis.

So coming to the right point, we have to say that, that many people have still some lingering funny ideas, like `I have a good friendship with that gentleman' or `I'm very friendly with such and such gentleman' and all that. It's not a Maryādā then. You cannot have friendship with, between men and women, you cannot, it's absolutely absurd. In the West the whole culture is funny; because if you go to a dinner party you are supposed to sit with somebody's husband on both the sides, horrible! But in the East it's not done, because the Viṣhṇumāyā is against these things. She will see to it that husband and wife sit together.

Now here, as you know, the chastity part is so much missing that our left Viśhuddhis are catching. And when I talk about it, it catches more. Now when you say you are not guilty, you are actually admitting it to Viṣhṇumāyā, to your own sister, saying that “I am not guilty." But She doesn't like you to have the guilt upon you.

The wife may like you to have the guilt. She may like that you should have the guilt, because she thinks her power is challenged and that she has somebody who is her rival. But not, not Viṣhṇumāyā; the sister does not say that.

But a brother and a sister are never friends. Now in a group we are sitting here. Like that, in any group a brother and a sister, they are, they know that they exist as brothers and sisters but they don't cling onto one person, they don't talk to one person, they don't get friendly with that sister. Like once we had a big fete with these Christians once, I remember and I must be having at least thirty cousins and four, five brothers I had at that time. And we went to that function and among Indian Christians we have Christians from all kinds of stratas.

So there were some vagabonds I think, they passed some remarks about us, we sisters, you see. We didn't know we had so many cousins. They all shot out, you see, just like jack-in-the-box and they all took over and started beating those boys.

And then we realised so many cousins we have. Otherwise we never knew; they were somewhere, we were not talking to them much, we were talking among ourselves, our friends, we girls were talking to each other. Suddenly we found we have so many cousins and so many brothers. It was most surprising that we should have so many cousins there we did not know.

Immediately they jumped on the protection of the chastity of their sister, because she is the basis of their chastity. But normally you don't talk to your brother much, nor the brother talks to you so much, you don't get friendly. But at the time of difficulties, at the time of Maryādās, at the time of consulting about something that is dear to the family, the sister comes in.

Recently My own brother, younger brother, wrote a letter to Me because there's a problem in the family. Now My mother is not there and normally a sister is better because she is easily available to you than the mother. Mother is so busy with the whole family, the whole work, you know what she's doing.

So the sisterly feeling is very important.

Now just imagine that our left Viśhuddhi is so bad. It is, of course, because we have never cared for our chastity, we have not respected our chastity. In India it is not so. Women and men all respect their chastity very much. And I've asked some foreign-going boys, they said that “Though we were doing all wrong things as they were doing, we all the time somehow knew that we were doing wrong." I said, “How is it?" He said, “There's something like a sister's relationship." But now I can say that Indian men are also becoming just like you people and have lost their power to keep their chastity. The men must respect their chastity, because they think they do not flowe anything to the chastity.

And if the basis of your spiritual existence doesn't exist, you'll collapse in no time. For that I have many a times said that put your attention on the Mother Earth, the green. Green is the colour, if you put your attention into that then you will be saved from these errors you are committing of adultery all the time, your looking at others' sisters, others' wives, others' daughters.

So the relationship that is now being expressed, as you know, is of a daughter, of a sister and of a mother, which is a very, very pure relationship.

So much so that now, supposing you use your brains too much, then why does your heart catch, have you thought of that? Why does your heart catch when you use right side too much? What is the reason for catching your heart? Must understand this, it's the same thing. The relationship of, say, Shiva is to Viṣhṇu in two ways. Firstly Viṣhṇu's wife, the sister, He has married. All right? Then who is the sister of Shiva? Shiva's sister is Saraswatī. If you work too much on Saraswatī, heart will catch. It has Maryādās. This is how the intermarriages took place, by which the sister's relationship is worked out to keep your Maryādās of your Chakras. If you cross that, you suddenly get into the left or the right because you have crossed the Maryādās of that.

Now this sisterly relationship existed in other incarnations also; like Mohammed Sahib had a sisterly relationship with, actually what we have to say that His sister as such was Ali's wife, but She was born to Him as a daughter.

So they can be born as the daughter or as the sister. She was born as Nanaka's sister, Nanaki. She was born as the daughter of Mohammed Sahib.

So it could be a sister or could be the daughter of an incarnation. But daughter and sister are innocent, pure chastity. Now think of it, that those people who cannot understand the importance of chastity, how can they talk of any laws whatsoever?, because `laws' means Maryādās and it has the proper sense through the power of Viṣhṇumāyā.

Now you might say that not to steal anybody else's thing is also not proper, because it belongs to somebody else. But who will tell you? Who is the one that is going to tell you that this is wrong? Of course, there is police, but who has told? The lawmakers. Which part of the unconscious has played is the Viṣhṇumāyā; because as soon as you steal something you feel guilty. In the law also this word `guilty' is used. And guilty comes from the left side, is Viṣhṇumāyā.

So how important it is to have a sense of chastity.

But we are very divided people and those who have moral chastity may not have material chastity.

Those who have got material chastity may not have moral chastity. Moral chastity comes first, that's very important, because it is innate. And if your moral chastity is perfectly nourished, then automatically the material chastity comes in. But the effect is the same. Whether you do money cheating in Sahaja Yoga or whether you cheat morally, your left Viśhuddhi will be caught and the whole problem will start from left Viśhuddhi.

Now supposing somebody tries to cheat in Sahaja Yoga, want to take away the money of Sahaja Yoga or something like that. Immediately his left Viśhuddhi will be caught. As soon as the left Viśhuddhi will be caught he will start behaving in a funny manner, the whole catch will be shown. If you become immoral also the left Viśhuddhi will be caught. Now the whole guilt part comes from there.

Sin against the Mother could be also an insult, in any way answering back to Mother. Many people have a habit, I've seen, of saying, “No, Mother." “No" is never to be said, because if you say “no" that means you go to the left Viśhuddhi. The Viṣhṇumāyā power will not tolerate your “no" for anything at all. Many people have a habit of saying this, “No, Mother." This is not to be done, because once you catch your left Viśhuddhi all your left Chakras become weak, because the chastity which is the basis of all the Chakras is weak.

So how much important it is to understand the value of left Viśhuddhi. All of us catch on left Viśhuddhi and we do not think that it is such an important thing. But we say, “Oh, left Viśhuddhi catching means I'm feeling guilty." We do not understand that “What have I done? I have crossed the limits, that's why is showing there. I've neglected some kind of a morality. I've gone on a wrong path against Mother and Father, that's why left Viśhuddhi's catching." Left Viśhuddhi is the indication of the mistakes, of the wrongs, of the sins. We can't afford to have left Viśhuddhi, Sahaja Yogis cannot afford to have left Viśhuddhi.

To add to the trouble, they smoke, they take all kinds of things. In India they take what you call tamakhu, is a kind of a, what leaves are these?, tobacco leaves and they think they have done no wrong. But left Viśhuddhi catches. Left Viśhuddhi, in a way, is the gateway to all kinds of problems for yourself, so be careful not to feel guilty about anything.

Moreover it's a very vicious, great vicious circle. For example, somebody has done something wrong.

I have decided that I have to tell them on their face whether they like it or not, this is wrong, as far as possible. Of course, I try to play sometimes tricks on them to understand, if they do not understand My telling them, up to a point. And then I tell them that “Now you better get out. I cannot have you in My body any more." So I throw them out of Sahaja Yoga. Once they're out of Sahaja Yoga at least My headache is over.

Now what I have seen that when this negativity starts acting, people, instead of facing it, facing the mistakes that “I am wrong, I should not have done it, it's a wrong thing to do” start giving explanations.

Once you start giving explanation, this left Viśhuddhi starts becoming like a bloated big lump and then there's no possibility of curing, no possibility of cleansing.

So people start giving explanation, “Why I did it, why I did this." Once it is said is wrong, is wrong; to be accepted, `All right, next time I'm not going to do it, I'm very sorry.' But `sorry' seems to be a very difficult word for at least Western Sahaja Yogis and some of the Indian Sahaja Yogis also, to say, `Sorry, I'm very sorry.' Indians never feel guilty, is a good idea, but they never say sorry, so it's just the same.

Now one has to understand that when you have committed a mistake, you are a human being: to err is human and to forgive, Divine. But you must know that you have erred. If you go on giving explanations then one thing is definite, you do not understand that God knows everything. If He says you have done wrong, then it is a wrong. How can you challenge, how can you say, “This is the reason I did it. That's the reason", it's the thing one must understand. Because this is the power of electricity, you must understand, gives you a shock. It shocks you. And then you realise that `I have done a mistake.' So don't create a shock for yourself. Do not behave in a manner that ultimately you end up with a shock.

It's, of course, the Mother's power is so forgiving, Sadāśhiva's power is so forgiving that you are allowed and allowed and allowed to continue with what you are doing, for a while. But it's been told, is explained to you that this is wrong. But supposing you cross your limits absolutely, then suddenly the Viṣhṇumāyā appears and the whole thing gets exposed. In Sahaja Yoga you get exposed.

So one must know that though this power is so helpful, so guiding, so improving and nourishing and protecting, still, up to a point. Otherwise it is She only who exposes you, because She can't bear any more this nonsense from you.

So if you go on like that, She'll just see to it that She is exposed.

You have seen people have been doing all kinds of filthy things. I have known many prime ministers and all these presidents and this and that, when they die, exposed. Nobody says that such and such person was a chaste person. Very few leaders of nations have got this certificate that they were very chaste people. Chastity is a very, very rare certificate they get. Because once you get a power in life then you think you have a free hand, you can be and you can do what you like. You can be a chaste person, you can be any way unchaste, you can do what you like. You become sort of overpowered with this idea that `I have got all the powers, now I am very well placed.' And that becomes a complete delusion for you and you forget that chastity is so important.

So the higher a person is placed in life, the higher positions he occupies, the higher what you call the ego-pampering stuff he gets, the more he presses down on the left Viśhuddhi.

So such a person escapes into the left Viśhuddhi, because in his heart of hearts, in his unconscious he feels guilty.

And the whole thing goes as a guilt, guilt in the left Viśhuddhi. And when it goes as a guilt in the left Viśhuddhi then it's a difficult situation, because such a person, he becomes extremely sensitive. You say anything to that person, he feels more guilty. You try to cure his left Viśhuddhi, then he becomes even worse. It's a very bad situation with left Viśhuddhi people and they are the people who have left Viśhuddhi always give explanations.

A person who has right Viśhuddhi will be arrogant, but left Viśhuddhi people have a very sly method of giving answers back and explanation for everything. Whatever You say, they will say, “No, Mother, this is this, this is this." This is one thing. Not only, it doesn't end there, it gives you sarcasm. That's why in the West people never talk straightforward, it's always sarcastic. To talk straightforward means they think it's stupid, is unintelligent, if unless and until you talk in a very sarcastic manner which sometimes, you know, it's difficult to reach. That's how in a very crooked way they talk. And that crookery comes through this left Viśhuddhi problem.

If your left Viśhuddhi is so bad, you cannot achieve anything that is sweet, that is beautiful, that's appreciative. Left Viśhuddhi will never appreciate. Those who suffer from left Viśhuddhi can never appreciate another person, can never. It will have its own say, it will think, `I'm the best' because it has to exist, that problem has to exist, so how? It's a kind of a perverted ego that doesn't want to accept that `anybody can be better than me, that anybody I have to follow, that I have to take some lessons from another one.' I've had many examples; I see specially people who are with Me, I find they get into left Viśhuddhi very fast because they lack in protocol. Once they start lacking in protocol they go into left Viśhuddhi.

So to be with Me is a blessing, no doubt, but also one has to be very, very careful that you do not cross the protocols.

Do not try to come overforward, just prancing.

Some people have a habit of crossing the limits and as soon as you cross the limits left Viśhuddhi is created. There should be awe for your Mother, there should be respect for your Mother, which is guarded by left Viśhuddhi.

Now this a very hidden power of Śhrī Gaṇeśha. What you call is the power of Gaṇeśha is left Viśhuddhi acting like chastity. Gaṇeśha's power are all expressed through left Viśhuddhi.

So those who believe in Gaṇeśha, in pure innocence, must know that in your every day-to-day behaviour, in every day-to-day action, there should be chastity. Gaṇeśha is expressed as flowers of chastity.

And just see, in the Divine law if there's no chastity, how do you delimit people, how do you make all right, how do you cleanse them, how do you make them evolve? Supposing a tree is growing and there's no limit in it, it just grows like a wild thing, it has no limits, then what will you get out of it? Nothing.

So to make a person higher and higher, you have to limit it. My father used to give a very good example of this, that if you take some wheat, the wheat...

You please now don't disturb. If you want to go out you can go out, but don't disturb the people, anybody moving about.

This is also another thing is, you see. All these things are nothing but the upheaval of the left Viśhuddhi.

See, all this show-off or disturbing or trying to be overpowering, or very forward person or bumptiousness, all these come from left Viśhuddhi, because you want to overcome your left Viśhuddhi so you do it. And then this is added to it. The more you try to overcome it, the more it is added to it.

Now the father's story I must tell you, that he said that you have got the wheat and if you spread it, it just fritters away like attention does. But if you put in a gunny bag, in a bag, you can heap it up and it can achieve a height. In the same way, if you fritter away your attention without chastity, it spreads out; it has no limits, it has no forms, it had no shape. But if you delimit it, then you become higher and higher and higher and you can rise higher in your spiritual life. As you are the people who want to lead a very spiritual life, you must understand that left Viśhuddhi is to be corrected.

Now, how do you correct your left Viśhuddhi? I get sometimes very tired with them, really to be, I get very, I just give them up. Because if they are catching and you tell them “You are catching" they become even worse. What a vicious circle it is. What is the cure for it? How to break the vicious circle?, is by facing it. Should say, `What, you are feeling guilty for what? You're doing the same mistake again and again and still you're doing it.' You should give all injections to yourself.

But instead of that they start telling Me, “No, Mother. No, Mother. No, Mother." You tell yourself, `No, myself. I have done this today, tomorrow I'm going to do it, day after tomorrow I'm going to do it.

Stop it now, stop.' And stop at this point. There you exert your Viṣhṇumāyā power. Viṣhṇumāyā power has to be neutralised, if so, by your mistakes; but if it has to be brought back into its power, you must use Viṣhṇumāyā's power by giving yourself shocks. Then only you can do it.

So on that point, on the Viṣhṇumāyā point I really fail you. You have to do it.

And that's why I was thinking about this Pūjā that when you people are doing this Pūjā to Me, if I say anything it will create more Viṣhṇumāyā in you. But that's the easiest way to manage things, you see, “I am feeling guilty'", you're finished. “I have taken the punishment, I called myself guilty." It's like in the court the jury says you are guilty, all right, accept it, “I am guilty” but no punishment, take no punishment. If you have done wrong, then punish yourself.

Now there are two ways people punish. One is like some people punish them by saying that “I will not have my food." But those people who have a habit of not having food and this thing, can also become aggressive with that kind of a habit to trouble others by not eating food. I mean, human beings are very crooked. They know how to kill themselves with a crooked knife all the time.

So that's not the way you can correct yourself. If you have to correct yourself, then you have to face yourself in a proper way. Supposing you have done something wrong, then you should do something that you would like to do normally and punish yourself. You should, you should... I am sorry, you should not do something that you would like to do normally.

Like correcting yourself; somebody is, say, very fond of the gardens, of flowers. When you do some mistake you don't see flowers for some time, just close your eyes for flowers. Now there are some people, supposing, who are fond of singing, so if you do mistakes then just stop singing. That's how you have to shock.

You must know Viṣhṇumāyā is a lightning and the lecture has to be like that. It cannot be that soft one, as Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa was. It's a very powerful thing I'm telling you and may God awaken that power within you of Viṣhṇumāyā. It's the most powerful thing that a human being can have, is the most auspicious thing; you become a holy personality. This is one of the ways of getting God's realisation.

It was a nice question aptly asked, right time yesterday, is to establish your chastity, not by giving bandhans, taking vibrations from Mother and then getting lost, not that way: you yourself correcting yourself morning till evening and facing yourself and not feeling guilty and learning new things. All the time is the sister who teaches you, all the time, how to be better and better and better, not the Mother; because Mother you can say, “No, Mother." To a sister if you say, electricity, all right? Try your fingers in the plug and you will know, no explanations! With this understanding, today we are going to do the Pūjā for the establishment of our chastity, chastity of our emotions and chastity of our mind. Now whatever you have done so far, forget it, forget the past. That is very important also to forget the past, because you see that's a very good way of explaining, `Because I had this, that's why it has happened. My mother was like this, that and my father was like this...' Mother, father, everybody you forget now, you belong to this family, which is a holy family. People who are saints sitting here, among them you are. And automatically these laws will start working and I will not have to tell you whether you be friendly with that person or not friendly with that person.

You see, interest in another sex all the time is not a sign of chastity. I mean, it's horrid, absolutely ridiculous, you become stupid. Like some men know so much about what women use, perfumes, this, that.

What's the use? Are you slaves of women, or what? They become experts on this nonsensical thing. You are men, live like men. And women have to have that sense of chastity within themselves, because they're the powers. Why are you wanting to become like men? I mean, you are the powers behind them. And women must look after their chastity. For that I must say, I must bow to Indian women for that, the way they are humble, the way they are chaste, one has to learn, of course there are many who are not also, but the humility that they have.

There's only one category which should not have humility: that is the incarnations. I cannot have humility, sorry to say. There are certain qualities you can have and enjoy and cherish, I cannot have. I cannot humble down Myself, cannot do it, I'm sorry, I'm not supposed to do it. No incarnation was humble; they cannot, because they have no guilt. I have put so many guilty people in My left Viśhuddhi that My ears are getting blocked trying to clear them out. If you can clear out your guilt My ears will be opened out, My trouble will go away.

So please, I request you to keep your left Viśhuddhi all right. Don't feel guilty, be in the center. Be in the center, watch yourself and face yourself, shock yourself, correct yourself. Only such people will ascend.

Another way is meditation. With your left hand towards the photograph, with the light there, right hand on the Mother Earth, you can work it out. Put the light over here, give a bandhan to your left Viśhuddhi, you can work it out. But these become rituals if you do not do it from your heart.

So first of all face it, mentally face it fully, then do it with these things. Emotionally understand it also, that the emotions you have should have no guilt in it.

So for all our practical purposes we are not to use all such words which shows our guilt, but humility.

Humility is very different from a guilty person. Guilty person is the person who is under duress, under pressure, but a humble person is a free person. He is humble in his own freedom, in his own exuberance.

Like the trees, when they are loaded with fruit they just bow to the Mother Earth. Like, if you go to the sea, you'll find that all the trees around the sea, specially the coconut trees, all bend towards the sea because the sea has given them that speciality. The water that is in the coconut comes from the sea.

So all of them have that respect, that humility towards the sea. In the same way a person who is not guilty only will be really humble, because guilty people, as I told you, are aggressive by their sarcasm, by their nasty words, by their answering back, by their explanations.

But a humble person is a free person, free to be humble, free to be kindly, to be gentle, to be compassionate.

And that sort of Sahaja Yogis you have to be, so that when people meet you they're impressed by your humility. But humility doesn't have any subservience, innocence and humility.

I, I lack that quality completely. I cannot be humble and you should never try to humble Me down because that is not to be done. But nobody can say in My behaviour when they meet Me that I'm not humble. I act as a very humble person. I can act as a very humble person but to be very frank, I have no humility of any kind within Me, no humility.

Compassion is very different from humility. Humility is a human quality, is a special quality only the bhaktas have. Only the bhaktas have, it's such a beautiful quality of taking the showers of bliss. The one who gives bliss cannot be humble because it cannot take anything.

It's the only human beings who are humble and who can take it and achieve it and receive it. And the person who cannot take is so lonely, so lonely. Such a person cannot get companionship with anyone, because it has to give and give and give. It's so lonely and has to face everything oneself. Those who are humble can only become friendly with each other, can share their problems with each other. I cannot, because you have no solutions. I have to solve My own problem.

So the humility can only help you to articulate and to have rapport with your friends, everyone, share your difficulties.

But again I have to warn you because it always happens, your humility should not be sympathetic.

Humility is a detached person, it's a detached quality. It's not a quality that gets attached to one person or second person. It's a humble style of life where you are not arrogant unnecessarily, you don't shout at people. But in India we say the cow is a very humble animal. It gives its milk, it provides everything, it doesn't attack anyone.

So humility is such a guard for you. Of course, sometimes people take advantage of humble people, doesn't matter. As long as you have not lost your humility, everything is all right.

But people lose their humility. When people try to trouble them they become left-vishuddhites and then they lose their humility and that's one thing one should not lose; because if you have to keep connection with the Divine then you have to be humble. There's no other way. If you are not a humble person you cannot keep the relationship. See, two qualities, like a plug and the socket. The plug has to be the plug, the socket has to be socket. In the same way if you have to get something out of the Divine, you have to be humble people. Through arrogance you will not get anything, through aggression you'll not get anything, through anything...

Some people also feel that `I love Mother,' but that love is to be expressed through complete humility.

That's the only way, that's the only channel through which you can approach Me, there's no way out.

So we end up today on a very high stage. It's the beginning of God's realisation. But you must speed up with Me. It's not easy to keep speed with Me, so you have to speed up with Me. If you have to go towards God's realisation, first establish your sense of chastity and humility.

May God bless you.

So now, we start our Pūjā. You can wash My Feet if you want. The Gaṇeśh Pūjā has to be there; one Gaṇeśh Stotra.

Now for this you have to judge yourself. I mean, you have to judge yourself not to accept guilt, but to judge yourself, `Am I a very forward type of a person, do I go forward all the time? Do I sit all the time before everybody else? Do I try to be arrogant to Mother? Do I say `no' to Mother? Do I behave like...?' And see all these points within yourself. It's not for others, it's for you to see, `How far I go? Am I presumptuous, am I bumptious? Am I do things which I should not have done?' Like that you go on into this thing. These are symptomatic, symptoms coming from inside and once you understand your symptoms, “Oh, I am that. All right, no more." Face it, tell yourself. As soon as you say, “I'm not guilty” it doesn't mean that you do not face it, you face it.

All right. We'll have the washing of the Feet.

Today I'm sorry, only the virgins can worship Me, only the real virgins can worship Me, little girls, if there are any. Hallo, there are, they are coming. Come along, come along, come along, all the children.

Hallo, come up... Nice frock! Ah, ha! Ah, ha! Oh, very nice dress, Athena! Come, hah! Now, where are the others? Come along, all the children, all the children. Only the children can do that. All right, sit down, sit down. Come forward. Oh, somebody's wearing a sarī!... All the children. Sit down, sit down, sit down. All the children have to sit down here, all right? Hallo, India, how are you? Be careful of this light, all right? Can you, can you put that to one side a little bit, for the children I'm rather worried and then we can enlighten it. Mmm... ah, thank you.

More are coming, they are in the coming. In future we are going to have lots of them and maybe you will all have to sit outside. Now they sit outside; after some time you all will have to sit outside! That would be the best! They'll all say, “Out, out!" Let them grow! A new army's coming forward.

I think you get... can do that. You give it to him, he'll do it, he'll just... he'll do it. He'll do it carefully now. Come along, come along. Gavin, you move that both sides just a little bit. Hallo, come along, this side.

Now all the little ones should come forward first, all the little ones here. One, all of you are little ones, all right? Now, who are the littlest? Now, is there anyone else coming up? Sit down, sit down, sit down, sit down. All right, you come here, you want to come here? All right, now, give him a chance there, all right? Now let it be.

Now bring him here. Now, all the girls should come first and all the boys later.

Should we do that way, or should we have the little boys first? Little boys is better, isn't it, you are sisters, after all. Now let's have the little boys first, all right. All the little boys and then the sisters will do that. Now who are the little boys? Ah... all of them. Now the sisters have to wait for a while, all right? See, see the thing, see; how easily acceptable this is. All the sisters, now she's a sister, now come along, all the sisters have to go back. Did she follow? All right, you stand there. All right, tell her. You stand there. You come forward. All right. Now all the boys, come along. You come here. All the boys have to do it, all the sisters have to wait. There's the, there are no boys there, no more? Come, come, come, come, come; come! All right. Now, everyone...

If Pat's son is there you can call him, Pat's son, all right. He will do it. Everyone else should sit down.

Ah, good. Now all the sisters, all the sisters are sitting down first. You see, the boys are doing first, all right? All the sisters are standing there to look after the boys. Come along. The boys have to come here.

Come, come, come; come, come... All right, let him sit down, he's the boy. Come along, sit down, you are the boy! Hah! You're a boy? Those who are boys must sit down. When you sit down, he'll sit down for a while, he'll sit down. He's a nice boy. Not to be shy; nobody has to be shy in here, all right? Hah! Now come along, all the boys, those who are shy are not boys! No, he's a boy, he's good. All right. If you are boys, you should not be shy. Only the girls are shy.

He's shy. It's all right, don't force, it's all right, don't force the children.

Ross is here? He's not here? Come along. Now you look after that side. Give him, so that he'll do it.

You have to wash My Feet. All right, come along. Say the mantra of... just say it... Into your hands.

Please leave it to him and you have to wash My Feet, all right? Now, be careful with that. You see, that's why I have called you, because they are small children.

[Mantras are sung.] Now, wash My Feet. Tell them how to wash. Now, one by one, come along. Wash My Feet. Yes, Mārkandeya, you wash it, all right. Come along, all of you, wash it. Wash it, wash it hard. All right, we'll, we'll have a second group, all right? And next we'll have second group also. That's good. You rub it. Rub it, rub it now. Rub it. This one also. Come along, wash My Feet. Dennis, let them... wash My Feet. Come, wash, wash. Wash, wash, wash. Now come along, hallo! Come, wash My Feet. Wash My Feet. Good. Good. Now... Now the other boys should do it, all right? You've done it? All right, now the other boys should wash now. You've done it, Hanu? Washed it? All right... The bigger boys. You come along. Let them wash, all right? Nanaka? Now let them wash, all right? Now you get up. You get up now? Mārkandeya? Let them come. All right?... Ah, that's good. You also... Hanu? Let them come.

All right? Come forward... Now, come along. Done, all right? Now let the girls come in.

[`Gaṇeśha Atharva Sheersha' is recited.] Now the girls come in. Let the boys go, boys have to go. You didn't do it? All right, ask him to do...

You come along, wash it... All right. Now, all of you should get up and let the girls do it. All right, you all get up now? Boys have to wash. I think he has washed. You washed it? No? All right, come along, come along... Put the water here. Let him come... All right, come forward. Let him come. Good. Get up, Nanak, get up. Danya? Just a minute, just a minute.

Some of you, I'll call all of you one by one, all right? Now, wash it. Wash it now, wash it now. Just help here...

Done! Now, now, let the others come in, now. Get up now. Girls have to come in now... All the boys have to go... Nanaka, you get up now, get up, get up nicely. Let the girls come in. Now, come on...

Where is Olympia?... You stay here. You stay here. Stay here. Girls have to stay. Boys can go... They have to go now, because this is the girls' Pūjā... Both the hands... All right? Now wipe your hands...

All right, put it on your head.... All the girls have to sit here. Olympia, where is she? She's coming. Sit down, sit down, sit down, sit down. All right. Olympia, come. All the girls... You washed, have you? You've washed, all right... Take out this one, let's take out this one... You, you can also wipe. You can wipe... Do it hard.

Now take the names, hundred and eight names straightforward, because that's really the Gaurī's names.

[Aside:] Hard. Rub it hard. All right.

Sahaja Yogi: Śhrī Mātā. Om Twameva sākṣhāt, Śhrī Mātā namaḥ....

Shri Mataji: No, no. You must take My name, Gavin, otherwise vibrations don't flow. You have to say full thing, what can I do, because there's the limit.

[One hundred and eight names recited in full.]...

Don't wet the cloth here... Kevin, you stay on this side. I'll tell you whatever it is. We'll ask you for something. You stay there, all right?...

... You want to do it? You can come. Be careful, all right? Because everything comes in the photograph.

... Now just a minute, just a minute. I'll ask everybody to help. Now don't fight. Everybody will be doing it... Girls will go away. Just put it here.

... Thank you very much... It's all right, rub your hands like this. All hands become red. All over.

Rub it like this all over, all the fingers...

Do it with your heart, because what is happening is that it's all mental. Do it with your heart. You, what you are saying is saying to Me; I'm sitting before you, fortunate people! Do it with heart, then only it will be, open your heart and do it with your heart. Come along! Without feeling guilty, that's very important.

Let's have the Ār.ti. All the children should go down, all right? You have done it?... Are you Kevin? You stay here, two of you.

[After the Ār.ti the yogis recite `Om Nama Shivāya'.] Just say `Viṣhṇumāyā', that's all. Today is not Shiva's Pūjā and without His Pūjā how can you take His name? Just say Viṣhṇumāyā: `Twameva sākṣhāt Śhrī Viṣhṇumāyā...' May God bless you all.

With Shiva's name both My Feet have become absolutely frozen. All right.

All right. Bow down...

May God bless you all. May God bless you all. May God bless you all.

I think you'd better go and have your lunch.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, there was such a big heart catch these twenty-four hours.

Shri Mataji: Open your hearts is the point. Why don't you open your hearts? Open your hearts. For frivolous thing, nonsensical thing we open our hearts, why not for God? Open it! You are made lotuses, but open the lotus... Ah... Ah! The day should come when we should have Shiva's Pūjā in England, let that such a day come. But to do Shiva's Pūjā is not a easy thing, you know. You have already reached one stage, Viṣhṇumāyā...

Hah!... Open it out. Unless and until you open your heart, your Brahmarandhra cannot be open, your Sahasrāra cannot be open. What are you worried about, lunch? I can stop all their watches, if you want! All right. Now, come along, let's have it. What a nice thing. Now go ahead, have your lunch.

After lunch, I am going to be here? Yes, I am staying here. You will all go, I will be here... I told you, I have just stopped their watches!... If you want you can give Me presents and then there's time for lunch.

What's that?

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, this is a present from Austria, to express our, we want to thank You for allowing us to be here and this is a vase, handmade...

Shri Mataji: So beautiful!

Sahaja Yogi: which should fit for the figures you got in Brighton, from Austria.

Shri Mataji: Such a beauty! Thank you very much, thank you. Already you have brought such nice music from Austria, what more do you want to bring?... What's that?

Sahaja Yogi: A present from France, Mother, with all our love.

Shri Mataji: For what?

Sahaja Yogi: For Your blessings.

Shri Mataji: All right. Now you'd better open it for Me...

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, we've made a magazine in Italian language to let the people know on the circulations of Your speeches and we would like You to bless it.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you. Oh, very beautiful vibrations! Tremendous vibration.

Sahaja Yogi: Because they are Your talks in there.

Shri Mataji: You have translated? Such vibration. You have? Oh, wow, such vibrations in this book! This is the first book of its kind, first book of My lectures is this one, apart from our Nirmalā Yoga, first book.

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, in Italian language. It's called that, `The White Horse'. And we want to give one copy for each country, to let them see, if there is the somebody speaking Italian, we've got here. And we would like to bring this rakshābandhan from Italy.

Shri Mataji: All right. What's that?

Sahaja Yogini: This is some... leaves from our garden. This is olive tree.

Shri Mataji: Oh, good, beautiful! What an idea, to give a branch of olive. May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogi: And they are from my wife, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: From your wife.... Oh, too much!

Sahaja Yogi: They're made out of Gian. Gian is the town where it's made. Gian. The name of a town, where pottery are made.

Shri Mataji: How do you spell `Gian'?

Sahaja Yogi: Gian. G-i-a-n.

Shri Mataji: Gian. Really? Even now they make it? But this is contemporary. Beautiful! Otherwise the French art is going down. Very surprising! And what a beauty, what a beauty, just see this now. This is a flower that is liked by Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

You've done it? Beautiful, beautiful. Very well done, thank you very much, thank you. Beautiful.

Such artists we have, I didn't know. Tremendous! Thank you very much... Look at that one.

[Next present.] Oh, I am already eating the French cheese and it's such a big one you have given Me that it will last for the whole year! Thank you, thank you. Can you keep it there?...

Sahaja Yogini: This is from Holland.

Shri Mataji: What's that? What is it? What is it? Again cheese. Thank you. But you always give Me presents. From all of you? Ah, what a beauty, eh? You have an eye for beauty, I must say, real beauty.

It's beautiful, thank you. Gregoire's wife has given Me a nice one like this, I'll keep it with that. Thank you.

[Next present.] Prices are increasing! Viṣhṇumāyā... Hah, that's Viṣhṇumāyā, rainbow is Her sign, that after rainbow there won't be any, that's the sign that there won't be any more of lightning. If you see the rainbow, there won't be any lightning after that, that is assurance. Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful, beautiful! I don't know what to say. Thank you very much. Beautiful. May God bless you... Just bring it this side. Turn it round. Take out the sarī.

[Next present.]

Sahaja Yogini: Very small, Mother, Śhrī Gaṇeśha has found it for me.

Shri Mataji: Oh, really? Śhrī Gaṇeśha cannot be small. He is very subtle, He is in every atom and He is everywhere, all right? Thank you very much. May God bless you. You are doing very well, I must say, in Sahaja Yoga, I am very happy.

[Next present.] What's that? It's so beautiful, I tell you, but there's no need to open it. It's so beautiful. Beautiful.

Just let them have a look. You have done it? So beautiful.

[Next present.] It's not Śhrī Gaṇeśha. That's an ornament of Śhrī Gaṇeśh. It's too expensive a present to be given, coral and pearls, that's too much! All right, I'll cherish it. Thank you. With these Pūjās I am making lot of things, isn't it; because when you give Me money I can buy something, still it can work on you, but what to do with these, becomes slowly permanent part and parcel of Me. Thank you.

[Next present.] What's that, something small again from...? Hester, really it's great. Oh, it's too much, too much, too much... Ah, how symbolic it is, how symbolic. Again say it loudly, to them.

Sahaja Yogini: I say, Shri Mataji, this is for the Mother of all the brothers and sisters, the children of the Blossom Times. And Mother, may we be Your flowers.

Shri Mataji: Ah, it's too good. Thank you very much. It is beautiful, too beautiful.

[Next present.]

Sahaja Yogini: Mother, with Your grace, in honour of You I opened my shop and I called it `Mother's Love'. And yesterday was the grandest opening of my life. The shop is absolutely beautiful, in Seaford.

Shri Mataji: Where?

Sahaja Yogini: In Seaford, near Brighton.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see.

Sahaja Yogini: And there is the logo and that hopefully will go over the world. All my things have been designed with Your name on.

Shri Mataji: Ah, that's a good idea. `In caring for you and your babies', great! I always have this in My mind that we should have a proper shop, because it's difficult to get cotton clothes here, isn't it?

Sahaja Yogini: I've got a girl who is making things for me, but I'd like to also have things made up...

Shri Mataji: I will try to tell that you come from India... May God bless you... May God bless you.

May God bless you. That's a very good thing you are doing, may God bless you for that, as there's not much care for children here, I see; they require lot of attention.

What's this, again? All right... What's that? From Lausanne? So beautiful, done so well. Thank you.

[Next present.]

Sahaja Yogini: I was not prepared, but I bring You something that came from the country I was born in.

Shri Mataji: From where?

Sahaja Yogini: From Africa. It is a magnetized stone and it captures the negative vibrations.

Shri Mataji: I can see it.

Sahaja Yogini: And it was on my neck, so I hope it isn't too much negativity with it. Thank You, Mother.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogini:... and I give You my love.

[Next present.]

Shri Mataji: What's that? Sahaja Yogi [presenting a poster]: So this is a collective effort from the Sahaja Yogis of Munich.

Actually it's more a present for us than for You. Could You give this Your blessings, please?

Shri Mataji: What's that? It's a very good photograph, I think, very good photograph. For outsiders, it's very good photograph. May God bless you. Very motherly. Thank you. Thank you very much.

Done? We are in time?...

Something's still there.

[Group of Sahaja Yogis from Belgium and Holland are coming forward.] All right. I know some of them already. All right, let's have it. I'm so happy all of you could come, that's the main point is. That's the biggest thing, that you all could come today, at such a great Pūjā.

And according to Warren, Brussels and the Holland people have a great humility. They are very humble people for spirituality and the media is also very good.

So I think today's Pūjā was actually because of you people it was performed. He says they're very humble people, the media is very humble and there's a kind of humility that really works there...

So now, what is it? Come along, come along. Dominique, how are you? What is the file you are carrying? What is the file? Who wrote the article, the newspaper people? They liked it? Good, good. That's why they were saying the media is very helpful, that's it...

What is it?

Sahaja Yogi: The translation's from the Flemish, but not from French, Mother. It's a nice article. Very good, very factual reporting, no distortions.

Shri Mataji: Good.

So that's it.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, two years ago we have made a photocopy of Your Lotus Feet in France and we're are putting this poster in the shop for copying, You know. And they are sending, they offered this picture of Your Lotus Feet everywhere, just to show what they can do with the photocopy and so...

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, You know the copy of the Feet which the French brought to India and distributed far and wide, that was the photocopy. And that same photocopy now they are using as it as an example of the promotional material.

Shri Mataji: The ones with the Feet one on top of another, a little bit?

Sahaja Yogi: No, No, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Which one? Which one? Which Feet?

Sahaja Yogi: That's the one with the white carpet and you can see...

Shri Mataji: Everything, all the Pūjā?

Sahaja Yogi: With sparkling gold on Your Feet...

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see... Really?... Where did you see that?

Sahaja Yogi: In Brussels...

Shri Mataji: Really? So these are doing in Brussels? Sahaja Yogis: Yes and I think everywhere, all over the world for this company, called, this French company called `Happy Door Colour'.

Shri Mataji: And they're sending from France all over? Sahaja Yogis: I think so, yes. You see they give an example of their work and Your Feet are the example.

Shri Mataji: Is it? Such a joke, eh? Because of My Feet it must have come out well, you see, so they are using the idea of advertising. We don't spend there, but we get the advantage! That's good, My Feet going all over is the best thing! That's great, really.

Sahaja Yogi: There's one outstanding thing, Mother, about the Belgian and the Holland people, we're getting people now from the professional levels. It's really an interesting trend in Sahaja Yoga; we're not just getting the hippies and the counter-culture people. It's a big change.

Shri Mataji: No, we had some, but I think they were all very nice, those hippies. They're nice people, they're so nice, really. It's such a blessing to be there; I really, I was very, very happy, because it worked out very well. Now you have to introduce, all right? Let's start, one by one.

Sahaja Yogi: This is Henry from Brussels. Just behind is Jeanine. She is from Holland, actually, but she is living in Brussels. Just four weeks after meeting You, she explained to new people, she explained everything about Sahaja Yoga; it was such a nice program. And she also translates into French. She's very good.

Shri Mataji: Where were you all lost? I don't know, suddenly I find all My children coming back to Me! All right.

Sahaja Yogi: He is Yoga teacher and he wants to slowly come around to Sahaja Yoga.

Shri Mataji: Yoga is to be used, but in a particular way. When the Kuṇḍalinī rises you have to know what Chakras are catching and what you have to correct. Now, unless and until you know what's wrong with you, then you would not know what to correct. In the same way, you should know what's wrong with others.

So when you know, then you know what Chakra is to be corrected, how to correct it, what mantras are to be used. All it's a big science and that's how it has to be understood, because without the Kuṇḍalinī it's not connected science, it's just haphazard.

Sahaja Yogi: This is Herman from Antwerp.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see. Antwerp I have been before also.

Sahaja Yogi: There are some people whom all of us met them, but it's very difficult to reach them.

They are telephoning to have the book, Gregoire's book...

Shri Mataji: This Gregoire's book? You read his book and that's how you came?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes. There are some people in Belgium everywhere, but they can't come in the Brussels...

Shri Mataji: Oh, great!... Good. You wanted to expand. How is Natalie?

Sahaja Yogini:... she is coming to India Tour.

Shri Mataji: Good. That's good, that's good. India Tour they should make, I think. How many? Really? Make it fourteen, thirteen's not a good number! Try to make it fourteen. Only from Belgium?

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, I told them that as a little exception they can register a little late, because...

Shri Mataji: Yes, they can. You just, you see, now I am going to be here for some time, they can.

But you see, it's a chance, big chance. I don't know next year, I don't know what will be the situation, because this will be very interesting and good, the way we have travelled and all that. I mean, you can't make it anything better than that, the program is only for three weeks. You see, it's three weeks' program, you cannot make it smaller than that, isn't it?

Sahaja Yogi: Here is Heidi.

Shri Mataji: She's great, I tell you.

Sahaja Yogi: And her mother... from South Africa, also.

Shri Mataji: You have a great child. Hello! What is your name?

Sahaja Yogi: Marilise. Shri Mataji, her father was in the Himālayas for some time, beating his head [on the rocks].

Shri Mataji: Himālaya is here!

Sahaja Yogi: But now he has come to Sahaja Yoga.

Shri Mataji: But they are seekers, you see.

Sahaja Yogi: He got quite badly damaged by the lamas and he's just suffering a bit at the moment from...

Shri Mataji: Terrible people these lamas are.

Sahaja Yogi: They are hoping to come to India, but...

Shri Mataji: Let's see. Take it easy. There's no hurry, but I think if you can manage will be good idea; because once, he once settles down very well with Sahaja Yoga, once you go to India. And because India, it's a very different country, where we move about, you won't find that with the lamas or anyone.

Sahaja Yogi: Here is Nina. Actually she is Jewish, half Jewish. She is from Brussels, but she's French.

She speaks French.

Shri Mataji: Yes, she is looking younger and younger, I think. Isn't she? She's changed a lot. All her wrinkles gone, she looks much younger now. You'll introduce all of them?

Sahaja Yogi: This is Claudine, Daniel's mother. She is going to the Canary Islands and she wants to know more about...

Shri Mataji: You! You are going to Canary Islands? And take Sahaja Yoga there... Good place.

Now...

Sahaja Yogi: Nina would like to give You something.

Shri Mataji: Yes, you gave Me, why did you give Me? I would like to keep with Me, all right? I'll look after them. Are they seekers? They'll come round, then don't you worry.

Sahaja Yogi: This is Rene and Anya, from Brussels. He is a doctor and osteopath. He trained in England and he has now been very actively involved in Sahaja Yoga in Brussels.

Shri Mataji: Yes. Yes. It's attacking from every side: muscular problems, bone problems, so many problems there are of these negative forces and which are beyond the reach of medical science. See, because if it is the Mūlādhāra, they don't understand, they don't understand the innocence part.

So many diseases come from Mūlādhāra, so many and they have no way out for it. But to take to something like that, it's difficult for them to get out of that knowledge. Because this is the knowledge of the knowledge, to get to the essence of it, you see and then the whole thing changes, it's very different. It works out.

We need osteopaths, really everybody's Viśhuddhi is so bad that only poor Warren has been correcting everybody's Viśhuddhi. And now you can do it also!

Sahaja Yogi: This is, behind, Marie-Louise and Jack, from Brussels.

Shri Mataji: What is the name? I can't understand your pronunciation. Marie-Louise, thank you.

Only they say `h', is it; for `Marie' they said `Mahi'? Ah. Good, because you see, `Marie' is `Mary', becomes `meha'; `meha' means the rain, in Sanskrit. All right? So how are you, you are looking much younger too. How are you feeling? Imagine, before going to any other Western countries I went first to Belgium and to Holland, in '65.

You remember in Holland they celebrated the hundred years or something of the gardening or something they had, in '65, do you know that? They had a huge exhibition, that's the thing I saw. Then I went to Hamburg and in Hamburg there was a hundred years of the Hamburg boats.

So they had a huge, big, what you call them, a celebration with crackers and a lot of these fireworks, all kinds of things, which was a tremendous idea. And we all were on a river, on a boat and from there we could see these. I've never seen such fireworks: things used to break into trees, into flowers, into fruits, everything, the fire, you know, they had made it such special ones.

So that happened in Hamburg and in Holland I was there for this great exhibition, miles together, too. They had fountains and they had little lakes and they had little brooks running around and bridges, beautiful and all tulips and everything, beautiful they were, all kinds of flowers. The best sight one could think of, the flowers and the garden. Now...

Sahaja Yogini: First of all I would like to give You the love and the devotion of Richard and Ellen and other Sahaja Yogis who couldn't come. And then I'd like to introduce here Maria from... This is Cham Cham, from The Hague.

Sahaja Yogi:... This is Chandra. She has a remarkable story, Mother. She was born of traditional Indian parents in Holland, for every intent and purpose of Dutch blood and she's found the reality of Hinduism in Sahaja Yoga. It's very beautiful.

Shri Mataji: It's true. No doubt. You see, as every religion is gone into some sort of a pickling, it's only through Sahaja Yoga you'll understand they were all true, all true. Every one of them was true, correct, integrated absolutely one with each other. But for that you have to become the spirit, otherwise you cannot understand. But there's only one thing very good about the Indian philosophy is that, that throughout they have talked of nothing else but spiritual emancipation and becoming one with the spirit, nothing else. First is first. And also about deities they talked. But Buddha did not talk even that.

He said, “Don't talk of deities, don't talk of God, don't talk of anyone; just talk of the spirit." He was so particular that people should put their attention only to their spirit, to begin with, then we'll know.

Mahāvīra did the same, both of them.

So you see, in the philosophy it's not, sort of, one something; but main idea of the whole Indian philosophy is, whether Hindu, Buddhist or Jainist, or any one of these which were in India, is that first thing is to get your Self-realisation. And all your life should be built-in on that thing. For example, it is said your Chitta should be controlled. You should not allow your attention to go and get involved into everything.

So all these ideas, romantic ideas, this is wrong. Keep your attention to yourself. You cannot put your attention to anything where it is wasted, Chitta Nirodha. And when that started, you see, then only people can see that when you keep your attention to yourself, then your attention rises higher, it's not frittering away.

So the essence of all the religions is the same, it's the Self-realisation, first and foremost thing; and without that it is what you call `without the life', we have `with dead bodies', nishpran. Without life if you follow a religion, it has no meaning, it's all without life. Nothing wrong with the religion as such, but it is without life, they have taken out the life now. Without life it becomes damaged. Life is Sahaja Yoga. Yoga is the... May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogini: This is Karina, from The Hague.

Shri Mataji: Oh, we have one Karim there in Holland. We must locate him. Do you have the address of Karim? He's a young boy, realised Soul, a great person, I must say. He used to come here and now his father is in Holland, who drinks a lot. He said, I asked him, “How is your father?" “He's like all other Dutch." I said, “What do you mean?" “They all drink a lot." I said, “No, no, everybody drinks, not only the Dutch." His mother is French and father is Dutch and they were divorced, so he took away the boy.

He comes here sometimes, he's a great soul, Karim. How it is you found this name `Karima'? How did they give you this name Karima?

Sahaja Yogini: No, my name is Karina...

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see, it's evolved into that. `Karima' means `Karim', means `the one who is the creator'. `Karima' is the power of the creator. From there the word `charisma', `charismatic', `karishma' comes from there.

Sahaja Yogini: This is Henno, from Amsterdam.

Shri Mataji: Amsterdam, good.

Sahaja Yogini: And this is Herman, from The Hague.

Sahaja Yogi: Henno's looking to move into the ashram with the others.

Shri Mataji: Good. And there's someone there behind.

Sahaja Yogi: They already mentioned me, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Did they? What's your name?

Sahaja Yogi: Jack, from Brussels.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see, Jack is from Brussels. Yes, yes, yes, I know. I know Jack.

It's great, isn't it? So you also explain to them that Indian Tours are very spartan, you see, as far as the personal comforts are concerned and mostly this time it is going to be outside. Outside in the open we'll have pandals and things like that, which would be like a scouting camp. But I think you'll enjoy it because of the nature and the beauty and the rivers and everything will be nice, I hope so. But main thing is that in that country you ascend very fast, I have seen it, you see. It's like nourishes you, it nourishes your being, it's a fertile land for spiritual ascent and many have gained a lot, so I think it will be a good idea. Take it easy, there's no hurry. I am here till the end of this month, definitely; maybe a little later I might go.

So take it easy. Whatever is possible, as many as can come I would like to accommodate this time. All right? May God bless you.

Gradually you settle down into your group, of such a kind that the same pattern as this people are and then we can have a, what you call a regular sort of thing as these people have a trust and things like that, so that it can be settled into a proper way.

Of course, I never see to the trust accounts and I don't know what it is doing. But you have to make some people in charge and collect some money for your programs when I come there. You might need some money for your halls and things like that, for advertising. Whatever it is, you make a proper trust like that and try to make it up now, then we may legalise it also. But for the time being you must have some people who are in charge and collect some money for programs. Because I don't need any money, anything, but of course you will need money and because next year I am definitely going to come there and I'll be there for some time, I hope so.

So you need some money by then.

Last of all, I would like you all to thank Doctor Warren for going there on his own, working it out so well and helping all of them. Now, as Bohdan is going to Geneva, he'll be looking after the whole of Europe and he'll be running from one country to another country, Bohdan, Doctor Bohdan. And he will be doing all the needful. Gregoire, of course, is there behind the scenes, who has done all this; so he is going to guide Bohdan and everyone there and everything is going to be...

Sahaja Yogini [puts a question]: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Just come here, I can't hear you. Just come here.

Sahaja Yogini: I wanted to know that if You could come back, that...

Shri Mataji: But if you meditate, if you put left hand towards photograph, right hand like that and it should work out.... No, no, no, no, no, that you should not do...

So Warren will discuss... Yes, so Patricia is there and Antonio can help her. All right? Good. I am very happy you are there. Now, better, she is there and try to help her in every way she wants; because she is doing it well now, she is understanding everything well.... Anything else? You are looking so beautiful, all of you.... And Jack, you are in Belgium, isn't it?... That's good. Yes, I have to go home now. I think we have done a very successful seminar and give a hand to all these people who have come from Holland and Belgium.

I wanted to give them the... Warren... And the photographs are there, which you all can distribute because there are so many.

So those who are going just now first, should get first, then gradually...

So I'll take your leave now, then distribution will be done. Now, I want to thank you all for inviting Me to this seminar and it was so beautiful. I hope you won't take anything, any when I told you about this Viṣhṇumāyā. That's the power, remember, that's the power. You all have to have that power within you, so when you speak even a word it acts like a lightning and then like a rainbow. Both are the powers of Viṣhṇumāyā.

When rainbow appears, that means there won't be any lightning and when there is lightning there won't be any rainbow.

So you are also the rainbow. That means you can create beautiful colours out of one white colour, that's what you are capable of.

So you have to show that magic and also you have to show sometimes that lightning effect. But better take more the lightning inside and the rainbow outside, that would be better.

May God bless you all.

[Sahaja Yogis sing `Jerusalem'.] May God bless English and the others, all of you who desire to create Jerusalem in England, it's very important. Let the English also understand and be aware of this and work it out. Not only the English Sahaja Yogis, but all the English.

May God bless you.

Contents: 1985-09-20*, Public Program, Memorial Hall, City Hall, Sheffield, UK

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

It was a thing of great joy to Me to come to Sheffield again. Always this name Sheffield created a kind of a mystery in My mind. The word Sheffield could be the `She Field' and She is the Mother energy, the energy within you which creates this field within you and is in the Gītā.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has talked about the field that we all have a Pradesh, is the field but Desh means the field and the enlightened one is the Pradesh. And that same thing happens to us when this Kuṇḍalinī rises within you. This Holy Ghost which is described in the bible, She is the Kuṇḍalinī, She is the Mother.

Actually people don't know anything about Holy Ghost and we didn't give Christ much chance to speak about it. He could only speak for three and a half years, is nothing. I can tell you three and a half years in this land anywhere in the whole world it's so difficult even to convince four people that they have to seek the truth, it's very difficult.

Especially in the land where He was born. It was full of ignorance, complete ignorance. And in that ignorance to speak about realisation, to speak about second birth, even to speak about God was so difficult. And He was just crucified for nothing at all, today we may have big organizations in His name but when He lived nobody listened to Him and they crucified Him. He talked about Holy Ghost but this Holy Ghost had been interpreted by people in various ways. They've never been able to say what is this Holy Ghost but logically you can come to some conclusion yourselves because you're all intelligent people.

We talk about the Father, all right and then the Son. Have you heard of a father producing a son? You have to have the Mother. It's the Mother who creates the Son. Now why this Holy Ghost was kept as a secret, never talked about it because Christ was afraid, not afraid but was cautious I should say, because such people are never afraid of anything. He was cautious to talk about His Mother because if they had harmed His Mother by any chance, then He had eleven powers of destruction and the destruction of world would have come much earlier than today. He had to play the whole drama of His crucifixion and that's how He had to go through all that.

In that process He didn't want to involve His Mother. He didn't want to explain about Holy Ghost and He knew that it will be later on explained. But logically we must understand what is this Holy Ghost we are talking about? [UNCLEAR A dove?] All right, it's peace. How do you get to the peace? Supposing it is the symbol of peace. Today we see in the world we see these televisions and we hear, we read newspapers and we are shattered and so much of friction, so much of sin. People are not even worried about what they are doing, to what extent human beings can go you can see the way a three-year-old child was molested, the innocence is attacked like this. Why? Why human beings cannot control their desires which are so devilish? Why there is so much of friction in this world? We have to think about it and we must also think positively what we can do about it.

Now at the same time there are so many seekers of truth born on this earth. This is the special time and that's why they are born on this earth. But they are misled, they go to wrong people, they get identified with wrong people.

When I came here, the person who is organizing Sahaja Yoga here told Me that, “Mother, they come, they get their realisation and then they disappear, they start doubting." I said, “That's a good sign, it's a healthy sign." Let them doubt because the way they jump into all these horrible things like Gurus and this and that, the way they accept as if they have no personality, they have no discretion. The way they jump into even drugs I don't know, what happens that we have lost all our personality. They took to any fashion, to any nonsense so easily and to reality with such difficulty. We have lost our discretion that's what it is, but doesn't matter whatever it is use your brains. Understand that this world is not created to be destroyed.

You're not created out of amoeba just to be destroyed by something nonsensical like drug[s] or some sort of a Guru; nobody has right to destroy you. They cannot create you and they cannot destroy you, nor you have any right to destroy yourself because you cannot create yourself, the one who is your Creator, the one who has loved you who has so beautifully made this beautiful human life is responsible. He is the one who is so earnest about it that you should get your realisation, that you should get your second birth, that you should be baptized in the real sense of the word.

I agree religions have shown funny things, some thing so absurd that one can start doubting their credibility. I admit that, but that is the mistake of human beings not of the Divine. Divine created beautiful flowers on the same tree of life time and time again but when the people plucked these flowers and said, “These are mine, these are mine." They became dead and ugly and they are fighting now in the name of God, in the name of religion. Imagine, how can you do such merciless, horrible, brutal things to other human beings but this must shatter you, this must make you understand and you should be aware.

Get out of your sleep now and know that you are the people who are seekers. You have to be more aware, more understanding of your responsibility. It is no use standing there with a banner saying we want peace. How? The peace has to be within. Human beings are not at peace. You see in the art you see today the art has left the Divine behind, the art has become so, chaotic. The expression of esthetics are just missing there's no beauty in it. You feel the chaotic heart of an artist being expressed in that what he's made, why? Because he has lost himself.

Now it is the responsibility of you people living in these modern times to become that, that source of peace, which is your Spirit and the Spirit resides within you. It is all the time there it is the witness of this field I should say the She Field, the field that is to be enlightened by this Kuṇḍalinī that exists within you but is not enlightened, it has not come into your attention. The Spirit has not come into your attention, that's why we think this is all talk. There are people who are so-called intellectuals; they say this is all talk, talk, talk. For a mental conception it is impossible to tell what lies beyond it because mind is a limited thing. You have to go beyond mind; you have to be triggered into the space to see that. The evolution has been just like your spacecraft going into the space. First, the first thing comes up is the physical being, explodes gets its accelerations then becomes your mental being, your emotional being, your spiritual being and then it has to go to the space. That is the time today is the space age. When we talk of the space age you think of the space, which is beyond this gravity, there is some space, which is beyond all gravities, beyond all temptations, beyond all slaveries.

We talk of our freedom, where is the freedom I just don't think see. Anybody comes now and says all right, have this drug for so much money. We are finished with it. Anybody comes and says all right, you take up your clothes this way, live like this, we just accept without thinking, without understanding. We have given up the traditions alright whatever was wrong in the tradition should have been given no doubt but everything if you give up then remember we are falling down. We are coming down we are not going up. When you are going up you do not give up the staircase. Staircase is there and you go up higher and higher. No tradition is so bad is to be discarded but if it is so it should be discarded but that is what is the discretion and that discretion is so much lacking today that people can't see that what we are doing collectively or individually is not constructive.

Now I would say that this is not the time for us just to sit back on the fence and see which side we fall.

Either you will fall into hell or you'll go to heaven. This is the situation, we are so precariously placed, I do not want to frighten you because there is the Spirit within you just to be enlightened, it's your own, it is there, it's your own property. It's not Mine, it's yours, it's your own treasure within you. Only this treasure is to be exposed to you. Now for that how can you pay? First thing you must know you cannot pay for it. If I say that then all the Gurus are after My life, they want to kill Me, they want to do all those things. You cannot take money for God's work.

We sold Christ, you know that. He didn't take any money, did He? We have got such a great personality like Christ and we just want to discard Him, make fun of Him, say all kinds of things about Him, intellectualise Him, organize Him. You cannot touch Him. You're still human beings, you have to be the Spirit to understand that Great soul which came on this earth. In the same way any other soul, which was an Incarnation who came on this earth, cannot be understood by our normal understanding, but only a person with that pure intelligence can see this point that I'm not satisfied with what I am, I have to go beyond.

There's some transformation needed and how will this transformation take place? We can't do anything about it because we have done nothing to become human beings did we? What did we do to become human beings? Nothing, so going beyond also must be built in within us. The way we became human beings there must be some built-in process by which we will become that higher being. Now the problem at the human level is that somebody has to talk at human level. Say at the fish level, one fish had to come up so the others could follow that fish. At human level, some human being has to tell you about it. That's how Christ came on this earth. I mean we have a quite a long traditional history of all these great people came on this earth at different places, at different times. According to the time they had to talk. When they talked say, about the flowers, say they talked that they are Gods, like Socrates talked about Gods, like Confucius talked about Gods. When they talked we have to please our Gods we started doubting.

What Gods he's talking about? Whatever they saw we could not see, all right. Then they thought no use talking about Gods.

If you talk about Gods then it becomes a sort of a worship of something that is a flower. We talk about flowers then we think we have become God and we talk about flower all the time. But we have to get to the honey. How do we do it? So they said, “All right, don't talk about God, talk about abstract, talk about the fragrance, talk about the honey itself." But how do you become, how do you get to the honey? By talking about it again it became a talk and talk and talk.

So how it has to happen that you have to become the bee, the transformation has to take place.

First understand this simple point that some transformation has to take place within us to go or to penetrate into that unknown Divine which we call as collective unconscious.

Something has to happen to us that we have to become subtler beings. Don't be satisfied and don't self certify yourself that `I'm all right; nothing wrong with me.' No, nothing's wrong with you. You're all right, but you have still to be connected to the mains. Like this instrument, if it is not connected to the mains it won't work. It is as simple as this instrument that you are to be connected with the mains and for that you have got built-in process that has to work out.

It's nice we have instruments in these modern times that I can use them as an analogies to explain to you. For others they had to use the analogies of the seed that how we imbed the seed in the Mother Earth and the Mother Earth has the capacity to sprout the seed and the seed has the built-in map of all the trees it is going to create. Now if you look at the seed do you see the miracle behind the little seed there? In India we have huge big banyan trees and if you see the seed is so small that it's quite microscopic and it makes huge big banyan trees. How does it make? We never wonder. Whatever is the wonder, the mystery of this creation we never wonder about it, we never look at it, look at ourselves, what are we? We are human beings, these eyes, can we make eyes like this.

We are making computers, but look at this brain the computer that is within, we don't have to program it nothing it just knows. You know I'm sitting here, I know you're sitting here just looking at it. You don't have to go through the process of finding out what is the process of it and then it moves the whole thing and gives you the program and out of the program something comes out. It is there just at the same instant you know what is it. This kind of a computer is made for us, why? To be wasted, to be confused, to be ended up in a lunatic asylum? We must have the proper value system about ourselves.

First of all we are human beings made from amoeba to this stage in thousands of years with great care and delicacy, for what purpose we must ask the question, why are we made? Are we made here just to ruin ourselves or not to do anything just like blind people going about hitting here hitting there. No, we are made to become the Spirit and the whole system is built-in within you. And we have to go into another realm of our awareness into a new dimension. Now these dimensions can be also misinterpreted. It's such a dangerous line we are into because these modern times are full of horrible people.

Like somebody says that “All right, I can hear voices." So what? “I can see light." So what? Or somebody says that, “All right, I feel like I'm flying in the air, I leave my body." So what? What have you got? You are under the control of something else, you don't know anything. Logically you must know what you are doing, what's happening to you, what is within you, you must know each and everything. You have to know that if I have become the light then I must have the power of the light, I don't see the light. If I see the light I'm not the light. If I become the light, then I have the power of light. In the light you see clearly and that is what you get is collective consciousness. You can feel another person's Chakras, you can feel your centers and if you know how to cure that, how to improve that and how to raise the Kuṇḍalinī which is a very, very simple thing, because it is so fundamental that's why it is so simple.

You can cure yourself, you can cure others and you can live very joyously within yourself. This is what you have to have and that's how you will realise that we are part and parcel of the whole. The microcosm becomes one with the macrocosm. Not by talking about it by saying about it by mental projections no, it happens to you, it really happens to you when you become the spirit, it works on your central nervous system, you know what you are and what others are. That they're part and parcel of you is known to you on your central nervous system.

So we come to conclusion that if we have to become the Spirit what should we do? Nothing. What do we do when we put the seed in the Mother Earth? Nothing, but once you become that then you have to look after it. When the seed is sprouted, comes out of the Mother Earth then we have to look after it and that's the point where most of the Western people fail. The reason is this knowledge is not known to them. Their knowledge is like the tree, which is exposed outside. They don't have the knowledge of the roots. This is the knowledge of the roots and we have to give and take. We have to talk about it; we have to understand that there's nothing like India and England two different things. England I call it the heart of the universe, it is and India is the Kuṇḍalinī of the universe. The Kuṇḍalinī has to know England and England has to know the Kuṇḍalinī. If it is one whole body then one part has to know another part.

So all your misconceptions, or conceptions, or maybe right ideas are all become absolutely evident, vividly seen because you get the light of your own Spirit. That Spirit is missing. That Spirit which is all the time watching you, witnessing you has to be enlightened in the sense that the Spirit must enlighten your attention. That's how you become the attention and wherever you put the attention you act. It's very surprising, like if you're watching the television, watching the television, it's unreal and you're looking at the television. They cannot act on you and you cannot act on them because it is artificial. But supposing there's a gentleman sitting. He's a living body not artificial you are talking to that person and that person is talking to you it acts. But this attention which is a subtler being within you, your attention, supposing you project it to someone and it acts for the benevolence, never for destruction but for the benevolence.

When it acts for the benevolence you are amazed, how does it happen? How can my attention have the power of benevolence? Because in your attention is now the light of the Spirit.

So you become benevolent.

You know the truth whether it is true or not. How will you know? I was once in Pune and you see in England they say I'm preaching, I'm preaching about Hinduism, I'm converting everybody to Hindus.

And in India they say I'm converting them to Christianity, because I'm doing both you see [laughter from Shri Mataji and from the audience].

So they have a great objection about Me everywhere because they don't see the integrated work about Sahaja Yoga, all right? So they said that “This is wrong, whatever She's saying is not correct because we are Brahmins and we know about our Shāstras and we are Brahmins." But they didn't tell Me all this. They talked all these things to others and they said, “We can't have Her in our hall, She's not a Brahmin and She's in a Christian family we can't have Her." So the Brahmins, as usual all priests as they're always against the truth you see they were against the truth there also as Brahmins. I didn't know all these things but suddenly I felt and I said, “Whosoever are Brahmins among you please come forward." So four five you see very hefty people came and sat in front like this. I said” Really are you Brahmins?" “Yes" they said. “All right, all put your hands towards Me, like this." They put their hands like this towards Me and what happened that they start shaking like this.

I said, “What's happening? Stop it, why are shaking?" He said to the others who are there they are also shaking. I said yes but ask them from where they come.

They said we are certified lunatics coming from a lunatic asylum [audience laughs] because Mother has cured some lunatics so we are sitting here. Then they realised that they were also quite lunatic [audience laughs again] because they're fundamentalists. If you go to extremes you become lunatic, I mean lunatics at least can be put in the lunatic asylum but these people are going around everywhere, you don't know how to control them, all over the world they are creating such problems every, every country has them.

Somewhere they are very sophisticated so you can't make them out somewhere they are very closed so you know they are there but some are can be very subtle you can't make them out but you cannot make them budge from whatever they are holding onto.

So this is how relatively first you realise what is the Truth. With these vibrations, with the vibrations that flow that you feel when the Kuṇḍalinī crosses through your Brahmarandhra as they call it, we can call the fontanelle bone area you start feeling the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost coming out of your head.

Then also you start feeling sometimes little late in your fingers the Cool Breeze coming in.

Now some people are very proud, “Oh, I'm not feeling anything." That's not a good thing; if you're not feeling there's something wrong.

Somewhere something missing, normally you should. Children feel it very fast because they're so innocent, not yet spoiled by anything.

They are not so egoistical; they do not have these barriers.

Some sort of problem is there that you're not feeling the Cool Breeze. You should because this is the All-pervading Power of God which surrounds us, is everywhere and every one of you should feel that Cool Breeze.

Once you start feeling the Cool Breeze then you become the joy because first of course you want to try with everything. “Is it Cool Breeze? Is it Cool Breeze? That is Cool Breeze. Should I go or not? Let me see now, if it is Cool Breeze I'll go otherwise." You go on like that. Then you realise this is the truth, this is the truth and then the joy of finding the truth emerges. But in India it's just the other way round. They're not bothered because they know what happens. They know; they have the knowledge of the roots, so they know what is to be found out.

We don't have to go very far, even, so near, I mean, few years back we should say was, we had Nanaka, we had Kabīra. They talked about it very clearly they told about this so vividly that anybody with any sense should understand. Especially Kabīra who was such a great poet and such a great incarnation, I would say the way he talked right from all these Brahmins to all the hypocrites and everything he gave them left and right. He was like Saint Michael with a sword in his hand cutting everybody. Like your William Blake, he was really like your William Blake who gave left and right to all these nonsensical people. He has talked about it, he very clearly describing Sahaj. He said, Nanaka has said [UNCLEAR] you can only get Samādhi through Sahaja.

Sahaja means spontaneous, only spontaneously can you get it. Then you have got Kabīra who was treated like a scheduled caste. Like a scheduled caste he was treated. Nobody respected him. Then we had Rāmdās another one a great man I'm told, there is a temple of this Rāmdās. I was so amazed that in England it should come and prosper. They were treated just like scheduled caste by these people nobody would listen to them. Nobody would allow them to come in a temple, these great saints, because they were not be a born in a Brahmin family; and these great people have talked, Nanaka has talked very clearly, very recently they have talked about these things. Hundred years back only. William Blake has talked about Sahaja Yoga. He has said, “The men of God, men of God", that's you, “will become prophets and they will have powers to make others prophet." He had such hopes of making England into Jerusalem, but where are those English? I have still to meet many.

I've worked in this country for twelve years, relentlessly. India I've worked very little but we have thousand fold people who have got realisation in India. They may be poor but they know what they have to get, to them to get to their Self-realisation is the thing. Nothing else matters, they do not intellectualise, they know already this is it, this is it. Everyone knows, right from President downward everyone knows what to expect, but whatever is our knowledge has been, we have to know that this outside knowledge whatever we have has to have roots and we have to go to our roots. We cannot live with this outside knowledge, we have to know ourselves. Everybody is talking about Self-knowledge. There have been so many books, so many things, I mean so much of seeking is on, that we cannot just avoid getting to our spirit, we have to get to it but the only problem where I stumble down is that people do not have [UNCLEAR]. They're very frivolously treating the whole thing, those who have got realisation for them the Kingdom of God is awaiting. They are not only welcome but they'll be cherished and that's what has to be done.

You have to cherish your Spirit, your Self, you've not done it. Only just getting realisation, feeling satisfied about it itself is not sufficient. “Now I'm realised, all right, I've got the Cool Breeze, I'm this." No, you have to grow. It's still a sapling that has to grow, for that you don't have to pay anything, nothing.

Here these people, really I tell you, they are working so hard because they have achieved a certain height in Sahaja Yoga. They don't take any money. They were just like you, they had to work hard to first establish themselves, because that is the time where people want to say, “No, Mother said Sahaj, so all right, we'll sit at home." That is only for sprouting I said Sahaj, but we have to look after because we have had conditionings, we have had problems, we have had physical problems, we have had social problems, we have had psychological problems. They are to be attended to and the Kuṇḍalinī just goes and raise this energy there. Unless and until you know how to manoeuvre it or work it out, it is very difficult for this Kuṇḍalinī to manage by Herself. You have to show the will. If you do not have the will nobody can force on you. The Divine is not going to fall at your feet. “All right, all right, get your realisation." You have to knock at the door and these doors are only six, not many. Six doors which are partly opened out, again closing, again opening out. You have to just know how to knock and how to keep them open, finished. Then you become the light and once you become the light you give light to others.

That's how this world is going to be saved. No other way out, no other way out. We have to have transformation; we have to become the Spirit. We have to be enlightened and to be the light in the Great Being that is our Creator, our Preserver and the One who is our existence itself. All these things are so simple. They may look bombastic when we see from outside, but when you come inside it's so simple, it's very easy. Sahaj also has another meaning that's `very easy', apart from it is spontaneous, it is very easy.

We don't want to do something easy. Like if we can eat our food like this we'll not, we'll have to take our hand like this and if you can eat in a difficult way then it's very good. That's human nature. They want to do something like that.

Like some people suggested to Me, “Mother when You go to India and settle down there, then we'll make these people that, `If you have to get realisation, you have to go to Mother. Then you must stay on a mountaintop where there will be freezing cold.' Let them climb up seven miles and then they will come to You and they'll get their realisation. Otherwise they will not because their ego will not be satisfied with given things." What about Me? I don't want to trouble you, why should you? I've taken all the troubles; Christ has taken all the troubles for you. Everybody has taken troubles, you better enjoy now. You have to enjoy it; just you have to get it.

There's no end to My lectures. I've been lecturing and lecturing and lecturing and I would say that this subject is so interesting that all here there are at least 60 percent people who must have heard thousands of My lectures. Still they would like to hear more and more [laughing] so I would suggest that we finish at this point, but know that once you become the knowledge it's easier to understand what we are saying.

It's very simple but only thing you have to become the Spirit.

May God bless you.

Now I would like to have some questions but I've seen people when they ask questions they are representatives of some horrid Gurus. Their horrid Gurus pay them some money because they take a lot of money then they pay them some money. Then they come here as identified with these Gurus. I have to request them what have you got out of that Guru? Why are you so much enamoured by him? Why are you so much charmed by that, what have you got? He's using you.

So please when you ask questions ask independently, freely, I'll be very happy to answer you but I don't like that you are talking because somebody has told you something. Whatever you know you ask Me I'll be very happy to answer those questions to you.

May God bless you.

Question: You mentioned Christ, you mentioned the Holy Ghost, you mentioned the Kuṇḍalinī. If Christ is the Son, what is the Kuṇḍalinī?

Shri Mataji: She is the Mother. Christ within us is the Spirit and Kuṇḍalinī is the Holy Ghost, which is the Mother. The reflection of Holy Ghost within us is the Kuṇḍalinī and the reflection of Christ within us is the spirit. But everybody has played the role. Like Moses, like Abraham, like Socrates, like Lao Tze, everybody has played the role to build up this drama they are all part and parcel of one being. This one you must understand. When they said there is one God, he's not like rock of Gibraltar. Even rock of Gibraltar has got different molecules you see but to ask God is one means, I don't know, I can not think of such thing just a one block. He's not, He has many aspects and these aspects are expressed in these different ways. Of course He's one, united, integrated, one; but all these aspects are there and this one God is either in the pockets of the priests or the pockets of the Brahmins or the pockets of the mullahs or the pockets of someone. One God.

Question: Does the Kuṇḍalinī have any relationship to the Virgin Mary, the physical Mother of Jesus?

Shri Mataji: It is, very much so. Yes you asked the same question. She is the Virgin the kanya but gradually when you come to Sahaja Yoga you will know the Virgin Mary, what is Her exposure is, how many times She was born even in India, what is Her relationship and how great She is. But why Martin Luther did not talk about Virgin Mary? I asked My father who was a realised Soul and he gave a good explanation. He said it was [UNCLEAR] it means according to the circumstances at the time, that time suddenly he found that he has to take the people in a more enlightened field and he is doing so he wanted Muslims also to be included and if you suddenly talk about the Mother, they may not accept.

So for that he avoided, but actually he knew that one day somebody will explain. But human nature is such I must say that if you accept one flower, you'll not accept another and when they're dead, not when they're living, never, never. When they're living we'll never accept it, we'll never listen to them. But once they're dead then wonderful because he's in our pocket, do what you like, it's very common.

We had one Gñyāneśhwara, a great saint in India, very great saint and they have built huge big temple for him and he is in a statue.

So when we went there they said, “You cannot do meditation here." I said, “Why? What did he do? He did meditation." He said, “No, you have to do that kind of a dance they do called [UNCLEAR]." I said, “But he did not do it." He said, “So what? We do this way. He was another; he was great. We are not so we have to do this." So I didn't know how to argue at with that, so I said, “Look at the statue. Now you are in a statue, better come in a form to tell all these people." But when he came in form he didn't even have shoes to wear. He burnt his feet on charred grounds. Nobody gave him water to drink. All the saints suffered.

Any other question please? Yes.

Question: Do you need to believe in God to get realisation, like Buddha didn't believe in God but still got realisation.

Shri Mataji: All right, Buddha did not believe that's not the point, He did believe but He didn't say about God. I also didn't say in the beginning about God, because if you start talking about God it creates problems.

That he said all these things because, why, that's what I'm trying to tell you. You see it is [UNCLEAR] the time, that time. What he thought that the people in India especially were worshipping a God in a temple, the Brahmins, this, that. The Brahmins thought this is a God; they had pocketed all the money and all those things.

So how to bring them out of it? He said, “Don't talk of God; don't talk of anything.

Talk of the Self. First step is Self." He said, “First they will have the Self, then they will know where is the God." Of course in the temple also we have some things, which we can say are swayambhūs, which are, come out of Mother Earth. It is said in one of the commandments that whatever is created by Mother Earth or by the heavens should not be reproduced, but there is something created.

So these temples were all completely monopolized by Brahmins and these Brahmins tried to rule the whole country, that's the thing happened.

So Buddha thought, how to get these people out and He talked about the Self only and nothing else. He said, “First Self” and I also felt the same way in the beginning. But now the time is different. Now I would say that it can go to any extent this stupidity of these fundamentalists. Like in Nasik when Mahatma Gandhi returned from England they said, “You have to go for [UNCLEAR Chitta]", means a repentance, “You have to go in for repentance because you put your foot on a foreign land." Imagine! And they would not allow him to exist. They would not allow him to exist and he had to do it. He said, “Now get rid of these mad people." He had to do it and it was a Brahmin who killed him ultimately.

So I mean, it's a very funny world, you know and in that world we come and we tell about something that is truth, which is truth, which is good, which is benevolent, which is the thing, but people just kill.

I mean there is no need, at least if you don't want to hear, all right. Don't kill them, but they kill. Even Mohammed Sahib was given poison, even Buddha was tortured by the people, very much tortured in the beginning and His disciples also went to extremes later on, not his own disciples but his followers.

So now we have people who beat the seekers on their back. We had one gentleman, his name was, he called himself Omkar. He came from some Llama and he had a broken spine and I had to work for days together to put his spine right and they used a stick to hit him. Can you imagine? Is it God? Is it religion? So Buddha and Mahāvīra, these two persons, at that time did not talk of God, both of them. Later on they again incarnated and talked of God as Hassan and Hussein, as Kabīra. And the illusion was that every time He turned His feet the carpet turned with Him. They're all one; we are only fighting because we don't see the oneness.

So because of the time they did speak but they did not cut out, they had to say, “Stop at this point” not more because that was the situation. You can see that. All right? So it's logical.

Question: Do you have to do any practices to raise the force?

Shri Mataji: No, first of all I'd better do it in a different way that you all get your realisation, first of all. Then of course, as I said, your Kuṇḍalinī attends to your problems. She goes down, so then I have to tell you how to raise it, how to bring it back, how to correct yourself. Once you're established, you can do it to others.

So we can say it is in three parts. First is your establishment, like we can say the sprouting of the seed.

So that's the awakening first of all or realisation as you touched. And then the second part you establish yourself. In the third part we establish others. All right? Question [repeated by Sahaja Yogi]: Are You speaking of Kuṇḍalinī awakening? Others talk about it and then deliver the goods, is this what You're saying? Yes.

Shri Mataji: It's true. That's true. Easy to talk about anything. It's true when one need not talk.

There's no need to talk, it works silently. It is working in all of you. That's the right approach, who delivers the good. That's right, he said the right thing. Who delivers the good? We can be satisfied with artificial things you know, we can, we can be. Be careful on that point, you said the right thing. Correct.

Question: As a realised Soul how can one help social problems such as problems in Ethiopia and so on?

Shri Mataji: Well very much. Now Ethiopia's problem comes from two angles, two angles. First is Ethiopia you know that the Rastafarians. Have you heard about them? It comes from them; Rastafarians took to the wrong side. In their religion itself you are supposed to take the drugs and with taking drugs where will you go? Into your collective subconscious and what is in your collective subconscious is so injurious that it can give you cancer.

Cancer comes from the left side, which we call as the collective subconscious. It can give all kinds of diseases, which cannot be cured. Most of the incurable diseases come from there and also the famine.

The trees will burn. If you want to find out about a person if it is true or not see the flower. Flower will just burn off, if there's a person who is possessed by the left side, it will just burn off. The cows will not give milk, all things will happen in the nature and when there are so many people who are doing this nonsensical thing and having all the left-sided movement of their attention, they catch onto these and that's how the whole thing works on their nature. That's one thing. Now a realised Soul if he goes to Ethiopia, by his mere existence there, the nature may change. If he is of a very evolved soul it will, even with attention he can.

Now the second point is, what is gone wrong? You see this is what you say is the sin, the sin, the wages of sin is fear, it's much more than fear. It acts, this is a sin to go to these things and succumb to collective subconscious. Instead of rising higher, keeping in the center, going to the right and the left we can call it is the sin but in a very wider sense of the word. All right? Now this is one thing that the country has indulged too much into the left side will be grabbed, will be definitely grabbed into the power of negative forces, no doubt about it. Their trees won't grow, their flowers won't prosper, their children will die. They will have negative population, they will have all problems of terrible diseases even AIDS comes. AIDS also comes from the same area. It's a very serious thing and when collectively people start doing it, you just entering into the Satanic land where everything can work out. That's one thing, no use giving them money, it's very temporary. Easy money is the worst thing; you have to give them something solid, something permanent, something eternal, something living, which will make them grow. That's one point.

The second point of Ethiopia is a very collective happening, which happened in Ethiopia. I met a minister by chance from Ethiopia who was travelling with Me in the train and he told Me it was a political game. The politics which is not benevolent is no politics at all, it's a dirty game; and when you go to the extremes you see the falsehood is such a nonsense, such an ignorance, such a darkness that you start moving in it you don't know where you go till you reach your complete doom; and when you see that you don't understand what have we done, because to move on a slope is the easiest and that's how Ethiopia has landed in trouble.

Third point which comes to Me very important that applies to all the nations, whether they are developing or developed, that we don't realise that we are part and parcel of one world. God never created a separate world. It's one world. Like one human being it has a heart, all right? It has a liver, it has everything but it's one and that we are all part and parcel of this. I would say that Roosevelt once said that poverty anywhere is a threat to prosperity everywhere and when he said that I think he understood the subtle thing. Anywhere in the body there is poverty, means if there is any disease is a threat to the whole body. But for that we are not yet there, we are not grown up, we are still so insular, so insular.

Like the other day we had a lady who was English, I must say, she came and in My house I have, because My husband is international diplomat travelling a lot, we have got things from everywhere and she only appreciated English things, invariably even without knowing. She couldn't appreciate anything even if for sixth century, second century she wouldn't.

So insular, we are all insular, everywhere, whether it's Indian, whether it's English whether it's American, we are very insular people, self-opinionated. We are not global. Unless and until we become global, problems of the world cannot be solved. As if this finger of a leper is affected and then there is no sensitivity in the whole body. Then what happens that if a rat comes and takes away the finger the leper doesn't know.

So the lepers if you go to a leper home they'll say, “Just have the light for us to see” but this light when it comes within you see that we are part and parcel of the whole and that's how you grow up into the global personality. We are still English, British, Irish, Welsh. I was surprised even the Welsh won't like them to be called British. I mean it's such a little land like that. Imagine in the heart if you have cells, which do not call themselves cells of the heart, what will happen to that heart? It will collapse.

It is happening everywhere, it's not only in one country it's the same as I said in every country we are very insular people. We have to expand and how do we expand, how do we expand? Through our Spirit.

As you can see the characters of these people they were global they never talked about one country, two countries, three countries, they talked for everyone. This is the third big mistake, which all the countries are doing and they are fighting, for what? Why are they all fighting, why are they having wars? God did not create wars, did He? It's not His mistake. This world belongs to Him and not to us. All theories they become self-destructive how can that be called as a benevolent politics? In Sahaja Yoga we will have the politics of Socrates, of giving and of not taking. But we have to have that race raised into that personality that global personality. Can I do it alone? You all have to help Me.

Question: She's no will power whatsoever, She's been a drug addict for fifteen years, She just wonder she can...

Shri Mataji: Don't you worry, it's all there it will come back don't you worry, all right? Don't you worry. Love is the most powerful thing, we have never used the power of love, don't you worry.

Question: I followed Swāmī Vivekananda for years, advocated stern practices for years and years...

Shri Mataji: Now he is dead and gone, all right [laughter... applause]. I'm sitting here; I'm your Mother, all right? I agree, I know, I know all that, all horrid things forget it. I'm your Mother, all right? If I can work it out only with My love, why should you worry about Vivekananda? It's all right, forget it, that's over. You have done it in previous life. Vivekananda had to do it in this life but you have done it before, all right? You all have finished with it, now you just get your prizes. [All laugh.] You don't have to do anything like that. You see a person who has to cook who has never cooked before has to go through all rigmarole. But supposing your Mother knows cooking. She's done the cooking. Come along and have the food, finished. Why to worry? All right? It's already made. You are a seeker, you have been a seeker.

You have done all that many lives, you've been to Himālayas so now forget it, forget it. Better have it, all right? There are so many here I can see that kind.

Question: Can we have the food that You've prepared?

Shri Mataji: You're hungry, that's great. Let's have it, all right? Should we? Now do not analyze anymore, just have it, don't analyze, when you're hungry you don't analyze from where did you get it, what has happened, how [will] you cook it. You just see the fun, that's all. You just enjoy it, that's a good idea.

Question: After you die, would you like to go to heaven or do you wish to stay around?

Shri Mataji: Who I? I die? I think of the present never of the future. You be in the present, don't worry about the future. We should worry about the present, that's why you see Buddha talked about the Self. Why talk of the future? Doesn't exist for Me.

Question: Present and future bind together

Shri Mataji: Yes, Yes but you become first the present, otherwise there's no binding. Either you are in the future or in the past, first of all become the present. There's no binding, that's the chain is missing, that's why I'm saying become the present. All right? Question: I want to know the answer, are You going to stay around or are You going to go to heaven when You die?

Shri Mataji: I'm already in heaven [laughter... applause] would you like to join Me? You please join Me in heaven, all right? I'm already in heaven. I see the heaven around Me everywhere, only thing you have to enter into that subtle thing. It's so beautiful; it's so beautiful.

All right, now you don't have to do much, but as I said we have problems within ourselves. We have to little bit work out ourselves, our awakening and doing so you will know also later on if the Kuṇḍalinī falls off how to raise it. It's very simple, not much. You have to use your left and right hand because as Mohamed Sahib has said that at the time of resurrection your hands will speak, in the sense that you get your collective consciousness and your fingertips become enlightened.

So as all the doctors will also say that we have a sympathetic nervous system acting on our fingertips.

Now when you put the left hand towards Me, it represents your desire to be Self-realised.

So just you have to put your left hand like this nothing else is to be done, simple, but in a humble way. If you say, “Now give me realisation” all right, but we have to be humble. That's very important. When we are humble, we are peaceful and the thing works out faster.

So do not analyze it just get it. It's simple how to eat the food I'm just telling you.

Put your left hand straight like this. First of all it's better to take the advantage of Mother Earth so you have to take out your shoes. You can keep your socks but better to take out your shoes, because sometimes they can be very tight and your hats. Anything tight, which makes you uncomfortable, should be loosened, that's all.

Now, just put your left hand straight like this. Everyone should try to do it, it's very simple, it's not going to take much time, it's very simple. Nothing is going to happen to you but, on the contrary, you will become at least ten years younger, that's a promise. You see a mother when she gives castor oil, also she has to cover it with some chocolates.

So now this is one of the temptations for many people must be, but there are so many other things that I cannot describe in this short lecture.

So I would say that just put your left hand because this is your own power within you, which you do not know, just put your left hand just like this. All of you please put your left hand on your lap very comfortably. Now your right hand is the one, which is the power of action. With this you act, so you have to use your right hand just first on your heart center then because in the heart resides the Spirit. Then I'll tell you one by one, but just now can see on the upper part of the stomach, in the lower part of the stomach, then again in the upper part of the stomach, then on the heart, then here, then here, then here. I will tell you one by one everywhere and then on top of your head here, stretch your hand palm, put it down there and press it hard, that's all.

It's very simple.

Now this all has to be done with the right hand, just remember this one point and left hand here.

What are these centers? I will tell you. One by one, you need not remember. It's all in the book, but just now you know that it is to be worked out on the left hand side. Because left hand side is our desire and we are putting our hand of our desire. Now the left hand is already quite heavy I must say, all right, so now.

You put your left hand just like this and at the very outset, as I've told in every Western program, you have to forgive yourself. You're not to feel guilty for anything whatsoever even for reading Vivekananda.

You have to be pleasantly placed towards yourself; after all you are the temple of God.

So don't despise yourself, don't think low of yourself, forgive yourself and say with full confidence that you're not guilty.

This is a fashion also, everybody wants to say “I'm guilty." It's a fashion, it's just a fashion.

So please don't consider yourself guilty for anything you have done in the past what you think of the future. Let your present come up and then you will know that all these were mythical ideas. The truth has to come.

So now you have to close your eyes. Don't open your eyes. There's no mesmerism going on, so no need to keep the eyes open. But in any case keep your eyes shut till I tell you to open, because when the Kuṇḍalinī is rising it's better to keep your attention inside. At least through the eyes the attention goes out, so if you keep your eyes closed the Kuṇḍalinī rises much better.

Sometimes She does not rise if your attention is out, so I know attention cannot be inside, but when you close your eyes at least it is not going out too much.

So the Kuṇḍalinī rises and It sucks in all your attention, like I can say in My sarī if I have the Kuṇḍalinī rising like that it sucks in the sarī like the attention, In the same way it goes up and ultimately pierces through here. It should happen, you all should certify yourself, nobody needs certify you. Once you say you are feeling the Cool Breeze then you can ask somebody to see you. If you are not feeling it, don't get desperate, you all can feel it. There are so many here sitting and I'm sure you can be told and helped. And then once you get it, you have to help others. That's how we are going to work it out.

So now please put left hand like this, right hand on your heart. Now here close your eyes. In the heart resides the Spirit, so please ask Me three times a question in your heart, not loudly. Please ask Me sincerely a question. You can call Me `Shri Mataji' or you can call Me `Mother', whatever you like. `Mother, am I the Spirit? Mother, am I the Spirit? Mother, am I the Spirit?' Now this is a fundamental question you're asking to a computer, which has to give you the answer.

Now this question is followed by another question when you put your right hand in the upper part of your stomach on the left hand side. You're working everything on the left hand side and press it hard.

Now here is the center, which gives you the power of mastery over yourself, the mastery over the Divine knowledge, the mastery over the working of the Divine knowledge. That means you become your own master, you become your own Guru, nobody can dominate you, nothing can dominate you, no habits can dominate you.

So at this point you press your fingers dig them down here you have to ask the second question to Me, Mother am I my own master? Ask this questions three times please, with full faith in yourself ask this question:

`Mother, am I my own master?' This will neutralise all your useless feelings and everything. `Mother am I my own master?' Now please take your hand down in the lower part of your abdomen and press it hard there on the left hand side, keep the left hand towards Me. Now here is the center, which is working out the Divine technique, the Pure Knowledge, the true art of this technique is worked out through this center here. At this center I cannot force you in any way that you should ask Me for your Self-realisation. It should be your own desire free will ask for it.

So here you please ask Me, `Mother, may I have the True Knowledge?' This has to be said six times because there are six petals to this center. `Mother, may I have the True Knowledge, the Pure Knowledge of the Divine technique?' Why don't you do? You're so young, please try, it's very easy. For young people to be that adamant is not good. But please try, it's worth it.

Six times please. You must learn to listen and sometimes understand, all right? Now raise this hand again on the left hand side, on the same center of the principle of the mastery on the upper part of your abdomen of your stomach, on the left hand side, And now press it hard. This center has got ten petals, so here now you have to help your Kuṇḍalinī to rise by asserting the truth, by saying ten times with full confidence in yourself, `Mother I am my master. Mother I am my own master. Mother I am my own master.' Please say it ten times.

Now again you raise your hand on top of your heart and put it there with full confidence here, as this center has got twelve petals you have to say with full confidence in yourself the truth, `Mother I am the Sprit.' You are the Spirit, so please say with full confidence, `Mother I am the Spirit.' Believe Me, you are the Spirit. Twelve times.

You have to know that Divine is the ocean of God's love. It is the ocean of His forgiveness and you cannot do anything that He cannot forgive. He's that powerful, His forgiveness is that powerful, so there's no need for you to feel guilty about anything whatsoever, by that you're challenging His power of forgiveness.

So now you raise your hand in the angle of your neck and your shoulder and push it back towards the spinal cord and press it very hard. Now this is the most difficult center in the West. As I said, when you feel guilty you catch this center and you get all kinds of troubles like angina also troubles like spondylitis and so many other problems.

Now press it hard and with full confidence, you say sixteen times, `Mother I'm not guilty.' Sixteen times. You have to be pleasant with yourself; you have to cherish yourself and not to condemn yourself at all by any chance. You are not guilty.

So please say, `Mother, I am not guilty at all' sixteen times. But those who still want to go ahead with it punish themselves by saying it 108 times. That would be the best.

[Blows on and rubs Her hand.] So much heat coming out from there, so much of heat. `I'm not guilty.' Put your left hand towards Me, say with full confidence. Wow, this is the worst hurdle, I tell you. It's just a myth; it's a conception in your head that you're guilty. What guilt can you have that cannot be washed by the great power of God's love and forgiveness? [Rubs Her hands.] Sixteen times or 108 times.

You do not know how to love yourself. You're supposed to be selfish but there's no selfishness I think.

[Blows hard and rubs Her hands.] Now raise this hand on your forehead across and press it on both the sides. Now, here is the center where you have to forgive others. I will not say how many times but from your heart, please say, `Mother, I forgive everyone, I forgive everyone, I forgive everyone.' Now maybe you might say it's very difficult, but it's not all because it is mythical. What do you do by not forgiving or forgiving? Is nothing, but when you don't forgive you play into the hands of wrong people.

So just say, `Mother, I forgive everyone, everyone I forgive.' This is the greatest weapon Christ has given us, to forgive. Forgive everyone, forgive everyone, forgive everyone.

Now for your own satisfaction you may put your hand on the backside of your head, backside of your head. Here is the center where you have to say that `If I have done anything wrong against the Divine, please forgive me.' You have to ask the Divine the forgiveness, so that there's no doubt in your mind or sort of lurking guilt. Say that three times of from your heart it will work out, but don't count the mistakes, so-called. Just say that, saying is sufficient. Saying is the enlightened chanting, all right? Now stretch your hand put it on top of your head, bend you head a little bit forward. On top of your head, bend it and now rub it hard the scalp seven times. Here again I cannot cross your freedom, so you have to say, `Mother, I want my Realisation.' I cannot force it on you, so just say, `I want my Realisation.' I can only persuade you, but I cannot force it. You have to ask for it.

So please say seven times, `Mother, please may I have my realisation? Please give me my Realisation' seven times.

[Shri Mataji blows seven times into the microphone.] Now bring down your right hand, put it towards Me. Slowly open your eyes and put your left hand bending your head a little bit on top of your head here, little higher and see if there's a Cool Breeze coming out. With the left hand you see, not with the right, right hand towards Me, the right hand towards Me, the left hand just try to see if you're feeling any Cool Breeze out of your head, all right? Don't get upset.

If you're not feeling doesn't matter, we'll work it out. Doesn't matter. Now turn it round again put it here the right hand, see with the right hand if you're feeling the Cool Breeze.

Some people don't feel it, doesn't matter. Nothing so desperately bad. There is, I can see that. Now left hand again, little higher, maybe little higher, some people feel it very high you see, it shoots off, just see.

Now you may put your hand up towards the sky and ask the question, `Is this the All-pervading Power of God's love? Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the Brahma Shakti?' Ask the question three times. Now, such a lot, all the Sahaja Yogis sitting here. Are you feeling? Cool breeze? Or what? Something happening? Now put back your hand, now don't analyze it just see in the hands are you feeling any Cool Breeze in the hands. All right, little bit, some feel a little bit; but it's all right, the beginning has started. Now most of you have got the right hands less, so put the right hand towards Me, left hand like this towards the sky, it will ventilate. Left hand like this and now forgive, forgive everyone, everyone you forgive, just forgive. That's the mantra. It will release, left hand up. Right hand towards Me and left hand up. Now right hand towards Me. Moving, is it? Slowly, slowly it will move, right hand is difficult because mostly we are very right-sided people, mostly. Yes, good.

Now with the left hand you put towards Me and right hand towards the Mother Earth like this. Left hand towards Me and right hand towards the Mother Earth. This is what we are doing: we are correcting the elements within us, bringing them into balance. Which you will know very soon what it was, what we were doing. You'll know everything. No, no left towards Me, left towards Me and right towards the Mother Earth. Right towards the Mother Earth. Left towards Me, right towards the Mother Earth. Mmm, better.

All right? Now all those who have felt the Cool Breeze in the head or in the hands raise your both the hands. All of you? Practically? The sprouting has started.

May God bless you.

Contents: 1985-09-21 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, The English are Scholars, Children's Talk, Seminar, Sheffield, UK

As I said yesterday, this is the field, field where the light has to come. With so many lights, the field has to be enlightened. And this field which is enlightened is enriched by nature, too. And when you were singing I felt the clouds were catching the notes, weaving them within themselves and when it would rain, the rain will sing the song again. As if the valleys were resounding so beautifully and the echo was very gentle and filling the whole atmosphere. Perhaps you are not aware of the subtle, of the Divine, how much It is anxious to work it out. But our trumpets and our flutes and our drums have to be all right. There has to be coordination, complete synchronizing, then the melody is played in a beautiful way. Clouds only carry the purest water, the purest hymns.

So when we are spreading the message, we have to understand that it has to come from a pure source, purity is very important. I've already talked about chastity part which is the Mūlādhāra, which is so important today; you can see it clearly how important it is. But that's not the end of it; that's just the beginning, just the beginning. But what we have to see is something very innate built within us. And today as we are sitting in the heart of hearts that is Sheffield where the steel is made, in the heart the steel, sometimes you need a part of steel also in the heart. We have to see where are we lacking, what's our basic problem. We should face it.

So as English we are, we have to think how our brains work, are used to work, how traditionally we have been brought to problems. When we see around how we have accepted some things which were very absurd and nonsensical, say in America or in France and other places, as if we have no personality of our own. What did we give to others? What is the impression people carry about the British? Hippies, or what do you call these days modern, the punks. What is it that we have to give? Is a honourable image, is a honourable image of the British, of the English. We have to be honoured, we have to be honourable people and we must keep our honour. And honour cannot come or cannot be expressed if we are people who are cunning. That's very superficial, anybody can find out if we have that cunning within us. Now it has been a character, can be very cunning, that's what I discussed this morning. Be careful on that, be careful.

That's a trick of the ego, don't fall a prey to that. And that then works out in our languages also.

Now English language is a specially honoured language now because it is the language of the Sahaja Yoga as well. Of course we use Hindi, Marathi and then English. But English is the language in which My speeches are, so it should be honoured. We must have a sense of honour that comes by respecting. When you respect yourself, you respect others. If you do not respect yourself, you cannot respect others. And that's what I've discovered that when people took to anti-culture and all sorts of things the first thing they did was not to respect anything whatsoever.

And yesterday only I discovered that the language which is spoilt has come through this: is fashionable to speak with a funny accent and I was copying that the Americans speak like duck, quack, quack, quack.

But the English speak like a crow, caw, caw, caw and we have real English language problem. Just now Nick's wife told Me that she can't understand what English speak. I said, “Same here, I don't understand either." It's a language problem.

One gentleman who came from India, very well educated gentleman, did his M.A. in English, he came back and he said, “I had a language problem there." I said, “Why?" He said, “They speak all kinds, they divert it every way and educated people talk like that." And was surprised that it has also come from anti-culture, is a fashion to speak like that. And I can't follow. That means it is anti-God.

So you must respect your language. You might be acquiring it from hippie stage, or you might be getting it, say, even from Cambridge or from Oxford or from public schools.

Whatever it is, whatever may be the source, either it is aggression on the language or no respect to the language.

So in language, in speaking the language, try to speak straightforward English language.

Because we are international people. We are not English anymore. We are grown to be global people now. We have a global personality and as global people we have to speak a language which everybody can understand. We cannot speak cockneyed language. I mean in India also we have lots of cockneyed. But Sahaja Yogis don't speak that language. You won't understand that cockneyed language that we speak even if you are an expert on any Indian language.

So first of all, you must show respect of your own language, more than anything else.

If you cannot respect your country, your language, your literature, your sublime things that are here, your buildings, how can you respect anything else? This is your soil, which is not to be aggressed this way.

That doesn't mean we become nationalist, I did not mean that, but to grow out as a tree you have to know your soil and you have to respect and be honourable. Where is that English honour which I used to hear about? Is lost in the thin air somewhere? An honourable person will not keep back taxes, will not ill-treat his wife, will not ill-treat her husband, will not talk rudely to them, would be respectable, will respect the children. First thing is that he respects everybody's freedom. If he's mean, then he's not honourable.

If he's not generous, then he is not honourable. If he disobeys the law, he's not honourable either. Why should we disobey the law? I just don't understand. Actually English laws are meant for angels I tell you, horrible. But in that only the devils take advantage. Doesn't matter, laws are very good no doubt. But why should we break the laws unnecessarily? If it is necessary, all right. But for every small thing if you start breaking the laws, then we start breaking the laws of the Divine also.

So we have to learn all these things. Let us be in an honourable way, accept things which are good but not fashionable. Fashionable things, now it is fashionable to be like this, it is fashionable to be like that. Now what I feel that fashion only is accepted by people who have no personality at all. Tomorrow somebody starts saying that `You put a empty tin of jam on your head.' Supposing, I mean, if they say so, `You'll look taller,' or something like that. I mean maybe a little, or let the jam falls on your face. Any clownish nonsense we accept so easily. It's all clownish and clowns are the only ones who copy like this because they have to amuse people by clowning. But are we to become clowns now? So by this kind of diffidence in our character that we try to copy others without understanding what they are doing, we are becoming clowns. I mean you can see many like that.

So the clownishness is now one of the characters of the British. They really sometimes appear to Me like clowns. Because they try to copy others and whenever you try to copy others, you are not the others.

Like say we try to copy, say for example, Americans, very difficult. They are so childish and stupid, we can't do that good, you see. I've seen a film of some Americans, I hope there are no Americans sitting here, where they had about hundred people, actors and actresses above seventy or eighty years of age all shaking, you see and they all wearing funny dresses, you see, half way missing, or this way missing, all sorts of things missing, you see, less clothes than normal. And they were doing funny dances, you see, all walking with sticks and doing shake. Or they were shaking already.

Now for English they love to use their umbrellas I think.

So they look clownish because you don't carry sticks, you carry umbrellas.

So trying to do something that is American would be stupid. There's no need to copy them. Even outside, then why inside? When you are a global personality, as in the nature you can see a mango tree looks like a mango tree. It doesn't try to become like an apple tree, does it? And then that mango, when it is ripe, goes to the whole world. Whatever is the best mango you can find it in Russia, you can find it in America, you can find it all over. That's how it becomes a global personality.

But mango remains a mango; it is not an apple. Who is going to import apples from India, in England? That would be stupid.

So the personality that you are already, you are a British personality, or English personality or an Irish personality, or whatever personality you are, should be such is presentable to others to be cherished, to be enjoyed. How is it possible? You have to be excellent, first class, top personality.

So this clownishness must be given up. And it has come so much in England that I feel the heart is absolutely oppressed by this stupid things. But there are certain nonsensical things which have come within us which we should give up. As I said, first of all the cunningness, then in our language there should be straightforward expression, no sarcasm. There's no intelligence in sarcasm.

Saying something nice to others is a great art. Have we developed that art of saying something nice to others? This art is to be developed by Sahaja Yogis, how to say something sweet and nice to others. If you can develop the gentle method of saying nice things, then later on you will see you will be able to do nice things for others, little, little things here and there. Like the little girl bringing beautiful pink flowers one after another. You are nice to Me no doubt, but to each other and to others who come to us? So how to say nice things, what to say, when to say, this we must learn. And so we can establish communication.

Self-consciousness, self-opinionatedness can never give you that. “I don't care, all right let him be angry, so what do I care?" Very common expression. But if you say to the person, “Why are you angry? I do care when you are angry. What's the problem? Can I not help you there?" Finished. He'll say, “What sort of a angel I'm meeting here?" Like yesterday the fellow was very aggressive and he asked Me about heaven and hell and all that. I was least bothered. He was neutralised. You must learn, this is an art which one has to learn. Don't be proud of your harsh tongues and your hot tempers. Don't be proud. “I'm angry with him." So what, is it a very good thing to be angry with others? “I got very angry” you see, with very great pride they will tell Me. “I got very angry for that." “Why?" As Christ has said, only one anger is [not] allowed: if somebody says something against your Mother that He's not going to tolerate. But that, too, controlled. Yesterday many were angry but it was all right. I know how to manage things.

So we have to learn also to tell ourselves, `Let us not be so self-opinionated.' We have to learn a lot. There is so much to be seen, so much to be learnt, so much to be understood, outside also. Like British are absolutely insular by temperament. Another matching with them are Japanese, equal type.

Japanese also don't talk much but don't absorb anything whatsoever. You can imagine three hundred years English were in India, they learnt nothing. Can you imagine? Can you believe it? Three hundred years, generations, seven-eight generations they were in India. While here, when the Indians come, they too have no personality. They pick up your dresses, they pick up your language, they pick up everything.

They talk with the same slang and hundred times they'll say dirty words in it and they'll say, “Yes man, no man, what man", to a woman also, unisex. They have too much absorbage. They absorb everything while you don't absorb anything.

So these are two extreme cases.

So as it is said in Sanskrit that what is the difference between the swan and Haṁsa and the crow? No, no sorry, crow is black so I'm sorry, Haṁsa and what do you call that? Crane, crane. What is the difference between a crane, yes it is crane, isn't it Gavin, in the water? Crane.

So what is the difference between the crane and the swan? So when they have to discriminate between water and milk, then you can find out who is the crane and who is the swan. Nirak shira viveket.

Vivek is proper decision.

So if you put water mixed with milk before a swan, the swan will just suck in the milk and the crane will suck the whole. He wouldn't know.

So that is what is, again we come to the same point, is discretion that we have to develop.

[Aside to point out people:] There are people they are looking out for us. They are lost there. They are Sahaja Yogis. I think they saw us here. They saw Me.

So it is the discretion that we have to pick up all that is good, all that is nice, from everywhere, which is such a lot, such a lot. Like I would say, what's nice about British? Let's see. Can you tell Me, who is going to tell Me that?

Sahaja Yogi: They have a great deal of tolerance.

Shri Mataji: What did he say? Tolerance. No, no, not at all. It has to be a common quality, whether you are a Sahaja Yogi or not. Tolerance is the least, that's something lacking.

Sahaja Yogi: They're good leaders, Mother.

Shri Mataji: You think so?

Sahaja Yogi: Fair play.

Shri Mataji: Fair play I don't know now, that might have been. They were not very fair with Indians, were they? They were not very fair with Chinese, never. Still go further.

Sahaja Yogi: Talking about the weather.

Shri Mataji: That would be bad weather. Yes, I mean superficiality, but that's not a good thing.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, they have very sharp minds.

Shri Mataji: Sharp what? Sharp minds.

Sahaja Yogi: Intelligence.

Shri Mataji: You're near, but not there.

Sahaja Yogi: Inventions, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Not so much, Americans are better.

Sahaja Yogi: Subtle.

Shri Mataji: Subtle. I wouldn't say that. Not that, not so much.

Sahaja Yogi: They want to help others.

Shri Mataji: Seldom.

Sahaja Yogi: Manipulative.

Shri Mataji: That's bad.

Sahaja Yogi: Loyal, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Loyal? They create disloyalties, problems. They make people fight.

Sahaja Yogi: Once they find something good Mother they will stick onto it.

Shri Mataji: I wish they could. I wish they could, but the way they disappeared, every time we had programs after that what I find everything disappeared. Sticking on quality is missing.

Now is all right everybody has said? I wish you had all those qualities, you could, why not? So all the qualities that are desired have been expressed, but what really are? Should I tell you? Scholarship. Scholarship. Sahaja Yoga? Read everything. Sahaja Yoga means Kuṇḍalinī, means this, that, go to the library, find out everything. Just know it. Scholarship. That's their quality. And this has to spread all over. You agree there? The scholarship in Sahaja Yoga has to spread all over the world. The women specially want to compete with men here. Very difficult, English women, not easy. Not all, but some. They should become scholars of Sahaja Yoga. I'm surprised people like Derek or people like Hesta could not see the point.

Scholarship is the thing and that's why they're honoured everywhere. They are scholars. And see now, heart becoming a scholar. That's the integration of the brain and the heart. We have so many scholars of Sahaja Yoga in England. We might get one there and one here and there. Like we can say in Switzerland we've got Gregoire and Arneau. Scholarship, how many are there? And very deep scholarship. And that is what you have to develop more, specially the ladies have to learn a lot, is knowledge. To understand all the intricacies, all the delicacies and to work it out in that scholarly way, is the way you will really do greatest service to Sahaja Yoga. And is such a honourable thing to be a scholar and once you are a scholar, this knowledge goes into your head goes to your heart also. Scholarship in every subject. Scholars are different from inventive people. They may know very little and can invent something, that's a different thing. But that doesn't mean you go and read Vivekananda and all that, doesn't mean that. But you go in every library, every place and discover the Truth. Blake, scholar, so many scholars in this country, most of them were realised Souls. In England we have the maximum number, in the West I'm saying, maximum number of scholars, who were realised Souls, in such a small, little country like that.

In India of course we had saints who were scholars, saints who were not scholars.

So the scholarship part is your responsibility and like a scholar you have to be above many things. A scholar doesn't stoop down to nonsense. He doesn't take to superficial thing. It's below his dignity to behave in childish manner or to take to sex and all this nonsensical ideas. But the basic quality you have got which is something so great I feel, because heart becoming a scholar is something very great. It's a balance, it's a real balance and that's the steel, that is the steel of England, the scholarship. That's how a New Jerusalem has to be built in, not the old one where they were only faithfuls just going down singing songs and hymns, nothing, but scholarship, the complete knowledge. They know everything about Kuṇḍalinī, they know all about Chakras, they know all details about it and, if you may please, your Mother has spoken in England the maximum number of lectures, because there are scholars.

So preserve that, develop that, then only you will have all other qualities which you have described just now. But remember that you are yogis, but scholars in your subject. Take any subject that you are dealing with, even ordinary thing, we can say if you are a carpenter you must know everything about wood. What is this wood, from where it comes, what is it, what can be used for, what is the density of this wood, what is the chemical composition, everything you must know about it. And this is what you have to give to other people of the world.

Once you start doing all this, you will give up all the malpractices which British have taken to. First of all they are the worst of all, is to create problems between two persons, they are good at it. Like, now you see now in South Africa what they did, create problem between one shade of black with another shade of black. Very clever. Now when this scholarship was perverted they were the ones, you know they were the ones who started this idea that the blacks are primitive. They are the ones who introduced this idea. The same scholarship used for bad purposes. Who gave these ideas were about four or five writers who said they were primitive. Very nice, brand them as primitive, because scholars after all can brand anything as anything.

So it is necessary for us to bring goodness. To bring benevolence in this world we must write benevolent things, write something idealistic, something higher, something hopeful, something which gives them a new dimension of understanding. All the Sahaja Yogis must start writing. Rāmdās Swāmī has said that, “Every day you must write something."Write diaries, write novels, write articles, do what you like, poems, poetry.

All kinds of things you can do if you just know that you have to be yogi scholars, but not intellectuals.

Intellectuals have the knowledge of others, but scholars built up their knowledge on the True Knowledge of others. That's the difference between a scholar and an intellectual. Intellectual has nothing of his own, he's a confused person and he doesn't want to say, because he's so frightened that if he says anything that “This is what I think” then people might say that he is a man of domination or something like that. You need not be a graduate, you need not be anything, but that quality is built within you, which is a very big thing and is very much connected.

Now in Sahaja Yoga as you know that the heart is surrounded by seven main auras and these come from the brain, which is the seat. Now in the center, at the Brahmarandhra we have got the Heart Chakra, all right? The heart is here and around it are all these auras, if you see in the brain. In the same way they are surrounding the heart.

So if you know about them, it will circulate, the knowledge will circulate, but circulate with love, without any aggressiveness, without any showing off, without any cunning, without any sarcasm, in a full, straightforward, loving manner.

But for that we have to remember that we have developed lots of antidotes in England. Like the words I have seen people use very common is: “That may be too much; it may be too much." They're frightened.

“One shouldn't say too much." You should! When you say too much at least little bit will go into their heads.

So you have to say too much, say what you want. There should be exuberance, exuberance of your ideas so that something goes into their heads, they know that you are sincere, you're saying it sincerely, you cannot contain within yourself, emphatically you have to say things. That's what everybody did. All those who were great incarnations said it with such concern, with such force.

In the same way you have to say, without any fear. `Oh that may be too much, Mother it was too much for him.' Let him be blasted. Doesn't matter. Say everything that you have to say absolutely with full heart. But when people come to Sahaja Yoga, when they come for, say, a workshop or something, we try to be the same party people, like in the party you see, “What will you have?" Then they will say, “All right, let me think what did I have yesterday, so I'll have today this thing." It's like a shopping going on.

No, you have to say, `We have this and please have it now, otherwise you won't have it.' This is the time, let them say what they like. Is important. I see sometimes your SDP conferences and all this, bāp re bāp [Hindi to express disappointment], the way they speak, they just blast you, I mean hammer in your head. And why should we not when this is the truth? Why should we not tell them and talk to them in that manner? We think by being gentle, all right gentleness is different, but I mean to say by saying less than I see, understatement is typical English statement. “That might be too much." In Sahaja Yoga it is such a lot that how much are you going to pour out? Can never be too much, so be careful on that. When you have to say it, say it in a very blasty way, doesn't matter. What are they going to do? They can't crucify Me this time, can they? They dare not. Otherwise perfectly all right, nothing can touch Me and even crucifixion cannot touch Me, you know that.

So you better say what you have found out in a big way and tell them in a big way. Of course loving and gentle manner, but tell them, the concern should be there. All right? Now this is what it is, one has to understand, that there is nothing `Say little bit.' Then they think he is a shaky man. But when they sing horrible songs on the mike, eating the mike I say, calling, `eating the mike music'. They go on, you see, aggressing on the mike and people go mad with it, they like it. I don't say you aggress, but don't say anything less, understatement is not needed. There should be not be any balancing in that.

Those people who will be appeased by that will not be good Sahaja Yogis. They cannot come in the Kingdom of God. We don't have to be begging of them but we have to honour them, we have to respect them, we have to be kind to them. But we have to give them what we have. Like in the family you go, you get everything from the fridge and give it to them, they'll be very happy, take it whatever you like.

What a spread. But if you put one little fish and two eggs for ten people with one chili to say that it is Sahaja Yoga, maybe a lemon, they will think, “What's this going on here? Wishy-washy stuff." Now that's one thing. Secondly there are words that people use very commonly: “That is very fussy." That shows your fears. In Sahaja Yoga nothing is fussy, nothing is fussy. Always it is so. “It is very fussy, it is this is fussy that is fussy." It is coming to such an extent that people now like beggarish existence; they want to dress up like beggars, rustic, nonsensical things, worn-out clothes, worn-out faces.

I was telling Gavin the other day, “Why do you all like sand colour? There's no sand here. Is something Arabic in you that you like all sand everywhere?" As it is the hair are blonde, face is sand-like, clothes are sand. Mountains of sand, walking around. Why not be colourful? Why not wear colours? Sahaja Yogis must wear colours. Of course you should not be dandies. I must tell you that, otherwise you will be dandies, you see, like wearing shocking pinks by men and sort of thing. I don't mean that. But you shouldn't just go about with sand colour and a grey colour. If you start wearing something nice, they will also produce.

I wanted to buy a sweater for Gavin in green colour. I couldn't get one light green. I said, “Let's have one." I said, “You look." No, couldn't get one for him. They don't make it, only sand. And I got it.

Or else grey. Already the sky is grey, faces are grey, dresses are grey, they wear grey suits, the horses are grey, the world is around grey, all horrible. And then wear a grey dress to match with it.

So, there's nothing like fussy in Sahaja Yoga but you should not be childish, frivolous, stupid. And you should not be also dandyish, showing off. Like I have seen people painting their car with gold and all that nonsense, or wearing a bow tie and a dinner jacket and walking on the streets of Oxford Street to match with these horrible Hare Rāmas there, to make a contrast to them. That's not necessary. On this also you could be scholars, you can find out.

About children, I'm very much worried now, much more since I heard about this three-year-old girl.

And I have to say that your children are precious, they're wonderful people. In the beginning they have suffered because of you, but they come out of it and they become so great. But you must learn one thing, is to be very attentive to your children, don't neglect them. Teach them habits by which they do not learn things which will destroy them. Like every child picks up everything, puts it in the mouth. We too here in England or anywhere in the West, people just put their fingers in the mouth like that they will go.

Anything they'll just, supposing they are opening a can. Now the can spills out some jam, so they put it in the fingers inside. No. That jam can, might be having some germs.

So anything that is to be put in the mouth you must wash.

That's now has to be the law for Sahaja Yogis, because so many germs, so many things and for children specially they must be told. If anything falls on the ground it's a very mundane thing but you must learn how we tell our children. Anything falls on the ground, immediately you'll pick up and throw away somewhere and wash our hands. We'll just say, “No, no, no, no, no, no, not that." Even from the mouth, if something falls out you are not to pick up. Unless and until you really fanatically do that, your children cannot be saved from all kinds of infections that are around. India is full of parasites and we have many more, I mean we are the country where we breed and look after them and cherish them I think. All kinds of parasites we have had, politically also many parasites on us, but all said and done, we know how to keep out of them, you see and that's how we have to really condition our children.

Secondly, never to leave your child alone anywhere. Learn a lesson. At any cost you should not leave the child alone. You can leave it with somebody who can look after the child, who can run a creche, who can do something of that kind. But pay attention to this point that there should be no loneliness for a child. Child must be made to sleep in your room, maybe another cot, maybe crib. When slightly grown up, still should be with you, if there's a grown-up another child you can make, or some aunt or somebody sleeping with. But don't make children feel that they are lonely. Psychologically it will affect and also physically there could be a problem. We never, never, never allow our children to be alone, do you know that, in India? I mean we are ourselves surprised how the children just go out. Now supposing some child, say about five-year-old says, “I'm going to a candy shop." Nothing doing. Mother will say, “All right, when I go you will buy it, candy." I mean when My daughters were not married, till then they never went out alone, can you believe it? Never. Even to school if they were going, they were in the car with the driver. Even if they were going to colleges they were going in the car with the driver. Never alone. And if they were going, say, by buses or anything, later on when they went to higher education, they were going with friends. Safety of children has to be looked after in this negative atmosphere everywhere. We are very good because we have this challenge all the time, so we are very careful and you people have to be now made more aware towards your children.

But don't spoil them, you spoil your children too much. I know they are very joy-giving because they are realised Souls. But tell them, `You are realised Souls and you cannot be dishonourable.' But not at the time. I've seen that you correct your children when they'll misbehave, “Don't do that!" That's not the way. Then you dishonour. You sit down with them, have a conference. `We'll have a conference now,' you tell them. `We'll sit down.' So let them feel, let them sit on their chairs like a conference hall and tell them, `Now see we are all Sahaja Yogis. You are Sahaja Yogis, too and the whole world is watching you. You have to be honourable children. You have to behave yourself, you have to do this way. We have to share our things otherwise they will say you are not Sahaja Yogi. You have to have dignity.' You talk to them, develop their personality that way, so that they know they have to be majestic, they have to be regal. They cannot be cheapish like others.

Because all the time we say, “Don't touch that, don't do that." They don't know, they are confused.

Talk to them, sit down, talk to them, what is to be done, how we have to behave, how to say nice things, how to help others, how to share your things, how to give your toys, how to keep your things, how to be neat, how to be tidy. It's a training, that's what you have to do. And children also learn from your own behaviour. Now you tell your children not to drink and if you drink like a fish, then how will they listen to you? In the same way in Sahaja Yoga also, you do not meditate, you are not disciplined, you live in a very untidy manner, you are extremely careless, you do not honour people, your tongue is very loose, or you are very sharp, children pick up. They absorb these things so quickly. It's amazing how children absorb.

Once I had taken a child to a circus just, he was a very good child, a realised Soul. We went there and the joker, you see, he took out his upper pant just while going on a swing, so it was a big feat, you see, a joker.

So we came home, he also took out his pant. I said, “Why?" He said, “In the circus how he did I'm going to do the same way." Imagine, that's the only thing he picked up. I said, “But that was a joker, you are not a joker are you?" “No I'm not." “And better wear your pant." So children pick up wrong things because easy to pick up that.

So don't do anything wrong.

Another is... husband-wife should never quarrel in the presence of children. If you want to quarrel I can even lend you some sticks, you can fight. Fight in your bedrooms, do what you like. You can break the heads or break the hearts or do what you like, but outside your rooms you are wonderful husband and wife. At least let your children be good, enjoying husband and wife. Actually it is stupid to fight because you must learn how to enjoy each other.

So we come from scholarship to the scholarship about children.

Some people have to take it up seriously.

Of course there is a little book which Louise has nicely done up, but is not sufficient.

Some three-four people have to sit down, or some ladies could do it with some doctor there or something. Sit down with the full compiling of the ideas of Sahaja Yoga about children. Another one can do the education, because Sahaja Yoga will be boring for you. What will you do? So much to be done about the education of the children. Is very important because every time I go to a place, there's a school being started, “What have we to do for the school? How are we to conduct?" Now why not you people make some research and give Me the ideas and I'll put it through? I'm good at correcting than creating, I think nowadays, because so much I have created. Whatever I have created is to be rearranged and consolidated.

So I can consolidate whatever you give Me, I can consolidate, I can put right, I can correct it.

So best thing is now to form a committee for this. One for children, one for book on children, on Sahaja Yoga. What Mother has to say about, you can use My quotations. Then a book about the education of children. Third book has to be about the married life. That's how you can go on compiling, about the social life, about the politics, has to come from England. A series, so much to be done in England. Because people read that, it can be always translated from one to another. Is very easy.

So I would request you all to put your mind to this whatever are your interests you should work it out and put it in the language of Sahaja Yoga. Every sort, sports, you can take to gardening, or anything, even machinery. Bring it to the level of Sahaja Yoga.

Like computer, now all the developing countries want to develop computers. Now we must find out what are the problems of computerization, then how it is going to affect socially, deeply, in the future, what can happen if we just develop computers and nothing else, how if it is one-sided movement then how the whole suffers. Like that a new dimension, a new all-pervading, solution of everything can be done.

And that can be a quite a big eye-opener to people who do not want to commit the same mistakes that you have committed.

I must say this Affluent Society and all these books that Galbraith wrote was very helpful to some people and that's how it should be.

So you can guide people who want to be like you and you can guide the people who are like you and who have to change. It should be your idea. Drama, what's wrong with our drama, what's wrong with that and how we can improve it. Everyone of you is capable of contributing something like that.

So those who are interested in different, various type of things, in this seminar you can decide what one likes and what another thing, like even racial discrimination we can take a subject like that somebody can work it out. Why racial discrimination has come, what are the bad effects of racial discrimination? If it comes from English, they will say, “What generous, good people there are, how they understand the feelings and how they..." That will be very soothing if it comes on the other side.

Then now we have a problem of women asking for their rights and all that what you call feminist movement, what is wrong with the feminist movement, how they have gone wrong and all those things.

In every subject, even in economics and everything, you can go forward with the scholarly ideas. You can take help from other countries also who, we have scholars everywhere. But we have maximum number of scholars here. And this is what we have to do in this land of Sheffield.

May God bless you all.

Should we meditate for about say, ten minutes? Will be good idea, just to meditate and to find out what Chakras are catching, to find out what side is weak. Now if your left side is weak, put your left hand towards Me and right hand towards the Mother Earth. If the right side is weak you put the right hand towards Me and the left hand up there. Now if both are all right, when they normalise you put both of them towards Me, all right? For example, now you can tell because you are in East end, what's the problem of East end is. Survey it. You should find out the problems of East end. I remember you told Me about some Sikhs, what they were doing, drinking so much and doing all these things which is against, against Nanak Sahib. And all these things if you tell, the way they run after white skin. Yes, that's what it is.

So face-to-face let us see what is wrong with us. What is wrong with you? With what is wrong with others? Let us see as a witness, not identified with anything.

So if you tell all those things you see, what is that, what makes people that way? You go into it from both the sides and you can give real good solutions, you can give solutions. For example there are doctors who can make a book with the Divine knowledge related to the medicine. There are psychologists, they can make a book, Gregoire I think, Rustom has done a good job, I don't know. Now by the way I must ask who has got Rustom's book? You have got? Derek you have?

Sahaja Yogi: No I haven't, Mother. I haven't seen it.

Shri Mataji: Somebody who is not here may be having. Who else? Ask Maureen. Is she here? Maureen? She's not here? Ask her maybe. Do you think so, Maureen may be having? No. I just don't understand. I think you better see in your office maybe, Gavin, just have a look, no? Because I gave it to someone, because it's not there in the house, can't find it. We had found his book, isn't it? No. All right, he's a scholar, no doubt and I wanted Derek, you to read that because really, it's really dynamic.

Dynamic is the word for that. You can blast all the Jungians and all the psychologists together. I must find it out, otherwise somebody should write to him that God knows where it is Mother is very anxious.

I must publish that book.

So now if you come out with sensible good books authentic, worked out, you have to work for a book, you cannot just write anything off hand. Like William Blake and Sahaja Yoga, relate it to Sahaja Yoga.

Now before meditation any questions, is there? Did you ask any questions there? No one? Any question? Yes, what is it? Sahaja Yogi [puts a question]: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Loud. It's so fast that it's like Portuguese to Me. Can you tell Me Gavin?

Sahaja Yogi: He is saying there should be some organization by which it's known whether any particular one of Your speeches is being or has been transcribed, so that there's no duplication.

Shri Mataji: There's no...?

Sahaja Yogi: Duplication of effort. Because he wants for Your speeches to be transcribed from the tapes and he doesn't want to do one and it's already been transcribed.

Shri Mataji: Are you doing some... you're transcribing.

Sahaja Yogi: Not at the moment Shri Mataji. I used to worry, every time Shri Mataji has a very nice speech sometimes I just felt like transcribing it but I was worried maybe someone is doing it already.

Shri Mataji: What's it...

Sahaja Yogi: He's worried that if he does the transcript somebody else may be doing the transcription so it would be a wasted effort.

Shri Mataji: Agreed. Now who are transcribing, they form a group. You are transcribing? Who else, will you stand up, you also stand up please. Now you know each other don't you?

Sahaja Yogi: Mother I'm quite prepared to take a list because I've got a computer.

Shri Mataji: What is it?

Sahaja Yogi: He said he can make the list on his computer. To make a list...

Shri Mataji: Yes I think amongst these four who are transcribing, all right. You decide among yourselves.

Sahaja Yogi: But there are many more internationally Shri Mataji and it should be advised to all centers.

Shri Mataji: You see in other languages, which are being translated.

Sahaja Yogi: Even in English.

Shri Mataji: Like say Australia, whatever I have said there in Australia they should transcribe.

That what I have said in England they should, in every country whatever I've said should be transcribed by that country, is better to make it systematic. All right? Is all right now? So four of you here should transcribe whatever I've said in England, which is going to be a hard task.

Some more people should raise their hands, who would like to do transcribing. Please stand up, Derek and Louise, you take down their names, take down their names. You give your names, write in on a chit of paper. And now you form a group and tell them how to transcribe. What else? First of all you must understand My Indian English, otherwise you can't, or they call it King's English I don't know why but they say so.

Yes, how are you?

Sahaja Yogi: Getting better I hope Mother.

Shri Mataji: That's good you look better, thank you. May God bless you. What is the next? It's very, very constructive. Now editing, once you have transcribed somebody has to edit it also. Not like Indians, whatever when I speak I say sometimes, “You see” “Do you understand?" All these things need not be there but they think that nothing should be missed of Mother. But I would say that something is needed. I mean, you cannot go on just adding these things after all, so we can remove some of these things, this type of pauses that I've used. Because talking is different from writing. But in any case when you do it I'll have to go through them, before we publish them. But so many lectures of Mine have duplicates, repetitions.

So once you have done, transcription then we can see that, we can adjust.

Sometimes certain things are to be said once, sometimes twice and sometimes hundred and eight times. For example, “I am not guilty." All right, so any other thing? This was very constructive I must say. Yes?

Sahaja Yogi: Mother in one of the Nirmalā Yoga's there's a little diagram which You have drawn of the Kuṇḍalinī coming up through the Chakras and going round two circles and then coming up to the next one. I can't find from it if the Kuṇḍalinī is coming up and going round and then continuing up the same side or if it's crossing over at each junction. Supposing I am doing the right side, is it coming up and going round and continuing up the right side every time, or does it come up the right side, go round twice and go to the left, go round and come up.

Shri Mataji: No it goes in a spiral way and cuts it at a point and makes a Chakra. You see it's a sympathetic nervous system which is left and right. It goes in a spiral, all right? And it cuts it at a point because it goes in a spiral, that's the Chakra. But I think we have done that in one of the speeches, is so.

Once this is transcribed, that will be a source. Then everything I've said, all these things, I've said it in very great details, you will have to locate it. What else now? What is it? Yes, Gavin you tell Me?

Sahaja Yogi: What is to be done with the water that is used in Pūjā, afterwards? When we wash the Feet, what use is to be made of the water, how is it to be dispersed? Say at home when we do a little Pūjā and we just wash Your Feet in the photograph, what's the proper way to dispose of it?

Shri Mataji: The photograph or Feet? Photograph, you see, that becomes vibrated water, you can use for any purpose, you can put it for trees, you can do all these things external use, you can use for anything. But if you have cleaned the photograph and all that and if it is a clean photograph then you can use it for drinking also, is all right, can be used for drinking also. Because vibrations are such that they kill all germs, everything. Because now for Ganges water we just drink like that, no problem. It never gets spoilt. You keep it for months together never gets spoilt. Because falling from the head of Shiva never gets spoilt, that's the sign of the River Ganges.

Sahaja Yogi: He's asking what is Your advice about fasting?

Shri Mataji: No, you can fast but not in the name of God. If you want to fast you can fast but not in the name of God. God doesn't want you to fast. Nor does He want you to eat like a glutton but, He wants you to enjoy the food, whatever He has given you. It should be: you should pray over the thing, you should give vibrations to your food and enjoy. God has given you everything and you should eat what is needed for you. But you should not starve, you should not fast in the name of God. Don't torture yourself in the name of God. That's very anti-God activity, I think. Like poor fellow yesterday that Vivekananda tortured him, imagine? He's gone through all that for four years, too much. It makes Me really very sad that people are tortured in the name of God.

Sahaja Yogi: Should there be a magazine with all the poems?

Shri Mataji: Yes, we have a magazine?

Sahaja Yogi: He's saying, “Could we have one?"

Shri Mataji: With the poems? Only thing I'll say, poems are to be very much still to be put right.

Magazine for Sahaja Yogis is all right, but if you have to put it out, then they have to be little bit, brought up-to-date, I mean in the sense that they have to be more, sort of, edited and one has to work on them.

And the poems should be brought out as magazines but they have to go through proper understanding and things. Even sometimes people write funny, funny types of poems also, like somebody will say, “Sahaja Yoga is my rice and Sahaja Yoga is my dāl and Sahaja Yoga is my meat and Sahaja Yoga is my fish." And I said, “Next will be and Mātājī is my food." You see they mean that it is everything, but the way they express is sometimes really crude. Yes, there was a poem like that I tell you and I got a fright of My life you see.

So, I would say that one has to be little careful. You see there are two things always in expression.

First is creativity. Of course, you have to be a creative person but you must have the technique. If you don't have the technique, then this creativity looks bizarre.

So even if you have ideas, very poetic ideas, you must have the technique of putting it in. Prose poetry can be also very beautiful but you must know the technique, you must know the way how to put it across. Like you may be a great artist as a creative artist, but you must know how to put technically. Supposing I am a great artist but I don't know how to handle a brush, how will I do it? So both things have to be there and that's what I think, that because of Sahaja Yoga people are getting very creative and they are feeling the exuberance and they want to express themselves but the technique part of it is lacking and the subtleties are lacking.

So whatever poems you are writing is very good idea, like some of them are very good, but still I think there should not be any crudeness in it, all right? So all those who are writing poems, who would like to write, stand up.

So nice to see so many poets around. All right so now, who will look after? You? All right. You all know them, give your names to him and send all your poems to him, all right? That's it. There should be nothing childish, cheapish or anything like that. Then for art, all those who want to produce pictures and paintings, drawings, please stand up, even the children. Chris, you're going to do that, good and your wife too, she's very good.

So let's have Chris there. Chris will you be in charge? Please be seated.

So it comes to that we have also two types of people. We have people who are intellectuals, easy chair Sahaja Yogis, as we have politicians. They good at knowledge, scholarship. They know about Sahaja Yoga. They write well. But there are others who are active, very active, the young, extremely active, they can work hard, they can do anything. That's a very good thing, but I think we should try to imbibe one quality that is lacking in us. Like a person who is an intellectual, or a person who is a scholar, should try to do other things also, like postering now.

So for postering they will not go, those who are intellectuals.

That's not good. Or anything like that. Those who are painting, they'll paint but not poster it, or they would not like to write the addresses.

We should be able to do everything because we are integrated personalities. I mean I can give lectures, I can cook food and I can wash utensils and I can clean My house. I can wash your clothes and whatever you say. Perhaps may be something I may not be able to do I should say, many things. I tell you so many things I can't do. You don't know My weaknesses, there are lots of things. I'm very bad at signing checks, useless for banks. Always the banks put Me into trouble, I don't know what they're up to and thank God Gavin is quite aware of My weaknesses.

So looks after that part otherwise I would be sunk, bad at money. Very good at remembering if somebody has taken money from Me, but if I have given something to someone I don't remember, very bad. I give something to someone and then I don't remember I've given it and I appreciate it, it's very bad too. I do it very often. I'm so frightened now I don't want to praise anything because mostly it is given by Me, it's horrid. It looks very funny isn't it? That's one side missing completely in Me. I'm very bad at say passports and things like that and... what? Also, I don't know about ticketing, all these things I'm very bad at all these things, you see.

So that's how you look after Me in that part, is really I just don't know. I'm very bad at time, now I don't know what's the time now. Very bad at watch, it's always upside down. But there's one thing good, that I know Myself very well and I know how to laugh at Myself, so I never feel guilty, I know how to laugh at Myself. I can't learn now, these things. I've learnt lots of human things but now I can't learn how to sign a check, where to sign, what to sign, I'm very bad. You can get signature on My death warrant also. See I'm like that, I don't know I just sign I trust and works out.

So far nothing has gone wrong as such, much, but this is what it is.

So doesn't matter, one can manage. And that is how one should look at oneself, not to feel guilty but some things are missing.

But if you can acquire, other qualities also, will be a good idea. And that's what I think should be the attitude towards Sahaja Yoga, that no work is below our dignity.

For some people have such ego, “Oh I'm coming there why not I have a room?" Such stupid people have nothing to do with Sahaja Yoga, I tell you. “I must have a special room, why shouldn't I have this?" This is absolute sign of a stupid fellow, is absolutely a sign of a person who has never known what is comfort, never known what is money, never known what is luxury. Is something cheapish like a beggar who just starts demanding, “Give me five shillings” then he asks for one hundred shillings and this and that. All these things, the one who asks for things, is not a king. The one who accepts whatever comes their way is the real king because he's mastered it. This is what is the right attitude. That's what a Sahaja Yogi has to be. Who goes on grudging, grumbling about small, small things is not a Sahaja Yogi. Sahaja Yogi is a king, he gives, gives Realisation, the utmost, the highest, all right? What's it? [Shri Mataji speaks with an Indian Sahaja Yogini in Marathi.] She's giving a very subtle point about Pūjā. That when we are doing the Pūjā, say of the photograph also, then we should have all these things like a kalasha and all those things there, we should not just do the Pūjā of the thing, Pratibha.

So I've said. “You've come here all the way over here to tell them these things they don't know." So all you see the dīpam and all these things should be there properly done, for the photograph also, that's in the protocol.

So certain things of protocol, now Gavin is becoming a big pundit you know. He's getting a scholarship in Pūjā business.

So you better talk to Gavin, those who have problems about Pūjā, better ask Gavin.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother I was going to ask those who know something about Pūjā should come and tell me.

Shri Mataji: All right some of you should... they have to tell something you better go and tell him also. Yes, good idea. Chhāya has not come today? No. She has told lot, then we have got... now she has come. Shakuntala is here then we have got this lady, we have so many who can tell you about this and you can work it out. That's good.

So scholarship of Pūjā that should be and those who want to do Pūjā now, stand up. That's too much. To know about Pūjā, all right? Good idea. You ask Gavin, we should really have about different marriages, how we perform, what are the mantras, what does it mean.

All those things I think we should really compile a book on that, good idea. All of you should support.

Give your ideas, all right. Thank you. I mean in the sense you ask a question, `What should be done? What is to be done? What is good?' So that he works on that and we find out a common point. All right.

May God bless you. Sit down, sit down. Any other aspect. Yes?

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, I was wondering what was going to happening about building work in Sahaja Yoga, sometime ago we discussed Golden Builders.

Shri Mataji: You have, you are a registered society, aren't you? Have you registered yourself as Golden Builders? All right, all those who are interested in buildings and decoration and maintenance, please stand up. Vicky, what do you build?

Sahaja Yogi: Mother, the decoration side, if that's suitable and can be integrated into the building, the decoration side...

Shri Mataji: Really, then better give your names to Vicky, all of you. Let's have it because, you see, also I tell you John, I gave him a good advice to John. I told him, “Take photographs of My house and use it for advertising for saying that this is the house we have done. This is what we have done." For example, you can do it by showing your film the way that I have taken the photograph. I mean I have done this, all that you see and can use it as an advertising thing.

So that's how you can carry album and say that we are working with Golden Builders.

Sahaja Yogi: One other area Shri Mataji, music.

Shri Mataji: All right. For music please stand up. We don't have Banam here. Is he here?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, Mother.

Shri Mataji: All right. Because I have already asked him to do one thing.

So will you look after, all right? Can you all contact him? Whatever is to be done about music, all right? Please be seated. Now there's one another aspect is photography. Photos, is should not be all filed. Remember what we have done. Gavin you have to get all the names of the people who have... you should give to your leaders all right all of you. Whatever you have said it, without hesitation I would like to see. Now photography, those who take photographs stand up. No, more. More people for photographs. Many more. Those who have... what are you saying?

Sahaja Yogi: Those who have taken nice photographs of Mother, I thought they would stand up.

Shri Mataji: Some of them? All right. Where is Don?

Sahaja Yogi: He is making tea, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: He is making what?

Sahaja Yogi: Tea.

Shri Mataji: So, all right.

So Don... Harris will look after that. Ray. You all should contact Ray.

Give him your names. All right? Legal side is very important.

So lawyers and administrators, just stand up. No we have here, what about you? You are a Custom Officer isn't it? Better stand up. Anybody police officer, those who are dealing with government? Yes, good. All right, you look after that. Good. You know him or not? All right.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother may I ask you one thing about the important side of perhaps purchasing property through Sahaja Yoga and maybe the benefits that could be obtained through use of the charity. We don't have any knowledge about it at the moment, but in Birmingham at the moment, we have made some inquiries and now Ray from Derby, he deals with the legal side of many things connected with local government...

Shri Mataji: Can you stand up.

Sahaja Yogi:... and he's been most helpful in sorting out our details referring to mortgages and so on for us and has come up with certain information. But also we're anxious to know what benefits may be accrued by Sahaja Yogis if we can use a charity to do such things. It seems that there may be some financial benefits here and if we can get together some information.

Shri Mataji: All right. For this part I would say David Prall. Where is he? Stand up. Those who are interested, buying properties and charitable things and all that, who are interested? Just get up. Where is Ian?

Sahaja Yogi: Mother we have got some details about the covenant thing from our accountant...

Shri Mataji: What, details about?

Sahaja Yogi: Getting money on covenant. It's very much benefficial, tax benefits...

Shri Mataji: All right.

So David Prall is to be informed about whatever information you get and to get from him all the information that is needed and through him we'll deal in property problems. All right? So let us have a collective thing, all of you should give your names to him and everyone who is now appointed as the person in charge should give us a full idea. Any problem with your properties should go to this committee. All right? Now, there's one more aspect which is the most important and the greatest headache, is marriages.

So this has to be somebody international and... You are in that photograph group, all right? Who is in charge of photographs, Ray Harris. All right? You contact him. Now make something positive, some plans positive, make it something, let Me know. There are photographs and photographs and you don't know where they are compiled, who has taken them, where are the copies, nothing. It's all just, everywhere, all right? So proper filing has to be done, proper understanding has to be done. For marriages Warren is the best I think. Now Warren you should stand up and now those who want to help in making marriages successful, in the sense in advising people, in making them understand, talking to them and also organizing marriages, future marriages, of people, like a marriage bureau, those who would like to help.

Some elderly people should come out for this. I would like to have. What do you think Manta? You not stood for anything, come along. Pat, where's Pat? Who else? They should be happily married people, in a way. Yes, good, Sarah. Yes, good. There are outside also. That's for children. They will be for children. Those who are outside will be for children.

All right, so here they are, now please send your names to him today. All these names must be given today, in this seminar, all right? Now for children, last and the most important. Call them. You are a teacher, isn't it? You are teaching in a school. But just now we are thinking of starting a school in Hounslow. But where do you live? It's too far away. All right. Now how many of you who have children, small children and interested in them? Let's see. Now get up. All those parents who have small children, all those parents who have very small children. Get him please, get him. I think David is the best for this.

David will you take over? Let David handle. All of you should contact David about it. Now all of you should sit down and only David should stand so they should know.

You'll have to also deal with problem children. There are problem children. Now we have to find out something where we can deal with problem children. And about that I'll talk to you. Those who have problem children, please get up. She's better, much better now. But what about you? Sahaja Yogi [questions]: Is deafness a problem?

Shri Mataji: In a way, in a way it is, because it is to be treated, all right? So, those who have problem children, also must be dealt with.

So you can have two things: where there are problem children and where there are not. If they are catching, if they are still not enjoying life, if they have little problems with them, or if they are catching from parents, all these things are to be dealt with.

So on this point I have to say one thing, when we have problem children is sometimes the fault of the parents also or may be some defect in them, or some sort of a wrong thing. Now under these circumstances, we have to understand that it is the right approach of the parents can only help the children to get all right.

So whatever is suggested to them and told to them, they are not to feel bad about it, but to accept it and correct their ways and methods and things will work out. All right, so that's a promise. Nobody's going to feel bad about it. Is going to take it up as a very good advice, whatever we have to tell them, so because we have to pay special attention to this. Specially with ladies I have seen if you tell them anything, they start crying. It's a water power which I cannot overcome. I don't cry so much do I? I don't know why people should cry so much and upset everybody.

So such people will not be allowed to cry. If they are to correct their children, first thing they are not to cry and weep and sulk. Then only we can solve the problem, all right? So, done. This is also done. All right, let the children go out. Because the children still are not peaceful. We can see that. They are very noisy. They are not normal, so you can take the children out. I think most of them are problem children, because they cannot feel the vibrations.

You could feel, you see. Did you feel that when they came in, the heaviness? It was very sad. Those who were supposed to do great jobs are sick now. That's because of the parents. I think now I can go or what's the next program?

Sahaja Yogi: Mother this evening we wanted to sing something for You, some books.

Shri Mataji: What's that? Can you hand it over to Me. What a very sweet thing you... what a sweet thing. Thank you. Lunch? I don't know. Am I supposed to eat lunch? That's another thing you see. I have not had lunch so far, I think so, you know.

So what song Gavin? Why not have I'm Your Rakhi Brother?

Sahaja Yogi: There's quite a big job to be done on taping... big job to be done on getting all Your tapes transferred onto permanent tapes. Did You want to appoint somebody to help Germail with that?

Shri Mataji: Where is Germail? I didn't see him.

Sahaja Yogi: He's coming in the afternoon. We need people who are technically well who are able to spare time each week to copy many of Your old tapes.

Shri Mataji: Those who want to copy My old tapes and help, please stand up who know technical ways of doing it. But we have only one machine. Can we buy another?

Sahaja Yogi: The machinery is adequate, Mother. They've got enough machinery now.

Shri Mataji: Only one.

Sahaja Yogi: Germail is well set up for copying. It's the people we need.

Shri Mataji: You have to come, distribute among yourselves and [Marathi] and there's no Hindi speaking people here? Chhaya can do Hindi. They can go there to the ashram and do it. [Marathi.] So Ian is not going to be here permanently but Germail. You must contact Germail, offer your services to him and tell him that you would like to do that. How many there are, who can spare? Derek you got up also. Can you come to the ashram sometimes?

Sahaja Yogi: I've got copying facilities in Cambridge, Mother. They send me single tapes and I copy twenty or forty at a time.

Shri Mataji: All right.

Some people who can spare a day.

Sahaja Yogi: One day each week. Come on, there should be a lot of people who can do it, in London, at Chelsham Road.

Shri Mataji: Will you give your names to Germail? Some more people should come round. It's a tremendous task, you see.

Sahaja Yogi: All go back to 1974. They are all deteriorating and Mother's tapes are going to be lost if we don't do it quickly. We also need to spend money on a digital recorder to make it permanent.

Shri Mataji: That's good. It's very important. Children are in a bad shape left Nābhī is catching.

Wrong with, something wrong with the mothers. What is it? Now what I'm saying, this is to be done when I am gone, all of you, should give your names to... remember, I hope you remember. Because you stood up and sat down, stood up and sat down, but now remember when you stood up, you see. One may forget.

Sahaja Yogi: He's saying that there must be some people who would be prepared to write articles about Sahaja Yoga for publication in the magazines and newspapers and we should make an effort on that line.

Shri Mataji: Yes. That's one side of it. Newspaper cuttings and things now, I was thinking of John Noyce if he's here, I don't know. Are you? He's the one who should be in charge of that, John Noyce.

Will you stand up? Now will you stand up all those who want to do that? Is compiling of all newspaper cuttings, from all over the world, compiling all articles which are to be published. You mean to say in the magazines? What did he say?

Sahaja Yogi: He's saying that people should start writing now, for publication and that it should all be edited and sent in.

Shri Mataji: Yes. That's it. But also we have newspaper cuttings everywhere which are to be put into one file and to be studied and marked.

Sahaja Yogi: That's one job which is very good for John to do. He's very good at that. Another team with David perhaps.

Shri Mataji: Now. For David is for property and all that we've given him one job, is sufficient to kill him with one job. But you can join him in this, I mean in the sense you can belong to that party as well.

So now those who want to compile all that is interviewed, all the newspapers, every cutting and also your own contributions, please stand up. This is not only writing, but compiling. That's good. Valerie is good.

For example also we can say what we can do, how to have our pamphlets and brochures and these are to be done up to that point. All right? That's one.

So we come to another very delicate thing is contacts.

Now so? That's it. Contacts with the television and other publicity things. Now whatever is our own publicity should be done by John Noyce but to contact others and all that. Valerie?

Sahaja Yogi: What about John Glover, Mother?

Shri Mataji: Oh, where is John Glover? No that's for something else. But I was thinking Valerie is better for this. Will you take over? Please stand up. Now those who want to go to the programs, if we arrange some sort of a drama, something or we arrange anything related to the, for the television or publicity anywhere else outside, through other agencies, please stand up. Good. Bohdan and John Noyce. I didn't see Bohdan, where is he? All right.

So you be one of the parties with them, but leader is Valerie. All right? Please be seated. But remember that you have promised all these things in My presence. Practically we have covered lots of things. Let's see how much we achieve.

So Paul what are you in charge? Computerization of everything.

Sahaja Yogi: Not at the moment, Mother.

Shri Mataji: All right. You stand up for that. Now here is Paul.

Sahaja Yogi: I'm pleased to say, Mother, that the equipment we make is selling very well in India.

We're selling Marathi, Gujarati, Bengali, Tamil systems, everything.

Shri Mataji: So all that sort of typing, of computerizing, Paul is in charge. Now those who want to help him in that, who are good at computerizing, giving ideas on that please stand up. All right. Who else? Germail, also Germail. Good.

So now please write down all their names in one paper.

That you can tell later. All right? Brian has done a good job. There's a series of seekers and actually in one of the programs one boy gets Realisation in front of My photograph and they show My photograph on the television. But that is in Auckland. That is in New Zealand where we have a very great dynamic Prime Minister. I think after Sadat, I feel he is another person who is a realised Soul. I hope the Prime Minister here also gets Realisation or we get somebody who is a realised Soul, one of the two. I hope she gets it. Pray for it.

So can we go now? What's the lunchtime business?

Sahaja Yogi: Lunch is coming, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Here? And nobody's going to eat now. I'm the only person who is going to eat?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: All of us. Then it's all right. What's that Gavin?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Just... [Laughter.] Thank you very much. That's quite heavy. All right. May God bless you. You can open it and show them. That's what they make here and I mean there was no need but they said I have to remember. I would in any case remember and but now that's their idea, what am I to do? Something that they make here. That's it. See. Oh what a beautiful design. Is in Sheffield?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes, made in Sheffield.

Shri Mataji: It's beautiful design, isn't it? It's better than what you showed Me. That's the third one.

Now we put it here. It's beautiful and this I will see every day, morning. It's beautiful. Very beautiful design I must say. You know we copied this in the... we have got this design, we use it in Calcutta [Kolkata]. Really. Believe Me. It's beautiful. What a beauty. Four pieces you got. It's beautiful. Look at that. [Applause.] Thank you very much.

Thank you. I thank all the Sheffield Sahaja Yogis for such a beautiful gift and this I will have every day. Thank you very much. May God bless you. You better keep it back into the box I think, properly done. It's beautiful, isn't it? You all can have a look. Let them see.

The design is very nice and delicate. Who's got it? Warren, you did.

Sahaja Yogi: I got it with [UNCLEAR] this morning.

Shri Mataji: Really? No this I didn't see. The one I saw was, it has that design you know. That didn't have any design.

Sahaja Yogi: They couldn't get the one You wanted so this is the replacement. This is cheaper.

Shri Mataji: Really. Sahaj. It's from the same shop. It's such a beautiful thing. And also very sensibly-sized you see. That one was a jumbo one. All right.

So should we have some music? And, Gavin if you want I'll eat, otherwise I better go. I don't want to trouble you people because I had a meal. No because... why to bother. All right.

So, let's have this one. But what a nice thing. I want to see the design.

[Conversation and singing MISSING.]

Shri Mataji: Beautiful. Now, your suggestion. Can you bring it? All right. Will you please go and get it? Yes, yes that's great. Just go. Those who have their instruments should go and get it. Pat has come I think. He is sitting outside. What's the matter? What are you doing there? Well, you better join our company. Take him in the builders. [Marathi.] Please get your musical instruments if they are outside.

The faces of Sahaja Yogis are so different you know. They look so different. Every one is a piece of art I think.

So beautiful. What's she saying?

Sahaja Yogi: There's a new song written by Diane from Sheffield.

Shri Mataji: Really? Great. Let's hear. Now bring it along. Yes why not? From Sheffield we should have. [Marathi.] She's written a Marathi poem, so I'll translate it to you. She says that, “My child who is a Sahaja Yogi is telling you, is manifesting knowledge. I request you, everyone, that's Me, request you all of you, that I am the mother of this child and you pay attention to him." This is a typical, you see, a Indian, what we call a kautuk, is the one where you handle the child with fondness. You express the fondness for the child. Now so she's describing the fondness for the child, I have. My little child Sonu they call it, is the golden child. My golden child speaks with such affection, sweet, what you say to the child's talk, chattel? Is it a good word? I mean Sahaja Yogis having chattels.

We can say the beautiful talk of a child. You see child here meaning the innocence. He speaks to you with innocence and listening to him, I'm saying, to the people, listening to him, your attention will enter inside. It will leave all that is outside and will enter inside.

And to tell [Marathi] Nirupan is the explanation of the Divine, but is said, it goes with My word Niru, Niru is My name.

So it's a pun on the word Nirupan, pana means the abstract of Niru. To talk about that.

So there's a word, Nirūpan. Has double word. It also means to explain the abstract of Mother and Nirūpaṇa also means explanation of Divine. “Oh God, give him the blessings” I say. He is also in this world living like a ordinary householder, as well as he has achieved a Sahaja Samādhi. He has achieved the Sahaja, Samādhi as you know is the enlightened awareness. But he lives in the world, not given up anything. For the people who are ignorant, he has taken the help of Chaitanya. He is [Marathi]. It goes beyond English. [Marathi.] Let Me try.

You see you go on conquering, one after another challenge to the ambrosia of Mother's talks. Take Her name and you can do it. It's very poetic. [Marathi.] In the eyes there's light, enlightened and with that all the lights get enlightened and the Siddhapurushas, the ones who have achieved the Siddhata, the ones who are very great, higher souls have come on this Earth now to see Mahā Yoga. They are watching.

Their spirits are watching this Mahā Yoga of the children, of children that are Mine. All right? It's about.

I am not so good now I must say. We'll have to sit down. But Marathi language is very, very deep. To bring it out is very difficult but I have tried. [Marathi.] Just put it for her little bit. [Marathi, Poet sings in Marathi.] Now the last bit I just missed the point. [Marathi] the eyes lit in eyes of My children, they're the eyes you see, there's a twinkle in your eye. The light lit in your eyes is that of knowledge and when it illumines the [Marathi]. What are they called? What are called clusters of lights in the Heavens?

What do you call them? Constellations? Yes, yes, constellations, yes. And when these lights are enlightened the constellations, as the great evolved souls have come on this earth as constellations because the twinkle in the eyes they see and all of them have come on this Earth to see the Mahā Yoga that is working through you people. That's a good one. Very beautiful. Thank you. [Applause.] You read it from there, on the...

that's better.

Sahaja Yogi: This song's been written originally by me but I had a lot of help from brother Sahaja Yogis in Sheffield and I need Gareth Reynolds on the guitar.

[Sahaja Yogini sings `You are the Ocean'.]

Shri Mataji: Well done. [Applause.] It's a good one. Very beautiful. Very good one. Very well composed and very well done and it's really, I must say, also musically it's very well composed. May God bless you. Beautiful. That's the quality. It's beautiful. That is Sheffield. [Applause.] Are you going to sing? You'd better go and eat and if you want I can eat also. It's all right.

So then music comes to a termination. I'm sorry, because they have to eat and I have to go back to London. Hope to meet you again sometime, I hope so before I go to India, I don't know what is the thing but Gavin is trying to arrange a big program somewhere, again, hoping that in London we'll do better and some people will have some sticking plasters with them.

So let's eat.

May God bless you.

What a thing you've found I must say. That company is the same as the one we saw is it? Same style, is it the same style? Similar. Ah. But they had no guarantee, nothing and no design. This has guarantee? It has. For how many years?

Contents: 1985-10-09*, Public Program, Nature of Truth, Strasbourg, France

I bow to all the seekers of Truth. You are the lovers of truth and you have been seeking in these modern times. It is a special category of human beings who are seeking, beyond materialism, beyond power, beyond emotional enterprises, because the times are such that we have reached the epitome of our evolution and the breakthrough has to be found. But the way we understand breakthrough in modern times is through our mental understanding because today the human beings are more mental. It analyzes, reacts and tries to understand the truth. But we do not realise that mental projections are always linear. They move on one line up to a point and then they recoil back upon us, like science has evolved to create hydrogen bombs.

Everything ends up in self-destruction or in collective destruction. Even on political level when we talk of democracy we find it has become demono-cracy and when we talk of communism it has become autocracy.

So where did we go with all this? We have to react again to understand that there must have been some mistake.

The truth that is known through our reading or through our thinking is a partial truth, because partial truth is more dangerous than ignorance. Like you see a land and you think that is the road and when you walk on that little land, you fall into a big ditch.

So this is when you see darkness, you don't want to go there, that's why say “ignorance is bliss" in a way.

So we can say all this knowledge which is extrovert knowledge through our mental understanding and emotional attachments has been the knowledge of the tree. And the tree has grown too big. It has grown so big that it has now to face the truth that it has lost its roots. If the tree becomes so big that the roots are not nourishing it, it has no knowledge of the roots, then the tree will be destroyed. That is the reason why people have turned round to seek what is the truth, the knowledge of the roots. The roots are our nerves. Whatever we know through our nervous system is the truth to us on a very gross level. If I know that this is cold then it is cold. And for everyone it will be cold unless and until he is mad.

Now the knowledge of the roots has to be such that you get new enrichment to the nerves. In your evolution also you must get your enrichment to your nervous system. Like human beings can understand the beauty. If you want to take an animal through a dirty lane it's very easy, but to take a human being it's very difficult.

But what is the difference then we have to see that we have developed a new awareness within us about filth and dirt.

So if anything has to happen to us as a discovery of truth that we should have a new awareness on our central nervous system. But it should not be like, some people tell Me, that we have seen the light. If you have seen the light means that you are not the light. Or some people say that “I start jumping on my chair." All kinds of funny experiences people think is the experience of the spirit.

But what did you gain by that experience is the point. Did you understand this power? Did you know what you are doing? Are you under some sort of a mesmeric power or some other power that is controlling you and you do not know what you are doing? What did you gain out of it is the problem. If it is awareness you must exactly know what you are doing and what you've got.

So the people who are of this special category whom I call as seekers, are the epitome of evolutionary process, are attacked, are absolutely under attack by other marketing people! Nowadays God is for sale and the more expensive it is, the better it sells.

So in the modern times when a person has become mental, he wants everything new. It doesn't want to concern itself with any tradition... doesn't want to concern itself to any tradition nor does he want to know about anything that has happened before! We must have discretion to know there is tradition and convention and when we find anything wrong in the tradition it has to be dropped, I agree there. Supposing you are climbing on a staircase and you are moving fast and suddenly you find that your progress is stopped, then you want to remove the hurdle.

But if you jump down all the staircase, avoiding everything, saying tradition is all wrong and think your progressing downward is a progress, then you are in for destruction.

So it has little to relate to our traditional ideas of truth also. We have to go to our scriptures which are maybe very ancient or may not be that ancient. And then we find it is everywhere described that you are to be born again. But today the life is so artificial that people certify themselves born again and walk about, `I am born again,' certifying! Like in lunatic asylum they certify that you are a real mad. In the same way there are organizations which certify that you are born again. But what has happened to you that you think you are born again? Supposing somebody gives you a piece of ordinary glass and say this is diamond. You go on proclaiming, “I have got the diamond." Who is going to believe you? What is the value of that? That is what you have to evaluate when you find that this is the truth, that is the truth, evaluate.

When I come to the West I feel that in this fascination for new things people are becoming absolutely sometimes too big. For a naive housewife like Me it's very surprising and stunning and very saddening, too, to see such great people who are seekers are accepting something only because it is new. “What's wrong?" This also happens in India sometimes, when on the fringes, when people come from the West and give such ideas they can go really crazy.

Now to understand that we are progressing properly, as I told you, something has to happen to our nervous system of which we should be completely in control. We can go to some psychologist. Thank God they have found out about Freud. Thanks to AIDS that Freud was wrong.

Thank God the Americans have learnt a lesson of their lives. It's a very hard way to learn but it has happened.

When I first went to America, they were so angry with Me in 1973 [1972]. They said that, “You are a Victorian old woman. Don't tell us all this stories." I said, “But old can be sometimes wise." And I warned them that there is going to be this disease which is going to come very soon. Be careful, don't listen to this half-baked man, Mister Freud. Now those who challenged Me in '73 ['72] are, half of them are diseased and half are dead.

So one has to realise that whatever is the truth, your life is going to be enriched. Enrichment only comes through purification.

So the life gets much more purified and beautiful.

But anything absurd and new that comes to you, you should not accept it headlong, it's dangerous! Now regarding the infrastructure within us we have to know that in our evolution everything is built in for our second birth. Nature has done everything so far for us. We have become human beings from amoeba. How? They say we have become human beings from monkeys. Did we cut our tails? What did we do? We just became human beings spontaneously. In the same way we are going to become the higher human beings spontaneously, Sahaja. We cannot put in any effort there. Have you noticed the miracle of one seed becoming a big tree? What do we have to do? Just sow the seed in the soil and it sprouts and becomes the tree. Does the seed stand on its head or does any other acrobats or any thinking or reading book? Nothing! It just becomes the tree. It is very simple knowledge.

So if you can eat your food this way then why go round and round and round and then eat it? There is a natural way of doing it but we take to natural ways when we are in emergency. But when we are not aware of the emergency we take life very easy. Now supposing I have to come to Strasbourg, I could also go to Norway, Sweden all these places then go to Paris, have a nice time there and then come slowly to Strasbourg. But if there is emergency then immediately I'll find out how to reach Strasbourg immediately. And that is the time today, I call it a blossom time, but it is the time of emergency. And this infrastructure is going to work it out in this emergency if you just pay attention to yourself.

Now this is the infrastructure you have. This is the infrastructure you have and this infrastructure is within you. I am telling you this is the knowledge of the roots. In the medical terminology we can say that we have got autonomous nervous system. Doctors are good at giving names. But if you ask them who is this auto, we say it is automobile, that means the driver can drive it. But who is the driver? We accept whatever comes to us through these doctors, physicians, you can say scientists... everything. But why not we see the source from where the knowledge comes in? Why not go to the mains and find out? Is there a way to be connected to the mains? Connection with the mains itself means Yoga, means connection, means union. Also the word Yoga means the deftness, the art of knowing how to handle the power. Like this instrument has to be connected to the mains. Simple thing is that you are to be connected to the mains and to work out the power. We see in the nature the manifestation of a power that brings forth all kinds of seasons and so many things happen but we take it for granted! But what I have to say, that this is the power of the Divine that does all the work. That is the power that loves. That is the power which has made us human beings. That is the power which has created this infrastructure. But we have never felt that Divine Power, that subtle power on our nerves, on our finger tips, we have never felt it. And how can we feel that power? What is the way to feel that power? Even if I say there is a power you'll say you can't feel it.

So we have got a little jumping left, a little breakthrough left which occurs at this time en masse. You need not be a great intellectual. You need not be anything, it can happen to you as long as you are a human being.

Now here in the triangular bone, as you say, is the power which is actually the motherly power, what we call is the reflection of the Holy Ghost which gives you this ascent or, we can call it, the second birth.

It is a happening. It is actualisation of baptism, actualisation. It is not just putting a hand on your head and saying now you are saved. Those certificates are not going to work out. You have to feel on your finger tips this All-pervading Power. How? Your spirit is to be connected with your attention. Your spirit which is in your heart has to come in your attention.

So who does the connection is this power which we call in Sanskrit language as Kuṇḍalinī.

Now even about Kuṇḍalinī, the amount of nonsense people have written, I am Myself amazed. Again, mental projection, write what you like, after all, who is going to challenge about spiritual life, write what you like about anything you want to write, who is going to challenge because nobody knows anything? All kinds of stupid things have been done but who is going to challenge them? This Kuṇḍalinī is your mother.

She is anxiously waiting to give you your own second birth. She is your own. All this property that is heavenly is your own. There is nothing to be paid for. How much are you going to pay for something which is so precious? It is so vital and so spontaneous, then why not have it? If it is so, if you have to get your second birth, you better have it. You may try anything else, you'll never be satisfied. As you know, the law of economics says that in general wants are not satiable. In economics there is a law that in general the wants are not satiable... in general.

So these desires we have are not pure desires. There is only one pure desire we have and that desire is to become one with the Divine. That's the only desire. When it happens, you become the light and you start giving the light. You get the power of the light. In that light you see what's wrong with you and if you know how to correct yourself, you're all right. You can feel others on your finger tips and you can say what's wrong with that person on different subtle centers. And if you know the second part of it, how to get it corrected, you put the whole humanity right. What is the advantage of protesting against hydrogen bomb and all those things? We are actually protesting against human awareness, which is limited, which is individualistic, but once you become the spirit you become collectively conscious. Again I say, you become.

You are not just certified, but you really become. You can feel another person within yourself and then you become aware that you are part and parcel of one whole personality.

Does this finger tries to kill this finger? If this finger is in pain and if I rub it, do I feel that I have done a great obligation on this finger? So as soon as we all become, again, I say, become collectively conscious, then we realise that we are all part and parcel of one great Primordial Being. As we say, microcosm has to become macrocosm. But we forget the word, “become." We think mentally if we decide that we have become macrocosm, we'll become. This is the general folly of human brain. Like if I ask them they'll say, “I am a capitalist” or they will say, “I am a communist." I said, “What is the capital you have? It's just your mental understanding that you are a Capitalist." I say I am the Capitalist because if I have My powers I am the Capitalist. And how are you a communist? What can you communicate? This money? That's all? Here I communicate through My capital. I share it, without sharing because I cannot enjoy, it's not mental. I do it for no principle but because I enjoy it innately. Whatever joy I have I want to share it with everyone, because otherwise I cannot enjoy it fully. I don't have to tell Myself, I don't have to educate Myself, I don't have to say that this is a very big principle of life, nothing. It is a nature with Me. And that is the nature of the spirit with all of us and all of you can have that nature manifested.

You must have heard that in Sahaja Yoga all kinds of diseases get cured and also mental problems are solved and emotional problems are solved. But that is just a side effect. But the mainly a flower becomes a fruit and when it matures, thousands of seeds again plant themselves and become new trees. This is how the whole world has to change.

May God bless you all.

In My one lecture I cannot tell you all about it. But thank God now there is a book in French language about Sahaja Yoga. And I hope we'll make it possible to read it though I do not know much of French.

And I would request you all to come forward in this new awareness to show to the whole world that France has been always towards spirituality, always cared for spirituality. Specially Strasburg has been known historically to be interested in spiritual ascent.

May God bless you.

Now it is a custom in our lectures we always ask people to ask questions but I don't know what is the situation today is. But invariably we have seen in the West that this being a new knowledge some terrorist get up and start throwing bombs at Me because in modern times you cannot legally crucify Me like Christ.

So they take to all sorts of funny ways, but all this is against yourself. I am here for your benevolence, for your good.

So why not have it? So we would like to have some questions from you which are related to what I have said. Thank you very much.

Oh! They are great, aren't they? So you all want your realisation is it?... Oh! It's so joy giving.

Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: All right, you see, French have been always concerned with the death. We are dealing with life and the soul is the spirit which is enveloped by the five elements and so many other things when we die, but just now we are all living.

So better have it when we are living.

Now you ask Me in English. I mean, you understand what is living is. You see, just now in the present, be in the present, do not try to take out the cover of a hair... splitting the hair, you see. Try to understand that the...

I'll give you an example. Once I was in the Kashmir and I tremendously I felt the Divine vibrations in a very forlorn place in a lonely place, in a wilderness, you can call it. And I asked the driver, “Is there some temple here? Is there something that is very religious here?" He said, “No, there isn't any. It's all wilderness." But the vibrations grew stronger and stronger.

So, I asked him that, “You move in this direction on this road” and we went to a place where there were some poor Muslims living.

So I asked them, “Is there any temple? Is there any mosque that I feel here? There is something great, is there?" So they said, “No. About five miles away from here, maybe, there is a mosque of one hair of Mohammed Sahib, Hazrat Iqbal, one hair of Mohammed Sahib." And I went there. Normally, they don't allow anyone but a Muslim to enter in but nobody said anything to Me, I just walked in nicely.

So you cannot analyze it before becoming the spirit. After becoming the spirit, after getting the light, you can see because if you have not the light how will you understand the colours and the hues, even the minimum of minimum? So body also becomes important of such a person. Even a glance of this person. Even the nails of such a person becomes important. The fragrance of such a personality overpowers every material thing.

Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Can you get up, please? I can't Question: The desire to seek, to find this way, still a desire [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Yes, till you have found it, but now it's like a, with the seekers, it's like a Gurushopping.

If you have seen Charlie Chaplin's picture, Modern Times, have you seen? He used to fix some bolts on a moving belt and when he had fixed it and he would stop working, still for about fifteen minutes he would be just going on like this.

So some of them when they seek and they find it still they go on like Charlie Chaplin for a while. I have seen that, agreed. I have seen all types, but I have seen people who have such pure intelligence that immediately it's so evident to them, they jump on to it, just like this.

So every type I have faced, it's all right. All kinds of permutations and combinations. All right, now, there is one gentleman, he said, please...

Question: In most of the spiritual paths which are proposed, the paths are very long and very difficult and no result is guaranteed but in Sahaja Yoga, the light is promised right away.

Shri Mataji: [Laughing.] So why not do it? It is like this, in the olden times if you had to go, say, from Portugal to India, you may land up in America. But modern times you can even go to moon. As you have grown outside, the Kuṇḍalinī has also grown like a jet. I am Myself amazed how it is working out. It is something great, better have it.

Yes, Madam. She is still asking questions after this. She's not a seeker.

Question: What do you think about reincarnation?

Shri Mataji: Now I will answer this later on. It's nothing important, Madam. You are thinking about death. Why are you thinking of your death just now? Think of your rebirth, not of your death. Don't think that you are going to die just now and don't think that you are going to be reincarnated. Don't worry on that point. I am saying, take your rebirth, then we'll talk.

All right, in one lecture how much can I tell you about everything A to Z? What I'm saying, you better take your rebirth. All right, if you are hungry, you'll say, “All right, Mother, if you have done the cooking, I'll have it", if you are hungry. But if you are not hungry you'll ask ten questions. “Oh! From where did you get it? What do you think of this?" Whatever I think of it is not important. What you get is the important.

It is important what you are going to be benefited with, not what I am saying. Now if I say I believe in it or do not believe in it, why should you believe in Me like that? I am just preparing you to understand that you can become like the tree out of a seed. That's simple.

Now there was another question here, was there? Some gentleman asking? All right...

Question: Ma, he is saying that, how it is that God is for sale?

Shri Mataji: Now you know that, I mean I need not tell you. Every, I mean I have made a mistake, I mean, should say every time God has been for a sale, that's better but it's worse now, because people think if they pay for it they can get to God. You know BBC people, they came to interview Me and they told Me that Anglo-Saxon brain cannot understand spirituality without paying for it. Because I do not take any money, no Anglo-Saxon brain is going to accept Me. Are you all Anglo-Saxons? I tell you, every brain is made by God. You cannot say that some Anglo-Saxon brains are of different variety. How much did we pay for Christ? Such a great incarnation we had. We sold him. That is what I am meaning today that people are selling it in the market.

Now this lady is too much. She is not a seeker. Now, keep quiet. You see, this is just too much now.

You have over-read useless things. This is useless. You see, why do you worry about death so much? I can't understand.

When I first went to Paris, what they told Me, do you know, about French? They said, “Mother, don't say that You are joyous. You must pull a long face and say you are miserable because nobody is going to believe You when you say You are joyous. They will think You are ignorant." Yes, I remember the book written in French, `Les miserables'. I said, “All `les miserables'“ and on the street when I was walking first time, lots of people were sitting outside with drawn faces, very seriously indulging into some sort of a self-made misery. And I said, “What are they talking?" “Oh, they are discussing now the eight stars who are going to meet and we are all going to be finished, it's nice." Eight stars met; nobody died. You have to face life moment to moment. What is the most precious thing? What is the most precious present? Is the present. You haven't got the present, that's what you have to have. Don't live in the future or in the past. Past is finished and future doesn't exist, the whole beauty, the whole truth, the whole joy lies in the present moment.

So I think the generation of `les miserables' is now over for France.

Now let us have... all right, sir, Question: The spiritual paths and the religions which are offered today, are all to be rejected?

Shri Mataji: What is religious path and...

Translator: Spiritual paths and the religions which exist nowadays have to be rejected?

Shri Mataji: I would say that all these religions came on this Earth as real flowers on the tree of life.

And when the flowers were plucked and they started saying, “This is my religion” “This is my religion” the flowers died and the whole thing became ugly. You'll be surprised when you get your spiritual awakening, your spiritual light, you will see that all of them who came forward were all related to each other. They were all one family, only the people who followed them made the mistake of plucking the flowers from the one tree.

So with the spiritual ascent you rise into a new religion of universality.

So where Socrates, Lao Tze, Abraham, Moses to today's great philosophers, all reside together. All the incarnations like Christ, Kṛiṣhṇa, Rāma, all of them are related with each other. They came on this earth to create the milestones of our ascent and when you come to Sahaja Yoga, you'll be amazed to know that a new light is thrown in their lives and in the real religion. By just talking about them you cannot believe into such things. But when you get these Divine vibrations, you ask the question. And when that is the truth you start feeling the Cool Breeze flowing into your hands and you'd know that that's the truth. Because this new awareness has not come in you that's why you cannot definitely say that this is this. It's everything relative at this stage, but at the stage where you become the spirit, it being absolute, you get absolute knowledge.

So we respect all these great incarnations and then understand what they have done for us.

Question [in French]: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: What is he talking? Now if you go on saying like that, there is no end to it, because you have read Rāma Kṛiṣhṇa, somebody has read something else, something like that, so now whatever I am saying, I am before you. Rāma Kṛiṣhṇa is dead a long time back, all right.

So I am before you and now you take your realisation and then we'll talk about these things because he is in the book, he is not here, is he? All right.

When Christ was here, nobody paid attention to him. When he died, now we have got big churches.

What's the use? Now let us do... Madam, is it important? Now,...

Question: This lady would like to know how to pray in Sahaja Yoga.

Shri Mataji: I will tell you. Now there are many who are not yet Sahaja Yogis. Then I'll tell you how to pray. Because let them at least become Sahaja Yogis, let them become yogis, let them become one with the Divine. Then I'll tell you, but you'll know when I will be alone with you or we'll be Sahaja Yogis together, because everything cannot be told at every stage. First the light has to come, first the light has to come. Now still there are questions! Question: The relationship between the `I' and `me' and the relationship between the light and the mystery of the World of God.

Shri Mataji: What is the relationship between `I' and `me'? Just the same! Translator: [UNCLEAR High/Light].

Shri Mataji: Ego. Now, what is the second one? What is the second one? Translator: Relationship between the light and the mystery of the World of God?

Shri Mataji: Light? Light is the spirit and the mystery that is unraveled after you become the spirit.

I know all these things are there in the atmosphere. I know that. It's correct what he asked Me, it's correct, that's a problem. Yes, they used to say, it's a mystery, you see. Don't ask questions. What is Holy Ghost? Mystery! Nobody knew the mystery. All right, so let us have it now.

Question: Shri Mataji, you have used several times the word, `receive'. Do we have to have a passive attitude of reception or we can [UNCLEAR participate in the blossoming].

Shri Mataji: Ah! It's like a seed, I said. What does the seed do? It has got all the capacity, ability to become the tree. Does it participate? It does. How? By becoming.

So you need not be passive nor be active. You just be seated and it's going to work out. All right, now let us have it because it's quite late.

Some people are very anxious. If there is no room, some people can come here.

Some Sahaja Yogis can come forward and allow others to sit down. Sahaja Yogis can sit on the platform.

Only request I have to make that please don't disturb others at the right moment. You should not suddenly get up and walk off. It is better to leave earlier than to disturb us later on. And you have to be very kind. You have to be open-minded like a scientist. As if I put forward a hypothesis and once it is proved then it becomes a law for you. Then you must accept it. But you should have an open mind. That is very important. And forget about what you have read, what you have known so far. Just be prepared to get your realisation because this is what you have to have, that's the main thing.

Now what you have to do is a simple thing, is to put your hands like this. Our nerve endings are on our finger tips and they are representing our different centers within ourselves. And when you are enlightened, you start feeling the All-pervading Power on your finger tips. Another thing is that you all have to know that there is no mesmerism in it. You have to keep your eyes shut throughout because the attention is drawn inside. When the awakening takes place the attention is drawn inside and it's better to keep your eyes shut so attention is drawn faster inside.

Later on you will know that the left side, left side, represents the desire. The power of desire is expressed on the left hand side and the power of activity or action is represented by the right hand.

So all of you should sit straight, not bending backwards or forwards but in a straight way, keeping your neck and left hand like this towards Me on your lap. And you have to be comfortable. Be comfortable. If there is anything tight or anything troubles you, better loosen it because you have to be comfortable first of all so that your attention is not drawn.

Now I'll tell you what centers you are going to yourself help for the Kuṇḍalinī to rise. First you'll be putting your right hand on your heart with the left hand like this and then you'll be putting your right hand on in the upper part of the stomach, in the lower part of the stomach, all on the left hand side. And then you have to take your hand again back on to the upper part of the stomach, then on top of your heart again, then on the left hand side, here, in the corner of your neck and the shoulder. Then on top of your head here. I mean, on top of your forehead across and then on the back of your head. Ultimately on top of your head, stretching your palm, putting it there and just moving it, your scalp, in a clockwise manner.

Now when you all close your eyes. I'll tell you everything one by one. Now please close your eyes. Keep your left hand towards Me. If you are feeling hot you can take out your sweaters. Maybe some of you feel hot in the beginning. Be comfortable.

Now please close your eyes and please don't open them till I tell you. You don't fight with your thoughts. You don't fight with anything. The whole thing will work out spontaneously and ultimately you will start feeling the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost coming out of your fontanelle bone area, on top of your head.

Now please put your right hand on the heart. In the heart resides your spirit. Here now you ask Me a very fundamental question. If you can, say, `Shri Mataji' or `Mother', you say, `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Say it three times, `Mother, am I the Spirit?' Keep your eyes shut please. Now don't open your eyes but put your right hand on your stomach on the left hand side in the upper part. This is the center of your mastery.

So if you are the Spirit, you become your own master.

So now here ask Me a question, `Mother, am I my own master?' Please ask this question three times. Have full confidence in asking this question.

Now take down your right hand in the lower part of your abdomen on the left hand side and press it hard. Now this is the center of the Divine technique, the Pure Knowledge. Now, I cannot force you to ask for it. You have to say, `Mother, may I have the Pure Knowledge?" Because there are six petals to this center you'll have to say it six times, asking Mother, `May I have the Pure Knowledge?' and with this the Kuṇḍalinī will start moving. From your heart you have to ask.

Now raise your right hand on the upper part of your abdomen on the left hand side. Now here you have to have full confidence in yourself. Because the Kuṇḍalinī is rising you have to say with full assertion, `Mother, I am my own master. I am my own Guru. I am my own guide.' Say this ten times. Say it with full confidence. If you had a wrong Guru then you might shake a little, doesn't matter. Have confidence in yourself. You have to become your own master. Now say it ten times.

Please raise your right hand on the heart again. This is the place of the spirit. Here with full confidence you have to say, twelve times, `Mother, I am the spirit.' Don't doubt yourself. With full confidence in you, you should say, `Mother, I am the spirit.' Forget about the past. Whatever has happened, has happened. Forget it. Like a lotus, you will bloom.

Out of the mire it comes out and gives fragrance to the whole mire. Out of the mud it comes out. Say it twelve times. Now with full confidence, now raise your right hand in the corner of your neck and your shoulder. This is the worst center in...

Contents: 1985-10-09 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Like a Drama, after, Public Program, Strasbourg, France

Like a drama it is that you have to reach a climax point, otherwise... I'm saying it is like a drama that it has to reach a climax point. And I see the game has started now this way creating an expectancy and little suspense and then ultimately you arrive on the scene. Yesterday it was said that there's no chance at all, so I wondered, “What's happening now?" I said, “If there's no chance, then how can I go?" Then I said, “I'll have to sneak in somehow." And it worked.

It is becoming very interesting now, Sahaja Yoga. Formerly I remember that when you went to any place there would be a straightforward march, no problem. But without events it's not interesting and when there are certain events one should not get upset but to watch for the climax. For you also in your personal life and individual life and collective life you'll find such things happening now, you'll find this kind of happening in a very dramatic manner. And then they report it to Me that “How, Mother, dramatically the whole thing took place and how it all worked out so well." But the biggest thing is that we are getting now such good Sahaja Yogis who are so very matured. And it's so encouraging that there are still so many sane people left in this mad world. And the madness is also of different varieties. I find there are some people who are stupid because they are egoistical and they do all kind of stupid things. And they like only the things that are stupid and they don't like anything that is dignified or deep. This is the big problem but when they are stupid they waste their life and ultimately I don't know where they are going to end up.

And when they are not stupid, they are mad caps.

Translator: Idiots?

Shri Mataji: No, that's different.

Translator: That's another category.

Shri Mataji: Another category.

Translator: Possessed?

Shri Mataji: No, no, mad caps are not possessed, no, no. Mad caps are bumptious people, people who are bumptious. They are bumptious by nature, they talk big, they give big stories, I mean, they don't know what they are talking. They say they talk through your hat, means the ego has pierced through the hat. Not the Kuṇḍalinī, but ego.

So that sort of people, they come out.

So this is one of the sides.

The another is the people who are idiots, idiotic. In Sanskrit it's called as murdhas. Murdhas are the people who are idiotic. In Sanskrit the stupids are called murkhas and the mad caps are called as bhaskalas and the ones who are idiots are called murdhas. But the modern style there is one more and that is `confused'. In Sanskrit it's brahmith. They must be having all these at that time also [UNCLEAR some] because how do they have the names then? Now if you ask anyone these days they want to say that they are confused because by that they try to show that they are very aware. And you talk to them about Sahaja Yoga, to them it is absolutely out of the blue, so they just look at you blankly and they say, “We are confused." Could this be left out? If you try now to tell them anything about Sahaja Yoga, to such people, they will just put up a blank and they will not understand, for them it is out of the blue, so they say, “We are confused." Of course these qualities were existent before but regarded as very bad and ridiculous, but nowadays people are proud of it, that's the worst part. Now all these are related to the brain, quality of your brain. If there is any problem like this, that means something wrong with the brain. Now also we have to understand that this is the age in spirituality to enlighten your brain.

So how do we try to make our brain understand Divine? Through experience. Like first the experience of realisation and then the experiences of lots of miracles in personal life or collective life. Then we get a blessing, a kind of enlightenment; and that enlightenment is the faith, is the Śhraddhā. Then we start accepting the Divine, “Oh, that's the Truth." And the truth cannot be explained because it is the truth. It is so evident, like you see somebody's eyes and you don't put a scalpel in the eye just to find out and analyze it immediately, do you? But you would like to use it because it is the truth. Once we understand that we should not go on analyzing anything, just seeing it as the truth, we'll have no problems.

Like now, My coming here. In Sahaja Yoga when we go subtler and subtler our analysis also becomes subtler and subtler. Then we start thinking, “Why is it not working out Strasbourg? What Strasbourg people have done wrong? What's wrong with France?" But the truth is: I had to come to France, but in a very miraculous manner, you see. That gives you greater joy, greater excitement and everlasting joy because you all enjoyed that excitement.

So if you realise that the truth is not always starkingly like a scorching sun, but it slowly comes out of the clouds and shows you its face and just disappears to tease you a little bit because it loves you.

And love is the thing that understands how to excite your joyous points, how to give joy to you through your Spirit being drenched in love. Nowhere you will find in the world such play of beauty.

So we reach the conclusion that truth is joy, it is beauty and it plays with you. And one should not be worried. It sometimes becomes like a little naughty child and sometimes like an old ancient sage, sometimes fresh like a morning breeze or could be a dark night for you to rest.

To see the beauty of truth, one should not analyze, but see for yourself what's coming next. Like today I met somebody, a Sahaja Yogini, at the airport and she looked so morose and unhappy, I was surprised.

I said, “What's the problem?" So she said, “Mother, I have to work very hard these days in the business and I don't like it, I do not get sufficient family life, my home life and I feel very unhappy." I told her there are many who say, “We have too much home life and no outside life, so we are unhappy." So there is all the time excuse to be unhappy.

Now I told her, “It is not how much time you spend with your family that is important” because she told Me that “Whenever I stay with my husband I quarrel with him." I said, “You get five minutes and five minutes you quarrel, you better get one minute so it would be something better." If you get more time then you'll quarrel more.

So if you look forward to these five minutes, intense feelings can come up, “Oh these are the only five minutes we are going to meet, so be on the guard and let's enjoy it fully." Because human nature is very beautifully made to enjoy the expression and manifestation of truth.

But we have to develop our sensibility. I told them that you don't think you are working, you just don't think. You think, “Mother is working for us” and then you will see, you'll enjoy the work much more, you'll enjoy your life and you'll enjoy your family life also. I've seen people who don't produce any work but all the time they are very hard worked, I don't know what they produce.

It was to Me a great idea that I came by this plane. Because I could do many things which I could not have done by any other plane. Because I had to buy a watch, ladies and gents and I had to also buy some pearls but I didn't have any time.

So by this plane, because it's a Swiss plane, I could buy that. I've done My shopping in the plane for My trip to India and I have also done My sleeping in the car.

So I have done all the work without feeling tired.

So the another thing which is so important about truth is that let the truth present itself and you just receive the blessings of truth. Suddenly you'll find something will happen that you never expected you could do and you can manage things better. All your lives, all Sahaja Yogis' lives, it's patterned like that, is all made, all the patterns are all the time made by truth for you. But if you should not belong to anyone of these categories I have told you and if you are not possessed you will have that sensitivity to see the different hues of beauty expressed by the truth. That is how life becomes so beautiful everywhere. You don't feel tired, you don't feel unhappy, you don't get angry but you just enjoy.

Another thing perhaps you are not aware that once you start seeing the miracles of truth you will be surprised that whatever you say comes true, whatever you desire happens. And you become so powerful that sometimes I'm afraid of you. If you have decided that I have to come to Frankfurt, jolly well I'll have to come. I'm not confused. Because all My life now is dedicated for the well-being and benevolence of humanity, completely, entirely. Now all My priorities are according to that. Not only that but I find all My life is chiseled out beautifully to be that. And I enjoy it and I do not analyze it at all. I've no time to analyze nor brains to analyze.

So today's modern problems are because of too much analysis our brains have become like that.

So tell your brain not to analyze but quieten itself completely. In that peace only you can feel the ripples of joy.

So you should never be disturbed at all, should never be frantic at all. You should always be convinced that Mother is just somewhere there. Maybe I may not be even knowing your name, doesn't matter. You are already enrolled in My heart, so what is there to worry. And the Divine knows who is who. You just try to see your powers, what powers you have got. That's how life becomes so beautiful. In this Kali Yuga we have taken birth to make this life extremely beautiful for everyone; that is our job. And that will only happen when we will become aware of all that Divine is giving us.

So today is a special day of enjoyment and you shouldn't mind if I play such tricks with you and also know that it is all for your greater enjoyment and excitement and for testing your patience sometimes also.

You see, you must know that as you reside in My heart, I also reside in your heart and I know what's happening. You have to put Me in your heart, what can I do. And then I know everything about you then you shouldn't mind it, now you can't hide it.

So many a times when you say, “Mother how did you know?" I know because you put Me in your heart. Like bugging, like that you have done yourself and so now I know all the tricks of the trade and if I play with you, you shouldn't mind.

Now you remember your early days when you came to Me, you were in a very bad shape, you see, so I didn't play any tricks with you that time. But now you are masters and when you become masters, say, in swimming you do all kinds of diving.

So all kinds of mirth and frolicking has to be there.

So now I think we should introduce some more words in French language because they did not know `joy', they did not know `mirth', they do not know `frolicking'. And we should enrich every language. Like now you are using lots of words like bandhan, nirānand, all these are Sanskrit words and bandhan is actually a Marathi word or a Hindi word, which are introduced there. In the same way you can introduce some of the good French words in Marathi language, it would be a good idea.

So this is how life is, we should all enjoy, we should be very happy and with this joy only I'm sure in this Strasbourg we'll do tremendous awakening. Like we came late today compared to other passengers and when we went with our passport, Renata excused saying that, “Sorry we are late." So the gentleman said, “Those who come first will be the last” and you have come last so you will enter in the domain of God first. Just think of it.

So what a sweet thing to say, what an indication of what's going to happen, of his sensibility also, I would say, how sensitive he was. This is what it is that one has to understand that we are Sahaja Yogis of a very high calibre, very matured people. And we should never be upset with anything; even for Mother we should not be worried. All right, thank you very much.

May God bless you! Because, you see that, England is a funny place. Wherever you get the place for Navarātri, I'll be there.

Whether it is in France or in Switzerland or [UNCLEAR]. But they take it for granted, they just take it for granted. English are like that, you see, you have to little bit put them on the competition. Because I think they've had too much of Me and don't realise what it is. There are some very good ones, no doubt, some very, very excellent people but some of them do really take it for granted. I think that you have to handle it that way, I mean inform the English that if you can't do it, let's do it somewhere else.

So, I think it could be done because it is only next week but there must have been some arrangements made because they wanted to have a big program on Sunday, organize a very, very big program, Warren? Anywhere, I don't mind, but we [UNCLEAR] that all of you should be comfortable and there should be sufficient place for all of you to [UNCLEAR]. I don't know if they are aware how many people are coming, I don't think. But I have a feeling that this might be the last Pūjā here in the West and there will be many who will be coming.

First time when we came to London there was such a [UNCLEAR] fog that we had to get down in Frankfurt. And, you see, the people couldn't get their food for eighteen hours. And there were four, five hippies, who were very hungry, on the same table we were sitting. I'm sure they must have taken some hashish, so, you see, I started looking after them. And I would go and get them butter and cheese and this and that from the counter, you see, for them to eat. And they were eating, [UNCLEAR] of everything, [UNCLEAR] of everything. And My husband also joined them but he gave up very fast. And they were still saying, “More, more." I didn't know what to do, they were eating and eating and eating. But I was happy because I liked to feed you, I liked them very much. Then I went again to get something from the counter and I found that [UNCLEAR] had run away. He just run away, you see. When I came back, they said, “What happened?" and I said, “He has run away." “Has he taken everything?" I said, “Yes, there's nothing there now, it's finished." So that was the first introduction. Because My husband said, “You'll be very happy here because people eat so well." That's Frankfurt. I hope there will not be repetition of the same experience. Better if you people don't come there, may be you will have hard times. Because after all, you see, I hope I won't meet some hippies there again.

So, I'm looking forward to this book fair also, My attention will be there. And you all should give it a bandhan as well because our book is for sale there. And another thing is that Navarātri is very good because these nine nights represent the main nine incarnations. Where the Goddess took the form of Shakti and killed the negative people. But those were easier days because negativity was understood by people and nobody sympathized.

So this is what one has to understand that don't sympathize with negativity. You'll spoil them all. And always you'll find such sympathies bring forth your character also that you are also slightly negative. Because to fight negativity in modern times is a very difficult task.

You cannot kill anyone: if you kill somebody, then may be that such a person is a brother or a sister or something of somebody. Or such a person would be himself or herself a seeker.

So best thing is to separate like a contagious disease, keep that person out, no sympathies. And get the person cured and enjoy the life, otherwise that person is not going to be helped. It has become a very individual fight. And it's so troublesome and so disgusting.

So to help Me out, you should not take any sides with negativity. That's how you can help Me the most. This is what it is the Navarātri, the Pūjā that I give you powers to fight the negativity. That's how you cure people.

May God bless you. May God bless you! Today's program was very successful and I hope the same thing will happen in Frankfurt. It's a very successful program I must say. There were lots of people, they got realisation. I think the lecture was also very well done, so it's all nice. I'm very happy for today's program.

May God bless you!

Contents: 1985-10-10 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, You Have to Become, Strasbourg, France

How many are the new Sahaja Yogis in Strasbourg please? Are there any new ones here? From Strasbourg.

Yes, that's true you are, I know that. Is there someone there? Good, it's beautiful people.

The responsibility on the new Sahaja Yogis is much more because the load of the truth they have to bear on one side, load of the truth they have to bear on one side to the Sahaja Yoga and another side to the other people. Because in the beginning we are related to other people, sometimes we get confused.

We're related on their own grounds, you see, that's the problem is, not on our grounds.

So one has to have a flexible personality in Sahaja Yoga, to bend down, to pull out people and to hold on to the truth.

In the beginning you may find certain things so stunningly different, but stunningly doesn't mean shockingly and maybe that others will start trying to tell you something that may, may hamper your progress, those who are not Sahaja Yogis. As if you're in the intermediary state, just now say, for example, then what happens that you see the other people who are there and you see Sahaja Yogis who are there.

Now the Sahaja Yogis who have not matured much come up to the same level, a sort of you get attacked by them or sort of interested in them and then you find them up to your level at the most, or lower, then you get disappointed. But this may not be with everyone because most of you who are very great souls shoot up very fast and see the truth and I feel that about you people in Strasbourg. And as you have to get great Sahaja Yogis here I've no worry on that point.

What frightens Me sometimes is that the Sahaja Yogis who are matured and who see something on you which is putting you down get sometimes frantic and start frantically behaving towards you in the sense, they might say, `Stop it, stop it, don't do, don't do, what are you doing?' like that. The situation is such that they see somebody with a dagger at your back, you can't see and they shout, “Get out of it, get out of it” you see. Then this might upset you because you'll think, `What are they? They're very arrogant,' or maybe that they have tried to be frantic or something. And that is why I always say that the leaders have to be very patient and understanding and cooperating and should see that through proper guidance and proper love they can give confidence to the people who have come newly.

Sahaja Yoga cannot spread very fast, one must know, because you have to become. The seed has to sprout and has to become a tree and it takes time.

So maybe you may find around you people may not suddenly accept Sahaja Yoga to that extent. But you should not worry, maybe your father, mother, sister, somebody very close might oppose. Even husband and wife may not understand because it's a different level you are, like an egg cannot understand the bird but little bird which is born just now has to be looked after, has to kept in such a way that all the shells drop out and all the wings are cleared out so it can spread its wings to fly.

There are two types of shells we have actually, one is of ego, another is our conditioning.

So you should locate what is the problem is like and watch it as a little bird would watch the shells around, not to be identified with your shells but to separate them and get out of it. It's very easy after getting your realisation to get out of it, only thing you have to stick on to the truth.

It is the truth that you were seeking and it is the truth you must love. Maybe the truth may not be what you have conceived. Like Freud I would say, he never loved truth, he loved his own concept and he went after his own concept, you see, misled everyone.

So truth is not your concept, it is what it is. We cannot change it. First you see the truth, then you become the truth and when you become the truth you become the joy. Then you become the source of joy too. Those who see you know that there is joy in this person, they see purity in such a person, they feel love in such a person. There's another kind of some people whom I've met which was real sad for Me that they said that, “Mother you're so pure, how can we be pure? We have done this mistake, we have done that mistake and we have spoilt ourselves, how can we be pure like you?" So I'm like a soap, use Me. I don't mind, anyway you want to use Me, use My photograph, every way, My name, every way, whatever way you want, you use Me and cleanse yourself. And soap doesn't get spoilt by that, does it? And you can think that this soap never disappears because this soap is the source of all the soaps and you all become the soaps then.

So you have to just really enjoy yourself, that's the sign, when you enjoy yourself I know you are matured. Joy is My child and I want My children to be joyous, bubbling with joy.

I am very happy I could come to Strasbourg and such a lot of joy came to all of us, to Me and to you all and that we have done a good program. But don't be enamoured by the program we had, there are always setbacks. For example in Hampstead we had three hundred new people, new people and only five turned up and one stuck on. And those who stuck the handbills and all the posters were so disappointed about it. It will all work out, don't you worry. The soil is not so good maybe. If they do not germinate here I'll take them to India and germinate it, doesn't matter, we'll work it out together. A special responsibility on us that we are here to completely transform this universe into the Kingdom of God. Now you have entered into that domain, station yourself properly there and pull out as many as possible.

So this is how we are going, all of us are going to work out, you have brothers and sisters all over Europe, all over America, all over India, all over Malaysia and Hong Kong and last of all and not the least, Australia and New Zealand. You suddenly see them somewhere jumping out. Like Ruth once went to Switzerland and suddenly she felt for someone that as if there were vibrations from that person. To make it short, she went to the lady and asked her, “Who are you? Are you a Self-realised person? Are you a Sahaja Yogi?" She felt the same way about her and she just embraced her, she said, “Yes Mother has given me also realisation." And she told Me that, “My life in Sicily was really getting bored without Sahaja Yogis and with Ruth only I was so much enamoured that we enjoyed ourselves thoroughly, the life was changed completely." Like everybody will feel, like you will know all of them, Djamel, he's from Algeria, so his mother wanted to go to Mecca.

So he told his mother, “Why do you want to go to Mecca, Mecca has shifted now to London, better go to London." And she came, she came with her husband and she got her realisation.

It's such a great thing that we are in this new world and we are entering into this beautiful new domain of God where He has prepared all beautiful things for us.

So I hope you'll make it convenient to come to Navarātri Pūjā wherever it is, it makes no difference to Me and that if you can come to India, will be good idea, but be prepared, it's very spartan. Maybe you may not get any food and maybe you may have to go lot of trouble but whatever is the experience of the Sahaja Yogis, you ask them and then you will know what it is like.

It's beautiful today to be here and I can see a nightingale there, sitting down just to listen to us. What do you call nightingale in French? Rossignol? Good, rossignol. All right.

May God bless you all.

Contents: 1985-10-19 Navarātri Pūjā (cusp between the 6th Day and 7th Day), Gymnasium, Weggis (19 kms E of Luzern on Luzern Lake), Switzerland

Today is a great day of Navarātri, we are sitting on the cusp of the sixth and the seventh. Sixth and the seventh is the day when Mahāsaraswatī finished Her work and the incarnation of the Shakti itself started.

So, at twelve o'clock today the Devī takes the Shakti upon Herself.

Of course, as you know, that Mahākālī and Mahāsaraswatī, both are the powers of Śhrī Sadāśhiva. Ādi Shakti first formed Herself into Mahākālī, which is the Power of Desire. But all these powers are nothing but the power of God's love.

So, in the series of this great love of God, Ādi Shakti had to first become the Power of Desire.

In the same way, Sahaja Yogis who are bestowed with this power of love have to have full desire in their heart. Desire to love. That desire is very different from the other kinds of human love we have known. In other kinds of human love, when we have relations with others, we have expectations and that's why it is very disappointing.

Our expectations always run higher than our understanding and realities. And so we suffer from disappointments and frustrations. And the love that has to be nourishing and fulfilling becomes a thankless job.

So, when it reflects in the human beings, it is the desire to be loved by everyone, not to love others.

Everyone should love you, but how far you love another is the point. Naturally everyone for oneself! So really nobody loves. But when it comes to real love then sacrifice becomes a nature. You don't call it a sacrifice but you call it a privilege. We say it's a privilege to give love. It's a great chance that we can love. It's our great fortune that we can love. It's God's blessings that we can love and give.

So the giving starts when you realise, not understand but realise the love, the power of love expressing in you. That's the third power, which starts expressing in you. Because, after this, a person becomes active, kriyasheet.

That's how the action of achieving that state of giving love starts. To begin with we start activating in so many ways. As I said, we start expecting and thinking that we are loving others. We act for that.

In that madness that, others should love us, others should respect us, others should think we are great, they should recognize us, we start loving something else which is not so important.

So, we go on first to money, money becomes a very important point. We think that, if we have money, people will love us. We become very powerful as moneyed people, as rich people.

So we start accumulating money, we start loving the money. But money is not the Truth; we don't love the Truth.

When we start loving the money we start thinking about problems of money. Such people can become miserly to such an extent that even towards God they become miserly. They never have money actually, because if you cannot spend your money, you have no money. If it is not available what's the use of having all the money? That's how they have problems because they love money and not the God Almighty.

They're worried about money but not about the Truth.

Then with that they go to a second thing: is the power. They want to have the power; they want to become presidents, ministers and bureaucrats and all that. They want to have the power: they think by having great power people will respect them and love them. But they get drowned in fear. What they get is fear. All the time they have fear. Also moneyed people have fear. That's why in the Bible it is said that: wages of sin is fear. What is sin? Sin is not to love the Truth. [That] is the sin. When you don't love the Truth then it is sin.

So when you start getting worried about your positions? Like the president feels that he'll lose his job, the vice president thinks that he'll be sacked, the prime minister thinks he may not be elected, the bureaucrats think they will lose their jobs, they won't get promotions or something, there will be problem.

All these people are suffering from terrible sense of fear. They have no freedom of any kind. And in that category people just go down so much with fear, that even worse than people with money. Because once they are lost they are lost. They can never revive. No chance. Once you lose the elections you are lost, nobody is going to look at you. I have known people who have been at a very high position and once they lose that position nobody looks at them, they just walk like straight, otherwise there will be at least hundred cars to receive them. And once they lose their jobs there's nobody even to look at them. They just walk like ordinary people.

Even seeing all these things happening, this truth just coming before them so clearly, they do not keep to that truth, they do not realise that truth, they do not have that realisation within them.

They understand for a while and they go after that. Then when the person dies, they see a moneyed man, a rich man is forgotten, nobody is bothered about them, who was a rich man. On the contrary, the people, the prime ministers and all those high ranking people, when they die, immediately books start coming out about their private life: all the dirty things they did and all the horrible things they did and what sort of a life they led. There's no fragrance in their life, no idealism. Nothing. Because the responsibility that they have to the public and to themselves they have not understood it and they made a mess of their private life. That's why this kind of a reaction comes after it.

The other day I was reading an interview with a very well known actor. He's a born-realised fellow, I know, but he's gone down completely. He says, “I think, what's the harm in drinking, what's the harm in gambling, what's the harm in smoking? Because, after all, I'm going to die and then who is going to bother? Supposing, I get cancer, so what? In any case I'm going to die.

So why not enjoy these pleasures of life?" But what about death? You continue with it.

Then all that you've been doing will come out and people will not to like to have your photograph in the household. Children will spit at you. What about that? Your life is not [just] what it is today for three, four years or ten years or fifteen years of your so-called success. But when you die all this craziness will disappear and people will come out with truth about you. That is how this power to be popular finishes off. This cheap popularity, this cheap type of treatment towards yourself gives you a personality that will not be worshipped, that will not be accepted. Nobody will quote you as something great. For some time it will continue, but in totality such a person has given nothing to humanity.

That's how the power of Saraswatī works. People go into action for achieving the results of getting into power. But it should act to discover the truth. Saraswatī should give you the leap to find out the truth.

That, when you act in those funny places and streets, you discover this is not the path, we have missed it. The path is somewhere else. We've lost it. Let us find out the real path because this doesn't give joy.

This, one can learn from others, from history, from so many other things and from your own parents, from your society and from yourself and from your children also.

If you want to learn, that is the quality of Saraswatī Pūjāris, that they take to Gñyāna, they take to reality. Vedas, in the beginning of the Vedas, it's said that: if by reading these four Vedas, if you do not get the veeda, veeda is the knowledge on your nerves, means Realisation, there is no use reading these Vedas.

So the Saraswatī's first thing is that through the reading, through the process of Saraswatī's manifestation, you must reach a point to understand that this is a rat-race and we have to get out of it. We have to step out. When that happens, then the Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa starts working in you, that is the third Tattwa, which starts working.

Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa then starts expressing its love in its full extent through evolutionary process in human beings. He starts evolving simultaneously. He sees on both the sides what's happening, like a witness and he uses his Mahālakṣhmī power. In the first part of the Mahālakṣhmī power he starts getting out of the common rut of the family bondages and the other human bondages of power, money, lust and he starts moving on a higher plane. He gives us a new idea of popularity by establishing the Truth. Because through Mahālakṣhmī power you discover the Truth on your central nervous system and ultimately it is the light of an enlightened brain.

When the Mahālakṣhmī power starts manifesting, one starts thinking of others. Not on material level, that materially people are suffering, “Now there are people in Ethiopia, who will save? We must give them some food, this, that." No! They go to the roots of the problems. Why? Or they don't think there should be equal distribution of money and wealth. No. This is superficial. Because wherever it is done people are not happy. They feel they have no freedom.

Those people who have money are not happy because they have a demonic life. Where they are free they behave like devils. No sense of totality, no sense of collectivity. When they become like that, they even do not realise that they have become demonic. Everything becomes like a big martyrdom. They fight for lands, they fight for nations, they fight for rights. And they do all kinds of horrible things. Start destroying people, human beings.

All the turmoil of today is the effect of, mostly in the West and also all the Arabic countries, I would say, is of the right side.

And in the East it is of the left side, the turmoils.

It's very surprising that, it's very contrasting also. It's a funny dilemma for Me, I can't understand it sometimes, that where they are so particular about the chastity, they become when they are so much worried about chastity and everything, that they should have problem of the left side. They do Pūjā, they have Śhraddhā, they are like Catholics, we can say, are never rich people, seldom, except in Switzerland, I think, here everybody's rich because they are so money-oriented.

Or the people where they are right-sided, where they neglect their chastity, not bothered about the right side: they have the problems of the right side, it's very surprising. The reason is, where they look after the chastity part, they go too much into it.

Now, supposing a person is doing a Pūjā. He just goes on doing Pūjā, Pūjā, Pūjā morning till evening, without any activity. Very easy to do Pūjā, isn't it? Just come down, somebody does Pūjā for you, get the vibrations, nicely blessed, go home! Nothing to be done, no activity.

So there is no balance.

So they do Pūjā and they think oh, they have done very well. No! If you are a right-sided person, then Pūjā will help you, but not if you are a left-sided person.

Pūjā does help you, of course, My Pūjā will help you, no doubt, in both the sides, because I'm neither left nor right nor anywhere! So the Pūjā part when they do: supposing a man is doing a Pūjā to a Devī. In India they take a great courage to do Pūjā to a Devī, you do not know that. Saptashati that they have, that thing people do, they get possessed and they can't understand. First of all they have a statue of someone made by some horrible fellow. Then they will do the Pūjā of that Goddess, they are God-fearing, everything is good, we have got temples where there are also, we can say, swayambhūs from the Mother Earth, which are worshipped and should be all right, but no, they get possessed. Why? Because most of them, these temples, are hounded by or haunted by spirits. Because they do all kinds of Tantrik things there. And when people go and do the Pūjās there what happens to them [is] that they get attacked, they become more left-sided.

Now the Muslims and others who believe in a God which is nirākār, which is formless, they go to the right side: it's formless God, it's nice, formless everywhere is God, in Me, in you, everyone there is God.

Everybody is God! Even if you are a devil, you are God. There's nothing wrong with anyone, everybody's God! It starts on that principle.

So they go onto supraconscious side and they become demonic. Then they must fight because they are devils. Devils have to fight, otherwise how will they exist? They fight, they aggress, they go to other countries, aggress them, capture them, all the time they are thinking of aggressing others.

In a subtler way they aggress, nowadays the media is aggressive in the West. There are so many ways of aggression and to them aggression is something [that] is very Dharmic. For anything! They'll ask direct questions, arrogant, insulting and cruel. They become cruel people. That's how the turmoil starts when we start using the power of Saraswatī in a wrong way or the power of Mahākālī in the wrong way.

That's why, in Sahaja Yoga, before the Pūjā you have to go into lot of activity: you have to decorate the hall, you have to get the flowers, you have to organize everything beautifully. Look at the roses, how beautiful they are. Then you start balancing yourself with all these activities you do. And then you sit down for Pūjā. That's like in the daytime you work, in the night you sleep. To rest, to get the place you must be active. Like they had to climb Himālayas to achieve meditation because, when you are tired, you can be restful afterwards. Otherwise, if you get somebody, say, from Switzerland only, the very speedy person, for meditation, you'll have to put the glue on him to settle down because he'll be frantic, you know, all the time! He'll be all the time jumping! So the activity has to come before the Pūjā and the balance has to be established.

So the ladies have to find out the sarīs and the blouses and this and that and they have to worry about putting the flowers, arranging things, this, that. Lot of activities! We have to travel. For English it was necessary to travel all the way from England, to arrange their money and rooms and everything to come here, to go to futuristic side, to think what they are going to pay, how they are going to pay back their loans! All this futuristic planning they have to do before they come to Switzerland. Switzerland being the most active place, it's better to have the Pūjā here, so they are not so much active! That's how the Devī arranges everything.

So the ascent starts evolving. In that, the play of the Devī is the Navarātri, in your ascent, from ages. Navarātri that's why is the most important Pūjā. In Sahaja Yoga, Navarātri is the most important Pūjā I would say. Though we can say in modern Sahaja Yoga Sahasrār Day is, because that's how you started getting your Realisation. But if you go to the whole historical events of evolution you'll find [that] Navarātri is the one which has brought you to Sahasrāra. Without the help of the Devī at different stages of your ascent, you could not have been in a position to receive your Realisation.

So all the steps that you took in the past are today worshipped and are used for thanking the Devī for what She did to bring you down here.

So it's like a thanksgiving. Without Her work nothing could have happened.

So when we read about the Devī, about Her incarnations: how She came on this Earth to save Her bhaktas, people who were trying to ascend, to cross this Bhava-sāgara, how She worked hard, how She fought the devils, how She fought, She killed the demons single-handed, She took upon Herself the responsibility of making the people cross the Bhava-sāgara.

Guru gave you the strength to have Dharma but She is the one who brought you out. Even those who were Dharmic could not do it because of the demonic pressure. She's the one who fought single-handed with Her powers of destruction. In Her love for you She fought. She brought you to this level. And then She took a milder form of incarnation. Even during the time of all the Gurus She took the form of, as you know, Janaki was the daughter of Janaka, then Fātima was the daughter of Mohammed Sahib and Nanaki was the sister of Nanaka. In those forms, these Powers sustained and nourished the Guru Tattwa. And later on, or sometimes simultaneously, They incarnated in milder forms to help human beings to rise.

So today is the day of thanksgiving. As Guru Pūjā is a day of thanksgiving to your Guru, the One who has counseled you, the One who has told you about the Truth, the One who has taught you the Truth and has given you Realisation. And the Devī Pūjā is a thanksgiving where, single-handed, just like a very loving mother, under Her sarī, She protected you, fought for you, fought with every enemy that is around, every sort of problems that existed and ultimately brought [you] into Sahasrāra level and then gave you Realisation. It's a real thanksgiving to the Mother.

So we can say Navarātri is like a Mother's Day where you give thanksgiving to Her: which was just relentless, continuous working for Her children.

Motherhood is much more important than the Guru-hood. Because Guru is the one who trains you, makes you efficient. But the Mother forgives you, She loves you, She sustains you and She teaches you how to love. She has tremendous patience and tremendous love and She does it single-handed. She doesn't expect anything from you, absolutely selfless. `Selfless' is a very small word I should say, it's such an expansive compassion which engulfs everything that is wrong, dissolves it, digest it, absorbs it.

So it's a very great day Navarātri is, for all the Sahaja Yogis, because then She took Her form as Sītā, as the Power of Śhrī Rāma, silent potential, suffering. How much She suffered! How much She suffered! Then She took the form of Rādhā. Then She came as five powers of Saraswatī as the five wives of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. Then She came as Mary: that was the greatest suffering, I think, to see the Son being crucified.

The suffering, silent, patient suffering, She had to go through it. All that drama, to be seen, was too much.

She went through all that because you all had to cross your Āgñyā Chakra. She had to sacrifice Her Child.

It's easy for a father to do that, very difficult for a mother. Now you are all mothers, so many of you, you will know what it is to have a child and how one feels about it.

After doing that, She comes to the state where you have to give your Realisation. Is a work of tremendous patience, as you know. It's tremendous patience and understanding. Human beings, as the time advanced, have evolved no doubt for Realisation, but also evolved to very funny, stupid, crooked nonsensical ways. It's impossible to understand how they go about with their stupid ideas and how troublesome they can be! They can be very crooked, funny, troublesome to such an extent that sometimes even it is difficult to forgive.

Despite that so many of you are here today, in Europe, in the land of the Guru, here I find, who have got Realisation.

So the Mother's pride, Mother's joy knows no bounds, no doubt about it. It's such a great thing to see Her children sitting here to receive all the powers from Her. Now, again, when we are in this situation, we have to know the first principle with which the whole thing started that, it is the power of love. It is the power of love that has brought you to this state and it's the power of love that you will express and manifest; you will evolve.

Now, after coming to Sahaja Yoga also the temptations become subtler and subtler. We try to do Sahaj Yog, we try to spread Sahaja Yoga, sometimes for the powers we get. Maybe you are lonely so you want to have more Sahaja Yogis. Maybe you do it because you think that, that's how you spread your powers. Even there are problems on leadership I find, ego problems there are.

Somebody's appointed a leader then another feels bad, this, that all goes on. I see the drama going on. Like small children they fight. What is this leadership? Is just artificial! It's not even noted in any newspaper! As they have mock governments we have a mock leadership.

So then people fight for that, this becomes subtler. The power struggle goes on becoming subtler.

Then again money problems come up.

Some people think that Sahaja Yoga is a very big way of making money. Or some people think that, “We can get lot of money, because Mother blesses people with money, affluence, so let us be in Sahaja Yoga” but don't spend a single pai, you see, just manage it. No! It's not like that. It's the other way round! It's again the another dilemma is there that, in India which is a place of poverty compare to all of you, everyone donates money. All the trustees in every centre wherever there are trustees, have to donate at least five thousand rupees to become the trustees. Of course, I don't get anything out of it, but I must have donated I don't know how many how much Myself to become the Trustee of Sahaja Yogis! But you have to donate. And when you become miserly again that means, again, it's the same thing going on. You have bank balances but the source is finished and you have nothing left.

The bank balance should be with God. Then He gives you interest more than the capital. Is there any bank which does that? At least not the Swiss Bank! You have to pay for keeping money with them. That's how it is. You should tap [into it]. Always try to go to the source. This becomes subtler and subtler in the sense that people think that now their children are realised Souls. All right, so what? They are not Gods, are they? They get so involved with their children, I mean, this is another stupidity women fall into. But to them their child is so important, they get so adhered to the child. I mean, first they used to neglect the children, now they become so attached to their children that they look like glued people all the time.

And such children cannot grow properly unless and until you give them freedom. Give them full freedom to grow. But guidance, of course, that they are majestic people, meaning Sahaja Yogis, they are born realised as a Sahaja Yogi, as a good Sahaja Yogi how they should behave. Have a rapport, talk to them, tell them about you now, how they be. Develop that self-respect within them that they should be like this. Not to glue them to you. That's not the way. Children will never grow properly, even physically, if you glue them to yourself.

In the West now I see new ideas coming up that the children must be glued to the mother. This is from one extreme to another extreme. They'll become very left-sided. Even if they'll be grown up in age they won't grow up in their brains. They won't grow up in their behaviour if they are glued with the mother.

If they cry for a while, little bit, doesn't matter, but the children must be made to sleep away from the mother. All the time you should not carry your children in your lap. There is no need at all. But this is not that the child wants, is the mother who wants this kind of a thing. And some fathers also I have seen glue down to their children and then they say, “Mother, my child is spoiled, he's like this, like that." Such children will get possessed very fast if you make the children dependent on you. Very fast they'll become possessed.

If you make them over-independent, “You are on your own." Like the other side was that when we were in Oxted a girl of seven years used to come and give us newspapers. And she was a daughter of a lord! At about five o'clock in the morning, in that cold she used to climb up all the way on a bicycle delivering those newspapers. And when I told her mother, “What are you doing? It's very dangerous, this child is in danger, she is a girl, how can you do that to her?" she said, “No, no, she has to be on her own." So the one side is to be on her own and another side is to glue them, is again the same subtle attitude of possessiveness. It's possessiveness, “This is my child, I must look after the child, the child is Self-realised Soul, this, that." Only your child is not realised Soul, everybody's child is the realised Soul in Sahaja Yoga.

How much do you do for other's children? Or only you look after your own child? The custom should be: if you buy one thing for your child, buy two more things for another child. Buy better things for another child and less things for your child. Let your child share his things with others. At the time when you are buying something, buy something that he can share. Teach him how to share. Because though they are realised Souls, with the mothers and the fathers like this they'll become again the same miserly old style people: quarrelsome, fighting, beating each other, troubling each other.

So be careful about this. Being realised Souls, you will be surprised, they will be extremely, extremely convenient for you. Give them to other Sahaja Yogis to handle, depend on them, let them look after. And the homogeneous feeling comes through children. Children are the ones who bind each other.

But, “Don't touch my child! This is my child!" You close the door as soon as somebody comes in.

That's you are going back in the same way as your mothers have been. There's no war on in Sahaja Yoga.

We are in the government of God. This realisation has to come. There is no need to seek all these useless things, these pleasures of life.

Understand your responsibility that: you are Sahaja Yogis first and last and in the middle and as Sahaja Yogis what is your duty? Is to be completely dedicated for the betterment and the benevolence of others. That's the only thing which is going to nourish you to rise. If you look after your children like this, like mad, it's not going to help you to. You'll have problems. If you neglect your children, you will have problems.

So come in the centre and be just witnesses of all that. It's a very common failing in the beginning of every Sahaja Yogi who comes to Sahaja Yoga. They'll send Me the list of five generations on this side and five generations on this side, “My fathers, brothers, sisters, this thing, that thing, real cousins, real this thing is sick.

So please, Mother, put Your attention." And when I put My attention, the attention returns back, I can't find that. It starts like that to begin with. Alright, in the beginning I say, “Alright, just now they have entered." But you don't know [that] these are tentacles which keep you down, they do not allow you to rise in the domain of God. In the domain of God everything that is yours, even your hair, are looked after by God Almighty. Every thing! Can you understand that? Can you realise that? Is all done by billions and billions and billions of powers of Ādi Shakti. What can you do yourself? Nothing! Except for worrying and troubling.

So just if you believe and assume that power today that you are in the domain of God, which is active benevolence, the nature of it is active benevolence, as we say `hita'. If you are sick, it is for your benevolence. If you are alright, it is for your benevolence. If you have money it is for your benevolence.

If you don't have money, it is for your benevolence. Everything does good for you in the domain of God.

Do not judge it according to your own standards. Whom do you think to be a person who is benevolent in this world apart from Me? Really, in the real sense of the word? Supposing you take a man who is very rich; is he benevolent? No. Is he happy? No. Is he respected? No. At least he has to be a realised Soul to be somewhere near that description. And if you have to ascend in the domain of God, you have to know that everything works through His power: your activity, your inactivity, your sleep, everything is worked through His powers of love. Love can never harm, can never destroy. You go a little ahead with it and it showers flowers upon you.

But understand your nature: supposing you are a left-sided person. Mostly I've seen left-sided persons always want to do My Pūjās. And the right-sided person are organizing. Do the other way round. You must know your nature, give yourself a balance and then enter into the Kingdom of God. Like you entering into a door, say for example and you have too much load on your back, meaning you are a left-sided person.

Then take down the load from your back on your head and enter in. But if you have too much on your head, put it on your back and enter in. Because you're tired. You do it every day. Supposing this hand is tired, you put it on the left hand. I see in aeroplane when people are walking they are holding it in one hand and automatically when it is tired, they put it to the left, automatically. They are not Sahaja Yogis! In the same way in life also, if you have done one-sidedness too much, try to do the other side and give yourself a balance.

Navarātri is the day to give you the balance. Those whose right hand is tired will get the power in the left hand. Those who have the left hand tired will get the power on the right hand to share the load.

So those who are having money problems will solve their money problems. And those who have sleeping problems will solve their sleeping problems. But one can say if somebody has both, then what do they do? I know of somebody, I lived there, in that country where they have both the problems, they sleep as well as they have no money and they are not bothered! So, for such people what should we do? Of course, I won't tell you, but one has to do something about it! [Laughter.] One has to work out something. They just don't move and if you tell them, answer is, “I know. I know I sleep a lot, I know I'm like this. I know.

I know." That's all. Then what do you say? It stops you completely. You can't go further. If they know, what more [is] to be told? This is a complete mountain there standing just to finish you completely.

So one has to do. Everyone has to do something.

Somebody is working it out, somebody is doing some work and another is not helping. Then that cannot be completed, it's a collective work, you cannot! One person cannot do it. I've seen it happens like this. It's a collective work.

So we come to the position that Navarātri today is not the work of Mother only, which She did so far, is the work of every one of you. I cannot do it single-handed. If I could, there was no need for you to be here, I would have built the aeroplane, put you there, pushed them some or other, lock it up and put you there. It's not possible. You all have to carry your own aeroplanes. Build it up and carry it yourself with dignity, not like small children.

So you have to mature. And for that maturity it's a collective thing that has to take place. In the beginning in the school they'll teach you two plus two is equal to four. But when you go to the college, you have to do it yourself, solve the problem yourself. And that's what it is today. Sahaja Yoga is good, you get your Realisation in these modern times, but the maturity has to take place, otherwise [it's] useless. Up to the seed it was alright, but once it is sprouted it must become the tree, otherwise it's useless. And that all of you have to do together, helping each other, understanding each other. And everyone has to work it out. Even if one person suffers, I suffer. The whole thing has become collective. The Devī has become collective. It's a venture. It's a venture, I know, too much of it.

There was no other way out. It's like crucifixion of every part of Your body, every cell of Your body. But it's alright.

So today, instead of feeling guilty, you should be filled with tremendous courage and tremendous enthusiasm that we have to do it, because Mother has gave us the power. We can do it, nothing should keep us down. And we are going to help each other.

One person is doing one job, nobody will look at it, you see, they won't just move! “I know, I'm sitting down, I know. I don't do anything I know." And in Sahaja Yoga, it has become even subtler, “I want to do but there's a bhoot in me which doesn't allow me to do it." So you get out with your bhoot! That's what it is. All these arguments are stupid, of no value in Sahaja Yoga. That means you have not understood the meaning of Sahaja Yoga, you have not understood the meaning of yourself and you have no respect for your life. That's what it is. If you indulge into such thinking, then it is no good.

But today you have to promise to yourself and to Me within your heart that you are going to be filled with that enthusiasm and that Shakti. The time has come. Which is going to make you real yogis.

Complete dedication. Imagine these PLO people what they are doing, fearlessly. I mean, all kinds of people you see around you even in Kali Yuga are so dedicated to something nonsensical.

Why can't we be dedicated to something so sensible? They are not afraid of anything, they are daredevils. Why can't we become like that? What's wrong with us? So every one of us must have that enthusiasm and `I'm an institution by myself. And I'm going to do it, I'm not going to take advantage of the ashram life, nicely settled down in the ashram. Very good, cheap.' No! We are all going to move out also and take up a place somewhere else. For the time being ashram is alright. But then give more room to others who are coming. You get out of it. Go out and stay somewhere and work it out. Then in the ashram, `This is my house, I have spent money for this, this is my furniture, this is this thing, that thing.' Actually you should know how to live on a string, shoestring, as they say, on a shoestring.

Of course now I'm feeling [that] every ashram has such a lot of furniture that they had to bring. Better live on a shoestring.

So the tapasya starts. Go into a penance yourself. But then I will hear, “Mother, I'm on a tapasya, I'm eating only once." Why? Who ask you to be on tapasya? Enjoy! Enjoy your tapasya! Then it is Sahaja, otherwise [it's] nonsense. Enjoy. If you can enjoy your tapasya then you are Sahaj; with enthusiasm. Look at these PLOs, look at these people, do they say, `We are going in a tapasya'? Nothing. You have examples of people around you. But we can't say [that] they are possessed by bhoots. Or even if they are what about you? You better get possessed by Sahaj bhoots for a change! If that's the way, only, you can be motivated.

So tell your mind, `No explanations, nothing doing. I am going to show my worth!' But all the time if the attention is just to show off or to be in My attention or to be in contact with Me, to be writing to Me or something, is not going to help at all. I am just a mirror and you see within Myself, yourself, in the true way. And also this mirror is full of māyā.

So a devil may look into this mirror and may look like a saint to him. If he has ego he might look like a saint to himself. Or if he is a left-sided person he might think he is the incarnation of Bhairava, he might. But if he is truthful, he can see clearly that he is the highest of highest, he's a Sahaj Yogi. And unless and until you see yourself like that, know that it's a māyā.

So to realise that you have achieved a lot by getting your Realisation, of rising so much higher above all these petty ideas. Every idea is petty, whether it is economics, politics, philosophy, any ism, anything is all petty for a Sahaja Yogi, because none of them know even this much about God's domain.

What are they talking about is economics! They do not know anything about His politics. They do not know anything that there is a miraculous power which rules the whole Universe and which is so efficient.

Which never fails.

So timely, so sensible, so interesting, dramatic. See how we reserved all these things in no time. How we got to this place. I was to have this Pūjā here. All this you know. How I came here.

See the miracle working. How the powers of the Divine are working. You be the proper instrument of the Divine. And it has another force as I told you, centripetal and centrifugal and you might be thrown out.

So be careful on that point. Face yourself in truthfulness! Do not get pampered by your ego or morosed by your superego! Just see for yourself as a powerful instrument of love. But in love you do not become indiscrete.

Steadily, beautifully, gently you attend to it. And so much power can be born. You will be amazed that water, which looks something so frivolous to us, has so much power in it. You know about hydrostatics.

This Mother Earth which looks so simple: We walk on Her on our feet. She attracts us on ourself. She's spinning with such a speed Herself, She keeps us sticking on to Her. She's doing thousands and thousands of tremendous jobs, this great Mother Earth [though] She looks so simple. She's so powerful. In the same way you are made out of this Gaṇeśha Tattwa which is so tremendous.

This Navarātri should give you that power, those nine powers of nine Chakras. Seven Chakras you already know. Above that you become the master yourself and then you become the Power yourself.

May God bless you! [While the 108 Names of Shri Mataji were recited, Shri Mataji commented on the name Shubhakari:] Benevolence, Shubha, Shubha. Shubha is also auspicious mixed with a benevolence.

Shri Mataji: Why not try to get your relationship back together again with your husband. He has the vibrations of a seeker and if he got into Sahaja Yoga your children would get into Sahaja Yoga and what more could a mother want?

Contents: 1985-10-26 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Sahaja Culture, Ashram, Bergenfield, NJ, U.S.A.

Today I was thinking of talking, telling you about the Sahaja Culture.

Now we are formed in Dharma, Vishwa Dharma. But it must have a culture.

So far in all the religions there is no combination of religion and culture. No religion has. That's why everywhere you find different cultures. Say in India, people who follow Hindu religion have different cultures in different places. They are living in Lucknow, or say in U.P., they have a Muslim culture. More Islamic style. They'll eat in one plate, do all kinds of things which normally a South Indian won't do and the South Indians have a different culture from Maharashtrians.

So even in a religion like Hindu religion where culture is important, very important, we find varieties.

So the cultures get influenced by the neighbouring cultures or surrounding cultures and that's how people get lost.

When you establish a religion like this, Vishwa Dharma, it's not like any other religion. It's the real religion within us and this reality comes to us because now we are one with the Spirit.

So when we talk of Sahaja Culture, it is the culture of the Spirit.

Now what is a culture? First of all let us see what is a culture is.

So the culture is the pattern of behaviour we have with others. Is a common pattern of behaviour we are supposed to have with others.

Like in English language, for example, we'll say “Thank you." Even if somebody murders, you may say, “Thank you." Or the person who murders you can say, “Sorry." On the phone one may say, just if they say something you can't hear, “Sorry?" Every time, “Sorry." As if `sorry' is a word so easily to be used. I mean if you are sorry, why are you sorry for that? “Sorry?" On the phone they used to first say, “I beg your pardon?", was sensible; but now I find everybody, A to Z, says, “Sorry?" I mean, it has no meaning, because what are you sorry about? Says “Sorry?" For everything they are sorry. Or we can say in English language, when we speak, “I'm afraid." You see, it's very common, “I'm afraid." What are you afraid of? The whole world is afraid of you.

So this is the culture, what we talk of, any culture as such, becomes artificial, is not spontaneous, doesn't come from reality. It has no meaning; sometimes it is pointless, absolutely pointless to stick to certain cultures.

So the culture of the Spirit doesn't change. It's universal and is higher than any other culture. Apart from that it integrates all the essences of all the cultures.

So it emanates from the spirit. Now, spirit has two sides. One side which you see, the another you don't see, like the moon. The side you see is outside with other people, other Sahaja Yogis, other people, other societies, which are not yourself, absolutely. The other side you don't see is the relationship with God Almighty, relationship with your Mother. If the other side is not all right, the behavioural side outside could become artificial, could become crooked and not Sahaj.

So it's the other way round than any other culture. To know any other culture what do we go? We see how they talk, what is their language, how they speak, how they behave: all the outside things we get. We must know “thank you" if we want to know English language, must know “thank you” “please” all that. But if you want to know the Sahaja Culture, you have to know your Mother and you have to know God Almighty. And the relationship between your Mother and the God Almighty has to be absolutely perfect. Then there's no problem. But that, the relationship, if it is not all right, you cannot have artificial Sahaj Culture. That is one thing for sure. Artificial Sahaj Culture is not all right. I would say that India has, in its basics, the culture of the spirit, India has; because for traditions and traditions in India and for ages, people have been seeking the truth. Spiritually they are endowed, because of the saints. They are blessed specially because they have been seekers, not of material things, but of the spirit. Specially in Maharashtra, we should say, because the Kuṇḍalinī is there always like a magnet. People are attracted because Śhrī Gaṇeśha being the magnet, attracted towards God and spirit.

So they form a pattern, but there is lot of artificiality in that also has grown. We must admit that there is lot, lot of artificiality, falsehood, nonsense that has grown into it, because the religion fell into the hands of, spiritual religion fell into the hands of gross, horrible so-called Brahmins who were not realised Souls.

So the whole culture has become so nonsensical sometimes that you don't know where to look.

But to have the culture, first of all, culture is developed through meditation, by facing yourself. First of all you should face yourself, how you feel about your Mother and about God Almighty. First of all, how much liberty you take of your Mother? How much granted, take for granted your Mother? She's a Mahāmāyā. Even the first `M' is difficult to understand.

So when you start taking liberties, all the time putting your pressure on Her, all the time trying to attract Her attention, Her time, or writing letters eleven pages, all that, is one side. Another side is complete indifference to your Mother.

So it is to be known through your heart. You don't have to talk to Me. I know whose heart is pulsating. Perhaps I'm the only person who knows really what you are. You may not be knowing yourself also. I may not say, but I know you in all details, out of which I may say little bit, because I am too gentle to say things.

Because again of Sahaj Culture. Because of Sahaj Culture, I cannot say everything to you on your face.

I'm correcting it, trying to correct it, correct it; if not possible, then I say to you. Then in that you have to also see how much worshipful you are.

Some people, though they spend more time with Me, remain with Me, want to be with Me, it is only when they feel surrendered, also.

So it should not be confused: if somebody is spending more time with Me, you should not condemn yourself for that. It's all right. But how far you are surrendered is the point.

Now, if you are surrendered, how do you see the surrendering in a person? You see it has one side and the another is the expression. Say a person who is surrendered doesn't talk much to Me, doesn't talk, he listens, doesn't talk. Common sense, he listens. Even people who are very good, I've seen when I'm talking, they'll put in their own words in between. People who are very good, I should say.

So the surrendering is not full. Then the time, they become very conscious of the time. Who has made the time? But the person won't come directly and tell Me, but tell somebody else, “Go and tell Mother, She has to go at this time." I know everything, who tells whom, who goes to whom, who is telling someone, who is time-bound. And then I out it. I know what time to reach, what is the auspicious time, how it will work out.

Surrendering has to be to that point, that you shouldn't worry. I would say Dhumal is one of them who is a very great surrendered fellow. When I went there I was very tired and he said. “Mother, if You want to rest You can rest." I said, “Yes, I want to rest." So he just left Me alone. I was really very tired because I had a very long journey and then this and that and then I went down all the way there. I thought, “I'll lie down and sleep off." Of course, as I know that everything has to be done at right time, I just went down. And we had a program of My reception at one place in a village and they were all waiting for Me there. And I was sleeping; he wouldn't wake Me up. He wouldn't wake Me up. He said, “Everything will be all right. Tell them when Mother will come." So there was sun on, they were all sitting under the tree, sun was scorchingly hot. They were nicely having a nice nap under the tree and all that. All the villagers arrived, everybody arrived, everything worked out.

And when I got up it was about five-thirty, then he told Me that, “Mother, I didn't tell You the program." He never tells Me. If I get something written, well and good, but, “You were sleeping, I didn't want to disturb You." “What's the program?" “It was at three o'clock." I said, “Three o'clock. Why didn't you tell Me? Why didn't you wake Me?" He said, “You were awake, I knew You were awake, Mother. It's all right." So we started off at six o'clock. Sun had gone down. By that time they arranged beautiful lights and fireworks and everything and all the rushing about was finished, they're very well settled. And the people from distant villages had also arrived and they had organized them so well and they had a proper time and are very happy that I came late because sun was not there, so scorchingly hot. By the time we reached about seven o'clock it was night and they illumined the lights and the diwali like this was put up everywhere and they got everything, they had sufficient time to do everything. Then Dhumal said, “I knew, Mother, You are awake and You were managing." If one can understand that, then you will not try to organize Me. You can just tell Me, “We have to leave at this time." But if I don't have to leave, I will not leave whatever you may do. In My own sweet way; you will never find Me obstinate, but I am. Because I know what is right is what is right and has to be done that way. But otherwise I'm very calm, I am not bothered. I never organize you, I never hurry you, I never do anything that should upset you. Spirit is never upset, never excited, never hurries and never is what you call that `go-go' business. Like now, we have to go to the airport. You'll find everybody was like an aeroplane, round, round, round, round. What has happened? “Oh, we had to go? We'd..." “We have to go, all right.

So what?" The whole thing is, all these excitements and all these things come to us because we are outside. But if you are one with your spirit you're absolutely calm, absolutely calm, “All right, we have to go, all right, we'll reach there. Doesn't matter." The other day we had to go for some shopping, I was trying to buy some sarīs for Indian ladies. We got lost. I never bothered them at all. They were going round and round and round and round. And then Danny realised and said, “I think perhaps we had to leave vibrations in all these places." I said, “Correct." And for about two hours I think, we were roaming about. Anybody else would be saying, “What's this? You can't find the place, what's the matter with you?" Calm. We reached the shop at the right time, got everything at the right time, did everything, came back at right time. Everything was first class, nothing went wrong. But anybody in My place, I tell you, that time would have been, “Oh God, this, that." Why are you saving time? For what are you saving time? So we miss the present and that's one thing spirit never misses. It's always in the present. That's the reality. Now in the West people are very futuristic, extremely futuristic and their futuristic-ness sometimes takes them to points, say for example if they have to go by train.

So instead of arriving at the right station, they'll go to the station which is further on. And then again they'll arrive at the further on. The train will never reach them.

Sort of temperament they have.

So one should not plan at all anything like that, that fixes you. But at this moment, if I have to be told that we have to go at this time, is all right, finished now. At this moment I've told, is recorded, finished. All right? So it's gone into the memory. There's nothing to worry about it now. Now, present moment, what are we doing? In a very calm way, witness it.

Witness yourself, now, witness yourself. `Where is my mind going?' Now somebody who has to cook must be thinking, “Oh, I have to get this, I have to get that." Once you start saying that “I have to do it” you'll never be able to do it that way. But you said, “All right, just now I'm in meditation." Every moment, “I am in meditation." Everything will walk up to you, even matter and you'll get the right things at the right place. You'll meet right people at the right place. The other day we were just walking, strolling around. Whom do we find there? Carolyn. She just walked out. There is she, I mean I met her. She said, “Christine is just next door." I said, “Let's go” and you should have seen the joy on her face when she came down and she saw Me. Beautiful experience for Me and her, she was so happy. Then we went together.

So when you have so much tied down with your watch, that means you are not tied down with your spirit.

So a Sahaja Yogi, if he sees watch, then he's not a Sahaja Yogi. But the other side could be that the Sahaja Yogis are never in time where they have to be. Very common in England. I reach always first, to open the door. And to clean it also sometimes. Now, to take for granted things, as you say, take for granted, that's not the way Sahaja Yoga is. You have to be alert, alert, absolutely alert. If you are alert, immediately you'll know `I have to go now at this time. I have to do it. I have to get this thing now.' If you have to miss something, you are supposed to miss it. That's what it is.

So, there's a beautiful thing written down, like they say, “Jai sei rakhahu tase hi rahun", “The way You keep me, the way I am, will be happy." So, satisfaction towards yourself, your spirit, is important. Because ego will plan out, “Oh, we'll go there, we must get for Mother, say, daisies” we decide. “Must get daisies." You don't find daisies, you're disappointed. Why not? These are all My flowers, whether they are daisies or not, they look so nice. Whatever you get, you get it. That's the thing wanted. You know that, that the Divine is working out everything for you. When you are supposed to get something else, better have it. Even by mistake, if I lay My hand upon some things, like a book or something, immediately I'll open it out and see why this book has come in My attention; why this fellow has come in My attention; why this is happening.

And immediately I find that there's some connection, something has to be done, something has to be said, something has to be worked out.

So for a person who is imbibed with the culture of spirit, the Sahaj Culture, impresses others by his calmness and relaxed attitude. Relaxation never means lethargy, by any chance. It doesn't mean lethargy.

Lethargy is against relaxation. A person who is relaxed cannot become lethargic. “Relaxed" means a person who's alert and calm. These two things for human beings is an impossibility, because if they are alert, if they are alert then they're not calm. If they're unhappy, sad, then they think they are very, very calm.

So this is one of the things one has to remember, that you have to witness yourself all the time. Not to condemn yourself, but witness. Now I said the word “witness" means `detached'. Now what happens with this, when you start condemning yourself, you miss every good point. For example, you have some experience of a sudden height being achieved. All right? At that point you should catch hold of it, hold on to it, keep doing, but don't forget that you may go back, no. And then wait for another higher moment to come, hold on to it. That's how you climb Himālayas. But not that, `Oh Ma. Now it's all right, but what will happen next?' Then you are gone down, because you have to face yourself in the way, knowing what are your powers. You are a spirit now, you are no more an ordinary human being, so you have no business to condemn yourself, or to degrade yourself, or in any way to feel unhappy. No way. Past is past.

What happened a moment before is finished. `Now I am going to rise. Now I am going to rise.' So a person who has a Sahaja Culture is not only spontaneous, but is inspired, is a inspired personality.

A person who is of that kind, an inspired visionary, then other people get impressed by such a person that, `See, there's a man who's inspired, who talks in an inspired way, in a way that is something very different from others.' Something new he says, new that is nourishing. Such a personality, like the other day, you see, we heard the lectures of so many people and when the New Zealand Prime Minister was coming C.P.

said, “Now let's go back, because we'll have a little tea or something." I said: “No, you listen to this man. He's a realised Soul." He said, “Really?" I said, “Yes, you listen to him." First everybody was, “He's sitting in New Zealand, such a little tit-wit of a country, what is he going to speak?" You see, they were moving about, making a... Within two minutes he captured everybody's attention, you see and he was bubbling with everything, so beautifully and he spoke all the points so much different and so much new and so much better. C.P. was amazed. He said, “How do You know?" I said, “I know, because when I was in New Zealand I told them he's a realised Soul." And our own Prime Minister is also a realised Soul. You'll be surprised, after our Prime Minister finished his lecture and all that, after two or three lectures he was to go; then he turned round and went to this Australian [New Zealand] Prime Minister, only him, went and congratulated him, congratulated him.

Congratulated and said something very close to him. And the fellow again, you see, flew up into joy. We see it's all there. And then he came away. Why? Because one realised Soul understands another realised Soul and everybody was amazed: why did he turn to this man alone and went and congratulated him? So such a large country like India represented by our Prime Minister, goes down all the way to a little country like New Zealand which is nothing compared to India and congratulates. And that's a developed country, this is a developing country. Is something people did not understand. And the whole joyous atmosphere both of them shaking hands created. This is Sahaja Culture, in which you recognize a realised Soul, the dignity of a realised Soul.

So when it comes to relating to others, first and foremost are Sahaja Yogis. But I've seen most of the people are more congenial with others and less congenial with Sahaja Yogis. They try to criticise Sahaja Yogis all the time and I test them. I sometimes say, “All right. I don't think this fellow is very good" and all that. But when the other person turns round and shows compassion and says, “No, Mother, I think it will work out" then I like it. I like that. Or else sometimes I say, “Oh, let them go away. There should be no more food for them, it's all right." “No, Mother, we've made food for them." So the culture of Sahaj is to give. Give and give and give and never ask for a reward. Never thinks, `What I have to get.' After all, you have got the highest that anybody could get. They said the three heights a human being can achieve in spirituality, which you all got in no time. It's called as salokya, samipya, sanidya.

Salokya is that you should be able to see God. That you got. Samipya is the closeness with God. Sanidya is the togetherness, togetherness. You have got all these three. In one incarnation you've got it. When Gods incarnated before, nobody knew that they were Gods.

So even they got it, they never knew. Very few people knew about them. But even when Christ said He was the Son of God, who, how many believed Him? They crucified Him. Because they were not realised Souls. But by giving you realisation I have given you that capacity to get all these three blessings at one shot. I speak your language, I speak your style, I live with your style and you understand Me. There is no problem. But with other Gods, imagine if I were Mahākālī today, what would have happened. You would be all upside-down there hanging, seeing Me from the other way round. I don't know what would have happened, or any one of them.

So the three blessings that a saint is promised, you've got all of them. But because you've got them, you don't understand. You take it for granted. There's no Śhraddhā. With this experience there should be tremendous faith. Faith is a thing that resides between Me and you, in between. Is we can say, the ocean of joy that is in between. Whatever I emit to you is that Śhraddhā and when you are drenched into it, the joy of that Śhraddhā makes everything so Sahaj. But for that you must open your hearts. A Sahaja Yogi who is secretive, who is insular, who is jealous, who separates himself from others is no good. Open your heart. Give away your things, doesn't matter. Matter has only one value, that it can communicate your Sahaj Culture. Little things, you see, I see something that you have got beautiful and in My Mahāmāyā acting on Myself I say, “Oh, that's very beautiful" and then they say, “Mother, You gave us this." “Ah, sorry." And then I feel very ashamed of Myself, that this is not Sahaj Culture, you see. But the joy is so much that I can't help it sometimes I say, “Oh, I, it's so beautiful, this one." “You gave us, Mother." And the whole rapport and the whole feeling; I feeling a little shy about it and all, they're so beautiful, so dramatic; so dramatic it is, so poetic. Only at that point I feel ashamed of Myself. Of course to be human being you should be ashamed of yourself sometimes. Otherwise the drama is not complete.

So the whole thing is so beautiful and so joyous. But that gentleness towards others and yourself should be there.

Now if you become unhappy and serious, you are very unkind to yourself and to others. Anybody who is a serious person, sits with a serious face, know that he is not a Sahaja Yogi at all. They should be bubbling with laughter, joy all the time. I cannot be serious for more than, I think, five seconds perhaps.

I don't know. I try, because lectures should be serious to go into the hearts of the people. But there's not and you can see that even when I'm getting angry, My eyes betray Me and there's a twinkle of laughter in the eyes. That's how a person should be and don't worry what others have to say. You see, the culture where people are just glum like this, is the same as the people where they are frivolous. Now as we can say American culture is to be frivolous, stupid, you see, I won't be surprised supposing your Prime Minister tomorrow starts wearing a sarī, just to amuse you. Anything is possible with them, just to amuse you, you see, too, for cheap popularity. Anything frivolous, stupid, they will do. But supposing, you see, it is say an English old conservative personality, then a lady might wear a very official dress with the lines and this and that and like a man she might become very soon, like that, develop a very serious face. But both things are nonsensical, has no meaning. You have to be natural and natural everything is always bubbling with joy. And a message. And a message. These flowers are the message of My coming, writ large on them.

So a person who is a Sahaj Culture man should emit that message to others, people should see, `Oh, this is the man. He is the Sahaja fellow.' You can see that clearly. There's no seriousness, there's no unhappiness, nothing. Supposing I have said something that might be upsetting you, forget it. If you cannot forget that, then you have not listened to Me. But “forget" doesn't mean that you do not act upon it. “Acting upon it" means that you face yourself and see for yourself how you have ascended and how far you have to go, not how you'll fall down.

So it is all the time acting on both sides, as I'm telling you in My lecture, that on one side you'll see to yourself as relationship with Me and relationship with others.

For a Sahaja Yogi it should not matter whether you are in a palace or on the street.

The first encounter with the first Sahaja Yogis, we have only one surviving, now here sitting down, they couldn't bear, for them it was difficult to be in the beautiful atmosphere of India. The reason is, they were analyzing: they have no good bathrooms, no showers. But you have the whole sky. You have all the mountains. You have all the trees. You have got all the waters flowing. But you want to have a little shower, in which you can't even move. Just an idea, just an idea of comfort. You have no comforts, if you ask Me, compared to what we have in India. No comforts at all. I mean, ask any Indian girl to come and stay, she will cry. Even I think here the President, the President has to wash his utensils perhaps, maybe.

What a comfort. There's no division of labor. Now in our country we have servants, but “servants" doesn't mean that we cheat them anything else. They eat the same food as we eat. They live the same way we live. But they do different type of work, because they don't have the same mental capacity to be the President. The President does some other work. You have no comfort of any kind, you take it from Me.

Food matter, you get everything processed food. Imagine, any time you might be developing cancer due to processed food. What is your speciality then? Try to understand. What is the kind of food: it's not fresh, God knows how it is processed, how it is preserved, from where it is coming. Suddenly in London they said that, “Don't eat this kind of food” you see, “because it has got something contaminated." So everybody rushes, you see, to the store room, because we have to store up all these things. You can't get at the right... “Oh it's there"; then you start throwing them out. It's a mad racing because people think that, `God knows what we are eating today, is it correct or not?' So food-wise you are zero. Best thing is to live in the villages or in the forests, to get the fresh fruits, wash them in clean flowing water of a river, eat it nicely and sit down enjoying the sun.

The comfort of the spirit is the thing we have lost and those who seek the comfort of the spirit are Sahaja Yogis, not otherwise. Comfort of the spirit comes in giving. Say I've borrowed some money from you, I won't be comfortable till I've paid you back. Going further with it, supposing you are caught up into something, you have got some problems. I'll somehow or other manage that you'll come close to Me somewhere and work it out on you, clear you out, finished. Till then I won't be comfortable; though I'll suffer, I'll have pains, I'll have this, that. As soon as I came here, left Nābhī was like this going on.

Corrected it. I took it upon Myself, I sucked it into Me.

So they are adventurous. “Oh I will not touch, I am catching, he's catching." Finished. But now the compassion can only work out if you have that kind of a spirit, otherwise you cannot. It becomes sympathy.

For example there's one person, Mister A. or Miss A. or Mrs. A., whatever it is. I mean, I'm just talking of a common personality and that person is catching. I would say in an ashram, that person should clear out. But all the ashramites will catch from that person and that person will never be all right. There's a very nice joke about it. There was a lady, she wanted to reduce herself.

So there was a machine like a rolling pin. They said, “If you rub it, then you will reduce." So she brought, poor thing, she brought the machine and she started rolling it. She found that the rolling pin became fat, instead of she reducing. Same thing is in Sahaja Yoga. Instead of Sahaja Yogis correcting the others, they get contaminated. That's why I said, “Don't have anybody in the ashram." Because you sympathize. You do not try to correct that person, in a way that you can correct within yourselves, suck it within yourself as your Mother does and do it. I do it for thousands and thousands and thousands; you have to do it for one or two, so you are never bothered. And that's how you become strong. Not by shunning them, running away from them or condemning yourself, or saying that: “We must save ourselves on the boat." No. Through adventure. “Let's see what happens." Tamara was telling Me, “Nothing catches me, Mother, what is it?" I said: “But who will catch you? Those who will catch will be hurt themselves." So what is it, that Bhairava is to be established. “Sidha kala mane Bhairav", as you have to establish Śhrī Gaṇeśha, you have to establish also Bhairava and Hanumāna on the right side. If these three deities you establish within yourself, nothing, nothing on this earth can catch you. You'll catch it for a while. But what I find now, I came to this ashram, everybody's left Nābhī caught up. Everybody's left Āgñyā caught up.

So then I get the pain. Everyone. I mean, I have put you inside My body, do you know that? You are part and parcel of My body, you are the cells in My body. And when you catch, I also catch; not catch, but I really get the pain, but I clear it. In the same way, I have given you powers. Every power I have, I have given you. But you have to develop it and you have to be adventurous. But on the contrary, once we have ashrams, everybody settles down, “Oh, now, very comfortable, very cheap." Very economical, that's the first comfort. It's surprising, for a Western person, it is very important that it should be economical, surprising, affluent people think more of saving money than the people who are poor. And English are the last word, save pounds, at the cost of others. On the contrary if you go to India, where they'll be very happy, they'll invite you in their house. Whatever they have they will give it to you, “Eat, eat, eat." They'll force you. They'll be very happy to give. But in England it's very dangerous, you see.

Sometimes in the ashram they may not even have food for Me. Really. And if you tell them, “I know. I know." You know. Finished. Then what do you say? They already know it, now what to do? They know.

So with the affluence miserliness grows and money-orientation. In India also I've seen people who get little more money than the rest become very money-oriented. Money becomes everything, money becomes the power, money becomes their life. Sahaja Yogi doesn't care for money. Just is the dust of our Mother's feet. What is money, what is wealth? And when they do like that, then their money problems are solved.

If you have a money problem, know that there's a problem. If you are very particular about money. I am, in a way, because if I have to give somebody, I remember it. But I've seen people who are very anxious to tell Me that, “You have to pay this man so much, that man so much." That's wrong. That's not your lookout. That's very, very wrong to tell Me that, “You have to pay this man or that man." It's not important. Even if I don't pay, I pay him.

So in relationship with Me, you are not to tell Me that, “You have to pay so much money to him, this much money should be paid, this is what he flowes You." Nothing of the kind. Let the person come and tell Me. Why are you telling? That kind of a message if you give Me, you are lost. Or if you come and tell Me for somebody else that, “Mother, time is up, we have to go.

Somebody is hurrying You up." If somebody is hurrying Me, tell him, “Don't hurry Mother." You must know that your Kuṇḍalinīs were not raised with just your own Kuṇḍalinī, but something that is working it out.

Something very tremendous, a big organization. You can't see it, it is microscopic. You must know, nobody got realisation like that, did they? Thousands getting realisation, what's happening? There must be something about... Now how can you tell anything to such an organization? They don't like it. They know it. Actually they are the ones who know, not the English. They know what is to be done.

So your relationship with Me acts as your culture.

So it is a Mother's cult, you can call it, the Mother's culture. How we are connected with our Mother. I have seen people, if somebody is rude to them, they get very angry. But if somebody is rude to Me they don't feel angry. It should be the other way round.

Now I'll give you an example. This Merv Griffn was funny and both our PROs were very angry. It was natural and very... I mean, I liked it, but I calmed them down. And Worlikar of course was on top of this thing. But the other fellow would not. He was giving arguments. I was just watching. I mean, if somebody had said this to his mother... There's another one there, he never came to receive Me at the airport.

So Worlikar said, “If your own mother had come, you would not have gone?" Then one can give explanation, “Oh, but our Mother is Ādi Shakti. My mother is not, she's helpless." It's not. To show your respect, to show your love, you have to go; for your own gain, not for Her gain. For your own gain. This relationship is for your own gain. Supposing if you strike oil, is it for your gain or for the gain of the oil? If you get to the Source, is it for the Source to gain anything, or it is for you to gain anything? Logic, simple logic.

So in that culture, you see, you really thrive and you become extremely a happy person, a joyous person.

And the expression of such a person is so different, because such a person, as I told you, rises above and sees the problems of others, the decadence of the society, sees all the problems of the world. Not only that, but knows the solutions. We are not like these ordinary people who have racialism, this... other diseases, I don't know what sort of diseases they have, I also forget. Racialism now, it's another stupid nonsense, you know. What is racialism? God has made somebody's colour like this and somebody's colour like that and those same racists are trying to tan their faces.

So in this culture of ours we are not bothered about superficial things. What we are bothered about is our inner cleanliness, inner beauty, but that doesn't mean that you should move about like primitive people, no. But if there is inner beauty, then outer beauty comes. You will never find Me dirtily dressed.

You will never find Me without a sarī on, even when I sleep I wear a sarī, because in the night also I have to work, so how can I go in My dressing gown to the other world? So a person who is a Sahaja Yogi has to be an extremely neat and a clean person, but not to tell others, but should be himself or herself. That's one of the things are very important, because others will see you, like loonies, who's going to believe you? So the one effect is from the Mother, you take from the Source, for what? To be that illuminated quality, in you, so that others see you as something great and adore you, worship you.

This is this far we have come, now, how your personality should be. But now, when you are dealing with others, know that they are human beings made by God, not by Sahaja Yogis by any chance. And they will be tomorrow's Sahaja Yogis, may be higher Sahaja Yogis than you.

So when we are dealing with others also, talk to them in a gentle way. Be kind to them. Of course we are against Gurus, against cults, against all these people. But as soon as they come, if you say: `Oh, you are a bhoot,' the person will do right-about-turn and go away.

So you are not given this power to be abrupt or to be arrogant with others, not given. Now all such people are coming down, calming down because they see that what helps is your gentle, kindly, firm attitude. Only after Sahaja Yoga you can combine all these qualities. You'll be firm, you'll be alert, you'll be gentle and compassionate, smiling, but not making fun of others.

So then you become a personality who is alert: to see what is the reaction they're having on others, this is very important to be seen.

So now you start witnessing others. What is your reaction on others? I have seen many a times, a new Sahaja Yogi comes in. The person is trying to say something and the girl starts giggling or laughing. One should not, at that time, because the person might think that, `They're making fool of me, or they're thinking that I'm a stupid person, or something wrong with me.' That person will become self-conscious, I won't be able to give realisation to that person. But if somebody is sitting before Me and I'm trying to help that person, know that it's a very important moment of this gentleman's life.

We have got it, so what? When we are pulling out somebody, when we are helping out somebody, do we laugh? That's the time you have to be very concerned and very much serious, to do the job. Every quality and mood has its own place, like nose is at its own place, eyes at its own place. In the same way, all these moods that we have, have their own places. And that is what is lost in modern society.

So when I am trying to help somebody, you should be all concern about that person. How does this come in to us from the Source? How much you are concerned about Me? Supposing I am thirsty, you will feel thirsty. You'll immediately say, “Mother, I'll get You some water." But you may not even ask Me, just bring it here, keep it there. Or just make some tea for Me or look after Me. Do this or do that. In little, little things you should watch. The concern is not in saying something, asking something. You don't ask. Don't ask Mother, you just do it.

That's how, when you start doing it, you will understand what you are doing to others.

So the reaction on others, how they react about you also is very important and you have to be alert. Suddenly you say something and everybody disappears. You must know they are not yet Sahaja Yogis, they are to be brought in, so you have to very carefully bring them around. Then with Sahaja Yogis, among yourselves how you behave is extremely important for others to see. We must cherish each other's company, we must cherish. To meet some Sahaja Yogi somewhere, “Ah, what a joy it is to see someone, to talk to someone on the phone." But because we are so insular, so selfish, so greedy and sometimes very circumcised [circumscribed] I should say, or absolutely engulfed into our past, we cannot do that, we do not feel that joy, we cannot adore another Sahaja Yogi, we do not enjoy another Sahaja Yogi, we cannot cherish his company. That means this finger cannot feel this finger. It's like a developing, what you call, a disease called leprosy. Nerves are finished. Nerve endings are not there. You cannot feel the joy of other Sahaja Yogis. And this is only possible if you get over your personal interests. When people come in Sahaja Yoga in the beginning, they have personal interests, like say somebody is trying to sell something, so they would like to sell it to Sahaja Yogis. Or they are arranging something, they would like Sahaja Yogis to do it. See, personal interest, to use Sahaja Yogis for their own purposes. As a result of that I've seen some people become so insular that nobody helps them, no work is done by them; if there's a telephone, nobody will say, `I'll get it.' That's American quality, they'll say, `I'll get it.' Is regarded good. Not in England, they'll be all sitting, quiet. Even when they have eaten the food, they have to pay the money, they'll look this side and some poor Indian student will pay for all of them. “I won't look” they say. “Now paid." Now they are normal. It's very low-level. Is extremely low-level behaviour.

And this is what one has to learn, that you have to cherish others, give presents to others. “You're going there; Oh, now..."; like the other day I met a lady, she had liked one of My rings of emerald. That's My family ring so I can't give away, you see, I'll have to ask C.P. and he may not like it, because after all I have no right on it, I have to give it to My children, all right? But I found an emerald somewhere, beautiful, so I kept it with Me. The other day when I gave her, she was so enamoured. I said, “You liked My ring, I couldn't give you My ring, so..." She said to Me, “You mean to say, I would have taken Your ring?" I said, “I would have forced it on you, but I couldn't give you, so I thought of it. I just saw it somewhere so I got it for you." She said, “How thoughtful." But it's all in My head. I, whenever I get it, a chance, you see, so somebody says, “Oh, I like it” keep it in mind. Next time, even a flower. You must cherish their companies, because it's such a great thing to have somebody who understands you, your spirit and they have the spirit. Such a great thing. How can you be unkind to each other? That hurts Me the most of all. And the first thing and the foremost thing you have to give Me is congenial, beautiful, loving group, that they love each other. If that's achieved, that you really love, beyond your personal considerations. I mean, of course, in Sahaja Yoga there are now not many people who try to make money, but try to make comfort for themselves. They must have the best room, they must have the best place, they must have... “I didn't get this, I should have it, this, that." Try to do more than others. I know sometimes people take advantage of you, but they will go out of Sahaja Yoga very soon.

So be sure that you become generous about it, very generous. And generosity should start from your own Sahaja Yogi brothers and sisters.

In the culture of Sahaja Yoga we have to have a full imbibement bubbling through our nerves, the sense of chastity. That is a must, whether you like it or not. There should be no bad intentions about any other person, of relationships which are not pure. Absolutely pure relationships, pure eyes without any adultery, adulteration I would call it. Clean eyes is the basic of Sahaja Yoga. Steadfast clean eyes, because your eyes are very powerful. You don't know how powerful they are.

So to make it that way, to practice, move your attention inward and towards the Sahasrāra. You can. With your eyes you suck in. Even by looking at Me with the Śhraddhā, with the joy, you just suck it inside, My image. Put it on your Sahasrāra, put it in your heart, you can do it. It's very joy giving. When you put it in the Sahasrāra, then you get the knowledge. When you put it in your heart, you get the joy; and when you put it on your liver, then you get the power of action. From the photograph also you can do it, suck in, move it. But that is shown in the way you behave towards others, completely confident, gentle; no arrogance. Neither the neck up like that or like that, but in the center in a very dignified manner.

So in the culture of Sahaj, because the spirit is the dignity, is the majesty, is the glory of God, you have to judge yourself. `Did I say something which is not respecting my spirit? Did I do something that is not glorious?' Like I've seen people, when I'm there, they'll go on asking Me hundred questions. “Should it be white towel? Green towel? Should I do this, should I do that?" Why? Because we don't live with choices.

We live with whatever we get it and there is dignity in that. If you start doing choices, it's stupid. In a group of Sahaja Yogis, the food, “What will you have?" They'll take forty-five minutes to decide, if you go in a restaurant, because the first, the consciousness, “We are paying for it” and somebody will have this, somebody will have that. The poor waiter will run away. But why should we have different? It's just the same. Whatever Mother is having we'll have, finished. But if not that, at least whatever everybody is having, “Why have separately?" Choices are not there in Sahaja Yoga, remember this word very clearly.

Choices of this, choices of that, I don't like it, I like that. This is not good, that is not good. Because we need everything on the level of vibrations, then the choice is coming. Like, if the vibrations are not good we'll not say it, but we'll not have it. But not question of whether green or red or yellow or white. And that is what they are making fool out of you. They will put one name, Cartier, finished. People will pay any amount for that Cartier. Is any ordinary stuff, it is nothing special. But you see that ego, “I've got the Cartier. I paid more to show that I've paid more, that I've been a fool." To pay more for something that's so cheapish; that's what they're playing upon, remember that.

So you have to understand that when you are a Sahaj personality, you have your own dignity. These things do not give dignity to you. You give them dignity. But that doesn't mean tomorrow you come like a clown, or like a limbo on your nose. Of course I must see the other point always, because it just slips out that side. When you become dignified, you will wear always something that is dignified. You will do all that is dignified. Is automatically you become dignified. It's nothing artificial.

So dignity that comes, as you see your Mother. Whatever you give Me in Pūjā I take it, all right, but otherwise you cannot give Me anything else. If you give Me, I'll return it, somehow.

Somehow I'll return it. A person who is money-oriented cannot have dignity, because you see him like a beggar.

See, if there's money-orientation is too much, he comes down to that level, you can see it, there cannot be dignity there. A man who is power-oriented is an idiot. He looks like an idiot.

So we cannot become idiots. All right.

So we cannot be power-oriented. The one who is sort of a romantic or a love-oriented, is a stupid fellow. He behaves like a stupid fellow. On the street they go on kissing each other all the time. “Where are you going?" “To the divorce case, but last bit we are thinking of having some kisses." Self-respect is the thing. Self is your spirit. The respect of the spirit should give you that dignity. But in privacy you are gentle with your husband, you are gentle with your wife. You must learn how to be gentle with her in privacy, not in public.

That's horrible. Specially in India. I am told that people go round with that romanticism and all that.

So please, don't do all those romantic stuff in India, it's very embarrassing for Me, very embarrassing.

So we cannot do things which embarrasses our Mother. Once you start knowing that, `This will embarrass Mother, we can't do this,' automatically you are helping.

So when it is related with Me, immediately, `What will Mother think of in me? Is this the way to behave towards Mother?' Immediately you will get the reward, as that thing working through you, as if you become that nature. Sahaja Culture is a Sahaja nature. Automatically you will do it. You'll talk in that manner, you will speak in that manner, you'll live in that manner. I mean, I have seen people who have never known Me, on a trunk call or a telephone, they recognize. They know I am something special; if they are sensitive enough. From My photograph, the way I sit, the way I talk, immediately everyone asks. The other day where I went for the meeting with My husband, everybody was asking, “Who is this lady?" “Who is this lady?" “Who is this lady?" There's something in the personality. I talk to everyone nicely, I'm very sweet. We cannot be slavish and we cannot enslave anyone. We have to cherish, even human beings we have to cherish, because they are us. Not to despise anyone, not to laugh at anyone. In the culture of Sahaj, you have to become an expert: expertise. Expertise comes through your adherence to your Mother. Expertise: you all should be an expert and who will give you the certificate is your Mother only, who else? I may not say so, but your spirit will say that and not your ego.

In this short time whatever was possible, it's such a big subject, culture is; you cannot. But I've talked to you, I would not say in a very analytical way, but in a very synthetic manner.

So I've given you very synthesis of the whole thing. “Analytical" would be one, two, three, four, five, cut short, two, three, four, five, like that. It's not like that. And that is how you have to speak to people. One, this is so; two, this is so; three, this is so; finished. You are not Sahaja Yogis. In your speeches if you talk like that, finished. But before saying something or doing something, give a little idea where you are leading the people, so they are not frittered away, attention is not frittered away. Give a little idea, as I say, or else while talking, bring them to a point which is important, so that they wait in the sentence to come to that point. But make the whole sentence look so, that it is going towards certain points, so always a Sahaja Yogi must make a point out of what they talk, not just babbling, talking. What is the point you are going to make? Whatever they do, they have to know, “What are we going to achieve out of it?" Now, marriage.

“What are we going to achieve out of marriage?" A family, house, everybody has, even a donkey has that.

What's so great? We are going to achieve a family unit where realised Souls are to be born, we're going to look after them in a proper way and then we are going to emit that unit into this world, like a sparkling diamond set in the beautiful setting of a family, giving light to the whole world.

So one's life should not be pointless and talk should not be pointless and every moment should be filled with achievements of your visions and dreams, slowly and steadily, which is not at all difficult. If you can get rid of ego and superego, finished, that's all, simple as that.

May God bless you all.

Mm... good... Nice, relaxed eh? Relaxed, with blessings. Everyone cleared out, I think.

And no more one more thing, I must say it last, I've said it before but I have not said it here, no one is going to say that `bhoot did it' because such a person will be sent away to the bhoot [UNCLEAR clan/clap] not to Sahaja Yoga, don't put your responsibility on the bhoots, either you are a bhoot or you are a Sahaja Yogi. One of the two. You can't be both.

Contents: 1985-10-27 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Ego and its Consequences, New Jersey, U.S.A.

About Sahaja Culture, alright. Sahaja Culture I explained to you what is a Sahaja Culture is, in which you have grow... last night...

[Aside:] Where's Judy, she's there, come in, come in, let them sit, now.

... then last night I talked to you about ego. That how ego manifests itself and how it is difficult to get out of the ego. It's easy to get out of the conditionings super egos, but very difficult to get out of ego because ego aggresses others, doesn't trouble you at all and you enjoy that aggression, see.

Now, today I want to tell you about how ego has been historically, traditionally torturing people around.

So you'll see the manifestation of this ego and then you will know that if you are playing anything any role with your ego, you could be part and parcel of that destructive force.

So to begin with we'll see now, when this ego started growing in man. First of all see, it started growing with the protection, so the pituitary, which is within us started growing when we raised our head, like this. When we were animals, our head were like this, at that time the pineal body as it is called, was very powerful. They say in human beings the pineal doesn't work out, it is not true, it does, but they don't know how it works.

So this pineal body within us was very active when we were animal state.

But when we raised our head, you see a chemical change took place within ourselves in the sense that our brain started growing in a pyramid, which I've told you how with the parallelogram of forces and all that it has started growing into a pyramid and when it became like that, you see because first it was only the pineal body looking after the super ego, up to the animal kingdom, up to the kingdom were the animals sort of became more sort of humanized, then the ego started growing.

It's the only animals [human beings] who can use the matter. Human beings can use the matter, not the animals. Animals cannot use the matter for their own purpose. When they started aggressing the matter, the ego started developing and we developed this what you call `the pyramid of our brain', we starting growing, more and more and more and more like this. But when it reached it's height, then we started using our ego more we didn't stop at that point. We started moving on the other side so this went down and covered it covered it, completely like that. That's why we say the pineal body in the human beings doesn't work, it functions, no doubt, it functions. As a result of that, you see when we saw this ego was growing, as a result of that people felt extremely overconfident. What's wrong? business started long time back, since the time of Columbus, as I've said if Columbus had come to India, he would not have seen Me here, he would have finished all the Indians there, not him, he was a very nice man, but those who followed him.

In the same way, this ego started destroying people and they had an idea of a triumph and killing people, occupying lands, occupying territories, accumulating wealth. Went on and on and on and on, on this level. Then from there they started. When the marriage system started in a proper way, again the aggression started on the women and now the women are aggressing men, like that, it's all became so aggressive. But when you are aggress you don't see that you are aggressing, this is the problem of the egoistical person. Though he may be a seeker, though he may be a very genuine seeker, but if he is in the area of ego, he never feels his own catches, because the ego is in between, the reality means that.

So he cannot see his own catches, he cannot see how he is aggressing others and he doesn't see how he's hurting others, troubling others, torturing others and such a person can be extremely arrogant, extremely what you call the `strangulating'.

This is what happens when you get cancer also, when you get the cancer, what happens, it starts with the left side no doubt. But when it comes into the person, then he becomes a person who is vulnerable to a disease or a disease where the person is aggressive. The cells of the body first develop the aggression; we call it `malignant'. When this cell comes in contact with others that also becomes malignant.

So that's how the malignancy spreads and when it spreads what happens? That supposing in the nose there are some cells which become malignant; so they start obstructing other organs to grow, the only nose will grow like that not outside but inside.

So they aggress, you see, the aggression starts and they lose complete control with the whole, because there is no coordination with the whole, they don't see that the whole has to grow together and not only the nose and not only the eyes, isn't it? and this breaking from the collectivity is the first sign when you find a Sahaja Yogi behaves in a funny way, that if he is breaking from the collectivity, then he is nothing but a egoist, no doubt about it; by any argument, by anything.

But a person who is a super ego fellow will stick onto the collectivity; will try to be very close to the ashram, he'll be very much close to us very much here, around it, even if we say “we don't want to” it will be there, why? Because it realises that it is aggressed and also it realises that it can be sly.

So when a left-sided person enters into an ashram, that person will be very nice, quiet, sweet, everything. But the entities, the bhoots in him, will aggress the people slyly, they'll torture but those people can be cured very easily, because they are troubled and tortured themselves, but those who are egotistical will be very difficult for them to get out it. That's why I've been talking about ego yesterday and today.

They can see all aggression, they manifest, what's wrong? Say now, I was talking about the chemicals.

Now, how did you discover these chemicals? It is through your ego, through your science. Now, if the science is not related to God or to the whole, then you go like that and then you can produce hydrogen bombs, you can produce these horrible chemicals, like it's what you call `the fool-hardiness'. You enter into every area, every place and achieve the power over that, but then you don't know what that is capable of. Supposing now you make computers, supposes, tomorrow these computers will eat you off.

I must tell you now there's a new disease I have discovered in people that their conscious mind overpowers them. There was a fellow who was like this, very egoistical, he didn't believe in God also. He's an Indian and he met with an accident. His wife is a doctor, she's a friend of Mine, she brought him to Me. In My presence, he got up and walked off nicely, everything. But on his own, whenever he wanted consciously to do it, he couldn't even raise his leg. Can you imagine? So with these egoistical people now a new disease is coming that consciously they cannot do anything. They cannot do anything, in this will come, I'm promising you now, or I'm warning you now. As I warned the people who were going left-sided that you will have a horrible disease and this is the new disease for all the egoists that consciously they won't be able to move, they'll be mute, sitting there only, their ego will take over. It's a very dangerous era when you are born, you must know.

This is the time we are precariously placed either you get to God or you go to Hell, there is nothing is between.

So a new disease will come very soon, there is no insanity in it, nothing, you will be quite alert, but you can't move your hands, your whole nervous system refuses to work. That's going to come, very soon it will manifest. You have seen that egotistical people have been going on like Hitler and all that and they have destroyed the world and they have done so much harm to our value system. In subtle way we say that all this manifestation of twenty-five years of all this horrible hell they have created for us is because of the wars, because of the wars. But these wars and things even if you avoid by some chance you avoid it, still if ego is there it will manifest itself. If you avoid it outside it will manifest inside and then you will find that you can't just move. You can't blink, you can't sleep, you can't move your hands, even now people can't sleep, many. And I don't want Sahaja Yogis to suffer from that horrible disease and Western people are more liable to that kind of a thing. The Sahaja Yogis who are trying to get out of the collectivity, who are asserting their ego under the name of bhoots or whatever it is, should understand that it is 99% it is ego within us and that ego has to be faced.

“Oh, I have a ego, I feel guilty” then alright you put it back here, [UNCLEAR on your ear], that's not the way. That's not the way you'll do it. Today you are very active, working very hard, doing this, tomorrow fine you'll be just immobilized. You can't move and persons don't care in this country as it is even for people who are alright, but you'll become like old people who cannot move. Who see everything, know everything, who are conscious, at a very young age this will happen, the slightest accident, the slightest disturbance, will just trigger off to that area where you will be absolutely like a mute person sitting. You can't move your finger, you can't hold anything. You will not be in a coma, coma happens to people who take pills and things to go to the left, like drugs and things which take you to the left. But those who are right-sided you will not be in coma, that's one thing, is a curse, you'll see everything, you'll be alert you know everything but can't even turn your head. Take it from Me. That's coming, very soon.

You may be talking, you may not be talking, it can go to that level, slowly, slowly, you'll find your body will be immobilized. People don't understand what dangers ego can have. It is not now the aggression outside so much, because it goes into left Viśhuddhi and this left Viśhuddhi will creates this horrible disease. Now, how do we control our ego is very important to understand. First of all you must write your names and beat yourselves with shoes for 108 times to begin with.

Secondly discipline yourself, by disciplining, get up in the morning, do your meditation, with right hand towards the photograph, left hand this way. Not to use light at all, not to use sun don't go to the sun at all. Sun is to be avoided, keep to the moon, read the books which describes the Mahākālīs of the left side Shaktis, don't read the books like Abbaduta book. You should never read it because you think you are an Abbaduta I see, he said “I'm omnipresent, I'm this thing” the person start feeing “I am this." I was reading the book of Abbaduta, I said this book, this show what's gone wrong with our incarnations.

What's gone wrong with our incarnations is they never knew human beings at all, at what level they are.

You come and tell them `I'm formless and form, I'm this and that,' so what? If you are that, alright, I'm Compassion, I'm Love, I'm Peace, I'm that...

So what? How do you fill in these cups, you have to come down to a human level, that's what they did not try and that's why it's all a waste, I think on the contrary. Everybody think I'm God, I'm Brahmā, Shivo Ham finished and then they quarrel among themselves, that growth, that maturity has not come. It is very shallow, the whole thing become very shallow, you become a shallow person and you live with it, so the first thing practical thing I'm telling you: beat yourself with shoes and `I'm not this,' like that you have to start first of all, telling yourself, if you are a seeker, a truthful seeker, an honest seeker, then I advise you this way, that you watch yourself in the mirror and tell yourself, `Now you Mr. Ego XYZ, will you get out from here, I know what I am, you get out,' you have to get after all this I mean, laugh at yourselves, smile at yourself, make fun of yourself.

That's the best and never feel hurt, if anybody says “you are egoistical” and then you'll say “I know, I know” if you know you are egotistical, then how do you go further? Now ego manifest[s] in so many ways. Through your eyes, through your ears, through your mouth, through your nose, every way, because you go against God, that is you go against collectivity, because you go against Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, against your Viśhuddhi Chakra. That's first thing it manifest, nowadays nobody beats people like this, you see, we have become subtler in our ego manifestation; we use this part, not hands. It can be that you show temper through your eyes or it can be you flirt with your eyes. You become adulterous. That is why Christ has said “don't become adulterous." So now it is nice that the AIDS can work out through the tears. It's good. Used to kiss people, alright, now kiss. Nobody will kiss now. You used all your Viśhuddhi Chakra so far to express all filth. Now the filth is pouring out.

So, in the second stage when we understand that it is through the Viśhuddhi that is this America we express ourselves, our ego, so what should we do? First of all, stop talking, here the way the people talk, I mean you see, you have just start opening your mouth like this and like that, you go on and the other is talking, just you tell them something, they just come on with all the knowledge they have known everything, A to Z and you don't know where you are.

How do you stop talking? I've told you a practical thing, I'll get you beetle nuts, which I'll vibrate, put it in mouth and you take it out when you have to talk otherwise keep it there, that's Śhrī Gaṇeśha, don't take it out. Stop talking. If you stop talking, your hypocrisy will go away. It's through our face we are hypocritical, everything works out through Viśhuddhi. Now see, a person who is extremely aggressive you see can also act to be very, very sweet you see, if they have to exploit you or make money out of you.

They can act, acting; the whole acting comes through this Viśhuddhi. Then you act, “You are a very gentle person, you are very good” but you are not, you are aggressive.

So for that you have to know that talking less will reduce 50% of your hypocrisy and acting, 50%. Now 50% still left, now what to do with the 50%? 50% is a thing where we have to know what other Chakras are responsible for ego manifestation. Is one is the Haṁsa, is very important Haṁsa is. We use when we want to show our temper, indifference.

Then a person thinks `Oh God, what have I done to this person?' That's how we show our temper, all the time like this. That's Haṁsa and that's why we have to use what we call the simple thing called ghee or something oilish for ears, for nose, for eyes the kajal and for this portion also. We have to put some ghee in hot water or milk and take it so that you sooth down your nerves and you smooth down your Viśhuddhi and also you sooth down the what you call in a general way is the peritoneum but is the lining. Lining as we sooth down our fingers and hands when they are dried, we have to sooth them. Rub ghee here, ghee here, oil here, oil there, in the head. Now, the modern style is not to put oil in the head, you'll become balds. Balded gentleman, of course you can still act like Yull Brinner, but he died of cancer. His sister is our disciple and you will develop funny hair styles everything and of this modern fashion has started don't put any oil, I don't know from it has come. The children also they say “don't put any oil in the ears” this is doctors, they want to create patients, don't listen to them. Before going travelling or anywhere, put oil in your ears, into your noses not the oil but ghee and control your peritoneum through your Haṁsa Chakra, is very important. This is the Chakra which really helps you very much to soothe down. Now in Sanskrit and also in many colloquial languages, ghee is called as `mir' and sneha is love. Neha also is love.

So you have to oil it down, so the frictions are less. We know in nature, when we have the reduce friction, we put oil.

Like we have to say launch a ship, I've launched I know what it is, they had to put grease on the thing and it just touched the ship and the ship moves, so smoothly onto the sea. Beautifully it moves. In India they put bananas, because bananas is a very easily available, so they put bananas you see under. Here they use grease, in England for example they use grease. In the same way, we have to grease ourselves.

Our language, our tone, our speaking must be greased, greased with love and love is such a powerful thing that can attract any one let it be even Hitler. When you talk to someone or say something, it should have that coating of chocolate of Love, then you can give even give castor oil, I do that.

So, all these things are to be understood [Vedas] says that we should not become stupid as the other people are. We are yogis and we have to have a ideal life which manifest itself in all kinds of dynamism and we do not waste this great blessing that we have got.

Now with this another Chakra which is always caught is the Āgñyā, Āgñyā Chakra. In the Āgñyā Chakra we have to become thoughtlessly aware but we can't. Now if you watch your thoughts you will know mostly we think of the people who have harmed, who have troubled us, sometimes we have the glimpse of the good things also. We think of the good people also, sometimes, normally we are thinking about the people who have harmed us, hurt us, this thing, that. Now, Christ who is Śhrī Gaṇeśha and who has all the powers to kill us and to finish us off and destroy us completely has given us the greatest weapon, is to forgive.

So the mantra here is `forgive' and you have to see that you forgive others. Anybody says anything, forgive. When you forgive, God takes over. And He knows how to handle or mishandle, to do whatever He likes to that person. That's not your job, you just forgive, so you give him a ticket, go to God, I forgive you and you have to forgive and that is the thing you can enjoy your Āgñyā Chakra very well and raise your Kuṇḍalinī beyond by saying `forgive, forgive, forgive,' three times and you have to say the mantra of Nirvichara, no thoughts. Āgñyā is the one that brings thoughts to you, that's why Christ was so particular on the eyes, that “thou shall not have adulterous eyes” try to concentrate your eyes on the mother Earth for some time, she'll suck in, so that your attention doesn't become that wobbly, becomes concentrated and equalised and balanced. When that is done your eyes become so powerful even if you look at somebody, you can cure that person and the innocence will start coming in your eyes, you will not have lust and greed.

It is a very dangerous thing people are playing here, I mean, I didn't know all these things people do but I saw it in the West, I mean, everybody is looking at every girl, what is the joyless pursuit? Why, turn your eyes to anything that you don't enjoy at all. At every girl a man is looking, a girl is looking at every man, what's this nonsense? Why waste your energy. I always look at about three feet height, you see all the flowers there, you see all the children. One day somebody asked Me, “Don't you feel like looking at handsome men?" I said “I'm not a fool, I look at the most handsome things, at three feet level." He said, “You must be a fool to look at this." I'm not, that is what it is.

So that will give you tremendous amount of energy, because you preserve all your energy through your eyes. Eyes are the windows of that Power.

If you try to preserve it, it's alright, otherwise like now they say “save water, because you've wasted your water, so now save water." But when your eyes are innocent in this shower of bliss, you enjoy that bliss, you don't have to look at anyone, you don't have to say anything, you just enjoy, just feel the joy pouring into you completely.

Because the ego has vanished, you see it is an aggression to look at everyone like that, it's an aggression.

I've known people who mesmerize women, who mesmerize men, I've known women like that, I've seen in the parties, I've seen the bhoots coming out of these women and they look at the man and he gets transfixed, completely, falls in love with that woman, till he becomes like a beggar, she just lynches him. It is prostitution, by men or women, it's a horrible thing, it is dirt in your eyes, so keep your eyes steady, try to steady them, if they try to go here and there tell them, you say `look there, there's the mother Earth, she's the one that gives us all beautiful things, look at that' and then the beauty of that mother Earth will come into your eyes. And the cleanliness and the innocence will cleanse others, that's how it should be.

So to fight this ego one has to be prepared and must have proper will power, because ego kills the will power of man, completely. A man who is an egoist is left with no will power. It does what the ego tells him to. It can murder people, it can be violent, all the violence in America is from the ego manifestation.

Because there is no respect of the law, not of human laws, but not of God's law also, that's how people behave, that how they incur diseases, a horrible things. A person who is not egotistical will not get cancer. You have to be egotistical to get cancer, though it is a left-sided thing, but you have to have ego, vulnerability comes through ego and then it acts. If you are egoistical, you are vulnerable to cancer so first thing if you survive from say cancer, you'll have the other one waiting, where you'll be transfixed by bhoots.

You will become like some of the things I see on TV, where people are given some sort of artificial thing and they are just nothing but machines and they move their hands like machines, they walk like this, they look like human being and they walk straight like this, they can't feel anything, like that you'll become, because ego takes you away from emotions and away from the left side and you become really a person like a machine, you become like a machine. I met one dentist, he came to Me, he said to Me “Mother, now I cannot apply, I cannot feel and I do not feel bad when somebody dies." I said “so what do you do?", “I jog” I mean jog means running away from yourself. Jog for how many hours? “5 hours” out of the ten hours he's awake, he is away five hours, he jogs, what else will happen? So all these artificial things have come to us because is a manifestation of somebody's ego, even drugs came to us because somebody wanted to make money out of us. All these Gurus they wanted to make money out of us, you see they are more interested in making money, all egotistical people are very money oriented, they can't get out of it, any amount of money you give them. Whatever I mean I have blessed people with thousands and thousands of rupees, billion and billions of things, but still their money orientation doesn't go and then they lose it in no time, they lose just like that, just like that, Naturally, because they do not recognize that it is a blessing one has got it, now you have to share it.

I mean, actually coming to Sahaja Yoga there was one gentleman who was really absolutely on the verge of collapsing without any money, he has become such a rich man overnight and overnight again he become the same. Is an example, he came to Me, came to Sahaja Yoga, he became very rich, became all this and then suddenly he lost everything and even Sahaja Yogis started saying “Mother, we come to You for a short time" and then they go away and they become very rich, I said, “Alright" and then see afterwards one year, before and after, where are they now? This man has become so poor that he doesn't even have money to take a bus, so the calamities come in like that and then they don't understand, but I'm telling you unless and until you talk of calamities, people don't learn, they need a shock, otherwise they don't want to get out of their egos, they cannot, they live with it, they don't want to understand that this is going to happen, then they'd better do it, when they see it happening.

This case, one case of one gentleman has brought forth before all the Indian Sahaja Yogis a very big lesson. They were saying that “you should come to Sahaja Yoga for short time and get out of it, then you'll become very rich” this is what they have reached their conclusion and now they don't say so, because the medium through which you have got God's grace, if it is lost, you have lost it.

So don't live with full confidence with that horrible ego of yours, it is going to overpower you. And as you've seen the bhoots combine, also egotistical people will always combine. They are two egoists, they will always be very friendly, because they combined together they are just the same, but when they are immobilized then what is going to happen? They were sitting like statues, you can make statues out of them I think, what will be the next [UNCLEAR state] I do not know, because they are not dead, they are living, but they can't eat food, they can look at food, they can't eat it, but if you put injection in [UNCLEAR] because the parasympathetic might be working or maybe sympathetic might be working, the autonomous might be working but the rest of it is finished. The central nervous system is finished. It can happen suddenly to someone. Write it down, today I have told you about this disease.

Try to keep to the group, try to share everything and don't try your cunning clever methods. Cunningness is cheating yourself, Gregoire has told Me “Mother this intelligence, human intelligence is so intelligent it can cheat yourself." That's what I see. Why do you want to cheat yourself, are you mad? This is what one has to realise, once you understand that, you'll see most of the problems of this world will subside.

How do you have atom bomb, how do you have all these things? Science never said `you make atom bomb,' science was given to you for constructive work, for saving time for meditation, not to make atomic bombs to kill you, no, but in a way it acts because America makes some bombs, Russia makes some bombs, like two, they'll be sitting on their heads, now they cannot put their hands to the buttons. Is a good idea, they are afraid of the devils they have created themselves, see that's what because it is so overpowering, so if you want to avoid your own destruction, then beware, be aware of yourself, not to boast, that `I know, I know,' no, how you behave? Some people are such that they say “we can't live in an ordinary place, we cannot sleep in an ordinary place and all that” that means they are beggars, that is what I feel about such people, because if you are the king like I am the Queen I should say, I don't want anything, you make Me sleep under this tree, I can sleep, I can sleep anywhere, I can live the way I like and you know I live in a palace, actually a palace, so what, that palace is not important to Me, wherever I go I make it a palace for Myself, because I'm not bothered about comforts, no comfort can crawl up on Me, nothing dominate can Me, nothing can come over Me, nothing is important to Me, because I'm the Queen, if I'm the beggar then I want comfort, I want this, I want that, there is no want left. Nothing wanted, in that state when you arrive then you'll enjoy Sahaja Yoga, your spirit and that's what happens when people come to India.

I was amazed to see these people who came, first time they came we spent 40,000 dollars and five Americans came here, 4 or 5, 4 and 1 Canadian, so five and four ran away, imagine how expensive that, four ran away, we tried, they came to see Me and all that, “No, Mother we can't stand this [UNCLEAR discomfort], we cannot stand this discomfort." What comfort do you want here? I don't see any comfort, horrible since I've come to this, you can see My head, I've been sick in this horrible place, what comforts you have? And there they were boasting so much, they ran away.

So, all you understand that those people who are asking for things all the time, begging for things have not achieved anything in life.

Now when you are coming this time to India we are going to have a much more Spartan life because we are not going to be stay in any building whatsoever, as far as possible except in Rowdy, maybe there also, we are going to put you up in the pandals outside, absolutely in the forest, where there will be tigers they will be snakes, crawling up you and you'll have to have baths in the river which are flowing in at a big speed. And then also you will have their beautiful music of the morning birds and beautiful fragrance, it's so beautiful and soothing. There where grows the essence of life and that's what we have decided, I mean, I can live there, why can't you live? I can't understand, what is so special about it, I'm an old woman now 63 years of age and all My life My father or My husband are being extremely overcomfortable people, I mean luxurious people. I mean I have never known how to take a taxi or take a bus all My life, I've never known how to take a ticket to go by train, I've never travelled by air alone, I mean, I don't know how to travel by air alone, I mean, I've always been like that, but I don't need anything, I can travel alone, I can go anywhere, I can do everything without feeling any fear, without feeling any problems because as long I'm with Myself, what is there to worry? And that's what we have to achieve, that is what we have to do.

Once we achieve that kind of a temperament, is so beautiful, you'll respect yourself, you'll love yourself and that's how we love others and respect others, those that don't respect themselves cannot respect.

Egotistical people do not respect themselves, if they respect themselves they would not be egotistical, but it is so shameful to be egotistical. If you say `you are very egotistical' that person will punch you, even if you say something else, they won't, will they? But is you say `you are egoistical,' they'll punch you that means they feel hurt, if they don't like why do they have it? It's a very difficult thing to move that ego from your heads and you catch from one to the other so fast that sometimes I don't understand.

But Indian climate and Indian up-bringing is such, people don't get egotistical, I have not known of anyone who is today good and tomorrow standing with a punch, I've not seen anyone like that in India, very steady people, now see here is sitting somebody a doctor and he missed his Nobel prize, a man like that. Can you believe that such a man is sitting here? He's another one. You won't find this with anyone in India behaving like that, they have ego, very subtle egos, bureaucrats have I must say and other politicians have, but till they come to abroad then they get even worse. But normally a person's status is known the way he is humble in India, otherwise they don't believe you are from a royal family, you are from a royal family you are extremely humble, that the sign, like the [UNCLEAR shesha]. I talked to her five sentences as I said and she said “this lady is very honourable, from a royal family, must be" I am, but I mean, I am, but I mean I've never told her, which is not known to many people, but she said “She must be from a royal family." What is the need to insult others, what is the need to shout at others and talk in that manner? There is no need, you must talk in a way that is sweet and nice, it looks nice, it shows better. Your personality is better seen by others, at least for the sake of congenial concord with others please try to get over your nonsensical ego. It keeps you out of bounds for the joy, the ocean of joy that you have to have. You are a miserable creature for nothing at all, making everybody miserable. But face it, face it, don't put it in your left Viśhuddhi, “Oh, I'm egotistical, I'm very unhappy” you're finished, I cannot cure that, I'm already suffering you see, all the time I get pain here, pain here, I don't know what to do, since I've come to West I've developed a problem here because all of you have in this left Viśhuddhi and I've put you inside My body. You don't know how much you make Me suffer, though I don't mind, I can see that. I have to request you now to you look after yourself and behave in a manner that this American ego disappears because there's another way out that is Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's time which I don't want to use just now. The first destruction will start in America then construction will start. Destruction is impossible, the clouds of destruction will disappear, completely disappear, the cool wind will blow it out, but you have to be of sincerity and of understanding, without any ego, that's your responsibility, for your children, for your progeny, for your country, it is your responsibility. Good? May God bless you.

So now I'll be going for the another stride and in the evening I may not meet you again. But I hope you people will now give the full list of the people who want to marry. Those who have not yet decided, should decide, even if you are not decided on people, give Me the list of the people who want to get married in India, if not this year, then next year, something like that, all of you should give your names, those who want to marry that is very important because it is impossible to do it without getting everyone there, that's one point is.

Secondly we should decide how many are going, how they are going and all these things are to be done in a proper systematic way and Babette must be informed about it, everybody should say that so many are going from Los Angeles this way, they are going from this way and Babette should be able to organize it, there should be no competition, nothing. And you should see to it that you get the cheapest price. But not at the cost of disturbing yourself, whatever you can get easily, just get it, that's not so important.

The third point I've said that there is no need for you to bring too much of luggage especially for ladies, there is no need to bring any makeups or anything in India, no need at all it's a country where your skin improves by itself, you don't have to do much makeup or anything it's very smooth country, where your skin nourishes itself and you'll feel very nice and even if you have to buy you can buy, you can buy them in India which are made out of not any chemicals or anything, but natural things you see. Even for toothpaste and all that, it is better to use Indian toothpaste I think, so I think now I've reached that conclusion, all these horrible toothpaste here things are what chemicals they have I don't know what will happen to the teeth, so far My teeth are intact, I've never been to a dentist, but I feel, I feel there are full of horrible chemicals in it.

So don't spoil your skin with these horrible makeups and things like that, I mean to find a proper shampoo here, I find it impossible because sometimes maybe some shampoos can just take out your hair like that, you see, so try to acquire habits which are simple, natural habits in a living not primitive, again I say not primitive, but not very elaborate and don't pay so much attention to your body as you do, there is no need to pay, it is alright whatever God has given it a body, it's alright, you don't have worry too much about it. To do some little exercises in the morning, or something, do your meditation properly, be normal people, you don't have to over-do anything, little bit is alright, but just keep in the center, don't go to extremes in anything.

Now you have to be bring a sweater and things like that and as I told you a proper bedding as I told that you have to bring. Now, in India they will supply you with sheets and everything, with nice cotton sheets, because you must use as far as possible cotton and as far as possible silks, or cotton natural things, not artificial things like you'll get into trouble if you use plastics and things like that, so as far as possible try not to bring many clothes because we can get you everything. Now, to come to the practical side of it I would like to have all the what you call, sizes, written down properly but make them into four sizes. You sort it out, you can do it, put them into four sizes, for kurtas and for ladies' also blouses into four sizes so you make four sizes, A, B, C, D sizes for men and women and we keep that ready for you when you come.

Imagine how much these Indians work for it and how much do I donate, that's all donation whatever I give, what remains the money is so little and they are now going to donate so much money for your school, for your children, imagine that Indians should do it, it's not very good. We have such a little money to be very frank which has been given that I really feel shy to take that money to India so I've kept it now with Arneau, every money is kept there, that you keep it there, but if you have to have a school we have to a good school and for that we need money but just now you don't think of donating anything, because though you are rich people you are incapable of donations now. I can see that clearly, because you have to travel, you have to spend money on your travels, Indians don't have to do that, so it's alright but whatever they have said a little amount for donations that much you give them. And you come there with love, but people come back like traders I tell you really like traders, because India is a place where one can buy lots of things, you like everything “you want buy this, you want to buy that" that's not good. Buy a few things of symbolic value, whatever you need you should buy, you cannot bring all the things that you need from India, but people when they travel like that it is very shameful I think people sometimes don't understand how yogis have to carry so many things, now you should carry things which are useful to you, which are good for you but not too much.

Contents: 1985-11-16 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Racism, Evening Program, the day before Diwali Pūjā, Tivoli, Italy

You see only I am understanding and we are understanding from Maharashtra and this is to be done by many people so it's different type.

But a here they are saying that you should surrender to the Mother, that you have been to Kolhapur to the temple of Mahālakṣhmī. And you know the Mahālakṣhmī is the central path of Suṣhumnā and there they go and pray to the Kuṇḍalinī Ambe. That now you have awakened in the Mahālakṣhmī Temple.

They go and sing there. That's the Mahālakṣhmī temple and there they praise the Kuṇḍalinī because Mahālakṣhmī is there but in Mahālakṣhmī's channel of the central path the Kuṇḍalinī has to awaken.

So today today it's the Ambe. It's surprising that in the Mahālakṣhmī Temple that they go and sing this song of Amba, isn't it? But the reason is that they want that in the Temple of Mahālakṣhmī only the Kuṇḍalinī can rise so they are addressing Amba. That's the beauty of this song. You follow My point. You extend it.

Today is the great day My joy knows no bounds. I do not know how to thank people of UK and some of them who took such a great lead to manifest this new collectivity.

Of course I do not want to name them because they will feel embarrassed.

But the whole thing started on a very low note and I think your Mother played some tricks as well and the drama went on, it reached its climax when we arrived in Rome. With all this I can see the visions of My dreams coming true. It is unbelievable how the whole thing worked out so beautifully and it is really so gratifying to see here how in this short time such beautiful arrangements were done by the Sahaja Yogis of Italy, embarrassed. And so now we have to realise it has a very big symbol that we all have gathered to this great city of Rome.

As I said, Europe is the liver. That means all the attention is in Europe. But the attention, if does not have the heart it is absolutely not integrated, nor it is enlightened. But when the heart is sleeping how to bring heart to the attention? But some tricks here and there played so well that the heart like a lion leaped and we are here. The joy of all the Sahaja Yogis is now going to fill the attention and new powers will be developed for all of you and you will all feel responsible for spreading Sahaja Yoga. It has to happen. Thus we realise that through effort we all can achieve the impossible.

Brahmarandhra is the heart, is the Heart Chakra and unless and until there is heart into our work we are not enlightened people. All our efforts will be futile. Without the attention the heart is useless.

So this beautiful meeting that has taken place is writing in the skies with the warmth of the heart and light of the attention. That the glorious days have come for us to enjoy our complete freedom, freedom from all our enemies, all our ignorance.

I have been to America also and I find America is doing very well so I am sure also the brain will join very soon and we all will be combined into a very integrated force.

Americans have got into problems of very serious nature, of very horrible diseases which I predicted two of them, one which comes from AIDS and another one where a brain goes off, a person becomes mad at a very young age. Third disease that I told them will be coming very soon where people who suffer from ego will be captured by ego. In that case the conscious mind will be taken over by ego. That means unconsciously you can walk, you can move about but consciously you won't be able to even move your finger. That means you will be completely immobilized. The West is in great danger because in the West only you find this horrible disease called racialism. All the racists would be first completely paralyzed.

They won't be able to move their fingers.

Even among Sahaja Yogis, I am very sorry to say, there are some racists. Because Gregoire said just now I am sorry to say that so many girls who are married in the West are extremely unhappy. And already I've received a notice from Sahaja Yogis from India that they don't want to marry any Indian girls to Westerners. I know of Sahaja Yogis who ill-treat their wives, in England, in Switzerland and in many places like that. To overcome this all such yogis should beat themselves with shoes themselves or ask their wives to beat them, that's what they deserve. It is a very dangerous sign because they will get immobilized and Sahaja Yoga will get a bad name.

It is so imminent and I am so much worried that I would say that Sahaja Yogis it come to know such a man to get hold of him and give him fifty one shoes nicely on his head. And all such racists must know if they had married anybody from their own country they would have had nice slaps on their face every day. All this is very saddening some times even on this day when I am sitting before you I have come to know of stories that I am shocked the way people behaved.

You have to know that India is a blissful country. That's why we go there. From that blissful country to come these horrid countries it is not easy. I know how difficult it is. I have called all this Sahaja Yoginis that you go and learn something from them. Instead of that, you start criticising them. It's better that you have no more of them here. This is the reason I brought them here because you don't know anything.

They know so many things about your country. They have learnt your science, so many things, why can't you become a proper Sahaja Yogi to know that they know more than knowledge of the roots? And that will give Me greatest joy when I will see there is not a single racist left in Sahaja Yoga. If in Sahaja Yoga somebody gets immobilized or paralyzed, please don't blame Me because I have warned you on such a day when you all are here and I did not want to say all this things today but there is no other way out.

So today is the day where we celebrate the New Year in India as it is the dates in India and here are different but today is New Year of the Shālivāhanas of My forefathers. If you'd asked these people, they would have told you about Shālivāhan. Now I have to tell you everything so what's the use of bringing them here? We have two calendars in India, one is Vikram and the another is Shālivāhan. And when Shālivāhan defeated Vikramaditya, Shālivāhanas dynasty called Babruvahan was the name of the king. He defeated Vikram. Babruvahan was the king in that dynasty.

And that is how today is the New Year for all of us because we are Shālivāhanas. Because they were the worshippers of the Goddess and they use to carry the shawl for the Mother and on this day they take a shawl and put it on a kumbha, which is the representative of the Kuṇḍalinī and raise the ag.

So today is the day for that. Diwali was actually yesterday when I arrived here and I saw the Diwali of the lights all over.

So yesterday Narakasura was killed in the morning time and put in the hell and in the evening they celebrated it with lights. That's the day people say that the Lakṣhmī, the Goddess of wealth, visits your house. And all the houses which are lighted well receive the blessings of the Lakṣhmī.

Our Lakṣhmī Pūjā in Italy has this symbolic value that Lakṣhmī should shower Her blessings on Italy and also on all those who came by plane to worship Her from London. All the other Europeans are already blessed. I mean you all had experiences of the blessings of Lakṣhmī, didn't you? But wherever there is the dirt there the attention of the Mother goes. And that is how we have this beautiful Pūjā here though tomorrow I will tell you in a subtle way how it is important to have this Pūjā here.

So today is a day of a new year and we should think why do we have new years, what is the need to have a new year? We want something new that you start something afresh to ourselves, to others, to your Mother, to your Guru. That you have to get out of the clutches of ignorance and darkness. That you have to get out of the bondages of ego. That you have to become absolutely a free glorious personality.

And that you have to fight the superego influences and all the bad conditionings should be thrown as torn clothes and should wear new beautiful clothes of Sahaja Yogis.

Let all the people, let all the Sahaja Yogis raise their voices from the top of their houses and top of their mountains, the top of their higher positions. Broadcast to the whole world, inform the whole people that you have found the truth and everybody has to find the truth, otherwise there is no escape. That you have found the joy and that everyone has to find it and everybody must work to get to it. Today only I was talking to some Sahaja Yogis and I said, during war how much people sacrificed their families their children their homes they went on the battlefields, fought for some stupid people and gave up their lives there, they lived in all kinds of conditions. But in Sahaja Yoga when every step we are blessed, every step we are protected, every step we are loved, we are not willing to sacrifice anything whatsoever.

Today you have to take a vow because it's a new year's day, such a great day when we are here to say that even if we have to give our lives we give it for Sahaja Yoga because one life can save thousands. Then why not do it? One life has Christ saved so many of us with our Āgñyā Chakra. Sahaja Yoga no doubt is fun and joy. But it is sharing.

You have to share and you have to get more people to share it. For that you have to have tremendous patience. I have seen some people have a proper understanding of approaching every type of people. That's a very difficult stage and difficult areas are where people work but some can work that way. But when the Sahaja Yogis in the second stage come and are realised then there are some who know how to settle them and in the third stage by their own shared example of discipline they discipline them into Sahaja Yoga standards.

Let us face ourselves and ask how many of us are doing any one of these jobs or are we only on the receiving end? You all must have social events to meet each other and talk to each other but it's to decide also how you are going to expand Sahaja Yoga. But there are people who can do all these three things together. I would request each one of you should rise at your own level, rise higher and try to spread Sahaja Yoga in the proper way.

So today the first and the foremost vow is, as I told you, that we have to get cleansed up in such a way that we become free of ego and super ego. We should get rid of our ignorance and darkness. And the second vow as I have said that you have to become the light to remove the darkness and ignorance of others. By sharing My problems, by sharing My anxieties about them, those who are lost and not to be involved into your own personal anxieties and petty things. My problems should be your problems now because you all belong to Me, to My body, to My being.

And I request you to join hands with Me, with full determination and complete attention and the heart of a lion. That's the emblem of England.

So this is what we have to do. You people are so generous in Rome that you have the heart of the lion really.

So pour some of it into the hearts that have come from England also. And meet each other with great affection, with great love and with great understanding that you are all the great foundations of a great, very great vision of your Mother. I hope you will not fail Me and you will promise in your heart tonight that will do the things that I have requested you to do.

May God bless you all.

Gregoire said we should say these vows aloud. I think that's a good idea. Let us see by saying aloud if it works out. It should be said inside.

[Gregoire says the vows that are to be said aloud].

Sahaja Yogis [The first vow is said three times]: Shri Mataji we take the vow to be free from ignorance and darkness.

Shri Mataji: The second one should be to be the light of Sahaja Yoga and to spread the light of Sahaja Yoga till the end of our lives with all our strength and with all our heart. You should say with strength and heart.

Sahaja Yogis [Second vow is said three times]: Shri Mataji we take the vow to become the light of Sahaja Yoga and to spread the light of Sahaja Yoga with all our hearts and strength until the end of our lives.

Shri Mataji: Thank you very much. May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogis: Om Śhrī Jagat Mātā Ādi Shakti Śhrī Nirmalā Devī Ki Jai!

Contents: 1985-11-17 Diwali Pūjā (6th Day after Diwali Day), Tivoli, Rome, Italy

Today we have assembled here to celebrate the Diwali, the Dīpawali. Actually, only after Sahaja Yoga started, the real Diwali is taking shape. We had many beautiful lamps and we had lot of oil to burn, but there was no spark, to enlighten the dīpas. And the wick, as you call it, is called as bati in Hindi language, is like your Kuṇḍalinī, so the Kuṇḍalinī had to meet the spark. The beautiful lamps were all a waste, purposeless, pointless. And this is the great blessings in modern times, that so many lights are enlightened and we are having a Dīpavali of human hearts. When you become the light, you don't worry about the lamp, how it looks, how it is to be made, it's all done. You just have to worry about the flame, about the oil, because it's the oil that burns and gives light.

In Sanskrit language, which is the language of the Gods, the oil is called as `snigdha', `snigdha'; is something that is soft but is snigdha. And `sneha' means `friendship of love'. And the poets in other languages have used this word, in different way calling it `neha'. They have sung the praise of this love.

Every poet, every Saint has used this word in their beautiful poetry, whether they were in separation or they were in the meeting, in the Yoga, in the union. This love is the thing that gives the light. If this oil is not clean, contaminated, you get the smoke, but is pure, then it gives a brilliant light without any smoke. But when this oil is fragrant then the light gives the fragrance as well. The oil is made from various things. The one that comes from the Mother Earth cannot be used because it's very materialistic, it gives carbon. Like petrol, kerosene, it pollutes the atmosphere. Then the one that comes from animals, who are, some of them, are very much worshipped in India, they have a very particular type of snigdha or we can call it ghee or oil which is giving a light which is very soothing and peaceful.

So when matter evolves into animal state also the oil evolves. But when this oil is rubbed onto the feet of a Saint, it gets the fragrance. In the same way if this oil is brought in contact with flowers it gives fragrance.

So the feet of a Saint are like the flowers on the tree. And when the flower falls on the ground, the Mother Earth, it's so delicate, it's so sensible, it doesn't hurt Her. It falls with great reverence as a great homage to the Mother Earth.

In the same way a Saint has to be gentle, gentle in the way the moonlight falls upon this Earth. It is light without any burning in it, no scorching. That gentleness one has to develop, out of the oil that is the love in your heart, which lubricates everything, which removes the frictions and soothes.

You have seen the way nature works. We never see a flower opening out, we never see the fruit coming out of the flower. It is so gentle and so slow that the movement is not seen by these human eyes. Because the Nature wants you should not be disturbed by the movements. The Nature cares, so you people do not feel the growth, the movement and the explosions of the evolution or we can say the movement of Nature's own behaviour.

In the same way a Saint, a Sahaja Yogi, has to move very smoothly in the society of Sahaja Yogis.

It is with the Sahaja Yogis, I said; not with the non-Sahajas. Nature reacts to anything that is foreign.

It throws out anything that is not Sahaj. In the same way, a Saint should not accept anything, anybody who is foreign to Sahaj behaviour. When it deals with the matter, with the materialistic people, then it acts with the greatest wisdom, as the tip of a root. It moves with majesty, embeds itself into the Mother Earth going round all hard rocks and holding them together; it makes the tree to stand up erect.

The sign of life is that it goes against the matter, the one that is jara. Like the tree goes against the gravity; like the great human beings have lifted their body against the gravity in a straight posture. In the same way, if you see, the flame goes against the gravity.

Nobody has heard of fire going from the top floor to the ground floor. It starts from the ground floor and it goes upward. But the fire also comes from the matter which is burning.

So the matter has to be burnt, if you want to rise. If your attention is all the time towards baser things, materialistic things, towards physical pleasures, you cannot rise. You may do any amount of meditations, use My Photographs, come to My Pūjās but if your attention is imbedded it's like you are standing on a crocodile trying to get into a boat.

Now, that doesn't mean when a flame burns it gives up matter, but it gets detached and it burns it.

So this body, this mind, this ego, this superego, is all to be burned to keep this flame burning all the time.

You don't have to give up anything but to use the same thing for a higher life and that is what should be the aim of every Sahaja Yogi.

Actually after getting Realisation, you just start spontaneously giving because you are the light. But respect your light and the light of others. The darkness is too much and we need so many lights to remove this darkness. These lights are to be maintained, to be looked after, to be loved.

As you know very well, I cannot do it alone. For example the source of electricity, if you use to burn, you may have a big explosion. It has to go to various bulbs to give a nice, spread out light. And you are the channels, you are the ones who are going to express Me. I am just the potential energy, as the energy is coming from somewhere which is stored and if I asked you, you would not even know where it is stored.

It is through your behaviour, through your pure lights, through your fragrance, people are going to know God Almighty. There are some, which can blacken the Face; they are lights no doubt, but can blacken the Face if there are impurities, blacken the Face of the Divine, blacken the Face of your Creator. And that is what, one has to be careful, that we are not blackening the Name of God by our misbehaviour.

Now listen to Me very carefully, if there is no light out of the lamp, it does not blacken nor enlighten.

But if there is a light it can blacken as well as enlighten. It's only the Sahaja Yogis who can blacken or enlighten the Name of God Almighty. Say, for example, if you have a fake man, he doesn't blacken the Name of God because he is himself black, so nobody's bothered about that. If there is a person who is teaching about God or talking about God, about religion and making money out of it, he blackens his own name. He does not blacken the Name of God Almighty. The Name of God, cannot be blackened, It's ever shining.

But it's only a Sahaja Yogi which can form that cloud to cover It. They can only finish the hope of this world. They can only bring the real destruction of this world. They will be held responsible. And they should be punished in time, so that the Name of God should not be ruined. For they have been given the right to enter into the Kingdom of God, others are outside.

They are the only ones who can abuse the right. Those who are outside this building cannot spoil it.

You have the special privilege to enter into this beautiful building. You have got this right because of the great things you have done in previous lives.

And if you now want to spoil it, you'd better understand that you will be very severely punished. The light which can enlighten can also burn. But this light will burn all those who try to burn the Kingdom of God.

So on a Diwali day let us know that we should have the lamps, burnt in such a way that it has purest of pure love in it. Not a lip service, lip service of love, but from your heart, it should pour, like the Nature pours all its blessings upon you.

Then, wherever the flowers of your feet will touch, the Nature will blossom with joy. There will be a Dīpawali. Like I was told when, before coming to Rome, Italy had no rain. The Mother Earth was parched. And as soon as you all Sahaja Yogis came on this Mother Earth, it started pouring.

So the purity of love is to be understood with complete discretion, because this purity acts; it acts in the nature, it acts in the human beings, it acts into everything. The action is the same as the action, the gentle action of the Mother Earth.

Those who come in contact with such a personality start suddenly feeling the soothing, the settling, of the whole being, into a blissful state.

State of benediction. But I don't know, after this word, how much has gone wrong, because our words are corrupt. Our words are corrupt, they do not express what they mean. They are not also pure. They do not react what is to be reacted.

So, it is for us to create new meanings of the words, give a clear vision. When you want to see a clear vision you put a powerful light before the mirror. Clear vision of the expression in language, in gestures, in behaviours; and a clear vision of the Divine. Let people see in your light, the beautiful dream coming true.

In My childhood I used to think My dreams are too fantastic. Will they ever materialise? I used to collect small, little stones and I would say: “Will there be people, who are not the stones but who are the hearts?" By God's grace, I have met you. I thank you very much for accepting Sahaja Yoga. But this invitation that is extended to you should not be such that, I will be blamed for giving it to people who never deserved it. Please do not let Me down.

There's one small thing, I come from a country which is not so sophisticated in the modern world, but is very much embedded in Truth and I'm happy you respect that country despite it's unmodernized, natural existence and you are proud of a Mother who comes of such a country. This is the Dīpawali which is celebrated in that country for thousands and thousands of years. And this is the first time in Rome, which is the center, of Europe, because here is the seven hills, expressing the whole of seven Chakras. That is why a big torch had to be brought from England in an aeroplane to enlighten these seven Chakras of Europe.

The Kuṇḍalinī rises from Mūlādhāra and goes up to the seventh Chakra and touches the Sadāśhiva's place but in this case from Sadāśhiva's place, the light has come down, to enlighten and respect all the Chakras from their heart. In the beginning of the awakening of the Kuṇḍalinī that's what exactly I do, is through your fingertips, the aVāhana, the invitation to the Kuṇḍalinī, is sent. Unless and until it passes through these centers it cannot open it out sufficiently for the Kuṇḍalinī to rise and then the Kuṇḍalinī rises.

So the invitation first has to come from the Heart Chakra here.

So the desire has to come down first of all, the power of desire has to come down, from the heart, to make the Kuṇḍalinī rise.

So the Kuṇḍalinī acts, the power of action takes place.

So the responsibility of England and the responsibility of Europe is very great. Unless and until all these Chakras are cleared, Viśhuddhi cannot be pushed aside.

So we have to consolidate first in Europe and also in England. I started it in England then in Europe. Once we have consolidated it well, I'm sure Sahaja Yoga will be very easily established in America. India there's no problem, as you know; and that is going to work out very easily and once India is awakened the Kuṇḍalinī will start moving very fast, with great dynamism. But first these upper Chakras must be put right. Otherwise how can Kuṇḍalinī come out? So, you realise your responsibility, that we have a force in India, no doubt. But how will it rise if there are obstructions? You are a part and parcel of this universe, you are not hanging somewhere else from India, so India has to depend on you.

For your Sahasrāra I have already made all arrangements in the sense I am here in Person. I have come down from Kailāśha, on this Earth.

So, that's how I have arranged the whole drama. But the middle actors are very important. They should not act like clowns, or stupid idiotic people. It is becoming quite idiotic, the atmosphere, I must say, you feel as if you are among idiots or lunatics.

So, these ridiculous things that are happening around us should not impress us but we should really use them for amusing ourselves. And you have reached that ascent that you can see these things are coming there because of the decadence. And the decadence is the ruin, is the destruction of the Chakras also.

So though it is stupidity, idiocity, we have to pick up people out of them, to support the Chakras. And to be very careful with the people who are not Sahajas who are sticking on in Sahaja Yoga. And now the time has come to throw them out permanently and they are not to return back.

Only the veeras [warriors], the courageous, can worship the Mother. And I hope you are all that and today is the great day when I am worshipped by all the veeras and veeranganas.

May God bless you all. May God bless you.

So now, today's Pūjā is not very long, but there's one more thing after the Pūjā. Today is the day when another type of a rakshābandhan takes place here we call is the bhayadwij in Hindi and bhaubij in Marathi, meaning today is the second day of the moon. And this is the day that a brother goes to the sister's house and she gives him a bath, I mean if it's a small boy or even if it's a big man doesn't matter because we don't take the bath the way you people do.

So he's given a nice bath and a massage and oiled and then, when that's over, then she does the Ār.ti of the brother and makes good food for him to eat.

With all that, then brother gives her something, just as a token of gratitude. Is a very beautiful thing we do as bhayadwij.

So today that's the second part of it where the purity of relationship between all of you is established and worshipped. And is very important in Maharashtra specially because they don't use rakshābandhan as one of the things so much as they use bhaubij.

So after this you all can have a nice Samelana, is the meeting which is the holy meeting, together and talking to each other, to your rakhi brothers, sisters and all that, you can have for a while. And a sister who has tied a rakhi can give a little morsel of food into the mouth of the brother today, that would be a good idea.

May God bless you.

The Italians are so artistic, are they? Gaṇeśha Pūjā you can just, if you have got the kumkum, you put it in the, thing and I'll have My Feet in that [UNCLEAR] and I'll rub on it and you all can take the hundred and eight names of the Gaṇeśha if you want, or of the Lakṣhmī, whichever way you like, because that's the one which is to be used.

So put this money also with that, with the kumkum and I'll rub My Feet.

So first you can say the Aatharva Sheersha and then the Devī's Names.

First this, that you will say the Atharva Sheersha, all those who know can say it, with it you know that and that will be said once. After that... This will be said with the kumkum on My Feet. After that this money can be poured on My Feet and I'll have to rub it with My Feet and this money can go to all of you as Prasad.

[Shri Mataji asks the Pūjāri if they have any chandan, sandalwood oil. Probably he replies there is none.]

Shri Mataji: Doesn't matter.

[Oil is poured on Her Feet and She rubs them together, while Sahaja Yogis recite a prayer to Mahālakṣhmī.

Afterwards some coins are poured onto Shri Mataji's Feet.]

Shri Mataji: These are from all over? You know? Pūjāri: These are from Italy mostly.

Shri Mataji: Only Italy? Guido: Also from Germany, England...

Shri Mataji: I hope you all have given. Better put. Swiss, German. Just bring some of the coins.

Put the coins. Now you go on saying.

[Many go to Her Feet to offer coins, so much so that after a while She says.]

Shri Mataji: Enough, enough! [While more coins are offered, Shri Mataji asks for more oil to be poured. It is poured onto the coins between Her Feet. She continues rubbing everything together with Her Feet.]

Shri Mataji: Some more oil can be put. That's all. Oil for the Kubera.

[Then the five sacred elements are poured onto Her hands while a Sahaja Yogis reads out the English translation of the Ār.ti. For the Devī Pūjā, Shri Mataji calls on stage seven unmarried ladies who “would like to be married."]

Shri Mataji: How many are you? One, two, three, four, five, six... One more. No one? [Then a yogini named Alison stands up and reaches the others among the exultancy of the public and the general laughter, also of Shri Mataji. Then the girls do the Devī Pūjā. Then seven married ladies from Rome are called to finish the Pūjā. Afterwards a gift is given to Shri Mataji.]

Shri Mataji: What's this? Guido: [UNCLEAR] [that it is a mangala sutra given by the Sahaja Yoginis from Rome.]

Shri Mataji: It's beautiful.

[She puts it on. Applause. Afterwards the children come on stage to offer flowers to the Feet of Shri Mataji.]

Shri Mataji: Thank you very much [UNCLEAR]. May God bless you. Thank you. [A child gives Her a drawing.] May God bless you. Let's put the flowers now. Have you put the flowers? No? Have you put? Did you put any flowers? Come along. Have you put the flowers? Come along, take one flower.

Take this one. At least the children must be taught English, you see, is important. Otherwise it will be difficult. You must teach them English language.

[Afterwards She vibrates the Prasad, then the Ār.ti and namas-kār.]

Shri Mataji: Please don't stand. [UNCLEAR]. Bend down.

[Also Gregoire explains further, if there is no space to do namas-kār, that one should be seated or bend down, keeping the head towards Shri Mataji, but one shouldn't stand. Eventually Shri Mataji meditates in the posture of Lakṣhmī with Her left hand open as if to give and right hand raised in blessing while speaking.]

Shri Mataji: May God bless you. May God bless you. May God bless you.

[Guido shows Her some decorated leaflets which are going to be the Pūjā souvenir.]

Shri Mataji: May God bless you, beautiful, beautiful, beautiful. Now, this money should be taken by everyone, one each, one coin, whatever you get, may not be your country. What's the time?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: See [UNCLEAR], in time we are.

Guido: The English have brought 500 of Your pictures.

Shri Mataji: For what? Guido [repeats]: The English have brought 500 of Your pictures.

Shri Mataji: Beautiful.

Guido: Shri Mataji, with Your permission we would like to show You the collective presents.

Shri Mataji: Collective.

Guido: Yes. Collective, absolutely collective.

Shri Mataji [touches the Mangala sutra]: But this is what, is gold? Guido: Is silver plated in gold.

Shri Mataji: All right. Silver plated gold, or gold plated silver? Guido: No, no, silver plated in gold.

Shri Mataji: Oh, I see. OK, don't mind.

[Gregoire translates to the public that everyone can go and take a coin for themselves.]

Shri Mataji: And every child can also have one.

[Guido translates into Italian. He translates `children' as `bambini'.]

Shri Mataji: Bambini, also, yes. Bambini is a [UNCLEAR] name, bambini. [To a Sahaja Yogini:] This mangala sutra you have to keep with you yourself and next time I come for Pūjā, every time I come for Pūjā.

[Aside:] Please send Caroline for this one, you'll have to verify the [UNCLEAR].

[One more present from the Italians: some posters of William Blake paintings.]

Shri Mataji: Just show them. This is William Blake, for Italian Sahaja Yogis [UNCLEAR].

[The Italians also give a pearl necklace.]

Shri Mataji: That every time you come. It's too expensive. Look at that. How can [UNCLEAR] with jewels every time, you can't do that, it's too expensive to be given such an expensive thing like that.

Why such an expensive one? Too much. What a beauty it is. Is very expensive, is too much. You've given Me everything now. Too much, I mean, why to spend money like this now? [Shri Mataji shows it to everybody smiling and shaking Her head:] Thank you very much. Is funny that I have to every time say this instead of saying thank you. I have to always say “why such an expensive thing?" [Then everybody starts laughing as they see two Sahaja Yoginis from Rome bring two dogs on stage.]

Shri Mataji: That's the best! Oh, thank you very much, thank you.

Guido: We wanted something symbolically to offer the heart of all the Sahaja Yogis.

Shri Mataji: Oh, thank you, beautiful, rather expensive though, alright. May God bless you.

[Guido tells the yogis that the last time that Shri Mataji was in Alsace, She said there are beautiful dogs and it would be nice to have them in India.]

Shri Mataji: You should take them to India, from here, I'll see that they are getting.

[The yoginis hand one of the dogs to Shri Mataji who puts it on Her lap.]

Shri Mataji: What dogs are these? Alsatians? They're Alsatians. Nicely settle down, doesn't want to get down [UNCLEAR]. Is an Alsatian, beautiful.

Guido: It was the only couple available in Rome!

Shri Mataji: [says to arrange their sending to India.] Guido [suggests]: With the Indian Sahaja Yogis.

Shri Mataji: When they come.

Guido: With the certificate...

Shri Mataji: Yes, yes, yes. [UNCLEAR].

[Shri Mataji puts down the dog, who doesn't want to get down and takes the other one.] Gregoire: Some dogs are really lucky!

Shri Mataji: They are the best dogs, I think... [UNCLEAR]. Shall we give them the same names? Gregoire: One is male and the other a female?

Shri Mataji: Doesn't matter! Gregoire: Doesn't matter.

Shri Mataji: Thank you. Now what is that? We will have to take another plane, I tell! Gregoire: This is a collective present from Milano, Shri Mataji.

Shri Mataji: Collective, again! Collective. What... [UNCLEAR] collective, eh? Thank you, thank you, thank you, thank you. I'd better thank you before opening. It's two bowls and a beautiful tray.

Thank you very much. Beautifully. Thank you very much.

[A present from the Sahaja Yogis of Adelaide ashram in Australia. Shri Mataji opens the big parcel and looks with wonder and appreciation.]

Shri Mataji: Have you developed this? So beautiful. Everything is beautiful. Is very beautiful photograph.

[Then She turns it to show to the people and touches the frame. Gregoire says that a yogi named Antonio has made the frame on the basis of the colours of the picture.]

Shri Mataji: Better write down all the things, you see, who has given what... Where is she gone? [UNCLEAR Danielle], write down all the presents that they've given, from where [UNCLEAR]. That's very important now [UNCLEAR]. Dany, get a paper and a pencil and write down. This one is from, UK.

Contents: 1985-11-00 Quote on Deeper Significances, Dining Room, House, UK (month not sure)

[One day Shri Mataji decides to completely rearrange Her dining room.] We'll move the Russian [tea] set next the Chinese one over here, that way Russia and China won't fight.

[After moving some heavy brass Indian statues of Gods and Goddesses closer to African tribal carvings:] The Goddess needs to look after Her African children.

Contents: 1985-11-28, Public Program, William Blake's Birthday, Hammersmith Town Hall, Kings Street, London, UK

It is such a honour for all of us to pay this homage to the great poet, printer and a prophet that was William Blake.

When I first came to England, they have been telling Me that England is a place of scholarship and you can see lots of museums and exhibitions and suddenly I told the Sahaja Yogis that I would like to go and see Tate Gallery for William Blake's paintings. They were surprised because I seldom go to any one of them, specially the libraries and the books. And when I went there, I saw this great poet, this great personality, pouring out His heart with such concern, with such honesty, with such understanding and perception of the Divine to the people of England, to understand the great powers of Divinity. But to My surprise there were some funny people; they had brought some magnifying glasses and they were looking at the drawings and were watching the private parts of people. I said, “Look at these wretched, absolutely baser people, who cannot see the sublime, the highest, which He wanted to paint” and they were taking photographs.

I was surprised the way people reacted and then I realised how tormented He must have been in His lifetime to live with such people, who have no sense of Divine. He must have cried in the wilderness; He must have wept; He could not have been accepted, it's impossible. Such low level minds cannot accept something that's sublime and great and My heart bled with pain. Oh God! Why did He take His birth in a place like this? To torment Himself, to torture Himself, saying something which cannot be accepted.

But it's not so. I knew who He was, what He is doing, why He was here. We do not know about Him much, because from the books you can't understand who He could have been.

He was an Incarnation, of Bhairavanath. That's whom you call the St. Michael, or St. George, who is as you know the Saint, Angel of England. That's why He had to incarnate and for Him, this was His role, to talk about Divine in a open, fearless manner. He had to use symbolic language, He had to use. It's not difficult to understand Him at all; if you are a realised Soul, you'll read through it, sometimes laughing, sometimes weeping, enjoying the whole drama, what He has tried to explain. When I read Him I am amazed at His sense of humor; how He openly comes out with such remarks. I feel He is like Mārkandeya in India, or Kabīr Das in India, who slashed the whole society with their sword all the time to see that they are brought to the proper shape, without fear. But so gentle, if you read the Song of the `Thel' [from `The Book of Thel' by Śhrī William Blake], it's so gentle; and all of them who were Him perhaps or of the same style, extremely open, straightforward, you can say even blatant and extremely gentle.

The vision of Christ, that He has described, is the one which He sees through His own enlightened eyes and He sees that the vision is completely distorted, is the opposite of what Christ was. I also felt the same way. I took My birth in a Protestant, Christian family and I was shocked the way the Christians were.

I said “Are these the Christians?" Now the point He brings forth is very clear-cut, you can understand, that in the mannerism if you are gentle, “I'm sorry” “I'm afraid” “I doubt." Just look at that. It's very commonly we use this language. He says that Christ was not a gentleman of that kind. I also say I'm not seeking election, I'm not here to please you, but I am here to make you please yourself; to enjoy yourself, to have your all wealth, enjoyed, manifested.

That is how He also put the vision of Christ before you, that He was not a gentle man, who would go around and be extremely gentle to people and nice to them, superficially, only the mannerism of it, but He would be so gentle with the people who are lowly. He created Divinity out of fishermen, who were ordinary people, uneducated, absolutely we can say, people who were one of the lowest in the strata of society. He picked them up and made them Divine. He didn't go to the ministers and the prime ministers and the governors. He did not. When you see all the great people who are supposed to be looking after the religion part of it, they are busy only with governors and they are only busy with the kings and the queens; who must go and bow to them. They are politically activated people.

How can a Divine person get into this mess of politics which human beings have created? But we don't understand it, because we try to rationalise everything and thank God He's the one who talked against rationality; and against all the intellectual ideas of putting down Christ to the mere level of a human being, because He was Himself Divine and He could understand Christ. He was so much pestered and actually persecuted that He used to get depression sometimes and He had problems of money, problems of convincing His brother and sister, everybody trying to make Him feel uneasy.

Such a fine soul came on this earth to talk of Jerusalem. What did He mean by Jerusalem? What is Jerusalem? We go to Jerusalem for pilgrimage. Why? Because Christ was born there. England will become Jerusalem when Christ will be born here. But how many of English people today care for the spirit? English language itself is such a funny one, that we use the word spirit for drinking, the spirit that you call alcohol; spirit for the dead souls, which hang around, many more here and spirit for the Ātmā, the spirit.

When He came on this earth, the industrial revolution had not taken its respite. People were still entering into those `mills' as he calls them and He saw the scribes how they were behaving and He saw the whole myth of religion. He does not know that all the religions were doing the same nonsense everywhere, not only Christianity. You go to any other country and see every religion is the same style of a nonsense, which is opposite of what the prophets told them, of what the incarnations told them, of what all the great sages told them. This is not only about Christianity, but still nobody can forgive it, because Christianity has a special fervor, has a special role, has a special meaning, that's what He's tried to also say, that Moses came on this earth to lay down the code of conduct, morality, the moral thing and also He describes Milton as a person who describes a Deity who is above everything, a puritanical Deity. But He describes the Divine humanity. Also He describes the Christ who came on this earth for the emancipation of human beings; not to tell them, `Don't do this and don't do that.' That was all right at the time of Moses in the beginning of it, the code of it and He calls it a `moral' Christianity, meaning `immoral' must be, because if you force someone, into something and pass such laws and regulations at this time, modern times, it's going to be impossible for human beings to follow and they'll fall into some other traps.

Strict rules of anything, imposed on people who are not realised Souls, can push them into some sort of problems, they can become criminals, they can become violent as a reaction and we see the reaction today acting, that the hypocrisy of the whole thing is exposed. Like in India or anywhere else, they will say, “You should not be attached to money, give the money to the church, to the temple, to the mosque, to all the people to enjoy it." The kind of life people led in those days in the name of God, was no model for anyone and that's how poets like Him were born again and again. I would say that in Lebanon a great poet, like Kahlil Gibran, was born and then in India we had so many such poets, who just lashed the society and lashed all these ideas of the intellectuals, the ideas of the religions, the ones who were trying to curb them. Because there was no genuineness, there was no sincerity. If we are honest people, we really mean it, then let us face it and see for ourselves what we have to achieve.

So that is how He came as a poet, a remarkable poet, the way He rhymes it and the sense of humour He has and the way He unfolds the beauty of words as any poet should do. In Sanskrit it is said, vakyam rasatmakam kavyam, poetry is full of rasats; rasats means the essences, the explosion of essences through words. If it could be done, then the magic of it is called as poetry and that's what you find in Blake. Such a great poet; poetry is only great when it talks of the Divine and when it talks of the baser things, takes you to the baser things. The other day I heard one Australian poet and I was amazed at his bathroom singing, it was horrible; how can you call it a poetry which sings of baser things of life, which takes you to the baser things and pleasures? But He has very clearly, if you can understand Him, has said, “What are these books for? This is to collect money out of them." Now how do you collect money? By playing on the weaknesses of the people, pampering their ego, pampering their greed.

All these things, if you can do, you can very nicely befool them and they feel very happy and nice, that oh what a book it is. As we have had great writers also in this country. I would say Shakespeare was a great evolved soul, but the deterioration you see later on, like people like Hemingway and all those coming up. I don't know how, after Somerset Maugham and all that, suddenly these horrible Hemingway people coming up and people buying their books like hot cakes. We've lost all our moorings, we have lost all our roots, but one thing good has happened out of this, leading the way of Freud, making him Christ; all that has led to problems and people now realise, now realise, that's why the prophecy was there, that's why He was a Prophet. He warned people of what is going to happen, but who is bothered? He was treated as an insane personality. If you go to the lunatic asylum, everybody will think you are insane, that's the way lunatics look at a sane personality. His wisdom was condemned. People thought that He is getting all these hallucinations, He's talking out of His hat, because they have no brains to understand, they have no enlightenment, they have no perception, that's why they treated Him that way.

Now He is dead, of course they're selling His books, making big money; selling His plates, what He painted, but when He lived, nobody bothered. And now they can use Him the way they like. I've met some very funny people here, in this respect, the way they have shown great interest in Blake in saying that, “He says that a naked woman is the best." I said, “Where? How could He say such a thing? He was innocent." Now we do not understand what His is innocence also. Just like Mārkandeya describing His mother, her breast and everything, like a little child. A child doesn't see, sex in a naked body, he does not see. And the beauty of a woman He describes. That means all women are walking nude, everywhere, now. Are you exciting the innocence of people, or are you exciting the baser self of the people? We have to be natural, are you natural? All these perversions and all these diversifications has come because man does not have a simple mind, he's a crooked person. This `crookery' has to go from the mind. That is important; but if I say that, I'm not doing My job here, I know that. I know for definite that is not the way it is going to work out.

That's why Christ, the One who said, “Forgive, forgive them." Otherwise how can God meet man, with this `crookery', with all this kind of cunning, how can God reach man without forgiveness? He cannot reach man if he listens to Moses, can He? He cannot. If He has to come to human beings, He has to forgive and that's what is in Sahaja Yoga in the beginning. We tell, you must forgive everyone, you forgive yourself, don't feel guilty. Now in Christianity just the opposite has been done, let us face it and know for yourself that you have to go and confess to the priest. The priest also gets mad with your confession, you are already mad. What is there to confess in the ocean of forgiveness? It just dissolves.

What a message Christ gave us that the greatest weapon we have got is to forgive others and forgive ourselves because God forgives us and this is the message we have to know, that we have to forgive ourselves. Instead of that, for all that we do wrong, all that we try to do against our spirit, we feel guilty and moreover if the teachings are such, that “you better feel guilty” all the time what we are doing is to feel guilty and catch on this Chakra on the left Viśhuddhi, to such an extent, that in the West wherever I go I tell them, first of all, you just say one mantra, `Mother, I am not guilty.' Take it out of you, who are you to feel guilty? When God loves you so much, He has made you the epitome of evolution, you are at the highest point, why should you judge yourself and feel guilty? Is He not capable of forgiving you? Have you no faith in His ocean of love? But this is the basics of the mistakes that are committed in the name of Christ. I'm telling to the priests, now who is a priest here, coming from theological college, can you learn about Divinity in the theological college? Did Christ go to any theological college? How did He get it, how did He get the knowledge, through enlightenment, enlightenment has to be there. The way He has clearly stated everything, nobody liked it, because of vested interest. Everybody has vested interest.

Nobody is sincere, honest and they want to exploit others to make money. You cannot make money in the name of God. Is sin. Such people can never enter into the kingdom of God. That's why Christ has said, “You'll be calling Me, `Christ, Christ,' I won't recognize you." That's a fact.

So if you have to be a truthful person, just a truthful person, do not feel guilty about it. Do not feel you have committed sin. There's a little story in India that one missionary came to a village in India.

Indian people are in the villages very simple, you know, they are not so sophisticated.

So when he was going, they praised him a lot, “Sir, we are thankful to you that you have told us what is sin and that we are sinners." They didn't know they were sinning. And this is one of the things that Blake brought forth for us to show that Christ was a person who brought a new message over Moses. Of course Moses was needed at the time when Jews had to come up, that was the time they needed it and He brought these Shariat laws; it was Moses who started but Muslims are following them. Now when today we are in this twentieth century, sitting down here, we have to see what is the prophecy of this great man, William Blake.

Can you imagine, His birthday was in this month, Guru Nanaka's birthday in this month, Mohammed Sahib's birthday on this month, all these great people were born on this month. Now, this month also we celebrated the Diwali. Such a great month is this one and in this month those who are born have to be great people.

In the whole understanding of Blake, I find a single lonely man, plowing this land with the seeds of wisdom. I'm here just to reap it; He's the one who planted, watered, made ready by Shakespeare, you can say; you have had many great poets here, Wordsworth another one who really is enchanting and beautiful.

I think Wordsworth must have seen the fate of William Blake and he said better describe the nature, forget about human beings; he must have thought of it, thinking it to be an incorrigible land where He cannot sow anything. But whatever it is, what Blake has done is to give you a new vision and a new idea, because in the West, Christ has been shrunk to a position of someone who was just a human being and now, when you hear the way people describe Him, I'm amazed. From where did they get this vision? Have they got eyes or are they blind to talk like this about Him? I hear the bishops talking like that, all your archbishops talking like that. Have they no fear of God? What's going to happen to this country if you talk about Christ like that? And you are going to have now pictures and films showing Him to be a unrighteous personality, showing His Mother naked. No respect. Even Blake, I don't know if you have noticed it, He paints human beings naked all right, but not Gods. Christ He never painted, He never paints them that way, the respect. While we, the great intellectuals of modern times are trying all these tricks, just to bring forth the wrath of God upon ourselves.

The second point about Him was that He was a printer. We should think why did He become a printer? Why Blake took to printing? He has described Himself the hell where the books were created and how He has described, how at every Chakra we created a devil and put them in the libraries. I'm... that's why against the books very much, Myself. But why did He become a printer? It's very important to know and why He wrote so much about printing. We see the media today. The media, that's the devil He described.

The media is the one has ruined you completely believe Me, just to make money out of you, playing upon your weaknesses, making your children and you weaker and weaker, the society completely being destroyed, systematically. This is the media He wanted to hit, that's why He took His birth and became a printer. He could have been anything else. No poet was a printer in England or anywhere else. It was Blake, who became that. The reason was He wanted to show that this media is the one and let Him cut it at its root.

But as you know, evil grows, whether you like it or not and today's media we cannot understand to what extent it has destroyed us, our roots, our faiths, all our sublime and righteous visions. I know that I Myself was asked by your television people and all that, to come down and talk to them. But amazed at the way the people told Me that an Anglo Saxon brain, God knows who made that brain, cannot understand anything that can be done without money. I said you first get your realisation, otherwise I'm not coming to your programs, or to your televisions. That's the triumphant pride of Christ you can see in His crucifixion. He didn't care, He could have gone fallen at the feet, you see, as our politicians do, morning til evening, moving from one place to another. He would have gone to the scribes and the Pharisees and said, “Oh, please forgive, I will serve you all My life, I'll sell everything." He would not accept that bribe.

He went with that triumphant pride on the cross. But what does it show? What does it show? That we, the stupid, crucified that great Personality and today are we not again crucifying Him? That's why I'll say that He was a great Prophet, because He makes prophecies that, if you do not take to the right path, if you do not take to the higher seeking, all these things will show. Now we have to understand, because it concerns us. This is what is happening to us, to us, to our children, to our families, to our society, to our country. Let us face it and understand that compassion of God can fail in such horrible, blazing hearts, which doesn't have any understanding of the spirit. Sahaja Yoga came on this earth long time back, much before I came on this earth and today it has come to England. We should say I came here twelve years back. It took fourteen years for Blake to write Jerusalem and I think after fourteen years also if I could really feel satisfied that I've been able to do some justice to Him in this Jerusalem that He wanted to build, I'll be very much grateful to you all. But it's not so, it's a very disappointing thing. People don't want to listen anything, they want to listen to something that they like, that you have to play on their weaknesses; all the time tell them that whatever wrong you are doing is a good thing; go ahead with it.

Now the compassion and love of Christ can work out miracles, no doubt. It can work out, because He came for us. The whole universe was created for us. It is for us to receive all the blessings of the Divine.

It is we who are going to become the spirit. As He said, “You are to be born again." But the conditioning, of the subtle conditionings of these... surroundings and the atmosphere, the history and all that, is so much embedded in us, but we don't realise and are not aware, that we have to look upward.

Blake's life was another crucifixion, I feel. When I read Him, tears fall continuously sometimes. What a Son of a great Father, who said Christ was not bothered about His parents. He ran away from the house at the age of twelve years. That means all the boys are now running from their houses at twelve years taking to drugs; that's the best way we can pay homage to Him, by running away from the houses taking to drugs, because Christ ran away from the house at the age of twelve years. And He said, “This is My Father's business” that's what He writes, “What do I care for the parents?" That does not mean that you should not respect your parents, but it means that, `I am at a higher seeking, I have a higher seeking, I have to move in another direction. You have lived in this direction, whatever it is you have balanced your life, but I have to ascend.' And this is the message He has tried to put forward before you, very clearly. That is so obvious, so clear-cut. Wherever He's so fiery, wherever He's so compassionate, wherever He's so gentle, wherever He's so modest, the inner line is one that, “Achieve your ascent; achieve your higher being; become that." He has prepared grounds for us here in England. As I have told you many a times, England is a very important part of the universe, which I don't know how many Englishmen realise. It is the heart of the universe; it is small, but so important. But what do we get from the heart? What do we have in the heart? Racialism. If Christ comes here, you'll throw Him out because He's not English, or do you believe that He was English? What do we get? We can't love our children, we kill our children, we ill-treat them. You are sitting in the heart of the universe. This is the heart of the universe and what do you have to give to the world? The spirit. The spirit resides in your heart and that's why Blake said that England has to become Jerusalem, because it is the heart. That means spirit has to come in the attention of the universe, otherwise things won't work out, but from where is it going to come, this spirit, where is going to be awakened? It is going to be awakened in the human beings and where are those human beings, in the heart? Where are they living? Even those who have come here, immigrants and all that, they are gone cases, useless, good for nothing. And those who are living here are already lethargic; the heart is lethargic, it cannot pump anything out of it. First it was over pumping, tried to impress the whole world and now after the impression, it is in depression.

This heart has to awaken, to make the whole world a spiritual being. Do we realise our responsibility? Do we understand this, what is the role we have to play as a spiritual being? You have to play a role as a spiritual being now; but we are not, we are busy with all other nonsensical things, but with the spirit.

I have labored for twelve years, as I said and I think I'll have to stay here for two years more, fourteen years and then only maybe, I hope so, Jerusalem will start showing its results in this country. You can do it, you are the only ones who can do it, nobody else. You are entitled to that. God has chosen you to be born here, with a purpose. But you can't talk to any one about religion, they don't discuss religion. But what religion? Religion which contains all the religions of the world. Religion which is the inner balance, the tranquility within you, which gives you the ascent and we don't discuss it. This is out of etiquette, we can discuss all the drunkards and all the pubs of the world, but we cannot discuss such a horrible thing like religion, which is so innate and within ourselves.

You cannot have anything in the newspaper about it. But, He has described all the fake Gurus and all the Satanic people with such a strong description of all these and you see them and thousands follow these nonsensical people, pay them money, become beggars, but they don't want to come to reality. Why, I ask Myself, why it's happening like this? No use going to any excuses. Here is someone who has given you such a lot of explanation. Holy Ghost, He says and Holy Ghost... a vacuum. You ask anyone, I was surprised, when it was asked to some very big bishop, “What do you think of Holy Ghost?" He says, “I'm agnostic, agnostic." Then... from India... asks him, “Then what are you doing here?" He said, “I am doing my job, as you are doing your job." [UNCLEAR] it's all quiet. He's agnostic, he doesn't know anything about Holy Ghost.

What is Holy Ghost? William Blake has said, “It resides within you." Why don't we find out where does it reside?... Why not we go out of the way to find out? Bible cannot contain Christ, the whole universe cannot contain Christ. Let us go out and find out what others have to say about it. But we are very insular self-opinionated, great people sitting here in complete lethargy. We have no time, we don't think anybody to be considered about it, let us go out and see. What is Holy Ghost is very simple; Holy Ghost is the Kuṇḍalinī. See, you use logic, not rationality but logic, is different. If you use your logic, you will see that we have a Trinity, Holy Trinity. We have God Almighty, all right and we have the Son and the Holy Ghost. Have you heard of any father having a son without the mother? Then who is the Holy Ghost is the Primordial Mother. Automatically you come to that conclusion, but Mother should not be mentioned.

That's why Blake has said about the daughters of Albion, because He knew the way the women were suppressed in this life. Very sophisticated ways. In Sanskrit it is said [in `Manusmriti'], “Yatra narya[stu] pujyante tatra ramante Devatā” “Where the women are worshipped, there remains the domain of the deities." Where they are worshipped and they have to be worshipful, not the harlots, in the brothels and the women who walk nude and show off their nudity to excite the baser self, but the ones who are worshipful, where they reside, reside the Gods.

So these women were suppressed and suppressed to such an extent that they did not want to talk about God as a Woman, anywhere.

So Holy Ghost is something abstract, a dove. All right, it's a dove, then what. What does it do the dove? Why is it so important that we should have blessings from the dove? Nobody explains, it's a mystery.

We have to live with a mystery; everything is a mystery, the banking is a mystery here, the where does the money go is also a mystery. It has something to do with the Mafiā, that's also a mystery, then the Masonic people are organizing the Switzerland bank is also a mystery. Everything mysterious and hidden and kept aside, “Oh, that is not to be said, this is just `overseas banking.' Oh good, very good name." It's `overseas banking,' it is this, it is that and we carry on with this hypocrisy, we carry on with all these false notions, “Oh that's all right, that's all right, that part is all right." This is not forgiveness. What is the forgiveness for the cunning? What is the forgiveness for the crooked? What is the forgiveness for Satan? Discrimination is needed when we talk of forgiveness. Forgiveness is for the people who think they have committed sins. It's only in thinking you commit sins, otherwise you do not. Look at a dog, look at a tiger, look at all these people, if tiger has to eat the cow, it eats; does it commit any sin? It does not know about a sin. “Now I didn't know what is sin is” he will say that, “I didn't know it was a sin, you see I just ate it, but what is the sin?" Just to condemn someone all the time, “You are the sinners, you did this sin, you did that sin." Human beings, they are the temple of God. With what care, with love, affection, delicacy they are created. For what? This lotus has been brought out of the mire of illusion for what? To be condemned? To be trampled? To be ill-treated in this way, that too in the name of God? Lotuses are created to be offered to the Gods, with their fragrance, to illuminate the whole world. They are the poetic genius of the Lord, as He has described. While we look at human beings as something to be exploited, to be suppressed, to be oppressed and so, as He says, there are two types of people and He has given horrible names to them, who try to oppress the people, who try to devour the people and He calls that the religion now has become the compromise between the two.

While the innocent suffer, while the simple suffer, while the seekers suffer, while the good suffer, that's the fact. Let us all of us join together now and get our realisation. Become the spirit. Is the easiest thing to do for you, because the Holy Ghost, which is the Kuṇḍalinī, is within you. In the triangular bone She resides and She can be awakened. Now one may say that, “Why didn't He talk about Kuṇḍalinī?" Whatever He talked, who listened to him? Whatever He said, who tried to understand; till today I don't find many people have understood Him. Whatever He manifested, who bothered to know about it? And if He had talked of something more, it would have been obscure. But He says, “I don't care for the idiots for whom My sayings are obscure." He says clearly. He has used only thrice the word `idiot' I think, many times `stupid' and so many times `the fools'. Above all that, to Me, all of them are God's own children.

I know how He was angry. I know why He was angry and I also understand Him that He thought that, before Sahaja Yoga coming here, let Me scold them, let Me give them a thump, let Me open them with a big blow, so they are ready. But in His criticism, I read, they said He was not acceptable because He went too far.

Same with Me. People don't accept Me because I go too far. I must try to please them. Am I seeking your votes that I should try to please you? I have to tell you the truth, whether you like it or not. I want you to accept it because that's what I am here for. I'm here for that, that you accept the truth and get it. I'll do My level best. I can make food for you, I can give you good food to you, I can give you presents, I can do whatever a Mother can do for Her children. But when it doesn't work out, She has to shout sometimes. She has to say things clearly, because you have to get it. Now you cannot force it on people, this is the biggest problem is. You cannot force Self-realisation on to people, you cannot do it by force. Say if the... supposing Russians tell Me they are very much interested to know about Sahaja Yoga.

No doubt. But if they tell Me that, `You come to our government and give them realisation,' I cannot, I cannot do it. You have to be free people. When you are free, then you are abandoned, see, the wages of freedom we are paying. Nobody is free, in New York if you go, I have to take out all these ornaments, which I am supposed to wear because of My family. I have to go there without a purse, I have to tie up My purse inside here see something, otherwise they'll rob it. Nothing is safe.

So this kind of a freedom which leads to violence, to butchery; actually the way we have butchered our children, butchered our elders, the way insulted every one of them, all that goes hand in hand with freedom. This is no freedom, this is absolutely unleashed abandonment of the brutal self within us.

So whether you go to Russia or to here Sahaja Yoga is in a problem, whether you go to the left or to the right, I just don't understand, where will it prosper, where freedom is used with wisdom, with respect. If you cannot respect the freedom of others you do not have the freedom at all, you have never known the freedom, you have never enjoyed the freedom.

So the freedom of human beings has to be respected and when this freedom is respected, then only you can get your realisation and then only you can enter into higher freedom, into complete liberty that Blake has described.

There are seekers, so many seekers in this country and so many are lost, so many are lost. There have been people who are saved by Sahaja Yoga, who have been taking drugs, overnight they gave up, overnight.

How? It's a mechanism within you, God has built that, that power of the spirit when it enlightens you, you just become so powerful, you give up. But beforehand if I say, `Don't have this and don't have that,' you cannot do it. You do not have that power of the spirit. Most of the incarnations who came before Christ didn't realise this point, that human beings are not enlightened, they don't have the power of the spirit within them. Christ realised it and He said it openly, “You are to be born again." Not only that, but He said, “First of all forgive, talk of forgiveness." So that they settle down, that they are not paranoid, that they are not upset. Let them be settled down in peace and in compassion and then awaken their Kuṇḍalinī and then give them realisation.

So then you have the power, then there is no temptation, nothing like that. Will you tempt Christ with anything? You cannot. In the same way you do not get enslaved to any temptations. You rise in your own beauty and glory and your own strength and power. You don't have to get subdued to anything. This is what is Self-realisation. Sahaja Yoga came to London about twelve years back when I came. Now I am not an immigrant for your information, at all. I just came by chance, I should say, or by God's ordained programming. My husband got elected to this job out of hundred and thirty-four nations, you see. He was elected, we came here, just because he was elected, not even appointed, but elected and elected four times unanimously. He is the senior most senior secretary-general.

So we had to come here and that's how I'm here, otherwise I may not have ever come to England to teach Sahaja Yoga.

With Blake, One feels compelled to try and try and try to establish Jerusalem, whatever may be the case, whatever may be the disappointment, whatever may be the disgust, doesn't matter. One has to do it.

He had such faith in the England's soil that we have to build the Jerusalem. But first, everyone of you who are here must get your realisation and humble down before your realisation. You are not to be arrogant with it. He said Christ was not humble before human beings, but before God He was. Before His Father He was. In the same way, you have to be humble before your spirit and before your Self-realisation and you have to get to the higher state. It's surprising that in India, we had all this knowledge all these years, but we were supposed to be heathens, I don't know what else they called us. We were supposed to be slaves.

Nobody wanted to know anything about it, the knowledge of the roots existed and our intellectuals also never bothered, they always followed Oxford and Cambridge traditions. With this Oxbridge business, we never got through people to tell them about this great knowledge we had in that country and everything subsided.

This knowledge is not meant for India, is not meant for any particular place, is meant for the whole world, as your knowledge of science, all the knowledge of the tree is meant for the whole world, which you gave it to us, or to give it to all the Eastern countries and people accept it. What's the harm in accepting the knowledge which comes to you for your benevolence; only because it is from the Eastern side you feel so insecure about it? From where did Christ come? He came from America? I think He must have run away.

Despite that I must say among all of them, British are the most matured. But we run after Americans, we run after French, we run after everyone, not being aware of ourselves, what we are, we are wisdom. We are the people who represent the heart of the universe and time has taken, from Him to this time, that we have matured now. I hope we have matured enough to understand that there has to be a breakthrough.

When they published My handbills, you see, somehow it so happened that My face has come out quite black in that. I said, “Forget it, nobody will come to our program, if you show such a black face they'll say, `Oh, somebody coming from Africa is trying to teach us what is Jerusalem.' " So they had to redo it, to show that I am not that black. What difference does it make, the skin deep colour? The colour comes from the heart, the beauty comes from the heart, the exuberance of the heart expresses that beauty on your being and the beauty of the truth is that, that it acts, it works. It just doesn't decorate itself, it doesn't try to take to ways and methods of luring people but it acts, whether you like it or not it acts.

Let us work it out. Is simple. Instead of going into intellectual feats and going into the direction of finite understanding through your brains, let us go to the infinite; that's only possible when you get to your spirit, which is infinite, which creates the collective consciousness within. Which creates, I say, which means knowledge, but knowledge does not mean what you know through your brain, but what you know through your central nervous system; that you can feel it, that you can feel the Chakras of everyone on your fingertips. Mohammed Sahib has said, “At the time of resurrection your hands will speak." But look at the Muslims, they never, never talk of the resurrection, when most of Koran is nothing but resurrection. They talk of the doomsday because they have to make money by frightening people.

Beware of the doomsday, you give the money, we'll save you, we'll give a certificate; at the doomsday you stand with the certificate, you'll be saved. First they will go down in the doomsday.

This is for every religion, people have used it for very baser things, making money, creating political ideas. I can't understand how can diamonds be thrown into dirt like this and covered with that and the fragrance turned into filth. It is beyond Me. The powers of human beings sometimes supersede that of God, you can see the way they can change the forms, they change the beauty, change everything that is reality, into something nonsensical and stupid. And they live with it, they don't want to know about it; they enjoy it. “We are very happy people, what's wrong." What a waste, one feels, of this creation. One feels with what aspirations and visions these human beings were created on this earth. And then what should we do to make them understand what they are, to make them aware with that perception, with that vision of the Divine that they are? Sometimes, I also cry in the wilderness and share some of the pathos of all these poets who came on this earth and suffered and suffered and suffered.

I hope today, with all this anguish, whatever I am telling you, you will try to see that sincerity is the only way you can understand yourself. No books, nothing, no conditioning, no denial, nothing can convince you but the sincerity to know the spirit, which is within you and this sincerity I call it as the pure desire. If you have that pure desire, which is the power of your Kuṇḍalinī, you will get your realisation.

Now, just now, the shoot. That's all is needed, the pure desire to be the spirit, nothing more than that.

But when it is awakened, then it is to be looked after, that's very important; it has to be looked after, it has to be kept burning, it has to be manoeuvreed and kept at a point that you start growing more and more. I need not tell you all about Sahaja Yoga, it's going to be too much for you, but how Blake has worked for us.

So many poets have done this job and now the new great poets are coming to finish us off, to please the media, to make money, befool us, using flowery words, pleasing sentences, taking us to hell directly. Beware of them, beware, save your children from them, save the whole community. The whole of England has to be saved because if the heart dies, the whole universe will die.

May God bless you.

The Sahaja Yogis didn't want Me to allow you to ask Me questions but I think better ask Me some questions.

Question:... about the Chakras...

Shri Mataji: Yes sir. That's what I said, that I didn't talk about them because it would be too long a lecture but we have got a book on this, a little book and there it is all written though I say that before realisation don't even read that book, can create problems. You can know all about the subtle side, the Chakras and everything without paying anything, without any effort. There are people now in England, you will be surprised, so many of them are excellent Sahaja Yogis who are experts and they will tell you all about it very clearly. We have got books to explain. As you see there are seven Chakras are shown here.

The lowermost is the Mūlādhāra Chakra, is the innocence.

Question:... can you see it with your eyes, outside the body, can you see it?

Shri Mataji: If you see something then you are not that. And people have seen it because they were not that, because they moved on the sides, on the sympathetic nervous system, what we call the Iḍā and Piñgalā. When you go on sympathetic nervous system you can see it from outside. Like this building you can see it from outside, but when you are in it you don't see it, you see only the inside.

So that's what it is, when you ascend, you need not see anything, you become, you get the powers. People have seen it no doubt, but that one should not ask for. I can see the glass, better to drink the water. Now what else? Question:... what do You do with all Your wealth, all your money?

Shri Mataji: My money? Are you from the bank? What I do with My money, what do you want Me to do? What sort of a question is this? Ask a simple straightforward question madam I don't understand what do I do with My money, I don't do anything with it. Actually My husband manages his money, I ask him whatever I like. Of course he earns a lot no doubt, he earns very much. I sometimes tell him, “I'm ashamed the way they give you money” because he doesn't even pay any tax you know. Of course I do spend some money on Sahaja Yoga, I must confess I have to sometimes, what to do? One has to and these people have their own ashrams, where they stay and look after it. For this hall they must have collected some money I don't know, I don't know what do they do with their money, I don't know, I have no idea, I've never seen that. They are honest people, they all know all about it. I don't know anything, I have nothing to do with it. This is the aggressiveness, “What do I do with My money?" Just look at this. Yes sir? Question:... a man has mental illness, he wants to know whether he'll have it after he dies...

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, just now you can cure it. Why to think of death? You can be cured of your mental illness at least, minimum, that could be done.

Question:... How can you tell that it's Self-realisation? You feel a breeze but how does it become...

Shri Mataji: You see, when you feel the Cool Breeze is the beginning of it, all right? Now you have to see what this Cool Breeze is, all right? Now if you go to a college of science or a college of medicine what you have to do is to see what it is, isn't it; and to see whatever it says does it prove. Now, when you see the Cool Breeze in your hand, what happens that it is, as I said, is the compassion of God say for example, you just believe in the hypothesis just now. Now what is this compassion doing, is made you a computer. On the fingertips you can tell what centers are catching, of yours and of others, so you become the diagnosis. Now if you know a little few gestures by which you can handle this power, you can cure them. That's the minimum, all right? You can know from this whether you have mental problem or you have emotional problem, or you have physical problem and of what nature. This is how is the Self-knowledge starts, from the very basics.

What's your problem with you, first let us see the problem on the centers, all right? Then you move forward when you go with it, then you understand what's the problem with others; then what's the problem in the collective; then what's the problem of this country; and if you know how to solve them, sitting down here, you can do it, you can solve it. But this is the breeze which has to be felt first because this is the breeze which we call as the All-pervading Power of God. Now, just because I say you should not believe Me, because blind faith is of no use, but you can experiment and see for yourself. Even little children know.

They can tell you what is catching in you, what Chakras are catching. You can have ten children, `fold' their eyes, put them before a gentleman, immediately they'll raise this finger or this finger. Supposing they raise this finger, means this person feels terribly guilty. He must be a Catholic that he feels so guilty.

That the children won't say but you will know that this is the Chakra is caught up here because he's feeling guilty.

Like that you can go on finding on your own being like a laboratory the whole thing becomes like a computer because it is knowledge, knowledge through your central nervous system, through your evolutionary process. But you have to practice and understand what it is. If I give you a car, how will you know it moves unless and until you get into it and know how to drive it, isn't it. You have to give some time, not much, but you enjoy, best part of it you enjoy doing the whole thing. It just flows automatically, you don't have to do anything about it.

But one has to learn, little bit, what it is. Before realisation you don't have to do anything, it just forms spontaneously as the seed is sown in the Mother Earth, all right? Then when it comes out, then you have to look after it; the same way you have to look after your realisation, respect it. Then you become the masters. We have one master standing here and we have so many. They are just like you to look at, but they know so much and they are so humble. They don't go about with a big plate on their heads `I am the master of this and master of that' nothing. They are doing all their jobs, they are doing very well, they are blessed and also they are helping people to get their realisation. You'll be surprised in Sahaja Yoga very difficult to get an unemployed person. All of them are employed. If they are unemployed they get employment with God also. Basically they are employed by God. All right? Question: Is this the only way to get realisation?

Shri Mataji: Yes, of course; there cannot be another, God could not make thousand and one, could He? That would be too much of a headache, like as you sprout the seed, how do you do it? Spontaneously.

Sahaja Yoga means spontaneous, living process is always spontaneous. Now supposing we want to sprout a seed and we take out the primule, push it out and push it inside the Mother Earth, will it sprout, no.

You have to take advantage of the powers of the Mother Earth, to sprout a seed, isn't it? Question:... saying she has not come across Sahaja Yoga in the religions, that there are many religions.

Shri Mataji: In the religions there's no... religions are no religions, that's the trouble is. I have told you all this just now that there is nothing, they will never mention that is sensible, but it's not so.

I would say Sikhism, we can say is the latest religion. I mean there are so many verses about, much later than Islam, Sikhism came on this earth and they have said that, complete description, I mean you don't understand Hindi otherwise I would have told you, Iḍā, Piñgalā, Suṣhumnā, everything they have described, Kabīra has described at such length that we have in India a great poet Gñyāneśhwara and He has described all about Kuṇḍalinī. If you go in Maharashtra and tell them that somebody is going to awaken the Kuṇḍalinī, they'll all rush, they know all about it.

How many years did Christ live? How many times He could talk to people? How many of them accepted Him and how many of them understood Him? He went to a wrong place, I tell you; all were deaf, dumb and brainless. How will they understand? How could He talk about Kuṇḍalinī when everybody was after His life? But He did talk of Holy Ghost, He talked of the Comforter He was going to send. He talked of so many things in that short time. Do you know for four years I was struggling with seven hippies in London; for four years. I must say, it's very creditable for Him in three and a half years to talk so much.

How many years Blake had to work hard to talk to you? Is it easy to talk to people about truth? Very difficult; everybody is extremely intelligent and wise, nobody want to listen to anything, do they? But in India we have a tradition; we know it; that you have to ascend. The whole thing works out that way. If they talk of Kuṇḍalinī, not in the North [India] so much, but in Maharashtra, if you go, if you go in the South [India], you'll be amazed six thousand people, seven thousand people come in a village. They have seen it, these people have seen it, they come in bullock carts, they come in, any way that is possible for them, buses and trains and they walk miles together when they hear I'm there.

Once I was coming from a program in the night and suddenly I found lots of people lying on the road.

I said, “Who are these people?" They said, “Mother we couldn't reach Your program, we were late, You give us realisation here." I said: “All right, have it." They had it, they are the ones who'll get much faster than anyone else, I know, that's why I don't mind spending some time here. Once I go there, you will see the whole country would be ablaze, I'm not telling you lies, you ask the people who have been there. They are very different type of people, to them most important is their spirit. If you tell them what, the way we talk about Christ here, so disrespectfully, without understanding, they are shocked. Any Indian who is a Christian or a Muslim or a Hindu, doesn't treat the way you treat Bible. The respect they have has come to them traditionally. Of course you don't judge Indians by the Indians who have come here. They like your company, they are this type, they are materialistic, they want to have money, they have come here to earn money, but the people who are in India in the villages, not in the cities, are still seeking, seeking God, they're very simple people, humble people.

Traditionally we have known for thousands of years. I talk of Mārkandeya who was there twelve thousand years back, who incarnated here as William Blake. Twelve thousand years back He said the same thing which is said in England after twelve thousand years, because that time I don't know what was here, may be only jungles, I think. And that is also waste, isn't it, tell Me, isn't it? How much could Christ talk about Kuṇḍalinī? He talked of Holy Ghost. But why stick on to that, now I have come to talk to you. Better take your realisation; when He came, they talked of Moses, when Moses came they talked of Abraham. What about the present, I am with you, why not have your realisation? All religions were built for this day, that you get your realisation, to give you the balance, to give you that property by which you ascend. Like when we have an aeroplane, we fix it up properly; in the same way they wanted to fix you up, but the religions went astray, they made people crooked, the things they fixed, wrong bolts into wrong places, the whole aeroplane is in a tattered condition if it flies, it will all fall down. Better give up all those ideas. But Kuṇḍalinī is such a great force, it's such a great force; it comforts you, it cures you, it builds up all your centers and slowly moves upward and when if you get realisation, also it goes back, attends to all these problems that you have. It's such a mother she is. Any other question, please? Question: Why are you to be known as Mātājī, Mother?

Shri Mataji: I didn't follow.

Sahaja Yogi: Nor did I. Why are You to be known as Mātājī?

Shri Mataji: As Shri Mataji? That's the title they gave Me, what can I do? In India. You have to be an Indian to understand that. There are certain things described, about Shri Mataji. If you have read any books, of Ādi Shañkarāchārya, or of Mārkandeya Himself, then you will know and the qualities described there of such a person, if they find it in someone, they call that person by that name, isn't it? Like Gandhiji was called as Mahatma Gandhi. Mahatma means a bigger spirit than others, because he had that. He didn't care for himself or his own family, everything for his own, but he thought of the whole country; that's why he was called Mahatma. Now, but I didn't call Myself; if others want to call I think is all right, I have no objection. You can call anything, whatever you see, you can call that. By calling that, what is your objection? Can I ask you this question? Beg pardon? [No objection.] No objection. All right, that's all right. See, then it's all right, if you understand that it is must be some reason also.

[Further question from same person.] Question: Do you have some Divine Power?

Shri Mataji: That you better find out; I am not going to be tactless on that. Christ said what was the truth, that He was the Son of God, all right, but they crucified Him. I don't want to get crucified so soon.

Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: But the one who is an Indian, who is an Indian and Englishmaṇ[Hindi.] You see it is for an... Indians understand it better. [Hindi.] I'm sorry I'm speaking in Hindi because I have to little bit chastise the Indians here, I hope you don't mind. [Hindi.] Now, what is another question please? Yes please? Sahaja Yogi [explaining a question]: Mother, she is asking if you can cure physical ailment, I mean the answer's yes, that comes from Self-realisation, no question. [Continuing:] Shri Mataji with your permission, the majority of people have come for the experience and are anxious to have, I may be mistaken, but I think most people would like to stop questions and...

Shri Mataji: But sometimes you know those who want to ask, let them ask, otherwise the brain will again put out a question. Now madam, what is it?

Sahaja Yogi: She's asking You, Mother, what life was like for You as a child?

Shri Mataji: As a child? I mean that's another story; you come and see Me, I'll tell you all about it.

Why do you want to know about My past and future? Let us at the present time to get your realisation; makes no difference what I was as a child, or what I was as an old woman.

Sahaja Yogi:... She's asking whether you have an opinion about the growth of interest in spirituality in England...

Shri Mataji: What spirituality? Sahaja Yogi asks questioner: spiritualism or spirituality? Questioner answers: spiritualism.

Shri Mataji: That's the witchcraft, revived; very, very dangerous. Ah, is very dangerous, never go near that, all this parapsychology and all those things. We have described all these things in our book; you can have a look at it. Is a very comprehensive thing, Sahaja Yoga is. Is the witchcraft, you may call it spirituality, because a spirit can be also a dead soul as I told you, in English language. There is no `ism' about God. It's infinite. `Isms' are all finite things.

Sahaja Yogi [explaining a question]: She's praising Your lecture, Mother and saying now that... she'll go back to read Blake again.

Shri Mataji: I'm very happy, I'm very happy that you say that, madam, it's really such a great poet, but you'll be surprised in India, none of them brought Blake. We never read Blake there, never; you see we studied English language, we studied Shakespeare, we studied so many things, but never they mentioned Blake, you know. I don't know why. In the whole education system of India, they never mentioned Blake.

Question: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: That's very nice, such books you must read. Such books you must read.

Someone: [disclaims in Sanskrit.]

Shri Mataji: You see there's a Sanskrit scholar here, but the greatest Guru is the Mother, don't you think so? The Mother is the Guru of the Gurus. But it's very difficult, because Guru is a hard stuff, you see. A mother has to be very soft, kind, gentle to manage the show, but the Guru can be very hard and they are very hard people, but Mother as a Guru is a difficult task, it's very enjoyable.

Now I have given at least eleven lectures on Guru Tattwa, all right? So you can take tapes from them, you can read it and you will enjoy it very well. Here the Guru Tattwa is expressed in the Void, there, where the ten Gurus actually incarnated basically and they reincarnated. Say we can start from Ādi Nath, then we can come to other ones like Nanaka, Janaka. Janaka was much earlier, then we can say Abraham, Moses. All these were Guru Tattwa, Socrates, all these were Guru Tattwa people, the people who came as Prophets; the ones who came on this earth to teach us balance, to teach us the code of life. That was also important part, but that was forgot. Why? Why the code, why the religion? Religion is for the ascent, to build you up.

Question: [UNCLEAR Tattwa].

Shri Mataji: TatTwam asi, that's what is the Tattwa there; Tattwa is there; Tattwa is nothing but your Kuṇḍalinī is your Tattwa, is the principle...

Question: [UNCLEAR] Pārvatī, Shiva; She's also called as Kuṇḍalinī.

Shri Mataji: Of course. Yes, yes, it is all over, same thing. I'm just giving you the gist of it.

Sahaja Yogi: She's asking, Mother, who was Mother Durgā, she's asking about who was Mother Durgā?

Shri Mataji: A very direct question; I told you, I'm very tactful, I'm not going to confess anything.

You better find out, it's better to find out. It's nice, isn't it? To find out yourself.

Sahaja Yogi:... I'll explain, Mother, the program is that tonight will be the experience of realisation and we have another program on Saturday evening, here in the same place, which will be for this knowledge part; after realisation, the knowledge makes more sense, so it's better to get the experience...

Shri Mataji: But our experience is very funny, I must tell you that for My program, even if there may be one thousand people, for getting realisation, after that they just get lost, never grow. That's only more in England, they just don't... they'll get lost, I think they must be going to the pub after that. I can't explain why it happens but they just get lost, they don't want to know anything anymore. I don't know why, I cannot explain, I mean, is something I cannot explain. All right, let's have it now.

So now, if we are all settled down, it's very simple, Sahaj also means simple, Sahaj; saha means `with' ja means `born'; is born with you, this right to get this union, this Yoga, is born with you, is within you and is the living process of the living God so it is spontaneous. Everything that is living is spontaneous and should happen to all of you, no doubt about it. You don't have to do anything as I said but you have to receive the power within yourself, to invite the Kuṇḍalinī to rise. Now first thing I have to request, I hope it is not too much of it, that we have to take out our shoes to touch the Mother Earth. Is very important because the Mother Earth is the one which sucks in, for a while. I don't know, is there a carpet there? Be in a mood of reception and also of well-being, in a happy mood, because this is the greatest moment of our lives.

Now as I said that these fingers, here five, six and seven, on the same way this way, represent the two sides of the Chakras within us, the sympathetic sides, so we have to put our hands like this, just like this, simple as that. And sit, not crossed legged but putting both the feet with respect, towards the Mother Earth, in parallel to each other. Now maybe some of you must have started feeling the Cool Breeze, I don't know, might have, because today's lecture was rather too terrific and William Blake must have worked it out I'm sure. But otherwise is very simple. Now we have to do is to ourselves awaken our own Kuṇḍalinī, which is very simple, which I will tell you. In the heart resides the spirit so first we'll have to put our hand to our heart. I will tell you one by one. And then in the upper part of your stomach where the Guru Tattwa is here, the principle of Guru is there. Then in the lower part of the abdomen, where it is the Divine, or we can say the Pure Knowledge that exists and which works. This is the center through which the Pure Knowledge, the pure technique, works. Then we take this hand again back, same way, up to this point where, it is here, when we are guilty we catch this Chakra. Now here works our self-confidence, our faith in God that He forgives us. Then we put our hand on top of our head, this is the Āgñyā Chakra, which is very important. Here we forgive everyone; then at the back of the Āgñyā Chakra again, where we have to say that, `If we done any mistake, oh God forgive us.' These are the two sides of the Āgñyā Chakra. And then you put your hand, stretch it, put this part on the fontanelle bone area, the soft bone which was on top of our head and press it hard and move it hard, for a while. That's all one has to do.

I'll tell you one by one.

First and foremost thing is, we have to close our eyes, because eyes take out our attention; but attention will be sucked inside our body in the sense it will go through the, just like this cloth, it is spread out, but as Kuṇḍalinī rises,

She sucks it in and then pierces through this attention, enlight[en] ing all of that.

It's a happening that takes place without any trouble whatsoever. As a result of that, what you get is the Cool Breeze coming out of your head; you can also feel the Cool Breeze in your fingertips; then later on in your hands and you get that shine on your skin. Christ has said, “The face that does not shine cannot become the star." And then you get that glint of shine of the spirit in your eyes. That's all, is not the point, is much, much, much, much more but just a wee bit that we have to today testify and later on to find out have we got realisation all right, then can we work it out, can we do this, because later on we have to play our role now as a spiritual being, that's the point one has to understand.

So now, have respect for yourself first of all; and not to feel guilty at all. You are the temple of God, really believe Me you are made that way, only the light is to be kindled and that is in your heart. When the Kuṇḍalinī rises, she's something like an energy that does that because when she pierces through, this is the place where the God Almighty resides, who is reflected in our heart as the spirit and the All-pervading Power, which is the Primordial Mother, the Holy Ghost, this vibrations that you feel, the power of God, the love of God which is represented within us as the Kuṇḍalinī, rises and unites us, our attention to the Divine. The spirit enlightens the attention and by that enlightenment you know, on your fingertips, on your central nervous system, through your new collective consciousness about yourself and about others.

Through Sahaja Yoga you know how to cure, improve and through this happening, through the spirit you enjoy because spirit, the nature of spirit is satchidānand, means it is the truth, it becomes the attention and it is the source of joy. Without getting realisation you can be happy and unhappy but you cannot be joy, which has no dualism. You become the source of joy. Such a person, when he meets someone; he sees someone, he looks at someone, just a kataksh is sufficient to raise the Kuṇḍalinī, just a glance is sufficient to cure that person; just a thought, can give comfort to the other person. Miracles after miracles, so many miracles that as Sahaja Yogis say, “ `Miracle' has lost its meaning Mother, in Sahaja Yoga” that's true.

So miracles of miracles and every moment you feel that God is looking after you.

When this great volcano burst, exploded in Mexico, a miracle happened they say, that the children were saved. The wrath, no this was not in Mexico but later on more in Colombia, because Colombia is sending all kinds of these horrible things all over the world, making money out of it. The wrath of the Mother Earth poured that mud and the people were drowned but the children survived. Their heads were above the mud, the body inside the mud. The same Mother Earth looked after them because they should not be burned so She covered them with the mud, why? Because of the innocence in them. Those who have even the slightest innocence in them will become realised Souls, no doubt about it, slightest, a very wee bit. All the seekers are a special category of people and they have to become realised Souls.

So forget about the past, forget whatever you have done in your seeking, whatever you are told, whatever you are branded with, just forget it and forgive yourself, once for all. This is I am telling you this because this is one of the biggest problems of the West that everybody sits down with a bad, horrible trouble here and sometimes I feel it so much that I can't even hear people. Is terrible. This portion is so bad here so I have to request you that please forgive yourself. You are the glory of God, without you God has no meaning also. It is He who is anxious, much more then you are, to give you realisation. Just help Him out a little.

All right. Let us see.

So we put our both the hands like this, close our eyes. Now you have to keep the left hand all the time towards Me, because is the desire, is expressed through it is the power of desire in the left hand which expresses that you want to have realisation. The right hand is the power of action so you move your right hand but don't open your eyes. You have to keep your eyes all the time shut, just the opposite of mesmerism as you can see. Now please close your eyes; now put your right hand on your heart.

Now here you have to say, or ask Me a question, `Mother am I the Spirit?' You may call Me Shri Mataji or Mother, whatever suits you. `Mother am I the Spirit?' is a fundamental question and if you are a computer it will answer. `Mother am I the Spirit?' Ask the question three times please. Put your left hand properly, please close your eyes; everybody should do it, please. It's uncivil not to close your eyes; please close your eyes because others may feel self-conscious so please close your eyes, to be courteous.

Now you have to take down your right hand on the upper part of your stomach, on the left hand side, we are working only on the left hand side. Here is the principle of the master. If you are the spirit, automatically you have to ask the second question, `Mother am I my own master? Mother am I my own Guru?' Please ask this question, you have to ask this question three times again, without fear, with all confidence you ask this question, you are the spirit, you are your master.

Now move your right hand on the lower part of your abdomen on the left hand side, lower part of your abdomen on the left hand side. This is the center of the Divine work, of the Divine knowledge or the Pure Knowledge, of the technique of Divine manifestation. At this point I cannot force you to do anything, as I told you, you have to be free, I can only request you and here I say that you have to ask for the Divine knowledge, you have to ask for the Pure Knowledge and when you ask for it the Kuṇḍalinī will start moving. Here with sincere heart, in a humble way you have to say, `Mother may I have the Pure Knowledge, Mother may I have the Divine technique?' Ask this question six times because this center has got six petals.

Now to make the way easy for Kuṇḍalinī, we go along the same centers upwards so you put your right hand on the upper part of your abdomen, to make it easy for the Kuṇḍalinī to rise you have to open this center by asserting, by saying `Mother I am my own master,' by saying `Mother I am my own master,' ten times because there are ten petals, ten Sat Gurus basically who incarnate ten times, of Prophets, the Masters.

Now raise your right hand on your heart, press it. With the same confidence you have to say twelve times `Mother I am the Spirit, I am the Spirit, I am the Spirit.' Just assert, that's a fact, that's the truth.

Press it with your fingers. Now, twelve times, have full confidence in you, believe Me you are the spirit, you have to just become in the sense it has to come in your attention on to your central nervous system.

Now raise the right hand on the left hand side of your neck, in the corner where the neck and the shoulder meet, press it hard, take it backwards, press it hard. This is the most difficult center in the West, as I told you, that we feel guilty all the time but as I have told you, God is the ocean of love, ocean of compassion, but above all He is the ocean of forgiveness. He's the ocean of forgiveness. When He's the ocean of forgiveness, what guilt can we have that He cannot wash away or dissolve it? So just you have to say sixteen times because there are sixteen petals, to say sixteen times with full belief in yourself, `Mother I'm not guilty, Mother, I'm not guilty, Mother, I'm not guilty' sixteen times will you please say that `Shri Mataji I'm not guilty.' If you still feel you are guilty and you can't forgive yourself, better say it to punish yourself hundred and eight times, if that pleases you.

When you forgive yourself you have to forgive others and so the greatest message of Christ, that we have to forgive others you have to put your hand to the center which is the adornment or we should say which adorns Christ, on the Āgñyā Chakra on your forehead, please put your right hand across. Press it hard and here you have to say with full belief in yourself and in your powers that, `Shri Mataji I forgive everyone.' Some may say that's very difficult but what do we do when we forgive or not forgive, no logic in it. But when we say that, then we are out of the clutches of other people, so please say, `Shri Mataji I forgive everyone.' Now say it with your whole heart, how many times is not the point, please say it with your whole heart. Now you move your hand backwards onto the back side of the same center, Āgñyā, press it hard. Now here, you have to say once only without feeling guilty at all, without feeling no remorse, no condemnation, to God, one for your satisfaction, `Oh Lord, if I have done anything wrong, please forgive me' but don't feel guilty, that's very important. Even without saying He has forgiven you.

Better.

Now raise your right hand on top of your head, stretch your... stretch your palm, press it hard on the fontanelle bone area, which was the soft bone in your childhood, press it hard, move it seven times. Again here I cannot force anything on you. You have to say that you want your Self-realisation that, `Mother, please give us our realisation. We want our Self-realisation. Please give me my Self-realisation' and press it hard and move it seven times and say that. I'm sure it will work out.

Now bring down your hand, slowly and bend your head a little bit and feel with your left hand if there's a Cool Breeze coming out of your fontanelle bone area. Try to bend your head a little, little bit and about four inches above the head, bend it a little, that works out better sometimes. With your left hand, right hand towards Me and with the left hand you see the breeze. Right hand towards Me and then with the left hand you see, you can feel it better, with the left hand on top of your head; first with the left hand. Aah. Now put the left hand towards Me and with the right hand just see if it is blowing because it should come in both the hands. Open your eyes, open slowly and watch Me without thinking. Let us see if you can do it, just without thinking, just watch Me, without thinking. There's no thought in your mind, no thought. Now just put your hands like this, are you feeling the Cool Breeze in the hand? Now put your hands up in the air, like this and in your heart ask a question, `Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost?' Ask the question, put it up nicely, ask the question three times: `Is this the Cool Breeze of the Holy Ghost? Is this the Brahma Shakti? Is this the All-pervading Power of God?' Ask the question. Now put down your hands and see for yourself if you feel the Cool Breeze. All those who have felt the Cool Breeze on the head, coming out of the head, or on their fingertips or in the hands please raise your hands, both the hands. That's Blake. You all have become Blake. May God bless you.

So many. May God bless you. But I must warn you, after this don't talk about it because it is beyond reasoning. Secondly you must come back, must all of you come back and work it out. Those who haven't got realisation will also receive it. Those who have got it, will establish it. Please come back. You will enjoy the silence, the stillness within. But that's just the beginning of it. We have to go further. Otherwise you won't be able to manifest it properly. It has to be looked after. It's just a shoot that has come out, a little shoot we have to look after it. May God bless you all. Thank you very much. Why not sing Jerusalem to them... will be good idea.

Sahaja Yogi: Mother with Your permission the music group would like to sing one song for You but before that we have a little memento of this evening which we would like to present.

Shri Mataji: You want to sing, all right? You have all the arrangements here. All right. If you don't mind, just sit down for five minutes.

Sahaja Yogi: So Garuḍa take wing. While we were preparing the program of Blake's Birthday Festival Mother, we found out there was an Exhibition of Blake's work in London in one of the galleries and we very much wanted to give You something that was made by His own Hands and with the good wishes of all the Sahaja Yogis of England we've been able to do it for You.

Shri Mataji: Oh that's too much, that's too much Gavin, that's too much.

Sahaja Yogi: No it's something special Mother, we hope that it'll be our pledge to try to do some justice to You as You've tried to do some justice to Blake.

Shri Mataji: I'm so proud of Him, really. Can you, I am not good at opening. Done so well. Ohh.

What a beautiful one. Trigunātmika. Do you see the triguṇatmika is there? What a vision. I mean how can you understand Him without Sahaja Yoga... picture, you cannot... May God bless you. Thank you very much.

Sahaja Yogi: This is the engraving of the Daughters of Job from the illustrations to Book of Job.

Shri Mataji: What is?

Sahaja Yogi: Daughters of Job.

Shri Mataji: Trigunātmika. Three Powers, the Comforter and the Counselor and the Redeemer, three Powers, which you will know, later on. We have those three Powers within ourselves. Go ahead.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Thank you very much. [The mike is not all right. Loudly.] [Song `Seek and You Will Find'.] [Song `Jerusalem'.]

Sahaja Yogi: We'd like everyone to stand up to sing Jerusalem.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you all and bless this country. God bless you.

1st Principle: The children must be built up psychologically. We have to tell them how a Sahaja Yogi is to behave, those who understand.

So the children must be talked to and point out how a Sahaja Yogi sits, walks, talks, eats, meditates and so on. Point out that we are Sahaja Yogis: `Everyone has to respect us, because we will be the teachers tomorrow.' Thus we develop their self respect and awareness that we have to correct ourselves. It must be told in a very sweet way.

Other disciplines must be established like tidiness with clothes, good manners, how to do Pūjā and Ār.ti. They like all these things to be told.

Not to check them all the time but only once. Correct their gestures, their speech, some talk too much, how to absorb. All has to be taught.

2nd Principle: How to actually give them help with their health. Italy has lots of olive oil, so lots of oil should be put on the Tālu every day. Try to bring the oil towards the top of the head which must become completely normal like ours.

The olive oil should also be rubbed in the body and every child should have at least one hour's massage every day, with a little oil and then powder applied before sleeping. In the evening, the head should also be toweled to clean the hair.

There must be no possessiveness about which child is to be treated, no `my'-ness. All the children are to be looked after collectively.

3rd Principle: [See the last paragraph of Education Enlightened, Chapter 14: Develop Rapport.] 4th Principle: Arrange whatever is to be done so that they have a sense of balance.

You have come to the Land of Yoga. And in Yoga one has to receive the blessing of Peace and Truth.....

Contents: 1985-12-16 Conversation with Sahaja Yogis on Nasik, Balcony, House, Nasik, Maharashtra, India

[Shri Mataji comes to the balcony facing the garden and asks us to pour water on Her hands. The water gets collected in a bucket. She starts rubbing Her palms very hard and they get covered with some black stuff and the water becomes blackish and then She shows Her palm, which are covered with blackish carbon type stuff.] This is negativity and the problems of Nasik.

[Shri Mataji says Nasik is a “tapa bhūmī" meaning it is a land for tapas, meaning penance. Śhrī Rāma, Śhrī Sītā and Śhrī Lakshmana came and lived here for many years. They walked barefoot on this land, so this is very special land that is been vibrated by them. Nasik is the place where Śhrī Lakshmana cut off the nose of a demonic character, the sister of Rāvaṇa called Shūrpaṇakhā.] I am the Ādi Shakti that is there at the swayambhū [Saptashrungi]. You can see that there is a similarity between My face and the face of the Devī at the swayambhū.

Contents: 1985-12-17 Pūjā, Doctor Sangwe's House, Nasik, Maharashtra, India

Nasik, as you have come here...

[Aside towards someone:] I think that you should stop now. For half an hour they are doing this. You should not make any noises.

This place, Nasik, has a special significance, that long time back, say about eight thousands years back, when Śhrī Rāma went away for His exile, He came to Maharashtra and He passed through various places and He settled down in Nasik, this place, with His wife. And here a lady who was actually the wife, was the sister of Rāvaṇa, called Shūrpaṇa[khā], she tried to entice Śhrī Rāma. Now this quality of enticing men or enticing women are really demonic and that is how people call them Rākshasas. Because those who are demonic people are people who are by nature aggressive, full of ego, who want to overpower everyone.

And they feel quite satisfied if their ego is satisfied.

So all the people who were like that, were called as Rākshasas in this country. Was not a normal human behaviour, according to them.

So these Rākshasas were more living in the northern part, northern most part of India and they have different categories like described.

So those who run after women were called by some other name and where the women tried to dominate them are called by some other name. Where the men tried to become like women, there is another name. But they were never called as human beings. They were called as `Rākshasas' or `betalas' and all other names. But nowadays you find such a confusion that you don't know whom to call what.

But the human beings in those days were sensible, matured, deep, who with the age matured. Now you have to notice on the streets of Maharashtra, just now I was coming by train, I saw, no men, there were nobody who were interested in women, no women were interested in men, some men were hugging each other, walking around, holding innocently. I mean, the whole thing was, that life is innocence. And that is what it was here when this Rākshasa's sister, Shūrpaṇakhā.

So nowadays, if there is a woman in India who behaves like that, tries to entice men is called Shūrpaṇakhā.

So this woman came and tried to entice Śhrī Rāma. Imagine what audacity.

So, Śhrī Rāma being sankochit, he was a man full of grace, He told her, “See now, what's the use of running after Me? I've already got a beautiful wife.

So why do you run after Me? Better try My brother who has no wife." Because He knew that His brother is a Sheshnaga, he is the serpent on which, very big serpent called Shesha, Shesha. And he is a hot tempered fellow and he will just know how to deal with this woman and “I can't manage this show." Because He would not ill-treat a woman, it was too much for Him. Though she was Shūrpaṇakhā and not only that, but she was also a woman.

So when He went, no, He asked her that, “You go and see him." Lakshmana was sitting outside.

Lakshmana had taken a vow to be a Brahmachari, a celibate man, with fourteen years penance, though he was a married man. This he had to do and that's the only way he could kill another demon, whose name was Meghnad, who had run away with his daughter, called as Sulochana. It's a long story.

So, make it short, this fellow went to this Brahmachari, Lakshmana, thou he had a wife in Ayodhya, was leading a life of Brahmachari. It is very common in India. I mean, if your wife is away, you just think about her and you are in separation, still you enjoy your wife thinking about her. You think about the good things she has done to you. But if she has done all the time bad things, you don't want too think about her. And then all these demonic things start. All right.

So this, when she went and started. She dressed up very well, in a very attractive manner, tried to show off her body and all that, in a very funny way and not in the traditional, decent way, but a very indecent, indecorous manner, just to attract. He was so angry with her, He just cut her nose.

So she should not do this to anybody else and get rid of her pride of nonsense, to kill her ego. Because nose is the one that expresses actually the ego part.

So when he cut his nose, the nose is called as nasika, in Sanskrit, is called as nasika. This was the place where the nose was cut and that's why this place was called as Nasik.

So now we have to remember we have come to an area where noses can be cut.

So one has to be careful and on the watch out that we do not show any, any symptom that Shūrpaṇakhā did, hence forth. We should behave in a manner that we are Sahaja Yogis and Sahaja Yoginis. And we have to have that right type of conduct which comes from the purity inside.

So, as this is now actually the beginning of the tour in the real sense of the word, I have to make certain suggestions to all of you, that our behaviour should be very decent and decorous so that all the vibrations that are flowing through us, which are holy vibrations, auspicious vibrations, should not be spoiled by our ego or our Shūrpaṇakhā ideas, or any such nonsense which has no relevance to your ascent. All these come from decadence, the decadence we have gone through. And because you have come up you can see the decadence of the society.

So here you have to show through your good behaviour, good dress and good conduct, the beauty that you have developed within yourself and that now you belong to a society which has ascent and the decadence is over now. It is only for you to watch that and to help others to come out of it.

Beginning of the tour at Nasik is a very holy and auspicious thing that has happened to all of you.

Because the river here Godavari is called as the Ganges of the south. But as in every pure thing all the filth is put in, this great kshetra, the pilgrimage, is ruined by many people who want to exploit. We call them as `vadjees'. They are the ones who are making money out of the temples, out of the holiness of this place. To them Sahaja Yoga is a challenge because you can do it without any money, without any work, without any extra sacrifices. That they can't understand. According to the theory of all these people, all over the world, if you see, is this, that all those who are seeking should hand over the purse to the people who are in charge, first of all.

Secondly, those who are seeking should become absolutely miserable in their seeking. They should suffer, suffer and suffer. Till they become just bones and die. They have to go on sacrificing everything, going through tortures till they reach God. This is not the way the ascent has to be achieved, as you have learned it. This is true not only of Hindus, also of Jains, also of Christianity, also of Islam. The way it is preached today is all adharma, there is no Dharma in it. That's why the establishment of our Dharma is very important, which is the pure religion which gives you ascent, joy, peace and the blessings of God.

This is what is Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma.

Now I have to also say that this place has another significance that we have a very powerful Jain, a gentleman who has come to this Dharma. Now, Jainism again the same style it's going, same perversions as we have seen. Like about Jains if I'm going tell you, you will laugh and laugh and laugh and just won't stop.

So I don't want to go about it. Again, the Jains are mad about vegetarianism. They want to save all the mosquitoes, bugs, everything and kill the human beings, all right, with money. They are the Jews of our country and they have really extracted people, their money and everything. Very rich people here but they don't kill a mosquito or kill a bug. That's what they are.

So now this kind of thing is on and doctor Saṅghvi, who is a very learned man, his wife is another very affectionate and dedicated Sahaja Yogini, the son, daughter-in-law, all of them have understood that religion cannot be such madness that you start saving the mosquitoes and not the human beings. The attention is from the other end, which, of course, against Mahāvīra's principle. Mahāvīra on the contrary had described the hell the best. He is the one who being the Incarnation of the essence of Bhairava and described the hell very well. And in England we have William Blake, who has also done the same way because he is the same style, he is the same thing. What is hell that he described, there are worms, there are mosquitoes, this, that. And just the opposite of that is to save the mosquitoes and bugs, shows how we go just the other way round, how we oppose the religious achievements of these great people, those who tried to teach something sensible, how they make a nonsense out of it.

That is how, here we see that the Jains should see how Śhrī Mahāvīra is being misinterpreted and insulted in many ways. This is a very big achievement I feel that some people have started seeing this light and they will start seeing it more and more. Also we have some very good here musicians, as you have heard him and it's a whole party was so beautiful, I heard about him, that he sang beautiful songs for you and you enjoyed all the music program. And he also sang some very nice English songs. It's a good beginning. Because as you are singing Marathi songs and Hindi songs, our Indians also should sing. But they make a melody out of everything.

So you have to little bit guide them, because they are, you see, they are melody oriented musicians.

So we try to make melody out of everything, otherwise it doesn't go with our minds all right.

So you have to give some guidance and you have to forgive them if you think it is not absolutely all right.

So we have to thank all the people over here for being so kind and so nice to us and the singing. And I hope you are all very comfortable in that place. The only problem was we couldn't get a proper place, as doctor Saṅghvi was worried. Because, you see, Indians are too much hospitable. And he said, “I'll have to cover all the sides, I don't want them to get the cold, this, that. I'll put some heaters there." But by God's grace, there's no need. And so pleasant. I was just smiling at him, I said, “Don't you worry, everything will work out." And it has worked out, you know, we don't need any heaters and if we need anything, we might need some fans.

Like in Madras [Chennai] they said, “We have no water, we have to buy water now from other places going to be, we are all going to be dying." I said, “All right, you'll have water." So it rained, rained, rained so much that they had floods.

So it should not be felt that there is a problem with the nature. Nature is always with you, will always help you, will be kind. But we have to be kind to ourselves, to our nature.

The nature that we have is that we are human beings, we are not Rākshasas, we are not devils, we can't do all these things which are devilish, which are nonsensical. And once we understand that we are saints, we will know that we have to keep our saintly hood in such a manner that others can see through our behaviour.

Nasik has another great heritage that many saints came and did tapasyas, tapo Guṇi. Nasik area is the tapo Guṇi, is the land of tapas, tapasyas and that's why this is a very, very auspicious land. And here it is. You will see on your way to Dhulia, the Incarnation of the Ādi Shakti, which is the three powers of the Kuṇḍalinī completely integrated, expressed here as Saptashrungi, meaning seven peaks. Now seven peaks are the seven centers in the brain. And the Kuṇḍalinī, though she has seven centers to pass through, the governing Pīṭhas, the seats, are in the peak, in the head and so Ādi Shakti takes place in the Sahasrāra. She incarnates in the Sahasrāra.

So we can say that this is the Sahasrāra of Maharashtra, or of the Universe in a way, though Himālaya is regarded as the real abode of Sadāśhiva, which is on top. But the Sahasrāra part, which is the limbic area, should be here because we have three and a half coils settled here. That's why the Kuṇḍalinī of the Universe is here. But as the Saptashrungi has come out of Mother Earth, this is the place where we can say resides the Sahasrāra.

Though the, on top is the Himālaya and Himālaya we can say is beyond Sahasrāra, the three powers of the Goddess I don't know if you'll be seeing all these, three expressed in three different places in the Maharashtra, but this is the Ardha Matra, the half Matra, which is the Ādi Shakti Herself. And this is what you see in this place and I'm sure you'll enjoy it tomorrow when you go on your way to Delhi. With this understanding that in a subtle way we are in a very important place, I hope you all will raise above mundane gross attention into a subtler attention, into a higher attention and enjoy the bliss of God.

May God bless you.

The Emblem of the Ādi Shakti of course you know is a thing like this, you see, is to call it a elliptical, you see, elliptical, elliptical. You all know that. But the mark of the Ādi Shakti is the half moon and the star. You can put a half moon and a bindu, is a point. That point is a star. You see the Islam follows the star, the inside and below that is this, what you call, they call it the moon. But that's the half Mudra, or we can call it the half of the coil. But half, according to the Western mind, half means it's bad. But half is the one that takes everything within it. You see, the one like the bottom of the sea. Bottom of the sea is always bigger than the sea itself.

So this half Shakti takes all the Shaktis into itself. And the Bindu represents the heart or we can say the Ātmā.

So is the complete thing, is the Ādi Shakti and the Bindu.

That's the was Islam sees. And in the same way this is the seat of the Ādi Shakti, is a half circle. Is not even half, we shouldn't say half, first night's moon and a star. And why this it is used, because this is the, coming from the creation, from the nature.

So that also what we call Islam is nothing but is the creation of Ādi Shakti.

[At Christmas 54 couples are announced. Sahaja Yogis from a Hindu orthodox background, want the marriages to be performed on the auspicious day according to the constellation of the stars.] The Spirit works out auspiciousness, not the calendar. First the Goddess is worshipped. When She blesses, that is the most auspicious moment.

[Accordingly, on a short notice, arrangements were made for Christmas Pūjā.]

Contents: 1985-12-24 Christmas Pūjā, Pune, Maharashtra, India

Sahaja Yogi: May we wish You, [Mother,] a Happy Christmas. For all the existent [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Same to you all. Happy Christmas and very happy New Year. Please be seated. Please be seated. [Marathi.] Today it's a great day for Me to celebrate the Christmas Eve in Poona. Poona is called as Puṇya Patanam in our ancient books. That means this is the place which is very holy, place of, we can say the, it is the city of holiness and here to celebrate the birthday of Jesus is something so sensible, so correct, so proper because He was nothing but Puṇya. He was nothing but holiness and that His birthday should be celebrated here is absolutely so Sahaja that I started feeling, going back in the history, if Christ was born in Poona, what [UNCLEAR could/would] have happened? But then I thought, supposing He was born here, then people all over the world would not have accepted Him because He had to be crucified. If He was not crucified, the sadist won't be happy. If they are not happy, they won't allow Christianity to spread, in the real sense of the word, I mean the Christianity.

With all understanding, He was born in Jerusalem. [UNCLEAR Was/So] a humble place Jerusalem, very humble place and He was born in a very humble place, in a, as you know, in the company of the cattle, around him. And the whole birth took place in such a miraculous way that Mother didn't have to suffer for that, didn't have to go to any doctor or to any physician or anything. It was so spontaneous, so beautiful. He gave no trouble to Mother throughout. His birth is one of the signs that He never gave any trouble to His mother.

When we are in Sahaja Yoga, when we have to have our realisation, perhaps people do not realise how much Mother has to go through to raise the Kuṇḍalinī, to achieve the Realisation. It's not an easy thing.

He never argued with His Mother and He never troubled Her; always obeyed Her because He knew who She was and He knew what He was. He knew the relationship very well, knew in the sense that it was a part and parcel of His understanding. In His nervous system He knew it. As we say, He had the Prabodh.

And so from the very beginning when He was born He was no trouble to His Mother at all. Extremely obedient, kind, never pressing His [stand], always looking after Her, very protective. Such a great soul was born in Jerusalem. And there what happened? Bethlehem He was born, near Jerusalem, but there what happened? As you know the three kings came from far off. Nobody knew about His birth in the surroundings, say in Jerusalem area or Bethlehem area. Nobody bothered. But from very far off, three great kings came to see Him. It's very symbolic that to the people who were nearer, closer to Him, it was nothing. They were so gross. They had no sensitivity. And from miles away, they started walking, coming on the camel, sometimes resting in the night. Days in and days out they travelled with the help of the star and came to that little abode which was in Bethlehem.

In a small little place to arrive with that humility, how sensitive they must be. They forgot their position in life. They forgot their own wealth and all those things they have been enjoying. To them it was the greatest thing, the greatest pilgrimage to go all the way to see the little child who was not talking.

He was not doing anything. They felt it's a privilege to honour Him, just to honour Him, just to pay Him honour. What was the need? A little child would not even recognize. He did; that's a different point. But just to pay the honour they must have gone through very great difficulties to go down to Bethlehem. It was not a city. It was a village, where there was no place for them to rest. God knows where they stayed.

There had no hotels like this in those days. God knows where they stayed. They dressed up very well because they have to see the King of kings.

They were properly dressed. With great humility they bowed before the little child. That's only possible if you are that sensitive, at that distance to know that there is a great soul born. Thank God that it was not Kali Yuga of that kind, but that is today, that the sensitivities in the Kali Yuga is so finished that people can't feel the Divinity. They cannot see the Divinity. They have no sense of beauty. They have no sense of anything that is pure, holy or auspicious. Spontaneously Sahaja, they all came down to see the great child born. Because it was the work of the Divine to create such a great child just out of the Puṇyas, nothing but Puṇyas, nothing but holiness that this child was created and that they knew about it, they came all the way.

Today is such a great day for Me, that in that place where people were so gross, nobody knew what Christ was, child was born in a manger. And today in this great holy place we are celebrating His birthday.

This is a real honour. We are praying to Him. By that we are honoured. It's a great privilege that in this holy place we are giving Him that honour. It's our privilege. By that He doesn't become great; He doesn't become great. It's you who are honouring Him because you see the greatness in that personality. Thank God human beings have at least this much, little bit left in them that they appreciate the greatness of others, little bit.

So you all have come from so many countries here from all over, not with those difficulties, of course, they have been all put right, not with ordeals or anything, but you are here to celebrate His birthday in this holy place which should have been the right place for Him to be born and not that horrible place where He was crucified later.

It's doubly glorifying that we are celebrating His birthday here, though even this city is very much spoilt in the Kali Yuga, very much ruined, but is surrounded by vibrations of many saints who have built up this city. That's why it is called as a Puṇya nagari. And anybody who tries to spoil the vibrations of this place is thrown out. This you have seen in many cases. Though we can see lots of negative forces have tried to penetrate inside this place, your presence here should clear this city also and create that atmosphere that Christ would like to see on this earth.

It's said that Christ is to be born within us. What sort of a place we have in our heart for Christ to be born? Is it the same gross place where He took His birth or is it the place of holiness in our heart? If He is being born in the same sort of a place, are we going to again crucify Him? Or we are going to make our heart clean, holy, auspicious, like a lotus, so that when He is born in that heart, He resides in a way that is behoving His own personality. When we respect ourselves, we respect Him. Let us have a heart of that kind.

It's very easy to give a lecture on this, very easy to give lecture, but it's difficult to establish that heart. And that heart which is of that level and that quality can only make Christ happy. Otherwise, He cannot be happy. We still indulge into gross processes and gross understanding, gross relationships, gross procedures. We still do not take to the holy procedures. In the holy procedure, there is no sacrifice, is a sacrifice. Everything is enjoyment. No duty is without joy. Everything you do has to be from the heart.

Because you are doing from the heart, it has to be a beautiful thing.

It's very easy to say that we follow Christ. What do you follow? Are you going to follow Him up to the cross? Where are you following Him? Which part of His life you are following? You are all realised Souls. You are born again. As Christ has said, “You are to be born again." All right, now you are born again. Then what are you doing about it? Cleanse your heart; cleanse your heart. Then I still find there are jealousies. There is a problem of temperaments between different people. Still groups are formed. We live in little, little groups of, say, this country, that country, this group, that group.

Then I find also people just fighting for little, little things, missing all the points of joy. This has to change. I do not want at this happier occasion to tell you the hazardous life Christ had to lead. He lived only for such a short time. The kind of life He led with all that, that He had is remarkable and what a pure life He led, what a pure heart He had and one single desire in His heart was to bring down the kingdom of God. That should be our desire. In our collective we have to understand, we have to bring down the kingdom of God. Are we sufficiently supporting that? Have we got the foundations within us? Can we withstand all that upon our shoulders? It is said in Marathi that forgiveness is the decoration of a Veera. Veera is the brave. Only the brave could forgive. Now, how many of us really know how to forgive others and to love others? So many write that, “Mother, my heart is like a stone." So now you jump in the sea. What are you doing here? Stones must go to the sea. Or they say, “My heart is not open." I say, “Why do you write like this?" “Because I'm very, very frank and honest." With whom are you honest? For such people there is no Sahaja Yoga.

They should really leave Sahaja Yoga and go away. Sahaja Yoga is meant for people who have a very large heart where Christ could be [UNCLEAR adorned/adored]. He's to be restored upon that great heart of yours.

In every way one has to enlarge the heart. That's why I think William Blake very clearly said that, “England should be the Jerusalem." But only by saying that William Blake said so, one should know that it's complete [darkness], complete [darkness]. He is hoping against hopes. Large heartedness is missing among the people who live on the heart. As you know about the French, they call themselves Christians.

Italians, who have so-called Christianity, have the worst pictures; so licentious, so horrible, so much against Christ. It's very surprising. How we can do such things to bring bad name to Him and to the whole world where you represent Him? People think Christianity means licentiousness, permissiveness, drunkenness, abandonment of all the values, while Christ was just the opposite of. Absolutely, He did not need any values. He was Guṇatīt. He is Dharmatīt, everything. But how He lived on this earth, such an ideal! So before us we have got a great ideal. We don't have to follow the ideals of these horrible kings who lived there. But we have to follow the ideal of Christ and those kings who followed the ideal of Christ. Because if you are following Him, the path that you are following has to be, the essence of Christ's life is a pure life of love and sacrifice. This is what one has to follow.

Throughout His life, He has been using this essence just to establish Himself in our Āgñyā Chakra and that's what He's worked very, very hard to do that. Let us not do anything to let Him down in our character. You just put a test to yourself. Do you think Christ [UNCLEAR would/could] have done this? Do you think Christ was, would have accepted this? A simple test can tell you that Christ is the measuring rod for all our qualities. That is how we move. That's the standard. Not that He's only the light, that He is the Nirākāra, He is Omkāra, He is Śhrī Gaṇeśha, but all that has come to life. He lived like us, like a human being. And in His life, what He would never have done, would never have compromised, would never have accepted, would never have digested, we cannot have it. This is what today on this holy land of Puṇya Patanam we have to say that, sitting down here, we have to feel it. Let's have that decision within ourselves. Let our hearts open out. Let's have Christ blossoming in our lotuses, in the fragrance of our heart. We all have it. Let that Spirit be awakened in this beautiful place which is built by the saints, the ancient saints of this country. Let that Gaṇeśha awaken within ourselves, that holiness, that auspiciousness. May God bless you all.

Today is a special day, is they are very joyous that you are all here. And they all want to thank you very much for being here on a Christmas Day and I, I would like to thank all the Poona Sahaja Yogis for arranging this so beautifully, so nicely, making you comfortable, looking after you so well. They are working day in and day out. I promised them one thing, that very soon we'll be able to start a proper meditation center here and by God's grace everything should work out.

I'm going to ask the Commissioner to help us out and they are all very anxious to help us out. Imagine what a place it is! The Commissioner is with us, the Collector is with us, the Commissioner of Police is with us. They are all so much anxious to help Sahaja Yoga. What a country it is! What a place it is we are in here! So I hope we'll be able to establish some sort of a good meditation place here for them.

That's one point. And the second thing is the way they have organized, in this short time. Because this we decided in Nasik only that we'll give them two days more for Poona, definitely. But the way they organized everything for you near Dehu was so remarkable. All food, everything to be arranged into that place is really, I tell you, we can't do that. We all put together can't do it. The way they have managed, the way they had it. And these are the marriage days to get everything done. We have to thank them very much for making you comfortable here.

I wish we had list of people who will be coming to Ganapatipule, but unfortunately I don't have the list. I hope most of them who have organized it would be there. We would like to honour them when they come to Ganapatipule, on the program we are having, that first we are having a Pūjā and evening time we'll be having presentations from the Western Sahaja Yogis for the Indian Sahaja Yogis.

So that night we'll spend. And next day we are going to have Haldi in the morning and the marriages in the evening.

Luckily, we have also arranged for all of you to go down to Mahabhaleshwar. After the wedding all the wedding people can, married people can go there and stay there next day so that, there, you'll get a room to yourself and you'll be very comfortable. It's a very beautiful health resort or you can call it, it's a very beautiful hill station.

So all has been arranged, I think. God is very kind; it's all arranged so well. In all this comfort and all this enjoyment we have to know that all this is given to us to be shared with others. It's not only that we should have everything. We have to share it with others. For that we have to work very hard. We have to get more people and more people and more people. Only thing I just want My health to be all right so that I can do one or two more tours like this because sometimes I feel that it's a bit too much. I should stop it. But by God's grace again somehow I don't feel tired. And things are being managed so well. If there has been any problem, anything, you shouldn't mind. And our next trip we are going to Brahmapuri which you all liked very much. It's all going to be arranged in Brahmapuri. You know what it is like. Those people who are older, who have any difficulties, we have made arrangements for them also.

So, try to help them out because I don't want them to suffer physically, because we are all going to a jungle. Actually, it's a jungle, as you know that.

So all the programs are being nicely laid down, you won't have any problems and we'll have a nice time in Brahmapuri.

After Brahmapuri, as you know, we are going not to Malarpet but to another place called Atit and then to Koynanagar and next day you will be in Ganapatipule which you will definitely say, “Mother, you have brought us to the most beautiful spot ever known." Everything is going to be arranged. But I want to warn you: it's a place very far-fetched. There's nothing there. You have to get everything from Kolhapur.

So, one should go with a mind of helping them than to find faults. If you have to do a little work you will know how difficult it is.

So not to find any faults, not to feel unhappy but to be satisfied and that's where the sea and Śhrī Gaṇeśha meet. It's a very beautiful spot. Nowhere you'll find [UNCLEAR it/this]; that's the place where sea and Śhrī Gaṇeśha meet. Not only that, but when it is a high tide then the water starts coming through the Nābhī of Śhrī Gaṇeśha and the, only the lower part of the body you see there. The upper part, the head, is the whole of the mountain, which you can walk around and give a pradarshakshina. It's a beautiful spot, at least to Me. Maybe My ideas about beauty are a little different, maybe. But to Me it's so beautiful, so peaceful and there everybody will clear out, but don't have complaints and preoccupied ideas and a brain that is all the time trying to attack others. Have a simple mind like a child. It's a, you are going to Gaṇeśha's place after all, you see. You are surrendering yourself to Śhrī Gaṇeśha. [UNCLEAR You have/So] to be a simple person to go there, very simple and you'll find the place is so beautiful, so full of vibrations that you'll clear out in no time. Everything will clear out. It's a very wonderful place. That's what I think. I hope it will work out with you the same way.

So may God bless you. We are looking forward for a nice new year and we'll celebrate our new year there.

So, I wish you a very, very happy, prosperous and a Divine new year for all the countries.

[Marathi.] Before we do anything they want to give presents. Poona center people want to give presents to you all, those who are here, the all big centers.

So about fourteen centers, they want to give you presents here because you'll be collecting one after another. And then the Bombay [Mumbai] center has [UNCLEAR brought/bought] some presents which, I think better then let them give it in Ganapatipule. And, of course, your Mother has some presents also.

Now, we have to have people.

So relax, relax here. You people are too tense and serious. It's Christmas Day. It's very funny like, like on a Christmas Day, they have a champagne and somebody dies, also they have a champagne. They become serious on a Christmas Day and somebody dies, also they are serious.

Now it's a Christmas Day. All right, so today there are [Marathi] so there are fourteen centers as they have counted it. Will you be able to locate those fourteen centers, those people who are there one by one? Gavin, you please read it out. Gavin, you say it, one by one.

Gavin: From Austria, [Megan].

Shri Mataji: Austria. There, [come here]. May God bless you.

Gavin: From Australia [Ray].

Shri Mataji: May God bless you. Gavin.

Gavin: From Belgium, Rene.

Shri Mataji: These are very special type of things, very special type of a, something, a specialty.

You better take the name, now, that's the chance.

Gavin: From France, Christine.

Shri Mataji: Second name, take it fast.

Gavin: From France.

Shri Mataji: No, next one.

Gavin: And next, from Switzerland, Richard. And then U.S.A., another Christine. Then, from Holland, [is] Henno.

Shri Mataji: [Marathi.] Gavin: Next from Germany, [Kitty]. From, UK, David. From New Zealand, Brian. From Italy, Giorgio.

From Canada, Michael.

Shri Mataji: She understands Me?

Sahaja Yogi: Germany, please.

Gavin: There's someone from Spain.

Shri Mataji: Twelfth.

Gavin: From Hong Kong, Peter.

Shri Mataji: May God bless you.

Gavin: From all over the world, Warren.

Shri Mataji: How many they are? Twelve? Gavin: Thirteen.

Shri Mataji: Thirteen. Good. [Means we] can't have thirteen. [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: Algeria? That's a good idea. I have to speak [UNCLEAR], I have to...

Shri Mataji: No, no, you have it, we have one Algerian.

Gavin: From Algeria, [Shyle].

Shri Mataji: [Marathi/Hindi.] May God bless you.

Now you can go and have a look at this. Then we'll have our music. Would you like to have it later after music or before music? In this country nobody objects if you put it on even at two o'clock in the night. It's not like England. They will on the contrary join you.

So would you like to have it now or afterwards? Sahaja Yogis: No, afterwards.

Shri Mataji: Afterwards? [Marathi.] What, what do you have in program, your program for Christmas? What is your program, Gavin? Gavin: There are many countries have prepared.

So it's also [UNCLEAR] the same thing.

Shri Mataji: All right, so now dances also.

So we'll have the dances first and then the music. All right, now first of all, sarī will be as they give that to Me. [Marathi.] So, I think, you better finish that job first.

That's a job. I am getting presents from all, for all these deities. Imagine. Only for Me you should give Me, but instead I am getting all these things. Rajesh. Who's come? Is that Rajesh? [Marathi/Hindi.] Has he come? Not yet? All right.

So first we'll have the dance or presents and everything, what, whichever way you decide.

Sahaja Yogi: Dance, then the presents...

Shri Mataji: First the dance then the...

Sahaja Yogi: Then the music and then presents.

Shri Mataji: That's better. Postpone it as much as possible. And if you decide not to give some present now, I'll be thankful.

Sahaja Yogis: No chance.

Shri Mataji: No chance, all right. I agree. [Marathi.] Now there is one thing, you have to give an international sarī to Me. That you can give Me also at the beginning of that, all right? [Marathi.] What they are saying that all the programs are going to be from this stage. Everybody is going to come up and sing and all that.

So, this stage has to be vacated. Then again I'll have to come back here.

All right? For presents. Is it all right? Yes, only one thing. [Marathi.] I think so would be better. [I'll let] you get it. [Marathi.]

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] [Aside:] Ask her. Natalie, come here. Join hands with Danya. Are you all right, Ray, now? Put kumkum to everyone. Just take that, see, you can leave that here. All the ladies, put it on.

Yesterday one boy stood up and asked Me a question, that “When we are such a Yoga Bhūmī, we are such a holy country, why is it that all the discoveries in the science are made in the West?" “Very good question” I said. I said, “That is the knowledge of the tree, as I have told you; that's the knowledge of the tree. And what have they achieved is now the end of it and now they want to know the knowledge of the roots. That's why they are here." So to know the knowledge of the roots, first of all we must have humility about it. We have not known this knowledge yet, never known what is in the Kingdom of God. As Kṛiṣhṇa has said, this tree grows downward and the roots are in the brain, clearly.

So it is an ascent to go to the roots, it's a different style. Kuṇḍalinī has to rise upward to go to the roots and to enter into the roots what we have to do is to know about it.

Now all these things, like I said yesterday that you put on bindi. Now this is also, thank God, despite all changes in the Bible, it's written in the Bible that you'll be known by the mark you'll be carrying. Now let's see how many are courageous, even in India, to carry this mark. That's why you people catch so fast, one of the reasons why you people catch.

First of all the eyes are not steady. You are not used to the steady eyes, you see, as the Indians have very steady eyes. They are, from childhood they are taught, “Where is your attention?" All the time they are asked, “Where is your attention?" [Aside:] There are some Western Sahaja Yogis standing at the back. Please give them a chair to sit, since they are not able to sit on the ground.

So where is your attention? Now the attention is so disturbed all the time and that's why you catch very fast and when you catch from your eyes, it goes through your Āgñyā Chakra. Now this is the protection of Āgñyā Chakra; it's actually the blood of Christ that you wear. But people must have that courage.

They'll wear a cross, but not this.

In the Western countries it's very difficult for people to have that much courage to put on this. They will have excuses, “Mother, we'll lose our jobs” this, that. Every sort of an excuse is there. But if you are courageous people, then you have to start wearing it some time. Maybe in the night you start first, then in the daytime. Slowly, slowly you can creep into it. That's the only thing I think you people have to wear, that's important. That will be a good idea, because you will not catch. Because you go outside, your attention is outside, you see what's happening outside, the atmosphere is bad. Moreover, if you put this on it will not only protect you, but also protect others. They will have a new idea. After all, you will dress up like them, you are just like them, you have to be. But you have to protect and for protection you have to wear something like that. I found that when I went first to England they used to laugh at Me, looking at My red mark. I mean, if they wear lipsticks it's all right, even if they are clowns, if they are hippies, they are punks, it's all right; but if you wear a proper thing which is scientific, it's most scientific.

So to understand the science of the roots you must understand what it means, why this culture is like this: because it is more towards the roots, the movement is not towards the tree. And the tree, where it has ended up? Beyond the Mūlādhāra Chakra.

So now they are returning back. To go from the leaf to the roots is very difficult, but to go from the roots to the leaves is easier.

So for this ascent we have to be humble, to know about the knowledge, knowledge about the roots.

Now why they put on, all of them, is this is the reason, that to protect your Āgñyā. First of all there's no entry. That's why, once an Indian gets realisation, he ascends. He doesn't go on catching again; I mean, this doesn't happen here. This is one of the things one has to do.

Then the second thing is the Pūjā. The Pūjā has its effect on everyone, but according to your depth; and that's for that you have to have Śhraddhā, faith. If your mind is still thinking, you cannot achieve much in Pūjā. While for Indians, to attend a Pūjā is the highest. They don't mind My lecture, anything; if they miss the program, doesn't matter, any music program is all right, any kind of discomfort is all right, as long as they can attend to Pūjā.

Today people have come from two hundred to three hundred miles for this Pūjā, all the way, because they know this is the knowledge of the roots. For that you have to do the Pūjā. If you have to ascend, you have to do it. But you are still in the same level; if you are still thinking about the tree style, then you'll go downward.

To move inward, you have to have all these instruments. One of them is of Pūjā.

Now for Pūjā, are we prepared? Are we in that mind, whatever time it has to start, will start? First of all, we have tied our watches quite tight. Thank God, I lost My watch last night! So now the watches have tied us up so much that now eleven o'clock Pūjā means eleven o'clock. It's not like that, it depends on. It is the natural growth of our being, it is the natural working of our growing. When I came here, you'll be amazed, all My right side was paralyzed, absolutely paralyzed. Right foot was paralyzed, I just couldn't move My legs and all the feet had become like a fossilized stuff and I didn't know what was happening. The reason is, everybody has been thinking too much.

Now the attention should be how we are, what are we doing about ourselves, that's very important; how far we have achieved. But on the contrary, the attention is disturbed by many things. One of them may be the marriages, that marriages have to take place, what's going to happen and all that. But at Pūjā time it has no meaning. Nothing has importance than but to develop yourself and this is what it is: at this time you have to develop your roots. And to develop your roots, it's a different science altogether.

The another thing is that you can achieve the movement of the tree by aggressiveness, by aggressing.

But when you aggress in the human mind, then you are drawn towards the Mūlādhāra more, towards the gravity force and you go down towards the dead; the materialism starts coming up. Because it's upside down, human growth is upside down. You know the brain is here, not at the feet. It starts from the brain, the growth starts from the brain; as you know as doctors that the whole thing is here and the nerves go down, they do not start from the feet.

So when you start putting your attention to your outward growth, you go towards materialism automatically. Then you find matter has nothing to do, you have fossilized yourself.

So then you come back.

Now you have to change your attitude completely towards this new learning and this new learning is that you have to develop a humble attitude, first of all. And secondly, what are we going to achieve in our ascent through learning the different Tantra, the mechanism, the Divine mechanism, how to work it out.

The person who is extremely efficient in the other field might become completely inefficient in this field, absolutely useless: possessed, aggressive, good for nothing, hot-tempered, hot-tempered and also devoid of any love, affection, compassion. Like they were shocked to hear that people kill their children in England, they couldn't believe it. They can't believe even one child killed like that.

They think that English are perfect people, how can they kill their children? They are very perfect according to Indians. Indians have no idea as to what kind of life they lead there.

So when I told them, “You are sadly mistaken, they are very unhappy people. Don't think that by developing radios and all these things, they are happy. They are all mad. They sit before the television, then they can't do without it, they become televisions. And the television is exploiting them, putting wrong ideas into their heads and they're brainwashed, they are very conditioned", they can't believe it. They can't believe that people could be that cruel in the West; because the growth is towards materialism, so they are becoming gross, insensitive, immoral and also devoid of any compassion and love.

So first of all, as I said yesterday you should say, `I'm not French', you should say, `I am not a Westerner.' Let's see, that may work out, work out better, `I'm not a Westerner.' Maybe when you enter a university, supposing you are in Oxford University and then you go to the Cambridge University, you have to wear the badge of the Cambridge University. In the same way now you have changed your nationality, I think you should say, `I'm not a Westerner now anymore.' Maybe the passport might say anything, doesn't matter. But you have a special privilege in India as Sahaja Yogis, you know that. As Sahaja Yogis the government has accepted you. If you want to stay here forever, they'll have no objection.

So this, whatever is now we think works out on the tree level, has to be changed. Here everything becomes united, synthesized. The whole tree is synthesized in a seed.

So if you have to become the root, you have to come down to the position where, how to synthesize.

Now grouping is a wrong thing. If you group yourself as English, this, that, or Indians or anything, is wrong. In Sahaja Yoga we don't believe in all that. There is no differentiation between one Sahaja Yogi and another Sahaja Yogi, because it is Vishwa Dharma. But we say this is Vishwa Dharma, but we are not out of it as yet, we are not yet in the same pandal where we should be. We still separate, we are still different, we have to still mix up from one country to another country. We have to all become one with each other, understanding each other; then only the problems of the West will go away.

As a result of this right-sided movement I feel that people are really becoming idiotic. I categorize them as idiotic or stupid and all that. I mean I don't how, what categories they will fall into later on, where there have been not such categories before. I mean, they might form a new dimension of stupidity.

This is what I feel, that unless and until you now learn about this new yantra, the new method: in that you don't see to the physical comfort, you don't see to the so-called emotional pampering. All these things you don't see, but where do you go, into innocence. The quality of the matter itself is innocence, the essence.

So the quality, I should say, or the essence of everything you become. You become the essence.

But for that you have to move inward and the inward movement is only possible when you understand and respect and think yourself privileged to be able to do all this.

But you have to understand why I tell you. I have nothing to gain out of you. Now one should not think I'm trying to make you Indians, but supposing you wear here three-piece suit and a tie, what will happen to you? I mean, you'll all get boils in the body. According to the climate you have to change and you enjoy this dress very much because it is very comfortable. You enjoy the river baths, it's very comfortable. In this country that suits you better.

So in the same way this new life that we are entering in, we have to understand that the outside is not important, the inside is important. And for that whatever is to be done outside, we have to do it, we have to do it. We have to learn it, we have to understand it, what is this, what is that. Now because you are scientists, you are Westerners, you have an advantage over Indians I should say, or in science, all right.

In this science they have an advantage over you. Doesn't matter, it's all right. They chose this place to come in, you chose that place to come in; because you're brave people I think, first of all and secondly that you wanted to do some good there maybe. But for that you must learn.

Like we say our scientists here are brave people that they are trying to learn science, they want to go abroad and learn about it and bring some science to us. In the same way now you are the ambassadors from all these countries, of divinity, ambassadors of divinity.

You have to carry divinity, because it has been worked out in this country. As you can see clearly it is so, accept it; there's nothing to feel bad about it. Because you're attached to a certain nationality and all that you think, there's nothing to feel bad. In India people feel very proud if they have to go abroad to learn science. Even if they are vegetarians, they don't mind doing biology dissection or anything because it is science, it is knowledge.

So for knowledge's sake you have to do all these things. And once you realise that for knowledge's sake you are working it out, it's going to help you a lot.

This one, this today's Pūjā, it has a special meaning because yesterday was Datta Jayanti, means the birth of Dattātreya. And you know the story of Dattātreya, most of you know the story of Dattātreya, that Brahmā, Viṣhṇu, Maheśha tried to take a test of Ādi Shakti, called Anasuya. They came to Her place and asked Her for alms. And it's supposed to be a great privilege in India to give alms to others, to, I mean, it's a great privilege to attend to guests, it's a great privilege to be generous, it's a great privilege to distribute things to others. It's a great privilege.

Like yesterday, you see, My sarī for this Pūjā was left somewhere out.

So I had bought a sarī for some lady here, so she said, “I would like this sarī to be presented at the Pūjā." But I said, “I'll return it you." She said, “That's a greater privilege, too." They didn't mind the sarī was left out, they said it's a greater privilege, the attitude.

So the attitude is to be changed, that so far we are going downward, now the attitude should be upward.

And for that, we have to understand the method by which we are going to climb up. Like you have to go to the mountains, you must know how to do the mountaineering. You cannot just state yourself, `Now I'm going to Himālayas', nobody will allow you.

So one has to qualify and in qualifying you have to have that humility, otherwise it won't work out.

So I have to make a very clear statement, that you change your nationality from the worldly nationality to the heavenly nationality. And there, whatever is needed we'll be doing it, we'll be accepting it, we'll be managing it. For that you don't have to change anything like that, but you have to transform yourself into a new personality; new personality, where you are safe.

Now just see, putting on that, how much Āgñyā has come down, just see. My foot was paralyzed, absolutely paralyzed when I walked in. I couldn't walk. I didn't know how I was going to take bath. I had to massage it and then it came down.

So just see putting that, just see that, how powerful it is. See, vibrations started flowing.

But people are somehow in the West very much frightened that they will lose their nationality. I mean, because, I feel, because the way they went all out to destroy all the world and to destroy them and put their own nationality on others. If you go to America, like yesterday I said, “Thank God Columbus did not go to India, he went..." I said, “Thank God, Hanumāna pushed him on the other side. Otherwise we all would have been finished here, this..." You see, poor man, he didn't want to do all that, but all those followed him just went and finished.

You can't find one aboriginal, one person from those old Indians in Argentina. I went to Argentina and they said, “In the museum you can find them", just imagine. Not only Argentina but also other places, like I went to Chile: not a single person. Only in Bolivia I found some of them, that's all. But it is such a mixture there too, because I think the people ran away to the hills and managed themselves. And whatever picture they have put about them, as if they are the cruel. Poor things, they have been all killed absolutely by white men, no doubt about it. It's horrible to go and kill others, go into their land, occupy it because you have got machinery, everything, you can kill all of them. All this has been done.

Now we are entering into a new era where we have to love. We don't have to aggress, we have to embrace. This is another era altogether. That aggression of Napoleon is over now. It's a new thing we have started, into another world, when we have to get more people, we have to synthesize the whole thing.

And when you aggress, you start analyzing, nothing to analyze.

[Aside:] Are you feeling better now? Put on little bigger one. See, you have a big forehead, then put on big, the very big, why do you put the little, small one?... on her head.

Fashion should not be done in these things. There should be no fashioning as far as your religious duties are concerned, you should not. There is nothing like fashion. Fashion is a human affair, it's not Divine. Look at these trees, how do they fashion themselves? Towards the sun. Every leaf is exposed to the sun, every leaf; because it has to get chlorophyll, it has to get the power of the sun in itself, so the every leaf is towards the sun. They don't do any fashions, do they? So another point is the individualism that is started in the West is nonsense. To show off that “I'm something different” you become stupid. But to be one with everyone is the real individualism, I think.

To be like everyone is the best. It's very difficult, it's very difficult to become one with everyone, because ego is so much.

Some people have ego which hurts others and some have whose ego is hurt, both just the same.

So to overcome all these things, forget about that kind of attitude of descending downward.

But for the ascent whatever is required is you look upward to God, look upward to Him with complete faith, Śhraddhā. Then I don't have to touch you, you need not see Me. It exists everywhere, you can get the blessings everywhere. You don't have to do anything special for it, just that Śhraddhā. But for that, certain mechanisms are to be put right, specially the Āgñyā needs repairs, quite a lot. That wheel is out of gear and that must be put right.

Mister Patankar was yesterday was rather angry with the so-called educated people. They are educated in English language, that's the problem, the language is like that. They think no end of themselves. He said, “They didn't touch Your feet." If they learn English language they will not touch My feet, because in English language touching the feet is regarded as something horrible, I think. That's why he felt very sad about it.

But this is all architecture has come from England, everything has come from Germany or from France.

Our telephones have come from France. No wonder they work like this! It's all the French who brought this and again they have got a big, I don't know, if I meet Rajiv Gandhi I'll tell him that at least don't give telephones to French. They has given such a big, very big order to the French. And now the helicopters they are buying from England, thank God they've stopped it. God knows what will happen to the helicopters, coming down in India from England. Like that you see they now are depending on the Third World for their progress, because they don't know where to send their own things which are created by their machines. But the way they do it: I mean, just imagine the kind of phones we have here, all done by French, not Indians. Why blame the Indians for that? Is done by the French, horrid, they have been like this since long and they are just the same. And again now we have given order to the French, because we thought only French can cure the French telephones. I don't know what they are going to do any justice to us or not.

So, as that machine is to be worked out, our own machine is to be worked out; and that machine is gone downward.

Let us raise it up, upward towards God in surrender, in understanding, because you are specially chosen people in that area. Like the lotuses you have to come out of the mud and don't imbed yourself in the mud more and more. Try to push yourself out of that, so that the fragrance of divinity will spread in that mud and make the whole of that Western world a beautiful place, beautiful place. Whatever has been done is done. I know one thing: without forgiveness, nothing is going to work out. Done is done. Erring is human, doesn't matter; whatever is done is done. Whatever they have done is done. It's all right, forgive them. Forgiveness is the only way they can come up. And when they are forgiven, they have to also realise now that we have to rise; because the world they have created has really ruined themselves. If they rise now the whole place can become fragrant, as I told you, like the lotus that comes out of the mud.

It's a very wrong idea people have here about the West, that you are the happiest people living around.

So it is better that we tell them that `No, we are not happy there.' You, what you have got is something precious. They also try to follow you and that following is going so far that maybe one day you will have to come and teach them Sahaja Yoga. Because they are on the other side of the circle; they are now trying to learn English, master English language and becoming Sahibs. They will come out with tailcoats and you'll have to tell them that better wear your dresses! So we should be wise, we should be sensible and the stupidity and the silly temperament that we have developed, we should give up. Suddenly people bubble out, I see that. You see, there's no balance. The maturity shows when you have a balance. You should be happy, I know; but all the time smiling, putting up a show, or sort of suddenly coming out with funny remarks and silly remarks shows you are not matured enough. You have to mature. In Sahaja Yoga you mature and if you do not mature then Sahaja Yoga has done no good to you.

So you have to be very, very careful about that part.

I hope I've been able to tell you all about it.

[Shri Mataji talks in Marathi:] Now what should I tell you? I was just praising you, just praising you in front of others. I tell them not to behave like stupid people and for you I must tell you that you need not blindly imitate them. Whatever we have got is a very great heritage. It should be carefully maintained. By looking at these people, if we try to imitate them it will be a foolish behaviour on our part. Their life is not balanced but has gone to extremes. I have stayed there for twelve years. Thus I have spent a TUP [twelve years] so I just wanted to tell you that you should not blindly follow them.

Though old is gold, whatever is oldish (junnat) is not good.

So oldish is not good. The concept of oldish has also come recently. For example, from the Muslims we have learnt to harass the women, from the English we have learnt to give dowry.

Now we have entered a new rules [of life] and in these new rules we need not give dowry [to our daughters who are married]. The daughters have been given half the property. This system is correct, that the daughter should take half the property. But here the daughters will not take and neither give. Thus we should not learn these things from them. We should keep to our behaviour of remaining humble, to lead a balanced life as taught to us by our ancestors and discard whatever is oldish. There are many oldish customs lingering in us.

For example, the domination of Brahmins in the temples has to be given up. They all have nicely fooled us. Secondly, the custom of fasting [in the name of God] has to be given up. I've told you hundred of times not to fast, but eat whatever is needed for the body, but people tell Me that “we cannot give up fasting." But the worst oldish, very dirty habit we have acquired is consuming tobacco. We are not able to give up tobacco, because we do not have enough strength [to give up this habit]. Tobacco, mishri [chewing tobacco with lime], who has brought these things to our country? From where did the word `tobacco' (tambakou) come? There was no word for tambakou in Sanskrit language. It has come from somewhere outside. We did not cultivate tobacco earlier. It is the English who have brought it to our country. The English have brought it here. That's why we call it tambakou, which has come from the word tobacco.

Where is the word tambakou in our Marathi language? It has been brought here from outside. Initially the Muslims cultivated it to some extent in our country, but these people [English] have brought cigarette and other things here on a large scale. They use it on a mass scale in their country. They have also exported tobacco and ganja [sort of a drug] to China. In our Marathi language I never heard of the word ganja and charras [another sort of drug]. If you try to consume ganja and charras you will become like the English.

It's up to you to decide. Thus whatever is given to us.

[In English:] We never had tobacco in our country, you'll be surprised. There's no word for tobacco in Sanskrit language. This was brought partly, of course, partly I should say, by the Muslims and then by the, the smoking was taught to us only by English. We didn't know that, what was smoking, we never knew smoking business. Muslims did have a little bit of it, but that started quite late. But actually this cigarette and this, all this has started after the English came in, “making it handy” you see. They used to have hookahs. That was rather difficult to make, so they could do it only very little bit. It was a long time back in the Islamic culture. But the real, this cigarette business, this ego business has come from the English, no doubt about it. And the Portuguese, Portuguese and the French, they taught us all these things.

So what I'm trying to tell them, that whatever is oldish should be given up. Whatever is old is gold, but whatever is oldish that we call as junnat, should be given up.

[Again in Marathi:] We have the custom of wearing sarīs with thick borders. This is a very good custom. Thick borders symbolizes Maryādās and when we wear sarīs with thick borders we stay in our Maryādās. Young girls can dress up whatever way they like, but young women, specially married women, should wear sarīs with thick borders. If you give up wearing sarīs with thick borders then you will lose all the art, all the art. Weavers will lose all the art of weaving. If we do not construct our houses as per the old style, then we will lose all the ancient art of building beautiful houses. These people like our houses built on the old style, not the new style. The reason is that the old style has got beauty in it and which might be lost if we built houses anyhow. Even the earlier huts were much better.

Instead of this [losing our art of building beautiful houses, as per the old style] occurring at a later stage, once we lose all the art in the future it'll be too late. Thus whatever is our ancient art has to be preserved, since it has beauty in it.

For example we have... type of sarīs which are called bugdya, nowadays the women do not even know the names of these sarīs. That's why we should always use the sarīs which have been woven by us. They are good. I think sarīs with thick borders suit better for the married women. If the sarīs do not have thick borders, it does not suit them. Married women should always wear sarīs with thick borders. It is not an oldish custom, but is a very beautiful custom. It looks nice, it matches with the women, it looks graceful, it has got a look of a well-bred woman. It is our culture, which we should not abandon and become like them [English].

We should not try to acquire their culture, because our culture is very great. If we pave our way by understanding what has gone wrong with their culture, then we can progress well. We can accept their progress in science, but in doing so if we lose our cultural heritage then we will become like them. They kill their children. Husband and wife cannot stay together even for two years. All of them stay in orphanages, waiting for death to come. In our society we have to preserve our goodness and kindness. Instead of that, we have acquired whatever is wrong with others. First we had learnt from the Muslims and now we are learning from these people. If we absorb the dirt from them, how can our houses remain clean? We were supposed to be clean and well-mannerly people and now we have acquired many wrong things from others.

Thus we have to abandon these things and cleanse ourselves.

Now, I've told them what is the importance of Pūjā but you know these things, so I did not explain it to you. But in Pūjā one should have Śhraddhā and we should not quarrel during the Pūjā. It does not matter who does the Pūjā since everyone is equally benefited from it, depending upon the Śhraddhā you have. Your pitchers will be filled up as much you have the Śhraddhā.

[Shri Mataji speaks again in English:] I would say for the ladies, can come and sit here this side a little bit. It's very hot for you. Move forward. Specially people who are so hot should not sit that side. Better sit...

[Aside:] Please let those ladies sit this side. They cannot bear the sun. Let them sit here. They are our guests. Come along, this side.

If you had put something there, you could have managed it. Little bit also one must understand, that they are doing everything. We must also do something about it. Everything they arrange, we just come and sit down like Gods; it's not a good thing, is it? You could have, such a long time was there, why didn't you put something there to protect yourselves? It's not difficult.

Now for these. You come this side also. You can come this side. Come along. Please give them place to sit. Come along. You get up from there. Hello, you get up, three of you.

Come this side. The ladies who are in the, no, you are all right, I think. Are you all right, are you? All right, behind you. Behind you these people can come this side, a little bit move this side. Not in the sun, they are already in the sun. If we make some shade on this side... Is it all right? Let them sit. There is shade on the other side, there is shade. Sit in the front where there is shade. Please have a seat. Hello, you come this side. There is place for you here. Come here, this side. This side you come along. Ladies need not go there, so come along this side. Let them sit. The men can come this side. Yes, the men can come this side. No, no, you'd better come this side. Why don't you move this side a little bit? Also we must think what we can arrange, what we can help them. Like yesterday, how they managed, arranged, when I went, they did not know I was going to the thing. When I came back, how they arranged for Me, how they were running. I mean, I'm also your Mother, am I not? Then we should think about these things, what we can do, how we can help them; everybody should. Just leave it, leave it just like that. Since they have not made any arrangements what can be done, let them sit as they are.

You can move a little bit this side. Hello, you move this side a little bit. You can also move a little bit. I don't want you to get into sun, you'll have trouble. No, but they can move the sound equipment a little this side. Just move it, a little bit... As soon as the sun comes up, you see, it will be all right, but still...

Just sit in the shade, sit as much as possible in the shade. If there is no shade you can sit in the front.

In the Pūjā it is better to sit in the shade. I am always standing in here above you. Do not worry. Please sit here in front of Me. It's better to sit in the shade. Is there somebody to say the mantras? Please call Gavin.

[Aide:] Yesterday you didn't come to My feet, you should have.

Please leave it now, otherwise it'll be late. Let them sit in the sun [if arrangements cannot be made to have shade].

[Aside:] Catching on the left Heart and left Swādhiṣhṭhān. Yesterday you should have come; I mean, you'll be doing in the Pūjās everything, so...

Is there somebody here to say the mantras? Has Mister Gholap arrived? Please call him. Does he know it? [Aside:] It's catching very badly, Heart, left Swādhiṣhṭhān.

Say Atharva Sheersha. Mister Gholap has not come. Where has Mister Gholap gone? Has he not come? Please call him for doing the Pūjā. Please start the Pūjā with the Atharva Sheersha. Please start now.

[UNCLEAR] 108 names have you got? [Marathi.] So you read it out first name, all right? And then they all should repeat it. Just tell them how to do it.

[108 Names of the Devī are recited.] Don't close your eyes. Don't close your eyes. Please, don't close your eyes. Watch Me. You're worshipping Me, so no need to close your eyes now. Just watch Me, put Me in your heart.

You all must say clearly. Is important. This is all in Sanskrit [UNCLEAR]. Must say clearly and put your hands towards Me. All this is in Sanskrit. [UNCLEAR]. Say it with your heart.

Now you can sing some song...

Sahaja Yogis [at the end of the song shout:] There is only one God and Shri Mataji Nirmalā Devī is the Shakti of God! [Shri Mataji, who is without the microphone, says these words which are then reported aloud for everybody to hear:] Shri Mataji says: It has to be made very clear that there is only one God but there are many deities, which are the different aspects of God.

Contents: 1985-12-31 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, The Innocence of a Child, at the beginning of the Evening Program, Ganapatipule, India

I had a special purpose in coming to Ganapatipule, apart from that it was a very beautiful place and very relaxing for all of you. The reason is: I found this place had vibrations which will clear you out very easily, but you have to desire it; really, ardently. We should have that desire, otherwise the Kuṇḍalinī may not rise. That is very important point; that you have to desire your ascent, nothing else. It's not a place you've come for holiday or just for some sort of a relaxation or for some enjoyment or sleeping or anything. But you have come here for a penance, for a tapasya, to clear out yourself completely.

This is a place of Śhrī Gaṇeśha's temple which is not very much frequented by people and it's still very, very pure. I thought that Gaṇeśh principle will be awakened in you which is the source of everything. Śhrī Gaṇeśha's principle, as you know, in a very large way or expansive way, we call it the innocence. But we do not know the intricacies and the details to which it can go and work it out.

Śhrī Gaṇeśha's innocence has a tremendous power to purify people, to make you holy, to make you auspicious. A person who has got Śhrī Gaṇeśha's principle awakened is auspicious in his presence. Such a person whenever he moves, things move in a direction that the coefficients works out; it becomes absolutely auspicious, auspiciousness which cannot be achieved without Śhrī Gaṇeśha's help. Now this auspiciousness, now we Sahaja Yogis believe into, that there is something like auspiciousness by which everything works out smoothly, everything we feel is done by God's power, that we are all the time wanted by nature, loved by surroundings and the atmosphere. But this understanding can only come if you have that pure desire within you, that you have to ascend, you have come here to ascend, not to enjoy yourself or a place of resort or something like that.

This principle is very much awakened as you see in the local people here and how spartan they're, how hard-working. They've been awake for days together and nights together, but still they're very, very relaxed and they do not need any help. Just in that enthusiasm they're working.

So the second blessing of Gaṇeśha is that He's playful, He's prasanna, He's always a pleasing personality.

He dances, He pleases you; He has ways and methods of pleasing you. And in the same way a person who has that awakened Gaṇeśha within him is all the time a very pleasing personality, not a drowned-out face, not a face that is repulsive, the face that makes you feel unhappy, but is a personality that makes you very easy, very understandable, likable, that sort of a personality you develop.

But so far as the life has been abroad, I have seen that the situation has been very different and the aggressiveness and the quarrelsomeness, we can say, the hurting capacity, is so over-developed that you have to, some how or other, succumb completely to the auspiciousness of Śhrī Gaṇeśha. Because all the instruments that were to be used for spreading Sahaja Yoga or for spreading the love of God, for spreading auspiciousness of God, working out His designs and plans and adjusting yourself to the laws of God's desires, it was very important that we should have had our instruments done in such a way that they were absolutely useful. On the contrary we have misused them, spoiled them and have completely made them unholy.

So that's another point we have to look at ourselves here, what have we been doing to ourselves, what is the need for us to make ourselves unholy and why should we be unholy. When Śhrī Gaṇeśha is there, we can make ourselves very holy, auspicious. Now no use believing that we're perfect, those who believe like that cannot ascend. Everybody must know there are lots of imperfections and these imperfections in me that are, should be conquered with and to be found out. Only in the light of Śhrī Gaṇeśha's innocence you can see.

A little child can show you how we are stupid and foolish and how we behave.

So many times you must have seen children come out of, with such utterances that the elders are put to shame.

So the child-like temperament can be developed if we awaken Śhrī Gaṇeśha's principle within ourselves which is a very, very powerful, very, very powerful deity, very powerful deity. Because a child, supposing one child is lost, say a child runs away or if a child is hanging somewhere on a tree, the whole community will rush to take out the child, the concern will be there. Even in the Western countries, I have seen, if one little girl is tortured, everybody is worried about the child, everybody opposes that, maybe there are some horrible people, no doubt, maybe there are more than there are here, but one gets concerned.

So child itself is a very sort of a source of getting all the protection from everywhere. Because the child is growing, the child is growing, everybody wants to help the child.

So in the same way when this Gaṇeśha principle is developed into you, you realise that you have to grow, you're still growing. A little child learns so many words in such a short time that we cannot learn afterwards when we're grown up, say after sixty, if you have to learn even three sentences, it's impossible.

So the child is growing and he is curiosity and his capacity to know more things is also very much sharp; he starts learning more. He doesn't think he knows everything. The ones who think like that are not yet born properly. “I don't [know] anything, I have to know this, I have to know that, I have to know that, I don't know anything." And the children do it so easily you must have seen, little bit you do this way or that way, they immediately follow you.

So what you have to do is to know that you are still in a child stage, you're growing, we have to humble down and we have to know a lot and from wherever we have to know, we have to know. The arrogance, the idea that we know a lot itself is very, very dangerous for the growth, very dangerous and that is what one has to give up and should know that we do not know anything but we have to know.

Many people who come to Sahaja Yoga settle down as, “We are Sahaja Yogis” but don't know a word about Sahaja Yoga, so many of them, specially the ladies, I'm surprised. They know very little about Sahaja Yoga, it's rather surprising. Now in Sahaja Yoga there's nothing like women or men, everybody has equal rights. It's not the job of women just to sing songs, no, it's not true. They have to know each and everything about Sahaja Yoga. They have to know what are the diseases, how they're cured, what are the mental problems, how are these Chakras are made, everything they've to know, the medicines they have to know, the psychology; they have to know the Divine Powers, everything they have to know, how it works out. And that ignorance will never be forgiven, because you are the ones who have to talk about it to others.

The third thing is, a child is never a silly person, never silly. He never does something in a silly way, while you see many people who are brought up in a very strict way become suddenly very silly at an old age, very silly. This phenomenon I see much more in the West, suddenly they become, trying to be very youngish-type and just they'll clap like this and start behaving in a very funny manner. I used to wonder what's wrong with them, why are they behaving like this, you see, but it is, I think they're bottled up.

And then suddenly they try to behave but they're not. A child is never a silly person. On the contrary, if there's somebody silly they'll say, “He's a clown” they'll come and tell Me, “He's a clown, you know and not all right” or, “He's a buffoon” whatever words they know they'll express. They don't like it, they start wondering, “What's the matter with this person?" So all these things come to us because we have no idea that we have to grow in a steady, understanding awareness, awareness, not in how you express yourself in Sahaja Yoga, how you do things in Sahaja Yoga; it is how you are aware of it inside.

In the same way emotionally when I say something, I don't think people understand what I mean, now I said that you put on bindis. Again I find you are just the same, at least here you should. This is Gaṇeśha's mark, they would not put it.

So many times I've said. How much time does it take to put it on. Now this is a very common things that are going on.

Now another thing is that, you see, a child doesn't want to be disheveled at all. Today one child had gone for a bath and was coming back. His father wanted him to see Me, he said, “No, my clothes are not all right, my hair are all disheveled, how can I see Mother?" So he went back, he puts some oil on his hair, properly dressed up, smartly. When we were young, we always knew all the Western people were very smartly dressed, properly groomed, they would never come with disheveled hairs. But he said, “No, my hair all disheveled, how can I go and see Mother?" So we have to give up the, these funny ideas of fashions and all that because this will all go away, you'll lose your hair, you'll all become bald-headed to look very funny. There's no wisdom in it but a child has wisdom, he wouldn't come. He dressed up himself properly, then he came and stood before Me.

And this is what we have to understand that our appearances are the expression of our inner being and we have to do certain things because we do not know to accept things, how to do things like a child does. A child if you tell him anything, he obeys and he listens. Otherwise the child is not a normal child.

In India if there's a child who doesn't obey, they just thrash him nicely, put him in the room for three days, make him starve, put him right; nothing doing. That doesn't mean the people are harsh here with children, nobody kills children or anything. But you have to be very, very careful with your children, you shouldn't allow them to be lousy, to be untidy, to be languid, like lotus-eaters, you see, or like people who have no smartness about them. You're all Sahaja Yogis and you have to be like that in that way.

A child's another attribute is that he hits always the principle of everything, always the principle. A child sees to the principle of everything and the questions they ask sometimes is so remarkably collective that I'm surprised how they go to that point. They never waste time in frivolous things, never; never waste time in frivolous things, dark and frivolous things, nothing of the kind. I haven't seen children talking about their clothes or about the seats they have got, the houses, nothing of the kind. They are busy doing some construction, very busy, you see. You ask them, “What are you doing?" “You see, we are trying to tie up the whole of the airport” or “the whole of Bombay [Mumbai]” like that they will tell you.

They're very busy people, if you see realised Souls who are children, they are always worried about the collective and that's what should be your situation that you should be all the time worried about the collective as a child is, that, “How I will help the collective?" But not worried about yourself, `What is my personality, am I that impressive, if I go to people, will they believe that I'm something, a realised Soul, or I'm like other women or other men who are going to the hairdressers and having all kinds of hairdressing up and wearing all kinds of funny dresses to impress others? Am I looking like a saint, am I behaving like a saint?' These things should come to you very easily. If you tell a child, “You are a Sahaja Yogi” they say so, “I'm a Sahaja Yogi, I can't do that." All the nonsense starts after they develop their ego and then they start behaving in a funny way and it develops much more in the West earlier, but here it takes time. And the children are just accepting whatever God gives them. To them alertness is so natural, if there's an aeroplane that's going, they'll say, “Bye bye aeroplane." Then there are ships are going, “Bye bye." To the sea they'll say, “All right sea, we'll come and see you tomorrow." You see, everything is within their mind. To them everything is there, they'll come, you ask them, “How did you like it?" “Oh, we like the grass very much, it was nice” and everything they will tell you, the details about everything.

So alert and then they'll say, “Why didn't you do this, you could have put some flowers here, you could have done some flowers, would have looked nice for the...", something, a suggestion they would give, very particular to cleanliness, anything.

And in childhood children get up very early, all the children in childhood get up very early. It's a nuisance for mothers but they get up very early and that's how I also get up very early. Getting up early is a child-like behaviour, because the birds are singing, the sun is rising, such beauty in the sky and, “Why am I sleeping?" They'll wake up the whole house but people don't like it, sometimes they beat, not in India. In India people try to get up early in the morning, it's regarded as something very Dharmic and good. Even if he sleeps late, he'll get up early in the morning, that's one thing. Then you can sleep in the daytime. But nobody sleeps over this thing like nine o'clock, ten o'clock, nobody sleeps like that. I mean, I have a problem, I don't know what to do with Myself. You can sleep in the daytime for a while if you want to overcome the night sleep; you can be quite fresh. You can be quite all right in the evening if you sleep for a while.

But a child doesn't think too much, he doesn't plan too much, you see, he makes fun out of everything.

You take them anywhere, say, you take them to an airport. There's nothing to be played about, they'll find out some groove somewhere, they'll jump in there, they'll get hide there, play there. They can make play out of any gross stuff that we think is useless, they'll make out of it. They're very constructive and playful and that is what we have to be, make play out of your life. Everything is meeting people, talking to them, it should come naturally, not artificially.

Also some people, I've seen, have a habit of putting up an expression all the time, like a smile or a frown or this thing. Children are never like that, their muscles are so supple, they react all the time.

Sometimes when they're happy, when they're unhappy, everything, you see, the muscles are all the time are acting like that, nobody's tense, that's why we have problems with our faces, you see, because we keep them in one style, you see and these days the more miserable you are, regarded as more handsome, that's finished! Or else some people just go on smiling all the time like this, it's very bad, or all the time absolutely feeling unhappy. You should allow the action of your emotions to be expressed on your face. I'm told that it is said that there should be no emotions shown on your faces. I mean, I can't understand, what is the use of such a personality who doesn't show any emotions when you're not a stone, are you? So all these foolish stupid ideas which are given to us should be given up and we should smile, we should laugh, naturally. We should talk to people in natural way. And the child is extremely dignified.

Śhrī Gaṇeśha dances with His dignity. He doesn't do frivolous, nonsensical things, in His rise and in His fall and in His movements and steps, He's nothing but His weight.

So something cheapish He doesn't do; in the same way there should be dignity throughout. Dignified behaviour should be within us.

Now you have to judge yourself, how far you have become Śhrī Gaṇeśha within yourself. Are you innocent? You think of cheating others, spoiling others, like My television, I was amazed, I mean, I can never think of spoiling a television and this and that; these ideas, from where do they come into your heads, why should we? I've never done it all My life, something like that. You know that I've always paid every duty, everything, why should we do such a nonsensical, to spoil the television and spoil the equipment, make it look cheaper, for what? How much are you going to save out of it? But all these ideas come into your heads, I just don't know from where. Why cheat, we're Sahaja Yogis, we cannot cheat anyone. All you can tell the customs, “This is the situation is, if you allow we'll go, otherwise we'll stay." It's a negative attitude, never comes to children, they're so plain and simple.

Once we had gone, I must tell you how children are so simple, once we had gone to a, inside a port and My nephew gave Me two tins of cheese, you see. And we were bringing it out, so My daughter who was a very small girl, so when we were coming and he asked, “Do you have anything?" I said, “We have some two tins of cheese." “Yes, yes and we're going to eat it also, see we have opened one and we're eating." The customs fellow was so impressed by her innocence. He says, “For your eating?" “Yes, yes for our eating, we've taken it, is it all right?" He said, “It's all right." You see, the simplicity and innocence is itself is a certificate for you, not this cunningness, what is there? Precisely on the phone I tell them, “Oh Baba, for heaven's sake, I'll pay every duty, you don't have to do anything, just put this thing there, tell that it is Mine, you don't have to do anything, declare it, this that." Why? Where is our mind going? “It's all right." How much are we going to lose in there? How much have we gained so far in money? What do we have? Saving money here, saving money there.

Children don't do like that, no, they don't.

Like My grandson, he was saying, “Why do you stay in this wretched place, very bad vibrations in London." I said, “You see, your grandfather has to stay here for earning money." He said, “Money? Why do you need so much money for, why do you need money, why don't you come to India?" I said, “You need money” so when My husband came back, he took out a two p, he said, “You want money? Have it! Now put it on your head, why do you want to have money?" And My husband didn't know where to look.

“You want money, all right, have it, put it on your head." It was a little boy, you see.

But interest in money starts later. Money, we start looking at it, when we grow up, otherwise we don't.

All this money interest start going later on. What is for Gaṇeśha, money is the dust of His feet. What for Him gold, what for Him anything. Whether He wears a crown of gold or He doesn't wear anything makes no difference; He's that. He's that, He's just the same. Out of respect, out of adoration, people might give Him gold or anything just to feel satisfied. For Him what does it matter? And any child who is a real child will not accept anything from anybody else, nothing; but if he takes, he will think, “How should I return it back?" Always. I know My own grandchildren have done it. You see, if you give them something, they'll make a heart, put inside that, write it down nicely and when I come out of My bathroom, they'll give Me that heart, you see, that, “Thank you very much” for this and that. But when we grow up we even forget to thank people. We take everything for granted, we don't have that, we just think we have to judge everyone all the time, “That's not good, this is not good, could have been better." We never think this is given to us, be thankful, count your blessings.

But for children it's not so. If you give them a small thing, they'll keep it, “This is given to me by my Grandmother." I've seen this in My own grandchildren. The eldest one when she was small I gave her a little sarī, a very small one just for her to wear.

So when I went there she said, “You see nani, I must tell you one thing serious is happening” I said, “What?" “You see, the sarī You gave me, I've kept it very carefully but my mother is trying to be funny." I said, “What happened?" “You know, she didn't give it to anyone but she showed it to some people, she should not have shown it." Very seriously. They're so sweet and so beautiful when they say things.

Like once I had given her a Wendy house and a Wendy house she made it nicely, she called her mother, “I've made a very nice house for you, come along." So My daughter is rather tall, you see, she found it difficult, she went inside the Wendy house and sat there and she said, “Ha and so what have you got for me to eat." She said, “Mummy, when you go to somebody's house you don't say such a thing." And she laughed and she laughed so much that she broke all the Wendy house.

So she came out and she told Me, “Grandma, you have not given any good training to your daughters. First of all, she comes to my house, asks funny questions and then she breaks my house, do you do like this to anyone else?" How innocent and simple they are. Like that there are so many things I can tell you, I've seen the way they talk and say things and all that, so simple and so good and so collective and so beautiful. In the same way we have to be.

Another thing, a child doesn't have any fear, child doesn't have any fear. Gaṇeśha has no fear at all.

In the same way you should have no fear, no fear at all, no fear. As long as your Mother is with you why should you have any fear. Fear of this, fear of that, “I'm frightened, I can't do this, I can't do that” that children never do. They'll try everything if you tell them. You should have no fear. I don't know what fear is. In the same way you should have no fear, no fear of anything. Nothing is going to go wrong with you but don't do wrong things. If you do wrong things it will repel, it will work out on you. But don't do wrong things, be straight forward and nothing can harm you, nothing can harm you.

We have had so many experiences of this, how everywhere laid down for you, everybody is looking after you. There are so many deities who are working out things out for you. But you have to be, you have to be extremely careful that you do not develop this fear business because fear takes you to the left side and once you go to the left side, you know the problems of the left side is. First of all you go against Gaṇeśha, Gaṇeśha is standing at the base of the left. And then you develop cancers, you develop all these things, fear, fear, fear and emotional problems and all these things come. In emotions you should be bubbling with joy; joy is your emotion. In action you should be thoughtless and in ascent you should be surrendered.

That's all, it's very simple, three mantras are very simple for children, they're like that.

Play at the base of this Śhrī Gaṇeśha's hill, we have to think of awakening the Gaṇeśh Tattwa within us, for that we have to meditate, we have to think about it, we have to put our time to it. Actually if I were you, I may not sleep at all, I will go to the sea shore, sit down there, meditate the whole night. Before breaking the Sahasrāra I kept awake for two nights and I was just all alone, all alone near the sea, all alone the whole night, working it out, for two nights. But what do we do? We think about our comforts, we think about this, about that, it's not so. You're here, such a chance. We get tired because we think too much; we know how to get out of this tiredness.

So this is a very good chance for you, we have come here, of course it's a beautiful place and all that but it's mainly the thing why I thought of bringing you here that it may suddenly give you a big boost up and you might rise very high for which I may not be able to really arrange otherwise, this kind of ascent which is possible.

Many of the Indians have not even seen this place before. It's such a beautiful place and they're surprised that in India we have such beautiful places. And after coming here they have felt the beauty, the auspiciousness, the wisdom of choosing this place. It's so lovable, so beautiful but I hope I see the effects of that in you.

Now you have to go and have your food. We have a very generous man who is cooking for you, be careful. We shouldn't spoil your health specially for those who have to go with us, so be careful, they're very generous people; My brother and the gentleman who is cooking for you, both are competing in generosity.

So be careful. Now only the Sahaja Yogis from abroad and non-vegetarians have to go first and then the vegetarians will go and after that we'll have some music program. That's how it is going to be. Tomorrow morning I expect you to go for meditation about five o'clock in the morning. Then have your bath in the sea.

Contents: 1986-01-01 Śhrī Mahāgaṇeśha Pūjā (English+Marathi), Ganapatipule, India

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] Today we all have assembled here to pay our respect to Śhrī Gaṇeśha.

Ganapatipule has a special significance, because He is Mahāgaṇeśha. The Gaṇeśha at Mūlādhāra becomes Mahāgaṇeśha in the Virāta, that is the brain. That means it is the seat of Śhrī Gaṇeśha. That means Śhrī Gaṇeśha governs from that seat the principle of innocence. As you know very well it is placed at the back in the region of optic thalamus, optic lobe as they call it; and it is the giver of innocence to the eyes.

When He incarnated as Christ, which is in here in the front, at Āgñyā, He said very clearly that “Thou shalt not have adulterous eyes." It's a very subtle saying, which people don't understand what is the meaning of the word `adultery'. `Adultery' means `impurity' in a general word. Any impurity in the eye “thou shalt not have", it's very difficult. Instead of saying that you get your realisation and clear your back Āgñyā, He has said it in a very short form, “Thou shalt not have adulterous eyes." And people thought, it's an impossible situation. Because He was not allowed to live long; actually His public life is limited to three and a half years only.

So whatever He has said has a very great significance, that your eyes should not be adulterous. When there is innocence there is no adultery: it means there's no impurity.

For example, with our eyes we see something and we want to possess it. We start thinking. The thought starts like a chain, one after another. And then we get into the web of horrible thoughts and then we become slaves of those thoughts. Without even our knowledge, our eyes are turned to things which are very gross and take you downward.

As Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has said that the Tree of Awareness grows upside-down, that the roots are in the brain and the branches grow downward. Those who have gone towards materialism have grown downward.

Those who have gone towards Divine have grown upwards, towards the roots. The main root, as they call the taproot, the main root is innocence, is Śhrī Gaṇeśha. And He becomes Mahāgaṇeśha in Ganapatipule. Here He's surrounded by the Father Principle, the Guru Principle of the sea, the ocean, the Indian Ocean. That is, here He becomes a Guru.

When a Sahaja Yogi establishes his Śhrī Gaṇeśha Principle, he's still a child. Of course his eyes start becoming purer and purer and powerful and glistening.

You must have seen when the Kuṇḍalinī gives you the realisation then your eyes start gleaming, like a spark is there in the eyes, you can make out a spark.

With ego it gets covered, with ego it blinds. With superego it is covered with tears. But when they are clear you see the beauty of the eyes, Śhrī Gaṇeśha shining through your glances. The attention now starts flowing through the window of Śhrī Gaṇeśha's temple.

But when you mature, you become Mahāgaṇeśha. Then Mahāgaṇeśha is established in you and you become a satGuru, you become a Divine Guru; you can teach others. Even a child could be that, even a grown-up person may be stupid. It has nothing to do with age, colour, creed or caste. It is a state to which one can reach at any time. Like we can say here we had Gñyāneśhwara, who at a very young age composed the great Gyāneshwari. As you have seen yesterday, at the age of twelve years Gorakhnath established his Mahāgaṇeśha.

But if you do not try to ascend, then you'll remain at the same stage even when you grow old.

So maturity is the indication. Here, as we see in Ganapatipule, Śhrī Gaṇeśha is in its complete, matured form; so that we develop also our Mahāgaṇeśha within ourselves and our eyes become pure, powerful and Divine. With proper working out, I am sure we can establish that state within ourselves.

[Shri Mataji talks in Marathi:] Today we came to Ganapatipule, it has a great significance, among the Asthavinayaka [eight Swayambhūs of Śhrī Gaṇeśha]. It is the place of Mahāgaṇeśha. Mahāgaṇeśha is Pīṭhadhish [Governor of all Pīṭhas] and sitting on this Pīṭha, he looks after [protects] all the Gaṇeśha Swayambhūs. He has the knowledge of all the Omkāras, as he has attained the Guru Tattwa [Guru Principle].

If we see in the surroundings, the ocean, so beautiful and clean is washing the feet of this Gaṇapati, because the ocean represents the Guru Tattwa and with that Guru Tattwa, he washes the feet of Śhrī Gaṇeśha and that is how it should happen with all the Sahaja Yogis. Gaṇeśha Stuthi is done and then Śhrī Gaṇeśha is established and thereafter with the Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa you have to become Mahāgaṇeśhas.

This state can be achieved by children small and big, elderly people, ladies and everyone, if they can attain the straight forward behaviour, which we call as `Saraliya' in Marathi or they say Abhodita or innocence, when it is once imbibed in us, we can achieve the Guru Pad. Whichever Guru, who does not have this straight forward nature and innocence, he can never be a Guru, he is a aGuru [false Guru].

The person, whose attention is always on the Divine Power, only he can become a real Guru. The attention of normal human beings is perverted, it is not clean. For this Christ has said, that there should be no adultery in your eyes, means that if we put our attention on something, we start thinking a lot and strange thoughts come to our mind, as to how I can acquire this thing and why I did not get this thing and other thoughts as to why and why not. If we see something and start thinking, then we should know that we have not yet crossed the Āgñyā Chakra.

Whatever thing you see, you should be able to go into thoughtless awareness, especially when one sees the Devīs and Devathas [Gods and Goddesses], who reside in the heavenly abode of wealth and prosperity.

Once we attain the state of thoughtless awareness, no perversion will remain in our attention any more.

The thoughts perverting the mind will not come anymore, so how will perversion influence you. That means like Christ said, thou shall not have adulterous eyes, they should be so pure, like the rays of the sun, when they fall on trees, they do no absorb the dirt, they nourish and nurture them, not only that but they also give them strength.

In a similar way, the Sahaja Yogis should have such radiance in their eyes, that they will be able to create a very pure atmosphere in the whole world. Purity in the atmosphere is what we need today, everywhere, so that peace, joy and Divine Power can prevail in this world. Only singing the praise of Śhrī Gaṇeśha may not be sufficient, Śhrī Gaṇeśha needs to be awakened within us and he should evolve to the state of Mahāgaṇeśha.

Only after attaining the state of Mahāgaṇeśha, can our country benefit and also through our country, other countries can benefit from this state. We are going to lead the others, but if we do not take up this responsibility, then I cannot say, what will happen of this whole world.

I have a request to you all, to remove all the adultery in your eyes. For this we have the mantra of Nirvichara in Sahaja Yoga. Do not allow the thoughts to dominate you, if thoughts come, then say “Yen Neti Neti Vachane"

[Keep saying, it is not there, not there...] or say “Kshama Keli, Kshama Keli" [I forgive, I forgive], so that this thought is destroyed and once thoughtlessness is attained, then the perversion of the mind is stopped.

Everybody should make an attempt, that your eyes are not adulterous. Like Saint Tukārām has said, “If there is perversion in the mind because of my eyes, then I do not want to have such eyes, better to be blind." In one way, it is better being blind, than have perversion in the mind. Rather have inner eyes to see Divinity. When these two principles come together properly, then one can say that the Sahaja Yogi has attained the Guru Principle.

I bless you all, that here at Ganapatipule, the place of Mahāgaṇeśha, with his special grace, you all can attain your Guru Principle as soon as possible.

First they will take the twenty-four names of Śhrī Viṣhṇu, so that this Suṣhumnā Nāḍī will open out.

Then they will say the Śhrī Sūkta, is the one to awaken the energy within you. Then they will say the 108 name of Mother Gaurī. After that Pūjān, when this Pūjā is over, then we will be doing a [Hindi aside].

Eleven kundas we have got and we'll be doing the havana on eleven kundas. Because the Mahāgaṇeśha is the ruler, is the ruler of Ekādaśha Rudra.

So that has to be done with great devotion and dedication.

I would suggest that first is finished this Pūjā, you can have your food and afterwards we'll sit down for the havan.

[Pūjā is being completed with mantras and Ār.ti.] May God bless you all.

If you don't want to marry, tell Me now. I don't want you to make a man unhappy. Never argue with your husband. Your only job is to nourish him with your love. If he is doing something wrong, just do a bandhan. You are the left side and all the deities and ganas will help you.

Contents: 1986-01-02 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Beginning of Marriages, Ganapatipule, India

..... Chivalrous and must give all protection to your wives and proper guidance, wisdom to them. They should be made to look after other Sahaja Yogis. They must be made to share this joy of marrying you with others, by giving them pure love. One should not possess the other, or possess anyone.

Some of you might try to possess the wife to such an extent that you be jealous of your children. I have seen that it doesn't exist in Sahaja Yoga. You are not to be jealous. But if the wife is doing something wrong you better inform Me. Don't start beating them. When I say that, your left Nābhī is catching.

It's a very auspicious occasion, is no doubt; also it is a solemn occasion, no doubt; also it is a joyous occasion! So try to enjoy. But one need not be frivolous, cheapish. Enjoy it within yourself.

In your presence, they are also very much inspired. I think the artists are playing so well, so beautifully blending with the whole atmosphere of joy and peace. I [UNCLEAR know/note] all of you are enjoying it so much and we cannot have you very close, but as many as you want, you can come and sit this side or this side just to hear them. There's no harm in moving [UNCLEAR round/out].

So if you want to come little further you can come along. But the bride and bridegroom have to sit where they are. And I know you are in very good moods and the artists are also building up your moods beautifully, weaving beautiful thoughts into your minds.

This will be the last program we'll be having here.

So you all have to say farewell to everyone and all your plans have been made by other people and the artists are to be thanked again and again for giving this beautiful [UNCLEAR climate/climax]. And above all, you must thank, you must thank My brothers I think those [UNCLEAR who were worried/who have arranged them all] and also for arranging good food for us. I wish you a very happy and prosperous married life. Make it a great success. We need very good families and excellent children to build up a new society [UNCLEAR as well/this way/this year].

May God bless you all. This is the last music program we'll be having and after that tomorrow morning, whatever are your plans you can find them out from Doctor Bohdan. I don't know how many people to thank.

But one more thing I have to say to all the people who came from Delhi, Madras [Chennai] and Calcutta [Kolkata], Bombay [Mumbai], that whatever inconveniences they had to go through, they should dissolve them in this joyous atmosphere of forty-eight marriages.

And and [then] we thank [to] all the people, young people and old people and everyone who has contributed to this ocean of joy which we are enjoying here. I feel the heavens have come on this earth.

The whole thing is so beautifully integrated into this beautiful melody of Divine Love. May God make you happy and Śhrī Gaṇeśha gives you all the wisdom that is needed to lead a proper, righteous, beautiful and joyous married life.

May God bless you.

[After the, Public Program, a Mumbai Sahaja Yogini joins the queue to meet Shri Mataji.] Sahaja Yogi [to her]: Why are you standing here in the queue? You are from Mumbai. Ask your questions in Mumbai.

Shri Mataji: Mumbai is so crowded, how can she ask Me any question there? Better tell Me now what is your question.

Contents: 1986-01-06 Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī Pūjā, Sangli, Maharashtra, India

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] I hope you all enjoyed your stay in Ganapatipule. The problem was that we could not arrange the cooking nearer your stay when you were here to walk a lot. But that walking was, I think, quite nice and must have helped you. It's good for diarrhea and other problems that you have.

Actually, I had seen the place but I hadn't seen the, all the hostels and residential places. But for your information now somebody has donated Me one acre of land free, free of cost, next to the sea on the other side. It's beautiful. And you should all send him a letter of thanks for that.

So for next year I'm sure we can organize something much better, in a much more collective way.

Now the next tour is going to be, as you know, via Pune, Rahuri, Akluj. And these places are of more importance to us, because Rahuri is a place where My forefathers ruled, so it's a very powerful place, because they were great Devī bhaktas. Also all the Naths, like Macchindranath, Gorakhnath, all these great evolved souls called as Avadhūtas who were incarnations of the great Primordial Masters, worked in that area. They are the ones who talked of Kuṇḍalinī to begin with, openly. Then Pune, as you know, is called as Puṇyapattanam, is a very holy place since ages. And then you'll be going to a place called Nira, which is a river named after My name and this river has got lot of land around it which we have purchased, where we are going to do agricultural work. And also you will see there the Bhima River where you'll have your morning baths and you'll enjoy the river part of it.

Also they have invited you for a function there. They have a very big function for two days. That's why I am not coming, because I wouldn't be able to do any programs during that time, but you enjoy yourselves there. Then you are going to another interesting place called Wani, which is a hill station and a very beautiful place where there's a dam as well and then you'll be returning back. I'm taking this opportunity to talk to you because I seldom get time to talk to you.

Now, as far as these outside things are concerned, they should all nourish you for your ascent. You have to see how much you have achieved within, what kind of temperament you have developed, how much detachment, how much collective and how much generosity. All these things are to be seen. Judge yourself, don't ask others to judge you. How much balance, how much wisdom, because all these things should settle you down in a way that gives you the necessary balance. I do not know how many years more we can do this, but I think it's very good, because now I see the difference in the vibrations of people.

Even before we had started in Ganapatipule and today, there's such a tremendous difference. Actually I am getting Cool Breeze from your side now! So the ascent is the main attention and it's the main concern for all of us. You have come here for your ascent. I know there must have been lots of difficulties and lots of inconveniences; some people also burnt their skin, I am sorry for that. But in this country over-doing is regarded as something improper and we should try to avoid over-doing anything.

So by over-doing it we actually go to the right or the left and so please try to avoid everything that is over-doing. For example, you may like your bath in the Bhima River very much, but that's very nice at a point where it is shallow; but where it is deep, you should not go there. I'm only worried on that point because it's still, one has to understand to keep yourself in complete control and not to go to places which are dangerous. Apart from that it is dangerous to you, it is dangerous to the whole of Sahaja Yoga movement and also to Me, because I get very worried and upset if you get anything.

So the main thing is that you should keep yourself in the center. Do not go to extremes in anything.

Everyone respects you if you are in the center, but if you go to extremes they think there's something wrong, basically wrong with you. And also it upsets the whole of the program.

So My advice is that keep to the center, do not over-do anything, keep everything in proper shape; because it is strenuous for you people to travel like this, to face this sun. This is the coldest time in Maharashtra, so you can imagine that what else we could do? I mean, we have to achieve the results with the maximum of combinations.

And I am sorry for the people who got these burns; and actually because I had to treat them and all that I was so delayed that the whole program delayed, delayed, delayed, I mean, it was too much. But now, no more of this. Please don't go in the sun at all, there is no need, you have had enough of sun. And the sun melts your brain and that makes persons mad in this country: if we go in the sun we end up as mad people.

So must be happening to brains also something, so it's better not to go in the sun at all, keep it like that. Just for a while it's all right, but don't sit in the sun. It's very inviting, I know, because you don't get the sun, but there is sun's rays inside this room, everywhere.

So you shouldn't go and sit in the sun at all. That may really give you troubles, because the sun in Akluj will be quite heavy and I'm telling you also this because I may not be with you.

So please look after yourself, that's the only thing you can do for Me.

For yourself, you must do your meditation, you must worry about your ascent and don't leave your things here and there, be careful. I am very happy the way they appreciated you in the Temple of Mahālakṣhmī and that they respected you and gave you something in your oti and that is something really very sweet of them to accept you so readily into their own style and into their community, you see. And they said that “We couldn't make out who is Indian, who is not Indian” because I think in Ganapatipule also your skin has become little less pale and maybe they said, “We couldn't make out who is who." So it's very good that now things are working out that we are getting little, little homogeneous temperaments.

Regarding Pūjās, as we had three Pūjās before and the fourth one in Ganapatipule, here also you'll have three Pūjās. In these three Pūjās I'm sure, this being a quieter group, you'll achieve much more and things will be very much better. If you have any problems you can let Me know, we can arrange all that.

But one thing, be sure that you do not overexert yourself, neither you starve yourself or overeat. Anything doing too much will not be good for this trip. Because I think in the second group we are going to achieve much more than what we had achieved before.

So the second group people should try to keep to a normal life, more attention to the spirit, more attention to their ascent.

The last but not the least is the great news that so many others want to get engaged. I'll be very happy to get them engaged, either in Pune or in Rahuri. It will be a very good idea, those who want to get engaged. And if there are some people who still want to get married, let Me know. Maybe we might be able to arrange something in Rahuri. But the best is that those who want to get engaged, it's very easy to be done and it will be a good idea.

So let Me know before we leave Pune, anyone of such wants to.

Now if you have any questions or anything to be said, please say it now, because I won't get such a chance to talk to you, this being such a small group here, otherwise always in a Pūjā; now in Pune you'll find at least five times more people than you are.

Yes? What's she saying?... Hard time with your attention, what?... What is it? Question: She wants to know how to settle her attention and how to go deeper in meditation.

Shri Mataji: Your attention goes to which places, is the point. You try to see around more.... You see, first of all in meditation you must discuss this and there are many others who can tell you, they'll work it out. And secondly the best way, you see, is to put your eyes on the Mother Earth. Concentrate on the Mother Earth is the best way. When you are walking, keep your eyes on the Mother Earth. If somebody is talking to you, keep your eyes on the Mother Earth. You see, then you'll absorb everything better and you'll be stationed better, all right? That's a very good thing to think about, that our attention should not be frittered away. Gradually you'll settle down. I think most of you who have come for the first time will find it a little difficult in the beginning to adjust, but gradually you will. Because first of all our attention goes to small, small things, like “I have to sit on the ground" or “You have to go by buses” or some sort of a filthy thing you see somewhere.

So the attention always goes to the defects and the loopholes and to the filth, because attention has been like that. But then it starts going to the places of beauty. In little, little things you start seeing the beauty, in little, little things you start seeing the Divine. And then that's the time you should know that your attention will enjoy everything.

But normally you see the attention, specially the kind of attentions we have, goes to the wrong things.

What is the loophole? We start judging everyone, we start judging every place. Now see this place, if you sit here: to Me it is marvelous, to you it may be just made out of what, this tin business, this, that; all that you will start thinking. To Me it's beautiful, because I see these beautiful sarīs spread here and the beautiful flower arrangements beautifully done, something so special. And the background and everything done with such care. How did they go there and how did they have these things tied up? It's remarkable.

All these things come to My mind and I start feeling very overjoyed that My boys have worked so hard to put all these things up and how nicely, how they must have arranged it. All these ideas come into My head and I feel very elevated. I don't see the tins or I don't see anything else. It is what you see, where your attention goes.

So try to see something beautiful. There's so many beautiful things that one can see. Now where, what I see is the heart of My children, the way they have done it, isn't it? If you are a deep person you can see how they have spread the sarīs sweetly, how they have spread the flowers, how they've done it.

So it is the attention: where does it go? When you start seeing for yourself, “What is my comfort? I should have this, I should have that” then there is no joy. But the joy lies in seeing the deeper side of what they have done for us, how they have worked for us, how they have brought things for us, how they have cooked for us with love. You are doing no work compared to what these people are doing, no doubt. You are moving like royal people really, to be... And they had to do it. Specially Ganapatipule was very difficult place. People had to come all the way from Nagpur, fifty people came to cook your food. Money is not everything. Even if you pay money, you can't do that.

It's love, it's the feeling, it's the attention, it's the generosity of looking after the guests.

And that is how one should enjoy how much they have done for us, how we are enjoying it. That's how your heart will become deeper and deeper. But if you have a convex heart which always looks at something that's wrong, something bad, something this, or at things, “What should I buy, what should I purchase?" All that, that can go off, your head. But if you want to purchase something nice with a good heart, then you will just find it whatever you want. And you can do it very fast. When I did big yesterday shopping for all the centers and all that, worth, I think, in one lakh of rupees perhaps, for all the Indian centers and I did it in no time. Because it was for them, I was much better off. If it was for Myself I don't think I would have done so well. But you'd be surprised, I never buy anything for Myself, I don't have time. You people give Me so much, I don't have to buy, either.

So it is how you look at things, how you do things, how you work it out. And yesterday the shop I went to was all full of fragrances. Everything there was fragrance and everybody was feeling it. It's just because I was enjoying the whole thing, enjoying it, doing for others. It's not `others', who is the other? Because Sahaja Yogis are not the others for Me. I am doing for Myself, but My greater being, My higher being. That's how you should look at things, all right? Then you will enjoy.

[In Hindi:] And now what I have to say to the people of Sangli is that here we did a Pūjā quite in the past and also did once again recently; and also in Sangli a lot has come in the newspaper and that is why a lot of work has been done. And here Sahaja Yoga can also establish itself here because the atmosphere is very nice and silent and also all the people here are ready to help.

So to the people of Sangli I want to give a small gift and please they should accept it, this is My request. There is also one more gift, but it is still in the market. When it is here we will also give it. Who will take it? I bought lots of things but they're yet not delivered, so one thing I have to give them.

[In Hindi:] Bring it, come now.

So this is our Sahaja Yogi, Mister Tawde, who is a very big officer here. He has done this. This gentleman is Mister Mali who is the district, what do we say for `district'?, he is the district agriculture officer here who looks after the agriculture of the whole district and he got his realisation in '75. And now he's posted here, so he came for the Pūjā. All his family is here.

So Mister Tawde who has done all the good work for you, give him a hand! Also here there is Mister Yadav Sahib who has published everything in the paper and who is the newspaper gentleman here. Mister Yadav, give him a hand! They are so highly placed but so humble, just look at that. He's the man who is in charge of the whole thing here, he's the engineer. And he's the gentleman who is in charge of the, all the district's agricultural activities, he's the officer in charge. And another one is the editor of the newspaper.

You see, when people get egoistical, they just don't relate themselves to the surroundings. They don't understand how far they are. It's like a ball which you just give it a push and it goes up in the air, without knowing that it's just a ball full of air. That's why you call bumptious, you see? So those who really are solid people, who have some solid training and solid upbringing, they don't get into ego trips, they don't get into these trips. They, they first of all become very humble and try to learn and become humbler and again learn and become humbler. Like Newton has said that “I am like a little, I am like a little child collecting pebbles on the shores of knowledge", a person like Newton, he said so. But nowadays I find there's, it's difficult to find people of that kind. But those who are very learned, in the West also I've seen them being very humble people; in their writings, in their whole behaviour you can see they are very humble people. Humility is a sign of knowledge. When the tree is loaded it bends down. When it is loaded with fruits, it bends down. In the same way a person who has knowledge will bend, will be very humble.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] Now, today's Pūjā has really a lot of importance as it is today the Pūjā of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and the importance which we have of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī in Sahaja Yoga is of no other Shakti. Because Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī is the Shakti which we call as the Suṣhumnā channel, She resides in it and through Her the parasympathetic nervous system is activated. To make this Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī Shakti strong, in our evolution there occurred many events and in this the important event was the incarnation of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī. Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī took many incarnations and She is so courageous that She took the form of a human body and took birth in this universe and has done a lot of work.

It is surprising that nobody gave us information about all these incarnations of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and nobody has the deep and detailed description about this. Now the Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī is based on the Principle of Śhrī Lakṣhmī. That means the Mother of Śhrī Lakṣhmī is Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, we should say, the Mother of Śhrī Lakṣhmī. That means when Śhrī Lakṣhmī comes to humans, Śhrī Lakṣhmī is the one with balance, a woman in the form of a Devī. She is in such a balance that She stands on a lotus. She has two lotuses in Her hand. One of the lotuses is pink and also in that lotus is also a tenderness. The meaning of the pink lotus is such that the person who is a Lakṣhmīpati, he will have Śhrī Lakṣhmī, that is in the character of that person will be this pinkness; that means will have sweetness in his character. He should not be dry.

The second thing is that if we would see a lotus, then in that lotus even if a bee comes into it, this bee gets also a place in it and the bee has so many thorns, but even then it gets a place in the lotus.

That means it is also welcomed. Therefore, the person who has Śhrī Lakṣhmī, he will welcome everyone, however the guest is. He will ask for the comforts of everyone, even if that person is small or big. He will take care of everyone according to their social status, he will be hospitable to everyone in an equal way.

Third thing is that, [shows with the hands: left hand in a position of giving and right hand in a position of protection], the meaning of it is that one should be generous. And if in the hand of a person there is no generosity, then such a person is not a Lakṣhmīpati. Danat [the quality of generosity] is such a joy-giving quality and it cannot be compared with acquiring anything. The person who attains the power of generosity, I think such a person is the greatest of all, because such a person has reached to the culmination point in the evolution of mankind. One should be able to give generously. As Śhrī Lakṣhmī donates with the left hand, in the same way a person who is Lakṣhmīputra [indicating the Principle of Lakṣhmī in a man] should also give generously with his left hand in such a way that even the right hand does not know it. Giving with the left hand signifies giving very Sahaj [spontaneously] without any effort.

And all the desire must be only of generosity. And truly in this world there are so many material things; and I think for all these things there is only one importance and that is, these things we can give to others.

By means of generosity we can show the greatness of our heart. We can show our affection and warmth and that is why all these things have importance, otherwise there is no importance of all the material things.

There are so many statues of swayambhūs. Amongst them the statue of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī is considered as the most important by us in Sahaja Yoga. By Her grace our Kuṇḍalinī gets a path to rise, or She presents this channel for the rise. This channel, the channel of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī is above Śhrī Lakṣhmī Principle.

Now this [right] hand, this is like this. This hand is the symbol of shelter. It has two meanings: shelter, give shelter to everyone, this hand gives protection to everyone. But in reality we see just the opposite.

The Lakṣhmīpatis put a lot of pressure and fear on everyone. On the contrary She [Lakṣhmī] is just standing quietly on a lotus, not showing off anything special about Her. Otherwise people need cars and this and that, to show that they are so wealthy and are superior in comparison to others.

On the other hand She is not putting any weight or pressure on others. She is standing so lightly, so delicately, that nobody should be troubled because of Her. The real Lakṣhmīpati will sit somewhere in the corner, will sit with complete faith and silence and will leave quietly. Even if he wants to give something, he will give and say, “Shri Mataji, this is something which is my donation, but please do not disclose my name and You accept it somehow. I have given this at Your Lotus Feet, finished now, I have nothing to do with it any more." When I tell him that I do not take money but it is to be given to the trust and for which we have to know the name of the donor, he will say, “You can put it in the name of anybody else, I have no objection. I have given this to You, I do not want my name to published. Only if You want to disclose my name to the income tax authorities I do not mind, but otherwise I do not want my name or anything." He will be requesting very humbly not to disclose his name. This person we can call is a real Lakṣhmīpati.

The [right] hand of Śhrī Lakṣhmī is pointing up in this way. That means your attention should be above, towards a higher goal.

So when a person becomes a Lakṣhmīpati, then his attention is such that he starts thinking, `Now I have become Lakṣhmīpati, but now, how can I attain God?' When this stage comes in a human being he has wealth and he receives a lot of wealth. Becomes rich and then when he gets the feeling of not achieving the inner richness, then one can say that the Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī has been awakened in him. And in that Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī the Kuṇḍalinī is awakened. When She is awakened that is why we say, “Udo, Udo, Ambe", meaning “Śhrī Kuṇḍalinī, now you please get awakened." We say this in the temple of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, because She can get awakened only through the channel of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī. And thus She is awakened in the channel of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and then penetrates the Chakras above and comes up and completely penetrates the Chakra of Sahasrāra.

Now let us see how many incarnations we've had of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī. Firstly, the Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī is very close with a Guru... a relation of plenty of love and purity. Now if we see from the beginning with all the Ādi Gurus, She was born to them as a daughter or as a sister. Like the daughter of Janaka was Śhrī Sītā, She was the form of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, was the Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī.

Sītā was Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and She was the daughter of Janaka. Then the sister of Śhrī Nanaka, Nanaki, She was Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī. Her relation was of sister. In the same way, the daughter of Mohammed Sahib, Fātima, She was Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī. After Her, Rādhā: Rādhā was the form of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī.

After Her, Mary: Mary was Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and Her relation was of purity. She was so pure that with Her purity She gave birth to Śhrī Christ.

So She was a form of complete pure Virgin. And as She was a form of Virgin, because of Her purity She got a son pure as Christ.

So She was also Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī.

Because of these incarnations of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, our Chakras at the top within are being fixed up.

That means, Śhrī Rāma's Chakra is on the right side of the heart, here She is in the form of Śhrī Sītā, here She is in the form of Rādhā, here in the form of Mary. And at this place meet the three Chakras and that is why Śhrī Mahākālī, Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī and Śhrī Mahāsaraswatī, all these three Powers meet. As these three Powers meet, they form one Power, that is Śhrī Ādi Shakti. That is why in Sahasrāra Śhrī Ādi Shakti resides, but it is said so, that in Sahasrāra Ādi Shakti exists in a form of Mahāmāyā, Śhrī Ādi Shakti exists, but She is in the form of Mahāmāyā. That is why the result of all these three Powers was like this, that Śhrī Ādi Shakti comes into this world in the form of Mahāmāyā and She can penetrate the Sahasrāra of everyone. As you know, She is in front of you and you know all about it, so I need not tell anything more.

So in this way, out of this Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, Śhrī Ādi Shakti was incarnated. She has got all the three Powers of Śhrī Mahākālī, Mahālakṣhmī and Śhrī Mahāsaraswatī. All these three Powers are within Her. And only through this Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī Principle, our pure desire, which is Śhrī Amba, is actually Power of Śhrī Mahākālī, can be awakened. She can do it. That is why is the importance of Śhrī Ādi Shakti; because through these three Powers even if everything is ready, but at the last, for the work that has to be done there is the need of Śhrī Ādi Shakti. That means the work is achieved through these three Powers. Even if this thing is very easy for us to achieve, we do get it easily, but still you have to work hard; otherwise that work cannot be done. It is quite difficult. If it would have been possible only by Śhrī Ādi Shakti, then there was no need of doing all this confusion.

You have to work hard and your support is required to accomplish the task. You are on the stage now, not Me. You can take My power and use it, but know that now you are on the stage. And that is why you are worthy of worship. You are special. What am I? Whatever powers I have, I have them since eternity; there is nothing special about it. But you should use them. You must receive it, you must achieve it, you should have mastery over it. This is the real desire of Śhrī Ādi Shakti, this is Her pure desire. And for this pure desire She is striving very hard every moment. And in this you have all earned it, achieved it, accepted with love and going ahead you have progressed in it. This is a very big satisfaction for Me. And in this satisfaction I forget everything, like how much I had to suffer in the past. In the past many years I suffered a lot. How much Sītā had to suffer, how much Rādhā had to suffer, how much Mary had to suffer, I forget all that past. I feel as if nothing has happened in the past and that whatever is happening now is something special.

But in this incarnation one thing is to be remembered, that Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī has incarnated in human form, in human form. But the Devī which we call as Śhrī Mahākālī has not incarnated in human form.

She always existed in the form of a Devī. That is why to come in the form of Devī is easy, but to come in the form of a human being is very difficult task. And to fight like a human being and live with the human beings is even more difficult. Also to live, keeping within the limitations of human beings, is much more difficult. All this work in the form of human beings was done by all the Devas and today we are experiencing the auspicious fruits of all the work done in the past.

The great work done in Ganapatipule is worthy to be written in history, big work has been done and it will keep happening every year ahead. My ardent desire is that it should continue at least for the next three, four years. And if this happens, then you people will also get the idea about it that what we started from Gaṇapati, that has reached perfectly to Sahasrāra. All this is so aditi [primordial] that it is difficult to express in words. And all this you should receive. You should receive whatever belongs to Me, this is My only pure desire. And when this works out, then I do not want anything.

It is like this, put something under the feet and put kumkum on the feet. Put kumkum on the feet.

Call someone, some women. Take something and take kumkum for the feet. More below. Take someone now. Call the ladies. Come, come.

Come. Take a spoon, you can also take a small bowl. Take this bowl with curved edges. There it is.

And call the ladies. Take a bowl, sit. Take in the bowl. You come, you come. Let the ladies do the Pūjā.

I will tell you what you have to do and you let them do it. Do not touch it, do not touch with your hands.

Carefully, you should not touch the bowl even, you do not touch with hand, hold at the edges. Only hold at the edge and now put. Say Śhrī Sūkta, say of Gaṇapati `Atharva Sheersha', say. Put, put.

Mantras start. It is correct. Let them do it. No hands. Hold so, hold here.

Now is so, all the men here, first remove this here and tell them to wash My feet. Put water on the feet and wash them. Say Śhrī Sūkta. Put, remove it.

Do not put hand. Remove this, in that dish.* [In English:] This kumkum is very good because it's been vibrated. You all should take a little bit [in Hindi:] give with a spoon to everyone [in English:] later on.

Take water, you men come now... Your wife is not here?... You come, stay here.

Do not touch with your hands. Just bring water, not hot water. You wait now for two minutes, when the ladies come then we will call you.

Pour with the bowl.

Pūjā should be done with silence and peace of mind. Nothing will go wrong.

Now you see they did not use the word `poverty'. `ALakṣhmī', that means what is not Lakṣhmī Principle, that they did not say `daridrya' [poverty] word. They did not say destroy `daridrya' but they said “aLakṣhmī." See how subtle it is. All that is inauspicious, that which is not in the Lakṣhmī Principle, all that, it covers a vast domain. This all is written after a lot of study, with clear and proper thinking.

See the vibrations of it! Oh, not into that. Earlier there was water in it, isn't it? Do it now; what can we do, now it has happened? That is what I was saying. Now pour it; now is no use, there is no difference. Now do it like this, listen to Me now. Put water on My feet and keep it aside without touching the water.

[In English:] From kamal it goes to Viṣhwa, nothing in between! [In Hindi:] Did you understand it? [In English:] The description of the Mahālakṣhmī, that She is very fond of lotus and then She is fond of the whole universe. Nothing in between! Rub it on your hands. Now start hundred and eight names. Do you still have something on Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī? And this is the thing one should understand, that Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa becomes the Virāt-āñgana, means the Buddhi, the brain, the awareness, we should say, She becomes that. Nārāyaṇi Shakti, or we say Virāt-āñgana is the power of Virāta in the brain. [In Hindi:] So lastly is the Principle of Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī, [in English:] central nervous system is Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa also, in a way.

Now She has become Mahāmāyā, because of the Mahālakṣhmī Principle She becomes Mahāmāyā.

When the Mahālakṣhmī Principle rises, then it becomes Mahāmāyā. That means for the Devī, Mahākālī and Mahāsaraswatī when they get the cover of this, then She becomes Mahāmāyā. That means, that is the method of Virāta, of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. To do māyā is the method of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, Divine māyā.

Mahāsaraswatī and Mahākālī, when these two Powers Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī meets, then forms Mahāmāyā, the form of Mahāmāyā takes place. Because there is intelligence, everything is there, this happens through the Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa method. Like Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, the Power of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. In the case of Kālī Devī or any other Mahākālī incarnation, what is with Her is visible to everyone, She does not hide anything. You see everything in front of you. She stands with sword in Her hand and all Her hands are seen. Here the Mahāsaraswatī is pure, like She never marries, nothing: means like a woman, like a virgin, completely pure, the form of knowledge, wearing a white sarī. But when the Śhrī Mahālakṣhmī Power meets with Her on these two Powers, then She gets a colour. That means, then comes the variety and starts everything that is Mahāmāyā form comes. Mahāmāyā comes because of these Powers. This is Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

[Shri Mataji talks again in English:] I'm just explaining to him, what happens is this Mahālakṣhmī Principle starts after the Lakṣhmī Tattwa has been manifested itself: means when the Lakṣhmī has been shown through affluence and the satisfaction of affluence, then the Mahālakṣhmī Principle starts developing in us, that we think of our ascent. Then it happens that, that in our brain we have three Powers, is Mahākālī, Mahālakṣhmī, Mahāsaraswatī, above the Āgñyā Chakra. There it so happens that two Powers, is Mahākālī and Mahāsaraswatī, they are blessed by, they are blessed by the Mahālakṣhmī Principle. And Mahālakṣhmī Principle is basically the Principle of Nārāyaṇa. Nārāyaṇa is the Viṣhṇu; and Viṣhṇu becomes Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. And this Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa Shakti which is here becomes Virāta's Shakti there, that is Virāt-āñgana.

But when She mixes up with these two, then the Mahāmāyā Power starts manifesting, because She's, you know how Kṛiṣhṇa was, He always used to play tricks, this that, hide this, do this, do, all those things start at this Power.

So that's why it is not so starkingly open. Like the Mahākālī Power is so open; Mahālakṣhmī Power is a, is a hidden Power, like Mary. Nobody could have believed that Mary could be Mahālakṣhmī or Rādhā or Sītā: simple, hidden away, but very powerful. But at the time of the Sahasrāra it becomes Mahāmāyā. People don't know how to find out the reality of the Ādi Shakti. Do you follow that? She is the one who sustains the whole universe and She becomes the Spirit, the Spirit of the whole Viṣhwa, which Vishwa Gñyāneśhwara has written. He has said, “Viṣhwatmake Devī", the God of the whole Spirit of the universe.

So She becomes the universe then.

We can have two foreigner men and two foreigner ladies can come up, who are married. You shouldn't come, Richard, of all the persons. Please be seated. You'll always have a chance. Those who cannot get this chance should come. He's the first one to get up, I told you. Please sit down. Not from England, because English people get a chance always, please. Must be from Australia or some places where they don't get a chance. English people should give a chance to others. You meet Me so often, you are there and wash the feet. Come along. Where is her husband? He's English, is he? May God bless you. All right.

So get some Australian people. Even if, I mean, you are not married to the same lady, is not necessary.

But some Australians or Austrians or some people who do not get a chance. Spanish is good. All right.

May God bless you. English are the most privileged people, I should say, aren't they? The feet you want to rub? You have never rubbed My feet? All right, come along. Now, hold it with the right hand, rub it with the left. You have rubbed it, My feet, haven't you? You have rubbed. And you have rubbed My feet? Have you rubbed My feet? Have you rubbed My feet with water? You have done it, all right, then let him do it. This one also... See now the vibrations. You put your hands there.

Better? Better now? All right.

May God bless you all. May God bless you all. May God bless you all. May God bless you all.

[A Sahaja Yogini is singing a bhajan to Shri Mataji.]

Shri Mataji: Wā. [UNCLEAR]. I'll give her. May God bless you. There's a sarī [UNCLEAR].

[Shri Mataji begins speaking in either Hindi or Marathi. Then She speaks in English but it seems that in is not the beginning of a sentence.]... Marathi language because Poona is a very, very important; very extremely important place and the people have a special gift of God that they are born here. Puṇya [UNCLEAR nugarie/nagari] is the name. Puṇya Patanam means the... all the Puṇyas, all the good deeds that they did in their previous lives is poured into this. All the saints have praised this place. In the ancient times, in the ancient books it is written as this is a Puṇya Patanam, is the place, is the city of Puṇyas.

So in such a great place you all have come, you should be very thankful. I'm just addressing to them that you are born in such a great country, in such a great city and you have a special, very special responsibility. And that's what I was advising them that these foreigners have come. They are also very lucky people to come to this great city of Puṇyas. And by God's grace I'm sure they will achieve a big ascent in this Pūjā.

So let us all decide today not to worry about small, frivolous things but think of something higher that we want to achieve; the highest that we want to achieve in our ascent; the greatest that we want to achieve in our... This is the place where you can achieve it and that's why I'm going to settle down in Poona.

This is the place where you are going to grow very big. Is the best place to grow great in your ascent. And that's why is very important, today's Pūjā is extremely important.

May God bless you all.

[UNCLEAR].

[Aside in Hindi/Marathi.] I would like to say that before I leave this place I would like to meet people who want to get engaged.

Before I... [UNCLEAR]. I really...

[GAP] [The Sahaja Yoginis are singing bhajans to Shri Mataji. Shri Mataji speaks in Hindi/Marathi. More bhajans. Could be that this is not a complete tape. More bhajans. Shri Mataji's voice is heard again Hindi/Marathi. Bhajans continue. Lots of chatter; Shri Mataji's voice can be heard but inaudible. Bhajans continue. Shri Mataji speaks in Hindi/Marathi. General chatter heard. Bhajans. Lots of chatter.]

[In 1985, when Linda Williams was living in Dehradun, there was a young Sahaja Yogini who was very pretty and vivacious, but had some problems and was very dishonest. At least three prominent Sahaja Yogis felt she should have a Sahaja marriage, although Linda was not in favour. Linda tried to warn them about her but they felt I was seeing negativity when there wasn't any. At the end of the year the girl and Linda, went to Ganapatipule and a marriage was arranged for her. The morning before the marriages (1986-01-02-), Shri Mataji sends a responsible Sahaja Yogi to Linda.] Sahaja Yogi [to Linda Williams]: Mother wants to know if you think this marriage should go ahead.

Linda Williams: I am sure she must be a very nice girl so I suppose it should.

[The marriage went ahead.] Shri Mataji [to Linda Williams in a village after Ganapatipule]: You are a thorn in My heart, why do you give Me such pain? [For Part 2, see 1987-01-xx.]

Contents: 1986-01-13 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, Health Advice, the Sun, Western Habits, the brain and medical matters, Mula Dam (near Rahuri), Maharashtra, India

So now we will be going for our further movement and I may have to return back to Bombay [Mumbai]. I do not know how comfortable you were here [audience claps], but you wanted to be away from the maddening crowd and I thought this would be the nice place to be here though Dhumal was all the time insisting that they should stay in some Mangalkaryalay or something. But I told him, “You don't understand them, they don't enjoy much of all this cement, concrete." They would always like to be in the company of nature as long as they get some protection from the sun and the rain and they want to enjoy that kind of a collective living and they'll be very happy.

But still I don't think he was very much convinced about it, very hesitant. Then again he came to Bombay [Mumbai], I again told him, “Now believe Me, you have to have it somewhere. You just have a pandal for them, they'll be very happy, you just don't worry about other things. They want to be with the nature because they don't get a chance like that. They cannot take bath in a lake anywhere, it's a great chance for them to take a bath." They said the water is not so clean and maybe that it is full of clay.

I said, “Clay is good for them, they'll like it, there's..." And I see your skin, it's so much better, I see your skin, you see all this you have suffered the sun burnt, whatever you over-did in Ganapatipule, is now being cleared out by this clay because the clay is the one that soothes you. Even if you can put some clay on your stomach, it will take out all the heat from your stomach, very good for liver this clay is.

So, I told them that you don't understand that this natural naturopathy that they can have here, they cannot have it.

But he very, very reluctantly agreed thinking that I'm really trying to be hard on you.

So, this is a mild sun here and it's nice and the atmosphere is very clear and clean, plus you have got such a beautiful temple of Ekādaśha Rudra here which is such a nice place we have found out.

So for a saint, you see, for a saintly person, what does he need? Because he's so satisfied with everything.

Whatever he gets he's satisfied. But he will be more satisfied, he would be much more enjoying when he's with the nature. I know that. And, they are not still very happy the Rahuri people that they think that this is no way of putting up guests like this and all that, still. I just had to tell him that you see their faces, how they look, they look so very happy, so very relaxed, now what do you want? What do you want more? But now we must understand that one habit that we have always, we have developed it because we have been going out. Our attention has been going out. You see the one habit that we have in the West, which I have noticed also, very common, is, to be a daredevil for everything and to go to the extreme. You see there's no...

[Asks a Sahaja Yogi:] How do you say to the bridle? Bridle you say, the one that is used for the horse? Bridle.

The bridle is not there. There's no bridle, in our behaviour. We go to extremes in everything. Whatever we do, we go to extremes. There's no bridle in our hands and this is what, one has to get to the bridle.

It is not that, it's like a kite which is just moving here and there, it's not that. It's a complete thrust, complete movement with all will power, with all effort, to go to something that is dangerous. I personally think it's a self-destructive character which is built within us as a result of our movement too much outward. Because whatever moves in one direction has to recoil back, it has a reaction. Like the science has developed atomic bomb. Ultimately you do develop a destructive temperament and that is why I think in the west people have no idea how to control the speed backwards. It's more the speed outward to dangerous places they like it.

Nature is good. In the nature it's nice to be there. But it does not mean that you should ask the nature to hit you and kill you.

Now in Ganapatipule I was so sad to see those boys who burnt themselves. It was really very, very saddening to Me and when I treated them, of course they got well but you won’t believe the whole of My stomach here, [puts Her hand on Her stomach] the whole skin of My stomach was burnt, charred and burnt and is now peeling out, just like they had the problem, I never went to the sea, I never stayed there.

So, this was the heat they were carrying.

Now people get, say, what you call, skin troubles, skin cancers. Still they want to do it. Like the other lady who was so sick from Switzerland is so sick, you see, I was really very worried because she was very dangerously placed and she is the one who had this problem and she said, “I have an addiction with the sun." How can you be addicted to the sun? Is just a mental idea. And believe Me, it's just a mental idea that if you go in the sun your skin will be all right. It's just a mental idea. Have you seen anyone like that? I mean what is the proof that if you go in the sun your skin will improve, what is the proof? We Indians never, never go in the sun. Never. We never go in a windy place, never in a windy place, we never go, say for example this skiing. According to us skiing is a stupid job. We would never do it. Any Indian who does that is a stupid fellow according to us.

Women will never do horse riding because it affects the uterus. The women don't swim after sometime because it affects the uterus and if it affects the uterus, it affects the whole system because uterus represents your Kuṇḍalinī.

All wrong ideas you have got. That's why I see that in the West everybody is sick. They have this trouble or that trouble or this or that. Certain principles are to be borne in our mind because we are saints and we are precious things. We are not like other Westerners, that we can waster our life like this for some sort of a stupid venture that we think of.

Can you imagine all Indians have much better skin than you have. All right. Don't they? Do they ever go in the sun? Never. Have you seen any Indian sitting outside here taking sunbath? I mean the proof of the pudding is that despite all that your skins are so bad.

Now how can your skin be good with the sun, let us see. Let us say, Let us take absolutely a chemical reaction. Now what happens that when the, the thing falls upon our skin or upon our head, this head has got a brain and the brain is made of fat. All right? Now if you put the fat in the sun, what will happen? It will melt. And that's how people have melted brains. The brains are not normal, they behave in a way which I don't understand why they behave like this.

So first of all if your brain goes out, how can your skin be all right? Because the brain controls the skin. It controls everything. If your brain goes off, I've not met one person who looks beautiful because he has been in the sun. On the contrary, you stay at home. Preserve your skin by staying at home.

The second point is that a Sahaja Yogi should not behave like other Westerners do that at every holiday, they're out. They never sit in the house. Gṛuhastha. The one who stays in the house. We are all Gṛuhasthas, householders, we are married people. As soon as you get a holiday you're out. Now you might give an explanation, `Because you see our houses are like this and, we think that our houses are just suffocating us.' Have you seen the houses of the poor people here? Have you seen the houses of the labor in Bombay [Mumbai]? Nobody goes out for a holiday. All My life I don't think I've been ever out for a holiday with My husband. Only once we tried for two days and we were back from Scotland all the way.

We just go for a wedding or a festival or something like that. If there's some collective happening or else you can go for a picnic, all of you together. But you must sit down in the house and talk to each other nicely, there should be some rapport. There's no rapport between the children and the parents, there's no rapport between the husband and the wife, no rapport between the in-laws, other people, no rapport at all.

So you become people who are absolutely secluded, shooting off this way, that way, that way. Sit down and talk.

Now you see our children, now we talk that our children should be disciplined. The best way to discipline your child is to make the child sit down for a while and talk to the child properly. Tell the child what he's supposed to do. You'll find an Indian child goes to somebody's house just keeps quite. But let an English child come. He will break this, he'll break that, give me chocolates, give me this, I want this. You take an Indian child, maybe a poor child to a market, he'll never ask for anything, demand for anything. Never. Even if you give, he'll say, “No, I won't have." He has that self-respect. But if you take a child, any other child, he'll say, “Please buy me this, please buy me that, please buy me that." Without any self-respect, without any discipline.

Now where does the discipline come up? Now what we do, supposing a child is there, we are going out, we tell the child, “Now we are going out and you have to be a self-respecting child because” supposing now you are talking you can say, “You are a realised Soul, you are a Sahaja Yogi and you can't behave like a stupid fellow asking for this and that” and sit down quietly, make them sit down.

To begin with, you have to do lot of massaging on their body. Lots of massaging, everyday massage, massage, massage the body so the nerves are all right. Then, when you take them out or do anything, before hand, tell them properly, build up their personality of self-respect, of discipline. But you yourself should be disciplined, now you are sitting in the sun, say, for the whole day and you tell your son, “Get inside the house” how will he? A Sahaja Yogi should never go in the sun. Take it from Me. Never, never go in the sun. Because this brain requires complete quietude and no sun activity is needed.

You should not even, when you sleep, there should not be even a ray of sun. Even I, when I sleep I want complete darkness. Even a slightest ray of light is coming, which people know very well, I cannot sleep, because I must act.

So the reaction to this light is so much in Me, maybe that I'm very sensitive to all the elements but what about you? You must avoid the sun's light as much as you can when you sleep and also should not sit in the sun for such a long time. Of course sitting in the sun helps you because it gives you Vitamin D, by which, Vitamin D if you take it you build up your bones better but now I think your bones are quite built, there's no need to build your bones anymore. But now by God's grace you are getting soluble calciums which you can eat and you can also have Vitamin D and A if you want to. What is the need of scorching this head? Now, if you sit in the sun, then either you will have a bald head or you will have a jungle in the head.

One of the two thing's depending on the personality as you are. Because your brain cannot bear it, your skin cannot bear it. After all we are not jungle people are we? But you ask any jungle person also, he never sits in the sun. It's only somebody has cooked it in your head that you must sit in the sun. If you go and see Eskimos who live in the ice houses, they never bathe in the sun. Have you ever seen them sunbathing? Have you ever seen them? Any picture, anywhere? Then why this special type of stupidity is there among other people because you have lost that sense to know that you are manoeuvreed.

You see, how to befool you. Now you must create some weaknesses for people, if you don't create a weakness how will they prosper with their machineries? So now, let's befool them. If you go to the seashore and you tan your body, you look very beautiful? First of all, you never, you look horrid, horrid you look and secondly they will say that your health will be all right so everybody is going to the seashore, ending up with a skin cancer. Because your body revolts against it that's why you get skin cancer. You get liver troubles, already you are liverish. You are already thinking too much, why do you want to have sun? You've already too much sun within yourself.

So what is the reasoning for it? I just don't understand.

You must know that today we have the work of the Sahasrāra and the Sahasrāra is the brain. We have to work on the brain and if you people do not know how to use your brain properly, I don't know what am I going to do.

Moreover today, talking to some Indians, I discovered some horrifying things which I must tell you, which is horrifying as well as laughed at They were telling Me that if you take an English hen and an Indian hen, there's a tremendous big difference between the two. The hen that is Indian, if she sees another hen being attacked she'll make such a noise that all the hen will join together and will start making noises so that if there's an attack the master will come and try to remove the attack. But if it's an English hen, she will just watch another being eaten up you see and then she's eaten up also, she says, “All right you eat me, doesn't matter, I'll take second birth and come back." See they've no brains at all. You see they have no brains, like say an English bullock, they have English bullocks also. I mean English means Western, they don't mean anything else but he's Australian, maybe anything, is English to us because we had known only English so we say English. But that's what they say English but it doesn't mean anything, it means any Westerner or any Australian or white skin person.

A bullock is there, he said, “Our bullocks if you tell them `go straight,' they know; if you tell them, `go left,' they know; if you tell them, `walk this way,' they know; they know everything. But if you have any of these bullocks, they don't do anything. You tell them go further, you teach them anything, nothing, they will never learn any thing. You tell them, they'll go the way they want to go." So very surprising, I said, “Really?" “Yes" they said, “It is so, they are for no good, they can just do what they want to do. They cannot understand what you're talking, they have no understanding about it." Imagine about the bulls. And then think of it, in India, you see we have everything walking on the street, we have got the bullocks and we have got the cows, we've got sometimes the hen, everything goes on the road. They know which side the thing is coming, which side they have to move, there's a car coming.

He said, “Put one English cow, they'll be all finished on the road." I got such a fright you know when I heard it. I said, “They do not do sunbathing. How do they get it?" then I was thinking that the kind of the food you give them, there must be some horrible hormones, they must be spoiling their brains.

But we are very destructive, I must tell you. Drugs, now we started taking to drugs, in the name of God. I mean Indians, you make them take drugs, they'll say tell another, I know what it is. And then our brains go off with drugs. Brains are not normal, why we behave like this I can only explain that they have taken drugs, I've seen people who have taken drugs I just don't understand why, there's no logic into their behaviour. Just no logic, they just, like the brains of a bullock, they behave the same way. You just can't explain why they behave. They have taken drugs. Now what is drug taking? Is again self-destructive.

Because you want to destroy yourself that's why you've taken drugs. Otherwise how many Indians you have known who take drugs? I've never even seen them.

And another thing, Dhumal told Me, I mean he says his reading is he says that if a child is educated in a vernacular school, I was also educated in a vernacular school because My father was very particular, “Nothing doing, no English schools." And those who are educated in the English schools, there's such a difference, he say's he has his children educated in the English school and he has his children educated in a vernacular school. The youngest one is in the vernacular school. He says he knows about everything.

He'll know how many cows are in the house, he will look after parrots, he knows how the parrot works out, how the things are, he's the youngest. He knows about everything but other children they just will stand.

If you tell them, they'll give an explanation and then they say, “So what? So what?" But if you tell him something, immediately he will know what is to be done, he'll just get it done the way he wants to do it, in the sense that it must be done.

But here the other way round. If you tell a child from an English school, he will do the way he wants to do and if you tell him, “Why did you do this way?" he'll say, “What's wrong?" or at the most he'll say, “I'm sorry." Finished. I mean like Sahaja Yogis will pull their ears, finished. Even if he hit's you, he'll say, “Pull my ear's Mother, I've hit You." It's like that. It's very funny thing, I said what's wrong with the language? Why this English language makes people like that? I can't understand. Why? I just didn't understand. “What's wrong?" Now this is not in any Indian language, you see if you say, they'll say, “What? We didn't understand, what are you saying, `What's wrong?' " I mean just, the whole, I think the language itself has the disciplining inbuilt, it's a what you call Mardav, it builds up the personality.

Like if somebody tries to show off. You see, immediately we'll say, “You are over wise." Ati Shahane.

And the saying is, “Ati Shahane tyanche baila rikame." Those who try to show that they are very intelligent, their bullocks have no work, means they're lazy lumps.

The whole language system is such. They're so practical I tell you, they're so practical. And that is why, we came to India first of all, we had some Sahaja Yogis with us when we came here about twenty-five Sahaja Yogis from England came and we all stayed here and all these people looked after them and they fed them and of course I mean, they had paid no money, nothing they lived there. Nobody even wrote a letter of thanks so they all got worried and they wrote a letter to Me saying that Mother what has happened, are they all right or are they sick? They have not written any letter to us.

So I called them, I said, “Did you write any letters to them?" “No." I said, “Why?" “We know, we know, we did wrong, we know." “You know, then why did you not do it?" “No but we know." Now what is an argument here? Now you have come out of that, what I'm giving you, the background. You have come out of it, now you are Sahaja Yogis, you are saints, so you have to be very different. You can't be like them. You have to understand. Like some people have a habit of saying, “Ah, Mother I'm so badly off." You ask them, “How are you?" They'll say [sways Her hand indicating `so-so'] like this, it's very common, so I look at their hands, what's it? I don't understand. What does that [sways Her hand indicating `so-so'] mean? Here people will feel ashamed to say. Even if you are sick, even if you are dying. If somebody will ask, “How are you?" They will say, “I'm all right. I'm all right." Nobody will do like this [sways Her hand indicating `so-so']. Means what? You ask them “What's your name?" “Did you ask my name?" “Of course I did, but why do you ask Me again?" Any question you ask, they will repeat it, always. I used to wonder why do they repeat? And they didn't get it in their heads or what? Now the thing is, that is what is the background of this brain and don't spoil it more by this sun. You have to do work of this Sahasrāra, Sahasrāra which is the lotus, lotus of the Divine which has got beautiful petals now enlightened by your Kuṇḍalinī. They are the living petals, do not try to play with it. That's why I say, don't read funny books, don't see funny things, don't talk to funny people, don't waste your energy in worrying, in futuristic attitude, keep to yourself. Let this [puts Her hand on her head] grow because the roots are in the brain. The tree of awareness grows downward but the roots are in the brain and you have to go to the roots now because you have done that movement now you come back and for that you have to know to look after your brain.

The other day I also said that I don't know why you people don't put any oil whatsoever. Why not put oil in the head, poor head needs the oil always, at least on a Saturday, put so much oil, rub it nicely and have a bath. But people just don't put any oil in their head. I mean you must oil, gear up your brain, don't you think so? If you don't put oil in any machine, it will crack. For this brain which is your special machine after Sahaja Yoga is really a very special one, you must try to put lot of oil in it.

Put some oil in the ears, put some oil in the nose. Now the modern theory of the doctors is don't put any oil or anything into the ears and the noses of the children. Rajesh's brother had a child and they went to of course to a latest Doctor from America. And the child was crying, weeping, feeling so horrible and his Brahmarandhra, what you call, the fontanelle bone area was not filled at all, it was all open. I said, “What's the matter with you people?" They said the doctor has said, “Don't touch the oil." I said, “What?" They said, “He'll have allergy." I said, “Nothing of the kind, you bring the oil." I got one full katori [bowl] of oil, rubbed it on his head, pushed back that thing and I put it in nose, in ears, the child slept like a log of wood. Imagine how much the child must have suffered? These stupid ideas come from where? I don't know, they don't have any oil these days, so what is their idea is to do, some business must be behind it, I don't know what is going on.

I don't know what they are going to run by not giving any oil to the children. They must be having some business with that also. Otherwise it is absolutely a stupid idea. I just don't understand that the child has an allergy. But how presumptuous to think like that! Now why the child has an allergy. Now let Me ask a question. Why a child will have an allergy? The doctors have to answer. Or, of course you are all doctors so you should say. Can I have the answer?

Sahaja Yogi: It could be an imbalance of heat and cold in the body?

Shri Mataji: But why? Say on the Chakras. You say on the Chakras what will be catching. If somebody has allergies, what does it catch?

Shri Mataji: Correct. Left Nābhī. Left Nābhī will catch. Now that means the mother. Because the child is not yet married so it's the mother. That means mother must be having a left Nābhī herself and that's why the child must catching with that allergy, so instead of punishing the child, why not cure the left Nābhī of the mother and left Nābhī of the child? Now what will you do if there's a left Nābhī of the child? What we can do to help the child to get rid of it? Ah, very simple. Anything that is left can be taken out on the little flame. Put your right hand on the left Nābhī of the child and put your left hand to the flame and finished.

Now in diagnosis you are easy but now for medicines, now remember the certain principles of medicines.

Very certain principles are there. If it is left side, you have take it to the fire or to the sun or to the flames, all right? If it is a left [right] side you have take it to the water in general. Any body suffering from right side, put him in the water, finished. Done. Not in the sun of course.

Any disease, you bring it to this point. It's very simple. Now let Me have some questions about certain diseases.

Sahaja Yogi: They've been asking Me for the last three weeks.

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: They've been asking Me for the last three weeks, so they must have it.

Shri Mataji: All right let's have it, I will see if I can answer. Yes.

Sahaja Yogi: Psoriasis, Mother?

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: Psoriasis.

Shri Mataji: Same thing. Psoriasis is nothing else but left side problem. Is a lethargic liver. And gives you allergies. For psoriasis, left hand towards the photograph and right hand on the Mother Earth.

Putting hot water bottle on the stomach. Or even giving bandhan to your liver with the light is all right.

You must see, because psoriasis, now people might think psoriasis means active liver or inactive liver, you see it comes to that point. But we have only two types: active or inactive. Now whether psoriasis is inactive or active you will know from one point that when the liver is inactive you get the allergies and when it is active you get other problems like what you call that in English, I don't know, nausea and also you get biliousness. You don't eat much, you thin down all these problems are there. Now what else?

Sahaja Yogi: Eczema?

Shri Mataji: For eczema same thing. Eczema is the same thing, is just like allergy, eczema same thing. But for eczema because it's outward you can use certain things like neem ka pata and all that I've told you and so many things can be used on top.

Sahaja Yogi: Fungus?

Shri Mataji: Fungus, outside or inside?

Sahaja Yogi: On the skin.

Shri Mataji: Is one of the worst thing is fungus. Same thing, but it's the worst thing I should say that it's the left side again is the attack is the left side fungus is all dead and you have to use the left side towards the photograph and right hand on the places wherever you have the fungus, you may take it out that way but don't eat cheese and the fungousy cheese you are not supposed to eat at all. All the Sahaja Yogis should not eat any fungousy cheese. That blue one, with a crust one, all fungus must to avoided and also mushrooms if possible.

Sahaja Yogi: Why does cow's milk make allergies and eczema worse?

Shri Mataji: What is...?

Sahaja Yogi: Why does cow's milk make allergies and eczema worse?

Shri Mataji: Cow's milk...

Shri Mataji: Left side. Cow's milk always give you the left side because she's the mother and you should not have her milk, because it's left-sided. Whether it is cow's milk or buffalo's milk, all will give allergies but if you have animals which are smaller than you like if you can drink like Mahatma Gandhi the goat's milk then you might not have the problem.

Sahaja Yogi: We do completely around. When we have diarrhea we drink milk.

Shri Mataji: Diarrhea you drink milk? The amount of salads you eat, sometimes I think this fodder will make us like buffalos or what? I just can't touch them I tell you. But I have to eat just to show that I appreciate.

Sahaja Yogi: Bronchial Asthma.

Shri Mataji: Bronchial asthma is caused by the combination of the right Heart and the left Heart.

If the parents have been quarreling too much, if they are divorced, if you never had the security of the parent's love, then you get bronchial asthma, but if it is another one just superficial one then it could be from the father's death or from the fatherhood suffering but if father and motherhood both have made you insecure or if both of them have died then you get bronchial asthma. Is a combination.

Sahaja Yogi: Hypoglycemia.

Shri Mataji: What's that?

Sahaja Yogi: Low blood level. Hypo-glycemia.

Shri Mataji: I know. Low blood level. That comes from over activity. You should not think so much.

Āgñyā. Too much of Āgñyā. Āgñyā Chakra. Too much of Āgñyā. Surrender yourself to Christ, absolutely surrender yourself to Christ, it will work out.

Sahaja Yogi: Spondylitis.

Shri Mataji: Spondylitis is left Viśhuddhi. And right Viśhuddhi could be also. But mostly left Viśhuddhi Spondylitis. Combination also could be.

Sahaja Yogi: Multiple Sclerosis.

Shri Mataji: Multiple Sclerosis is comes from Mūlādhāra. Mūlādhāra and Nābhī. Left Nābhī and Mūlādhāra. It's more left-sided. Give the treatment of the left side. Saying the name of Gaṇeśha and of Gaurī. It will work out.

Sahaja Yogi: Varicose veins Mother.

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: Varicose veins.

Shri Mataji: It comes from the people who stand too much all the time and they work very hard. As soon as it starts it's better to cure them, you have to lie down everyday. Those who stand everyday for more than say three-four hours should lie down on bed and do cycling [makes cycling movements with Her hands]. Everyday, that will help reduce the weight maybe due to weight also.

Some people have weight, but those who stand, I've seen those who stand for a long time without the heels, if you use the heels you might be better off. With the heels the pressure is not so much then it is distributed more to the lower of those five Chakras down below that might help. But, best is to do exercise after you have stood for a long time just lie down in the bed and do cycling and also massaging, slowly massaging it downward. Also it can work out with the ice treatment, you can put some ice before massaging you can put the ice on them and use very cold oil and rub it, it will work out.

Sahaja Yogi: Flu? Flu?

Shri Mataji: That's one thing is difficult. Flu. Now for u, first of all this is again left-sided. But we have got a very good medicine in India I don't know if you have that there is what you call is the basil [tulsi]. Basil leaves, you take lots of basil leaves make a concoction, it's called?

Sahaja Yogi: Infusion.

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: Infusion.

Shri Mataji: No.

Sahaja Yogi: Boil it up in a pot.

Shri Mataji: Boil it up in a pot, make it absolutely, the essence take it out quite thick put tea in it or water or just like the way you want to make it like a tea and put milk or whichever way you want but less milk and sugar because the taste may not be so good. And then you drink it, before that you have to prepare some what you call for dhuni? You all know ajwain ka dhuni. You see you know that.

So you take ajwain ka dhuni after that, that's all. You do it three days you'll be all right, cleared out.

Sahaja Yogi: Shri Mataji, psychosomatic diseases...?

Shri Mataji: What?

Sahaja Yogi: He's saying psychosomatic diseases in particular, nervous break down comes from where? Right side or left side?

Shri Mataji: You see it's a very funny word psychosomatic means it's also psycho and it's also somatic, so I don't know which one it is, if you say psycho somatic or somatic psycho.

Sahaja Yogi: You mean psychological diseases?

Shri Mataji: Nehi, nehi. Psychosomatic is nervousness you see. Nervousness can be caused by bad habits. How? Like if you are an air hostess you form a bad habit, as soon as you see the airport [moves Her hand around Her stomach indicating nervousness].

Now those who travel too much. As soon as they have to travel they go off their heads. Over doing anything, you see, you get nervous feeling, it's a matter of habit, you form that habit so it happens.

So, I will not say it is due to some badha or anything, but your nerves are too much used in a particular way.

Then they just give in, they cannot work it out anymore.

So then you must change that habit. Supposing you are travelling too much by plane, then travel by a ship, or travel by a train, or by a bullock cart. Or don't travel, something like that, anything that you over do too much that forms a kind of a strain on your nerves.

So try to reduce that strain on your nerves.

Sahaja Yogi: You recommended heels, what height?

Shri Mataji: No, no I didn't say for all of you. I said for varicose veins. Or specially for people who develop problems on the heels. There's no height you just try whatever you can say about one inch will do from one inch onward, anything, not too much one inch or lower, but you see if you develop some sort of a bone on your heels or something like that for that the heels are always better. Little heels are better.

Baldness. It's not a disease. But it comes out of many habits. One of them is wearing the hat. If you wear the hat too tight then the circulation of the brain is spoiled and that's when you might get one. Then also with the left Nābhī you might develop a back bald head here if you have a left Nābhī then their's no circulation, it works out that way. And they say that if somebody has a bald head he will get some money, he's a moneyed man, in India. I don't know why we believe in such a thing, but we believe that if you have a bald head means he's a moneyed man, you see, the one who does not have a bald head is not a moneyed man, who doesn't have a belly is not a dignified man, according to Indian standards. But bald head is caused by not using oil. Or, by not using proper oil. Oil should be used properly and the skull must be actually the skull must be rubbed not the skin so that if you rub it the skin must move on the skull and then you won't have this problem. Another is that if you use funny type of oils with lots of fragrance and essences in it then you might get grey hair. And also ghee should never be used for rubbing in the head but you can use it for the body is good ghee or even the butter is good if you are overactive, then, otherwise not, but ghee should never be used or butter should never be used for the hair.

Now you have two types of bald heads, as I told you.

Some who start from here and some who start from there [points to the front of Her head and then to the back]. It's a very interesting subject. [Sahaja Yogis laugh]. And, those who have both, could be. Now I would say the one which starts from here [points to the front of the head] are the people who are the ones who have got an Ekādaśha problem also possibly.

With the Ekādaśha problem it starts or who are not very collective or something, it will start receding back. All right, those who start from here [points to the back of the head] are the people who may not be good husbands, maybe something wrong with their wives, maybe bad wives, the husband-wife relationship is upsetting then also this starts at the back or maybe there's some incompatibility between the two or too much attachment to the wife or too much attachment to the husband also you start developing like that.

All these things are left Nābhī, so the left Nābhī relationship you know is the Gṛuhalakṣhmī relationship, where you adore your wife so much that she's no more a Gṛuhalakṣhmī also is a wrong thing, these things start with that. And also could be, also could be with your hectic life, if you are very hectic in your life running up and down doing too much work also it may start, you don't listen to your wife about it and you think you have to do this work then also it might start it there are so many reasons for the left Nābhī to start, but the one that starts here [points to Her forehead area] starts with the right Nābhī or we can say with the Ekādaśha more on this side.

So I don't know in your case, Johan, what should I blame. I would say is a complete neglect, complete neglect of your hair, no oiling at all that's what it is, I mean if you do not give water to the plant it will die and then if you say why is it caused, I mean if you don't give it water it's the one that it eats, drinks and lives on so oil is the one on which the hair reside.

Sahaja Yogi: In the West we get pain in the knees when we sit on the ground, is there anyway of avoiding it?

Shri Mataji: You see it is due to the Nābhī you have. Right or the left and no practice of sitting down. Now what you have to do that you have to learn a certain what you call an exercise. I've told people what is the exercise needed for it then you'll get used to it you'll start sitting on the ground all right without feeling the pain on the knees. It will help you in the long run very much. There are certain exercises to be done. But at least your children you make them sit on the ground from now so that there's no problem for them.

Sahaja Yogi: I noticed that a lot of ladies...

Shri Mataji: Here? In the West?

Sahaja Yogi: When I came to Paris, I noticed a lot of ladies after sixty years old began to lose hair.

Shri Mataji: But sixty years one should have that otherwise they don't look all right, you see, in sixty years you should look like a sixty year old, you see, otherwise it's very embarrassing. For Me I must say I must also get some bald head and some wrinkles and this and that. Because, you see, once we were travelling and we had some lady with us she's six years younger to Me and Modi was all the time trying to help her, poor old lady, poor old lady, I said what's this nonsense, she's six years, younger to Me and you are just trying to help her all the time. What about Me? Nobody's bothered, they make Me sit for hours together, they do this, do that. Supposing if I looked old, you would have said, “No, no Mother, you must be tired." Now the ladies develop that because they might be dominating women, possibly, or maybe they are neglecting their hair.

Sahaja Yogi: Or drunkenness.

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: Or drunkenness.

Shri Mataji: Drunkenness, also could be they might have taken drugs or maybe, in the west anything is possible under the sun, you see, or maybe, they've had some problems with their mothers or something like that basically must be there but I think mostly it is due to neglect, complete neglect of the hair. You see these hair styles, now you go to any person who is doing this hair styling within three years time we are bald, then they will give a wig, that's their business.

So going to these hair dressers and all that you develop it. What is the need to go to the hair dresser? I don't understand. There's no need, waste your time, waste your money. You look very nice without it.

Sahaja Yogi: Is there a chance to get lost hair back?

Shri Mataji: Huh? What she...?

Sahaja Yogi: Is there a chance to get lost hair back?

Shri Mataji: Ah, you might. Try. If not by Sahaja Yoga, they say there is a method. They put something here there [points to the top of Her head] and they plant it and all those things they do. If you do it then I'll see to it that they grow well.

Sahaja Yogi: Why are diseases through generations limited to seven generations? Or any trouble, Mother, that comes through the generations?

Shri Mataji: The problems are like this. There's only one center which covers all the seven centers which is the Mūlādhāra. Because it is the Omkāra. It is the Chaitanya. If Mūlādhāra is insulted, say I said that if there's an incest relationship and the family grows then it is seven generations. But, if it is between a very holy relationship like a mother and a son or something like that then it is fourteen generations. It's complete insult of Śhrī Gaṇeśh and so many of these can come from there most of it comes because Śhrī Gaṇeśha gives you the real strength.

Those who have insulted Śhrī Gaṇeśha are always delicate people physically, so you have to reestablish your Śhrī Gaṇeśh.

Sahaja Yogi:... How to keep the body cool in summer?

Shri Mataji: Uh?

Sahaja Yogi: How to keep the body cool in summer?

Shri Mataji: To keep the body cool in summer first of all you have to do is to take some ice and rub it on your liver, keep the liver cool, don't think too much, don't take hot things like in the summertime so many people eat those watermelons and things like that. They should be cooled down properly, like even mangos in India must be cooled down and then taken. All such fruits should be cooled down and then eaten.

Some people eat the mangos just from the tree, that's very wrong. You have to cool it down for twenty-four hours and then eat it. This we knew all of us, but in modern times I don't know if people don't know. All these things add up. Then reduce on meats and fish specially, you should not eat fish in the summertime at all. First of all it is spoiled, something wrong with it or else it has phosphorous which ignites you.

So avoid all these things, eat things which are cool. Now specially for India it is very easy because we have got something called gool khand which is made out of rose petals which is a very good thing for cooling the liver, then cardamom, then the candy sugar, sugar itself. All these things will cool down your liver and you'll feel very good. It's the change in your diet is very important during the summertime.

Sahaja Yogi: Hemorrhoids, is it a Mūlādhāra problem? Hemorrhoids?

Shri Mataji: Right side. Right side Mūlādhāra. Right side. For that you have to keep yourself cool, again get the cooling effects, all the cooling things to be done and also a very good thing is to eat the black dried grapes. What do you call them?

Sahaja Yogi: Raisins.

Shri Mataji: Raisins. Black raisins, soak them in the night with some orange juice and eat them, I mean soak them in the morning eat them in the night before sleeping. That will cool down, that's very, very cooling. [Hindi.] I've forgotten the name. [Marathi.] For allergy the best is gheru, you take all of you, you should take gheru those who suffer from allergy and we get little stone pieces round ones rub it on that and take it with some water about seven times and then eat it, is good for allergies, but everybody should not only those who have allergies, gheru is not good for people who have overactive liver. Now if you're finished, huh.

Shri Mataji: Kya [What]?

Sahaja Yogi: India has the biggest problem of leprosy particularly Bihar and UP [Uttar Pradesh, India], what is the reason?

Shri Mataji: It's a kind of a, you know it's an infectious disease and now they have found some sort of a thing for that leprosy, is not only in India it was everywhere, but you know the [Hindi] the ones what you call them the parasites which create this leprosy drink kerosene oil, petrol, they prosper in petrol, do you know that?

Sahaja Yogi: What is the treatment in Sahaja for that?

Shri Mataji: For leprosy, you see, for any infection as such it's all left-sided. One can work it out but as far as possible keep out of it. Infectious diseases you better not treat. This is very dangerous, I will never advise you because you shouldn't waste your energy on lepers now, leave them to Me. Which is the easiest way to cure yourself?

Sahaja Yogi: What about people who are born with epilepsy?

Shri Mataji: Oh, epilepsy is curable, hundred percent curable, it's a left-sided problem, epilepsy whether born or anything can be cured, can be cured.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Huh? Excessive?

Sahaja Yogi: Excessive tooth decay?

Shri Mataji: Tooth decay? You see for tooth decay the thing is you must use your fingers to rub on your teeth you see that's the thing and also on your gums.

So what you have because you have got vibrations, your right Viśhuddhi's quite all right, it is due to right Viśhuddhi, so what you have to do is defficiency in right Viśhuddhi gives you, rub it nicely with olive oil and little salt, very good finely thinned out salt and it will stop it everyday, everyday, brushing is not sufficient.

Shri Mataji: One more, one more. One more here. What's it? Sit down, sit down.

Sahaja Yogi: What is the reason for having your intestines all on the left side?

Shri Mataji: All on the left side? Nothing on the right. Good idea. Left side. There's no reason as such you see after all think that God creates so many human beings. Even I mean you tell about two hundred people to do some work, one goes this way, another goes that way, you don't know what happens, they go so helter-skelter. Now in that sometimes it's a freak it happens, there are freaks, it makes no difference. All right, what do you want? What'd she say?

Sahaja Yogi: Ulcerative colitis.

Shri Mataji: Ulcerative colitis comes by people who have amebiasis maybe one of them could be, is it there? Hmm.

Sahaja Yogi: Is there amebiasis?

Shri Mataji: Yeah, yes. Could be due to that. Or could be due to very hot food if you eat, or if you drink too much and all these things you see can be affecting, but mostly it is due to amebiasis I've seen it and hot food, you shouldn't eat hot food, like some people like very hot food and they get this trouble.

Sahaja Yogi: Does anyone have a question that's a little more visionary? A little less medical. What about Hailey's Comet appearing later this year?

Shri Mataji: I've seen it. This Mister Hailey had seen it and he said this will happen, that will happen and they say so it's a good sign, let's see, you see whatever maybe the stars, whatever may be the things, unless and until human beings become sensitive nothing can happen. We have to be sensitive people to receive the blessings of these things otherwise Hailey may come, Mailey may come but we go on forever to be. If we are become sensitive then only it will happen, first of all when there is ego what's it's nothing is going to work out. Ego has to go down and you have to feel everything, the vibrations and everything of the atmosphere of all the stars, then it will work out. Otherwise, it has no effect.

Sahaja Yogi: What is the proper attitude when we take darshan from You? I've never known how to approach You.

Shri Mataji: Oh, it's rather embarrassing. All right I'll close My eyes and My face and I'll tell you [Marathi]. Now. Your question is nice. Now supposing Christ appears before you and you know He's Christ, what will happen? That should be the attitude at least minimum, though Christ had to manage only one Chakra I have to manage seven. If that attitude develops even thinking of Me is sufficient, you have to just think of Me your diseases will be cured. That depth has to be there. This is just one Chakra seven times raised to the power seven. That's what it is. You have seen the miracles, you have seen the photographs, you have seen thousands getting Realisation, none of them did it. But also I'm Mahāmāyā.

But in your heart you should know whom you are facing. But mostly people get into the web of Mahāmāyā very much that awe is so fulfilling, so penetrating, so deep that one lives with that idea only all the time, you don't need anything with that. It's a very great fortune, if I were you I would have called Myself the most fortunate person, but it's the other way round, I don't know what to say then, though I must say that I'm very fortunate because compared to all of them I have so many of you here who are Sahaja Yogis, so I'm very fortunate, very happy about it, very happy, but still to grow in that you have to know what it is. Indians have senses, it goes easily into their heads, they are very sensitive. In the same way I hope you develop it in that way, in that fashion, then life would be very enjoyable. All right now coming back to something practical.

I have to ask you have you made all the purchases that are needed for your Pūjās in your various countries?

Sahaja Yogi: They are going to do some of it in Bombay [Mumbai], on the day it's available. When the busses go back in each case.

Shri Mataji: Because all those who are going Europeans, please raise your hands. By the earlier.

Sahaja Yogi: First bus.

Shri Mataji: First bus.

Sahaja Yogi: Monday 7:15 the Egypt Air Fly will leave on the 17th morning.

Shri Mataji: Now there's one good solution also, I was saying that if you start very early in the morning, next day you may reach there for this work but the shops close very fast. Another one could be you make a list of things that you want and send it over to Nima or someone and they'll keep it ready for you so you need not go to the shop to get it. For example, if you want to buy a mukhoot, you want to buy this and that, better give her a list and they will keep it ready for you. As soon as you go you'll get them, is a better idea, don't leave it to chances because when you travel you see you don't know the car may not take you at the right time, the shops maybe closed, being Sunday it's going to be difficult again, best is to make a list, even Saturday is very difficult there, it's so crowded and all that.

So make a list of things that you want definitely and those otherwise you can try later on some that you want to buy personally but actually these things are so common and so understandable you write it down whatever you want for your Pūjā. Have you got any list? Of say what one needs for the Pūjā? No all together what you want to buy? Then make a list now, sit down and make a list, now when you've made the list, I'll send somebody to Bombay [Mumbai] who will purchase all these things, keep ready for you, put the price for you, you pay them and you take them. I don't think you'll have much chance to go to any shop and I would advise don't go to any shop on a Saturday. On the contrary, you just go to the airport, rest there and take your things.

Sahaja Yogi: They reach on Friday night, they have all day Saturday and they go in the small hours of Sunday morning.

Shri Mataji: Why do you want them to go on Friday night? Better let them go on Saturday morning.

Sahaja Yogi: They choose that.

Shri Mataji: I see. And what about you people?

Sahaja Yogi: We're going the next day. We'll leave on Saturday and the flights not only until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Shri Mataji: All right.

Sahaja Yogi: But if you suggest Mother that they go on Saturday they'll do it. No, is better go earlier because in any case. You know why I was saying that maybe you see cars and this and that supposing it fails or something better to be there one day earlier. Try if you can get something because Saturday's such a crowded thing there, I don't know.

Sahaja Yogi: We'll still make this common list for the Pūjā.

Shri Mataji: In any case you should. Whatever you have is all right, if you don't have you better make it here, I mean you spend so much time making the mookhut, what's the need? You can get it here ready made, very good ones, any amount, any type you want, if you want to do it you can do it but normally there's no need.

Sahaja Yogi: They don't know what mookhut is Mother?

Shri Mataji: Huh?

Sahaja Yogi: You better tell them what mookhut is.

Shri Mataji: Mookhut is the crown. Yes. All right, by all means you can see. It's done or not.

Sahaja Yogi [in Hindi]: [Requesting Shri Mataji to vibrate kumkum for Australia.]

Shri Mataji: Ha, ha, please bring it.

[Aside conversations between Shri Mataji and the Sahaja Yogi continues.]

Shri Mataji: For the hair, coconut oil is the best.

If before going, whatever silver you have got you put it in your suitcase. Find it also customs you just... [GAP] Please tell them frankly that these are [Shri Mataji requests to increase the volume of the microphone]... these are your wedding presents, would be better if you wrap it with some...

[Shri Mataji tells a Sahaja Yogi specifically:] It's not meant for you in any case, meant for married people.

In case you are carrying the silver with you then put it in your suitcases with a wrapper, with the wishing of somebody like that for your marriage. You should say, “We got married." Or, somebody has to say, “We remarried. It's a present." And, they won't say anything to you. But in any case, they won't see anything, I hope so.

Next time when you come don't bring any nonsensical thing like the one you brought last time. First was My television set the way it was ruined. It's all absurd ideas, I never do like that. You need not try to avoid paying customs. We have to pay where you have to pay.

So, whatever you are bringing, each person should not bring more that five hundred rupees worth, means about say, about twenty-five pounds.

Secondly, that whenever you bring such things like tapes you should divide them into different people and then bring it. Don't bring them together. Thirdly, whatever you bring you don't send it back without asking Me. There's no logic in it. All the way you bring something here and why do you send it back? Again, this is the same brain I think which I cannot explain. Nobody can explain this. Yen, who took them back?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: Who is he? From Bristol? You know we have paid for that.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: But why? English originals, why did you send? You see, you are made in-charge of that, have you? Who has made you in-charge? Warren made you in-charge, did he? Then, did you ask Warren? You don't know you have sent also in that, I had saved some tapes which were the bhajan tapes. I saved them that time when I was giving. I said, “Keep them for the villagers." I'm saying did you appoint him as the in-charge of the tapes? All right. What, he didn't do these tapes. The tapes that he has sent back, he never did it. That's done by Paul. We have purchased them, gave it to Paul for doing it. Now, I saved these ones when I was giving the presents to people. I said, “Save these." Because I have to take them for distribution for the villagers and these tapes were sent back. He never asked Me. See, this is the trouble. When you are in-charge, doesn't mean you can do things like that. These are not your tapes that you sent them. We paid for it, we got it done through Paul. It has nothing to do with you. You never did these tapes. Nothing.

No, you did not. I know. Paul did it. It was given to Paul, we paid for it, we asked Paul to do it. He did it. These tapes are not done by you. If you have done it I don't know but as far as I know, they are done by Paul. And, I kept them back, I didn't give them.

Yesterday, I was really crestfallen because I had told them that I'll give it to the bhajan-mandals. And, it was not there. They asked Me, “Where are the tapes You had promised us, Mother?"

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: I think you do not know because I had kept about forty tapes or thirty tapes which were of Indian bhajans separately with that. But what was the hurry? If you have to send something, you can always send it later.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: How do you know? You just sent the lot. How do you know? You didn't see everything.

Definitely, they are gone but why do anything without asking? First of all, always do things with asking.

You shouldn't behave arbitrarily, first point. Second point is that these things can be done later. What is the hurry? Even Warren asks Me if he has to do something. Is a very common thing I know with the Western mind. I've known that. I'll tell you people used to live in My house, they would just walk off keeping the door open, just walk off. Where's he gone? God knows! He's walked off. Very common. He just walked off. Where did he go? I mean, even if we have to go the bathroom, we'll tell somebody, “I'm going to the bathroom." That's our habit.

No, it's all right whatever it is but I'd saved these. Now, I cannot locate it because it's not there.

There was no need to send them back at all. What was the hurry? To whom are you committed? If not to Me, at least to Warren. Why they arranged these things? I think something goes out there. You better look after yourself. You have to do sadhana. You all must do sadhana. There's one more thing: is that by saying I'm a Sahaja Yogi, by believing I'm a Sahaja Yogi, you are not going to be helped. You have to do your meditation sincerely. You see, I know it's not hypocrisy. But also it is not all out sincere effort.

There's something in between, the limbo I would say. That's not the way. We think we are Sahaja Yogis.

All right, then do it. You have to everyday; all these Indian Sahaja Yogis meditate everyday. Everyday.

They are much more in a way evolved. They have a much better background. We have to fight all that.

Everyday, they cannot live without it. All right? Now, try to meditate, try to take out because you have problems there. That's how you go off. Now, just don't do anything arbitrarily, ask ten people. I also ask you. I don't do anything arbitrarily. Yesterday, when all the leaders were there, I asked them what is to be done, isn't it, Warren? Asked everyone. I can do everything Myself, I don't do that. It's a collective thing, you cannot do anything like that.

All right, that's one thing now. Thank you very much. Next time, don't do anything. It's not only him, I'm telling all of you. Don't do anything arbitrarily. All right? May God bless you! Now, second is Felicity, come here. Felicity, you sit down. I have to tell you one thing. In Sahaja Yoga, you have come here to achieve an ascent. You know you had lots of problems. You have not come here to achieve any positions, know that. If you want to achieve positions, why don't you go to politics and spare us? You become ministers, prime ministers, do what you like. Why do you want to start another center? Answer: [UNCLEAR].

Who is Danny? Is he you leader? Who is your leader? Then, why did you listen to Danny? Danny will do that.

He's gone back, he'll tell you, he'll try to break your organization. Are you going to listen to him? He will do like this. You should have told him in all sense that you better talk to Lori. Now, don't listen to Danny. He's already gone off his head. Actually, he made a horrible thing which you can't imagine. I mean, if I tell you, you'll be shocked. He made a deed. He made the deed for the so-called registration of the Vishwa Nirmalā Dharma.

[Shri Mataji asks a Sahaja Yogi:] That one or the other one also: Life Eternal Trust?

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: You can say Life Eternal Trust and what he did was that when I die he becomes the head. He becomes the head of the whole of the world, Mister Danny. That his great wife has achieved it.

And, when he [points to one of the Sahaja Yogis sitting there] found it out, he told Me, “Mother, what are You doing?" I trusted him, he's such a good man. I don't know how he got into this trap of getting some sort of a power. Can you do that? You cannot.

Started it [Shri Mataji smiles and shows thumbs up and gives bandhan, Sahaja Yogis chant Shri Mataji Nirmalā Devī ki Jai].

[Conversations in Marathi.] You have to support Lori out and out. I must get good report about you from her. You know you had terrible problems, you know that. I must get very good report from her. And, you must respect your leaders. Don't treat them as equals. None of you are going to treat your leaders as equals, you have to respect them and you have to listen to them. If something goes wrong with them, I will remove them.

Don't start arbitrary behaviour. This goes to this limit what Danny has done. Do you want to become like that? So don't start any arbitrary behaviour. And, if you want to make Me unhappy, I have nothing to say but I've tried to make you happy by so many ways and so many methods but if you want to make Me unhappy all the time, what can I do? I have to be unhappy. You don't want to make Me unhappy, isn't it Felicity? All right, now go ahead and don't do all these things. It hurts Me. I mean, I just don't understand. You have been with Me for so many days and this thing, I've loved you so much, just can't understand. Why do you want to hurt Me? All right, get up now.

Now for something nice, we should say it's done is done, finished. You see, sometimes the ocean of forgiveness gets so filled up that some of it like what you call the tushar in Marathi we say. I don't know in English what is the word is.

Some drops come out from that on the shore. Try to love each other, try to be helpful to each other, try to enjoy others, that's what you are here for. Keep to your age, keep to your levels, keep to your growth and also, you must understand that respect if you give, you get the respect also. This is not the way one should behave in Sahaja Yoga. I'm trying to build up a new world.

You are doing God's work. Just find out have you got sufficiently enough understanding what work you are taking. Arbitrary behaviour is absolutely cancerous for Sahaja Yoga. Anybody does that, you point it out to others, `This is arbitrary.' This has been done very much before also. You know how the money was collected arbitrarily by Patrick. Terrible things happened and everybody supported him, even Steve and everyone and people sent him money without asking Me. This is very sad. You are all Sahaja Yogis of such a level and you must come up to that level and see that you are the people who are going to change the whole world. You are the foundation of that. No arbitrary behaviour should be there but an understanding because you have to receive so much. Unless and until, you are respectful, you cannot receive anything. Whatever you have to do please ask your leaders. Don't do anything arbitrarily. The leader may be younger than you, may be older than you, may be now he is appointed, you are an old Sahaja Yogi. Doesn't matter, I know whom to appoint, I've appointed that person there.

All right. I hope you will give Me joy and happiness as I have always tried to give you.

May God bless you! Now, the ladies have arrived and they want to give bangles to the ladies. They have brought the bangles for you. The reason is tomorrow is a great day, what we call the Sankrant. Is a day when the Sun changes its meridian? It moves from the south to the north, towards the Cancer. It moves towards the Cancer, you see. And, that's how tomorrow is a very great day for us, fourteenth. That day we say that that's the day lots of things happen.

So, San Krant. Krant means revolution and San means holy.

So is a day of holy revolution. Luckily we are here, we'll be having a nice Pūjā, we'll have an international Pūjā also, everything will be done tomorrow very nicely.

Now, one thing we have to do today that these ladies have come to give bangles to you, to all the ladies.

They have got all sizes. They showed Me what sizes I should take. I told them some of them should be maximum. [Laughter.] And, they've brought it.

So as many as you can have, please have it. All right? [Applause.] [Marathi.] We don't offer them to men because it is insulting. When the men don't go for a fight or they behave cowardly then women offer their bangles to men that, “You better wear them, sit at home and I'll go on the war." There's a saying, “Bangadya bhara." Means to men if you say that that means now you are a coward. Means that in all languages.

It's a sanctuary here, so many birds. Have you seen those birds before or only they have arrived today? Just go and have a look. We have everything by the kilos, you see.

[Marathi.] [Individual conversations, distribution of key rings bought by Bridget and distribution of bangles.] [This seems to be from a European event.]

Contents: 1986-01-14 Makarsankranti Pūjā (English+Marathi), Mr. Dhumal's House, Rahuri, Maharashtra, India

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] Today is a sad day for Me because we'll be now parting. I may not be able to meet you in Bombay [Mumbai]. Maybe for a year this may not happen for some of you and I would like to give you a little advice about the growth within yourself.

It is believed by people that God is helping us and we are in His kingdom.

So whatever happens He looks after us. It is true but as you are the instrument of the God you have to also look after yourself.

For today's delay I would like to apologize but the delay comes because from Poona Mister Kulkarni was to come and see us do this Pūjā. Now I told him that his wife is a negative lady and he doesn't understand his own importance, I would say. As a leader you must understand your importance. And another person who came, he asked, “Why don't you come with me?" He said, “I have to come with my wife." And that's how this delay has taken place because he's not here. He said he'll come for Pūjā so the main thing was first to arrive here in time without a negative force pulling him.

So we conclude that it is important that first of all we should know that in any way we should not try to have any negative forces attacking us or involving us or attaching to us. She may be your wife, may be your husband, may be your son, may be your daughter, may be anyone. You must see that that person is negative through vibrations and don't have anything to do with such a person. Don't have, never listen to such a person, never agree to what that person says and do as you please because in vibrations you will know that the person is negative.

Of course that doesn't give you a hand to sort of a destroy another person or to completely finish Sahaja Yoga in that person. But on the contrary with love and proper advice you have to tell that person that, “You are being negative, you are a negative person. We are getting negative vibrations from you." Now that person may persist on the negativity, maybe because he does not know how to get out of it or maybe she does not know how to get rid of it or may be laziness. Maybe that her arrogance, because such people can be very arrogant and adamant and high-handed, could be very arbitrary also and could be so intelligent that they would cheat themselves with their own intelligence. They will not accept your advice, whatever it is. Try to tell them as far as possible, you have to go to a great extent, because you are not here for them, you are here for yourself and for God.

So you have no business to waste your energy with somebody who is a positively negative person. And in that the approach should be such that you try to help that person as far as possible. Supposing she has some bad habits, she's taking drugs, all right, try to take out that part, the drug and all that, try to do whatever is possible. Give a bandhan, beat her with shoes but your attention should not be completely towards one person who's negative.

Normally in an ashram, I've seen, mostly one negative person appears and the whole ashram gets upset.

It's a very common thing because one nasty person can spoil the whole show. Like today I had to spend some money with another nasty person just for nothing at all and because she's negative I had to fight it out Myself, I did not know how others are going to fight it out. But you have to tell frankly on the face that, `If you want to go to hell you can go, if you want to go to God then you should change yourself, you have to transform yourself, you have to be all right.' Everyone can get cured. Lazy lumps are the only difficult things, lazy people, because they have excuses. They are the most difficult things, lazy people are the most difficult people I have seen. If the person is not a lazy person, it's very easy to make him do things. For a lazy person everything is difficult because he's indulging into laziness.

But one must remember one principle of Sahaja Yoga which is very important. I think one should write it down in your heart. This is a very important essence of Sahaja Yoga, of how to grow, that you should know how to raise your Kuṇḍalinī. You should know how to meditate and to find out about your problems, your defects and then remove them and raise your Kuṇḍalinī. If you cannot raise your Kuṇḍalinī you cannot improve in Sahaja Yoga.

Now the Kuṇḍalinī falls off with many things, as you know, if you have defects. Even supposing you have a weakness for your wife, you worry about her, you think about her or your husband, who is a negative person, the Kuṇḍalinī will be sucked down. It will be sucked down with all these negative attentions, any kind of a negative attention you have, it will be sucked down.

And such negative people always push forward, they'll sit in front of Me, they'll be just there to trouble Me. They'll never understand that we should be at the back, they are very great show-offs. They will sit just in front of My eyes, I see them, just I put My eyes straightforward and the person is straightforward before My eyes. Is a sign that they are all the time trying to displease the Goddess, all the time. Of course your Mother is such a funny Goddess that She never gets displeased. But there so many others who get displeased. I wish I had known that, I really don't know, I think I'm nothing but forgiveness and I just don't recognize it. But it's a common point. A person who is a very positive person doesn't come forward much, keeps out, doesn't force Me to do things. Otherwise they'll force Me, “Do this, do this, sit down like this, I'll have this." Unless and until I tell you, you should not. Like I know some people, it's a headache to be with them where they'll ask, “Should I give you tea, should I bring this for you?" Why? I'll tell you if I need it. “Will you take this, will you take that, would you have this, would you like a white tea or a black tea or a yellow tea." I've no time to think about all these nonsensical things. And that's what distracts My attention from them and they don't get, it's a vicious circle, they don't get My blessings.

Linda, you are the one, now go on that side, you know that very well and you are the one who'll sit in front. Now I can tell you how many who are sitting in front of Me, most of them would be negative people, except for Alexandra, I can see that. Another is Martine. Is she there? Martine catches very well, yes, second one must be Martine, yes, come along. Martine catches very much. And you people don't want to see that you catch, you people don't want to see that you catch and then what happens that it affects the other person. The leaders are affected. Who is next? Now who is next, let's see. Behind her, she has eye trouble, she has a problem, she should not sit in front, she should be on the side. I need not worry that far but still, let her sit on the side.

I've just pointed it out to you that you can make out a negative person who has problems. First of all, complaining type: Anybody who is complaining of nature is negative, anybody who complains is negative.

I never complain, do I? Did I ever complain. I've been to all your programs anywhere, did I ever complain that the bed is not all right? Suddenly the other day I discovered the bed on I sleep is really hard like a rock, really. I just suddenly discovered because I sat on it. But I didn't complain to anyone. I said, “It's all right." Because I'm quite comfortable Myself with it.

So this is it that shows a person who's not comfortable within himself is still negative and such a person should try to keep out of Sahaja Yoga.

That's the best way the person is going to be helped.

For negative people also you must remember you must try to keep out of Sahaja Yoga. Don't try to show off, because such a person always wants to come forward. Why? Because he'll be blessed, because he'll be saved. It's a kind of a, like a beggar coming to a rich man, but it's not so. In Sahaja Yoga it's the other way round, everything is just the other way round, you can put everything the other way round, then you'll understand. In Sahaja Yoga those who keep out of My sight are better blessed. Those who do not ask Me questions, whether I should have this or that are better blessed. Those who do not claim anything from Me are better blessed. Those who do not challenge Me are better blessed.

Miracles happen. Like in My passport, this has happened before also, I did not know in Australia, but Mister Srivastava told Me that My passport has expired, I must get the validity again sanctioned. When I came here, Warren told Me at least three times, then I asked Warren, “Should I go to Delhi to get it done because if I go to Hong Kong how will I do it, without a passport?" And then I said, “Let's see." I opened the passport, it's already sanctioned till eighty-eight.

So, you see, for that one has to understand that we must know our priorities; we must know what is important. For Me it was important I have to go to Hong Kong, I couldn't find any time when I could go there, at a time when it would not be very hot.

And just it worked out for Me, I don't have to go to Delhi first and I'm now ready to go.

It has happened so many times and even if something goes wrong with My passport or anything because of negative forces, I use it for an advantage.

So even if somebody is a negative person, use it for a positive thing. Now, example: I was going to America and I had sent My passport for visa and My husband who is so meticulous had taken it. And they gave the visa for the year ahead. When I went to the airport they said, “What? This is the visa for the one year ahead." One year ahead, they had given.

So they said, “You can go next year, not this year, the visa is for next year." So I telephoned to My husband, it was a Sunday, he just got out of bed, he ran up and down, poor fellow, he said, “How is it I didn't see?" I said, “You didn't see. What has happened is that you didn't see. The fellow who did it was quite speedy I think, so he gave Me one year ahead, so now better find out." I mean, this is what happens to the speedy people.

They'll give you visa for one year ahead. That's another extreme positivity. Now, then as a result of his running up and down, they all got shattered, you know the Americans especially felt, “Oh God, what a mistake it was." So they gave Me visa for five years.

So instead of feeling unhappy about the negativity and making miserable faces and making yourself miserable and Me miserable with that, best is to laugh it out and use that negativity for your positivity.

In the beginning only it happened that once we were going to Nasik and while going to Nasik our car failed and everybody said, “Mother, your car never fails, how it has failed?" I said, “Let it be, it's all right, it's very nice here, I can look around, I can see around and all that." They couldn't understand why I was so relaxed about it.

So the car failed and it took about one hour. Now the people who were Sahaja Yogis before never used to cure anybody, never used to look at anyone, never used to raise anybody's Kuṇḍalinī, all very frightened. But as I was not there, they felt very challenged because there's such a big crowd there, they didn't know what to do.

So they said, “All right, we'll raise your Kuṇḍalinī." That's how they started doing it and it's helping now, [UNCLEAR we were now,] that you are doing it. Otherwise they would not touch it.

So every disadvantage, every negativity is to be used for positivity. As I've told you before also an example of a little cell going inside the Mother Earth, sees a big boulder there, goes round it, [UNCLEAR ties] round it again and again and again and uses it for further holding of the tree, for the support of the tree.

That is what is wisdom, that is what is wisdom and this wisdom comes through meditation, meditative method.

So you must everyday meditate and raise your Kuṇḍalinī, otherwise you cannot grow by saying, “Mother, I love you, I love you” writing Me ten pages letters, which is impossible to read, doing all kinds of things like that and asking Me questions morning till evening. Nothing, nothing is going to help you to understand Me or to understand yourself or to understand Sahaja Yoga or to grow in Sahaja Yoga.

You may talk, discuss, do what you like, to understand Sahaja Yoga best is to keep very happy. Happy faces, happiness within yourself, joy within yourself, try to see the essence of joy in everything, don't try to criticise, make yourself miserable. But to raise your Kuṇḍalinī every morning religiously, every morning, every night raise your Kuṇḍalinī. Kuṇḍalinī is like the nourishment, the nourishment, the water of life for the growth of your inner being.

If you do not meditate, if you do not know how to raise your Kuṇḍalinī, you better try to learn it.

Negative people always avoid that because then they feel burnings, they feel this. Face it up for a while, doesn't matter, face it up, clear out yourself and see that you raise your own Kuṇḍalinī. Don't blame your husband, don't blame your wife, don't blame your children, don't blame your atmosphere, nothing of the kind. You can go in the jungles everyday, you can go anywhere you want to, if you want to do it, you can do it. But people must understand that now we are saints and saints have to do that.

You'll be surprised if you start meditating, most of your problems will disappear because all physical problems will be looked after by God. All material problems will be looked after. All other problems, family problems will be looked after. But the main problem is how to make you do it. It's like once you eat your food your tongue can taste it, it gets the saliva, it goes down, it's all looked after, it goes down properly, down below it is all... the juices are secreted, they know that the food is coming, it is digested in different parts, as it is, it is all built-in. But you must put it in the mouth and this is what is the mechanism of Sahaja Yoga is that you must meditate and raise your Kuṇḍalinī. In so many ways, in so many styles, in so many angles I have said this again and again and again and again. But that's what we do not do. And know your purpose, you must know your purpose.

Like as I said that the leaders do not know their importance at all. They behave sometimes in a manner which I can't understand. They become so silly about their wives, their husbands that I cannot understand. That's not important at all. If they're leaders, they have responsibility.

Secondly, the leaders must tell off people who are to be told off, it's very important. If you cannot tell off people, it's no use. And that's how the leadership is not going to be respected, if you do not tell off people who are negative. One negative problem comes in, immediately they'll report it, I immediately know this is his wife or husband must be doing nonsense there. Immediately it is reported, “This is happening, that is happening” is a sign of negativity. Immediately you can solve the problem, give bandhans.

The simplest way is to sit before My photograph and just say, `Mother, please this is the problem,' finished. There's no need to take a telephone and telephone to Me at about two o'clock in the night. Just do that, but the trouble is you cannot because your system is not yet reached that point. It's such a vicious circle. Your system must reach that point where the connection is absolutely there, you don't care for leadership, anything, but you care for your inner growth. If your inner growth is in that position it will happen automatically. This is what it is, very difficult for people to understand that we have to be sensibly placed towards ourselves.

Now about the leaders I would say this about others also, that we have to be very, very sensibly placed about ourselves. Are we sensible towards ourselves? Some old people behave like children, some children behave like old people in the sense that start telling off, answering back, misbehaving. We must know our age, our group, everything and behave in a manner that is dignified. In a small age also if a child talks like a child, he can be very, very positive. I must tell you that I've had some very, very funny reports about some people which was so shocking that how did they arbitrarily behaved. And it's only thing that is behind is the sense of leadership. I wanted to be leaders, this wanted to be leaders, that wanted to be leaders.

There's nothing like leadership in Sahaja Yoga, you don't know your Mother is too capable. She doesn't need any leaders, you don't know Her, better know Her. She's too capable, very clever and cunning woman.

She's all-powerful and She knows everything about you, She knows how to handle situations. She's not going to allow Sahaja Yoga to disappear because of somebody's stupidity. Know that! Sitting down here I know about everything about everyone. I may look very simple, it's not so. That's why I have to tell you that you don't consider yourself to be endowed with some sort of a special power as a leader. Only that you have the power through your Mother which you have to assert.

So, `Whatever I'm doing is the Mother Who is doing it.' And when you do that you'll be amazed that whatever you want will be sensible, whatever you'll ask for it will be sensible, sensible means which is related to Sahaja Yoga. And whatever you do will be sensible. All your dignity, everything will pile up together, but foremost thing and the most important: at any cost you must meditate.

This is what I have to now tell to our Indians also but for you it is very important because now you are returning back to “the real place." Like yesterday somebody said to Me, some Westerner said, “Mother they are talking about why you left Vaikuṇṭha and came to this India, is all right, but we would say why did you leave this India and came to us." Then the answer was there that the God has become mad about the saints because of the [UNCLEAR saints] and their company. But the saints have to be saints otherwise they become troublesome to Me. If I go to lunatic asylum nothing will happen to Me. If I go to, say, to a cemetrey, nothing will happen to Me. But if a saint catches even a slightest thing, that troubles Me, tortures Me, not outwardly maybe, but inside. Because I've given you place in My heart, in My being, you circulate in My being. That is how I know about you.

So if you really grow better, if you improve better it will be a thing of joy for you and the greatest joy for Me as well, that's all I want that you should be, nothing else, nothing else.

Now one more assurance I want to give you that we are going to start certain projects in India. Now the time has come, we have acquired some land definitely now and we are going to work out some projects as soon as I settle down in India, we will start showing the manifestation of that. And maybe this kind of tour I may not be able to do after a few years. But then you yourself will be able to conduct these tours in your own country, go round because this is a training period where you will learn how to do this kind of thing. Of course in your country it's rather difficult to get such people but how to contact... I started with one person.

So I'm just a lady, housewife and if I could do it, why not you? So now go with a pleasant mind, enjoy yourself. It's very difficult for a mother to bear all this because when I leave India I feel terrible about the Indians, when I leave you I feel terrible about you. It's something horrible that I want that somehow or other we all should have one huge country of our own where we all settle down happily together.

So on behalf of you I would like to thank all the Indians who have done so much for us, given us all the comfort, according to them it was discomfort but according to you it was comfort. Now you are going on this tour, I would request you not to discuss other mundane nonsensical things on the way but discuss Sahaja Yoga. Understand, there are people who are just new, tell them about Sahaj Yog, let them know what is Sahaja Yoga is, also explain to them what is Sahaja Yoga.

You'll be travelling now quite a lot and also you'll be going to places where we are going to have our projects done. You can have a look at it, will be a good idea and also you think about what kind of projects we can have in this country which will help them to achieve better results in Sahaja Yoga. All these we have to discuss and this group is much more serious-type, I think and it's going to work out something seriously. About the future plans that we would like to have here and abroad and whatever are the dates and things you would like to do. In the month of May, June, July I would be in the West and May I would like to keep for America, if possible, at least the second half of May. The rest of it you can adjust it the way you want to have and also arrange your programs among yourselves whichever way you say is all right. This time it was desired that I should go to Greece, I don't mind, I would like to go there and do the needful. I hope all the leaders have got the [UNCLEAR chains] I have given to Warren. All right, it's done now. I worry about all little, little things like that. Teach yourselves, you cannot cheat others.

Cheating is not allowed. If you do cheating, you will cheat your Kuṇḍalinī. Kuṇḍalinī knows everything.

... their husbands, not at all. Otherwise you ruin us completely. We might have to take out a rule that nobody who has a wife or a husband is going to be a leader. One of the two things or children. It's terrible it is sometimes.

[Shri Mataji talks in Marathi:]... and to understand certain things, which... this being the last Pūjā, you have to do all the residual things like those who have not washed My feet had to wash My feet and everything has to be done this way so that we complete our tour and we complete our program in Maharashtra. And now as it is you'll be amazed that I missed one Pūjā sari somewhere so that also I have to wear today. And also whatever is waste that is now to be taken charge of sort of thing. But today is a special day; is the day when the sun changes from the tropic of Capricorn, comes from the tropic of Capricorn, to the tropic of Cancer. And for us it is a summer. Not a very thing for us to have a summer here and we call it a thing of transformation.

But as a tropic of Cancer... Cancer as you know is a sign of the Mother.

So this is the day they celebrate suddenly coming out of the cold to the heat, they eat something called [UNCLEAR] that is the sesame and the jiggery mixed together. And they tell people, “Eat this sweet and speak sweetly." The reason is: when the heat comes up too much the mind can go off and one can become harsh.

So they say now, “Eat this and speak sweetly." Now the hot thing, it's a hot thing to eat sesame and the jiggery but why it is given that is the end of it now. You have it and slowly come to normal.

So it is given like that to show that now is the end of it, you take it and now you come to the end of it. And in the same way we today we are finishing off this tour. We have had tremendous, forceful, very fast, I should say absolutely telescopic programs. You have passed through all these programs in such a big way. Now, it has been too much, I know because the time was short. You see, we have to be that way in modern times. And maybe you must have escaped lots of experiences because of the speed.

So now when you go back you must again sit down and in your pensive mood try to see all the beautiful things that you have seen and forget all the ugly things and all the funny ideas. And enjoy whatever you have achieved as something enjoyable, as something knowledge. Go back on it, see for yourself clearly and keep it in your memory.

I'll be very happy if some people sit down and write diaries. All these things are beautiful you must have met beautiful people, you must have seen beautiful landscapes. Anything, as in Ganapatipule you have had some good experiences, should be written down. And that will give you a better idea as to what we have gone through in this short time. And as it is today coming to an end, also our winter is over now, we never had it according to you, so we are now entering into real summer which I don't want you to face.

So you'll be going back. And today is a special day but this day being decided by the sun is a fixed day, is fourteenth, fourteenth of this month.

So this is called as a Sankranti day.

So it doesn't change, all other things can change because they depend on the moon but this is the, you can say, only solar festival we have. In the Punjab they use lots of wood to create heat in the household, you see, as you have firewood, but something is left over, so they burn it at the end of it as we are doing today in the night, like last night as we did. The whole keeping awake we should have burned some fire as well outside.

So they burn some fire and dance and sing around it to say now we have enjoyed the winter and we thank for that, now the summer is coming and we are looking forward to the summer. That is how it is and today is a very nicely timed farewell day.

So may God bless you.

So one sentence you can learn now in Marathi that [UNCLEAR]. It's rather difficult, the most difficult. Because [UNCLEAR] you cannot say, it's only specially Maharashtrian word. Even the Indians can't say this, other Indians apart from Maharashtrians. You can make them out on this word [UNCLEAR] if they can say [UNCLEAR] well and good, otherwise they are not Indians. They cannot sort of cheat us on that. [UNCLEAR]. And the language, Marathi language to sound if not that [UNCLEAR] because it's more of a marshal race but it is very, very deep I must say it's very deep and could be sweet also if you can say [UNCLEAR] otherwise it doesn't sound [UNCLEAR].

So you can learn this if possible on your way. A very difficult sentence called as [UNCLEAR]. Now in this one nobody should speak loudly or shouting at anyone or anything, you have to say, `Speak sweet.' May God bless you on this special day of Sankrant. `Sankrant', `krant' means revolution, `san' means the holy. The holy revolution.

May God bless you.

... and light is [UNCLEAR]. That they have given us six acres of land only for eleven thousand rupees. Where we'll be starting the project of animal husbandry and all that. Then the second offering yesterday came in of five acres of land very near the lake where you were, just on the other side of the lake. Where we have to still think what projects we are going to have. Now lands after lands, you see.

May God bless you.

Sahaja Yogi: Before we leave, Shri Mataji, this would be the last chance that all of us have to say farewell. Our devotion and our love has been there during the tour. We pray that we've grown a little here and that we are little wiser as a result of the vibrations of Mother India and all the loving attention You've given us and the patience You've had with our faults and how we've often failed like little children. But each time we come to India, we learn a little more, we become a little more purer and we become closer to being that which You want Mother, just becoming the Ātmā. Jai Shri Mataji!

Shri Mataji: So farewell to you. I hope to see you very soon this year and you have to forgive if there has been any mistakes or any trouble for you anywhere. Moreover, be careful when you travel or when you swim. As a mother is always worried about your well-being and a mother will never know that My children are now grown enough to look after themselves.

So I hope you will look after yourselves, keep yourselves in bandhans, keep yourselves in balance and in complete enjoyment.

May God bless you all.

Thank you, thank you very much.

Contents: 1986-01-20*, Public Program, Day 1, Attention Should Be on God, Mumbai, India

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

As it is, today, a question has been put forward before Me that why our attention gets lost; in the modern times, why our attention is not towards God. And that, in modern times, why a human being has gone down in his quality of humanity. These questions point out to one single fact that our attention has been challenged by modern times. This attention has been challenged by all that we call modern today. I do not say that we have to be primitive people.

In this great country of ours, India, which was Bharatvarsh, we had such a great quality of humanity, such a great quality of administration, quality of kings, queens; all that was not a myth. It was a fact that we had Rāma, Kṛiṣhṇa, the benevolent king and a great diplomat of the Divine force. But today we find all these things sound like mythical because at what level we are, we see that as the truth, as the reality, but it is not. All this is created by human beings. How this is created and why it has happened, I would like to explain to you.

When our attention was created before, in a way that we were living with very few things in this country, everyone knew that you have to have your Self-realisation. Nobody bothered their heads about how much wealth you are going to acquire, how many things we are going to have, except for the kings who acquired wealth for the betterment of the society and also who acquired the power for the protection of the society. Then we became slaves of two cultures, One the Islamic, another the British culture, the English culture. And I think the real downfall came when this English culture came upon us. Because, though they were Muslims they believed in God. Whatever wrong they did, they did it in the name of God and they believed it. But the attention was not, still, in acquiring things. We say that Aurangzeb was a very bad king, no doubt. He killed so many Hindus because he believed that Islam is the only religion.

That was his stupidity I should say. He was ignorant; he was so violent. But he himself was an extremely frugal person. He used to make his own caps, sell them in the market and live on that. And he would not touch any money of the public.

But then the English, when they started ruling in this country, this language English came upon us as not a blessing but a curse, I think. Because the whole literature is full with ideas which are contrary to the culture of God, contrary to the culture of Christ. They believed that Christ was born in England.

Many Christians still believe that you become a Sāhab when you become Christians. This culture of the English which was forced on us, this language which was forced on us, gave us a absolutely a different direction which we should not have accepted. But as it is, we were three hundred years already in the slavery, people had to accept it blindfolded.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has clearly said that the awareness grows downward while the roots are in the brain of a person; and the awareness, which is growing downwards, forms the tree. And this Western culture is the one, which makes you grow downwards towards materialism; whether it is communism or it is socialism or democracy, that makes no difference. The whole thing is that you have to attend to the material side.

So the first object of the Western culture or the Western science was, first to capture the matter, the five elements in such a way that it can be used for the comfort of human beings, for the physical comfort of human beings. But as the culture is just to move forward without any control over yourself, like a kite flying in the air without having any control of a finger on it, the whole thing drifted into various directions and various fields, where it got lost.

When we pay attention to something, if the attention is pure, it will purify the matter and will come back to us as a pure attention. But when the attention is filled with these ideas that you have to use all the matter for your comfort, then it gets lost in the matter. It gets involved in the matter. It gets spoilt in the matter and then what comes back to us is the thought, `How to possess it.' To possess the matter, to use the matter, to sit on top of the matter was the first mistake. Matter is your slave, in any case. In any case it is your slave and this you would have got it without paying so much attention to it.

To think that science was discovered by scientists is egoistical. It's only your ego, says that. You cannot discover anything unless and until the God's grace is upon you. It's the God's grace that brings forth the exposition of His powers. Even a person like Einstein has said that. Even the person like Newton has said that. Einstein has clearly said that “I was fed up and I was tired; I couldn't find the theory of relativity; I was just resting in my garden playing with soap bubbles and from somewhere unknown the theory of relativity dawned upon me." But we Indians living, three hundred years in the slavish mentality, accepted it blindfolded without knowing how much knowledge and science we had. We had aeroplanes in our country. We had pilotless bombs in our country. We had all kinds of things in our country. But, why did we accept this without going into the roots to find out how did we have these things? We started doubting all that was the past in India and we would not go into the past of it but we started moving downward with this Western culture.

And that's the downfall of our country. That has brought all this nonsense here. When money becomes everything, the money orientation, the economics of it. This was the country of philosophers, of the seers, of the saints, where now today economics is dominating without understanding that you cannot put this Western economics in this country at all, we cannot work it out. This is a country of generosity. People love to serve you, people love to do; even today they like to do something for you. Go to a village, even if they may not have anything with them, they'll bring some milk; make you sit there. “Please have some milk. You have come from foreign countries, please have it." But in the Western countries: you may give them any amount of things, they won't even return one present to you. Shamelessly they'll take everything thinking that they are the ones who should have it. They have no subtleties. They have no subtleties to understand generosity, they cannot. They think we do it because we are slavish people. Even I was surprised when the some villagers told Me that even the animals coming from the west are stupid. I said, “How?" He said, “Now take a hen from India and take a leghorn or rooster [UNCLEAR] from Western countries. If there is an attack on the little chicks, the mother will start shouting or doing something, screaming or doing something to call all her children under her wings, if it's an Indian hen. But if it's an English hen, she wouldn't mind. She would look at everything very peacefully, Sthita-pragñya, not bothered." Then he said, Most surprising thing is that our bullocks, if you tell them go this way, that way, they understand. But if you tell a Western bullock, he walks straight into the car, into the trucks; he doesn't know where he is walking. He has no idea. You cannot leave them alone. And if you tell them walk this way, they will walk the other way round." So what is in this culture? What is in this whole upbringing that makes you so gross? The attention is on the matter and not on the spirit. All the time the matter is trying to overpower the spirit. Supposing there is a tree that falls off, it dies, then you make a chair out of it. It's a dead from the dead. Now you sit on the chair and you become a slave of the chair.

You cannot sit on the ground. Then you have to carry chairs with you. If you start moving in a car, you become so useless that you cannot walk with your legs. Tomorrow you start having calculators... you'll be surprised, I live in London, I am amazed at the people. Even if they have to do two plus two they want their tambāku. They want to calculate it. For two plus two they cannot do it, they have no brains left because computers have come.

So as a result of this machinery, the machines that have created...

We say the “machine age", what an age it is and the age of development. Without any control if the machines have gone up to this point, it is time that we understand, we should not go too much towards it, that we become slaves of this machine. The machine is like a devil. It requires, like a devil, all the time to eat something. Like, you... in England it's impossible to get fresh food. You have to go to the main market to get it. But in America, is even worse and in most of the countries they have everything packed, everything in a plastic bag, everything measured. You go to the shop, you get this, this, this, this... nothing fresh. There's no taste in the food. Now they are using chemicals. They put chemicals in the body of the animals, which they eat; put chemicals in the foods that they eat; put chemicals because the machine must have a quantity. To have the quantity they have to do all this.

So what you are taking is all this chemicals. As a result of that, what you are developing is nothing else but your destruction.

So all this attention outside, into the matter, builds up your destructions gradually. The attention gets fragmented.

For example, you are talking to someone... this is a very modern stuff, I have seen many. You are talking to someone and this person is looking somewhere else. “Where are you looking?" “Oh, I was looking at that picture or something. I think I should buy that." But I am talking to you here, doesn't go into the head. Nothing. He is looking at something, or at some woman, or at some man, which is joyless pursuit.

We have nothing to do with it and there is no alertness, which picks up things at the right moment.

Then another thing a gentleman told Me, whose four children are in an English school and one child in an Indian school. He says these four children don't talk much. They think no end of themselves and they don't know. You ask them how many roads there are to your house? They wouldn't know. They just go like a blinkers of a horse around their heads. They walk like that. They don't know anything.

They don't read newspapers; they have no ideas as to what things we have. The youngest child, who is brought up in an Indian way and in an Indian school, has got a little parrot, has got a little doggy, has...

looks after all the cows. He gives all the news about all the animals in the house. He gives all the news about the relations. He knows who are the relations, who are suffering, what is the problem. What in the kitchen is needed? He is so alert, his attention is so alert because it is not fragmented. Now with any convenience, we want to put our children into English schools. I tell you, you'll have it. If they don't beat you when they grow up, you shouldn't be surprised. I've seen Western children beat their parents. They answer them back. It was a day when the children of a good family would always address their parents as sir or mother as a madam. But today, I have seen them answering them back saying all kinds of funny things and knowing all the filth of the world, all the filth of the world. They know so much of filth that you are shocked; you don't know that. And the whole attitude of all their medias, or ours also I should say, in a way, is to create that attitude, to put our children into that filth all the time, take them to that filth. Our people also, I see in the television, here also, they show all these horribly nude funny women in the advertisement. Because these advertisements and the medias also, work out your attention onto the gross. They play on your weaknesses. That's how they make you weak and when you become weak, weak, they become very powerful. When the media is so powerful, you can't do anything. There is no purity in their hearts to do benevolence, to do good to the people, as we call janahith. That's not in their mind at all.

Somehow to make money. What's the harm in making money? It's surprising how people are compromising for the sake of money. Money doesn't give you joy. I have to tell you it cannot give you joy.

Don't run after money. Have a integrated attitude towards money. Money is the blessing of the Lakṣhmī and the Lakṣhmī is a very beautiful woman who has got a very motherly attitude. She is the Mother. A man who has money has to have motherly attitude. She has got two lotuses in Her hands; pink shows that She is love. She expresses Her love in two of Her hands which also means a lotus which is pink, is even entertaining a thorny bhavrā, we call it, the black big beetle, which has got thorns, on its soft petals and gives it a place of rest. How many of these rich people in this country and specially abroad, would entertain such an idea of having a place for a ashrayā, for a support for the persons who are like a bhavrā. Then, the other hand, which is like this, has to be dān. You have to give, if you have money you must give. How many of them know where to give money? They'll give money to places where people will cheat them, like Rajneesh. They'll not give money to the poor. They'll not develop anything for the poor in a proper way. The other day, I was surprised, I went to Poona. We have there a very good thing system started of called as JanaShanti where people give food for two rupees, very good food for one, one meal, very very good food, excellent food they give and sufficient, for two rupees. And they said all the, President downward, people came here; we had to spend money on their reception. We gave them this that, garland, this that and everybody gave big big lectures. And nobody is willing to even give them a place on rent. No one wants them there because they think you will go into competition with others who are making profits and will not get votes.

So the whole system is so funny that you end up at a point that they want to give money because they want to have votes. They want to win the election because they want to make money. I mean, I came to this country and everybody is saying, “What's the matter, why can't we get the plot?" Because the person wants to eat the money; here everybody eats the money, eating the money, paishe khāto. Te paishe khata, te paishe khata, te paishe khata. Say, don't they eat their food, or why are they eating money? This is the trouble of this country has come because money has become the most important thing for them. Nothing that they think that this body, this being, this is a collective being. This is the samoohik being. It cannot be happy with this kind of a harm we are doing to our society. All those who do things like this, their seven generations will be cursed by God. You must understand: those who make money at the cost of the poor people, they will be cursed forever. And one should not join such people, even if you have to suffer. I know it's very hard time, people cannot afford to live with the earnings they have. But still, if you decide, you can live with the satisfaction that you have done right.

When My father was... and My mother, both were in jail so many times. We were eleven children.

We were very rich people living in huts. And we didn't have food for days together sometimes. And we have... were used to very rich life. They sacrificed everything for the country's freedom. Where are such people now? You can't think of them. They are legendary people. Nobody wants to sacrifice anything whatsoever. And this is the movement; this is a new movement of swaTantra. SwāTantrya is not yet complete; you can see it clearly. It is not. Your freedom is not complete. If your freedom has to be complete, you must get your swaTantra; you must know the technique of your swa, of your spirit. Unless and until you get this full freedom, you are not free people. You are slaves of money. You are slaves of powers. You are slaves of showing off. You are slaves of everything, to Me. All kinds of bad habits. I've never known so many drunkards that we find these days.

So we have become greater slaves of all the bad habits, all the bad doings. And there is nothing that a person in a big position can think of not doing. Why it has happened to us? Why have we all collapsed into such insipid useless people? What has happened to our countrymen? Is this: that they have not realised that the greatest thing is in the brain. Is the roots and these roots are in this country, in this Maharashtra. These roots are here. The Kuṇḍalinī has to only enlighten these roots and we never bothered about it. We never cared for it. We are all the time worried as to how to get more money.

So the people who are highly paid or who are at a higher position with less pay, also maybe, they are making money by eating that. And the others are a sort of people who are going on strike for everything. For what? For money, again for money.

This Bombay [Mumbai] is half finished because of strikes. What for strikes? I asked them. You are a drunkard? Yes. You drink? All right. And you smoke? Yes. You eat tambāku? Yes. You eat pān.

That means you have money. Otherwise how can you afford all these things? When you ask for more money in a strike, better find out what sort of a man he is. If he can drink, afford to drink, then you need not give him any money to drink more. Any mother who sees her son is drinking, will never give him any money because he will be drinking with that money. What else is he going to do? What good is he going to do with that? So what happens is that this attention, when it starts moving towards money, we become so blind that we do not see why, why are we asking for money. What is the need for money? I am not for these capitalists at all. I know how horrid they are. But what I'm saying that why break the machinery like this. Now whatever you may do, whatever you may tell them that finish this striking and enjoy yourself now, for the God sake. We have really poor people in the villages, not in Bombay [Mumbai].

In Bombay [Mumbai] we don't have poor people. They can go to cinema; they can do all kinds of things.

How can they be poor? But they have time. They have more time. That's why they get... enter into such things. And they are going to finish this Bombay [Mumbai] of yours very soon if you allow these people to go on strike. It's stupidity, absolute stupidity and it come from the Western people, it's not from Gandhiji. Gandhiji didn't tell you to fight for money. Did he? He asked you to fight for swāTantrya.

And today if he was living, he would have talked about Sahaja Yoga, I am sure of that.

But the problem that exists with us is that we don't want to see that this machinery is now shaking.

We have to have another system, a parallel system that will crush this stupid machinery, which is taking us downward and downward and downward. A girl must have ten types of sarīs, ten types of clothes she must wear, like a Kashmiri girl; she must wear like a Punjabi girl; she must wear like an English girl.

What is the need? I mean, we used to have... we are rich people, I should... very rich, we used to have only two sarīs. And one for, thevni as they call it, one for some special occasions. And we lived well, we educated well where attention was learning and attention was towards God. But the attention, when it gets lost it fritters away. It gets lost. It gets fragmented. There's no continuity in it. It fritters away and a person becomes a superficial person, extremely superficial. He cannot go deep. How can he feel his spirit? The superficiality makes you, absolutely, a person who has sort of a crust and nothing inside, absolutely what we call the hollowness, kokhlapan, completely hollow. If you just break that man, you find out he is not a man of character. He is not a man to be dependent upon. He is not a man who talks good of others. He will try to pull you down. This is what happens to your attention and you become extremely, extremely low-level human being. You'll be surprised I went to four villages before coming here and the people who were there, were five times more than Bombay [Mumbai] people. They came, they didn't have cars, nothing; they didn't have buses. They came walking. They came on bullock carts. And such a big crowd and all of them got realisation because, thank God, they don't know English language.

And these nonsensical ideas that we have got from the Western culture. We are not to compete with them. They have to compete with us. They have nothing to offer you. You have to stick onto your ideal. But instead of that, we have learnt all the bad things and all the bad traditions like taking dowry, torturing our women and doing all these things, which do not at all look civil. In that we are not modern.

In that we are not modern; in that we are very very primitive. But it was never so before. Nobody used to torture wives. We never knew there was a dowry system in India. Nobody knew it. It is absolutely something we cannot understand from where it came and I discovered it came from the English only.

Because they said we should be very, very balanced about our children. And we should not give only the money to the boy. They'll just quarrel but we should give it to the girl also. Because, you see, the whole inheritance will go to the boys, the land will go to the boys, you must give some money. That was sensible but we have gone to the extremes now and all these problems are coming before us, which we call as social problems. Then we have problems, which we call as emotional problems out of family problems. Now if you want to follow them then I would like to give you the picture how their family lives are.

So that you'll understand that you just stop having all those ideas into your heads. The family picture is like this: That a husband and wife get married, so-called. Within say a year or so, they are divorced. Then in one lifetime they'll have eight husbands and eight wives, at least. Then they all land up in the orphanage in old age. The children are in the orphanage. The father is in the orphanage and the mother is also in the orphanage. All the mothers, fathers, everybody ends up in orphanage. There is no love. There is no feeling in England itself, I was feeling, but it is only in London. Two children are killed by their parents. There's no compassion. There's no daya. There's no karuna in them. And that's what today happening to us also.

Our children are going the same way. Our parents are going the same way.

So as My mother always used to say, “lakshya kuthe?", where's your attention? Where is your attention? So you would say that no, my attention is nowhere. Nowhere means what? Should be on God. Where is your attention? Should be on God. Devā kade lakshya thevā. Keep attention towards God. Where is your attention? Even when they taught music they used to say, “first think of God." Anything they did, think of God. When you think of God, you don't think of other nonsensical things but sensible things. And that is how our... our attention frittered away because when the attention comes out it attacks the modern, because there's a challenge. As a result of that fight the attention breaks into fragments. There is no... Fragmentation is there. Your attention is not collected. You don't know where you are, where you are moving. You can't see anything; you don't understand. You ask them one question, they don't know. They've forgotten.

What is your father's name? “No, I don't know what's my father's name." This is the situation, which they are facing. You have no idea as to what hell they are living into. And if you want to take yourself and your children to that hell, follow them. But it doesn't mean that you go to these bhajjis and give them money, or go to these horrible Gurus. It doesn't mean that either. It never means that. You avoid that nonsense because your parents were stupid to go to these Gurus. These have started only hundred years back. We have never known such people. Before, these bhondoos we never knew. Hundred years back nobody talks except for Nanaka, who has said it that these bhondoos must be avoided. “Sat Guru che lakshan he" and all these things have been written by Rāmdāsa. But who reads Rāmdās? Because he was a Brahmin, non-Brahmins won't read. Who will read TukāRāma? Because he was a non-Brahmin, Brahmins won't read it. If their caste is such a big thing, that by reading something it falls off, better give it up. All these caste systems and all these are now so much settled into our heads.

So much settled; it was never so before. It's very surprising. And in the early times there was no caste system. There was a caste system according to your Karmas, according to your doings, not according to where you are born.

Otherwise, how could Valmiki be called a brahma rishi? And how could Vyāsa, who was an illegitimate child of a fisherwoman, could be called as the greatest of greatest? All these false ideas have to fall out and for that we have to start a new system. And a new system has to come forward through the people who have achieved their Yoga.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa Himself has clearly said, “Yogakshemam vahāmyaham", when you get your Yoga, you will get kshema. Always He has said about yogis. He has used the word yogis for that. These yogis have to come that and as you have read in the Pasayadan just now you have heard about it that the forests, forests of these great people who are kalpatarus, who are the givers of your desires, will be walking. These are the yogis. And the oceans of this talking nectar will be talking about God. These are the yogis. Others are all ordinary useless people, will be frittered away. Only the yogis will be respected in the kingdom of God. And we have to bring the kingdom of God on this earth. First in India, then everywhere. Here it is going to come.

Now people might say Marxism, this ism, that ism. TukāRāma has said ava ghāchi samsāra sukha cha kari. He said it. Same, Marx says the same. He says that the whole world should be so... such a happy place, such a happy place that there should be no state. How? Nobody asked him how. He talks of evolution. How? How the evolution is going to take place? Ask him. Ask all these communists.

They are not becoming better people. Are they? Who is becoming better? Who is getting transformed by that Isms? None of them.

Somebody is a disciple of this gentleman.

Somebody is a disciple of that gentleman.

Somebody is following this kind of a political theory. Another following that kind of a theory.

It's a theory. In Marathi as they say, “bhola cha tsa bāta bhola chi tsa kari." Whatever theories you have, you have written down on your heads. Are you going to get transformation with that? There has to, something, happen within you. If you have to get to that point what Marx has said, what TukāRāma has said. This parivarthan, this change, this transformation has to take place and that's only possible through the Kuṇḍalinī awakening. There are people who have read about Kuṇḍalinī. They come and ask Me, “Mother this Kuṇḍalinī that You are talking about, people say that this Kuṇḍalinī can give us madness, this that." Even they have said that six, sixth chapter of Gyāneshwari should not be read at all because it deals with Kuṇḍalinī. Naturally, because they don't know anything about it.

So it is better not to deal with it. But Kuṇḍalinī is the Shuddha Icchā, is the real Icchā, is the one that is going to give you that what you are born for, is going to give you. After that you do not want anything else.

It's not like the economics that you want today this, tomorrow that and it is never satiable in general.

It gets completely... the thing that you want is the entire source of satisfaction. But is the movement is upward; the Kuṇḍalinī doesn't go downward towards the gravity, towards the matter. It comes up. It moves upward and pierces through this Fontanelle bone area and you get your Self-realisation. This is what you should ask from any Guru. All the rest of it is useless. How can you pay for it? Can you show rupee to that Kuṇḍalinī? It's a living process of the living evolution, which has to take place. You have to achieve the epitome of your life by this. How are you going to do it? Are you going to do it by standing on your head? Any living process like a sprouting of a seed, how do you do it? You put the seed in the Mother Earth. And She has the power and She just sprouts it. In the same way it has to happen that it should sprout. In that same manner it should sprout spontaneously. Sahaj. Saha, with, ja, born. This is born with you. To get this Yoga is your birthright. Get it and for Indians it's a special blessing that they get it very fast. Just like their independence, without any effort. Without much struggle, I should say. Others have struggled much more than us. When you get that you also loose it very fast.

So those people who understand Kuṇḍalinī understand the essence of everything and they understand that all the religions are on one essence. They are the flowers of the same tree. Stupidly we are fighting here. Christ has said those who are not against us are with us. Who are those? Christians don't want to find out.

Now they are after Christ's life. Hindus don't want to know about it. There is no greatness of art.

I would say now, there was a problem in Aurangabad and the people attacked. They should not have attacked. All right. But we have to understand what has happened in this one, where we have gone wrong. We should see our mistake. In a masjid, whatever it is, it's a God place. It's a God's place and in a masjid if they are meditating, you should not make noise. If you are insulting that, you are insulting Viṭṭhala Himself. In the Viṭṭhala mandir you have a different type of Ār.ti, all right, have it. In that Ār.ti if somebody starts doing discotheque dance, how will you like it? In the same way if that is a place of ibādat, is a place where people are praying in a Dhyāna. Just now we are so quiet, we are sitting in the surrounding horrible noises, but everything is quiet. That's why we are enjoying. And if that is the way they want to meditate, must we go and disturb them for something that some boys are troubling and all that? Can't we respect it? To show our greatness, khorpana, must we do that? Is it very important that at that time we should take these besura, betāla bands in front of that? Why don't we see that we also must respect whatever is God, everywhere? This is the mistake we commit.

In the name of religion we insult God Himself. When they say “Allah hu Akbar” they mean Virāt, means Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa Itself. If you come to Sahaja Yoga, you will know that they are all related to each other. That Mohammed Sahib was nothing [but] a maha medha. He was the Dattātreya Himself. This is the Medha and He is settled down there. I know He was given poison and He was tortured. And the same thing, when we do it by saying that Mohammed was wrong. He was not wrong. Who was wrong? Are the Muslims. Who was wrong? Is the Hindus. Who was wrong? Are the Christians. They are all against all these prophets, all these great incarnations and bringing bad name to them.

Let us start understanding. Let us start respecting. Let us be great. Let us be noble. Let us be higher people of affection, compassion and understanding. Let us be those people. Let us start. Let us start a nucleus like that. If you can do it, we can make all those who have gone down also pull back all of them upward. It was built in this country, this system. Whole thing was built in this country that we should ascend. Very beautifully done longtime back but was lost in the deluge of modern life.

So people should take to all the traditional things, which are beautiful, all the traditional games that are beautiful, all the traditions that give respect. If you loose the sense of respect, you have lost the humanity, absolutely hundred percent. If you do not know how to respect, you are not an Indian at all. You are not an Indian.

Don't call yourself an Indian. You must learn how to respect. Respect gives you greatness. It makes you humble, like TukāRāma said, “anurenu uni thodkā, tukha ākāshaye vadā." When he becomes smaller than anurenu then he becomes ākāshaye vadā. In the vadāt tree the seed is so very small, if you see that, it's a extremely small and the biggest tree it creates. Once Shastriji said that even the small thing can do great job. And that's what we are seeing. That a small thing, only when you become humble, then the grace of God surrounds your humility, surrounds your personality. And you become really a personality that has authority of God. That is the greatness of God, in that humility it works, it just works.

After realisation, the attention becomes enlightened. By that attention, looking at people you can raise their Kuṇḍalinī. Only looking at people you can cure them. All your powers are expressed in your attention and you don't get lost in the matter. Then you become the Bādshah. Bādshah is a person who doesn't mind anything; he doesn't need anything. As you know, I am born in a rich family and My in-laws are also rich. My husband is rich and all that, but I can live there, I can sleep there. I have lived in the jungles. I have lived along the rivers. I have no problem because, why do I want anything? Nothing can dominate Me. You can sleep on the stones. You can do what you like. But that's only possible when you become the yogi. When you become the yogi, you can do it.

These four hundred people, who have come from abroad, come from very rich families, very good families. And they have got all the comforts that you can think of, but they want to live under the sky, near the river. They just don't want to see the cement on top of their heads. They are so much, now, in the higher level that they don't want to see anything that is gross. They want this mud. They want this beautiful clay of this country. Kya deshachi māti bokha lagait. Tithe baslāt tumhi. You are sitting on top of that; and what are you doing? Your attention, where is it? Where is your attention? You must keep your attention to God; and once that is there, you'll become a yogi. And once you become the yogi, you will be in the realm of God, in the kingdom of heaven. When you'll be blessed with everything, you don't have to desire. It will just before, you will not know how to contain all that God has given you, the kshema that He gives you.

Apart from that, your attention itself will be such a powerful instrument that you can change the entire universe with that. Why I beg of you?, Because you are Indians. You are born in this country because of poorva sukrutās, because what you have done in last life. That's why you are born in this great country.

But it's like those who have teeth don't have the chanas to eat and those who don't have teeth have got the chanas. It's like that. The situation is very bad. You are the ones who can become the greatest yogis, but you do not. But the Western people, who do not have any idea about holiness, about auspiciousness, nothing they are so ignorant, they shoot off much faster than you can.

So I have to make a humble request to you that do not get enamoured by this attention that goes to any matter. But matter itself is made by God.

So despite the fact human beings got involved into the material advancement, it is today helping us in Sahaja Yoga in a very great way. For example, this mike is important, is also useful for carrying My vibrations. It carries vibrations. Camera shows all the light around Me and shows all the kinds of forms I have.

So whatever you may try, the Divine will sparkle through that matter also and will establish the existence of Divinity. But if you cut out the Divinity out of the matter, you will be hit hard and you'll be submerged in the greater ocean of ignorance and filth.

So keep Divinity at your heart and then deal with matter. And then you will understand what is the use of this matter and what one has to do with it.

Tomorrow, in Hindi, I will be talking about the rest of it, about the truth because today I've talked about the Chit. Tomorrow I'll be talking about the truth. Sat-chit-ānand. And third day I'll be talking about Ānand to you in Marathi language. I hope you will sit down and meditate on what I have said. I do not want to condemn any culture as such. But I want to protect you from what has happened to that culture and where it has gone, to bring you back to your own great culture, which came to us in thousands of years. Their culture is very, very, very new, it's very new and one day they will also have the same culture as we have. But why not we short circuit it and adjust ourselves to this great culture, which is so much God oriented, not money oriented, ego-oriented but God oriented? Let us all attain that state of yogi. I hope today it will happen to all of you and that you'll all get your realisation.

May God bless you.

[While serving tea, the maid accidentally spills some on Shri Mataji's sari. She fills very bad. Noticing her discomfort, Shri Mataji pours the whole cup on Her sari:] See, I spilled it too! Don't be so upset, its such an old sari. I was going to give it to you. Come now, pour Me another cup.

[Shri Mataji changes Her sari and gift the old one to the maid; it fact was a brand new one.] [Thereafter, Shri Mataji lives for the, Public Program. Half way through, it is discovered that a Sahaja Yogi staying with Shri Mataji was left behind. Even though it was getting late for the, Public Program, Shri Mataji instructs the driver to turn back and pick him up.]

Please be seated.

Madras [Chennai] is known for perfect rituals about Pūjā. And that is how in the growth of our awareness, even towards God and towards the rituals, we have moved from reality.

As they say the tree of awareness grows downward.

So in the West it grew towards materialism, grew towards something that was filthy, went down and down. But as Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has said the roots are in your head. But in the Hindu religion it didn't go that bad, in other religions it did, but not in the Hindu religion that bad. But what happened in the Hindu religion.....

[Lions Club invited Shri Mataji to Kolkata and they were anxious to woe the wealthy business community.

But Shri Mataji wants to reach the masses and the, Public Programs are finally arrangement in the open lawn of Safari Park.] God does not understand money. A seeker cannot be measured in terms of money but by the depth of his seeking. In Sahaja Yoga what do you need money for? You cannot raise anyone's Kuṇḍalinī with money! No doubt, money is a big attraction, but not in Sahaja Yoga!

Shri Mataji [in the car]: You start making the poem and I'll start listening to it and then we'll see how it develops.

[So the poem is created in the car and so was the music, very popular music from the Indian films, because Sanjay Talwar, a relative of Shri Mataji, was not able to create anything at that time, being new to Sahaja Yoga.] Let's hear a song! Sanjay Talwar [amazed]: Mother, how did You know I sing? [Shri Mataji does answer.] Shri Mataji [after he sings]: It's so beautiful; there is so much love in it. How would it be if you could portray your love for the Divine with the same emotion? Sanjay Talwar: Yes, of course it can be done.

Shri Mataji: Then let's change the words of the song.

It's your Swādhiṣhṭhān Chakra, the Chakra of creativity, that is lying dormant within you.

So, what's really happening is that this is opening up and the seat of knowledge is coming back. As you talk, as you create, as you are being asked to respond, it's coming out.

So just let it come out, just let everything flow.

Sanjay Talwar [experiencing that flow and then some words started to come out]: My God, are they coming from me?

Shri Mataji: Yes, you are the source of energy. And it's the Chakras. If they are open, this energy just starts flowing through you.' Shri Mataji would often say when She heard this song, Jago Kuṇḍalinī Ma, that if people understood the meaning of the greatness of Sahaja Yoga

Contents: 1986-02-20*, Public Program (English+Hindi), Day 1, The Essence of Gītā, Shankar Lal Hall, New Delhi, India

[Shri Mataji talks in English:]

I bow to all the seekers of Truth.

I am very happy that this book is now published and a subtler side, a deeper dimension of `Gītā' is being brought, to the readers. As Kṛiṣhṇa was a great diplomat and understood that human beings are very clever and they cannot accept truth in a straightforward manner. He, in His advice to Arjuna used His diplomacy and the essence of His diplomacy is always specially of the defined, Divine Diplomacy which He used that give absurd conditions and solutions to such difficult people who are so proud of their limited intellect. That's a difference between a father and a mother I should say. As we say in Hindi “Sidhe Hāth ghee na nikle tho tedhii ungli karni pardti hai" [When we can't take out ghee with straight finger, we have to bend our finger. Famous proverb implying that when we can't get a work done in a straight way, we need to bend our ways].

The first and foremost thing we have to understand that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is a Divine incarnation and He came at a time where we needed to understand what is the essence of Dharma. For example I have been quite surprised the way people explain Him as far as the hinsa is concerned. That Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa preached ahinsa to such an extent that we have to look after all the mosquitoes of Delhi. Such absurd things people have deducted by what Kṛiṣhṇa tried to emphasize in Śhrī Gītā.

When the war started, Arjuna actually became nervous I can say and He said, “I would not like to fight My own kith and kin and My Gurus." So Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa says, “They are already dead, they are killed. Because they were not enlightened people, are already dead people their eyes are not open. Whom are You going to kill here? Just You have to remove some people from this Earth to establish Dharma." Now the idea of Dharma according to us is some sort of a Hinduism or Islamism or some sort of a ism; it is not. Dharma is the valency in a human being just like carbon has four valencies; Dharma has ten valencies in a human being. And when a person falls down from there then he loses his powers as a human being.

One of the examples He said at the time of war, Karna the great generous man very well known for His great virtues was caught up by a wheel of His chariot and He could not take out His leg out of that chariot. When Arjuna faced Him and raised His own Gandiva and Karna challenged Him saying that, “I am a Vira", a chivalrous person, a person who is fighting, “and You are another warrior and in Dharma when I have no weapons on Me, You cannot kill Me with Your weapon." That time Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa pointed at Him like this and He said, “Kill Him. Where was His warrior virtues when Draupadi was insulted? Draupadi's insult was the greatest sin that was committed and what was He doing at that time?" And Arjuna killed Karna. This is Dharma. He's called as the Leelādhara, the one for Him the whole world is a play. And that's why He says that already they are killed. That doesn't mean that you start killing people, becoming violent because you do not agree with some people. Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa can say whom to kill. You have to be a realised Soul to understand why Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa had to ask Him to kill and why the Goddess had to kill so many demons.

But the idea today is, we should try to be sympathetic towards also demons and the devils who are spreading `asuri Vidyā' everywhere. And we should be sympathetic with all the people and there is good in everyone. That is not Kṛiṣhṇa's message. He showed His love by killing the demons. I don't know in this book if I have talked on this point or not because he had very limited subjects, which he dealt with and I didn't want to pressurize him with some new subject matters.

But there's one thing definitely, which I didn't say there which is a very important point one should try to see. That the awareness, `chetanā', the awareness, grows downward of a human being and the roots of the tree of the awareness are in the brain.

So one has to take to `urdvagati', means the ascent and not to the descent. A human being is born in the Bhava-sāgara, which is as we call in the void, as you can see here clearly in Sahaja Yoga. Either he can go upward or he can go downward. Now see the, how the human awareness has reached `adhogati', is a downward descent. Very simple to see if you understand what Kṛiṣhṇa meant that the roots are in the brain? When I've been in the Western countries I realise it's much more because they are supposed to be advanced, developed, sophisticated, educated, intellectuals, whatever you may call them. I've been to all Communists countries and all the democracies and all kinds of isms. What I realised that exactly what Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa had said that asuri Vidyā will take over. The descent of awareness is seen clearly in those countries. Thank God we are not that advanced.

The descent starts from the Nābhī Chakra as we call it where a person starts seeking the food this that and other requirements, then it starts moving downwards. The essence of the Nābhī Chakra is `Swāhā'.

`Swāhā' is the consumption. It consumes everything, it aggresses everything, consumes, just like the fire.

In the same way once upon a time these developed countries spread all over the world started consuming everyone. Ruling our country, China, all kinds of countries, they went round all over the world. Thank God Columbus missed his point otherwise we would not have been here. He went to America and you cannot find aboriginals unless and until you enter into some far fetched places like Peru. Then the consumption of money on the economic ground started. Then the consumption of the Mother Earth started at the `Bhū' level. But the `Bhurva' is the `Antariksha' in the whole Universe. We are going to the Sun, we are going to the moon, we are going to this, we are going to that. What about going inside in the ascent? Now little bit they are seeing it that there's intelligence also plus the energy. But you are seeing it from the outside. That's the intelligence of God Almighty, whether you like it or not.

So now we are going to the `Antarikshas', we are going to all these Universes to find what? So the `Bhurva' is the essence, the `Antariksha'. Awareness reached there also. Then it has gone further. In the Sahaja Yoga we can say that from Nābhī Chakra they started moving downwards towards the Swādhiṣhṭhāna, which deals with the Antariksha, with the Universes, which was created by the Creator Brahmadeva. Below that they moved again, comes the Mūlādhāra, which is the essence of human life, which is the support of human life. For which Christ Himself has said, “Thou shall not have adulterous eyes." I have yet to find real Christians of that kind who do not have adulterous eyes. And that's why people have gone to now nothing but they have become sex points, I can tell you. The whole awareness of your intellectual movement has gone to nothing but to this filth beyond Gaṇeśha. You have left everything that was holy, that was auspicious, much behind and crossed and one step forward and the hell is there, the hell.

Where our awareness is going today? But we have not thought of the `urdvagati' that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has said. Giving lectures on Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, having bhajans about Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, makes no difference. What about the urdvagati? In the sixth century a great saint Gñyāneśhwara was born. In the sixth chapter of Gyāneshwari He's clearly described, is the Kuṇḍalinī, which is going to raise you higher, very clearly, openly He said it. Of course as usual everybody tortured His life. He didn't have sometimes water to drink, that's different.

In the sixth chapter when He described, even today in Maharashtra it is said that sixth chapter is tabooed. You are not supposed to read the sixth chapter of Gyāneshwari. Why? Because they don't know a word about Kuṇḍalinī and they don't know how to ascend? Because it is the knowledge of the roots you have to go to.

If you are honest please try to understand that what Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has said that the roots are in the brain and the awareness grows towards `adhogati'. He did not say precisely that Kuṇḍalinī is the one that gives you the urdvagati. He did not say; that was not the time. At the time of war when He was talking about Dharma, He did not mention the word Kuṇḍalinī doesn't mean that there was no device behind it.

Mark said that we would like to have a country without State. How? How will you have? I've been to most of the Communist countries I think the state is very powerful.

The democrat said that we would like to have a free nation. Free? Abandonment. It is demono-cracy they are practicing. If you want to deceive yourself and all the time, accept something that is falsehood nobody can help you. But the time is precarious and is important that we should see to the truth that the name of democracy and the name of communism and the name of capitalism is just a myth. It has not given what it had promised.

So let us come back to the Saints, to the deeper people, to the people who understood life beyond life. There we find the urdvagati, has to be, the ascent has to be achieved. How, is the point? Then later on Mohammad Sāb also has talked about it, not that He has not talked; He's talked about the Resurrection. He said that at the time of Resurrection your hands will speak. Who's bothered about that? The whole Namaz is nothing but Kuṇḍalinī raising. But it leads to another kind of stupid fanaticism.

Christians are sophisticated fanatics. Hindus are another type of fanatics. Everybody is become a fanatic because it's all a dead flower. All these flowers grew on one tree of life. They've been extracted, taken over as mine, mine, mine and they are all fighting about it.

So it's only the Kuṇḍalinī awakening which is going to give you your Self-realisation and this Self-realisation is going to let you know that you are a part and parcel of the whole. It's not just a mental conception. This is the point we miss every time.

All these democracies and capitalism and all these theories are mental projections of human beings. All these mental projections are nothing but your own jails, your own bondages into which you are caught up.

You have to get out of it. Even to such an extent that people start saying that Ādi Shañkarāchārya did not write Saundarya Lahari. Who says that? Intellectuals again. What makes them think that he did not write? They have explanations for everything. But he did, which we can prove after Self-realisation. How all the essence of all the religions are so much one can be proved only after Self-realisation and not through discussions. Because Self, the Spirit, is the absolute and is the collective being, that is not the awakened within us. One may say that why Buddha did not talk of God? Because he knew human beings very well and he said, “No use talking about God, better talk about Self-realisation." Same with Mahāvīra. But what are the Buddhists and Mahāvīris doing? God alone knows. Where are they? But today is the time as described in the Purānas many, many seekers are born on Earth. A special time is a time of real blossOm Maybe in the olden day there were only one or two flowers like Nachiketa.

But today is the time when thousands are there just to become the fruit. But unfortunately a market has been opened out where the seekers go and get lost. Get lost into the convictions and the ideas of some other person which is gone into their heads and they just finish off there. Their seeking finishes off there, they end up as sick or obstinate people. They do not want to go any further.

Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is to be understood in Sahaja style. Leelā, He was Leelādhara. In the Sahaja Yoga we believe that on the left hand side, the left sympathetic nervous system is represented by the `Iḍā Nāḍī', which we call as also the `Chandra Nāḍī' and the right hand side it is represented by the `Piñgalā Nāḍī', the right sympathetic. The left we use when we desire. The right we use when we act. The left is the `Bhakti marga' [path of devotion] and the right is the `karma marga' [path of action] that they used for doing all kinds of yagñyas and all that. The central part of ascent is the `Suṣhumnā' is the path of Dharma.

`Dharaiti Sa Dharma', means the one that is your sustenance is the Dharma. It's not an outside concept but an innate nature of human beings is the Dharma. This Dharma we have achieved through evolutionary process, as you know `matsya rūpa' and other things took place. And afterwards we are today human beings. But why? Let us ask a question, simple question to ourselves `why are we here on this Earth? To seek what? To seek the truth and what is the truth?' The truth is that you are the Spirit. Not this Bhakti , not this Karma. But you are the Spirit.

Now Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa's diplomacy can be seen very clearly, if you want to see even, even without Selfrealisation.

He says for Bhakti [devotion], “patram" [leaf], “Pushpam" [ower], “phalam" [fruit], “toyam" [water]. All these things you give it to Him, He'll accept. But see the diplomacy on one word He has played the whole people and nobody has seen the point. What does He say? He says that you have to do `ananya Bhakti '. `Ananya' shabda [word] itself means, the word itself means when there is not the other; means you are a realised Soul. Logically let us see what does it mean? If there is no connection with God whom are you praying to? The connection has to be established. You may go on describing God as a myth, you may go on supporting Him doing anything you like. But you have not yet been connected with Him what are you talking? Something in the air. `Ananya Bhakti '.

Now about Karma, see the diplomacy. If you keep your mind open as a scientist you'll see My point clearly. For that He says that do your Karmas but put the fruit of your doing at the Lotus Feet of the Lord. This is the absurd condition; is not possible, cannot be done. Before Realisation you cannot do this.

Many people come to Me, “Yes Mother You know whatever we are doing, we are putting at the Lotus Feet of the God", black marketing, everything. What does that mean? That you put it at the Lotus Feet of the Lord, that you are no more there. It's only after Realisation you realise, that a Sahaja Yogi would tell you, he doesn't say, `I give him Realisation,' he doesn't say that, `I am moving his Kuṇḍalinī.' What he says, “It is not moving, It is not coming up." There was a lady who travelled with Me to America once and her son came all the way from Honolulu, a very rich man and all those things.

So he could not get his Realisation.

So she came to Me and said, “Mother, give him the Realisation." I said, “You give him." She said, “No, no, no I cannot give him." So I said, “I can't give him either, the Kuṇḍalinī doesn't move what to do? Then give him a false certificate you are a realised Soul. He can say `born again' or sort of a nonsense he can go about, talking about." She said, “No, no how can you give such a false certificate?" I said, “That's it. If the Kuṇḍalinī has not risen if it is not broken the Brahmarandhra we cannot even say it is awakened, leave alone calling him a Sahaja Yogi." She agreed there.

You cannot give a false certificate about it. That's what happens when you do your Karmas. You don't say that you are doing it. It's done `it' in the third; like small children always talk like that. “Mother this boy Munna won't listen, is a bad one." In the third person they talk so many times you must've seen. In the same way a realised Soul always talks in the third person. That's the different world in which they have lived and they have been very, very few tortured and never understood by the people who were ruling or the people who were the intellectuals or whose who were the priests. And the public was helplessly watching all their tortures.

In Maharashtra we have a great saint called Namdev. Very great saint, Namadeva, he was a tailor, ordinary tailor and when this tailor went to see another saint whose name was Gora Kumbhar, is a potter.

The words he says is so beautiful which you can understand with little subtler feelings about it. He says, “Nirguṇachya bheti ālo saguṇashi", I came here to meet the Nirguṇa, the formless and here is standing in the form. Where do you find these talks these days? If two great meet they go with swords, with pistols.

Here he goes and talks to a potter that I came to see the `nirakara', the `Nirguṇa', the formless and here it is in the form. But he was a tailor. How can be a tailor a realised Soul? And when Namadeva went to Punjab Śhrī Nanak Sāb gave Him all the honour of a saint and told Him that He should also write some beautiful verses because He compiled the Granth Sāb out of all the realised Souls poems, that You compile the poems in Punjabi or Hindi. Namadeva, coming from such a far-fetched place He studied Hindi and Punjabi and you'll be amazed that half of His book, which is so big is in Hindi or in Punjabi language. For that you need Śhrī Nanaka who can recognize.

But today seekers run after somebody who pampers their ego, where you can pay some money, where you can befool you by getting some Rolls-Royces or some sort of a Gītā pravachana [discourse] he gives or gives you some sort of a name in the ear so that you become mad. This is the quality of the seekers, which I have to face. Whatever it is, the concern is so great; whatever is the quality today it has to happen, it has to work out. Which one now I heard to My complete surprise that now people, the intellectuals are propounding, that the Namadeva who came from Maharashtra was not the same as the Namadeva who was a tailor because he was not an intellectual.

I am talking about the unlimited not about the limited. Like in any one of your spacecrafts you have different cylinders, which explode one after another and accelerate the one, which comes. First one will explode and accelerate the second one; the second one will explode and accelerate the third one. In the same way the intellect is to be exploded to go into the space, to jump into the space, is the most important thing that the intellect has to leave its limitedness to the unlimited intelligence, which covers the whole universe. That is the `Brahma Shakti' described, that's the All-pervading Power of God, that is the power of love of God. And is such a tremendous one where Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa Himself has said “Yogakshemam vahāmyaham." First He said `Yoga'. Why did He not say kshemaYoga'? Many people ask Me in the West that how is it in Your country there's so much of poverty and that You talk that it's a Yoga Bhumi? Because we have not taken to Yoga so far. And kshema doesn't mean how may pubs you have in your village, it doesn't mean how many drunkards move about in your village, it means, how many saints there are in your country. Let the Yoga come up, you'll be surprised this great country of Bharat Bhūmi will one day show its merit to the whole world. In its reality, in its glory and in its Divinity which resides in this country.

You are great people that you are born in this country but you don't know, you have no idea as to where you are born? What is your heritage? There are people I've met very surprisingly so stupefied by Hegel and Kant and all such people that they believe that all these saints and all these great people including Kṛiṣhṇa or Rāma, all of them are false. This is the height of arrogance and ignorance both put together because they are ignorant one has to forgive them, there's no way out. God is the ocean of love, ocean of praise, ocean of wisdom, ocean of this All-pervading Power, which is so efficient, so kind, so understanding, works out everything so well. But above all He is the ocean of forgiveness I can tell you. I really tell you in My experience, I feel this forgiveness is so greatly effective today otherwise I don't think I could've managed this job so well.

May God bless you all.

As a Mother I've try to explain and express My concern. Try to understand. It is Sahaja, is born with you, `Sahaja', `saha' means with, `ja', born. It's your fundamental right as a human being to get your Self-realisation. But if you want to deny it because you have some convictions because you are following certain people, because you think this is all right we don't want to have Self-realisation. God is not going to fall at your feet. You have to ask for it. You have to knock at the door and the door will be opened.

In Sahaja Yoga we can prove today that there's no quarrel between Moses and Christ, there is no quarrel between Christ and Mohammad Sāb and there is no quarrel between Mohammad Sāb and Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.

They are all one together. As Christ has clearly said, “Those who are not against Me are with Me." Who wants to see that? Who are those? Christ was not even allowed to work out for more than three and half years. It took Me four years to give Realisation to seven English men.

So you can imagine what must be His plight? Three and a half years with all the mad people around. But not in our villages.

Yesterday I went to Jaipur; first we had a big meeting in a big sophisticated hall and all this and this, My Indian English. I was trying to explain to them and I thought it's all gone over their heads; nothing went inside or maybe under their feet. Then I said, “Let's go to a place where ordinary people live." And there I found thousands thronging together to get their Self-realisation. They don't want money, they don't want power, they don't want anything, they don't want any conviction, they want their Self-realisation. “Mā humko Ātmā bodh dijiye. Humko Ātmā Gñyān." They understand that `bodha' doesn't mean lecturing, it doesn't mean, it means on your central nervous system you have to feel the All-pervading Power, that is `bodha', that is the `vidh' which is described in the Vedas.

They understand; they live with the life, they are natural people. They know all this talking is on and on and on. They know something has to happen and the second thing they said was so encouraging, “Ke Mā parivartan hona chahiye ham mein", we should be transformed. It's not our mental idea that we have become some great yogi, this, that. We should be transformed. I said, “Not only transformed but you'll have your powers as realised Souls." By God's grace even in Delhi, which is supposed to be the most sophisticated place where after English left we became merry more, much more westernized; when they were here we were better off. And in this place also I find there are so many great Sahaja Yogis who are now completely endowed with the power of Realisation, of curing, of doing all the things that can be done as a yogi.

I hope today all of you will get your Realisation, but you have to establish yourself. It's just a wee bit of your Kuṇḍalinī, I should say like a hair comes out through the Brahma Nāḍī, but with humility, abhyase [practice], for few days you establish yourself. Of course today you might get your `Nirvichar Samādhi' [thoughtless awareness] just like that, maybe. But you'll have to establish your `Nirvikalpa' [doubtless awareness]. You must give some time to yourself and some respect to your Self-realisation and to yourself [UNCLEAR pratigya]. May God bless you.

I don't mind if you people want to ask Me any questions. Whatever I have seen is this, they are very irrelevant and unnecessarily violent. I've not come here to fight with you. I've come here to tell you that you have all these powers within yourself and then you should have it. I've come here to tell you that you to have to cross about two and a half feet at the most to reach to your spirit.

So there should be no argument, which is violent or aggressive. In one lecture as you know I cannot cover such a great subject like this and your desire to know more is understood. But the best way is to first get your Realisation.

Like, let the light come in and then we'll talk.

Only yesterday's experience was such that most of them got Realisation, few did not get and they were just talking. One of them I asked, “Why don't you talk?" He told Me, “Mā jab mast hue phir kya bole?", In another word “why should I talk? Let these people talk to You." Everybody has a possibility. You are all just there to jump into that.

Some of you might have read some horrible books about Kuṇḍalinī don't believe them. I don't want to condemn anyone. But only thing I want to say is not true. Like a open-minded scientist you keep yourself open. If it works you are fortunate, if it does not you are going to work it out again and again and again and again till you get your Realisation. But we have to coordinate.

So now if you have any questions would be better that you write them down and tomorrow I will try to answer these questions. If you like it that way I would like now to start the meditation and the awakening of the Kuṇḍalinī.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] Hān! Son I wanted to talk in Hindi only, sit down. But it so happened, I wanted to talk in Hindi only, I have never learnt English language in My life. I was studying Medicine and in that where anyone would teach English? All this, everyone speaks Indian English only. Here they think they speak English, but they don't. They write also like that. Here our big writers also write Indian English only. Does anyone write the English of Chaucer here? But we think we are English. And this Sahaja Yoga can be explained in Hindi only, even better in Marathi and more better in Sanskrit. But in Hindi the way I can tell clearly that much I can't tell in English. Now see English language is so strange that for `Ātmā' they say `Spirit', for alcohol they say `spirit' and for dead Ghost also they say `spirit'. In this language there is no `gñyān', knowledge, better than that is French language; where there is no word for `chetanā', leave alone `Ātmā'.

These are the languages that take you to `adhogati', downward movement, to tell you the truth. Now, ok if we think ourselves to be English, we may think so. But in reality if you have to understand in this language only, is a little difficult job; you have to learn some Hindi. Even otherwise I think that we should learn our `Rashtra bhasha', National language. But Hindi speaking are also strange that they cannot speak simple Hindi.

My mother tongue is also not Hindi and neither have I ever learnt Hindi. But for `spasht' [clear], they say `aspasht' [UNCLEAR]. “I would like to say unclear" What unclear are you trying to say? So Hindi people also don't know Hindi. Like this nobody knows Hindi and if I give any lecture in Hindi they say “Mother, You have spoken in very difficult language." So I say, “What difficult language can I say? I have not even read any big literature. Now I can't speak Delhi language. This you understand. Now because of this whatever I will say in Hindi tomorrow, you please keep your attention on it. And language should be correct. If I talk in incorrect or absolutely pure language you will not understand. The language should be correct. That is why I will definitely speak tomorrow but in correct Hindi. From this you will not be angry. Why because I cannot talk `kichidi' [mixed up, broken] Hindi. English I am able to speak in broken language but Hindi I can't speak. Because it is My National language. Now the English I've learnt in this birth, that is more than enough. Now I don't want to learn anymore." Now the biggest mistake in this is what I see today, that very great poets who are born now, one person by the name Kavi Krup is born in South [India], whose name you have not even heard because you Hindi speaking are like this and non-Hindi speaking are like that. But I have read Sharat Chandra. I have read all the poets, have read Bhārti, because they were all translated in Hindi but in English language those days the poets were so great whatever got translated to Hindi got done but in present days all will die of suffocation.

All Hindi poets also should understand. They write so vulgarly, they have not kept any depth for Hindi language and have not even respected it as National language. In this language such vulgar poems are written that are not even [UNCLEAR respectable/presentable] [shobhaniya] as country's language. This is the major problem of Hindi speakers. Whether you feel bad or good about it, I will tell you this that whatever you write in Hindi at least make it less vulgar. For vulgarity, there are many languages that you can use. For that there is English, even French is better than English, in that you can write a lot vulgar.

But there is no need to make people of our country more immoral. Who have become immoral, you go and see, have become monkeys and are roaming. If you want to become monkeys then you become like them. Ask Me their state.

In Hindi language many things can be told about Sahaja Yoga, lot can be told, it is very very deep language. But the Marathi and Hindi languages we use these days does not have that depth. Please learn some Hindi, all of you. And when I talk from tomorrow then you don't tell, “Mother you spoke in difficult language." OK? But when I tell I will speak in Hindi half the crowd will come, you can see. Because all `English' are sitting here. Tomorrow you see, while talking in Hindi how many people come in this hall.

All those who come in this hall are those who know English. But when I speak at Ramlila ground then many will come. Our Country's specialty is at the Ramlila grounds. There My real children are there.

Tears rolled down looking at their Bhakti [devotion]. Such simplicity, such love, such spontaneity should come in you people also.

Now there are many journalists sitting here now what all they'll write about Me. I request you with folded hands that whatever you write keep, your attention towards urdvagati [upward movement] and write so that people are benefited.

Sometime at least think of their well-being. Otherwise, “She was in a white sarī, or she was in a yellow sarī” all this is what is written in Hindi. Look at the subject with depth, should proceed with depth. Such great poets were there. See Kabīr Das, but he wrote in Sadukadi language. But in Bihar, I don't know what they tell in UP [Uttar Pradesh, India] for `Kuṇḍalinī', which is called as `Surati', they call tobacco as surti. How else can Śhrī Kabīr be insulted? And another very shameful thing I'll tell you, there's nothing wrong in discussing among ourselves: Vydasji, who was such a great saint and Kabīr Dasji, they were told “you are untouchables." And here in India they did not allow even one temple of theirs to be built. But in London in Birmingham their temple is built. Isn't this a shameful thing for us? They are untouchables! In the God's Kingdom it will be seen who is touchable and untouchable. All such things within us should be seen. From tomorrow I'll talk in Hindi only. It is decided.

[Audience claps.] Now we'll do some meditation, all of us with humility. Before we meditate just remember one thing that we are the temple of God. God has made you from amoeba to this, human being. Special class you are.

So you should have a pleasant attention towards your self. Human being should have a pleasant temperament. Not that I have done this wrong. If somebody has said anything, forget everything. All that is of no use. “I have done this wrong. I have done that, I am so bad how can I get Self-realisation?" This kind of inferiority complex you remove from your head completely. You are the temple of God. This, if I have your permission I'll tell in English also.

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] Please try to remember one thing that God has created you from amoeba stage to this stage and it has a purpose. You are like the temple of God. The light has to just come in. The light is already there as your Spirit it has to just come into your attention and you will be a realised Soul, in a split of a second.

So please give up these ideas, `I have done this thing, that thing' or `I am guilty.' Is a common fashion to say, “Oh I am very guilty" because the language itself, English language is such, at every point you must say sorry.

So many times they'll say sorry that you don't know what, what's wrong with you. “I am afraid, I am afraid, if should say such." Every time they are afraid. No, you are a human being; you are at the epitome of evolution. Just a little breakthrough and you are there.

So you should be pleased about yourself. Now there's no word like `prasanna chit' in English language I am sorry to say. But it means a person who is pleased with himself. He has got, rather difficult to translate. One should not have any inferiority complex about oneself, any kind. Neither a superiority, but that you are going to enter into the kingdom of God.

So be relaxed. You are not to be tensed; you need not go into Padmasanas and all these horrible asanas of standing on the heads and things like that. Sit in Sahaja Asana. Sahaja asana is where your legs are opened out.

Translation from Hindi Sit nicely and comfortably. But keep your neck straight, back straight and keep both the hands like this towards Me. These are the five Chakras. This is the sixth and this is the seventh. Transcription from English These are five centers, the subtle centers, sixth and seventh. On the left hand side, which is the power of desire, `Icchā Shakti'. On the right hand side again the seven of them, which is the power of action.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] You people also sit this side at least. I should be able to see. Please come this side, in front. See son please do not feel bad about what Mother says. Sit on the chair if you want but come in the front. If you are here I will not be able to see.

So place both your hands towards Me like this.

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] Now all the action you will have to do because I want you to learn as well as get your Realisation, how to raise your Kuṇḍalinī, later on.

So if you do it when I tell you, you can again repeat it, that's why. Otherwise it is all Sahaj. You don't have to worry about it but it's better to know about different Chakras. Now the first one would be that we put our left hand towards Me: meaning that you are desirous of Realisation. Now Kuṇḍalinī is the `Shuddha Icchā', is the pure desire. As you know in economics wants are not satiable in general because the pure desire is Kuṇḍalinī and She is the desire of God Almighty, which is reflected as Kuṇḍalinī within us.

So when this pure desire rises which is of Yoga, which is of Union with the All-pervading Power, then all the desires disappear. Like when you want to enlighten a light you have to use a light to enlighten it. But once you have enlightened the light, the light enlightens everybody. First you take the light, enlighten within yourself and then you give the light. You become the giver, so the desires disappear.

So the left hand is towards Me and the right hand moves from heart.

In the heart resides the Spirit. On the upper part of the abdomen on the left hand side, we are working everything on the left hand side.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] Keep your left hand towards Me and right hand on your heart. Here is the place of Ātmā. After that on the upper part of the abdomen on the left hand side, all the working will be on the left side. Guru Tattwa is there. This Tattwa has been made by many Gurus. About this I will tell you later.

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] This is the principle of mastery.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] Below that on the lower part of the abdomen is the place of Pure Knowledge, Swādhiṣhṭhāna. Pure knowledge.

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] The lower part of the abdomen is got the center of True Knowledge. It means that knowledge about the laws of All-pervading Power, of God, laws of God's domain. The whole action takes place by this center. This is the instrument that works out the laws and the technique of Divine laws, is called as `Shuddha Vidyā', is the Pure Knowledge. Then you go back on to Guru Tattwa again, then onto your heart. Later on, the center, which is, is the center here is of Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa. On the left hand side is the center of Viṣhṇumāyā of this what you call the electricity, Viṣhṇumāyā. And this center you catch when you feel guilty, for anything. That's terribly catching just now. You have to push back your hand. Now so many people make a mistake of putting the hands on this side. You have to bring it from front like this and hold it tight. Now, then you have to take your hand on your forehead just across like this and press it hard. Then on the back put pressure on your hand and push you head back. Then stretch your hand.

I'll tell you one by one everything, because you are going to close your eyes, I am telling you before hand.

Stretch your hand and put the center of your hand on top of the fontanelle bone area, which is a soft bone.

[Shri Mataji talks in Hindi:] Now I'll tell in Hindi. Lifting your hand from your heart, keep the hand between shoulder and neck joint, towards the back and press it hard. All of you do it. Today it is catching very badly. Don't know why? Let there be `prasanna chitt', pleasant attention towards yourself. Forgive yourself, forgive yourself.

Completely forgive yourself for Me; completely forgive. No mistake you have made. Now maybe something I have said in My speech, forgive it and forget it. But don't think you are guilty. Please do not think you are guilty. After that, this hand on your forehead, hold it like this and press it like it pains, from both the sides. After that towards the backside of the head, resting your head on your hand, lift your head; bend your head towards the back. Then stretching the palm fully, keep the center of your palm on the fontanelle bone area and rotate it seven times, pressing it hard. This I will tell you later. It's very simple, not difficult. Because you may have to do this later again to stabilize your Kuṇḍalinī. In Sahaja Yoga Kuṇḍalinī is awakened, but to stabilize you have to practice. Like the seed automatically sprouts, but we have to look after the sprout carefully when it is a small plant. Similarly after Realisation, what ever is individual will have to be looked after. Now please all of you close your eyes. While closing your eyes some people raise the eyeballs upwards, don't do anything like that. Straightforward manner like we sleep, bring down the eyelashes and close your eyes.

[Shri Mataji talks in English:] Please close your eyes. Without turning your eyes upward or anywhere, just close your eyes as if when we sleep. We just allow the eyelids to fall easily and keep the eyes closed. Don't keep them half open.

Now please raise your right hand on your heart and keep the left hand on your lap towards Me.

How could you build such a narrow staircase for such a palatial house. It is completely out of proportion.

It is incongruous with the character of the house. [Massive staircase is pulled down and rebuilt.] Quote 2, Variant 1: The key is balance. The pillars should be proportionately larger at the base.

Doorways should be in proportion to the size of the room.

Quote 2, Variant 2: A pillar must be bigger at the base than at the top. Entrances must be spacious and regal. A bedroom door should not trespass the privacy of the toilet seat.

I know it was not his fault but he should not have answered back like that to someone elder to him.

Contents: 1986-03-03 Conversation with Sahaja Yogis, Going from Swāhā to Swadhā, Brompton Square, London, UK.....

This was the last thing I used in My lectures, in Delhi, that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has said that the human awareness goes downward and the roots of the human awareness are in the brain. And when human beings start going downward they move in the opposite direction of the Divine. That's all He has said. He has not said more than that. Now see, what happens that we are born in the Bhava-sāgara. All right? At that point. Now when the human awareness starts growing what is the essence of Bhava-sāgara is swaha and the aim is swadha. Swāhā means consumption, consumption of all the poisons, consumption of everything.

And swadha is the one, means the swa is the Spirit and dha means the one that sustains.

So the Dharma of Spirit when it comes into you, then you become a Guru.

So in the Bhava-sāgara it is swaha and swadha.

So from swaha you have to move to swadha. If you come to swadha state then the Mahālakṣhmī is awakened within you and you start rising higher.

So it is called as [urdhobati] going to the ascent side. The descent side is called as [adhobati]. Now adhobati starts you see when, because to go down is very easy, first of all. Secondly when you are on the steps, on top, you see the steps very nice you see done with, I mean that nice platforms to go down but you don't see the heights. You just go down, easily.

So the first step you come onto is the Swādhiṣhṭhāna. But before that the step of the Nābhī, which is swaha, is the consumption, it starts acting in the awareness.

Then you start consuming, say, attacking other countries, taking those countries and going to them and overpowering them and getting other.

So it's the imperialism, what you call that, that kind of a thing starts. Thank God Columbus went that side, as I have said many a times.

Now, when you have done that, then you start also digging out your Mother Earth and consuming Her things and through your machinery and all that, you start doing. Then the second point is that when you go little lower then you go into Swādhiṣhṭhāna which is [antariksha], which is called as [bhurwa].

Antariksha means all the Universe, universal.

So you start going to the stars; you start going to that.

I mean, it is of no avail, unnecessarily. You have to go within. You have to go higher. You have to go [urdhobati]. But you start going to these and feeling very happy. “Oh, we are going to moon” you are going to sun, you are going. What are you going to get out of it, [that] I don't know.

And when that happens then after that you come to Mūlādhāra. Awareness has to grow. And once you come to Mūlādhāra then you start, I mean, absolutely depraved, or you become perverted. You start all kinds of funny ideas about sex. I mean, you don't know what to do with the sex: eat it or dump it or do what you like. And that's how you become. And one step forward and you are in hell, direct.

So that's how the decadence of all these. I mean, if you see the television or anything you don't know what all these people are [UNCLEAR processing/proceeding] going from bad to worse. Idiots, such a [doom] idiotic like [Helshan] marrying the secretary, all this nonsense, is idiotic. This idiocity comes in because of this downward movement. Now, so you go downward and go to hell and finish off.

Now when the human awareness little bit tries to go upward also without going through the Mahālakṣhmī process, then it comes to the heart where it is manna, is the, is the heart. And then you start giving your heart to this person, your heart to that person and all this romance and all that.

So you go like that and again you come down. But when the steps you start from downward first step when you start what you see is the height, you have to rise. To what? To your innocence, to your chastity and you rise on that.

Then you see the, going upwards you see other things while going down you see other things.

Now then from there you go to the other higher level of bhurva, is the creation. Then you become creative. You see to the esthetics. See, that's why they don't understand esthetics. I am not surprised that esthetics are becoming bland, nonsensical, funny. Absolutely this has no meaning. It is not connected with any creativity. Human creativity has gone down. It's all machine creativity. We go to plastics, this, that and we start appreciating all that is modern. We cannot appreciate anything that has been and which has been, that could be better. Instead of that you are accepting something so insipid and so horrible. Because of bhurva, means that is the, you come to the [prithvi] Tattwa and you start becoming materialistic. You become materialistic, money-oriented, at the Nābhī Chakra, absolutely money-oriented, no Dharma, nothing. No Dharma at all, because swadha is not there. But while going up, you, you, you get esthetics. You become esthetically rich. You understand esthetic, because you feel the vibrations of the thing. Anything you appreciate, you appreciate this house because you have vibrations. Without vibrations you would like to have something, what you call a insipid place, some funny looking, jazzy, nonsensical, what you call that, disco-like place. I mean, that's the end of it, disco-like place. Imagine; imagine a disco compared to this house.

Then you go higher, go onto the Nābhī. Then at Nābhī point what becomes is Dharma. You enjoy your virtues. You enjoy it, enjoy to be virtuous. And then you become swadha. Later it becomes a Guru. You go to the heart. Then you become compassion. Expands, it expands. Why? The downward movement makes you smaller, smaller, smaller, till you become a sex point and then to hell. Then it expands your heart, then it expands your heart. You become compassion, love, generosity. Then janah, janah is higher.

Now the same awareness, human awareness, when it goes on its own it becomes political orators, political this, political that, is janah, is going to the public. Janah is here, because he's Virāta.

So you become attached to things where you have a popularity, which is very cheap type. There's nothing deep in it, you see. Like Mrs. Thatcher coming now [UNCLEAR], Thatcherite and Thatcheram and all kinds of [things] are coming out. Then another is this [UNCLEAR Hilton/Heath]. I mean, not only in this kind of, Reagan, this, that; all of them are horrible.

So that happens. That is trying to solve some issues. This should not be done; that should not be done. But there's no peace. Peace has to be established. That cannot be established by this.

So that also, such people who are politically motivated, they also go down, up to Viśhuddhi Chakra.

Then here, when you rise, is the people who say, “Oh, we must sacrifice this. We must do this and we must achieve this through sacrifices." Tapas, tapas they do. Like going to wars, this that, they also follow.

But here is tapasya for God. And then you will come to Sahasrāra. Sahasrāra is Satya, is the truth. You discover the truth. You will have to know truth here, because these are the roots. And that's what you have got it. You've got the truth, [now and here]. And that's why the people here, the decadence can be understood. They don't understand colour, you know. Even they said, My, say for My bathroom, “This thing is", I am very particular in bathrooms, “should be white." It's ivory. What's wrong with ivory colour? Even that they don't have.

And now the faces they are painting white, trying to look pale. Just imagine, like death. Like walking like deaths. They don't like colours. How will they have flowers? Nature is full of colours. Don't do, they don't like any colour. Even they don't like, say, transparent things. They want to have it coloured white.

Ghastly is that is. They all look ghastly, don't they? And why these people appreciate? Because there is decadence. No colour, nothing, just insipid. No designs. It's terrible. It's terrible things are happening.

Out of that you all have come out. I must thank you for that. The way you have risen, you see, from that low-level atmosphere. Such a low-level atmosphere, think of it. They will die out. Like hippies came, they died out, they're finished off. The other will come; they will die out. But those who are rising are the people who are important to us. I mean, imagine, you think of the hippies, where, where would they be? Absolute complete decadence, absolute, finished with them. Wearing rags, this, that.

There's a Hong Kong fellow who is selling jeans.

So I said, “What is such a specialty about your jeans?" He said, “You see, these are washed in a dryer, in a, in a washing machine, in which there are stones." So I said, “Then what happens?" “Then it becomes, you know, a little oldish." They put stones and the stones are sold in the market. Such idiocity, I tell you. And they are the most expensive jeans. Such decadence, such decadence. While you have to go to your head to Sahasrāra.

So this you know that is possible through Kuṇḍalinī; there's no other way out. Kṛiṣhṇa didn't say about it because He didn't know whether Arjuna would understand or not. But in a way he did. Did you get the book, Gīta Enlightened? It's nice.

Sahaja Yogi: No, I haven't seen that. This is of Yogi's?

Shri Mataji: Ha. I'll give you. We inaugurated it. I'll give you. When I come out and then I'll give you. I've got upstairs in My room.

Contents: 1986-03-05 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, God's Shakti is the Power of Love, Wimbledon, London, UK

It's such a great thing to meet your children after such a long time and that this country was really pestered with cold so I had to come here, I think just to keep Me warmer with love. It's a very heartening thing to see so many people who are in England, who are Sahaj Yogis. As you know England has to do tremendous effort to keep Sahaja Yoga aoat; not only that, but you have to set in examples for others.

As England is the heart of the universe, it circulates. Whatever example you set in, circulates. People try to follow you. As I've told you before also that English people should not try to follow other people, but establish their own proper character, but not to be insular by which you don't appreciate anybody else or you cannot understand international relationships; that we are one world and it's only one great Virāt in whose being we circulate. Moreover for the from the heart have to be much more open and moving and giving because that's the job of the cell of a blood that passes through heart and that's how you are made specially for this.

I've been speaking after you finished your tour on a subject in India but I think it is more related to us here in the West than to Indians. And that is something we have to understand that we are in the midst of terrible conditions, horrible conditions which are taking us to hell and if you realise how important it is, come and sit down, how important it is for us to get together and save this area which we called as the Western world.

So I've already given a little talk which you may hear when you have this seminar or this Shiv Pūjā.

But I would like to tell you about it, that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa long time back told that the roots of the awareness are in the brain. But the human awareness grows downward. That's how we have grown downward. We have grown towards things which if allowed to grow that way may take us away completely from the roots.

Now if you start, say, the movement, as I said from Bhava-sāgara, from the evolutionary process of going downward. Now in the Bhava-sāgara that is in the viscera, the stomach and all these places, we have a capacity, what we call as of consumption. We can even consume the poison. The liver can consume the poison; it has the capacity to consume the poison as heat and then it delivers the heat to the bloodstream, I mean the water of the bloodstream.

So the capacity we have to consume all those things makes us, what we call Swāhā. Swāhā means consumption and from this consumption, when we consume all these things; we consume our ego, we consume our conditioning, we consume our all those things which are detrimental to our growth, we become Swadhā. Swa is the spirit and Dha is the Dharma. We get the Dharma of the spirit and you know what is the Dharma of the spirit is, is Sahaj, Sahaja.

But when we start going downward only with our awareness, from the Nābhī Chakra we start moving downward. What happens to us that we move to the second position of Swādhiṣhṭhāna and the Swādhiṣhṭhāna has got the essence, I mean, has got the capacity to be Bhuvah. Bhuvah means the whole creation, the universe that is created, that's how we get creativity through Swādhiṣhṭhāna.

So when we start moving downward, what happens to us, we go to all the stars and the planets and all that are created, that's what we are doing, wasting our energy for nothing at all. But apart from that in the wrong way when we move, our attention goes to creativity which is destructive, which is negative, which brings death, which suggests insipidness. Like the art today is, when you see the art you don't know whether to vomit, to run away or to cry.

So that explains why people are producing such horrid things and when you look at them you don't understand what is this going on.

So the art, the creativity in every way, the creativity of every kind becomes so horrid.

So the third stage is that we go to Bhooh. Bhooh is Mother Earth. Mother Earth is the one which also creates Śhrī Gaṇeśh. Now when we go towards Mother Earth we start extracting Mother Earth, taking out all that is precious, that is needed out of proportion because we have got machines. Now we have got machines, so we must produce. The machine must produce more and more and more, out of proportion.

It should go on and when it wants to continue, it has to go on that way so that you feed the machine to produce more. Now this production is useless. There is no need to have so much production for us.

You see plastics after plastics, then there's nylons after nylons, then there's all kinds of polyester and I don't know all kinds of things that they have started producing. All man-made nonsense that they have.

There's no need to have so much. But then we go on accumulating things and that's how we become extremely materialistic people. Actually to be materialistic in the real sense is that we understand the value of matter. And the value of the matter is aesthetics. Artistic things, real artistic things and beyond that is the value of matter is that you can give love to others. Through that matter, by giving as presents, by your generosity.

So you lose that also, that power also you lose. That is, you start extracting your Mother Earth in such a way that you don't know what to do with the acid gas that is coming out of this productions and then all your trees are getting destroyed. It's so destructive, the whole thing is so destructive.

So then you move to the essence of Mūlādhāra which is innocence. And when it is innocence, you start attacking innocence. Now you read horrible things, when you come here, I got the jitters when I heard about the six year old girl and a three year old girl, I just can't bear it. Supposing that was My child what would have happened to Me and it's My child, that's how I feel. Then we are attacking the innocence everywhere in every place and we have no sense of Mūlādhāra.

That's how we go down and one step forward where do we go, into hell. That is our movement. We're going towards hell, straight forward, our movement is towards hell, because I've explained in that little talk, you can hear it again. That when you see the steps, you see the downward steps, then you'll just see the platforms which are very good, maybe of marble, very attractive, very sensational, whatever you may call it. And you feel like going down, it's easy to go down with the gravity because you have come out from amoeba state, or even earlier from carbon stage, so you feel it's easy to go down. It's much easier to go down, so you go on stepping on these steps and go down. You don't see the heights.

But when you're going higher, rising higher then you start seeing the heights. And when you see the heights what do you see from down below. Absolutely this is our task. From the hell we have to pull out people up. It's hell and this is what we call as the Adhogati, going downward. Adhogati, going downward.

We have to take to Udhovagati, going higher. How do we go higher. Only Kuṇḍalinī is the way. That you can see clearly. Even people who try to go higher without the Kuṇḍalinī, say from Nābhī upwards, how do they do it. They go up to Mana, this is the emotional side. That's the motherhood and you go against the mother. When you go there what you find that you get attached to this woman, that woman, then that thing, it goes on to this family, to other things and again you come down.

Then you go ahead, you go into Janah, it's the one which is what we call the public, the others. Janah is the public, is the Virāta's place as you know this is the Virāta's place. And when you go to that place, to Virāta's place, what happens to you. That you start becoming very conscious of yourself, “Oh, I'm a public man, I'm a public person, this is my reputation, I'm this and I'm that." And then you start exploiting people with your politics and all other things like that. And you develop your egos, all kinds of nonsensical things.

With your Mana, from your Center Heart you develop also your conditionings. And that's how you develop a funny personality which is not Udhovagati, which is not going higher, but is actually giving you additional problems on your back. Then the third thing is here at the Āgñyā, as I told you, you develop your ego.

The other day, Patrick rang Me up to say, “Mother, why are we developing our Āgñyās so much nowadays." I said, “Stop reading newspapers." The prime ministers are fighting for their seats and this and that and if you read newspapers you'll also feel that you are a prime minister, you'll better fight it.

And when you see a picture or any drama sometimes you get identified and you think, `I'm Napoleon myself.' So don't read newspapers, don't read these mad, about these mad people who are just trying to overpower each other.

Like this Marcos fellow. The other day somebody said that, “Mother, you get rid of this Marcos." Now he's out.

So many will be out but what about us. Do we have some of them within our heads. Do we also have the same ideas of materialism or ego or all these trips that these people have had.

So as a result, when you see these things, on the contrary, you should try to avoid it and jump on to Udhovagati.

Then you go higher. From there in the head is the Sat, is the truth. That's what you discover, truth, should discover in the normal way. But in the abnormal conditions when you try just to climb up to the brain, what happens is that whatever you know through your mental conception becomes the truth.

Everyone is like that.

See about religion you'll find a person believes that this is the truth. `Now this is the truth, I am the one who represents, say, Christianity. I'm the one who represents Mohammad Sahib. I'm the one who represents Nanak Sahib, I'm the one who represents Śhrī Rāma, Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa.' None of them represent.

It's just a concept and with that concept if you move about like that then what happens, you just get stuck on to that idea. That is how fanaticism comes in as far as religion is concerned. There are many, many things like that, “This is a concept and that's the tract and that's the truth and that's what I believe in this." Why do you believe in that? Who are you? When they say, “I believe” just go and ask them, “Who are you after all to believe in that." That's Mister Ego, that's also. Then there are people who are conditioned. And that's whatever is their conditioning they think, “This is the conditioning, this is the thing I am brought up, this is how I have lived and this is how I am and this is what is the truth." Both things are absurd, mythical. That's not the truth.

So when you start through your Udhovagati, through your Kuṇḍalinī you see the height. You see that.

Now we have to rise, we have to rise. Rise with our innocence. We have to get to our innocence. We have to be innocent people. But even in Sahaja Yoga you'll find some people, I'll call them sometimes like monkeys, jump from Udhovagati to Adhogati. Adhogati to Udhovagati. You don't know which side they are going. You have to hold on to these steps which you have got.

First is the innocence. Your morality, as you call that, or the chastity. That's the first step you have to achieve. Unless and until you achieve that step how are you going to go further. But it's the other way round. They think if you tell something very truthfully to Mother, “I've had five love affairs, I have had six abortions, ten this thing, then Mother is going to be very happy with me” because they've told the truth. That's not the truth, that's not what is wanted. Are you now a chaste person? Have you got the ideas of chastity and Dharma. That is the second step you can move into. Aesthetically, are you rich aesthetically, are you generous? Can you appreciate the art of every country? Or you just say, “Oh it's not good because it's not English” or “It's not good because it's not French” or maybe it's not from Wimbledon, come to that point. I mean, what is happening to us, we're becoming so insular, so small, so narrow in our outlook, that's impossible. We cannot appreciate another person at all. You ask anyone, everybody has an opinion about others, what about yourself? What is your opinion about yourself, can you laugh at yourself? And when I'm giving lecture we also sometimes think that Mother is talking about somebody XYZ, not about me. That's not so. We have to project to ourselves and find out, `Are we in chastity? Are we in Dharma?' Have we achieved that, have we achieved our innocence? Have our eyes achieved that innocence, that simplicity, that power? So then we move upward higher on the Bhuvah state where we have to know, are we aesthetically equipped? Do we have proper aesthetics? In our behaviour, in our dress, in our lifestyle, everything or are we still going on with the same things. Like some hippies when they come to Sahaja Yoga, it's impossible to make them understand that, “No more hippies now." Then some come from another group, another funny style, then they have the same style of behaviour. No, Sahaja, we have to be in the Sahaja style which is a common style for all the Sahaja Yogis all over the world to dress up decently, to talk decently, to have sweet words; no harsh words, no anger, no temper. Nothing of the kind, but very, very gentle and a dignified personality. Now here some of the so-called dignified also can be very bhootish, I have seen that, they can be very dignified and they can be very inauspicious.

So the, another quality of innocence, which is auspiciousness or we can say the combination of innocence and Bhuvah state is auspiciousness. Does your house is auspicious, gives auspiciousness? Does your countenance give auspiciousness? Does your talk is auspicious? Is it a mantra when you talk? Have you purified yourself so much that everything that you do, every movement that you have, is auspicious? Is it blissful to be in your house? To be in your company? To be with you? Is it blissful? Let us direct ourselves to ourselves and see that are we blissful? Are we emitting vibrations that are good? It's a very tremendous task because you have to do it. You have to do it, nobody else is going to do it. If you want to save this world, you must know it's a tremendous task and one has to go into a Tapah for that, to know that you have to be pure people. Otherwise there could be hypocrites.

There are many who are Sahaja Yogis and not at all Sahaja Yogis. Sahaja Yoga is not for hypocrites at all. You cannot be hypocrite. You have to be what you preach, what you say, what you understand and what we stand for. It's not like this, “Oh I'm a Christian, all right, I'm a Christian, but it's all right, I can have adulterous eyes, all right, it's after all, you see it's all allowed." Then what else? “Oh, I can drink, smoke." What else? “Oh, I can also kill some people, doesn't matter, you see it's all allowed, Christian after all." How are you a Christian? “Then I'm a Hindu, you see I'm a perfect Hindu, but doesn't matter, you see if I try to discriminate between Sikhs and Hindus, doesn't matter." How, why? There's no discrimination allowed in Hinduism, no discrimination of any kind. Everybody has the same Ātmā. How can you discriminate, how can you have dowry system in a Hindu society? How can you have any system of, caste system in a Hindu society? You cannot have, just cannot have. It's not the religion.

So they speak one thing, do another thing, all hypocrites and all fanatics. And that's how they become fanatics.

Like you ask Bishop of Canterbury, he says that, “Holy Ghost, I don't know, I'm agnostic about it, I'm doing my job, that's all." This kind of frivolous attitude or we can say a very hypocritical attitude is not for the Sahaja Yogis. They have to be what they're preaching, what they're standing for. They cannot have that kind of a personality that one can say, `Oh, I've seen this hypocritical fellow, calls himself Sahaja Yogi.' We can't. There has to be somebody who is genuine, who is real, who is truthful. We cannot live with that kind of a compromise, we have to be what we are, because we have got the light of the spirit.

So then you go ahead and you have to become the higher personality of a Guru through consumption.

Consume, how much I consume. Go on consuming all the time. This time I came, I'm consuming your left Viśhuddhis, I'm consuming your viruses, I don't know. In two days I must have consumed oceans and oceans of troubles. No, we don't consume at all because if somebody says something to us we must come back with a harsh word, somehow or other to kill that person that is finished forever, that's smartness. We can consume all that. That consumption is taught by Christ very well. Can we consume? No, we come out with big, big talks and big, big things, you see, “We must do this, we must do that." We're not here union leaders, are we? We don't want to appear in the newspapers or anything. What we want to consume, we are here to consume things. Newspapers are to, say, advertise, expand it. We're here to consume all that is bad, you follow your responsibility please. Consume that is wrong. How do we consume?

Through meditation, through prayers. Now this is happening in this country. What are we doing about it? So we have to consume it, not to get into explosions, not to get into expressions, but to consume it.

Then you become Swadhā. Swadhā is that you become the Dharma of the spirit. Swa, Dha, you sustain that Dharma within yourself. Then you become that. It's not any kind of hypocrisy about it. You just, I mean, if I say, “Don't drink." You shouldn't drink wine. I don't drink at all, no question, I mean, you cannot make Me drink, even if you want to. If I say, “Don't tell lies” then you don't tell lies, you don't just do it because you have to just say that way, or you say that, “Don't kill." I cannot kill anyone. I cannot be tempted. In the same way you all have to be, `I cannot do it, I cannot be tempted. How can I be tempted?' Say, I shouldn't get into tempers. I shouldn't be angry for nothing at all. For the slightest thing, people just jump into a temper. That means, I should not be tempted to do it. That wisdom, that dignity, that balance, that poise must come into a Sahaja Yogi. Unless and until that comes into you who's going to believe you that you have achieved the transformation. You're still on Adhogati, sometimes into Udhovagati, then going into Adhogati, again to Udhovagati, you're jumping from one to another.

So now you move on to another higher level, is from there to what you call the Mahālakṣhmī Tattwa starts where you start jumping on to a much higher position where it is Mana. Mana is, I said, is emotions. Your emotions become compassion. Now see the difference between emotions and compassion, is very different. You see, when the tree hasn't got flowers, it takes, when it gets the flower, it gives. It gives the fragrance. In the same way, when you become the compassion, you give. You don't expect how others treat you, how others behave towards you. But you think, by giving, you'll be no other person, you give. And that is what you have got to give compassion through your vibrations. But to have that you have to be Swadhā. Unless and until you have that you cannot give vibrations either.

So then all these smaller ideas, “It's my wife, my husband, my child, my house, my this, my brother, my sister." In the beginning everybody comes up with the whole family list. They may not have seen their father for ten years but they'll come, “My father is sick, Mother cure him first. I've not seen him for ten years, doesn't matter." So every person becomes a liability on Mother that you must, all the relations, all the great grand parents and all the great grand children must be cured by Sahaja Yoga. But there is no compassion. And in compassion you do not see these relations like...

So when you become the compassion, before this you are to be enlightened. You're to be enlightened, you have no light, you don't know how to go up the path. You don't know how to go round, you don't know how to know others, you don't know where you're sitting. If in a group, you put off the lights everybody starts sort of hitting each other or trampling over each other because they don't know. But now the lights are on.

So you know how you are related to each other. You're under the light. You can see each other.

You can feel each other. You can understand each other. That's how the compassion works. Compassion works automatically. You don't have to do much about it. But know that you have to be compassion. But if you are still are a person wanting others to love you then it won't work out. How much did you love them? Is your love for another person is doubted? Do you doubt? Then you're not compassion. In that love you may even scold the person, you may even shout at the person. But the love should be there for the benevolence.

So the compassion should be for the benevolence of the person. If you're not benevolent, you have not been compassionate. Like spoiling somebody, spoiling your child, spoiling your wife, spoiling your husband. This is not compassion. Compassion is a pure ray of beautiful light of God's love which gives benevolence to another person, hita.

So that should happen to you when you talk of compassion. You go further with the Janah, public.

Those people who cannot carry on with Sahaja Yogis are absolutely useless people. These are the cream, these are the best people in the whole world. Of course some are like these, doesn't matter. But they are the topmost people, they are the people wedded to such high ideals. Where do you get anybody with idealism. You go to the UN, you go anywhere you find people, they've no idealism of any kind. It's only for the job, only for the money, or this or that. They are working there. You are the people who have idealism, you are the people who are striving for something higher, you are the people who are going to save the whole world. And those who cannot carry on with Sahaja Yogis and find faults with Sahaja Yogis are really no good for us. They should get out of Sahaja Yoga.

What is your public, is first and foremost is Sahaja Yogis. The rest of them are outsiders so far. But your attitude should be that you have to pull them out. You have to emancipate them, you have to be kind to them, you have to be compassionate and you have to bring them to Sahaja Yoga. You have to be extremely nice to them. But more than that you have to be very, very extremely nice to Sahaja Yogis. I can't understand Sahaja Yogis being nice to others and not to their own clan or you can call, whatever you may call it, to their own brothers and sisters. When I see Sahaja Yogis together loving each other, being kind to each other and also giving some good news about each other I feel extremely happy. That's one of the most joyous time for Me. When I find that you are giving...

So then you come to the point where you are in the public, you are in the public. You've to circulate now, you have to articulate in the public, you have to move in the public. You're not only for a secluded, some group of Sahaja Yogis, you're not that. But you have to articulate, you have to circulate. Now for that, what should we do. You have to understand that we have to form other groups, other things by which we can circulate.

Let's see now in England we can form some societies. Let's form some society which are not, which are not are what we call them as the Sahaja Yogas, because you are different from them.

So now let us form some societies. We form certain societies, say let us form a society where we talk about the decadence of this country; how the decadence has come in, why it is there, why are we spoiling our young children, why are we behaving like this. Let us see. Let us start a society under this name. Let us start a society which will fight all social problems, like let us I said in India, let us start a society which is against dowry system. That's how you'll circulate with them and later on when they come up to a point they will see your character and then you can talk to them about Sahaja Yoga.

Like these women have, what is that called, women lib and all that. That's nonsense you know that very well. But they have formed the society, so they're there, they're circulating. We have to have sensible, wise people forming a society, so from Sahaja Yoga group we have to move to societies, where you need not talk about Sahaja Yoga, you need not tell them there's emancipation, but let us circulate through them and let them know about Dharma, forming no religion as such. It's inner religion as we have, just without any religion you can start it.

So that's how you meet the public. There are many such ways, which you can think, by which you can meet the public. And then you have to know you are the part and parcel of your Mother.

There are three things asked from God, that there is Salokya, that, “Oh God, I wish should be able to see you." Salokya. Samipya is, “Oh God, let us have your company." And third one is, “Oh God let us, sort of, have a rapport with you." Rapport with you. These are the three things are asked from God. But the fourth thing that has happened to you is Tadatmya, means you have become part and parcel of My body. As a result of that you have to keep your body all right. You have to be pure people. You have to be sensible, otherwise I get into trouble.

It's a very venturesome thing I've done, doesn't matter, I don't mind. But you people look after yourselves. You be sensible people and when you have funny ideas in your head, know that these funny ideas can trouble our Mother very much.

So out of love for Me, you have to keep loving yourself. And you can love yourself only if you have pure intelligence to know what is frivolous, what is nonsensical, whatever is a-Sahaj.

So you move like one body, always support each other. If one person is troubled the rest of them should help. That's how the collectivity is going to work out, not to criticise each other, to sit down and just to show off.

So then you rise even higher to this state of Jesus Christ, Mahāvīra and Buddha. Then what do you have to do? Is Tapah, is the penance. You have to do the penance. Like living in Brahmapuri was a penance, I thought, but you all enjoyed it bit too much. Or Ganapatipule, you thought it was too much.

Some people did do some penance by sitting in the sun. But penance means you should be able, penance means sacrifice, sacrifice. Without feeling the sacrifice. Do the work as a sacrifice. You're bound by work.

We have to work. Human beings have to work. But the work that is a sacrifice is the most nourishing thing, is the most joy-giving thing. That's what happened. In Brahmapuri I must say it was very spartan.

It was both for you and for your hosts. It's quite a funny place to live in and one snake crawled into somebody's shoes I'm told. But still you all enjoyed it because you didn't feel the sacrifice. It was in a way sacrifice for both the parties I think, your hosts and the guests. But you still enjoyed and that's what it is. Now you will enjoy your sacrifices. Apart from all other virtues you'll enjoy your sacrifices. That is one of the quality of the spirit, because you're so detached. You'll enjoy it.

So that's how you come to the state of Tapah.

The last is Satya, is the truth. That is what is in the brain as Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa has described, are the roots where you have to go. Of course, the doors are open to you. You must know that you know the truth.

You know the truth, nobody else. Are you aware of this? That you are the only few people under this roof who know the truth, the rest don't know any truth whatsoever.

So you have to be compassionate to them, because they're blind, they can't see. As we are kind to the blind people we have to be kind to the people who do not know the truth. You know the truth. And the truth is that you're the spirit. And then you know through all miracles that you are walking in the kingdom of heaven. That you're blessed by God and that you're looked after by Him.

So many miracles happen, so many of these that suggest that you are really looked after by God Almighty.

So many beautiful things have happened to you. Just think of them one by one from where to where we have come. From down below hell rising up one by one, step by step, now we've come to the brain. Thanks to our Kuṇḍalinīs that we have come up there. That the Mother has brought you there. This Kuṇḍalinī which is your Mother has brought you there.

Respect Her. Respect your realisation, respect each other and know that you're higher than billions and billions of people of this earth. You're special people and as that you have to behave in the most humble way, respectable and a loving manner. I say love is the highest. Everyone who has developed it, language of love is working out God's wish. Because God's wish, His desire, His icchā, that Shakti is the power of love. We work out everything with hatred. “What's wrong with that person, what's wrong with that house, what's wrong with this association, with that?" That is all hatred. But let's see what's good with that, what's nice, what's joyful. When your eyes turn that way, when your attitudes turn like that then you must know that you are Sahaj Yogis.

For that Christ has given us a big weapon called forgive. Forgive, forgive. And the truth is dawned upon you, you know the truth. Through your vibrations you know, through your vibratory awareness you know. But, there is a very big but for which I have to tell you again and again and I'm telling you again today which is the most important thing for a Sahajyogi is to use your vibratory awareness. They don't, they just don't use their vibratory awareness. In judging others they never use their vibratory awareness, then how do we say they're special people? Because you have the same eyes, you've nose. What about your vibratory awareness. Did you see the vibrations when you did something, you did not? That's why the mistakes. Because these vibrations come as an indication from something that is your spirit which is an absolute thing, which is in absolute state. It is not relative. It's absolute, so whatever information it gives you is absolute and you should take to that absolute understanding. This is where we miss.

So today just before Shiva Pūjā, Shiva Pūjā is the Pūjā of the spirit within you. It's the spirit within you. And for this Pūjā specially you have to determine that now we will use our vibratory awareness to judge something. “I think” is not there. “I think” is a wrong idea. I know through vibratory awareness.

We have to develop a word for this, which if it says, “I feel” could be something nonsensical. But you really, as they say that in Marathi there's a word, zani. It's a feeling but is a new awareness. Through this awareness, this Divine awareness, through that you have to judge everything, to know everything and to do everything through that. This is what we have to use. And when we start doing that then you will know that God is working out everything for us. It's so simple, life becomes much simpler. All your complications, all your angers, all your troubles, all will vanish as soon as you start using this. Because it is such a universal thing and such a benevolent blessing. It just makes you wonderful. You become a wonderful personality, happy joyous, straightforward, open-hearted, fearless. Absolutely enchanting.

May God bless you.

Contents: 1986-03-08 Shivaratri Pūjā (Marathi), Pune, Maharashtra, India

This Puṇya nagari is called as Pune but in our scriptures, it is known as Puṇyapatnam. The Puṇyas of the entire world are flowing through this Puṇya Nagari and you all are the carriers of those Puṇyas. It is a great Divine coincidence that you are having the Pūjā of Śhrī Shiva who is the source of Puṇyas in this place.

Unless and until a person gets the Shiva Sthiti [state of Shiva], unless and until he gets his Selfrealisation, he exists like a blind man. Any human belief is illusory like a shadow and man spends his entire life holding onto and following that belief. Until one attains the Ātmā Tattwa, he cannot know the essence of the world. Not only that, he cannot know the essence of even his daily life and daily routine.

This Shiva Tattwa [Essence of Shiva] is reflected in the heart of every human in the form of the Spirit.

Without knowing this reflection of the Spirit of the Universe which is in the heart, we cannot understand even the thread that binds the Creation. We keep walking in the dark and do not understand each other, do not recognize each other and do not have any understanding that is absolute. We are under illusions in that darkness.

To get this Absolute Experience, we have to take to the Spirit. Only the Spirit can give us this experience in each and every nerve of our body. Without the power of the Spirit, we cannot get that which is called as `Vid' in the Vedas in every nerve of our body.

Whatever we may say today like `let us end caste discrimination' or take those things known as `issues' like international issues concerning `destruction of all bombs' or `a single country in the whole world' or any such thing, how much ever we work it out on the outside, yields no fruits. The reason is that the person who made this or the humanity that made this, is still not on that level where it can understand the oneness of the Universe.

The Spirit of the Universe is present in our heart. Through this Spirit, we can know that this universe has been made by one God and a small part of that same God is present within all of us as the Spirit.

On the outside, how much ever we say that we are one and we are all brothers and sisters, it remains superficial. Now the Spirit is sitting in our hearts and only when the light of the Spirit comes into our attention, we truly understand that we are part and parcel of one Body.

Now, we have established the Vishwa Dharma [Universal Dharma]. It rests only on those people in whom the reflection of the oneness of the universe is present. If you make anything like this outwardly then it does not bear fruits as it does not have the nectar of Truth.

So, first of all, the Spirit has to be completely awakened within us. It is awakened but its awakened state should come into our attention. People say that it is possible to achieve that state by working on the outside but I feel that it happens from within. This awakening can come only from within. This awakening is the awakening of the Kuṇḍalinī.

The Kuṇḍalinī Shakti within us is in a dormant state. When She rises then, just as a spark in a stove gives light when in contact with the gas, the entire attention gets enlightened. Until this light spreads in our behaviour, in our lifestyle, in our society, in our country and in the entire world, there is no use of being a Sahaja Yogi. Your nature might have become peaceful by this light within you. Perhaps your mental state or physical state or material state would have become alright. In spite of that you have not got the Shakti of Shiva. By this Shakti, we understand the oneness of the world. This understanding is not mental but the experience comes from within that we are one. This is the most important quality of Shiva that he is spread all throughout the universe. His work is so full of understanding and wisdom that he knows everyone.

For example, if we light a lamp, then the flame does not know how far its light should go or to which place its light should go. These thoughts don't come to the lamp. But it is not so for the Spirit. Once your Spirit is enlightened, then it starts flowing through your hands as Chaitanya. Its enlightened intelligence that flows through the Chaitanya tells where you are going wrong and where you are going the right way.

This means that the intelligence of God starts flowing through the Spirit. Also, all the work in the world which is done by God flows through your hands now and works out. That's why first of all, we have to take to the Spirit, take to Shiva.

Now we have to see, how we can go to Shiva on the outside. We get to know the Truth through the Shiva Tattwa. That's because I told that all the Shaktis in the world are as if they are flowing in one body.

Due to this, no matter what happens where, you can know the truth through collective consciousness. You can know the Absolute Truth which tells you what is true and what is false through the Spirit.

The special quality of this light is that when it comes into the heart, man gets drowned in Joy. Waves of joy start flowing in his body. His intelligence, his behaviour all start shining. A special personality is awakened within him who is charming and who has great principles. A person who comes near such a personality gets emancipated. He takes to the righteous path. All this happens spontaneously. The company of such a personality itself works out such a thing.

Such a personality is always immersed in joy. There is no duality to joy, it is absolute, which we call as Nīrānand. Absolute joy means that it does not have happiness and unhappiness like two sides of a coin.

The person is in an absolute state and this state is the state of joy [ānand]. In this state he is like a witness who just sees the waves of happiness and unhappiness like a person sitting in a boat sees and enjoys the waves of the sea. Once you attain this state you understand what the waves of joy are, what is the comfort of joy and what is the kingdom of joy.

Despite achieving that state we do not get fulfilled with joy. The reason is that the one who is the source of the Spirit is the Spirit of the Universe.

So until we take this joy to every shore of the world, we cannot get completely one with this joy. For example, if a flower falls into the sea, then it floats from one shore to another. That is the path it takes and that is what it enjoys. In the same way, once a person gets into the kingdom of God, he feels, `Whose heart I should touch?', `Whom should I tell?', `Whom should I meet?', `Which country I should go to?' and tell them to take to their Self-realisation.

So, until we attain the Universal status [Viṣhwa swarūp], we can't say that we are realised Souls.

Those who call themselves as Sahaja Yogis are still holding on to this caste-creed thing. They say, “Marriage should take place within our caste” “our caste” “our this" and “our that." We have to come out of this limitation. “We are Indians” `We are Englishmen” “We are superior, you are inferior” “e are from north, you are from south” all these distinctions have been formed by man, not God. He created these different countries only to give variety to His beautiful Creation. But the human mind is always looking to create classes and differences.

So, now there are Pune residents and there are Bombay [Mumbai] residents. Within Pune residents, there are Sadashiv Peth residents and within that also, people might be classified based on the well they have. A Sahaja Yogi should not live in a well but he should be like a flower in a lake. The Sahaja Yogi who is still living in a well like this should understand that he has not yet taken to Sahaja Yoga completely.

So first of all, we must acknowledge the form of the Universe within us, only then we can get to the Shiva Tattwa.

Through meditation, we can understand how to get to this state from the outside. When we meditate, the attention should be on ourselves, not on others. We should look at ourselves and see what thoughts are coming into our head. What sort of beliefs we have built into our minds. “I am this” “I am that” “I am from this caste” “I am from that religion” every person thinks himself to be smart.

So you should ask,' Am I involved in all this? Am I a citizen of some country or some small street in some city or am I a citizen of God's Kingdom?' When we pay attention to ourselves in meditation, because we are now connected with the Spirit, as soon as we put forth this question, the light of the Spirit will shine before you and you will be surprised that `No, I am part and parcel of one world.' Why don't you feel that a small drop should dissolve into a great ocean and enjoy? Instead why does the attention go into separating the molecules and atoms of that drop? The reason is that many things ego, superego etc. have developed in the mind of man.

So because of all this, his intelligence or his mind has developed certain limitations. He is not capable of breaking those limitations. He does not have the strength to overcome these limitations (Maryādās). ` What will my society say?", “What will my parents say?" So to destroy these limitations, Ādi Shañkarāchārya said that “I don't have a father nor mother, I am Shiva Tattwa." This means that in Shiva Tattwa, there are no limitations. He is Amaryad [beyond limitations], eternal. I am Shiva.

So he who is this Ananta Shiva, should not even think about such petty, limiting things. Even if such thoughts come, he should not feel bad that “why didn't I do this?", “I am from this religion or that." So, all these limitations arise within us because of our beliefs or the things that we believe in. From childhood, we are taught which caste is bad. Once it sits in our head, then it does not move. Once these conditionings set in then even if someone tells us, they don't go. But once you see the joy in the light of this Vishwa Dharma, then you feel, `Why was I indulging in these false beliefs like a fool?' When this state comes, we can say that our development is towards emancipation.

So, first of all, our intelligence must be completely enlightened with the light of the Spirit. The darkness present in us should go away and for that we have to simply pay attention to ourselves.

Suppose, there is a very angry person and he is short tempered since childhood. It may be so because in his childhood, the environment was such that he had to be hot tempered.

So suppose that he was troubled by mother or his father or there was some other reason.

So, if he is still troubled by that anger then the sword of the Spirit has not come in him. This sword is that of Love and is decorated with flowers.

So the third thing to be kept in mind is that Sprit is the embodiment of Love. Only love. But we need Self-realisation to understand that love. “ Ātmānneva Ātmāna drishtaha" means only through the Spirit the Spirit can be known. It is like this, if you don't have eyes then you can't see your own eyes in a mirror, in the same way, if you don't know the Spirit, you cannot understand the swarūpa of the Spirit which is love.

The main form of the Spirit is that it is a storehouse of love. It is love. But this love is not the love that we know of. This love does not have any greed or lust, any pressure or any expectation. This love flows eternally and the benevolence in this love is worked out. While giving this benevolence, the Spirit does not have any jealousy and does not pressurize anyone. The working is spontaneous. Once this love starts flowing in a Sahaj way then you will be surprised to see that everything works out by itself and you don't need to do anything.

First we have to see the kind of love that we are giving to someone. First of all, it should be unconditional.

I will give a small example. I bought some sarīs from America. Then I told someone that “See, I have brought eleven sarīs, so find some ladies to whom I can give these." So he chose his mother, wife, daughter then sister-in-law and relatives like these and gave Me the list.

So I told him, `It is alright if at least the surnames are different... How did you find so many people with the same surname?" Then he told, “Mother, I know them that's why I gave their names." I said, “Is it so? But aren't you a Sahaja Yogi? How don't you know others?" So I called someone else and he did the same thing. I was in a dilemma as to what to do.

So the love has to be unconditional. Now, how does this unconditional love look like? Wherever there is a feeling of `my', like `my brother,' `my son,' `my wife,' there this unconditional love does not exist.

Now, whatever relation you have with someone is there but you should not stick to it. I have given this example many times that if the sap in a tree sticks to just one flower, not only will the tree die but also the flower will die.

So this unconditional love flows everywhere and gives a person whatever he wants. Now see, all of you are sitting here and we have this electricity here. This electricity is flowing through the small lights, the big lights, the videocamera, this mike, the fans etc. whichever device needs it, it gets the electricity. Does it stick to any one device? This power does not stick to one place.

But when it becomes living then it starts sticking. Especially in human beings.

Sometimes I say that man should be called `chikku' [sticky] as it fits him. He wants to stick to everything. Any small thing happens, he wants to stick to it. This stickiness takes away his power and deforms him.

First it is “my son, my son" and finally it is “Mātājī, somehow get me rid of this son, he is ill-treating me." So, even this gets cured, it is not as if it does not get cured.

So we must know that this unconditional love should be present in man. If it is your child, then fulfil your responsibility, there is no need to have any expectations. Secondly, don't say that it is mine.

Tomorrow, if someone else's daughter comes to your house then you must know to love her also. Then you are unconditional.

This is the beginning but the joy that comes out of spreading your love to the whole world only God can describe. It is in His love that He has created this universe. In fact, this Creation is like a headache.

First create the world, then make human beings, then they come to hit you, they behave like mad, then you make them alright, give them Realisation, even then they run here and there like mad, then somehow make them sit and tie them up and even then their heads are going here and there! But all this is a play for Him as His love is unconditional. The only thing is that God does the Bhakti of Love. He is in the joy of Love. His joy is that “I Love." He resides in that love. He does not think that he hit me or he said something to me. He says, “I have love for you, do what you want." This is the quality of God. This quality when it comes to Sahaja Yoga, is called as Nirapekshita [without any expectations].

But we don't see this. If you behave rudely with someone, then you continue with the same thing. You can't get rid of it.

So, it again becomes stickiness. If you are behaving in a nice way with someone else then you continue to do so but with the first person you still behave rudely. Suppose two brothers had fight before coming to Sahaja Yoga, then even in Sahaja Yoga they continue with the same feelings. Then why did you come to Sahaja Yoga? To get to the Spirit. What is the Spirit? Spirit is the source of love within you.

So we should accept it and enjoy it. We should accept it this way that whatever is there in me is for the Bhakti of the love of the Spirit. Let the Spirit do as much Bhakti of love as it wants. Nothing like, this is my body, mind etc. but let me see and enjoy the Bhakti of the Spirit.

Most importantly, we should know that we are sitting in the court [darbar] of Love. Hatred, anger, attachment all are the same. I don't see the difference between a person who you like or don't like. They are the same. The only difference is that one seems good and the other seems bad. But both types are the same. Love should be unconditional.

Secondly, love should have sweetness. If someone gives two slaps on another's face and says,' I have slapped you in love.' That's not love. Moreover there are certain customs like if you meet a person then he continues to shake your hand till half its weight is reduced! What a way to meet! But there is nothing in the heart, it is all superficial. In that superficiality, they shake your hand saying “Oh I am so glad to meet you!" and you are only worried about when your hand will break! But there is nothing in the heart.

The love should be in your heart. The love should flow from your heart. It should not be superficial.

Sometimes because of this superficiality, man fools himself into thinking, `Oh I am such a good person! I am so loving and behave lovingly with everyone!' If it his business, then obviously he has to behave nicely with people.

But in love, a person is extremely sweet, both inside and outside. Inside and outside. He is compassionate.

Even his harshness seems sweet.

So until this sweetness comes into Sahaja Yogis, no one will be ready to even believe you. There are too many people in our country who give lectures, who give big talks and the common man is tired of it. In every street you can find such a person. You will get many such in Pune itself. But do we get any satisfaction out of it? It is all false, superficial.

So, the love needs to come from the heart.

Now I get many letters saying, “Mātājī, let the love flow from our hearts." Now how am I supposed to do that? First open your hearts. I will tell you how to open your hearts. Start with a small thing. Make a list of the people whom you love and whom you hate. Then write a loving letter to the ones whom you hate... [laughter] very difficult thing! Extremely difficult! Write to them saying, `I remember you a lot as you are great.' It is ok even if they are not, nothing wrong in saying so! Then say, “I will feel very nice if you send an answer to this letter." Try it out. It will work out because the Spirit has made you capable of that love. There should be no superficiality. He should not feel that, `Oh, today he has sent a good letter so tomorrow's is going to be horrible. This first letter is an introduction to what will follow!' So, you should send a heartfelt letter full of love. Send to those people whom you hate or feel bad about.

But start with Sahaja Yogis. Firstly, they should be Sahaja Yogis. But you will be surprised that when you write for the first time, there will be at least one line expressing that anger of the past.

So write one more, then a third and after a hundred letters, there will be at least one letter where this anger is not at all expressed.

We should open our hearts to the person with whom we are angry. We should see, what he did, am I also doing? If you have done, then what is the need to be angry? If he has behaved like that then I won't behave in the same way. In reality, you must love him.

Now, in our country, so many problems are there because we do not know the real concept and definition of love. One of the main problems is that of the women's status in our country. We have both types of women in our country. The third type I have not seen, if I see it will be a lot better. One is dominating and the other is submissive. There is no one in the middle. The one who dominates sits on the head and the submissive one goes under the feet. Due to this, the society has become extremely strange. The society goes on torturing the submissive one and goes under the feet of the dominating one. Then, unknowingly, you are committing a very great sin. The sin is that God cannot accept the torture of a woman who is forbearing.

There are many such problems. Now we have this caste problem. In order to get rid of all these things, we have to see, how much love we have.

This love has been described by many incarnations.

[Aside:] This child is unhealthy please take him to the back, I feel that he has some negativity, he is not able sit in front of Me. Take him slowly, no need to hurry.

So, how many people can we cover with the cloak of love. How many people are close to our hearts? The other day, in Bombay [Mumbai], I asked a question that men generally feel that their friendship is much deeper than that of women, so I asked a man, who is your friend? He told, “This gentleman here." I told, “Really, but just now he was complaining about you to Me. How is he your friend?" So the friendship in which one friend does not see the bad qualities of another, if it deepens, then your heart opens up. Next, is the generosity. Generosity means the power to give. Your Mother is famous for Her generosity but you try being generous. If you have five sarīs and another woman has less then just give her a sarī and see. If your heart is open then you will have the good fortune of getting a hundred sarīs. We should have the power to give. Go on giving.

This generosity starts in Sahaja Yoga when people's hearts start opening out in Pūjās. They say, “Mātājī, I have made this kheer [a dessert made from rice] especially for you, this Puran Poli [another dessert] I have made especially for you." This is the beginning. But if you make the same thing for another Sahaja Yogi, then I feel more joyous. I feel extremely joyous when you distribute this love amongst yourselves. When you say something nice about a Sahaja Yogi, I feel very joyous. When you praise him then I feel extremely joyous. But yes, if you are wrong then I will warn you to be careful.

But I have seen many times, that these special moments come rarely. When you people enjoy each other's company, friendships and good qualities, then I feel that the Kingdom of Love has begun.

We have not so far known this kingdom nor have we used it so far. We have not yet accepted its power.

We don't pay attention to its tremendous dynamism. Its power is so great that whatever big empires you have set up or whatever big bombs you have and whatever is a product of hatred will all be completely destroyed. All these will be razed to the ground. But you must know how to use it.

You should experience its power. You should say, `I am a priest of Love. I don't want anger, hatred and anything of the sort but I only want to do the Bhakti of love. Our Mother has told us this and She has made us one with Her in that Bhakti . We should get completely immersed in that love.' Then `this caste and that caste' all drop off.

In hatred, if someone sees a bad quality then he sticks on to that. But try to remember even one incident that has love like `How sweetly he talked to me that day!' and build your building on that. To build the building of the heart, just think `how lovingly he talked with me!' But if you talk harshly to someone, then he can never have good thoughts for you. How does it not come into our attention that if we speak bad about someone then obviously he is going to speak bad about us. Is he going to say,' Oh what a good thing that he has given me abuses!' With a simple intelligence we have to understand that if we talk against a person in such a harsh way then is he going to put a garland around our necks? So while opening your heart, you must keep this much in attention that `I have given this person a place in my heart.' Now this heart has the power of love which purifies. This power will purify this person.

Leave it to that power. Now he may trouble you a bit but try a bit harder. It is not difficult to try. You will be surprised; you will feel `Have I become like the entire world or what?' As a child, I used to always feel, “How will this universal work take place? How will I meet people?" Then My heart used to expand so much that I would feel as if the whole universe is coming into it. At the moment I used to feel so joyous. I used to see only pictures then but now I can see it with My own eyes. In every place there are thousands of Sahaja Yogis who are enjoying this bliss. May you also give the same amount of love to everyone.

On this special occasion of Shiv Pūjā, make a promise in your heart that now onwards, I will love everyone. Mother has said so and I will do the Bhakti of love. In that love if I face any troubles then it is like a penance and I will bear it. I will love the whole world unconditionally. I won't say `my', `mine' like a frog in a well but I will do all that is possible for others in love.

Sometimes, people will treat you harshly, they have done so with Me also but the power of love is tremendous and you must give this love with complete faith and Bhakti in its power.

So now the time for the Pūjā has come and I have decided to build a house in Pune. [Applause.] In the whole world, India is a Yoga Bhūmī. The Kuṇḍalinī of the whole world is in Maharashtra and any amount of description of this great land is less. Pune is the heart of Maharashtra and it is here that we have to establish Śhrī Shiva. It is My desire that once I build a house over here, Kailāśh should come down here and everyone should help Me in doing that. The residents of Kailāśh are those of cool nature, a cool temperament and Sahaja Yogis should become like that. People should say that in Pune, the Kingdom of Śhrī Sadashiv is present. With this hope, I have decided to build a house over here and I request everyone to help Me.

Contents: 1986-04-01 Birthday and Easter Pūjā (Hindi) (Tuesday after Easter Sunday), Alippore, Kolkata, India

Since 21st March, you all are celebrating My birthday... and, in Bombay [Mumbai] too, birthday was celebrated for four days with full vigor... after that birthday was celebrated in Delhi and today too, it feels that, you all will keep celebrating My birthday.

This tent has been decorated so beautifully... with flowers... and with different colours... all decoration has been done so much, that words stop, seeing the artists, that, how, with their heart, they have made such a talentful thing, in so little time.

Today, the special thing is such that, mostly, in these days, when, Easter happens, I am in London...

and every Easter Pūjā happens in London only.

So they sent news that Mother, wherever You are, wherever Your Pūjā happens, remember us there and here we will do the Easter Pūjā that day. Arrangement of the Pūjā today happened so quickly... and with so much beauty... all this is immense blessing of God, that He, made such arrangement happen. But, here, a very big work is starting from today. Till now, I used to talk a lot about false Gurus and very openly I told about them, that how much they are wicked, how much they are demonic and how they stop the path of true seekers and put them in misunderstanding and put them on a totally reverse path... and for this, many people said that it is not good to talk about such a thing... by this, the Gurus will attack You and will trouble You, but, the totally opposite happened. No one showed Me the court, neither anyone told anything about Me. One by one, every wicked person came in open and the world knew that whatever I told about them is absolutely true. Today, slowly these false Gurus are getting wiped out, but, the Tantriks still have a strong hold... and in your Calcutta [Kolkata], I think, its main source is there. Here they thrive and from here they spread to the whole of the world.

Today only, the person who I met with, talked with him so much Tantriks... he told who all came to his shelter and who all became mahatma. I felt, this campaign has now started... it is not necessary to correct these Tantriks one by one... they should all be washed into `Ganga Ji' together. Then only they will understand.

So, from today, this Mahishasur which has spread everywhere, the campaign to end this, should begin. [Clapping.] This is one very big spiritual revolution, by which the whole world will be benefited. The whole world will become pure with this revolution and will remain in the ocean of joy, in the Kingdom of God. But for that, with patience, everyone should do some sacrifice and for that, the biggest thing is that, strength should be kept. If we work with strength, then that day is not far, when our world will be filled with happiness. But, in that, the biggest hurdle comes to Me, when Sahaja Yogis do not go deep. It should be for Sahaja Yogis, to go very deep. It is a big responsibility for every Sahaja Yogi, that they should do such work in this revolution, which should be very special. Till now, whoever Sahaja Yogi I see, they have this thing that, we are having this catch Mother... our these Chakras are catching... this is happening with us... we have this mistake within us... this and that. But, when we start giving... when you start giving to others, start their welfare, then by itself, these things will start diminishing. Your attention should only be here, that to how many we have given, how many we helped cross over, how many we have bought in Sahaja Yoga. Until we do not do this with much force, the work of Sahaja Yoga will not go forward.

And this moving forward is utmost important. For this many other things should be done, which we are thinking, should happen within a year. From that one thing we are thinking such that... we create such an ashram, where Sahaja Yogis will come and live from different places and the whole path of Sahaja Yoga will be made known to them. Not only that, the awakening of their Kuṇḍalinī will be done fully and they will be activated in the whole world in the form of very great Sahaja Yogis. We are thinking of this arrangement and I think within a year, some or the other such thing will be made, where you can come and stay at least for a month and by staying there, you become master in Sahaja Yoga and by becoming a master Sahaja Yogi, you can work in the whole world.

But, the biggest thing is that, within ourselves, we have a kind of, lack of faith about ourself... the diffidence that we have, we should overcome that. I will tell you, one Doctor Warren is here, when he came to Sahaja Yoga, he lived with us for, at the most eight days and in that too, he kept fighting the whole time...

he could not understand initially how to correct himself. Anyways, whatever happened, when he became alright, he went back to Australia and after going to Australia, he helped so many people cross over, put to good so many people, that I was very surprised that he, who did not know what was Gaṇapati, who did not know about any devta, who did not know anything about Kuṇḍalinī... became alright within eight days and spread all over Australia.

So, to think, that we cannot do this... or how to do this... this problem is there... what will people think... if you keep such mentality, then Sahaja Yoga cannot move forward.

God is with you, Shakti is with you, you are yogi yourself and it is a responsibility on all yogis to do this work fully. Till you all don't stay united, this work cannot happen. Have to be united and to be united means, you are part and parcel of one body. One Sahaja Yogi should never be thought of as different from another Sahaja Yogi. Like I see, in the beginning, a Sahaja Yogi, turns more towards a person who is not a Sahaja Yogi, rather than one who is a Sahaja Yogi.

So, first thing should be there that, those brothers and sisters who are Sahaja Yogis, in front of them, everyone else is not related to you. Whatever one says, we, under any circumstance, should not agree with them, because they will put you in a fix and there will be a divide between you people. If you have to avoid this demonic knowledge, then you will have to understand that you are yogi people and you are in the Kingdom of God. Every demonic knowledge has one-one agent, understand, who wants to pull you, so that you leave this knowledge and go to their knowledge... and their clever tricks are so beautiful, that you won't understand.

So, the first thing is that rule... that we Sahaja Yogis do not go against Sahaja Yogis... and we don't form a group. If somewhere, even a little group starts to form of Sahaja Yoga, I break that... and have broken. Now like... groups are made, like Delhi people are there... then they are in Delhi, then... like, Karolbag people are there, then of somewhere else are there... Bombay [Mumbai] people are there. Then Bombay [Mumbai] people... in them too, some are of Nagpada, then some of Dadar and some of somewhere. Now, doing all this, you will reach such a small place, where you will be sitting alone and say where have the Sahaja Yogis disappeared.

So, in this, not a thing can make a group. When cancer sets within a person... then it happens by making a group. If in a person... DNA which you call... if it becomes bad in a person... if in a cell mistake happens... if only a single cell becomes bad, it will force on another cell and that second cell will do on third cell and such a group of their will begin to form... and that will want that our group should overpower everyone. When that starts to overpower everyone, then for example, suppose cells of your nose are there, if they start to grow, then they form a group and a big lump forms here and that goes and attacks on your eye and covers the eye. Then from there it goes and covers the ear. Like this, one who is cancer understands others lower compared to himself and forms a group and pushes those, who are the others... who are Sahaja Yogis. If such a disease spreads in Sahaja Yoga, then I put it away for good nicely, wherever I am. Whether am in London, whether am in America, whether am anywhere... that is put away for good automatically. Therefore, no one should do any kind of groupism. No one should think that we are of one group. If ten people stay together and if every time ten people stay together, then we should understand, a group is being formed. For Sahaja Yogis, ten people should not stay together all the time. When today you sit with them, then tomorrow with them... tomorrow with them... then with them. Like we have in ourselves, small-small cells of blood... which we call cells... suppose if they sit at one place and ten cells think that we will sit here only, then that person will die... Sahaja Yoga will die.

That's why, us ten people together, because we are of one group, these are of one group, those are of one group... `rakta-visaran' which we say, that, which is the circulation of blood, should flow freely within us.

So, no group should be formed. Where you see a group is forming, leave that group and go to another group. Break that group, tell that to come with this group, then that should come with this... till you do not do this way, negativity will keep forming within your collectivity.

Like I say, if you churned and took out butter... butter particles are all around... in that you have to put a big lump of butter, then after that, then around it, all the particles start to stick to it. But, if 4-5-6 particles get together and sit aside, then the one who has churned, says that, let them go, this butter is bad... pick up the one that is bigger.

So, everyone should get together and big one... like butter, like that, should become a big group... and doing like this, should dissolve into one big ocean.

So, if one drop you have to dissolve in the ocean... then, by creating 4-5 drops, you will only make bubbles. Whoever works by this method, forms a bubble and those bubbles you know, come for two minutes and then get destroyed... by themselves, by nature itself, nothing has to be done to it. That's why, you don't have to create any group. Should meet everyone the same way, should go with everyone, should love everyone and should try to understand everyone. You should not criticise each other, in any way, ever. You are not brothers and sisters with each other, but you are the part and parcel of My body. Suppose if one finger of Mine, criticises the other finger, then what good will happen... only loss will happen by this. That's why, right is that, man should...

[Aside to someone:] what happened, sit down at least.

... that's why, most right is this thing, that we should think that now we are not human, we are super human and the condition of super human is such that, we should roam everywhere and keep attention towards God. This one big problem comes in Sahaja Yoga, in the beginning, when a person, don't know why, breaks the collectivity. This is also one demonic knowledge, where collectivity breaks. Now, like I say, in Bombay [Mumbai] this work is less, in Delhi, not yet even now... and I don't know the situation about Calcutta yet, but I will say that do not let diseases spread. You all are My sons and My daughters.

Within yourselves, if any kind of difference happens, then it's not a big thing, but that, you should not do groupism with each other. If one group forms, then that group will say, that put forward our man... that will say, put forward our man... and the effect of that you see, is that such people go away from Sahaja Yoga. Their place ends. Like Gurus have been finished, in the same way, such people are finished... if I don't do, your own nature will do it.

That's why, to you, specially I have to say it, that please, you all give attention to yourself and also love towards others. Give love to others and put attention on yourself. Look towards yourself and see yourself and say, how are we. Are we alright? Are our Chakras alright? Do we have any mistakes within us, or if you think that someone understands, then go and ask him... `if a Chakra is catching then please tell, as we can't understand.' The day you accept the thing, that we are sitting as part and parcel of Mother, you will understand how much importance you have. No matter how you are, I have accepted you. Now you also have to accept Me and have to know that, by living with feeling of immense cleanliness and purity only, your Mother can get happiness and joy.

Today is this special date, the date on which the new campaign is starting, that, whatever Tantriks are there in this whole world, I am going to get after them now and I wish... [clapping]... and I wish that all of you also, should be after everyone... and wherever you see a Tantrik... for people who go to him, if you wish, for that, print pamphlets etc and send there, that this man is a Tantrik and keep running from Tantrik. Because, a person who goes to a Tantrik and Tantrik comes to his house, then he cannot prosper for seven generations... his children won't prosper... seven generations will suffer of his. Big losses will take place... his home will burn... and it may happen, that his wife may commit suicide somewhere...

his home will always have problems, sadness and despair.

That's why this campaign... today's day is such that it is called April Fool's day jokingly.

So, these people will be made fools and thrown over. These people will be fooled and thrown over, because they think themselves to be very intelligent.

So, their foolishness which is there... their full inauguration, is the work of you people.

With your love and affection and with this decoration, really... I am overwhelmed.

So much you have spent, so much you have decorated... only have to say, it's not necessary to spend so much. Your Mother is so simple, that She does not need anything. You all... whatever is there, whatever you give to Me, is enough... I do not want anything. Whatever you have to take from Me, you all take it. But, for your satisfaction, I say, OK, you have to give a sarī, then give, what to do. But, that too, you think that, sarīs given four years back, are still locked in lock and key. That I do not understand, that later when some museum etc is built, then you will put there.

So, all these things, for your interest, whatever you say, are kept with Me as your deposit and it's not necessary, but your love is such that, in front of that I cannot speak anything, cannot say anything... whatever you give with love... whether they are fruits of Shabri... or whether they are expensive sarīs of yours, all matter to Me.

So now, it is the time for our Pūjā... today like I said, it's the occasion of birthday and exactly at 12 o'clock, I started My lecture and exactly at 12 o'clock, I was born. That's why, so much time was spent, so much time was spent in flowers, it's nothing to worry about, because the opportune time is such that, at 12 o'clock only, today's birthday was to be celebrated.

So, in this... [clapping]... all things, all at their own time, set properly... in that no one should feel any guilt.

Contents: 1986-04-05 Letter to Mr. R.D. Magdum (a Civil Engineer), Brompton Square, London, UK

My Dear Mr. Magdum, This is in reference of your letter saying that there is more than half an acre land absolutely stony and useless for agriculture. It does not matter as I am in the process of buying seven acres of adjacent land, so we will have altogether eleven acres of land for farming.

I have confirmed the following points again, as given by you; 1. The farm house does not need collector's permission. (The copy of the letter written by the collector to Mr. Malhotra is with me).

2. The farm house has no specific dimensions. Mr. Dhumal sent a registered letter to the collectorate, however no reply has been received for over two months.

3. The permission has been granted by the Gram Pañchayat. (Confirmed by Gram Pañchayat that only they are authorized to grant the permission).

4. This area is a green belt and has to be used for agriculture only.

The farm house can be used by us and also for the agriculture storage, etc. We have got permission from the planning department.

Now as my husband is going to retire very soon, I wish to plan the house as per requirements for my family and my daughters' families. Both my daughters are married in the `Shetkarl' families. Specially the younger son-in-law who is the grandson of our late President Rajendra Prasad, belongs to a very well known farmer's family of Bihar and himself is a farmer. Both the son-in-laws will be staying with us and take to farming. I am also negotiating for farmhouse very near Paud which is a few miles from our farm house. All our agriculture activities are going to be operated from this farm house.

So to begin with, in our plan please include the following suggestions, made by my son-in-law.

1. Large garages for modern agriculture equipments like tractor, etc. 5 numbers.

2. Godowns, 6 numbers at least measuring 11 x 22'.

3. Cow sheds altogether measuring at least 44 x 4.

4. Large court yards and verandahs for cleaning and drying.

We have a very large house in Lucknow but is occupied by Govt. (Indian Oil Co.) and they are not willing to release though they are paying a nominal rent and are settled nicely even when the contract is completed long time back. (Thanks to my husband's policy of patronizing the Govt.) We cannot buy a at as my husband has no black money.

So now we have to settle in the farm house in Pune. Whatever money we have we will spend in farming lands, in this farm house and in buying modern equipments.

You have seen our London house and you know our lifestyle. Though I am `Shetkari' and a sadhu Baba, I can live in a hut, However my family has to be comfortable. My husband who has worked for Indian Government for forty years should retire in a comfortable place. For your information we have never lived in a very small house. We would not like to live in the city anymore but would help us to live near out farms in our old age. Please note that though there are no restrictions about the farm house still do not go beyond any stony area as farming is the main object of our stay in the farm house. Please plan spacious bedrooms for ten persons; my husband and myself, two daughters, two son-in-laws and four grand children.

Also a common large hall for sitting and dinning, one large indoor room for children to play. There should be at least two guest rooms of large sizes. My husband's guests are all high International officials, so we do not cut a sorry figure.

The facade of the house should be Indian Art and interiors should be Rajput style (as you know we are descendants of the `ShaliVāhanas', who ruled in Paithan (Pratishthan) thousands of years. They were Rajput kings who migrated from Rajasthan).

We give a very poor image of our Shetkarl to the outside people. But whatever farmhouse I have visited so far, have been enormous, for example, my father-in-law in Khairabad, my son-in-law's farm houses, Mr.

Dhumal's farmhouse in Veer, Raja Patil's farmhouse near Ichalkaranji, Usha Patel's farmhouse in Dandeli, Raul Bai's in Dhule Dist. Yogi Mahajan's farmhouse in Pathankot and Dharamshala, all of them are one bigger than the other. You may visit one of them, most of them are four to five stories. Of course you should never treat that as a model, but better visit them to find out what is the capacity. I cannot give you any particular idea. Still the house should be as big or as small as you think proper.

Our farmhouse should be placed on the edge of the cliff and as it is the stoney area, according to your letter, it may cost more money but it will serve two purposes. Firstly, you will save good agricultural land and secondly, we can watch the agricultural activity in the valley (which land I am definitely purchasing).

Furthermore, you may have any number of stories, as there is no definition, I think two stories may be sufficient.

As you say that it is absolutely legal to have a farm house without any restrictions, still I would request you to use only stoney area. If the stoney area is more than your requirement we can increase the courtyards or you may add a storey if stoney area is inadequate.

Also please make the structure facade as I would like to spend more on the interior and the exterior.

Pune is full of ugly ats and heavy decor. I would like to bring some delicate jali work from Jaipur to create a new dimension in farmhouse building.

So some people at least will spend to make some beautiful houses.

Also it should give a sense of dignity to my other shetkari friends to spend on beautifying Maharashtra instead of wasting money on drinking and dancing in the clubs with other urban wasters.

So that they can leave something for the progeny instead of pseudo-modern culture. Also if our farmhouses are made interesting the young people would not run to the city and become clerks instead of becoming dignified shetkari's children.

This kind of farm house indeed would be expensive but much less than a horrid Bombay at. I hope every farmhouse could be decorated differently with handicraft as you find them in the remote villages.

This is my dream for the villagers who have nothing to look forward or to hope for. My father who was the member of the constituent Assembly had a dream that the villages must develop first, there should be a Wada' for a farmhouse for every shetkari, very well decorated and interesting so the children should not run to the city but should become shetkari like their father. I hope this happens one day, though this has happened already in China which I have visited and seen how the Chinese adopted Gandhiji's methods to improve their villages.

I hope you do not mind this very long letter from me. I am sorry I could not talk to you on the phone at this length, but I had to explain as there is no information written down about a farmhouse.

You know I have very different attitude towards my property than many people. We could have had a very modern house which may be very comfortable but I always think that these houses are without any feelings. They do not represent our deep culture of dignity and art. I have already asked Mr. Patankar to study the Rajput art and get me sketches of their arches and trellis work. I wish you get some books on this subjects. Whatever money would spend on this house I want to create a feeling of Indian home rather than a mundane boring London house. I hope you understand my way of looking at things, in these aspects specially.

With all my blessing to self and to your family, Yours affectionately Sd,/ (Mātājī Nirmalādevi)

Contents: 1986-05-03 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, On Arrival, with Presents and Naming of the Babies, the day before Sahasrāra Pūjā, Madessimo, Alpe Motta, Italy

Shri Mataji: We have to thank the nature for creating such a beautiful stage for Sahaja Yogis, from all over Europe and England, Australia and India.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Specially you have to thank Guido and his wife and all the Italian Sahaja Yogis who have worked as a team to organize this beautiful place for us. Come down here, visit and see the glory that is of the Creator.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: The nature has organized everything so well and also the symbolism of this place is so expressive.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: That the three main rivers of Europe, just like Mahākālī, Mahālakṣhmī, Mahāsaraswatī, flow from this place all over.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: On our way while coming we saw the temple of the three Madonnas [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: And the place is also called as the `Mount of the Mother'.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: And we have seen the beautiful huge big statue of the Mother in golden colour, just in front of this hotel.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: So the stage is laid very well as in a drama.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: They describe outside, what is the play about. They put up different posters and statues to describe the play.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: So you are on the stage. You are the actors.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Whatever you are taught, whatever you have learnt, whatever you have experienced, has to be manifested.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: That manifestation is the one what we call as the performance.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.] Shri Mataji, So if we are Sahaja Yogis and if we have achieved an ascent, our performance will show that.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: So your performance tomorrow will prove how much you have achieved so far and how good you have reached.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: The performance of the nature is ultimately joy giving.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: It nourishes, it teaches, it does everything; but ultimately it gives you joy.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: So you have reached a stage now where performance within and without has to be witnessed.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Here we are more than five hundred people, all bound together with love.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: We do not belong to any particular sect or to any particular race or caste.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: We belong to that special category which is called as saints.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: But the modern saints are very humble.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: And they don't accept this special position they have, with showing off.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: But you are all saints.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: And tomorrow we will see what happens to these saints.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: No, once you got in anyway, we frighten about anything.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: But it's a surprise.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: What a magnificent, joy giving surprise!

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: It's all right. Today I have a small little present for Lido and his wife.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: It's a big present.

[Clapping.] [UNCLEAR]. [Jaikara.] [It seems that the gift is being unwrapped.]

Shri Mataji: Now there is a big present, which is coming for the Ashram.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Very big, in nine boxes.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji:... But you have to guess. Italians have to guess.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: There are nine light trees [UNCLEAR], from all over the world.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Italians come along.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Three chances. Three chances to... First of all get these.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Three chances. [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: OK what is the first guess? Another Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR] Nomsey.

Shri Mataji: Nomsey? No. No. [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR]. Statues?

Shri Mataji: No.

Sahaja Yogi: [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: What did he say?

Sahaja Yogi: Nothing.

Shri Mataji: What did he say?

Sahaja Yogi: Nothing... He was not qualified Mother.

Shri Mataji: Tabla?

Sahaja Yogi:... Instrument of music?

Shri Mataji: No.

Sahaja Yogi: OK.

So the presents are lost. [Laughs and applause.]

Shri Mataji: These are chandeliers. These are chandeliers of My first drawing room, with sixteen globes in it, fourteen globes I think or sixteen and also there are side lights. They are packed so well, that's why in nine boxes.

But they are quite big, large; look nice there pink and solid ones. You remember Mine." [Jaikara and clapping.]

Shri Mataji: [UNCLEAR]. There is a photograph of these with someone. I will tell you who had it.

These people, who brought it, had got photographs.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Right, the photographs? You have?

Sahaja Yogi: Yes.

Shri Mataji: But the lamp shade will be too small. This is a smaller part. There is a bigger part also. [UNCLEAR]... This one you can show them. These are the ones.... You have seen that. One you take it out carefully. You have to be very... It is very, very dainty [UNCLEAR].

Sahaja Yogi: Photograph.

Shri Mataji: It's a photograph?... Because you must have the photograph to rearrange it otherwise you cannot do it. I will have to help you then. It's a huge thing like that, so big as that. It will be nice for your house, yes, the Ashram there.

Sahaja Yogi: You have to give us a bigger house.

Shri Mataji: This is, just take out one globe, like that I think there are fourteen or sixteen globes." [UNCLEAR dialogues of Sahaja Yogis with Shri Mataji, while trying to assemble the chandelier.] [Clapping.]

Sahaja Yogi: This is one for each Ashram. That means sixteen Ashrams in Italy.

Shri Mataji: It has taken three days to pack. They are delicate things you know; you have to be careful with them. They are lead crystals and very good things. They have lasted for so many days and I am sure, they are going to last.

Sahaja Yogi: These have been packed by Golden Packers? Shri Mataji we really don't have appropriate word to thank You. We really don't know how to thank You.

Shri Mataji: This is the age of enlightenment and you have to have lights.

Sahaja Yogi: It is so beautiful.

Shri Mataji: They look very beautiful. And you have side lamps also. I think six, six side lamps and these two are very full of fourteen or something. I don't know how many are there. But they are getting the photographs. Have you got scotch tape or some thing to stick? [UNCLEAR].

Somebody has to take it very carefully so that you can close it also or you can put the things back on it. [UNCLEAR]. [Pause.] That's all, that's all. I told you. I think the other things also you can put on top and [UNCLEAR].

Thank you. She knows that I am crazy about flowers so she was giving Me. That's good. Very nice.

One side we have put lighter things because otherwise people will put it other way round. That's why.

Good, but how will you take this to Rome.

Sahaja Yogi: By bus.

Shri Mataji: You have a bus.

So it should be transported only by that bus otherwise it will go back to England. [Laughs and pause.] Who are the new people here, who have not met Me before, Italians?"

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: So at least I shake hands with you.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.] [UNCLEAR].

Shri Mataji: So beautiful, they don't look new, they look age old. Very beautiful. May God bless you.

Be seated. Now I will be going to other countries respectively. I don't know how one after another. But there I hope to meet all the new people of that country. But I must say that I was very much enamoured to hear that eighteen people have come from Spain.

[Clapping.]

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Because Spain is a very far off country, very far off country from here and it was very, very, very sweet of them to have come for Sahasrār Pūjā.

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: Also I am very happy to know that there are twenty people from Germany.

[Clapping.]

Sahaja Yogi: [Italian translation.]

Shri Mataji: There are, they said that the whole of Sahaja Yogis, all of Sahaja Yogis, the whole party has come from Switzerland. It's a great thing.

Contents: 1986-05-04 Sahasrāra Pūjā, 16th Sahasrāra Day, Madessimo, Alpe Motta, Italy

Today is a great day for all of us, because it is the 16th Sahasrāra Day. That in sixteen beats or sixteen movements you reach a higher position in the poem. That it is complete, that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa is called as a complete incarnation because he has sixteen petals. This completeness is called as `pūrna'.

So, now we move into another dimension. The first one was where you got your Self-realisation. In the evolutionary process if you see, the animals are not conscious of many things which human beings are conscious of. Like the matter cannot be used by animals for their own purpose. Also they are not conscious of themselves at all. If you show a mirror to animals they do not react to it as if they are in the mirror.

Except for, I think, the chimpanzee, that means that we are rather close to them! [Laughter.] When we became human beings we became aware in our consciousness of many things which were unconscious to the animals. In their brain they did not understand that they could put matter to their own use. As human beings you were all unaware of the Chakras that existed within you.

So your consciousness still was working halfway through unconscious working of the Chakras and the conscious working of the mind. You also never felt your autonomous nervous system as your inner organs how they are working. You did not even feel, how you are getting affected by other influences.

As a result of that, with the freedom that human beings achieved or were granted, they gathered all kind of things into their brains, into their Sahasrāra without being aware of it. They used their Sahasrāra, their brain for all kind of purposes which were fruitless. They were not aware again of the warning that Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa had given that, if you use human awareness except for your ascent, you will go downward.

They were told. Not that they were not told. They knew about it. Whether it was east or west, everybody knew that you have to be born again.

And it so happened that in the west people thought that by using their brain power they can now master the matter. That they can use matter for their own purpose. If they had done it after their Selfrealisation, it would have been a very different situation. Because after Self-realisation you all had become aware of vibrations which is Chaitanya and also of your Chakras. With this new awareness, you would have avoided all that was wrong. But it is like a greedy person, who gets a wee bit of money and he spends it off.

Now this problem has complicated your brains. You have certain concepts which are very much away from reality. The way we have started using machines, we have become machines ourselves.

So we have no feelings and we cannot relate to others in a natural way. In human awareness you had achieved, how to relate yourself to others and to nature. But this ego-oriented approach took you away from natural, real life. And we became artificial. The whole thing comes from a concept of being artificial. Like they say that it is fashionable to be arrogant, to be snobbish. This is just the opposite of your ascent and evolutionary process. Because you have lost the power to relate to others, which you had gained as human beings. All the organizations which you have formed on collective understanding are also artificial.

Then a movement started that we have to be natural. That is another copying of the artificial. Natural does not mean a primitive personality. Natural is to evolve. The whole purpose of creation is to evolve.

So the another concept also that you accepted very easily because you have got brains and you accept everything that comes your way. And you became so artificial that you needed all the time some sensations to feel yourself.

Now in every walk of life there is a conceptual, artificial understanding. For example you see the sex, which is such a natural, normal thing; there is nothing so great about it. But that also you made so artificial that you have now your sex in your brain. By that not only you have silenced Gaṇeśha in the Mūlādhāra, but also Mahāgaṇeśha in your brain.

In another aspect, say art. Now the concept is so stupid that it says that art should be according to what is laid down. Whatever is laid down about art, that art should be such, such, such. Like you will call somebody as baroque, condemn it, then rococo, this, that. Condemn everyone. And ultimately you reach a conclusion that the most insipid thing is art. As if, like the sugarcane, when we have taken out all the juice, whatever remains will become art one day.

So the brain, which does not nourish the heart is absolutely an artificial brain, just like a robot.

So people have become just like robots. Now this can be handled by anyone who has a mastermind. Because you don't have your own heart and the brain is controlled by somebody who has a greater brain of concepts. All these concepts are destructive. Say Hitler got the concept that he is an Arian and he is of the superior race. And to establish that, he did not mind destroying the whole world. Same is the case in the religion field. There also every religion was put or poured into the cups of concepts. Now the worst concept that human beings have achieved, is that money is everything. First they try for political domination, thinking that political domination is everything.

And now they feel that that money is everything and all other sublime things are imaginary.

When I started My life, I saw the complicated Sahasrāras. And the more I tried to solve the complications within My own awareness, the more it became more difficult. Because if you see My age, in fifty years you can see, how much complicated human beings have become. And after opening the Sahasrāra, when I came to the west, within these sixteen years, I found that they are now incorrigible.

Now the stage for you is laid down to ascend higher. This is the background, which I have described to you. And you can see how, when you have a program, there will be 500 people for the program and within two weeks all will disappear. Because when the ascent takes place, the Kuṇḍalinī pushes out the ego and brings the person close to reality. But again that ego, which is being built up so fast in its speed, overpowers the speed of the Kuṇḍalinī and covers the head. Then it suggests that how can you have godly life? You will miss all the alcohol, all the madness, all the fun of life. That they feel, they will loose all the freedom to become mad. When you see from this position the way people react, it is amazing. You have to do something extremely stupid to sell it in the marked.

The other day I heard that somebody has become rich selling the empty tins as lamps. All kinds of stupid things which are nowhere near natural beauty or natural joy are accepted as sophisticated.

The other side of it is that the `asuri Vidyā', the black Vidyā has taken over. As Śhrī Kṛiṣhṇa, again, had warned that in the 15th chapter, that if asuri Vidyā takes over, then the `Shuddha Vidyā' cannot compete with the speed of asuri Vidyā. Like in America there has been a big argument amongst Sahaja Yogis, if My photograph should be in the drawing room or not. But if you ask them to paint their nails black, their faces black and wear black clothes like witches, they will do it. That even at the stage, where we are Sahaja Yogis, we are shy of our godly life. When they became hippies or when they became punks, or they became anything like that stupid, they gave all their life, all their time, all their money to it.

They changed their dresses, they changed their lifestyles, they changed their family life, everything they changed, went all out.

I mean, even when Sahaja Yogis are convinced about the Godliness of Sahaja Yoga, still they are shy.

Now you know your Mother does not take any money from you, on the contrary she spends, you all have gained out of it. But when it comes to giving, everybody feels shy. From that background you are coming to the light of God's Grace. But you don't want to dash at it, you want to take your time, gradually, so gradually that maybe you may loose your chance.

So in the awareness of Sahaja Yogis, where you know all about your Chakras, you know about vibrations, you know how you relate to others, still all this knowledge is for personal advantages.

The shadow of the past still lingers on, even when you have this new awareness. Animals can swim automatically, they don't have to learn. But human beings have to learn to swim.

So they had forgotten the technics, which were known to the animals and have taken to the technics of human beings. But in Sahaja Yoga you have got your realisation in one lifetime. And in this lifetime you have to grow. And in this life you have to achieve the highest.

So the time is so very short! And the background is so dark. You are surrounded by people, who are pouring out morning till evening destructive concepts. Now you are the people who have to shoot out much faster than all of them.

But a kind of a lethargy, though you understand that your awareness is very different from them, a kind of a lethargy, which does not accept it the way it should accept Sahaja Yoga. Everyone of you must think every day: What have I done for Sahaja Yoga today? But you are all still very busy with your jobs, of making money, of having relationships with people, who do not matter at all in Sahaja Yoga. We have to make an all out effort to rise to that point, that whatever we know, we believe in, we act on that and become one with it. You can do that with concepts, but not with reality, this is the problem, I mean.

I will explain this point. Like supposing a fanatic believes that he can do such and such thing in his own religion, he will do it. But the concept is not reality, it has given no benefit to anyone, has shown no performance of any substance, still people do it. I see in My own country when they were fighting for freedom, My father himself gave up his property, gave up his practice, with eleven children in the family.

And we were living in palaces, started living in huts, for days together, for years together. But for the gross freedom we do anything, but for the subtler freedom the Sahaja Yogis have to do everything that is possible.

The first thing is to realise, to be aware, to be in your conscious mind all the time that you are yogis.

You are the ones, who are very much higher than the rest of the humanity. That the salvation of the whole of humanity depends on you. The purpose of creation will be served by you.

So first of all you have to be conscious in your consciousness, that you are so important and that's why you were given realisation. How can you be living with your conditionings and with your ego? The conditionings are like this: Supposing you are coming from a Christian religion, then you must bring that little of that religion into Sahaja Yoga.

Or if you are of a Hindu religion, you want to bring something out of that. We have all the essences of these in Sahaja Yoga, the pure essences; we can't have the gross nonsense. All these things are like dirt over our Sahasrāra, which must be shaken off.

Though now you are aware, you are aware and conscious of your Chakras, you do not keep them clean.

Ordinary human beings if they have clothes, they have houses, they try to keep them clean. But you do not feel ashamed of them also when they are bad. Because after some time you also loose the awareness of them. That means you have become subtler, but in your consciousness you are not yet subtle. There are so many things you know more than the people who are not realised as absolute reality. For example: We don't even use vibrations, whenever it is needed, we don't use it. Or sometimes mechanically, just like a machine, we start giving bandhans.

So you are still unconscious about your Chakras. Slightly conscious when you put your mind to it, otherwise, in your central nervous system you are not yet so conscious. This is the reason, why you do not know, why you have to do a thing at a particular time. Unless and until you rise to this Nirvikalpa state, you cannot go further. For example, I know everything what I do. I can handle any power whenever I want. I can absorb any negativity I want to, I need not absorb any negativity I don't want to. You may be thousands of miles away from Me, I know about everyone of you. I may not know your worldly names, but I know you as a part and parcel in My being. I also can behave like a human being, absolutely like you, going like you, even using spectacles, doing all the things that will make Me a complete human being.

I have accepted this role consciously, not unconsciously. To Me nothing is unconscious.

So if you have to be conscious of what you are doing, you have to be alert about it. [This was in connection to the question of a Sahaja Yogini: “Mother, were you conscious of the humanization process?"] The first thing that you have achieved is the peace, the peace. But even now I find that peace, which should become joy, becomes a quarrel. Truth is one, you cannot argue about truth. It is a homogenous thing. It doesn't quarrel with each other. We are unconscious about our fingers, but when we have to hold something, all of them come together, work it out.

So the part of the brain, which is working this out, the unconscious part of it, is to be made conscious. That is what evolution is.

So now adherence to any concept is against evolution. You must learn to face the reality to accept the reality and act a real way. Now you may say, “Mother this is a miracle." Something happens, “this is a miracle." Maybe for the human beings, maybe for Sahaja Yogis also, but not for Me, as I know what it is.

So to rise above this half-backed consciousness, one has to see, how you are working it out.

The whole system of relating to each other must change completely. That is very important, at least for Western people. Because at least in India people know that human efforts lead you nowhere, you have to take to your ascent, I mean the real Indians.

Some of them do take advantage of Sahaja Yoga and then disappear, some of them do. But mostly they know, that you have to be conscious of what you have got.

We can say that we have got Self-knowledge, but we haven't got self-consciousness. Now, for example, you take some body's name, say of some great saint, you feel the vibrations are flowing. Also you know why: Because he is a saint. But why not you the Sahaja Yogis? If your names are taken, why not the vibrations flow? And in this you have greater advantages because the Ādi Shakti Herself is before you.

They did not have anybody to tell them all these things. But the disadvantage of that is this, that you take it for granted.

Now in expression, when we say something, when we express; are we natural, are we it doing from our heart? The consciousness that `I am doing it from my heart' is what I want you to achieve. Like there are people who work very hard in Sahaja Yoga, others will just take it for granted. They do not want to help. They want everything to be ready made. That shows that they are not conscious of their own powers of enjoyment. If they do it from their heart, then they will never feel what effort they have put in, they will only feel what they have been blessed with or what they have achieved. The sense of fulfilment and satisfaction will overcome all your problems, specially your left Viśhuddhis.

Now the second stage would be, where you will be conscious of whatever you are doing. Where there will be no mistakes. Whatever you will do may appear to be mistake will turn out to be alright. Nobody is so far like that so I would like to tell you. Because some people do feel, whatever I say of praising they think I'm saying it to them. Now for example: Today I had My watch, I wanted to set My watch, so I pulled this screw up, say, simple thing. Now this I did, I would say in a way unconsciously, but quite consciously. Because the watch stopped and I knew the time, what time I have be there for Pūjā.

So consciously I put Myself against Myself. If the watch had not stopped, I would have come earlier. But that was not the time I had to come.

So I had to pull the screw to keep it stopped.

So whatever mischief you play, you know and you can play it against yourself also. And then you can make a drama. “Oh, I made a mistake!" and things like that, for nothing at all. But such a stage is far off. I must tell you.

Just now the stage at which we are, we are still making lots of mistakes because we are not selfconscious.

In a gross way we understand this word self-consciousness like this, when a person has to go for an interview then he selects his suit properly he'll comb his hair properly before going, he'll clear his throat, “self-conscious." But when it is the question our ascent, are we alert? Or are we taking it for granted that Mother is just going to give us a nice bath, put us in the cradle and take us there. This is being childish! You have to mature in your ascent.

Now you may say, “What should we do?" Face yourself every day! In reality, see how much time you spend on mundane worries and how much on your ascent. Have you left everything, all your worries to God Almighty? Have you completely jumped out of your background? Have you come out all the way, leaving everything that was nonsensical? And, how do I relate to others? How do I talk to others, who are Sahaja Yogis? I am surprised sometimes, if the one Sahaja Yogi is attacked by a non-Sahaja Yogi that a Sahaja Yogi group should support a non-Sahaja Yogi. Or a Sahaja Yogi, who has to come up, pays more attention to the negative people than to the positive. He relates better to the people who are negative than to the people who are positive. He is more friendly and open with the negative people than with the positive.

You have to cling on to the positive. But it's always the other way round because there also is a very subtle ego in there.

All this subtle understanding I have told you many a time. But with your complicated brain, which is like a machine, like a spoiled computer, you can reach some conclusions out of what I have said which are just contrary. Like, supposing I say, `You forget the past.' A simple thing. That means you forget everything that is good of the past? That is as if you should not understand why you're behaving like this.

Forget the past means don't allow the past to overpower you.

A brain which is simple, which is straightforward, which has got love in it, can understand what I am saying straightforward. This complicated brain is to be put right and the best way is to stop thinking.

Just stop thinking. That's what you have to do.

Now when you stop thinking you feel that nothing can be done. But by thinking only you don't do anything. Now for example, I have to give you a speech, but I start thinking about it, what will you hear? Can you hear My thinking? You have to, say, enlighten these lights, then you just start thinking about it, `I have to enlighten.' Will it get enlightened? This is to be understood, that by thinking you do not do anything. Thinking is lazy man's garb and is used to avoid work.

Once I asked a lady I had in the house that, “We are going out. Will you be cooking something for us?" When we came back she had not cooked anything. I used to cook every day but she had not cooked anything. I said, “Why didn't you cook something for us?" She said, “I thought you may eat outside." She was a Western lady.

So My husband said, “Alright, we are going to eat outside. You stay at home." I said, “It doesn't look nice." He said, “No, let her know what she thought is meant for herself." So this is the escape which you have learnt before, the cleverness.

So you do not argue about it. Do not argue about Sahaja Yoga. You do not argue with your leaders. You may be his wife but don't argue. We are having a very bad time from some of the wives of the leaders because they try to influence the husbands.

As far as Sahaja Yoga is concerned they have nothing to do with that. Supposing you are working in an office and the husband is some great official and you are a clerk, will you correct the husband? In this case the women have to nourish the organization, nourish the husband with love, from their heart and not from their brains.

I think it's so great to have been born as a woman Myself, because I can enjoy the heart, the emotions.

The emotions of My love, the working and the play of My love. It's so great that no incarnation can enjoy that as I can.

So the women should not feel degraded if they have to look after the heart, but they are in a higher, in a way, in a higher aspect. You can do without thinking but you cannot do without the heart.

So the ladies should not argue with their husbands if they are leaders and also one should not argue otherwise. Because I have seen that if the women are very argumentative the men become deaf. They just don't listen to what women are talking. If they are very aggressive then the men become absolutely shut up.

So in relationship with each other you must behave in a natural way that you are a man and you are a woman. You should become more a woman and more a man and then you will see the fun. Imagine in this world if there were only men or only women, what would have happened? We have so know that in our awareness we have to be conscious how far we have achieved the consciousness for our relationship with each other, that is the collective consciousness of Virāt, of the brain, that is of Sahasrāra.

So in principle Sahasrāra is Viṣhṇu Tattwa, but the Deity is Shri Mataji Nirmalā Devī.

So you can see how the beautiful integration has taken place.

All the powers of Śhrī Viṣhṇu have to act according to the Deity, surrendered at the Lotus Feet of the Deity.

So the consciousness of Śhrī Viṣhṇu is absolutely in the hands of the Deity. I do not want to talk about this tremendous Deity, it is too much, because it may fill you up with awe.

So, whatever is working out, allow it to work out. They say, “Surrender your Sahasrāra to this Deity." And it's so, so simple for you, because you have the Deity, you have your own Sahasrāra and it's only you, the people who are Sahaja Yogis today in modern times, who have seen the Deity.

They say that you have to ask for three things called `salokya', `samipya', `sanidhya' from God; meaning to see God `salokya', “samipya", the closeness with God and `sanidhya' is the companionship of God.

But you have got `tadatmya', which is oneness with God, which is not in the concept of any one of the yogis and the saints and the seers who have been before. And this `tadatmya' you have when you are outside My body, while they have this `tadatmya' when they are inside My body, when they are no more.

So you should understand the time limit. You must understand your greatness and you must understand how you people are chosen for the highest work in this creation.

So now there is no time for lethargy. Now you have to rise and awake. Today is the day when I hope you have to jump into Nirvikalpa. But only by effort you will stay there, otherwise you will again slip down.

So go through this lecture again and again and do not think about it. Don't think that it is for somebody else, it is for you. For all of you, each of you and you must know yourself how far you are going every day.

Today is a special day of Sahasrāra. Actually, if you see, according to the sun calendar, Sahasrāra would have been tomorrow. It is a Monday, which is Sahasrāra and just imagine that we are having it one day earlier.

So one has to know that the calendar of God has nothing to do with the human calendar.

According to certain calendars I should have come two thousand years later and some think I should have come at least 2,000 years back, in this form.

So the calendar is alright, timing is alright, everything is alright. You are not robots, you are not machines, you are evolved through the evolutionary process. And through evolutionary process only you have to achieve the higher personality.

So whatever we may do or whatever may be alright, it's you who have to show the results.

We may take your Sahasrāra to a great enlightenment but again it will collapse.

So you have to know that whatever heights you are brought to, it is you who have to maintain it with full willpower and action.

May God bless you.

This lecture is a concern of your Mother. Do not take it as anything ill. I could not have said this even two years back or one year back, because you are at a stage where I can say these things to you. You can understand it. But it has to become your consciousness. The stage has been reached to understand, but it should become your consciousness. By today's happening it should become, if you keep it there.

So, again, may God bless you.

Contents: 1986-05-04 Talk to Sahaja Yogis, On Hygiene and other Topics, After Sahasrāra Pūjā, Madessimo, Alpe Motta, Italy

[Version 1:] These are the songs sung in Himālayas and to be sung here is something really remarkable, isn't it? They brought it all the way here to be sung here.

Now I think I have already given you a very, very long lecture, or speech as you call it, but some of the actions were very good and some could absorb it very well, but some they said were sleeping. Now these things happen because of negativity. You have to fight your negativity because negativity is the thing that ask questions, because when I am talking I am telling the truth, absolute truth, but it asks questions and it reacts. When it starts reacting, nothing goes in the head because you are left with the past sentence and the present you are not with it, so the whole thing boils down to something like an escape and then you escape to sleep off. When I tried My level best today to put you on to your conscious mind. You have to be conscious, you have to be alert and that's the point is: unless and until you are conscious, you cannot ascend. Any abnormal person cannot ascend. You have to normalise yourself.

So many of you had lots of abnormalities which were brought out and thrown away and many have been cleansed, but now if there are some still lingering with it, they must work it out. They cannot just go on justifying it. Normally negative persons attract a negative personality.

So if you have such a negativity of any kind within you, you should never sit next to a negative person, never go near such a person, keep away but stick on with the positive person, like I said stick on and support your leaders without question, without questioning, but this is the trouble that you start fighting your own leader. If the leader say something to you, you quarrel with the leader and you argue with the leader, so it's finished. I speak through the leaders, so you don't question it. If you question it, then there will be a problem, you have to stick on with your leaders who are positive people. And if you start questioning them, then you will be nowhere, no link between you and Me. And this is everywhere, I was told in Switzerland it is like this, in France now it is better, it's used to be like that, everywhere, except for Italy, I think Italy has the best results. Don't fight with your leaders; don't argue with them. Do not reflect about Sahaja Yoga, what can you say? What do you know? How can you reflect? What is your knowledge? Do you question your chemistry teacher when he says hydrogen has got two atoms or one atom? Do you? And when you start doing this with your ego, you are thrown out of the realm of evolution.

So do not reflect, just listen and try to take it inside. These are all mantras; take them inside. Instead of that you start questioning, arguing with your leaders, giving them advices, please don't do it, stop it now. This is no politics where everybody can advice, everybody has to say something. Mostly the bhoots are such; only the bhootish people go on advising and having their own say. And they go against the leaders throughout.

Now specially for the elderly people, I would say because you are more grown up sometimes than the leader are. Then you think you have the right to correct the leaders, it's not so. In Sahaja Yoga, it is not how much you are old, but it is how much you are evolved.

So when you start questioning your leaders and reflecting on their behaviour or anything like that and answering them back or also giving your ideas, you are gone. It's like a link. Say there's a link between the Chakras and the cells, say it like that. Now if you deny the Chakras, how one has to work it out, because I am connected with them and through them you are connected. But when you deny them, then you fall out. I know what to do with the leaders, I choose them, I arrange them, I organize them, I change them; I know what to do. Now you people do not challenge them, is nothing but your ego. In India it doesn't happen at all, doesn't happen.

Once Mother is appointed somebody they accept, because for them this is the truth that they have been seeking. The all other are nonsenses, they are all complications and because you are so complicated to you other things look nice, you think you are surrendering your personalities. Not at all. It's developing, surrendering yourself to the sap of life, to the vitality, to the vital force of life, surrender, accept more, accept more. This ego can never allow your to take inside anything. Be careful on that. This will never allow you to sleep; this will never give you peace. It will never allow you to grow; it will never take you to your own goal, so surrender that your ego of yours.

So one thing I have to tell you: don't fight, don't quarrel, don't question, don't reflect about your leaders to begin with, otherwise you will be cut off. Keep in his good book. Try to support him, ask him what does he want, what help he needs. The more you get attached to him, the more you get closer to him, the more you'll get.

But see people are very wasteful. They have wasted their lives with drugs, this, that, all nonsense; and women have another bad habit, is to gossip. They want to gossip, gossip about this person, criticise that person. It's a very bad habit in women to gossip. I never pay heed to anyone who gossips and I don't like a person who gossip, so don't gossip about things, cheaply, frivolously talking about others. It's not necessary you should be educated, it's not necessary that you should come from a very well-bred family, nothing is necessary as long as you are a Sahaja Yogi. You can be a diamond, but allow yourself to be cut into the diamond. Allow! So the reaction from some person was very good, they absorbed what I said, they took everything inside, but some of them went off to sleep.

Now, if those who were struggling at that time may not have understood it, it's a very difficult subject, it's a very subtle subject, doesn't matter. But those who have been like that, should look after themselves, should find out. I found one thing with left-sided people: if they can put a candle near their left Swādhiṣhṭhāna, little far and put one candle before the photograph and put left hand towards the photograph and right hand on the Mother Earth, it works. And the candle at the back should be kept a little far away because it makes sounds, it goes this way, that way, burns.

Those who have been taking drugs, not LSD but other drugs, who are drowsy people, who feel sleepy, whose brains are destroyed by drug, all those people can benefit a lot by this. Do it everyday. Going into drug, you never felt your surrender to drugs, never felt that it was something that was going to kill you completely. You know so many people are killed, so many are dying, but you wanted to do that, I don't know because your ego said, “All right, go ahead, try this. You are the one, nothing will happen to you." That is the ego suggests. All right doesn't matter, whatever has happened has happened, let us clear it out, because we are seekers.

So those who have really felt one in the lecture, without any questioning, should know that they are doing well. Those who were questioning, reflecting, should know they have ego and those who were dozing out should know that they are left-sided.

Left side is worst than the right side because right side can be easily corrected, it shows. It shows outside, people don't like it. Such a person is criticised, everybody says that he is egoistical, he is this, that. Everybody knows that such a person goes out like Hitler. But the left-sided person, you see, is very clever and you have a great pity for such a person, you sympathize and you get lost with that person.

They are more dangerous and difficult to be cured, very difficult.

So, it's not an easy task, we have to work it out. I am trying My level best; you should also help Me.

I was thinking that if you should start using little oil for your head will be a good idea in the night.

As Sahaja Yogis, you should. I think the hairstyle should be changed for Sahaja Yogis. This modern, fashionable style won't suit us. Because this will, we will all have bald heads one day, I can tell you and you will see the Sahasrāra with a big dimple here. Better use some nice coconut oil, rub in your head nicely and in the night and in the morning. After all, it doesn't show much. And comb your hair in a proper way because also I think if your dresses are like bhoots, your hair are like bhoots and the bhoots will take over thinking, `Oh, this is a bhoot sitting down here; I better take hold of that bhoot.' So dress up in a way, shouldn't have hair on your forehead at all, keep it straight, make it nice and have it absolutely clean foreheads. We are Sahaja Yogis. We have to change our dresses; we have to change ours styles. You cannot be fashionable like these stupid punks.

So we are a type, by our hairstyles people should know that these are Sahaja Yogis.

So before you start getting bald, better try putting some oil in your head. That is some very important thing that Sahaja Yogis have to do. You can take vibrated oil if you like and I think olive oil is good, but better than olive oil, I find, it is coconut oil is better for the growth of the hair. But sometimes you can also put almond oil, is also good, almond oil for you because if you have any problem that you feel exhausted or your nerves need attention, you are nervous type of person, then almond oil is good for you.

And for people who have teeth which are troubling them they must look after them. No use going to the dentists, because dentists create problems. Simple thing is to use olive oil and some salt and rub it on your gums nicely everyday before sleeping. That will keep your teeth all right. You'll be amazed, till today I have not been to any dentists. Never been to a dentist and I hope I never go to a dentist.

So, but one thing is that I have certain bad habits, one of them is that I brush My teeth quite often. But, don't use electrical brushes and all that, but use brushes or use your fingers is the best way is to rub with the salt and the oil, is a very good for you and then allow the whole thing to come out and then wash it.

Then the third thing I find in Europe that people do not clear your throats and your tongues, which is another thing very much against Viśhuddhi. And that must be one of the reasons that your Viśhuddhis are bad.

So though it is not in fashionable here, in the West, but very important thing is to put your two fingers in the mouth and rub your fingers, not the [UNCLEAR], fingers and clean your tongue in such a way that everything comes out in the morning, is important because that accumulates and then it rots.

So this has to be done and may be that you might think that this is really making noise and all that, doesn't matter, you have to clear out your throat, that's how you'll keep your Viśhuddhis very clear. This is one of the things and another thing is that you must always use water, as much as possible, for washing when you go for your morning [UNCLEAR], water must be used, paper is a very dirty and unhygienic habit, very dirty and unhygienic habit. But, even if you use paper, you must use water after that. Is very important that all the time you use water as much as possible. For Sahaja Yogis, it is a very, very important thing.

Now, for some people who will find that they are on a subtler level, quite on the verge of collapse in the way that they still have those problems that they want to sleep with other women and they want to do all these things, they should give up Sahaja Yoga. Best is to leave us alone. We can't have such useless people with us.

So they should give up Sahaja Yoga and don't trouble us because we can get thousands and thousands in India, we have no problem, for them it is not difficult, they are already there.

So, those who are still like that, who are trying to have relations with other women and having their eyes on other women; and or the women like that, you see, all this kind of maniacs, I call them maniacs only, should give up Sahaja Yoga and should spare us. This is for definite.

Now, we have always been saying that those who are very negative people will have to leave Sahaja Yoga and the day will come, so for all of you it is very necessary that you should try to clean yourself and never sit with a person who is negative. Never make friendship with a person who is negative. Try to be more helpful to a person who is positive. Clear out yourself. Clean out yourself; look after yourself; respect yourself; love yourself. Live with your dignity. Cheapish thing, frivolous thing, useless thing should not be done and make your ego be challenged. Let somebody insult you and see that that you do not answer back. Just see it, not to get into temper. Try that your ego doesn't react. That can be achieved very easily if you try in the mirror, look at yourself and laugh at yourself, make fun of yourself. You think of yourself. Who are you? What do you have? Nothing.

Now today's lecture was really, was not only, was a great lecture, but also it was like mantras. All good for the brain and I would say that this lecture must be listened to again and again and to be taken in, not to be questioned, not to be questioned, to be taken in, to be absorbed. I hope you understand this.

Now after this Sahasrāra Pūjā I hope you people try to maintain the position you have reached. I would expect all of you to support, to glorify your leaders and not in any way debate them, argue with them, give them ideas. Even the wives I have said are not to argue with the leaders. It's like pulling each other, like they said there were some scorpions sent for investigation from different places. And they saw one jar was open and they said, “What is this? This, from this jar all the scorpions will jump out." They said, “They cannot, because as one comes up, another pulls him down." In the same way we behave.

So if there's a leader, this is ego that makes you jealous and this is ego that says that you know better, you better give a solution. Not that you cannot suggest people, tell Me also things, but if it doesn't accept, well and good. That's a challenge to your ego. It's better that he says `no' to you so that you see for yourself, `Is it my ego still insisting on that position?' Now, on the second thing that I have said that we should not be drawn by convention. Like the convention was that, say, this time the English felt, the English leaders felt, which was a big mistake, that Italians would be inconvenienced if they stay over.

Italians are very large-hearted people, like Indians are, they will be overjoyed if they stay over. But it is the English mind. It's the English who cannot tolerate one person staying for two days. They'll ask you immediately as you go, “What time are you leaving?" So, it is their mind that worked out that way that it will be inconvenient, because they'll be inconvenienced.

Though they were told, “You could stay here till Monday, there's no problem, you'll have to pay just ten pounds” but I thought like that. This is the English image of being good to others. Because to them, anybody staying in their house, finished, they won't allow anybody to come inside the house. Let there be snow or anything outside, they'll just see and talk to them and say. I've seen it Myself.

One day we had, I had gone out it was snowing and I saw a lady standing out in the doorsteps with a pram and there was a little baby and the other lady was an old lady talking from inside, just from the [UNCLEAR chick], in a way that the door was not completely opened out. And when I came back after an hour and so, still that lady was standing outside and talking. This lady didn't have sense to say that `You come in.' But this another lady also did not mind it also because she must be doing the same.

So the large-heartedness of anything they cannot understand. Moreover, there was no problem, it was suggested that you can stay here and you can be here.

Now today we had to hurry up a lot. The whole thing was quite inconvenienced and we had to do it because of a slight mistake. They should have asked Me and I thought you all were staying on Monday because this is logical; it is sensible. But because of the conception that we should not inconvenience.

It is not only the English, it is possible with anyone of you. When you start thinking, “I thought” you are gone.

So this concepts that you have, about things, are actually very dangerous things. I've been having experiences of experiences of this stupid conventions people have: “I thought." They try to be good and ultimately they become nasty. They are nasty.

So there is something definitely wrong about the convention they have about things and that's why people, if they were right when they were thinking, world would have been a different thing. But they are thinking at a level that's where just everything is sloping down and you are going downward. As soon as you start thinking, you go downward. Such is the defect of your thinking because it is bound by the tanks of your conventions. Whenever you think, you see, you are bound by your conventions and you go down.

I didn't touch many points today which I could have touched, like art. I was saying, I was amazed and exuberant, like this the flower like this makes Me so very happy to see a garden. But to a sophisticated mind, is more [rock] or something nonsensical. To them, one flower somewhere because rest of the area should be their face for their ego.

So they cannot see the beauty, it's too much, too much, even Sahaja Yoga is too much for us. What are you a little baby or what? What is too much? You see, as we like a baby we give a bottle, so much of milk, so much of milk, so Sahaja Yoga is too much for you.

You are [UNCLEAR] or what? There is no substance in such kind of a nonsense. That's why, “This is sophisticated, this is nice” criticise everyone. People are so frightened even to decorate their houses, because it will be criticised. Later, “Better keep it plain, white, just white." Even the nose they don't like.

They want to cut out the nose, eyes, everything, just have plain. And that is the play of the ego which wants an individuality.

How they are in just a position with what they wanted to see this clearly? If you go in a garden, they will have one, you see, tree somewhere hanging in there. This is supposed to be garden.

You say, “Where is the garden?" They say, “This is garden." “This is garden?" Microscope. “Where is the garden?" “Oh no, we put only one tree at a point you see so it becomes important." So this is only a tree here and then you move up, then will be another little bush and another.

Everything is too much because the ego is too much in their heads. That's why everything is too much for them. This stupidity has to go. You have to take whatever is good; too much you must take and give up whatever is too much in you. That has to be understood. All these stupid ideas, all kinds of stupid ideas, like you want to buy a house, so it's all right, you go and buy a house. I went round, most of the houses are about seven and a half feet height, but they like it.

I said, “Why?" “It's very old." I said, “So what?" They said, “But it's an old house, it is this and that and that old house." I said, “But why do you like it?" New houses are eight feet, at the most.

So there is no choice. But why do you want to have a house which is an old house? Victorian houses they don't like. Why? Because they are not so conventional, they are not so fashionable. You must have a house where you should break your neck, walk into the bathroom in an awkward way. You can't even sit or stand, half way hang in the air. That's a very house of the character. And the character is that which makes you awkward and feel funny, that person has character, I mean the person, if he is absurd, he is queer, weird, he is strange, he is a man of character. This is the situation today. He is a man of character and he is weird, absolutely a strange personality. How is it? “You know he came on a bicycle with a half pant." I said, “Really?" The a man of character.

“Yeah, he's getting arthritis with it." Being queer, funny stupid things is regarded as something of a personality. Now, as Sahaja Yogis, you have to realise that you are not that stupid. You are crowned with your Self. Now you are not going to behave like these stupid people and their fashions, give it up. They laugh at you, you laugh at them. In a lunatic asylum, if you go, all the lunatics will say, “Oh, so you have also come here to join us." Isn't it? They all think they are the wisest and you get lost with them. You start thinking, “Am I lunatic myself?" So you all when you see such a person you should just laugh at them. Like a lady, she is thought out to be very fashionable, came with a dress, you see, very open her body with all her boobs showing and this and that. And we happen to go and see that house Myself and My husband.

So as soon as he saw her, he came back and vomited.

I said, “What's the matter?" “I saw her; I vomited." And we got into the car, we didn't enter and we came away. And she thought she was a very fashionable lady, showing her boobs, all her body, horrible. Imagine, like a dead body standing before you. But a dead body is regarded as fashionable. Everybody wants to behave like a dead body. Now, you should see the sense in it. Otherwise you are not Sahaja Yogis. You must see the nonsense that is going on and you are not a nonsensical personality. All these things now if you see at a new angle, as I told you now, that you are higher personalities, that you have achieved a new awareness of your Chakras, you'll be amazed your reactions will be very, very different. When you see something like this... “Ahhhhh!", you say, “Beautiful!" But till you have those horrible conventions with you, you cannot.

A house which is dilapidated absolutely going to fall on your head is, “What a character!" The whole character will fall on your head! Absurd ideas people have. And then they get something modern which is absolutely weird and nonsensical. You see, there was a lady, she built a house, modern and we had to climb up the steps and every steps she had divided into smaller, smaller pieces, we were so much worried that we'll all fall off. You see, every step was made of small, small pieces like a step, you see every step was made into steps.

So when you put your foot there and you don't know where you are putting your foot, you see. She must have spent a lot of money making that kind of a nonsensical thing, but to her, she would show everyone, “Now, come along, see this." I refused to go up, I said, “I have nothing to see." I went back. Yes, it doesn't matter. As they show resentment, you must show resentment. Stupid, it doesn't appeal to Me, it doesn't appeal to Me these things. I have seen. I don't like it these things, the way one flower hanging somewhere, anything if I see, I see I don't like it. I don't enjoy it at all Myself.

And if I am the criteria, if I am the one who can judge things, then I would tell you I don't like all these nonsense. The way people dress up these days, they look like clowns to Me, lunatics, like I can say brats, or you can call them, what do you call them tramps. You cannot make out one from another. Lousy pants, you see, like grandfather's pant they are wearing and grandmother's blouse on top and grandmother's blouse on top and the ladies walking on the street, you see, you feel some funny, queer people walking across and they think it is fashionable. I think from India we should get all old clothes here and sell them off for a higher price.

It's very queer, you just look at it, see from this angle, standing on the hilltop, you see at these mad people, see how lunatic they are, stupid they are, how they are behaving, what is their fashion. If you see the olden times, people used to dress up well with all kinds of frills, all kinds of things, but this is what they don't like. Whatever God has given us should be decorated and respected. I mean yesterday, the way you did the hall, I mean today the way you did the hall and all that, so very beautiful it is, so nice.

But somebody would say, “Oh, let us have an absolutely plain thing for Mother.

Some dilapidated wall behind which is about to fall down. That would be real character." How can these ideas be acceptable to Sahaja Yogis? This I don't understand. And they pay for it.

They pay for these conventions and they pay for all these kind of odd things, they do pay for it. Supposing there is a fashion today to have your haircut like this on top, they will pay for it. Then you cut them another way, they pay for it. You have to pay for all these misdoings also. The fashion is: supposing somebody invite somebody to your house, you must have a different type of a glass, cup and a glass for this, otherwise you are not all right. And then what do you find? There's another group of these hippies and those have come. They'll give you the dirtiest possible mugs that you cannot drink it.

So either you accept this nonsense or that nonsense. It's absolutely absurd. And you know I have seen Indians when they are in England, they just don't understand, they just cancel them all right, cancel them. They're mad people.

The quality of personality is very, very low, very low. Take it from Me, very low. You might have ego, might exist with that ego, but it is very low here, accept it. Innocence is missing, auspiciousness is missing, cleanliness is missing. The, the attraction of simplicity is missing, so artificial. Even the ideas of simplicity is artificial. With artificiality how can you have a quality of human life? How can you? You become artificial people.

So give up all these conventions. I am not here to propagate Indian culture as such, but I must say if there is any culture it is in India, because this is no culture. All becoming. If you walk about, I mean you look like when I see the people around, they look like host of mad people walking.

You see them on the streets, not one person is normal. America is even worse. They must do like this, or this like this. Not one person has a proper face. It's a fact I tell you.

With Sahaja Yoga, your quality has come up, it has come up, you've become that now, so great. That's why you do not feel here there is Lakṣhmī. They have money but no Lakṣhmī. There's no beauty of that.

It's so desolate, like a barren land. Your ego has blown off everything that was beautiful. You could not tolerate anybody's art, so you would not have any artistic things in the house. You need not have many things at all, so you have plastics. Beauty has run away from your lives. When you talk also it's fashionable to be arrogant. Imagine: to be arrogant, to be very dry, there's no beauty in it. It's all put up show; there's no bravery in it, nothing sublime. On the subtle form you have lost it; that's why on the gross form you don't see it. Whatever you have lost inside, it shows outside, bankruptcy, complete bankruptcy.

So when you see that with others, when I am saying you, I am meaning the others, those who are not yet Sahaja Yogis living in the West.

Try to understand that they are at a much lower level than you are and don't take to their ideas, their ways and methods. Just keep yourself alert. Then you'll see they'll run after you. Ego is like a donkey. If somebody is ahead of them, they know somebody is ahead of them, then they bend their head to that. And if they see somebody is behind them, then they kick.

So you have your dignity, you have your special style, you live with a special style. Don't be one of them. Dress up properly, in a proper way. You may have only two shirts; you may have only three shirts; you need not have many, but have something sensible, normal, comfortable and also which is not [UNCLEAR] to others. We are the ones who are going to encourage our art, we are the ones who are going to bring back all that is lost. We can't have Rembrandt anymore; we cannot have Leonardo da Vinci; we cannot have Michelangelo again. Finished them all completely. Here everyone thinks that they are Michelangelo. We can't even have, say, Gorky; we can't have William Blake, can we? Of that courage? We cannot have Abraham Lincoln, can we have? All dwarfs, useless people. You scratch them and you find they are good for nothing, useless people.

Out of you only all these great people have to come out now. And their specialty about them, they had their own personality. They would not give way to any fashion or anything. They wouldn't give way to any cheap popularity. Out of you people all these great personalities are to be born.

So for you and for your progeny you have to think, `What are we doing?' Or such a great work as it is, it's not only for your enjoyment that we have a seminar, nice music, nice food, nice place, we come and enjoy, no! Enjoyment is just an advertising department. You have to really work hard inside, not outside. No arguments of any kind. Useless, simple thing if I say I have to carry, say, this box, somebody will come out and say, “All right, then I think we should get a van." “No, but van is too much." “Then what should we do?" They'll go on arguing till that the box is gone and everything is done and I come back and I say, “Now, what are you doing?" “We are discussing how to take the box." It's already gone. Such wasteful habits we should give up.

We have to have new wisdom within us. All this old wisdom, you just throw it away. Unless and until you don't do that, your ego won't go away. It won't leave unless and until you decide to throw away all those ideas which to you appear to be there. You have to be like children. Try to learn something new all the time; we are to be open to learn something new all the time. You have to learn. You have lost it. You had something that you have lost so many. Instead of going ahead, you have lost it. You would have been all right if you had remained on the right path, you would have achieved because, after all, some countries are traditionally very old. They also got lost, like Greece, you can say it's lost. Horrible Greek tragedies, I mean, sit down and cry for nothing at all. Nothing has happened, everything is perfect, people just go and sit down and cry. It's like you make somebody say that `This one is dead. Let us now feel that he is dead. Sit down, all of us should cry.' Stupid as that.

All artificially-created problems and artificially-created gloom because you have no real gloom; you have no real problem; you've got food to eat; you have got everything, that's why you are creating problems for yourself. That's why you need psychiatrist, you need drugs, you need this, you need that. You have no problems, you want to have some problems, as simple as that. Those who have problems have to fight with it. They have no time for all these nonsensical things. You have too much time. All your problems are solved, as far as the material things are concerned, but still you are very much involved into it.

So now face it, face it clearly, that we are not that anymore. We are different people. We are no more worms in the mud but we are to be lotuses, we have fragrance, we have powers, we are specially blessed. We have a special sense of joy; let's enjoy that and give it to others and be glorified with it, feel the dignity of it.

I am sure that it is going to work out this time, that I have done My level best, I think and this lecture should really move through you all. All right, any questions? Any questions you have? In thoughtless awareness. Now keep it up, keep it up in thoughtless awareness, absolutely blasted, keep it up. Keep yourself blasted. That is this ego business. Little bit still there elementary, spit it out. This is meditation. There is no ego any more. You are in thoughtless awareness, absolutely is done. But I have done, is not good. You should do it. That is the point I am saying. Have your own personality. If punks could behave like that, why can't you behave sensibly? And also I have to say few words about how we behave in our day-to-day lives because the Mother has to see that they are, children are not to be ill-bred. People should not say that Sahaja Yogis are ill bred.

First sign of an ill-bred child is that he leaves his bed in a mess. He leaves all his things in a mess. While coming I saw all the beds. What are we doing here? Nothing.

So put yourself in a discipline of leading a neat life. As a Mother I have to tell you this. It takes hardly ten to fifteen minutes, but just tell yourself it is meditation, do in meditative. We in India think that the Western people are extremely neat and tidy.

Really, they can't believe it. They think you are in top of the world. You must be the neatest people ever lived. They said ten times “thank you." But even once you will not keep your bed all right. Your things should be neat. You must keep yourself neat, appear neat.

Then second thing I have seen, noticed this which is told by many people which I have also noticed that you go to somebody's house, then a ill-bred person will start using the phone without asking. Certain things are important to understand. Like entering into the kitchen eating everything. It's a very common thing people are noticing this, that you get the food like paupers, like beggars be coming in the house.

At least twenty-one bottles of honey which people had given Me as present, when My son-in-law came there was not even one bottle to give him honey.

So who ate? All the Sahaja Yogis who came and ate the honey. I mean, it's all right but you must ask. You polish off everything in the house. All right, you have come, there is food cooked for you, just have your food. If you go in the larder or you go anywhere to find, everything is missing. You buy from the whole mart you find everything polished off.

So an ill-bred person can be made out like that. But you will be surprised, a good breeding person, even if this much is left of another person, that person will keep it and keep it, till it is passed over. I'll tell you about My own husband who is, who need not worry about this but if he knows we have something of another person, he'll put it lock and key and see every time it is there till he returns it to him. I think I can say about My children also or anybody I know of, but this is beggarish that you take somebody's things, miss use it, throw away where you feel like and break everything.

Without asking with My own things, also the leaders have been complaining to Me that come to our houses, they polish off everything from our fridges and all that, I will not be surprised. The Sahaja Yoga has become like a resort for the beggars and the pauper of the world because it is free. All the poor people come down to Sahaja Yoga and you have to nourish them and look after them. It should not be such. You may be poor but you must have dignity. Even the servants are in India are better. They wouldn't touch your things without asking. They have much more breeding. And ill-bred person is a person who is a rude person, arrogant person. You can say the same thing in a proper manner.

As a Mother to give Me a real glory is that, that people should say that you are very well brought up children. A kind of system must exist. A spartans, it is a spartans system. It is not all a sort of a lousy system. It is a spartan system. We are yogis, should be neat and tidy, all the time clean with few things. Like in India, people are quite shocked. You carry such big, big bags and it carries all the, for ladies, specially all the paints and this and that. Where are you going to use before the villagers there these paints, they don't understand.

All these things we have to see for ourselves. We have to be dignified. We have to be people with a kind of a personality. Supposing somebody is a saint. He might be a poor man but you can make him out by his dignity. There was a saint called Dukhārama whom which you have heard about him this [UNCLEAR Armadillo fellow was coming from his music]. He was poor and very generous also. He used to give away everything and he always left with very little.

So Shivaji Mahārāj, the great Shivaji came down to his place, brought lots of ornaments and things and presentations and gave it to his wife and children. He was out. She was very happy to wear all these things because he gave.

He said, “This is." Of course in the beginning she also said, “That is not all right." But he said, “No I am only trying to sort of pay my respect to you, this, that and give." And she wore it.

He came and he said, “No, I am a saint. You take these. You are king; you have to live like a king. All right as a king, you can have it. But not as a saint. I don't need all these. My wife doesn't need all these.

Because you are living like a king, maybe you are realised Soul also but you are king, live like a king." But one has to realise that in Sahaja Yoga you are not to move like a barren personality also. You have to be properly dressed, properly appearing. You should not look like beggars, but you should look like dignified people of the society. Now for example, as you know I am the Goddess and the Goddess has to wear you know how many ornaments just to adorn Her Chakras. I mean I have lots of ornaments Myself of My own. But only for Pūjā I wear otherwise I don't wear. I am supposed to wear lots of things.

Why? Because it may not be that all right, may be dignified but may not be that all right to wear all those things all the time. But I am supposed to wear. Like I am supposed to wear many more things on the hands here, rings on the feet, everything all the time you have wear gold in the, what do you call the, you don't have that ornament here which we tie up like a belt. But I don't do it. I keep it to a marginal point only in Pūjā I wear some things out of it.

So you must have that discretion what to wear, how to wear, how far to go, how to look dignified, how to be well bred so that you glorify the breeding of your Mother. This time I hope when you all come to India will notice these things among Indians. You will never see them eating; you never see them having their baths; you never see them sleeping. You don't know how they live, where they live, how they work out, everything they are just there on the spot whenever you are there. Isn't it true? They take their baths, they finish everything early in the morning about 4 o'clock or 5 o'clock. They are out, spartan and always clean whether a villager, whether he is a Schedule caste or Brahmin or anything. They all neatly dressed; you cannot make them out. Clean, white clothes they will wear. Clean white cap they will have.

They never have dirty clothes.

So this is another side, which is not so sublime of both sides, not so subtle but it's very important because whatever is in the subtle expresses outside. In all your behaviour it will shine, like thousands facets of a diamond because you have attended now the Sahasrāra Day. Let's see. What you have thousand facets will show. Love each other; respect each other; respect yourself and all the time say one mantra within yourself `I am a Sahaja Yogi.' It says everything about your responsibilities, what are your aspirations, what you are. You are a Sahaja Yogi. Being reborn by Ādi Shakti Herself.

Any personal problems you have you should write to Me and I'll try to answer. If I do not answer, then think that answer I managed. If I do not answer then think that I have managed to answer, but if there is anything to be suggested I will definitely inform you. Any other problem, but like a lady today came. She was crying about her husband. She did before also again today she is crying. She go mad. A Sahaja Yogi shouldn't cry. Overcome your problems; try to handle your husband; try to handle everything. I do not like very much the divorce part of it, but if somebody is a gone case is all right. I would say is a gone case, you divorce. But unless and until, just because it is [not] a proper understanding one should not cry and weep and do all these things. On the contrary one should try to overcome your own personal problems because you have powers.

And You can write to Me, but not very long letters. I get lost. Yes, you can get lost. In the morning there are so many letters for Me to read, one better than the other and My husband also get a big post.

But he says, “No body writes me love letters, they all write about their bills to be paid." I said, “It's just the same." I said, “I have to telephone their [UNCLEAR love]." That is what it is. But children write very sweet letters. They just made some painting or something, or some flowers and few things there, that's all. They will make a heart and put Me there or something like that. Very sweet thing they do and just the joy and the happiness you see they express. There have no problems. They have no problems. Children don't have problems. They are not complicated. You catch hold of the problems, that is the trouble. They have no problems of any kind.

[Version 2:] These are the songs they are sung in Himālayas and to be sung here is something really remarkable, isn't it? You brought it all the way to be sung here.

Now, I think I have already given you a very, very long lecture and a speech as you call it, but some reactions were very good and some could absorb it very well. But some, they said, were sleeping. Now these things happen because of negativity. You have to fight your negativity, because negativity is the thing that asks questions. When I am talking I am telling the truth, absolute truth, but it asks questions and it reflects. When it starts reflecting, nothing goes in the head because you are left with the past sentence and the present you are not with it.

So the whole thing boils down to something like an escape and then you escape and you sleep off. I mean, I tried My level best today to put you onto your conscious mind. You have to be conscious, you have to be alert; and that's the point, is that unless and until you are conscious you cannot ascend. Any abnormal person cannot ascend. You have to normalise yourself.

So many of you had lots of abnormalities which were brought out and thrown away and many have been cleansed, but now if there are some still lingering with it, they must work it out. They cannot just go on justifying it. Normally negative persons attract a negative personality.

So if you have such a negativity of any kind within you, you should never sit next to a negative person, never go near such a person. Keep away, but stick on to the positive person. Like I said, stick on and support your leaders without question, without questioning. But this is the trouble is that you start fighting your own leader. If the leader says something to you, you quarrel with the leader and you argue with the leader, so it's finished. I speak through the leaders, so you don't question it. If you question it, then there will be a problem. You have to stick on with your leaders, who are positive people. And if you start questioning them, then you will be nowhere, no link between you and Me.

And this is everywhere: I was told in Switzerland it is like this, in France now is better but used to be like that; everywhere, except for Italy, I think Italy has the best results.

So don't fight with your leaders, don't argue them. Do not reflect about Sahaja Yoga, what can you say, what do you know, how can you reflect? What is your knowledge? Do you question your chemistry teacher when he says hydrogen has got two atoms or one atom? Do you? And when you start doing this with your ego, you are thrown out of the realm of evolution.

So do not reflect, just listen and try to take it inside. These are all mantras; take them inside. Instead of that you start questioning, arguing with your leaders, giving them advices. Please don't do it, stop it now. This is not politics, where everybody can advise, everybody has to say something. Mostly the bhoots are such; the bhootish people go on advising and having their own say. And they go against the leader throughout.

Now specially for the elderly people, I would say, because you are more grown up sometimes than the leaders are. Then you think you have a right to correct your leaders, it's not so. In Sahaja Yoga it is not how much you are old, but it is how much you are evolved.

So when you start questioning your leaders and reflecting on their behaviour or anything like that and answering them back or also giving your ideas, you are gone.

It's like a link. Say, there's a link between the Chakras and the cells, say it like that. Now if you deny the Chakras, how one has to work it out; because I am connected with them and through them you are connected. But when you deny them, then you fall out. I know what to do with the leaders, I choose them, I arrange them, I organize them, I change them; I know what to do. Now you people do not challenge them, is nothing but your ego. In India it doesn't happen at all, doesn't happen. Once Mother has appointed somebody it's accepted, because for them this is the truth that they have been seeking. The all other is nonsense, is all complications; and because you are so complicated, to you other things look nice, you think you're surrendering your personalities, not at all. Is developing, surrendering yourself to the sap of life, to the vitality, to the vital force of life. Surrender, accept more, accept more. This ego can never allow you to take inside anything, be careful on that. This will never allow you to sleep, this will never give you peace. It will never allow you to grow, it will never take you to your own goal.

So surrender that your ego of yours.

So one thing I have to tell you: don't fight, don't quarrel, don't question, don't reflect about your leaders to begin with; or otherwise you will be cut off. Keep in his good book, try to support him. Ask him what does he want, what help he needs. The more you get attached to him, the more you get closer to him, the more you will get.

But you see, people are very wasteful. They have wasted their lives in drugs, this, that, all nonsense.

And the women have another bad habit, is to gossip. They want to gossip: gossip about this person, criticise that person. It's a very bad habit of women to gossip. I never pay heed to anyone who gossips and I don't like a person who gossips.

So don't gossip about things, cheaply, frivolously talking about others. It's not necessary you should be educated, it's not necessary that you should come from a very well-bred family, nothing is necessary; as long as you are a Sahaja Yogi, you can be a diamond. But allow yourself to be cut into the diamond. Allow! So the reaction of some people was very good, they absorbed what I said, they took everything inside; but some of them went off to sleep. Now, if those who were struggling at that time may not have understood, it's a difficult subject, I told you, it's a very subtle subject, doesn't matter. But those who have been like that should look after themselves, should find out. I've found out one thing with the left-sided people: if they can put a candle near their left Swādhiṣhṭhāna, a little far and put one candle before the photograph and put left hand towards the photograph and right hand on the Mother Earth, it works. And the candle at the back should be kept a little far away because it makes sounds, it goes this way, that way, burns.

Those who have been taking drugs, not LSD but other drugs, which are drowsy people who feel sleepy, whose brains are destroyed by drug, all those people can benefit a lot by this. Do it every day. Going into drug you never felt you're surrendered to drugs, never felt that way, which was something that was going to kill you completely. You know how so many people are killed, so many are dying, but you wanted to do that, I don't know, because your ego said, “All right, go ahead, try this. You will be the one who nothing will happen to you." That's the ego suggests.

So you did it. All right, doesn't matter. Whatever has happened has happened, let us clear it out, because we are seekers.

So those who have really felt one in the lecture, without any questioning, should know that they are doing well. Those who were questioning, reflecting, should know they have ego and those who were dozing out should know that they are left-sided. Left side is worse than the right side, because the right side can be easily corrected: it shows, it shows outside. People don't like it. Such a person is criticised, everybody says he's egoistical, he's this, that. Everybody knows that such a person goes out like Hitler. But the left-sided person, you see, is very pitiable and you'll have very great pity for such a person and you sympathize and you get lost with that person. They are more dangerous and difficult to be cured, very difficult.

So it's not a easy task, you have to work it out. I am trying My level best. You should also help Me.

I was thinking that if you can start using a little oil for your head will be a good idea, in the night.

As Sahaja Yogis you should. I think the hairstyle should be changed for Sahaja Yogis. This modern fashionable style won't suit us. Because this will, we'll have all bald heads one day, I can tell you and you will see the Sahasrāra with a big dimple here. Better use some nice coconut oil, rub in your head nicely and in the night and in the morning, after all, it doesn't show much and comb your hair in a proper way. Because also I think, if your dresses are like bhoots, your hair are like bhoots then the bhoots will take over thinking, `Oh, this is a bhoot sitting down here, I better take hold of that bhoot.' So dress up in a way, shouldn't have hair on your forehead at all, keep it straight, make it nice and have it absolutely clean foreheads. We are Sahaja Yogis: we have to change our dresses, we have to change our styles, we cannot become fashionable like these stupid punks.

So we are a type, by our hairstyle people should know that these are Sahaja Yogis.

So before you start getting bald, better try putting some oil in your head. That's one very important thing the Sahaja Yogis have to do. They can take vibrated oil if you like and I think olive oil is good, but better than olive oil, I find, it is coconut oil is better for the growth of the hair. But sometimes you can also put almond oil, is also good, almond oil for you; because if you have any problem that you feel exhausted or your nerves need attention, you are nervous type of person, then almond oil is good for you.

And for people who have teeth which are troubling them, they must look after them. No use going to the dentist, because dentists create problems. Simple thing is to use olive oil and some salt and rub it on your gums nicely every day before sleeping. That will keep your teeth all right. You'll be amazed, till today I have not been to any dentist. Never been to a dentist and I hope I won't go to a dentist.

So, but one thing is that I have certain bad habits, one of them is that I brush My teeth quite often. But don't use electrical brushes and all that, but use brushes or use your fingers, is the best way is to rub with the salt and the oil, it's very good for you. And then allow the whole thing to come out and then wash off.

Then the third thing I find in Europe, that you people do not clear your throats and your tongues, which is another thing very much against Viśhuddhi. And that must be one of the reasons why your Viśhuddhis are bad.

So, though it is not in fashionable here in the West, but very important thing is to put your two fingers in the mouth and rub your, fingers, not the thing, fingers and clean your tongue in such a way that everything comes out in the morning. Is important, because that accumulates and then it rots.

So this has to be done. And may be that you might think that this is doing, you make a noise and all that, doesn't matter. You have to clear out your throat; I mean, that's how you will keep your Viśhuddhis very clear. This is one of the things.

And another thing is that you must always use water as much as possible, for washing: when you go for your morning ablution, water must be used. The paper is a very dirty and unhygienic habit, very dirty and unhygienic habit. But even if you use paper, you must use water after that. It's very important that all the time the water should be used as much as possible; for Sahaja Yogis it is a very, very important thing.

Now for some people who will find that they are on a subtler level quite on the verge of collapse, in the way that they still have those problems that they want to sleep with other women and they want to do all these things: they should give up Sahaja Yoga. Best is to leave us alone. We can't have such useless people with us.

So they should give up Sahaja Yoga and don't trouble us; because we can get thousands and thousands in India, we have no problem. For them it is not difficult, they are already there.

So those who are still like that, who are trying to have relations with other women and having their eyes on other women and all the women like that, you see, all this kind of maniacs, I call them maniacs only, should give up Sahaja Yoga and should spare us. This is for definite.

Now, we have always been saying that those who are very negative people will have to leave Sahaja Yoga and the day will come.

So for all of you it is very necessary that you should try to clean yourself and never sit with a person who is negative. Never make friendship with a person who is negative. Try to be more helpful to a person who is positive. Clear out yourself, clean out yourself, look after yourself, respect yourself, love yourself. Live with your dignity. Cheapish thing, frivolous thing, useless thing should not be done and make your ego be challenged. Let somebody insult you and see that, that you do not answer back. Just see it, not to get into temper. Try that your ego doesn't react. That can be achieved very easily if you try in the mirror, look at yourself and laugh at yourself, make fun of yourself. What do you think of yourself? Who are you? What do you have? Nothing.

Now today's lecture was really, was not only was a great lecture, but also it was like mantras, all good for the brain. And I would say that this lecture must be listened to again and again and to be taken in, not to be questioned. Not to be questioned, to be taken in, to be absorbed. I hope that you understand this. Now after this Sahasrāra Pūjā I hope you people try to maintain the position you have reached. I would expect all of you to support, to glorify your leaders and not in any way debase them, argue with them, give them ideas. Even the wives I have said are not to argue with the leaders. It's like pulling each other.

Like they said there were some scorpions sent for investigation from different places. And they saw one jar was open and they said, “What is this? This, from this jar all the scorpions will jump out." They said, “They cannot, because one comes up, the another pulls him down." In the same way we behave.

So if there's a leader, this is ego that makes you jealous and this is ego that says that you know better, you better give a suggestion. Not that you cannot suggest, people tell Me also things, but if he doesn't accept, well and good. That's a challenge to your ego. It's better that he says `no' to you so that you see for yourself, `Is it my ego still insisting on that position?' Now, on the second thing that I have said, that we should not be drawn by convention. Like the convention was that, say now, this time the English felt, the English leaders felt, which was a big mistake, that Italians would be inconvenienced if they stay over. Italians are very large-hearted people, like Indians are, they'll be overjoyed if they stay over. But it is the English mind. It's the English who cannot tolerate one person staying for two days. They'll ask you immediately as you go, `What time are you leaving?' So it is their mind that worked out that way that it will be inconvenience, because they'll be inconvenienced.

Though they were told “you could stay here till Monday, there's no problem, you have to just pay just ten pounds"; but, “I thought", like that. You see, it's an English image of being good to others; because to them anybody staying in their house, finished! They won't even allow anybody to come inside the house. Let there be snow or anything outside, they'll just see and talk to you and then they'll say. I've seen it Myself.

One day we had, I had gone out; it was snowing and I saw a lady standing out on a doorstep with a pram and there was a little baby. And the other lady was an old lady talking from inside, just from the chink, in a way that the door was not completely opened out. And when I came back after an hour or so, still that lady was standing outside and talking. This lady didn't have sense to say that `you come in.' But this another lady did not mind it also, because she must be doing the same! So the large-heartedness of anything they cannot understand. Moreover there was no problem, it was suggested that you can stay here and you can be here. Now today we had to hurry up a lot, the whole thing was quite inconvenienced and we had to do it, because of a slight mistake that they should have asked Me. And I thought you all were staying on Monday, because it's logical, it's sensible. But because of the conception that `we should not inconvenience'...

It is not only with English, it is possible with anyone of you. When you start thinking “I thought” you are gone.

So these concepts that you have about things are actually very dangerous things. I've been having experiences of experiences of these stupid conventions people have. “I thought." They try to be good, but ultimately try to be nasty. They are nasty.

So that means there's something definitely wrong with the convention they have about things. And that's why people, if they were right when they were thinking, world would have been a different thing. But they are thinking at a level where it's just everything is sloping down and you are going downward. As soon as you start thinking, you go downward.

Such is the defect of your thinking, because it is bound by the tags of your conventions. Wherever you think, you see, you are bound by your conventions and you go down.

I didn't touch many points today which I could have touched, like art, I was saying: I was amazed, an exuberance like this, a flower like this makes Me so very happy to see a garden. But to a sophisticated mind is Baroque or something nonsensical. To them one flower somewhere, because the rest of the area should be their space for their ego.

So they cannot see the beauty: “It's too much, too much." Even Sahaja Yoga: “There's too much for us." What are you, a little baby or what? What is too much? You see, as if like a baby we give a bottle, so much of milk, so much of milk, so “Sahaja Yoga is too much for me." You are dwarves or what? And there's no substance in this kind of a nonsense. That's why “this is sophisticated” “this is nice” criticise everyone. People are so frightened even to decorate their houses, because it will be criticised. “Better keep it plain, white. Just white." Even the nose they don't like, they want to cut out the nose, eyes, everything, just have plain! And imagine, it's the play of the ego which wants an individuality. How they are in juxtaposition with what they want to do, see this, clearly.

If you go in a garden they'll have one, you see, tree somewhere hanging in the air. This is supposed to be garden. You say, “Where is the garden?" “This, garden." Microscope: “Where is the garden?" “Oh no, we put only one thing at a point, you see, so it becomes important." So this is only a tree here and then you move up, there will be another little bush, then another tree. Everything is too much, why? Because the ego is too much in the head. That's why everything is too much for them.

This stupidity has to go now. You have to take whatever is good, too much you must take and give up whatever is too much in you. That has to be understood. All these stupid ideas, all kinds of stupid ideas, like you want to buy a house, so it's all right, you go and buy a house. I went round and most of the houses are about seven and a half feet height, but they like it.

I said, “Why?" “It's very old." I said, “So what?" “But it's an old house, it is this and that and the old houses..." “But why do you like?" New houses are eight feet, at the most.

So there's no choice. But why do you want to have a house which is old house? Victorian houses they don't like. Why? Because they are not so conventional, they are not so fashionable. You must have a house where you should break your neck. Walk into the bathroom in an awkward way, you can't even sit or stand; halfway you hang in the air. That's the very house of a character. And a character is that which makes you awkward and feel funny: that person “has character." I mean, a person if he's absurd, he's queer, weird, he's strange, he's a man of character. This is the situation today. He's a man of character and he's weird, absolutely a strange personality. How is it? “You know, he came on a bicycle with a half pant." I said, “Really?" “He's a man of character." Here he is getting arthritis with it.

Being queer, funny stupid things is regarded as something of personality. Now as Sahaja Yogis you have to realise that you are not that stupid. You are crowned with your Self. Now you are not going to behave like these stupid people and their fashions, so give it up. They laugh at you, you laugh at them! In a lunatic asylum if you go, all the lunatics will say, “Oh, so you have also come here to join us, isn't it?" They all think they are the wisest and you get lost with them. You start thinking, “Am I a lunatic myself?" So you all, when you see such a person you should just laugh at him.

Like a lady, you see, she thought her to be very fashionable, she came with her dress, you see, very open, her body with all her bones showing and this and that. And we happened to go to see that house, Myself and My husband.

So as soon as he saw her, he came back and vomited.

I said, “What's the matter?" “I saw her, I vomited." And we got into the car, we didn't enter even, came away. And she thought she was a very fashionable lady, showing her bones, all her body, horrible. Imagine, like a dead body standing before you! But the dead body is regarded as fashionable, so everybody wants to behave like a dead body. Now you should see the sense in it, otherwise you are not Sahaja Yogis. You must see the nonsense that is going on and you are not a nonsensical personality.

So all these things now, if you see from a new angle, as I've told you now that you are higher personalities, that you have achieved a new awareness of your Chakras, you'll be amazed, your reactions will be very, very different. If you see something like this: “Ah!" you'll say, “beautiful!" But till you have those horrible conventions with you, you cannot.

A house which is dilapidated, absolutely going to fall on your head, is “what a character!" The whole character will fall on your head! Absurd ideas people have. And then they want something modern which is absolutely weird and nonsensical. You see, there was a lady, she built a house, modern and we had to climb up her steps and every steps she has divided into smaller, smaller pieces. We were so much worried that we'll all fall off. You see, every step was made of small, small pieces like a step, you see, every step was made into steps.

So when you put your foot there you don't know where you are putting your foot, you see. And she must have spent a lot of money making that kind of a nonsensical thing; but to her, she would show everyone, “Now, come along, see this." I refused to go up. I said, “I have nothing to do." I went back.

Yes, yes, doesn't matter. As they show resentment, you must show resentment. Stupid! It doesn't appeal to Me, it doesn't appeal to Me these things. I have seen and I don't like it these things, the way there's one flower hanging somewhere and anything if I see, I don't like it. I don't enjoy it at all Myself.

And if I am the criteria, if I am the one who can judge things, then I would tell you I don't like all this nonsense.

The way people dress up these days they look like clowns to Me, lunatics, like I can say brats, or you can call them, what do you call them?, tramps. You cannot make out one from the another.

Their lousy pants, you see, some grandfather's pant they are wearing and their grandmother's blouse on top and the ladies walking on the street. See, is you feel there's some funny, queer people walking across and they think it's fashionable! I think from India we should get all old clothes here and sell them off for a high price! It's very queer. You just look at it, see from this angle. Standing on the hilltop you look at these mad people, see how lunatic they are, stupid they are, how they are behaving, what is their fashion. I mean, if you see in the olden times people used to dress up well with all kinds of frills, all kinds of things, but this is what they don't like. Whatever is God has given us should be decorated and respected. I mean, yesterday the way you did the hall, I mean today the way you did the whole of the hall and all that, so beautiful it looked, so nice it looked. But somebody would say, “Oh, let us have absolutely plain thing for Mother: some dilapidated wall behind, which is about to fall down. That would be real character." How can these ideas be acceptable to Sahaja Yogis? This I just don't understand.

And they pay for it. They pay for these conventions and they pay for all these kinds of odd things, they do pay for it. Supposing there's a fashion today to have your hair cut like this on top, they'll pay for it. Then you cut them another way, they pay for it. You have to pay for all these misdoings also. The fashion is: supposing somebody invites somebody to your house, you must have a different type of a glass cup and a glass for this, otherwise you are not all right. And then what you find, there's another group of these hippies and all those have come, they will give you the dirtiest possible mugs that you cannot drink anything.

So either you accept this nonsense or that nonsense. It's absolutely absurd! And you know, I have seen Indians when they are in England, they just don't understand, they just “Cancel them, all right, cancel them. They're mad people." The quality of personality is very, very low, very low, take it from Me, very low. You might have ego, might exist with that ego, but it's very low here, accept it. Innocence is missing, auspiciousness is missing, cleanliness is missing. The, the attraction of simplicity is missing, so artificial. Even the idea of simplicity is artificial. With artificiality how can you have a quality of human life? How can you? You become artificial people.

So give up all these conventions. I am not here to propagate Indian culture as such, but I must say if there is any culture it is in India, because this is no culture. All becoming, if you walk about, I mean you look like, when I see the people around, they look like host of mad people walking. You see them on the streets, not one person is normal. America is even worse. They must be doing like this, or this like this; not one person has a proper face. Is a fact, I tell you! With Sahaja Yoga your quality has come up, it has come up. You've become that now, so great.

That's why you do not feel here there is Lakṣhmī. You have money, but no Lakṣhmī. There's no beauty of that. It's so desolate, like a barren land. Your ego has blown off everything that was beautiful. You could not tolerate anybody's art, so you would not have anything artistic things in the house. You need not have many things at all, so you have plastics. Beauty has run away from your lives. When you talk also it's fashionable to be arrogant. Imagine, to be arrogant, to be very dry: there's no beauty in it. Is all put-up show; there's no bravery in it, nothing sublime. On the subtle form you have lost it, that's why in the gross form you don't see it. Whatever you have lost inside is shown outside, bankruptcy, complete bankruptcy.

So when you see that with others, when I am saying “you" I am meaning the others, those who are not yet Sahaja Yogis in the West, try to understand they are at a much lower level than you are and don't take to their ideas and their ways and methods. Just keep yourself aloof. And then you will see they'll run after you. Ego is like a donkey: if somebody is ahead of them, they know somebody is ahead of them, then they bend their head to that. And if they see somebody is behind them, then they kick.

So you have your dignity, you have your special style, you live with a special style. Don't be one of them. Dress up properly in a proper way. You may have only two shirts, you may have only three shirts, you need not have many; but have in something sensible, normal, comfortable and also which is not jarring to others. We are the ones who are going to encourage our art, we are the ones who are going to bring back all that is lost. We can't have Rembrandt anymore, we cannot have Leonardo da Vinci, we cannot have Michelangelo again, finished them all completely. But everybody thinks they are Michelangelo! We can't even have, say, Gorky; we can't have William Blake, can we, of that courage? We cannot have Abraham Lincoln, can we have? All dwarfs, useless people. You scratch them and you find they are good for nothing, useless. Out of you all these great people have to come out now. And their speciality about them, they had their own personality and they would not give way to any fashions or anything. They wouldn't give way to any cheap popularity. Out of you people all these great personalities are to be born.

So for you and for your progeny you have to think, what are we doing in such a great work as it is. It's not only for your enjoyment that we have a seminar, nice music, nice food, nice place, we come, we enjoy, no. Enjoyment is just an advertising department. You have to really work hard inside, not outside. No arguments of any kind.

Useless! Simple thing, if I say I have to carry, say, this box, somebody will come out and start saying, “All right, then I think we should get a van." “No, but a van is too much." “Then what should we do?" They'll go on arguing till that the box is gone, everything is done and I come back and say, “Now, what are you doing?" They are still discussing how to take the box, it's already gone! Such wasteful habits we should give up.

We have to have new wisdom within us. All this old wisdom, you just throw it away. Unless and until you do that, your ego won't go away. It won't leave you, unless and until you decide to throw away all those ideas which to you appear to be the ego. You have to be like children, trying to learn something new all the time; we are to be open to learn something new all the time. You have to learn, you have lost it.

You had something that you have lost, so many. Instead of going ahead, you have lost it. You were doing all right; if you had remained on the right path you would have achieved, because after all, some countries are traditionally very old. They also got lost, like Greece, you can say is lost. Horrible Greek tragedies: I mean, you sit down and cry for nothing at all. Nothing has happened, everything is perfect; people just go and sit down and cry. It's like you make somebody say that “This one is dead. Let us now feel that he's dead. Sit down, all of us should cry." Stupid as that! It's all artificially-created problems and artificially-created gloom, because you have no real gloom, you have no real problem. You have got food to eat, you've got everything, that's why you are creating problems for yourself. That's why you need psychiatrists, you need drugs, you need this, you need that; because you have no problems, so you want to have some problems, as simple as that. Those who have problem have to fight with it. They have no time for all these nonsensical things. You have too much time. All your problems are solved as far as the material things are concerned, but still you are very much involved into it.

So now face it, face it clearly, that we are not that any more. We are different people. We are no more worms in the mud but we are lotuses, we have fragrance, we have powers, we are specially blessed. We have a special sense of joy. Let's enjoy that and give it to others and be glorified with it, feel the dignity of it.

I'm sure it is going to work out this time. I have done My level best, I think and this lecture should really go through you all.

All right, any questions? [Aside:] Please have some water.

Any questions you have? [Aside:] Water.

They might be thinking that I'll drink from here! Modern idea maybe that I drink from here! So there's no need to have glass, Mother may like to drink from there! All right, any questions? In thoughtless awareness. Now keep it up, keep it up in thoughtless awareness, absolutely you're blasted. Keep it up. Keep yourself blasted. That is this ego business. Little bit is still there, rudimentary: keep it out. This is meditation, where there's no ego any more, you are in thoughtless awareness, absolutely stunned. Can't think. But that I have done, is not good, you should do it. That is the point I am commenting on. Have your own personality. If punks could behave like that, why can't you behave sensibly? And also I have to say few words about how we behave in our day-to-day life; because a Mother has to see that they are, children are not to be ill-bred. People should not say that Sahaja Yogis are ill-bred, you see. Now the first sign of an ill-bred child is that he leaves his bed in a mess. He leaves all his things in a mess. While coming I saw all the beds. What are we doing here? Nothing.

So put yourself into a discipline of leading a neat life. As a Mother I have to tell you this. It takes hardly ten to fifteen minutes, but just tell yourself this is meditation, do in meditative way. We in India think that the Western people are extremely neat and tidy. Really! They can't believe it. They think you are on top of the world, you must be the neatest people ever lived. They'll say ten times “thank you” but even once you will not keep your bed all right. Your things should be neat. You must keep yourself neat, appear neatly.

Then second thing I have seen, noticed this, which is told by many people which I have also noticed, that you go to somebody's house. Then an ill-bred person will start using the phone without asking.

Certain things are important to understand, like entering into the kitchen, eating everything. It's a very common thing people are noticing this, that you get the food, like paupers, like beggars they come in the house. I had at least twenty-one bottles of honey which people had given Me as present and when My son-in-law came there was not even one bottle to give him honey.

So who ate? All the Sahaja Yogis who came ate the honey. I mean, it's all right, but you must ask. You polish off everything in the house. All right, you have come, if there is a food cooked for you, just have your food. If you go in the larder or you go anywhere, you find everything is missing. You buy from the whole mart, you find everything's polished off.

So an ill-bred person can be made out like that. But you'll be surprised, a good-breeding person, even if this much is left of another person, that person will keep it and keep it till it is passed over. I'll tell you about My own husband who is, he need not worry about this thing, but if he knows we have something of another person, he'll put it in lock and key and see every time it is there, till he returns it to him. And same I can say about My children, or anybody I know of. But this is beggarish that you take somebody's things, misuse it, throw away where you feel like, break everything.

But I have seen with My own things; so when the leaders have been complaining to Me that “they come to our houses, they polish off everything from our fridges" and all that, I was not surprised. The Sahaja Yoga has become like a resort for all the beggars and the paupers of the world, because it is free.

All the poor people come down to Sahaja Yoga and you have to nourish them and look after them. It should not be such. You may be poor, but you must have dignity. Even the servants are in India better.

They wouldn't touch your things without asking. They have much more breeding. An ill-bred person is a person who is a rude person, arrogant person. You can say the same thing in a proper manner.

As a Mother, to give Me real glory is that, that people should say that you are very well-brought-up children. A kind of system must exist. A spartan system. It's a spartan system. It's not all a sort of a lousy system, it's a spartan system. You are yogis. Should be neat, tidy, all the time clean, with few things. Like in India, people are quite shocked: you carry such big, big bags and it carries all the, for ladies specially, all the paints and this and that. Where are you going to use before the villagers there, these paints? They don't understand.

All these things we have to see for ourselves. We have to be dignified, we have to be people with a kind of a personality. Supposing somebody is a saint. He might be a poor man, but you can make him out by his dignity.

There was a saint called TukāRāma whom, which you have heard about him, this all may be, I don't know, was coming from his music. He was poor and very generous also. He used to give away everything and always left with very little.

So Shivaji Mahārāj, the great Shivaji came down to his place, brought lots of ornaments and things and presentations and gave it to his wife and children. He was out. She was very happy to wear all these things because he gave.

He said, “This is..." Of course, in the beginning she also said that it's not all right. But he said, “No, I am just trying to sort of pay my respects to you, this, that and give." And she wore it.

He came. He said, “No, I am a saint. You take this. You are a king and you have to live like a king.

All right, as a king you can have it. But not, as a saint I don't need all these things, my wife doesn't need all these things. Because you are living like a king, you, maybe you are a realised Soul also, but you are a king, so live like a king." But one has to realise that in Sahaja Yoga you are not to move like a barren personality also. You have to be properly dressed, properly appearing. You should not look like beggars, but you should look like dignified people of the society.

Now for example, as you know I am the Goddess and the Goddess has to wear I don't know how many ornaments just to adorn Her Chakras. I mean, I have lots of ornaments Myself of My own. But only for Pūjā I wear, otherwise I don't wear: I am supposed to wear lots of things. Why? Because it may not be that, all right, may be dignified, but may not be that all right to wear all those things all the time. But I am supposed to wear. Like You are supposed to wear many more things in the hand here, rings on the feet, everything. All the time You have wear gold in the, what do you call the, you don't have that ornament here which we tie up like a belt. But I don't do it. I keep it to a marginal point; only in Pūjā I wear some things out of it.

So you must have that discretion: what to wear, how to wear, how far to go, how to look dignified, how to be well-bred, so that you glorify the breeding of your Mother. This time I hope when you all come to India, you will notice all these things among Indians. You will never see them eating, you'll never see them having their baths, you will never see them sleeping. You don't know how they live, where they live, how they work out, everything. They are just there on the spot whenever you are there. Isn't it true? They take their baths, they finish everything, early in the morning, about four o'clock or five o'clock they are out, spartan. And always clean: whether he's a villager, whether he is a scheduled caste or a brahmin or anything, they're all neatly dressed, you cannot make them out. Clean white clothes they'll wear, clean white cap they will have. They'll never have dirty clothes.

So this is another side, which is not so sublime on your side and not so subtle and, but it's very important; because whatever is in the subtle expresses outside. In all your behaviour this would shine, like thousand facets of a diamond, because you have attended now the Sahasrāra Day, let's see; what are the thousand facets will show. Love each other, respect each other, respect yourself and all the time say one mantra within yourself, `I am a Sahaja Yogi.' It says everything about your responsibilities, what are your aspirations, what you are. You are a Sahaja Yogi, being reborn by Ādi Shakti Herself.

Any personal problems you have you should write to Me and I'll try to answer. If I do not answer, then think that answer I have managed. If I do not answer, then think that I have managed the answer; but if there's anything to be suggested I will definitely inform you. Any other problem.

But like a lady today came, she was crying about her husband. This she did before also, again today she is crying, she'll go mad. A Sahaja Yogi should not cry. Overcome your problem, try to handle your husband, try to handle everything. I do not very much like the divorce part of it, but if somebody's a gone case is all right. If I say it's a gone case, you divorce. But unnecessarily, just because there's not yet proper understanding, one should not cry, weep and do all these things. On the contrary, one should try to overcome your own personal problems, because you have powers.

And You can write to Me. Not very long letters, but I get lost! Ha, really, I get lost! In the morning there are so many letters for Me to read, one better than the other and My husband also get a big post.

But he says, “Nobody writes me love letters, they all write about their bills to be paid." I said, “It's just the same!" You may translate this [into Italian], Gregoire, if they want.

Letters... full of problems...

I said, “I have to pay for their love." That's what it is.

But children write very sweet letters. They just make some painting or something, or some flowers and few things there, that's all. They'll make the heart and put Me there, or something like that; very sweet, sweet things they do. And just the joy and happiness, you see, they express it. Never their problems, they have no problems, children don't have, they are not complicated. We catch hold of the problems, that's the trouble is. They have no problems of any kind.

So you have not told Me, any one of you, anything that you want Me to be done. Now only thing, at the last I would like you to listen to Warren who will read it out to you, the programs we are going to have in this summertime.

Come forward.

Warren: So Shri Mataji's program for the rest of Italy I think is known. She returns to the UK, are you returning on Monday morning, Shri Mataji?

Shri Mataji: Yes, now.

Warren: Monday morning. Then she comes to France on the 17th and returns on the 22th [22nd], not the 24th as originally planned. The original proposal to go to Spain at that time has now been postponed until later. And the next program is in June, on the 7th of June, She goes to...

Shri Mataji: No, no, no, then I go to Houston.

Warren: I'm sorry, yes, you go for three days to Houston, yes.

Shri Mataji: Yes. I'm just visiting London, that's all.

Warren: Twenty-eight, I think...

Shri Mataji: Yes.

Warren: You go to Houston and then back.

Shri Mataji:... Twenty-seventh I think, I go.

Warren: I haven't got that detail, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Yes, about twenty-seventh.

Warren: Then comes back to London, then to Switzerland, June the 7th, to Switzerland and She returns to the UK on the 15th. Then there's a program in Scotland, for the weekend, on the 21st?

Shri Mataji: That's not definite, but we'll see.

Warren: Then in July She goes to Austria on the 5th, Guru Pūjā is to be held not on the 13th but on the 12th, on Saturday the 12th. Then on the 14th She's there or possibly goes to Germany, but in any case on the 14th and 15th there are to be programs in Germany. On the 15th there will be a Pūjā in Germany and then She returns to the UK on the 16th. Then in August She goes to Belgium and Holland.

On Saturday, not Sunday but Saturday the 10th?

Shri Mataji: In the evening.

Warren: In the evenin[g]... There is a Pūjā on that day?

Shri Mataji: Pūjā. That's the Pūjā for Belgium and Holland.

Warren: On arrival in Belgium, or Holland, wherever You decide to have the Pūjā...

Shri Mataji: No, better to have Pūjā at a place where we have the Monday program.

Warren: Then it will be in Gent, is it? In Belgium in any way

Shri Mataji: In Belgium.

Warren: So on the 10th evening there will be a Pūjā in Belgium. Then on the 11th, 12th and 13th there will be three, Public Programs, one in Gent, one in Brussels and one in Antwerpen. Then on the 14th and 15th there will be, Public Programs in the Hague and then on Saturday, which is what they wanted, there will be a seminar, a follow-up seminar for all the people of Belgium and Holland to attend, to follow up and to establish themselves and then Shri Mataji will return to London in the evening. We celebrate Rakshābandhan in the UK on the 19th and on the 23rd She leaves for the United States, which tour will be from the 23rd until the 14th of September. That takes in Kṛiṣhṇa Pūjā on the 27th of August and Gaṇeśha Chaturthi on the 7th of September. Then Shri Mataji probably will return to the UK then and then She proceeds to Spain at a time yet to be decided.

Shri Mataji: No, just after that.

Warren: Immediately after?

Shri Mataji: About fourteenth I come back? Warren: You come back on the 14th.

Shri Mataji: So that is what, a Saturday or a Sunday? Warren: Not sure, Shri Mataji. 14th of September.

Shri Mataji: Spanish people are here still? Or they are gone? Warren: Two here.

So 14th is a Sunday.

Shri Mataji: So, they would like Me to be there for a weekend, or for the weekdays? That's the point to be decided.

Warren: Don't forget we have to go to Montpellier as well one day. One or two days.

Shri Mataji: One day.

So, what is, Spanish people, are they more available on weekends or weekdays? Weekdays, weekdays.

So I can fly on, say, Tuesday. On Monday I can fly and Tuesday we can have a program: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, three days, all right? Yes. And then I can, we have to have a Pūjā, so on Friday.

Or I go on Monday would be better: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday. And Friday I can go to...

Warren: Montpellier. You see, Shri Mataji has to go from Spain to the south of France, to Montpellier.

Shri Mataji: I can come Sunday evening and Monday morning you'll have the Pūjā, it's better. And we have programs after the Pūjā; it's much better to have programs afterwards. Then My vibrations are also released.

So Monday morning we'll have Pūjā.

Warren: So that's Tuesday... what is the day?

Shri Mataji: Have you given them the sarīs and things like that? Warren: Yes, Shri Mataji. 16th of September Shri Mataji will fly to Madrid...

Shri Mataji: No, no. No, no, no.

Warren: Sunday is the 14th.

Shri Mataji: Sunday I'm coming back.

Warren: When did you wish to go to...

Shri Mataji: No. Then next Sunday is what? Warren: Ah, the following, I see.

Shri Mataji: What is the following Sunday? Warren: The following Sunday is the four the twenty-first.

Shri Mataji: Ah, twenty-first.

Warren: I see.

So twenty-first you're flying to Madrid. Pūjā on the Monday?

Shri Mataji: Monday. Pūjā, morning Monday.

Warren: Programs: Tuesday, Wednesday?

Shri Mataji: Or you can have it Sunday night if you like, Pūjā, which will suit better, Sunday night.

For Pūjā, Sunday night would be better.

So Sunday morning I'll go.

Twenty-first Sunday morning I come, all right? All right. Then Sunday we have Pūjā, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday I could be there. Thursday I'll go to Montpellier and I can return from there to London. How many days? Three days are sufficient? Three.

Warren: How many do you want, She's saying?

Shri Mataji: Keep it four now.

So I'll reach there on Sunday; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, it's all right, four days.

Warren: Twenty-first until Thursday, then She goes to Montpellier...

Shri Mataji: Thursday morning I'll go to Montpellier. Thursday evening we'll have program there and then...

Warren: Twenty-fifth to Montpellier. Then from Montpellier back to London on the 27th.

Shri Mataji: Is there a direct flight? Warren: Any flights from Madrid to Montpellier? Find out.

Shri Mataji: But is there a flight from there to London? It's a rather out-of-the-way thing.

Warren: I'm told there's a flight from Montpellier to London, yes, Mother.

Shri Mataji: Is there? Warren: Yes.

Shri Mataji: So why not do Montpellier first...? Warren: Sorry, Patrick told me there's a flight from Montpellier to London.

Shri Mataji: So why not do Montpellier first and then go to Spain? Warren: Is there anybody from France here who knows, confirm... But Patrick did tell me there was a flight to London from Montpellier.

Shri Mataji: But from Montpellier to Spain, is there a flight or not? That you find out first of all. But you keep it that time, about that time; definite we'll let you know, once we have done with the Montpellier.

... No flight? Warren: Juan Antonio will find out and will be in touch, we'll let you know. Because it depends now on the flights to and from Montpellier.

Shri Mataji: But in any case you keep this program with them. Otherwise I'll do it earlier or later, whatever it is. First of all keep this program, definite. See, Montpellier even if I don't do, France is there, it's all right. I can do it later on, doesn't matter. But this I have to do, Spain, properly. All right? Rather awkward, I think, to go from there, isn't it? There's no flight.

It's too much for Me. Then I have to travel back, you know; I'm coming from America all the way.

So forget about Montpellier.

Somehow or other try to tell them that let's forget about it. See, I must also think how far I can go. Then I have to go back to India...

Warren: On the sixth?

Shri Mataji: Sixth or so, fifth or sixth, so hardly any time for Me to prepare to go. Also better keep it like that. Just tell them that it may not be possible; so I come back on Friday, it would be better.

I can come Saturday night and Sunday morning we can have the Pūjā, if you like. And Saturday arrive, Sunday Pūjā, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. And Thursday morning I go back to London. Because, you see, I'll have hardly two weeks left for Me to go to India. It's too much strain.

So I won't be able to do this time. They can all come to France. They can come to Paris. Yes. They should bring all the people. And we have place there for people to live. During that time there's no problem. France, when am I going? Seventeenth? Warren: Seventeenth.

Shri Mataji: Will it be cold now? No.

Sahaja Yogis: No. Not at all.

Shri Mataji: After some time it will happen that I'll settle down in one place and you'll all have to come there; because I won't be able to travel so much, I can tell you this much. It's all right for the time being. You must also understand that now, the Mohammed has gone to the mountains; now the mountains have to come to the, to Mohammed.

All right.

So thank you very much. You haven't told Me any one of your problems, so I think there are no problems! Tomorrow morning I may not be able to meet you, so may God bless you all. Give yourself a bandhan now, all of you, properly, with full attention, with full dignity, with full movement. See, full. Nothing should be done cheaply. I don't need anything, but just doing it to please you all.

In India they asked a question that if She's the Goddess, why does She say namas-kār to everyone? They can't understand that God is saying namas-kār! Guido: We'll have a Public Program by 6 o'clock in Milano [UNCLEAR] ten...

Shri Mataji: OK. Nine or ten.

Contents: 1986-05-18 Śhrī Devī Pūjā, French Seminar, Dourdan, France

Today we have gathered here in this beautiful place to work out something very deep. There are certain things of which we are not aware, which are in the history and some things in the atmosphere, they affect us very much because we are the product of five elements out of which the Mother Earth is the left side within us. The Mother Earth changes its atmosphere, its hills and vales, rivers, fashions them in such a way that it gives a variety to her temperaments. Now God has created only one world, He's not created many worlds, He's created only one world, this world where alone here only human beings are created.

So this is the most important planet, you can say, which has been in the attention of the Divine.

So the whole cosmos works out for the benefit of this planet and the working of that cosmos has created this earth and then human beings and then the Sahaja Yogis.

So the Sahaja Yogis are the epitome of the creative powers, they are the epitome of God's desire, that's what He desired, that's why He created this cosmos, this universe and this earth.
